GREAT CHATHAM AUDIENCE CHEERS LIBERAL LEADER AS HE AFFIRMS POLICIES

Reciprocity the Only Solution to the Problem of Marketing Canada's Crops, Declares Sir Wilfrid —Borden Govt. Begging Favors From Washington That Could Have Been Had as Gift.

CANADIAN NAVY SHOULD BE BUILT, OWNED, MANNED IN CANADA

Hon. George P. Graham Charges Borden Government With Degrading Transcontinental—Powerful Arrangement of Conservative Tactics in Election Campaign
by Hon. Charles Murphy.

[By Our Own Man.]

Chatham, Oct. 3.—The reception tendered to Sir Wilfrid Laurier here today, was most enthusiastic and spontaneous. It was the climax in a series of splendid meetings, and is certain evidence that the Liberal party is not dead in the Province of Ontario. Not in the days of his premiership did he receive a more demonstrative welcome than that given him here today. Thousands of people thronged the streets in the afternoon to get a glimpse of the old chieftain, and at night the Armories would not begin to hold the crowd. Packed to suffocation, thousands clamored outside for admission. An overflow meeting was held in the rink, and it too was inadequate to handle the crowd. The fondest hopes of the enthusiasts of Chatham were exceeded, and brought great joy to the Liberal leader.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

On his arrival at noon, Sir Wilfrid and party were met by Mr. A. B. McCoig, M.P., Mayor Anderson, and a deputation of the citizens. Mayor Anderson read Sir Wilfrid an address of welcome, expressing his great pleasure at welcoming so distinguished a Canadian to the city. Sir Wilfrid responded briefly, thanking the citizens of Chatham and surrounding district for so enthusiastic a welcome. It warmed his heart, he declared, and he would never forget the compliment.

RECEPTION AND VISITS.

He was driven at once to the Rankin House, where he held a short reception, meeting hundreds of Liberals from all over the western portion of the province. Later he was taken for an automobile ride about the city, visiting all the schools, and speaking briefly. He asked for a holiday for the scholars for the balance of the day, in memory of the day when he was a boy, desiring relief from toil.

A GREAT AUDIENCE.

The Armories began to fill up in the afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock. At 6 p.m. there was scarcely a vacant seat. At 7 o'clock it was impossible to get in. When Sir Wilfrid and his party arrived shortly after 8 o'clock, it was with the greatest difficulty that they could work their way into the building. Chairman Brackin announced that an overflow meeting would be held in the rink, to be addressed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues.

A MASTERLY EFFORT.

The speech of Sir Wilfrid was masterly. Three score years and ten have left little apparent impress upon him. Alert, vigorous, forceful, he seemed more like a man of 40, in his prime. In fact, he seemed to be wonderfully improved since the last campaign, and his speech was more vigorous, perhaps, and telling. It was a masterly presentation of his subject, eloquent, logical and impressive.

STILL FOR RECIPROCITY.

He reiterated his faith in reciprocity as a certain relief for the economic ills of the western portion of Canada particularly. He asked the people of Eastern Canada to deal fairly with the men of the west. His long life had been spent in building up a united Canada, a unit from coast to coast. He would be sorry to see division, and asked that fair treatment be given the wheat growers of the Canadian west.

STILL A PROBLEM.

Although reciprocity had been defeated, the problem still remained, he pointed out. The Borden Government were fully aware of that fact, as they but a short time ago, had in hand, supplies beginning, had gone to Washington to secure better railway facilities through the United States for handling grain, accepting as a favor what had been refused as a gift. This was done in spite of the loyalty cry, and the oft-repeated statements of Conservative orators that they would have no truck or trade with the Americans.

A CANADIAN NAVY.

Sir Wilfrid came out strongly again for a Canadian-built, Canadian-manned and Canadian-owned navy, one that would be always ready to assist the motherland in times of danger. He criticized the Borden Administration on their dilatoriness on the question, declaring that the cabinet was not united, nor could be united, on this important question.

Hon. Mr. Graham.

Scarcely less effective was the brilliant speech of Hon. Geo. P. Graham, former minister of railways and canals. Dramatic was his scathing arraignment of the Conservative workers in the last election, who went about on the concessions whispering that because Sir Wilfrid was a Roman Catholic he was responsible for the no temere decree. They had not the courage to come out in public and say these things. They were whispered in the ear, with a knowing wink and nod, with the result that thousands of Liberals were appealed to on the grounds of religious prejudices, and led away from their political faith. Such tactics were to be despised by decent men. A brief advantage might come of such methods, but eventually it would bring down upon the men who use them the condemnation of the nation. Sir Wilfrid (Continued on Page Thirteen.)

Sir Wilfrid in Woodstock Tonight

This evening at 6:30 a special train will leave the Grand Trunk depot for Woodstock, where Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the brilliant Liberal leader, will address three meetings, one this afternoon and two tonight. The special train will stop at East London, Dorchester, etc., and will arrive in ample time to insure all securing seats. Word has been received that a large delegation will come over from St. Thomas and will join the London party at the G. T. R. depot.

Charges Against Pastor Russell Made By the Rev. J. J. Ross

Mr. Russell Denies Them and Says He Will Sue Brooklyn Eagle.

A Hamilton reporter interviewed Pastor Charles T. Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, the preacher who spoke on "Beyond the Grave" on Wednesday night at the Grand here, in his room at the Royal Hotel. Pastor Russell was asked to make a reply to the sensational charges which have been heaped upon his head in a printed circular, gotten up and distributed by Rev. J. J. Ross, Baptist minister of Toronto, formerly of Talbot Street Baptist Church, London, who has accepted a call from the congregation of the James Street Baptist Church in Hamilton, and who commences his pastorate at that church next Sunday morning.

In attacking Pastor Russell Rev. Mr. Ross has culled from the columns of the Brooklyn Eagle many serious charges. Chief among these are the following statements:

Mr. Ross' Attack.
"His friends consist of the baser sort." "He never attended the higher schools of learning." "Knows comparatively nothing of philosophy or the dead languages." "Was never ordained and has no church affiliation." "By thousands he is believed to be a religious fakir of the worst type." "In 1879 he married Miss Marie E. Ackley, who divorced him a few years ago on the ground of cruelty and of having wrong relations with numerous other women." "He stands charged with defrauding his wife of her dower of trust." "With having his name sensationally connected with those of other women." "With giving himself out as an interdenominationalist." "With causing to be sold, if not selling, Africane Wheat at $60 a bushel." "With flouting the sick and dying to make their wills in his favor." "With engineering the sale of property worth $35,000 for $50 for the purpose of defrauding another." "With distorting almost every fundamental of evangelical Christian faith."

As Others See Him.

BALLOONIST AND BOY FALL WITH PARACHUTE

Dangling Rope Catches Leg of Lad, Carrying Him Up and in Brave Effort at Rescue, Aeronaut and Boy Fall to Instant Death.

[Canadian Press.]
Tusculum, Ala., Oct. 4.—A dangling rope from a balloon caught the leg of Lorenzo Howland, 15 years old, as it ascended, manned by H. C. Petty, who was making his first flight here yesterday. The boy hung on until 500 feet up, when both fell to their death with an unopened parachute. The boy was emmeshed several feet above Petty when the bag ruptured for the ascent, and several hundred spectators heard the noise as the calling to him to disengage himself, the trapeze was dashed to the ground, shipless mass. Howland landed on top of Petty, and both met instant death.

and with the balloon pitching and tossing got down to the trapeze on the parachute. Immediately after he gained a hold on the rope Petty cut loose. Then the two shot downward. Friends of the boy had watched his perilous manoeuvres on the side of the balloon, expecting momentarily to see him fall from the ropes, and they took hope for a moment after the parachute left the balloon. But the big parachute never opened, and the two occupants of the trapeze were dashed to the ground, shipless mass. Howland landed on top of Petty, and both met instant death.

A Laurier Incident

Sir Wilfrid Laurier this morning allowed Mr. Plummer, a car cleaner for the Grand Trunk Railway, to take his picture. Mr. Plummer got on the former premier's car, and asked to be allowed to use his camera on the great Canadian statesman, but someone in the party was inclined to object. Sir Wilfrid heard the argument, and at once called to Mr. Plummer to go ahead. And not only this, but the leader of the Liberal party took up a position where the light would be best, and in every way helped Mr. Plummer to secure the valued souvenir.

AYLMER LADY TERRIBLY BURNED

Clothing Set Ablaze by Bonfire She Was Watching.
[Canadian Press.]
St. Thomas, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Baillie, wife of Alex. Baillie, manager of the Aylmer Canning Company St. Thomas started a bonfire in her yard this morning. Her clothing caught fire and before assistance reached her was completely burned from her body as was also her hair. An employee of the canning company, Henry McConnell, noticing her plight, threw his coat about the unfortunate lady and rolled her on the grass. There is hope for her recovery.

ONE LOAD OF COAL WAS 230 POUNDS SHORT

Another Was 65 Pounds Under Weight—One Out of Eight Loads Over Weight.

The following were the weights discovered by Inspector McCallum when he had wagons of local coal dealers sent to the city scales to be weighed, with their loads:
Driver's Weight Scales
Vouchers, Weight, Shortage
No. 1 ... 2,920 lbs. 2,900 lbs. 20 lbs
No. 2 ... 3,490 lbs. 3,170 lbs. 320 lbs
No. 3 ... 5,000 lbs. 5,390 lbs. 390 lbs
No. 4 ... 4,000 lbs. 3,935 lbs. 65 lbs
Mr. McCallum allowed the dealers to go with a warning this time, but he says that when next he locates the weights he will prosecute the coal men in the police court. Of eight loads weighed there were found to be correct, one was ten pounds over, and four were "short," as above.

BAIL FOR MR. E. E. MILLER

Mr. Esek E. Miller, who was arrested in Toronto on complaint of Percy H. Short, who charged him with stealing $50 worth of machine patterns, and who has been lodged in the county jail for the past couple of days, was this morning released on bail of $400. Half this amount was furnished by the prisoner, while two other sureties of $100 each were provided by friends who learned of Mr. Miller's predicament. It is said that the evidence shows that the police court case arises out of business difficulties here.

BRITISH SUBMARINE SUNK FOURTEEN MEN PERISH

War Craft While Manoeuvring Off the Coast of Kent Cut in Two by Liner Amerika, and Officer in Charge Only Member of Crew Rescued.

[Canadian Press.]

Dover, Oct. 4.—The British submarine B2 was run down by the Hamburg-American liner Amerika here today. It sank at once, drowning fourteen of the crew. The officer in charge was rescued.

The disaster in which the "B2" was sunk, occurred while the third patrol of submarines consisting of six vessels, was manoeuvring on the coast of Kent.

The liner Amerika appears to have cut the submarine completely in two. Lieutenant Richard I. Pulleyne, who was second in command, was the only man among the crew of fifteen who was saved. He was found floating in the sea too exhausted to say more when he was rescued than: "The submarine is cut in two. I went down a mile."

Nothing has been heard from the Amerika up to the present.

Sunk While Manoeuvring.
The "B2" had left Dover harbor at 5 o'clock this morning to participate with the other submarines in a series of manoeuvres. The accident occurred just an hour later, although none of the sister submarines knew anything about it until Lieut. Pulleyne was picked up from the sea.

The young lieutenant collapsed after he was taken from the water and conveyed to the parent ship.

The liner Amerika stood by after the collision and threw life buoys overboard, while a number of torpedo-boats after being informed of the accident by wireless telegraphy, searched the sea for hours. None of the other members of the crew, however, was found, and no sign of wreckage was discernible in the vicinity. The Amerika then proceeded on her voyage to Southampton and Cherbourg on her way to New York.

