Germany Is Bleeding to Death Says American at Battlefront

William Philip Simms, Three Weeks With Allies, Says Enemy Is Caught Like Giant in Trap-Armies Likened to Heavyweight Boxers, Blocking Blows, Until One Weakens and Stronger Lands Knockout.

(Special Cable to The Advertiser and Toronto Star by William Philip Simms, Correspondent of the United Press.)

With the French Army at the Front, Via Paris, Nov. 27 .- Caught like a giant in a trap, largely of his own making, Germany is slowly bleeding to death, without any apparent means of extrication.

After three weeks' observation on the western battle front, this, it appears to me, is the situation at present. I am convinced that the Allies are highly satisfied with the situation, and are perfectly content to let Germany wear herself out. From a notably trustworthy source I gather that Germany is very much dissatisfied, but is unable now either to force the issue or to withdraw.

GERMANY CANNOT BRING CONCENTRATION OF TROOPS TO BEAR.

The only remedy for Germany is a decisive battle, which she is unable to force, despite constant endeavors, owing to her extended lines, and the conse quent impossibility of concentration.

In an endeavor to force the issue in the west, the German lines were further extended to the sea. This left her worse off than ever. The necessity of shor ning the line is imperative, yet if it is shortened it will create a bad impression in Germany. The move would be taken as a sign of failure. Such a realignment would also expose the German flanks to powerful smashes from the Allies. Germany is, therefore, condemned to hold on, despite the urgency of her turning loose and the realization, daily, that she is growing weaker, while the Allies are growing stronger. The Allies have nothing to lain by immediate action. Germany has everything.

THE TIME FOR A KNOCKOUT BLOW NOT FAR AWAY. Officers are enthusiastic over tactics of Generals Joffre and French, the French and British commanders. One foreign neutral observer likened the Allies and the Germans to two heavyweight boxers, each blocking the onslaughts of the other until one is weakened by his own exertions, and the stronger lands a knockout blow.

MEETING FALLS FLAT Gathering of East End Progs. Did Not Materialize.

The big mass meeting which was to have been held in the east end town hall provinces under reciprocal agreement East End Progressive Association, did not materialize. Everybody was there but the audience, and, as Mayor Graham and Controller Moore, who were to have een the principal speakers, decided that this was a necessary accessory to successful meeting, it was decided to adjourn until some future date.
By 8 o'clock, the hour arranged for he meeting, three people had put in an appearance, and by a quarter after the hour the number had been swelled to five. Then came the mayor, and a few minutes later was followed by Mr. Moore. The two latter conferred on one side for a while, and came to the onclusion that, even if they each took turns at being a member of the audience, such gems as might fall from the lips of the one who was speaking would be wasted on so few hearers. Regretfully, therefore, they announced their intention of returning to the more populous down-town section of the city.

Polish Population Sympathizes With the Czar's Efforts-Austrians and Germans Are Retreating in Different Directions in Mutual Dissatisfaction.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—9 p.m.—Professor Bernard Pares, the British Governmt's correspondent at the Russian army headquarters, in a dispatch dated November 25, dealing with the general Russian advance, says that after the Russians had held the River San for nearly a month against the Austrians, word came to go forward. The river was crossed and the enemy was driven from his trenches and the neighboring villages and forced further back. "The advance was triumphant at all points," says Professor Pares. HELLO! WINTER TIME!

"Good-bye, Summer! So-long, Fall! Hello, Winter Time!"

Brisk days have come, when firesides grows doubly cheerful, and drifting snowflakes are blown from scudding clouds. Clothes now are a matter of Comfort as well as of Appearance. The big Coats that just a few weeks ago, in shop windows, looked so unnecessarily warm, are now on the streets, buttoned closely around trim figures, while bright eyes and glowing cheeks look out over cozy Furs.

If you are not yet prepared for Cold Weather Comfort, the Raphael Store is prepared to furnish the things you need.

than ever suitable for all-round wear. The rough weaves look comfortable, and the long coats are interlined to give warmth, yet you have all the dressiness of a stylish suit. Raphael Suits range from $8.95 to $23.75. At $14.75 and $18.75 are values you should see before planning your clothes expenditure this year.

COATS

Either with a dress, or to supplement the suit, the season's Coats give warmth without weight. Their roomy folds and plaits, the capes on some-all combine to give grace and style, along with the chief requirement of comfort. Raphael Coats range from $4.95 up. The $4.95 ones are excellent values, while at $9.75 are Coats you'd pick as worth twice that amount.