The "B2" was one of the older and smaller class of submarines, having been built with ten sister ships between the years 1903 and 1907. Her length was 100 feet and her beam 12 feet 7 inches. Her displacement on the surface was 180 tons, and submerged 210 tons. Her indicated horsepower was 600 on the surface and 150 below. Her engines developed a speed of 11½ knots on the surface and 8 knots submerged. She was fitted with two torpedo tubes, and her complement was two officers and thirteen men.

This is the sixth disaster to British submarines, each of them involving the loss of from 11 to 15 lives. Lieut. Percy B. Officer, who perished, was the commander of the "B2."

An Informal Reception.
An informal reception was held in Sir Wilfrid's private car, and after this he was taken for an auto ride about the city.
Hon. Chas. Murphy, Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Sydney Fisher, and Hon. Mackenzie King accompanied him, in motors belonging to Mr. Philip Pocock, and Mr. J. C. Duffield.
Mr. F. G. Inwood, Liberal organizer, looked after the arrangements. On the train was also Mr. T. Passingham, of the Liberal Information Bureau, Ottawa.
Owing to the fact that No. 6, the train scheduled to take the party to Woodstock, was over two hours late, the Grand Trunk ran a special train at the regular hour, landing Sir Wilfrid and party into Woodstock at the proper time.

A great reception has been arranged for the Liberal leader at Woodstock, special trains being run from several directions into the city.

Sir Wilfrid will address the farmers in the afternoon, and the citizens at night at two meetings.

A Wonderful Reception.
"We are all feeling in splendid condition," said Hon. Geo. P. Graham. "The trip has been especially pleasing, the receptions tendered Sir Wilfrid being wonderful in the spontaneous enthusiasm exhibited. A new spirit is upon the party, and we look for great results."

It is expected that several hundred will go to Woodstock this evening from London and vicinity to hear Sir Wilfrid discuss the issues of the day.

SHOT WHILE HUNTING.
North Bay, Oct. 4.—Moses Beaucage, a middle-aged Indian, lies in North Bay Hospital in a critical condition as the result of a gunshot wound received while hunting on the reserve west of North Bay. Beaucage was found almost dead from loss of blood with a gaping wound in the thigh, and stated that he fell while trailing a shotgun, which dropped out of his hand and exploded, the charge entering his thigh and making a terrible wound.

D. & C. LINE BOATS WILL CALL DAILY AT PORT STANLEY

One of Largest American Companies Rents Docks With Option to Purchase.

MOONLIGHT RIDES TO BE A FEATURE

None of Firm's Boats More Than 15 Years Old—A Most Important Announcement.

The announcement is made today by Mr. John S. Moore, of the London and Western Trusts Company, that the famous "D. & C." Line had decided to make Port Stanley a daily port of call during the summer months. This is regarded by businessmen as one of the most important pieces of news that Port Stanley and London have heard in recent years.

As is generally known, the D. & C. boats are operated by the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company, and the line is one of the largest in the United States. Boats are operated as far south as New Orleans by the company, and it is said that they have not a boat in their service that is more than fifteen years old, or that has a capacity of less than 2,000 passengers. Their boats are fitted for considerable journeys, and it is expected that one of the best of their steamers will be put on the Port Stanley run.

Take an Option on Dock.
Mr. Moore's company has had control of the dockage facilities at Port Stanley formerly used by "The Forest City," and for some time he has been negotiating with the "D. & C." people. Thursday afternoon he received word to the effect that the company had agreed to rent the docks for one year, and that they would put a daily service to Cleveland into effect early next spring. The schedule will be arranged, so that moonlight excursions will be conducted. The company at the same time takes an option on the docks, agreeing to purchase within a year if business warrants.

The "D. & C." boats will be the largest that have ever called at Port Stanley, and as the company has a reputation for "going after" business, and knowing how to use publicity effectively it would seem that their success is practically a certainty. The removal of any sort of steamship service will revive summer business at Port Stanley considerably.

It is thought to be a certainty that the business available from Port Stanley will prompt the company to take advantage of its option.

Will Aid Sunday Cars.
The consummation of the deal is also most opportune in another connection. Patrons of the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company are at present circulating many petitions which will be presented to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, supporting the company's request to be exempted from the clause of the Lord's Day act, which prevents it from operating a Sunday service. These documents are being signed by hundreds of residents of the different places along the line, while farmers are also joining in the movement.

The establishment of the international connection by means of the lake service will probably be a consideration as patrons of the line of steamers would otherwise be compelled to "lay over" in Port Stanley from Sunday till Monday before being able to continue the six or seven miles to St. Thomas or the twenty-five miles to London.

THE WEATHER.

TOMORROW—FAIR.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—8 a.m.

Today—Moderate westerly winds; fine and warm.

Saturday—South and southeast winds; fair until evening, then showery.

The following were the highest and lowest temperatures during the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today:

Stations High Low Weather.
LONDON ... 66 45.5 Fair

Weather Notes.
The low area which was centred near Lake Superior yesterday has moved to Northern Quebec, and another which will probably prove of considerable importance in moving southward across the Western Provinces.

WIDE SCOPE GIVEN DYNAMITE TRIAL

Presiding Judge Says He Will Allow Prosecution To Show
a Motive.

GREAT CASE IS OPENED

United States Government Prosecutor
Announces Evidence That He Is Ready to Use.

Indianapolis, Oct. 3.—Not only evidence of the alleged illegal interstate shipment of dynamite and nitroglycerin, but also evidence as to what was done with the explosives, will be admitted at the trial of the 46 men accused of complicity in the "dynamite plots."

Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson so ruled today. His decision, thus opening to the prosecution the right to show a motive by going into the details of many explosions, including that which wrecked the Los Angeles Times building, Oct. 1, 1910, followed the empaneling of a jury and a severe arraignment of the defendants in the opening statement by District Attorney Charles W. Miller.

It took just thirteen hours to secure the jury.

The Prosecution.
Mr. Miller, opening, said the Government would prove that the defendants, all of whom are former or present officials of labor unions, entered into a conspiracy to blow up the "jobs" of employers of non-union labor.

"We will show that dynamite and nitroglycerin were carried from one place in one state to a place in another state on passenger trains on which thousands of men, women and children were travelling," said Mr. Miller. "Evidence will show that an internal machine was devised whereby a charge of explosive with a long fuse attached was set off by an alarm clock, so that the dynamites could be hundreds of miles away when their destructive work was accomplished. We will show that James J. McNamara and John J. McNamara, who are now in prison in California, one of them for murder, and Orville E. McManigal, who has pleaded guilty, were active in this dynamite business, and that all the present defendants are guilty with them."

The Government's statement contained a full list of the cases, and named Boston, New York, Jersey City, Hoboken, Albany, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco as among the cities where the defendants met to carry on a conspiracy.

A Tell-Tale Umbrella.
An ivory handle umbrella inscribed with the initials "E. C." Mr. Miller said, would be produced to show that Edward Clark visited the plant at Cincinnati where an explosion was to take place, and that Clark forgot his umbrella, leaving it as a "token" of his visit to be found in the wreckage.

Mr. Miller said it would be shown that Clark himself blew up part of a railroad bridge over the Big Miami River at Dayton, Ohio, using the same umbrella to protect the explosives from the rain.

Many telegrams signed "Ping" would be introduced, he said, to show that explosions were directed from the union headquarters in Indianapolis under this disguised name.

The presentation of the Government's case was not concluded when the court adjourned until tomorrow.

LUMPJAW OUTBREAK IN ZURICH DISTRICT

Many Young Animals Were Found To Be Suffering
From It.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Zurich, Oct. 4.—Dr. E. W. Stoskopf, veterinary surgeon, reports lumpjaw as being prevalent throughout the district. During the past few days he has removed the lump from several young animals. The doctor says much of the cow consumption spoken of is the result of these lumps breaking before reaching the market.

Mr. David Cantelon, of Clinton, was here yesterday making arrangements with local agents for the collection of apples for export.

The Zurich road, from Hensall to the lake, is being repaired.

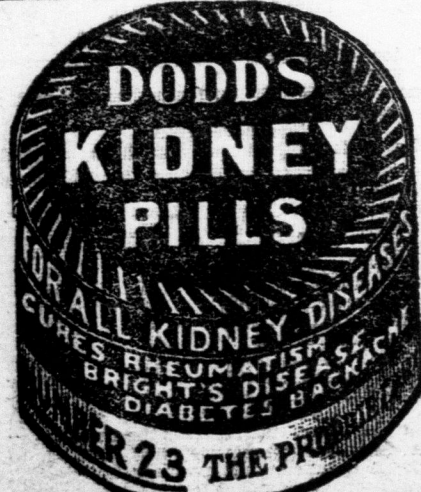

Quite a number of local people attended the Blyth Fall Fair.

Prayers Answered.
The prayers of local people have been heard in regard to the much-needed sunshine. On Tuesday the wind was high, and on Wednesday and Thursday the sun completed the work of drying the ground, thus giving the farmers new hope for the preservation of their late crops.

Potatoes are being dug up and placed in the sunshine for a while before "pitting" them. Of the potatoes taken out of the ground in the neighborhood of the village not more than five per cent. of them are rotten.

The Lutheran Church here has its own way of preserving the mother tongue. One hour each Sunday is devoted to teaching the catechism in the German language. The minister and members of the congregation engage in this work.

Now that the season is open for shooting ducks and rabbits the local Gun Club will be much in evidence. Ducks are plentiful, and the cotton-tails are to be seen hopping in great numbers along the lake shore.

BALKAN SITUATION MORE PEACEFUL

Austria-Hungary Joins Powers in Effort to Prevent Hostilities.

BULGARS CROSS BORDER

Reported That the Invasion of Sultan's Territory Has Already Commenced.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Oct. 4.—Expectations of the maintenance of peace in the Balkans were strengthened today by the assurance given to the French Government that Austria-Hungary was ready to join in any concerted action of the powers to prevent hostilities.

Austria's attitude in the crisis hitherto had not been clearly defined, and her declared decision to act in accord with the other powers is greeted in diplomatic circles as a powerful factor in averting war.

Premier Raymond Poincaré told his colleagues at a meeting of the French cabinet today that the program of the powers was in the first place to make every effort to avoid a war, secondly, to localize the war if it should break out, and, thirdly, to assure in any event, the maintenance of existing territorial conditions.

London, Oct. 3.—Hostilities between the Balkan States and Turkey have already commenced, according to reports from many quarters tonight. A dispatch to the Russian Government says the Bulgarians are crossing the frontier. Military action has thus outstripped slower-footed diplomacy, for no ultimatum has yet been presented to Turkey, and in Constantinople none is expected until Monday. The Porte, however, sent an official notification to the powers, which reads:

"In view of the manifestly aggressive attitude of the Balkan States, Turkey reserves to itself full liberty of action, convinced that the civilized world will not fail to do justice to its moderate attitude. But this cannot exclude care for safeguarding its dignity and security, as well as its rights."

Clashes Reported.
Skirmishes are reported to have occurred in the neighborhood of Djum-bala, also called Jamboli, Bulgarian territory, in the Albania vilayet of Scutari, along the Montenegrin frontier and near Baschkirany, on the Serbian border.

Turkey has appointed the war minister, Nazim Pasha, to supreme command. Roumania has not yet mobilized, and it is stated, will take no action for a few days.

Negotiations by the great powers in favor of peace are being carried on, the most important conference at present being held in Paris. It is reported that Austria will receive Europe's mandate to take the needed steps to localize the war.

The war fever of the populace is rising rapidly. Many thousands of students and others formed processions and marched through the streets tonight. They held demonstrations in several places.

Patriotic meetings were held, and fiery speeches were delivered, clamoring for war. This outcry is based on the belief that the Balkan States are combining to drive the Turks out of Europe.

AMUSEMENTS

Musical Play Tonight and Saturday.

At the Grand tonight and twice tomorrow, matinee and night, Joe M. Gaites will present John Hyams and Leila McIntyre in the delightful musical play, "The Girl of My Dreams." Besides the clever stars, there will be a large cast of principals and a big beauty chorus and ballet. Wilbur D. Nesbit and Otto Hauerbach wrote the book and lyrics, and the late Karl Hoschna is responsible for the music, which is sufficiently catchy to receive repeated encores, and every song has its own peculiar novelty of stagecraft to add to its success. John Hyams and Leila McIntyre are co-stars in the piece. Miss McIntyre is a young Quakeress and Mr. Hyams is a bachelor motorist. The Quakeress has reformed the bachelor from his "speedy" ways. He, on his way to meet her, runs over a lady's hat, from whence the complications arise. It is the trouble. The motorist orders it to be replaced, the milliner makes it, the wrong persons take it. There is confusion, but the bachelor proves his innocence and the little Quakeress is made happy. Some of the stage novelties are the "Tally-ho Girls," the "Marionettes" and "The Tootown Tinklers."

May Robson on Tuesday.
May Robson is an actress of exceptional ability and in her new play, "A Night Out," of which she is co-author, she has every opportunity to develop that fund of clean-cut humor and that world of brilliant and thrilling pathos which has made her famous. She will impersonate a young-old woman, broad-minded, free from affectation, and possessing a keen sense of humor, nothing absurd or ridiculous escapes her attention, and being fond of excitement is a mild stimulant, she persuades her two grandsons whom she adores, into all sorts of extravagance. This attraction played here last season to delighted audiences. Seats tomorrow at 9 a.m.

FREIGHT DERAILLED.
St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 3.—A Grand Trunk freight train from Buffalo to Toronto was derailed in the Meridon yards today. The main line was blocked for several hours and 150 feet of track were torn up.

MEN'S STORE—RICHMOND STREET ENTRANCE.

Men's Fall Toppers, $10.00 to $25.00

Have you ever noticed this about successful men? That they usually find out things for themselves ahead of other people? By the same token you will find that the best dressed men this fall will be the men who are taking the pains to find out just how the various clothing stocks in London compare.

The wise man will know when it comes time for him to buy his Fall Overcoat or Suit when he can get the most in fashion or in volume for his money.

We will welcome every man to see our stock before he buys, and we will answer questions and give full information without importuning anybody to buy.

This suggestion is not made in the spirit of a challenge, but with the hope that it may be useful to dollar-wise men. See our New Fall Overcoats, black and gray vicunas, and gray and brown tweed, sizes 33 to 46. Prices. $10.00, $12.95, $15.00 and $25.00

LONDON, FRIDAY, OCT. 4.

THE TIES THAT BIND.

The owner of some land at the head of Lake Windermere, in Wordsworth's country, had decided recently to have a number of "villa residences" built upon it. But an association, with Canon Rawnsley as leading spirit, is being formed to buy and preserve the beautiful scene in its native wildness.

To his and the New York Outlook's appeal for assistance in this project, Mr. Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for president, has thus answered:

"I have read with great interest, as I am sure all lovers of Wordsworth and of the Wordsworth country must also have learned, of the danger that the head of beautiful Lake Windermere, in the north of England, is in danger of being lost to the world. I take the liberty of sending you this line to express my warm sympathy with the project of raising a fund to prevent the region from suffering any such destruction. Its exquisite charm, all lovers of the English poet must wish to preserve the Wordsworth country intact. Sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

As the Outlook says, "If ownership in real but intangible value is vested in those who know how to appreciate it, the Lake Country is surely a part of the heritage of Americans as well as of Britons." They may be depended upon to add theirs to British endeavors to protect a spot of such natural, historical and literary importance.

It is these subtle influences that are always working with educated Americans and all the English-speaking world more powerfully than any governmental machinery ever could to make them kin. Mr. Woodrow Wilson, the historian of the American people, and probably the next president, is a striking example of the cultured American's love of the motherland of the race.

In the assertive republic the memories of letters and events that cling to such places as Windermere, strike after all a deeper note than the ideas of the revolution. They draw the rebellious offspring homeward in spite of themselves.

The same ties will always bind Canada to Great Britain. Beside the ties of sentiment, political machinery is mere pinhead. And we have the advantage over the United States that there has been no breach in the historical continuity of our filial relations. All that we need to do is to guard against a breach, and to enjoy the natural common life which is ours, and is more real than any artificial organism that tinkering scientists of imperialism may create.

MR. HAWKES' REJOINDER.

The Advertiser has received the following letter from Mr. Arthur Hawkes:

"I have just seen the feature of your last Saturday's paper, headed, 'Plight of English Settlers at Jeannette's Creek Laid at Door of Ontario Government,' and will be glad if you will give prominence to this reference to it.

"The presentation of this matter suggests that you have given way to your natural desire to make political capital against the Ontario Government. You describe me as Dominion immigration commissioner; you indicate that I claim the Jeannette scheme was given the approval of the Ontario agricultural department, and that I lay the settlers' plight at the door of the Ontario Government. You say you have 'secured a report' written by me on the subject.

"I am not Dominion immigration commissioner. The work I did for the Dominion Government as special commissioner concluded with the publication of my report in May last. I have nowhere said that the Jeannette scheme was 'given approval' by the Ontario agricultural department. I have said that the name of Dr. C. C. James, when deputy minister of agriculture, was used in the advertising of the company (the responsibility for which I have not attempted to fix), and that, to some extent, the company utilized the Ontario immigration service in England.

"This is very different from laying the responsibility for the seeming mismanagement of the company at the door of the Ontario Government. I have expressed regret that the Ontario immigration department, which must have known there was discontent at Jeannette, had not intervened, before I looked into conditions on the spot. If it is of any interest to you, you may know that I have ventured to tell the Minister of the Interior that I think the circumstances call for close inquiry by his immigration department. I have done this because my special report on immigration to the Minister of the Interior supports the principle of scientific land settlement on lines such as the Jeannette scheme was believed to promote.

"Your statement that 'The Advertiser has procured a report' written by me is as amusing as some other statements of yours about me within the last year or so. Everything I have written about Jeannette has come to The Advertiser in its exchange copies of the British News of Canada, of which I am editor, and the 'report' which you have 'procured' must have reached your office on Sept. 6, as a signed article in the British News, under the heading, 'The Story of Jeannette.'

"I gladly take full personal responsibility for that article; but must request you to correct the impression you have given that it is an official report of a Dominion immigration commissioner. Yours truly, ARTHUR HAWKES."

responsibility for that article; but must request you to correct the impression you have given that it is an official report of a Dominion immigration commissioner. Yours truly, ARTHUR HAWKES."

We confess to having missed 'The Story of Jeannette's Creek' in the British Weekly News, though we pay that well-written journal the meed of attention which scores of others claim in the course of the week's work; but, at any rate, Mr. Hawkes' article was published in these columns exactly as he wrote it. Whether he wrote it before or after he ceased to hold an official position is not so important as he imagines. He objects to our inference that the plight of the English settlers at Jeannette's Creek is laid by him at the door of the Ontario Government. He admits in his letter that the company "to some extent utilized the Ontario immigration service in England."

In his article he says that "the Ontario immigration department WHICH HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH GETTING THE PEOPLE OUT, might well have looked into the matter, but so far have not done so." Mr. Hawkes says "this is very different from laying the responsibility of the seeming mismanagement of the company at the door of the Ontario Government." Mr. Hawkes is quibbling. It was the business of the Ontario Government to protect people whom it helped to bring to this province, against the fate that has befallen the Jeannette's Creek settlers through no fault of their own. It is a just inference from Mr. Hawkes' own article that the Government, through its immigration department, must share the responsibility for the settlers' misfortunes. Mr. Hawkes has tried to deal tenderly with his political friends at Toronto. He might have explained that the company's literature had their official indorsement.

As to the 'amusing statements' concerning Mr. Hawkes in these columns during the past year or two, they referred to his part in the last election, and his reward from the grateful beneficiaries of his labors. His propaganda was one of the most discreditable chapters in Canadian political history. He charges us with trying to make political capital against the Ontario Government. Mr. Hawkes made personal capital by trading in the sentiment of loyalty.

UNANSWERED QUESTION.

The London Free Press declines to give a straight answer to this question:

"If, as the Free Press says, Canadian implement-makers can manufacture as cheaply as Americans, why did it say in September last that a five per cent. reduction of the duty on implements would throw the employees of the Canadian implement industries out of work?"

The two assertions will not hang together. If Canadian implement-makers can manufacture as cheaply as Americans competitors, the reduction of the Canadian duty to 15 per cent.—which is the American rate—could not possibly affect the Canadian industry.

In the House of Commons in 1910 and 1911, Mr. Meighen, the Conservative member for Portage La Prairie, moved this resolution:

"That in the opinion of this House, a substantial reduction on the import duties on agricultural implements is now due the agriculturists of Canada, and is in just accord with the true ends of a protective tariff."

W. D. Staples, Conservative member for Macdonald, Man., seconded the resolution, which was supported by all the Conservative members from the rural divisions of the prairie provinces. Mr. John Herron, Conservative member for Macleod, Alberta, even demanded that the duty be wiped out.

A year later the Laurier Government proposed the moderate reduction of 2½ per cent. on some classes of implements and 5 per cent. on others, leaving the tariff uniformly 15 per cent. In the West the Conservative candidates attacked the reciprocity agreement on the ground that the reduction of the implement duties and of the duties on other manufactured articles failed to meet western demands. In the East, Conservative journals, like the Free Press, told the workmen that factories would be closed, and they would lose their jobs if these reductions took place. It was a two-faced campaign—one face for the East, the other for the West. But our local contemporary has now two faces of its own. After asserting that the Canadian industry would be imperilled by a 15 per cent. duty, it now contends that implements are made as cheaply in Canada as in the United States.

Will the Free Press answer the question put to it?

There is only one place big enough to hold a Laurier crowd—the open air.

The Bulgarians, Serbs, and Greeks hate one another. One touch of Turkey makes them kin.

"The London Advertiser apparently favors the removal of the duty on agricultural implements."—London Free Press.

Verse and chapter, please?

Fancy the Borden Government going hat in hand to the United States Interstate railway commission to beg for cheaper rates for Canadian grain through American channels! What a change of tune! What a change of face!

Treason! Treason! The Dominion canners want to import canned vegetables from the United States; free of duty. Was it for this that Canadian vegetable growers were asked to back up the canners' combine in the last election?

HOW THE PRICE GROWS.

[St. Thomas Journal.]
Speaking of the high cost of living there's canned tomatoes for instance. The farmer gets thirty cents a bushel for his tomatoes. The canner, by a liberal addition of moisture, succeeds in filling something like thirteen cans from a bushel of the natural product, for which the wholesaler pays at the rate of eight cents each; he sells them to the retailer for nine cents each, and the ultimate consumer contributes a total of $4.50 at the present price of 15 cents per can. And at this price the retailer and wholesaler are getting a bare living profit. The consumer is doing fairly well, thank you.

MAKING PROGRESS.

[Life.]
"Even as an ambulance surgeon young Squills is showing remarkable aptitude for his profession."

"Yes, I understand he actually once told the difference between a drunken man and one with a fractured skull."

DEDUCTION.

[Judge's Library.]
"I wonder what that slender young woman works at," says the man with the vibrant ears.
"She must be a school teacher," answers the man with the deep-set eyes. "I overheard her say that she tans very quickly."

GONE, BUT COMING BACK.

[From M. A. P.]
The curious effects sometimes produced in telegrams by want of punctuation or the omission of a single small word cannot fail to have struck everyone. A London doctor had a female relative in the north from whom he had "expectations." She had been ailing for some weeks when one morning came a telegram asking the doctor's wife to go at once, as she—his aunt—was much worse. His wife accordingly went.