FURS

Many people fail to realize that many low-priced Furs are more durable than some high-priced ones. For instance, the most delicate Fur in existence is the very expensive Genuine Chinchilla, and rare Silver Fox, at $1,000 a skin, is not at all durable. At Raphael's you receive honest and accurate information about furs, and Raphael's prices are less than specialty fur shops can afford to charge.

If the Germans have been able to attack by submarine at such a point, there is cause for genuine dread of what disaster may befall the fleet before the final reckoning comes in the North Sea. A successful attack by submarine close to the dockyards of Sheerness seems impossible. On the other hand battleships blow up rarely of their own accord, and especially British battleships. There is just a possibility that a blow may have been struck by the Germans within Britain. A mine or a secret agent may have accomplished the destruction of the ship, even though the latter, after secreting life for his boldness. At any rate, the admiralty has shown no desire to repeat the stupidity that marked the sinking of the Audacious. The news was given out promptly on this occasion, perhaps because it could not have been kept secret, more probably because the folly of concealing the loss of the dreadnought has been forced upon the censors. Up to date no official confirmation or denial of the loss of the Audacious has been given, with the result that wild stories are in circulation, such as one to the effect that a number of Canadian troops were lost while cross- forts for the soldiers, the best a lot of ing the channel, continue to be cir- men can do is to knit their brows and culated, and are a source of cutting call things even. grief to mothers and wives. Those of 1915 will start from an opposite viewpoint, the recognition of the sacred rights of nationality and a determination to establish a world peace not upon the discredited basis of the balance of power, but by a concert of nations great and small. After the awful example of Germany and her militarists, no state, however powerful, will be in a hurry to reject the plan urged by Sir Edward Grey, that differences between two governments should be submitted to the ar bitration of a number of other governments. MY HEART LONGS TONIGHT BE THERE.

[Copy Sent by Dad's Girl.] Our camp-fires gleam brightly tonight, here weary with fighting we rest On the veldt; 'neath the stars We are counting our scars-

I was a dearly-bought vict'ry at best. Many comrades we lost in the fray, Now sadly at close of the day, 'm thinking of you, my sweetheart My heart longs tonight to be there,

To sit at your feet In the eventide sweet, As the brook with a song hurries by, When the maples gleam golden and red, And the birds carol sweet overhead, In the land of my birth, With the best girl on earth My heart longs tonight to be there.

Comorrow the battle must rage,

My heart longs tonight to be there To catch the love-light in your eye;

May brave spirits heavenwardly fly For the flag which we love To the world we must prove, Our soldiers must conquer or die. If our courage should falter or wane, Tho'ts of you, dear, will cheer me

However, if Curiey puts over the match the public will forget his transgressions. And if Willard slips over the wallop that knocks the crown off the wooly dome of the Big Smoke he will be a greater hero than all the Sullivans, Corbetts and Fitzsimmonses of ring history. Speed the day.

But knowing Willard as well as we do we cannot feel any too elated. Unless Jess has improved wonderfully in the several months since we last saw him in action he's going to spend an interesting hour surrounded by a maze of boxing gloves.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Unexpected sharp declines at Liverpool caused a heavy setback today in wheat prices here. The bearish sentiment in Great Britain was attributed to surprising estimates of the Argentine crop, one authority putting the yield as high as 2000,000,000 bushels, and the exportable surplus at 140,000,000 bushels. Much selling resulted in Chicago, and there was no solid support until the break amounted to 2½c a bushel. Opening prices, which were 3½c to ½c to 2½c lower, were followed by a further drop, and then a rally of about 1c from the low point that preceded. WHEAT.

PLANS REVISED.

New York, Nov. 27.—The Stock Exchange announced today that the plans for restricted trading in bonds, which will be resumed tomorrow, had been revised to permit actual transactions being printed upon the tickers.

CANADIAN DRUG MAKERS FACE SERIOUS PROBLEM

In an interview with the manager of the Abbey Effervescent Salt Co., which for twenty years has been making this preparation in Canada, he stated hat in consequence of the war, prices of their raw material had increased be-yond the point which any layman would figure possible. One of the im-portant ingredients of this remedy costs 306 per cent more than it did three or four months ago. That som what similar conditions exist all along the line is vivid proof how even Can-adian - made products are affected through the necessary importations of raw material. The Abbey Efferves-cent Salt Co. is maintaining its regular standard of prices in spite of the increase in the cost of raw material.