During the evening of the following day the doctor received this disconcerting announcement:
"Aunt Milla went to heaven at 2:30 returning by 11:59 tomorrow morning."

STILL IN THE BUSINESS.

[Indianapolis News.]
Miss Eleanor Garrison, a granddaughter of William Lloyd Garrison, has been for the last several months a familiar in the streets of Boston selling a suffrage paper. With her bag of papers over her shoulder she calls out her desires like any other news vendor and apparently attracts many buyers. Her favorite stand is at the junction of Park and Tremont streets.

TO A TUGBOAT.

[Milwaukee Sentinel.]
You chugging, plugging tugboat is an ugly little craft;
It lacks the graceful beauty of a yacht.
It is black with soot and cinders, it is grimy from an aft.
But you always find it Johnny-on-the-spot.

A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT.

[Hamilton Herald.]
If the hopes of the masses of the Irish people again brought to the dust, would not the Irish people have an excellent excuse for resorting to force in order to prove the reality of their desire for self-government, and their sincerity in demanding it? How could they reasonably be blamed if, noting the success of the tactics of their enemies in the north, they should decide on a policy of force to achieve their purpose? They will have good reason for claiming that the Ulster loyalists have no monopoly in the policy of force and intimidation.

The motto of the north are establishing a very mischievous and dangerous precedent. Minorities have rights; but among those rights the right to coerce the majority is not included.

WHY HE MARRIED HER.

[Boston Transcript.]
She—"So Jack married that girl who used to make him so angry by tramping his arm at night."

He—"Yes; he probably thought he could manage a woman who didn't have any more brains than that."

A NATURAL MISTAKE.

[Pittsburg Post.]
"Why didn't you arrest that man when I denounced him as a pickpocket?" demanded the irate citizen.
"I thought it was just a little political discussion," explained the policeman.

PHONETICS.

[Youth's Companion.]
"Tim," inquired Mr. Riley, glancing over the door of the postoffice, "what is the meaning of 'thim' letters, 'THUCCXCVIII'?"
"They mean 1388."

"Tim, don't it strike you that they're carryin' this spelling reform entirely too far?"

ALLOWED CAR TO STAND ON STREET

Local Auto Owner Fined in the Police Court.
Many automobile owners are falling into error concerning the traffic regulations in this city, and in order to save a few dollars it may be well for some of the motorists to remember the law as set down by Police Magistrate Judd this morning.

Frank H. Brewster was charged with allowing his motor car to stand on King street, near the corner of Richmond street, for over two hours. He admitted having done so, and paid a fine of $2. The defendant explained that he knew he was not allowed to stand on Dundas or Richmond streets for a period exceeding 30 minutes, but wanted to know where the other law came from.

AUTO HIT CAR.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 4.—Charles H. Winfield, secretary of a local printing company, was killed and Earl Leach and Henry R. Heintz were seriously hurt last night, when their automobile collided with a rapidly-moving street car. The recovery of Leach and Heintz is said to be doubtful.

The Passion for Psychical Research

The passion of London ladies for the psychic is an indication of the present world-wide interest in the mysterious things of the borderland between sense and spirit. For many years the Society for Psychical Research, of which the late W. T. Stead was such an enthusiastic member, has been investigating mysterious phenomena, and as a result of their efforts, scientists everywhere have become interested. But the fascinating character of those investigations has also appealed to dozens of writers. Playwrights and novelists have seized the new subject as offering a rich storehouse of material for their productions. One of the new novels of the season, "The Blue Wall," by Richard Washburn Child (McClelland & Goodchild, Toronto), is a story of strangeness at which the psychic element gives the reader some first-class thrills. Dr. Samuel Johnson said that no one should think of trying to read Shakespeare's "Macbeth" at midnight, at least no one who believes in ghosts. Now I have always regarded "Macbeth" as very strong meat, but when I compare it with this up-to-date novel, it is as spring chicken unto grizzly bear.

I do not wish to insinuate that "The Blue Wall" is crude or vulgarly shocking. It is the reverse of that, for it is written in a fine style; its leading characters move in the atmosphere of culture, and the moral of the book is good. But it is a thriller and no mistake. It gave me such a bad attack of the creeps that I put it away long before bedtime. From the first page you are enveloped in mystery, and you cannot imagine how things are going to turn out until near the close of a long story. That is, the secret of "The Blue Wall" is hidden from you until all kinds of queer things have happened. The story is supposed to have been written by a doctor who was called in to a rich home to treat the only child, a little child who lay ill of meningitis. The family physician, who had been in attendance, had just been killed in an accident, and had left a few notes of the case, concluding with this strange entry, "What keeps her alive? What is behind the Marbury's wall?" The new doctor, of course, thought this was gibberish. But soon he began to look upon that blank expanse of pale blue wall, that non-committal wall, at one moment, flat, hard, and impenetrable, at another with the limitless depths and color of a summer sky—he began to gaze upon that wall with apprehension as he saw how it seemed to affect his little patient. There was evidently some mysterious something beyond that blue wall, some psychic force which had a strange influence over the patient. Sometimes the messages from beyond to the little girl would make her smile or sleep easily, at other times they would have a terrible effect upon her nerves and would make her face all screw up in pain.

The doctor was not a member of the Society for Psychical Research, and he had no belief in ghosts, but he resolved to discover the wall's secret. He had a very exciting time, and his adventures fill up the greater part of the book. To anticipate the happy ending, let me say that the strange influences for good and evil which reached through that blue wall were caused by the spiritual agony of a woman who imprisoned herself in a room in her luxurious home and struggled for weeks against the drug habit. As her will seemed to conquer the influence over the sick child would be soothing; but as she seemed to give way to temptation her influence was hurtful. Because she conquered at long last, after a terrible struggle, the child's life was saved, and the happiness of her home was restored. Why she became addicted to the drug habit, and the story of her early and married life, make up the fascinating plot of the novel.

the circulars embodying the above remarks, and read every line of it with avidity. His mouth hardened at a perusal of some of the lines, and a grim smile stole over his face. He looked at his watch. It was ten minutes past three, and he said he was due to leave for London at 3:45 o'clock, but would endeavor to reply to Mr. Ross as best he could. In part he said:

"The subject of ordination is a large one. The word 'ordained' signifies to give authority to. Each little denomination has given authority to its own members; some with one ceremonial and some with another. I could have ordination ceremonies at the hands of hundreds of congregations if I wanted such. In one sense I have their ordination, in that they have elected me their pastor. But the ordination I desire is the Bible and not of sectarianism. According to the Bible the church of Christ is not divided into a clergy and a laity, for Jesus said, 'One is your master, even Christ, and all ye are brethren.'

"According to the Bible every truly consecrated follower of Jesus is begot of the Holy Spirit at the time of his consecration. This is the divine recognition of the believer as a member of the church with the cross upon his breast. And this gives him full authority to preach and to teach all that he himself believes, according to his talents and his opportunities.

TRIM, TAILORED AUMUMN SUIT IS PRACTICAL AND STYLISH, TOO

A man admires a woman who looks trim. An authoritative French maker has allowed this attractive suit to be photographed, and offers it as one of the best every-day styles for autumn to those women who prefer straight lines and the absence of all trimming. Its tailored trimness and grace will appeal to anyone whose fancy in fashions tends toward the simple styles. The lines of the suit are extremely plain, but very good. The coat is in the new hip length and is just loose enough to be comfortable for every day wear. The sleeves are not tight enough to look drawn. The skirt is sufficiently narrow to add to the slenderness of the figure, but has width enough to hang in good lines. The skirt and coat both fasten on the side. A stiffened cross-way bias fold of the same goods is used to trim the front panel of the skirt. Novelty moulin is an excellent material of which to make this natty costume because it has all the appearance of a cheviot while shaking the dust more readily.

MAYBELLE MORTIMER WRITES OF MILADY'S FUR FADS

[Special Correspondence.]

Paris, Oct. 1, 1912.—The Parisienne regards her furs as she does her jewels, a luxury instead of a necessity. Consequently she accumulates them as she would other family heirlooms. Not even in St. Petersburg does one see as wonderful furs as one sees in Paris. It was in the clever brain of Poirer that the idea originated of using the pelts of animals just as one would any other kind of material. The furs were quick to see how much more chic coats, hosiery and evening wraps could be made in this fashion than in the old way. And they have steadily improved upon the original every season.

The first time she goes into a furrier's in Paris one will be much surprised to see so little mink. The French people use it hardly at all. Indeed, a fashionable woman of Paris considers many of the cheaper pelts more artistic than mink.

While sealskin, ermine, chinchilla, Russian sable, civet, badger, lynx, fox, leopard and bear are used extensively this season, mole-skin is the most popular. About seven years ago this fur was very much the mode, but it went out quickly as it came in. This year mole-skin and taupe color, which is the tint of the fur, will be worn more than anything else.

A Finishing Touch. Never waste a piece of fur, no matter how small. A tiny touch of it on a dress or coat may prove just the finishing touch. If you have an old set of furs that you think cannot be used stretch them out wrong side on the kitchen table and cut into strips with a very sharp knife. Use these strips with velvet if your fur is long, and with satin or brocade if it is short to make a muff and cape.

A clever woman can do wonders with a little fur and some satin or velvet. Make your muff very large. It can be any shape you choose if it is only good size. The same discretion can be given to the neck-piece, which may be merely a collar fastening tight around the neck, or a long shawl or even a scarf of the satin or silk material with the fur put across the ends.

I saw in one of the shops a very beautiful evening gown of cream white chiffon over pink and the only fur about it were two large buttons covered with uncolored lynx, which seemed to be holding up the drapery at the side.

Another afternoon gown of taupe-colored broadcloth had a piece of minkskin bandied across the box plait in the front and back. By the way, these box plaits tightly sewed down to an otherwise plain skirt are very popular and also very becoming to most figures.

Novel and Artistic. One of the most novel, as well as artistic, muff and cape sets in the Paris shops I saw at Francis. It was of sealskin, made like the half of a rounded shawl, and this was trimmed with a tied fringe of heavy silk braid caught down with seal skin buttons. The muff was very flat and rounded very much like the neck-piece, and trimmed at the lower edge with same fur and braid fringe.

This set was priced at 4,500 francs, or $1,500, but I thought, as I was looking at it, that a very pretty set of the same general style could be made of the long silky plush they are wearing so much this year, combined with a tied fringe. This could be made in seal brown, taupe or black.

For a young girl a very beautiful muff and neck-piece was on exhibition at Dre-colls. This was formed of a narrow width of lynx fur, hooked under a bow in front. Both the band and the bow were lined with seal skin. The barrel muff, which was the size and shape of that our grandmothers carried, had a band of the leopard skin at one side. This, too, could be made of velvet with a lining of one of the cheaper furs, or even a lining and trimming of marabout feathers.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received.]

Poor Fellow!

Dear Miss Grey: I am 24, but am almost as badly baldheaded as a man of 50. For this reason the girls have little to do with me. And how dearly I love girl company! I love one almost to distraction, but she is ashamed of my bald head. This girl is pretty and I have a great many rivals. I am worth quite a bit of money and I am afraid if I do win her she will just marry me for my money. Am I foolish or is she? HERBIE.

A.—Poor Herbie! I am sorry you are so baldheaded. If you cannot trust the girl, better not marry her. Any girl who is marrying you for your money is not worth while.

He is the Younger.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you advise a girl to marry a man who has been keeping company with me. We care much for each other, but the question of age has been the barrier. He is a young man of exemplary character and has a good position. My friends tell me that I look and seem no older than he. FANSY.

A.—In marrying the question of age must be largely decided by the couple involved. While it is against all theories to have the woman the older of the two, countless such marriages occur every day and a great many of them turn out most happily.

Write Him a Note.

Dear Miss Grey: I am twenty. I was keeping company with a man four years my senior, who seemed to be very much in love with me and treated me splendidly. A month ago I learned that his people were against me (although I have never met them) because I am not of his religion, although he doesn't seem to care. I was very vexed at the time, and refused to have anything more to do with him, but since I have found that I love him and am lonely for his company. How can I win his love back?

X. Y. Z.
A.—If you have every reason to think he wants to come back, write him a friendly note. In a way you owe him an apology, but for your own future happiness don't make it too humble, and let once suffice.

Ask Her Opinion.

Dear Miss Grey: I am deeply in love with a young girl of seventeen. My position will probably not allow me to get married for at least three years. Do you think it advisable for me to continue keeping company with her or not?

A.—Tell the girl frankly what you have told me. A three-year engagement is often an injustice to the girl because of the fickleness of your sex. If you are sure of yourself ask her to put you on probation, but be generous enough to demand no promise from her. She is too young.

Sends Hay Fever Cure.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me of anything that will remove brown spots from the face? I have tried lemon juice, soda hypo-sulphites and also colorless iodine, and not one of the three remedies has done any good. Will be so thankful if you can suggest anything, as I am very much worried over the appearance of a fresh spot, and greatly fear my face will, in time, be covered.

Am enclosing a hay fever cure, which is excellent. I noticed that some one asked for one a few days ago, and I can recommend this as excellent. Mrs. T. W. D. Trusting that you may be able to tell me something through the columns of your paper, and thanking you in advance, I remain, yours truly, MRS. T. W. D.

Hay fever cure: 1/2 oz. saltpetre, 1/2 oz. iodine of potassium dissolved in six oz. water. Dose: One small teaspoonful three times a day.

A.—Do you think the spots are caused by a disordered liver? I should not advise you to make any more experiments with external treatments, but consult a physician once. It is quite evident that you need a liver tonic. Much obliged for your kindness in sending the remedy for hay fever.

A good vegetable dish and one that is highly favored in South Carolina is made by cutting cold boiled sugar beets in small dice, mixing a pint of milk, three eggs and a pintable seasoning of salt and pepper, and baking them as a vegetable.

One-Piece Gown For Office Use

As summer draws to a close the business girl's thoughts naturally turn to fall and winter clothes, and especially the frocks she will want to wear in the office. What shall she select this year? Shall it be a tailor-made suit, with plenty of fresh waists either of linen or silk, or a topcoat with several one-piece dresses?

Many women who work still think that the tailor-made suit, with its separate waists, is the better choice to make. They argue that if they want to go to the matinee after office hours it takes but a second to slip on a fancy blouse and they will feel correctly dressed for the afternoon.

This is all very true, but in rain and sunshine alike a topcoat, with several pretty one-piece frocks, is really the practical outfit. In the first place there is nothing that gives such a trim to the woman who works as a stylish but plain one-piece suit.

It may be cut with kimono or set-in sleeves and be relieved at the neck by a tiny yoke of net or by a white collar with cuffs to match. In either case it is trim, stylish and refined. Soft froils of net or sheer lawn may also be worn at the neck and sleeves.

Black, navy blue and dark green are the best colors to select for these one-piece dresses, and when relieved at the neck with a touch of white should prove becoming to the average woman. If such a frock had to be worn after office hours a collar and cuff set of Irish lace would lend quite a dressy air and make the dress appropriate for any informal wear.

Serge is always serviceable for business frocks, and any of the new fancy weaves would also be a good selection.

That grumbling is as contagious as smallpox.

That the piece of work you dread most is the one to tackle first.

That there is no investment that pays larger dividends than things considered, than cheerful smiles and kind words.

That there is no time for enjoyment like the present.

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

"THAT'S" FOR HEALTH'S SAKE

[By a Physician.] There are many simple precautions and useful "grandmother's" hints which are useful in the case of small aches and ills. Here are some of them in a nutshell. Paste them in your brain cell and have them ready at the opportune time.

It is wise to remember— That one should not enter a sick-room while prespiring, because the moment you become cool your pores absorb. That a bag of hot sand relieves neuralgia.

That warm borax water will remove dandruff. That salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion. That it rests you, in sewing, to change your position frequently.

That a little soda water will relieve sick headache caused by indigestion. That a cupful of strong coffee will usually remove the odor of onions from the breath.

That a cupful of hot water taken before meals relieves nausea and dyspepsia.

That a fever patient can be made cool and comfortable by frequently sponging off with soda water.

That a consumptive's night sweats may be arrested by sponging the body nightly in salt water. That ginger in hot water is a useful remedy for bilious colic.

That a drink of hot, strong lemonade

Appetizing Vegetable Dishes

Some suggestions for warming or preparing summer vegetables may govern the selection when marketing. Colemann is made from new cabbage and potatoes chopped, fried with butter, pepper and salt, then pressed down in a mold or pudding-dish and browned in a hot oven. At this season this dish is excellent.

Succotash proper is green corn cut from the ear and stewed with beans, salt, pepper and butter; some cooks add a little milk to it; a small piece of salt pork boiled with succotash is often served in the country for dinner. Green corn baked in the pan with meat is good; it may also be broiled on the ear, stewed in milk, or made into a pudding with milk and eggs.

ROBERTS WON PABST CUP ENDICOTT TOOK WISCONSIN

Second Day of Auto Races at Milwaukee—Course Was Muddy and Minor Accidents Were Prominent—Only Three Drivers Finished in Pabst Race.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 3.—Driving a steady, consistent race on a muddy course and maintaining an average of nearly 53 miles an hour, Mortimer Roberts, of Jersey City, N. J., today won the Pabst trophy with a Mason Special car.

The winner did the 220 miles of the course in 3 hours, 45 minutes, 13.1 seconds. A field that had eight starters when the race began was reduced to three by minor accidents that put one car after another out of the running.

Harry Hastings, of Chicago, driving a F. A. L. special car, finished second, and Bill Chandler, of New York, was third. The second and third cars were far behind the winner and did not finish until after darkness had set in.

The other race of the day, one of 173 miles for small cars, was won by Harry Endicott, of Muncie, Ind., who drove a Mason Special. His time was 3 hours, 6 minutes, 44.68 seconds, an average of 55.6 miles an hour. The only other starters in this race also were Mason Special cars. Endicott was awarded the Wisconsin trophy. Second prize went to George Mason, of Mason City, Ia., who was several laps to the bad at the finish.

Two Mercer cars, piloted by Highie Hughes and Dick Mercer respectively, cut out the early pace in the Pabst trophy race, but each encountered mechanical difficulties that forced retirement. Robert was in front for the first 70 miles, but the Mercer pilots set after him and passed him. The strain was too much for them, however, and the trouble developed that forced them to quit.

In spite of the muddy condition of the race course no serious accident marred the two events. Rain fell up to within a short time before the start, and in places the Wauwatosa road, over which the cars travelled, was in very dangerous condition. This accounted for the comparatively low speed as compared to that attained in other races.

Speculators' Chances Slim For Securing Big Series Seats

New York Club's Ticket Commission Have Them Beaten at Every Point—Special Police Will Be Employed to Watch Out for Them.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 4.—New York baseball fans will monopolize practically all the seats at the Polo ground during the world series, applications from persons living in other cities having been ignored. The only way in which out-of-town fans can secure seats is to be on hand for the open sale and take their places in the line. No attention will be paid to any mail or telegraphic orders. Theatre ticket men, who hoped to make a big return by obtaining large blocks of tickets for the big games, realize that the method of distribution is likely to prove a hard blow to the speculators. So far, the commission has beaten them at every point. The fact that they, as far as reserved seats already sold, will not be delivered until Monday is a big factor against the speculator, for the reason that it gives them so little time to obtain tickets to win the series, and will have a final workout on Fenway Park next Monday. Several hundred of their most devoted followers will accompany them to New York so that they may hear some Boston cheers floating over the Polo grounds. This band of supporters are busily engaged in learning baseball songs set to popular ditties. It is expected that this feature will be almost as much enjoyed as an intercollegiate football contest.

RED SOX STRONG FAVORITES IN WORLD SERIES BETTING

Little New York Money in Sight, However—Giants' Chances Are Conceded To Be Pretty Slim—Big Crowd of Boston Rooters Will Go to New York.

[Canadian Press.] Boston, Oct. 4.—With the first world series game in this city only five days away, the quotations on single chances to see the initial struggle on Fenway Park rose today to $7 and $12 asked. Betting on the series has not been particularly brisk in this city. The Red Sox have ruled strong favorites over the Yankees from the time the line-up of the world series clubs was definitely settled, but a dearth of New York money has curbed the gambling instinct in Boston. It was reported yesterday that the odds which were 10 to 7 and 5 to 3 on the Red Sox had dwindled to even money. Investigation, however, failed to disclose any great amount of confidence in the ability of the Yankees to win the series, and but few wagers were made.

The Red Sox are expected to return on Sunday from Philadelphia and will have a final workout on Fenway Park next Monday. Several hundred of their most devoted followers will accompany them to New York so that they may hear some Boston cheers floating over the Polo grounds. This band of supporters are busily engaged in learning baseball songs set to popular ditties. It is expected that this feature will be almost as much enjoyed as an intercollegiate football contest.

Matt and Jeff will do the bulk of the slab work for the Giants in the world series, we are told. Perhaps the Red Sox will make them look as big a burlesque as that other famous pair, Mutt and Jeff.

Jim Corbett fought many a hard battle during his ring career, but we'll wager that the battle he is fighting at present is the toughest of them all. It is a battle with Death, and the stake is a human life, the winner to take all.

LARRY DOYLE SPIKED BUT NOT SERIOUSLY

Giants' Captain Will Be Able to Play in World's Series.

New York, Oct. 3.—Larry Doyle was spliced in the Giants' game with Brooklyn and followers of the National League champions were on the anxious seat at once for fear the injuries might be serious enough to keep the dashing captain of the Giants out of the world's series. It was soon learned, however, that the splicing was a slight affair, and that Doyle would not be incapacitated. The loss of their second baseman's services on the eve of the big games would be a severe blow to the Giants' chances. Larry is not only one of their most valuable men on the defence and with the stick, but his aggressiveness and pluck have frequently been found to go a great way toward bracing up his associates when they needed bracing.

Is there anything significant in the fact that Frank Chance sold his stock in the Cubs to the superintendent of a Pittsburgh brewery? This would be one way of getting even with Charlie Webb Murphy.

FRANK CHANCE SELLS HIS STOCK IN CUBS

Manager Chicago Nationals Does Not Intend to Leave Club, However.

MURPHY WILL NOT TALK

Pittsburg Man Purchased Stock, Which Was Supposed To Be Worth $80,000—Chance Made Money.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Frank L. Chance, manager of the Chicago National League baseball club, today announced that he had sold his stock in the club to Harry Ackerman, of Pittsburg. Chance refused to name the price, but declared that he did not lose any money.

Chance could not well lose on the deal, as the dividends on his stock paid for it all but $20,000. The first year he held it, and that sum was made up to him by Mr. Murphy. His holdings of the stock amounted to about 10 per cent of the total, and Chance has said that he considered the securities worth $80,000.

Chance denied that he intended to sever his connection with the club.

"I expect to stay right here and manage the team," he said. "I'm still manager of the Cubs, and I have satisfactory reasons for believing that I am to be retained in that position."

Chance said, however, that if he did not manage the Cubs he would manage some other ball club. He added that he had had no meeting with President Murphy and had no meeting definitely in view.

Murphy tonight when asked what negotiations, if any, had taken place during the day between him and his manager, replied that he had nothing to say.

Made Deal as Investment.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 3.—Harry Ackerman, president of the Fleischmann Distilling Company, of this city, today confirmed the report that he had purchased the holdings of Frank Chance in the Chicago National League baseball club. He said he had made the deal as an investment, but refused to give the price paid.

Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National League club, would not talk regarding the reported sale of Manager Frank Chance's ten per cent interest in the club.

"You will have to talk to Chance," he said.

Chance was not at the club headquarters today and he could not be reached at his home.

EVELYN W. MADE ANOTHER NEW MARK

Set New World's Record for Five Heats in Battle With Earl Jr.

RECORD PACER HURT

Independence Boy Has Probably Paced His Last Race—Fractured a Pastern.

Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—Evelyn W., the champion pacer of the year, met Earl Jun., today in Columbus in a race that brought a new world's record for the five heats. Each of the contestants did a mile in 2:01 1/2, the time by Earl Jun., being the third of the lot. The second and fourth heats were 2:03 1/2, and the fifth 2:04 1/2. The former five-heat record was made by Minor Heil, and The Bel at Terre Haute, Ind., in 1909.

Evelyn W. was the favorite. Last week Earl Jun. started against her and was distanced in the first heat. Today he never made a break and did not show himself strong until the fourth heat, when he broke and won the fifth heat in 1:59 1/2. From that time on the supremacy of the mare was assured. Her only break was made in the third heat, Ross K. taking Earl Jun., the first half of it in 1:59 1/2.

Independence Boy, pacing right behind the two leaders in the first heat, met with an accident after passing the quarter post that ended his career as a free-for-all horse. The left hind pastern was fractured and an ambulance was used to get him off the track to his stall. A week ago The Bel, of the free-for-all set, died here.

Don Zolock, in a five-heat contest, captured the 2:19 trot. Belle Ashland, the original favorite, took a record of 2:10 when she won the third heat, but she was distanced in the fifth and fourth money awarded to Baron Aberdeen.

Babe, first choice for the 2:07 pace, met stubborn opposition, and the race was not finished. Ty Cobb won the first two heats. Then the competition was taken up by Babe and Walter Cochato, the former beating two of the last three heats. Each of these heat-winners acquired new records. Summary:

Harry Davis, while manager of the Naps, had made plans for a Cuban trip for the team. Manager Birmingham, however, decided to call off the jaunt, and Davis turned his contract over to Connie Mack, who has accepted, and the Athletics will take the trip to Havana. En route it is planned to play games in several Southern cities.

The Dope Column

At Ottawa on Saturday, July 7, 1906, a game of ball was played between Burlington and Ottawa. It was in the days of the old Northern League, and eighteen hundred fans were on deck. Frank Sanger pitched for Ottawa and Mofae started out for the visitors. He got as far as the third when four runs were made off him. He was waved to the bench and a tall, lanky, left-hander, wearing the red and green jersey of the University of Vermont, went out to the mound. He was an 18-year-old youth with an air of confidence and a bundle of smoke. He shut out the Senators with one hit for the remaining six and a half innings, and had them going back to the water pail in one, two, three order.

This kid was none other than Ray Collins, the best southpaw in the American League today, who is expected to do most of the hurrying for the Boston Red Sox in the world's series against the Giants. It was Collins' entry into professional company.

Hughie Jennings will probably not be reinstated by Ban Johnson this season. Jennings was suspended on Sept. 11 for disputing one of Tommy Connolly's decisions in a Detroit-Philadelphia game, the particular decision calling Cobb out for stepping out of the batter's box. Johnson evidently intends to keep Jennings off the bench for the remainder of the year.

Ty Cobb on Wednesday pulled off

one of the nicest pieces of base running he has shown this year.

It was in the third inning. Tyrus reached first on a hit to second and advanced on an overthrown by Rath. Veach hit a short and sharp single to left. There was no chance for Cobb to score on the hit. He slowed up at third and came to a dead stop. Lord tossed the ball toward the infield. As the ball left Lord's hands, Cobb suddenly forgot his lameness and sprinted for the plate. He beat Zeider's peg to Sullivan, scoring easily.

Jack Powell, of the Browns, is the oldest pitcher in point of service in the two big leagues. Powell has played in the major leagues without interruption from 1897, when he joined Cleveland in the National League.

Harry Ackerman, of Pittsburg, yesterday confirmed the report that he had purchased the holdings of Frank Chance in the Chicago National League Club. He said he had made the deal as an investment, but refused to give the price paid.

If the Athletics, after taking Harry Davis back, should win out next season, all baseballdom will be convinced that Davis was really the best cog in Connie Mack's machine, and that the Cleveland players handed him a double-cross of huge proportions.

Some one suggests, because the Boston Red Sox drew no one in the draft, that Jimmy McAleer is pursuing his disastrous when he was managing the St. Louis Browns; and yet it is hard to

Wood, the "one best bet" in the ranks of the Red Sox, has won ten shut-out games this season. This is one of the greatest records ever made by a modern day pitcher. Tesreau pitched three shutouts, Marquard only one, while Mathewson failed to win a single game by the shut-out route.

Taking the New York and Boston pitching staff in their entirety, there is little doubt that the Boston staff is of more even strength, a better staff as a whole. But there is this point in connection with the pitching in a world's series. Two men of the first-class are just as good an asset as four or five of the first class possessed by the rival team.

The New Orleans team of the Southern League is to be the forerunner of the invasion of Cubs from the States. Manager Frank having already landed in Havana with a full team. Games will be started at once with Cuban teams, and when the major league season ends and many other players arrive a regular schedule for Cuban and American teams will be arranged.

Some of the more enthusiastic accounts have it that Ray Keating, the Highlanders' new twirler, last season with Hamilton Canadian League, has a spitting "something after the order of Ed Walsh." It may be so. Keating's debut in major league circles was marked by his striking out three St. Louis Browns in a row and he followed it up with a good game against the White Sox.

Powers Will Insist On Turk Reforms

Paris, Oct. 3.—The Petit Parisien, which never touches high politics, except when well informed, says editorially that war in the Balkans can only be avoided if a formula of reorganization which is sufficiently liberal and favorable to the Macedonians can be found, for which pressure by the Triple Entente and Triple Alliance on the Porte is necessary. Such a concert is subordinate to an accord of Austro-Hungary and Hungary. The Petit Parisien says it is in a position to state "that, as the result of the conversations between Premier Poincaré and M. Sazonoff, the Russian prime minister, the elements of an Austro-Russian rapprochement have been found, and on Thursday evening the representatives of France to the great powers were charged to take the first steps toward a common action to bring about such reorganization."

FATALLY INJURED WHEN HE LOST HIS WAY IN THE DARK

Alexander Westover, of Springfield, Met by Daughter Lost Her in Confusion of Getting Out of Train at Tillsonburg.

Tillsonburg, Oct. 4.—Alexander Westover, aged 68, of Springfield, Ont., died in the local hospital early this morning from injuries received by being run over by a G. T. R. passenger train here last evening. He had been at Sarnia visiting his daughter, Mrs. Best, and was coming here intending to spend a few days with another daughter, Mrs. Kikew. She met him at the station, but in the confusion of getting out of the car lost him for a minute. The old man seems to have got confused and wandered out on the wrong side. Before his daughter could find him the train had started to back down the yard, and it struck Mr. Westover. When found a few minutes later both legs had been cut off above the knee. He was rushed to the hospital, and everything was done, but he had lost too much blood, and his system had sustained too severe a shock. He remained unconscious until death came shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. A jury under Coroner Dr. Bennett is holding an inquest today.

BROTHERS SENT TO GALLOWES FOR MURDER IN NOVA SCOTIA

While Half-Intoxicated Caused Death of Neighbor in a Fracas.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 3.—The three Graves brothers, accused of the murder of Kenneth Lea, were tonight found guilty and sentenced by the chief justice to hang on Jan. 15 next. In June last the three accused brothers, Alfred, Fred and Harry Graves came along the road near Port Williams singing, swearing and had intoxicated. They were asked to desist by Lea as they approached his house and stopped in front thereof. Finally Lea said that if they did not stop he would shoot. They came to Lea's grounds, and in a fracas which followed one of the men struck him with the butt of the gun and as he did so the gun was discharged and Lea was badly wounded, dying two days afterwards. It came out at the trial that one of the men had threatened to kill Lea. The three Graves were arrested and tried for murder. A change of venue was made from Kentville to Annapolis in order that an appeal might be secured. The trial continued for three days before Chief Justice Townsend, and tonight they were found guilty of murder. The chief justice sentenced them to hang on Jan. 15. He told the prisoners that in settling the state so far ahead it was his intention to give them time to prepare for death. The prisoners received the sentence very calmly. Two of the brothers maintained their innocence. They broke down, however, when placed in the cells.

FOUR CARS WRECKED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Catharines, Oct. 4.—Four cars on the way freight running between Mimico and the Falls were wrecked here at 1 o'clock this morning, when a rail spread. The line was ripped up for some distance. No one was injured.

TURK CABINET VOTES FOR PEACE

Semi-Officially Stated That the War With Italy Will Be Ended.

GREEKS ARE IN PERIL

Reported That Plans Are Afoot to Assassinate All in Albania.

[Canadian Press.]
Constantinople, Oct. 3.—That the Turkish cabinet voted yesterday to accept Italy's latest proposals for peace, was the announcement made today from an authoritative source. The preliminary agreements are to be signed upon the arrival at Ouchy of a special Turkish emissary who left Constantinople immediately after the cabinet meeting yesterday.

Report Confirmed.
Paris, Oct. 4.—Confirmation of the report from Constantinople that the conclusion of peace between Turkey and Italy is imminent is contained in a semi-official note issued here today based on authoritative advices from Italy.

Greeks in Peril.
Athens, Greece, Oct. 4.—Plans to annihilate all the Greeks now in Albania have been laid, according to reports received this morning from the Greek-Turkish frontier. The report says a Greek notable at Piliplade has been assassinated. The Albanian governor of Janina has created a force of armed military police composed of 100 outlaws. These men he had sent out ostensibly to pursue Greek rebels, but it is alleged that the real object of the expedition is to annihilate all the Greeks in the vicinity. It is also reported that bomb outrages are being arranged, and the responsibility for that is to be cast on the Greeks in order to provoke their massacre by the Turks.

Three battalions of Montenegrin troops are reported to have crossed the Turkish frontier to assist the Malissori tribesmen in checking the approach of the Turkish troops.

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—Prince George of Greece started today for Athens in order to be ready to join the Greek army should hostilities break out.

Several scores of passengers taken to hospital, but all are expected to recover.

SEVEN DEAD IN CONNECTICUT CRASH

Passengers Cremated in Terrible Wreck On the New Haven System.

ENTIRE TRAIN CONSUMED

Several Scores Passengers Taken to Hospital, But All Are Expected to Recover.

[Canadian Press.]

Westport, Conn., Oct. 4.—The death list from the terrible wreck of the second section of the Springfield express, westbound, over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, for New York late yesterday, numbers seven. Of the several scores of passengers who were more or less injured only ten remain at the Norwalk hospital, to which they were taken last night. All are resting comfortably this morning, and are expected to recover.

The dead are:
Mrs. James C. Brady, of New York city, wife of a son of Anthony N. Brady, of Albany, N. Y.

Miss Mary Hamilton, sister of Mrs. Brady, of Albany.

Mrs. E. Palmer Gavitt, daughter of Mrs. Brady, of Albany.

Mrs. C. Ransom, of Albany, sister of Mrs. Brady, of Albany.

Fireman J. J. Moker, Springfield, Mass.

Mark Wheeler, mail clerk, who died at the hospital.

Medical Examiner Powers, who began an inquest at the undertakers' rooms to which the bodies were taken last night, officially made the statement this morning that the list numbers seven. It had been thought there was an eighth body, that of a woman, but this was quickly disproven at the inquest. During the search of the wreckage during the night a hand was found, but this belonged to Fireman Moker.

All that remained of the train this morning were heaps of smoking wood, masses of twisted metal from three Pullman coaches, which had been battered locomotive on its side, two westbound tracks fearfully torn up, and a bridge spanning the street by which the station is reached, almost wrecked.

All night, by the glare of torches and lantern light the wreckers and their massive cranes pulled apart the blackened mass of what had been the Pullman coaches. The day coaches, which had been left standing and one Pullman, which was blackened and somewhat shattered, had been placed on the rails and hauled away. Carefully the fragments were searched, as fears were held that in the ruins of the first Pullman car, in which four women were either killed outright or burned to death, would be found. Daylight brought relief, for the search revealed nothing but a severed hand, which at first was mistaken for that of a woman, but later fitted to the arm of the body of Fireman Moker. The early clearance of the eastbound tracks prevented any material delay of trains during the night, but it will require some labor and time to repair the roadbed.

READS LETTER TO BLISS

Governor Hadley, of Missouri, Comes
Out in Favor of President Taft.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Col. Roosevelt took the witness chair before the Clapp committee investigating campaign funds at 10:05 o'clock today.

Col. Roosevelt learned this morning that Governor Hadley, of Missouri, had declared in favor of President Taft. He would make no comment upon the governor's action. Nor would he express an opinion upon the nomination of Congressman Sulzer as Democratic candidate for governor of New York. "I have nothing to say upon any subject," said the colonel.

Colonel Applauded.
The spectators applauded vigorously as Colonel Roosevelt entered the committee room. The colonel took his place in the witness chair, and the secretary, with the big grip between his knees, seated himself beside him.

"You were a candidate for president in 1904," asked Senator Clapp.
"I was," answered the colonel shortly.

"George B. Cortelyou was chairman of the committee that year?"
"He was."

"And Cornelius N. Bliss was treasurer?"
"He was."

Senator Clapp asked Col. Roosevelt if his attention had been called to certain statements made by John D. Archbold.

"I has," replied Col. Roosevelt, tersely. Senator Clapp asked the colonel what he knew about the Archbold contribution at the time it was said to have been made.

The colonel asked permission to include in his answer letters he sent to Chairman Clapp, already published, denying that he knew of any Standard Oil contribution to the 1904 campaign at the time it was made.

"In the first place, gentlemen," he said, "since I was elected governor of New York, that was about fourteen years ago, I have written and signed about a hundred thousand letters, so it is not possible at once to recall all the letters I have written on any given subject."

Letter to Bliss.
"Looking through my letter books since I wrote my recent letter to Senator Clapp, I have found two other letters bearing on the subject of campaign contributions. One was the letter to Cornelius Bliss, in 1908, which I understand was recently given to your committee; the other letter was written to George R. Sheldon in 1908."

At the request of the chairman Col. Roosevelt read the letter dated Sept. 21, 1908, and addressed to George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican national committee. It was:

"I am informed that you or some one on behalf of the national committee, has been soliciting contributions from corporations, particularly from John D. Archbold and the Standard Oil Company. If this is true, I wish to enter a vigorous protest, and say that not only should such contribution be refused, but that, if made, it should be returned."

The letter set forth that "four years ago Mr. Cortelyou refused contributions from corporations which were being prosecuted, or were likely to be prosecuted, and that Col. Roosevelt wished the same course followed in the 1908 campaign."

Col. Roosevelt read also the letter of Oct. 25, 1904, to Chairman George Cortelyou, in which he directed that if any money had been contributed by the Standard Oil Company or John D. Archbold it should be returned at once.

A BANNER YEAR FOR THE W. C. A.

Thirty-Eighth Annual Meeting Held and Satisfactory Reports Presented.

THREE WORKS OF CHARITY

Statements of the Aged People's Home,
the Home for Incubables, and Infants' Home.

ANNUAL CRUSADE MEETING

Held in Colborne Street Methodist Church on Thursday Evening.

On Thursday evening the annual crusade meeting of the Colborne Street Methodist Mission Circle was held. A program of unusual interest and excellence was enjoyed by a large gathering. The president, Miss Lew- gins, gave a brief and inspiring report of the work accomplished during the past year. An address by Mrs. Percy Westaway (lately returned from China), was listened to with great interest, as she told in her own charmingly natural manner of her life in China. Miss G. Ware added to the pleasure of the evening by rendering an appropriate solo. At the conclusion of the program several new members were proposed. After the usual business of the meeting had been transacted the members gathered around attractively decorated tables, and an enjoyable social hour was spent. With a competent executive and a membership of over 75, the circle looks forward to a prosperous year.

The thirty-eighth annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held on Thursday afternoon, and most encouraging reports were presented regarding the progress of the various institutions managed by the association, namely, the Aged People's Home, the Women's Refuge and Infants' Home, and the Home for Incubables. It has indeed been a banner year in the history of the association, the work having been conducted on a very satisfactory financial basis, and many permanent improvements were made at the various homes.

At the Aged People's Home, the inmates who occupied rooms in the basement have been removed to the first and second floors, and the basement space is now converted into three dining-rooms, a smoking room, store room and trunk room. The alterations and improvements have made it possible for more inmates to be accommodated than formerly, and these, with the new heating system, provide great comfort and a homelike atmosphere for the aged folk. During the year, 107 inmates have been cared for. Of these, 15 have died, 4 have been discharged, and 88 remain. Sixteen are over 66 years of age, 35 over 70, 35 over 80, and 5 over 90.

The Infants' Home.
The garden at the Infants' Home has proved an economical investment this year. Fresh vegetables were supplied throughout the summer, and the children found plenty of room in which to play. The benefits accruing from constant exercise in the out-door air are not to be made light of. A new roof has been placed on the home and the building freshly painted. On Oct. 1, 1911, there were 12 infants and 9 adults; 31 children have been admitted since, 8 have died, 14 have been discharged, and 22 remain. Seventeen adults were admitted during the year, 14 have been discharged and 9 are still in the home.

Home for Incubables.
The Home for Incubables has had a year of quiet progression. No efforts are spared to make the lives of the unfortunate inmates happy and bright as possible. On visiting days kindly citizens come to the home, and by reading or a half-hour's talk give them a glimpse of the outside world. A year ago the patients there numbered 45. Twenty-five have been admitted since, nineteen have died, and 41 remain.

The devotional committee of the association expressed their gratitude to the medical men of the city who have attended patients in the homes whenever necessary, and also to the clergy for conducting religious services throughout the year. The students from Huron College have held services on Sunday afternoons in the Aged People's Home, the Salvation Army holds meetings once a month, and several lay-workers have also given their time and talent along this line. The Young People's Societies of the various churches arrange for entertainments during the winter, which the inmates and patients heartily appreciate.

A special feature of the association's work is the visiting of the poor in their homes by members of the relief committee. In this way the really needy cases are often discovered and practical aid rendered by means of clothing, blankets, provisions, etc.

The officers chosen for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Mrs. George Marshall; first vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Murray; second vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Waller; third vice-president, C. B. Hunt; fourth vice-president, J. B. Campbell, and fifth vice-president, Mrs. P. McDonald; secretaries, Mrs. Pattullo and Miss Kennedy; treasurers, Mrs. D. S. Perrin and Mrs. A. E. Jordan.

Tremendous Crop of
FINEST SUGAR BEETS
Rains Will Make Biggest Yield
On Record Around
Inwood.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Inwood, Oct. 4.—From present indications all records for sugar beet shipments from this district will be broken. The wet weather this season has resulted in a tremendous yield of the finest sugar beets that the district has ever seen. Many of the specimens are of monstrous size, and of the very finest quality.

There are three big companies growing sugar beets in this vicinity. Two are American, and the rest are controlled by the Wallaceburg sugar refinery. Last year one firm shipped 1800 tons of beets but this year this record will be surpassed.

OPEN SESSION OF
LIBRARY INSTITUTE
Invitations Will Be Issued to the Public for to Attend.

The regular monthly meeting of the public library board was held last evening, Mr. John Forristal, occupying the chair. The committee reported the purchase of 165 new books, including the King's Book of Quebec, a book published under the patronage of Earl Grey. It is a valuable contribution to Canadian literature, and a creditable piece of Canadian book printing.

Accounts amounting to $1,100 were passed, the interior of the ground floor of the library having been recently painted throughout.

The board intends to extend invitations to the public to attend an open session of the London District Library Institute on Nov. 11 to be held in the Normal School auditorium. The speakers will be Mr. George H. Locke, chief librarian of Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Ross, of London. At the conclusion of the meeting, 150 new books were purchased. Those present at the meeting were: Mr. John Forristal, Dr. A. O. Jeffery, Rev. Dr. Sage, Rev. Dr. Ross, M. P. McDonagh, Thomas Gillean, W. H. Winnett, and J. L. Goodburne.

RAILWAY CROSSING IN BAD CONDITION

Colborne Street Is Declared To Be Dangerous Owing to Darkness.

Numerous complaints are being made concerning the condition of railway crossings in the city, and in order to obviate one source of danger the water commissioners will be asked to have several of the crossings illuminated in an improved manner. Colborne street is said to be particularly dangerous, as the Grand Trunk, Pere Marquette and Michigan Central lines all cross within a couple of hundred feet. The roadway is also very bad, making it impossible for the driver of a vehicle to proceed as fast as a walk.

Drivers are not well pleased with any of London's crossings, and those who know, assert that even St. Thomas can show the way to this city. The crossings in St. Thomas without exception are always maintained in excellent fashion, are well planned, and are as easily crossed as a first-class pavement. On the other hand, practically every railway crossing in London is the very finest spring-breaking contrivance.

SWOPE ONLY GUILTY OF TECHNICAL THEFT

P. M. Judd Did Not Regard Very Seriously Taking of a Watch.

Edward Swope, who was arrested here a week ago charged with stealing a watch and chain from Charles Peter during a drunken spree on Whiskey Row, was found to be guilty of a technical offence by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd this morning, and was remanded until Monday. In the meantime it is expected that an officer will come from St. Thomas to arrest him on a warrant charging him with stealing a suit of clothes and a razor valued at $25.

The evidence of the complainant was taken, Mr. Peter claiming that the watch was deliberately stolen from him.

C. P. Hanley testified a couple of days ago that he purchased the watch from Swope on Whiskey Row for $2.

Would Not Testify.
The prisoner today declined to give his evidence under oath, as he said he would not like to swear to anything that occurred while he was in an uncertain state of intoxication.

Swope stated that he remembers it he came to London from St. Thomas with a couple of dollars. He met Hanley on Whiskey Row and started into the Bank Hotel to buy a drink. While there Peter appeared and offered to sell his watch for a couple of dollars in order to obtain liquor. They were all intoxicated, but Hanley finally took the watch from Swope's hand. Swope said he could not remember if he received the money and spent it with the party, or if he handed the bill over to Mr. Peter.

Found Guilty.
Swope was found technically guilty, but the court looked upon the incident as the natural consequence of such a "spree."

At any rate Swope has been in custody for some days, and if St. Thomas would him London will be willing to call matters square.

The complainant, Peter, has been under arrest since the day of the occurrence on a charge of drunkenness. He was discharged today.

TILLSONBURG WILL KEEP ITS BIG MILK CONDENSING PLANT

One Hundred Farmers Agreed To Supply Milk at $1.40 Per Hundred and Were Surprised When Company
Offered Them $1.50.

[Special to the Advertiser.]
Tillsonburg, Oct. 4.—The trouble which threatened to result in Tillsonburg losing its biggest industry, the Borden Milk Condenser, has been arranged satisfactorily.

Some days ago a number of farmers demanded a much higher price for their milk than was being paid. The company claimed that the price asked was also utterly exorbitant, and not only refused, but threatened to close down the factory one hundred who made the offer.

Yesterday one hundred farmers stated that they were willing to enter into an agreement with the company to deliver milk at the rate of $1.40 per 100 pounds. The farmers were greatly surprised when the management said that the company would sign an agreement to pay $1.50 per 100 pounds, and not only refused, but threatened to close down the factory one hundred who made the offer.

Famous Actress Who Rose to Greatness in a Day, Now Near Her End

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL, REPORTED DYING IN LONDON.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, who is reported seriously ill at her home, 33 Kensington Square, London, and for whose recovery but faint hopes are entertained, is one of the few great stage characters who gained fame overnight.

What Mrs. Leslie Carter, America's pre-eminent emotional actress, is to the western hemisphere, Mrs. Campbell has been to the world's stage. In versatility, inspiration and general artistic accomplishment she follows closely Modjeska, Bernhardt, Ellen Terry and Clara Morris.

Her greatest successes have been problem plays. In fact, the vehicle in which she travelled into fame and fortune in a night was so frankly "problem" that it was declined by John Hare, for whom it was written. That was "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray."

In the title role, "Paula Tanqueray," Mrs. Campbell appeared May 26, 1893, at the St. James' Theatre, London. Within three hours she was heralded far and wide, a new born star of the first theatrical magnitude.

Mrs. Campbell was born in London, Feb. 9, 1863; her maiden name was Beatrice Stella Tanner; her father was an Englishman; her mother, Luigia Romanini, an Italian. Financial reverses overtook the family, and the parents emigrated to Texas, leaving the daughter, who had married Patrick Campbell, and was the mother of two children before she was 20. Her husband was killed in the Boer war in 1900.

Mrs. Campbell joined an amateur dramatic club, the "Anomalies," in 1886, and to help support the children, toured with Green's company in 1888; Bandman Palmer's company in 1889, and Ben Greet's company in 1890-91. She made her debut in London at the Shaftesbury Theatre as Rosalind in June, 1891.

For two years she played without attracting attention. Then came "Tanqueray," and she shot up the ladder in the space of three hours. She created a furore in "The Masqueraders"; played "Fedora," "Juliet," and "Kate Cloud," in "John a Dream." None added to her fame.

Then she appeared as Agnes in "The Notorious Mrs. Eubanks," starring for a while with Forbes Robertson. Following that success she appeared in "Mr. and Mrs. Daventry," but that audience, it lacked the sugar coating that Pinero had given his other two—Agnes Ebbelsmith and Paula Tanqueray.

Mrs. Campbell visited America several times, coming over in vaudeville two years ago "for the money that's in it," she frankly admitted. Later she tried "The Foolish Virgin" on a tour in its sex problem, and she returned to London. She brought over "The Sorceress" in 1904, and "Electra" in 1907.

Mrs. Campbell's daughter, Stella Patrick, was married last year to Mervyn W. H. Beach, a noted British preacher's son; her son, Alan, married Miss Helen Bull, a Chicago society girl. Both Alan and his sister have followed their mother in choosing their vocations. They have played in their London's company, in America and in

Don't scold cross, irritable children

If tongue is coated, stomach sour, breath feverish, bowels clogged, give "Syrup of Figs."

Mother! look at the tongue! see if it is coated. If your child is listless, drooping, isn't sleeping well, is restless, doesn't eat heartily on its cross, irritable, out of sorts with everybody, stomach sour, feverish, breath bad; has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, it means the little ones' stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with poisons, and clogged up waste and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

Give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours the foul, decaying, constipated matter, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well and smiling child shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of delicious fruit, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and rectifier needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Company. This is the delicious, tasteful, gentle, reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

Solicitor McVeity in an official communication to the city clerk today. In the 1911 epidemic there were 1,100 cases and 82 deaths. In the epidemic this year the cases numbered 1,150, and the deaths 60. The city's bill of damages will therefore be a colossal one if the courts uphold the interpretation the city solicitor places upon the law. Mr. McVeity says: "With respect to several communications claiming compensation on account of illness, referred to me, I beg to say that in my opinion the city is liable in damages to those who suffered from the recent outbreaks of typhoid and must make reparation if demanded."

Company are employing about twenty men now, and their pay roll runs to nearly $300 weekly. This company has a cold storage plant with a capacity of about 30 tons of frozen fish. About 20 tons have already been frozen and placed in cold storage for the winter supply. Another company also employs a number of men, and the two tugs fishing from that port lift on an average three to four tons of fish daily.

WESTERN ONTARIO NEWS

ST. MARYS BOARD HAD VERY BUSY SESSION

Mr. S. V. Martin Resigns as School Representative on Library Board.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Marys, Oct. 4.—The public school board held its regular meeting last evening.

The secretary presented the resignations of Miss Webster, of the west ward teaching staff, and that of Mr. S. K. Martin, as representative for the public school on the public library board. Both resignations were accepted.

On motion of Trustees May and Evans it was voted that the supplies committee be instructed to purchase the necessary maps and dictionaries, also a cupboard for Miss Mitchell's room.

On motion of Trustees Stanley and Evans it was voted that the secretary be instructed to communicate to Mr. W. H. Martin the very great satisfaction of the board for his efficient services as acting principal during the absence of Principal D. G. Anderson, for the first two weeks of the teaching term.

On resolution of Trustees Stanley and Gordon it was voted that J. W. Eedy be appointed representative of the public school board at the public library board, for the unexpired portion of Mr. S. K. Martin's term.

The following is the financial expenditure: W. H. Judd, contract, kalsomining etc., $88; W. W. Haines, repairs and material, $31.10; St. Marys Journal, advertising public notices, $2; D. Maxwell & Sons, $1.50; St. Marys Hardware Company, repairs and supplies, $40.75; A. Willard, readers, $86.50; total, $279.89.

Principal D. G. Anderson presented his September report as follows: On roll 480, average 354; 1910, on roll 429, average 370; 1911, on roll 432, average 384.

Principal Anderson further stated that geography, history and hygiene readers for third book classes are now on hand, and it will be necessary to supply Miss Mitchell's room with a new cupboard to hold these books.

A motion was passed to advertise for Junior IV, teacher to fill the vacancy at the west ward school caused by the resignation of Miss Webster, applications to be received by the secretary up to Oct. 15.

POTATOES ROTTING

Many Around St. Helens Will Have No Supply at All.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Helens, Oct. 4.—The farmers here are complaining of much potato rot; some of them will have no potatoes owing to so much rain. Very little fall ploughing is done. There has been some frost, but the corn is not damaged yet. Some corn is rot. The pumpkin and other vines are frozen.

HURLED OVER FENCE IN AUTO COLLISION

Albert Edwards Lay Unconscious in Field for More Than an Hour.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Oct. 4.—Particulars of an extremely narrow escape which Albert Edwards, a young man of Falden's Corners, had Wednesday night came out today when he appeared in the police court to answer a charge of immediate driving.

Edwards had the unique experience of being hurled over a fence when his buggy was struck by an automobile, and as complete was his disappearance at the time that an hour passed before he was located.

Driving at a reckless rate of speed to keep up with an automobile, Edwards did not see another car until it was too late to avoid an accident. Then he went on his aerial journey and made a "parachute" drop over a nearby fence. An hour later his murrainings attracted attention, but contrary to expectations he was not seriously hurt. He was fined a dollar and costs.

Laurier Gathering.
The Liberals of the town and the adjacent district are on the quiver. Everywhere intense interest is being manifested in the Laurier meeting at Woodstock this afternoon. From the feeling that exists both in the town and country both political parties will be largely represented. It is believed that the attendance will be the largest that has ever been known at a political meeting in the county.

Relatives and friends here learned with profound regret of a fatal accident at Calgary to William Albert Wilkinson, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson, Merritt street. The child, who was a son of Mr. Harold Wilkinson, was run down by an automobile. He was at once removed to the hospital, where he lingered for about a week. He was in his 7th year.

PUBLIC STOPS GIFTS TO FREAK SOCIETIES

Organizations for "Promotion" or "Prevention" of Many "isms" Suffer.

London, Oct. 3.—The innumerable pro and anti organizations which have their headquarters in London are looking forward with considerable apprehension to the coming winter, for the annual subscriptions to their officers have fallen off alarmingly.

Just at present there is a distinct tendency on the part of the general public to reduce its gifts to charities and social organizations, and many who have been in the habit of making annual subscriptions to their favorite charities and societies, are contenting themselves with an occasional small gift.

It is, however, not the hospitals and actively beneficent institutions that are at present feeling the pinch so severely as those propagandist societies devoted to the furtherance of various "isms." These in particular are suffering from steadily diminishing incomes. Practically all of these depend on the public, and it is becoming increasingly difficult to coax money from their supporters.

Yet some of them maintain elaborately furnished offices and well-paid staffs. Some are cutting down the pay roll, while others are resorting to all sorts of schemes to raise money.

One of the secretaries of an organization which at one time exerted no small influence in politics declared that the subscription habit is falling into decay. He said:

"No, it is not fair to blame the insurance act in particular for this widespread decline in subscriptions. The effects of the act on the charitable instincts of the public will not be felt for some months to come. I attribute the state of things to recent legislation generally, to the rise in the cost of living and to the all-prevailing sense of discontent and insecurity."

STILL AT LARGE.

Regina, Oct. 3.—John Thiel, the alleged murderer of Wm. Parkin, the Grand Conlee, has not yet been caught, though a mounted police and a posse of 20 men have searched for three days. It is not believed that he will be captured alive. Lee Prime, the other man shot, is better this morning.

A Wonderful Discovery

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then, again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that the healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh, healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface, and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day, Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier avenue, Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over 25 years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. Today—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for 25 years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp, to pay return postage. Address Zam-Buk Company, Toronto.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH WHEN WORKING SPIRAL

Another Aviator Killed While Attempting Fancy Stunts of the Air.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 3.—With 50,000 persons watching him at the Interstate fair grounds this afternoon, Charles F. Walsh, while making a spiral descent in a Curtis biplane, fell to instant death about a quarter of a mile outside of the fair grounds.

When physicians reached him Walsh was dead and his machine was a complete wreck. Practically every bone in his body was broken and his face and body were badly cut. He had fallen 2,000 feet.

Walsh had been giving exhibitions at the fair all week, and this year, for the first time, was doing fancy stunts in the air with his machine. He was very high today, probably 5,000 feet, as he began his descent. He was making the spiral descent with the front of the machine pointed almost downward, and the plane seemed to become loose. Walsh could plainly be seen struggling to regain his balance, but without avail.

MARKET DAY RIOTS IN CITIES OF SILESIA

Germans Are Enraged By the High Prices Charged For Foodstuffs.

Berlin, Oct. 3.—Germans are now paying for all kinds of meats, wheat, rye and several other necessities of life prices higher than are paid anywhere else in the world. Prices are still rising and the per capita consumption of virtually all foodstuffs is falling off. The number of horses slaughtered for meat in Berlin during the first six months of the present year reached 5,924 and exceeded the figures for the corresponding period of 1911, by 1,463. The Germans ate 43,762 tons less of beef in the first half of this year than in 1910, and paid $8,750,000 more for the smaller quantity.

Dressed swine are bringing more than 15 cents a pound at the abattoirs, and more than half of all the meat consumed in the empire is pork. Retail butchers have had to pay 22½ cents a pound for dressed beef, and veal is higher. Veal cutlets bring from 48 to 53 cents the pound. Official statistics for the last week of August showed Mannheim paying $12.50 more per ton for wheat than is paid in the United States, and $11 more per ton for rye, the chief breadstuffs of the people, than is paid in any other country.

Riot on Market Days.
Market days throughout the cities and towns of Silesia are being marked by mad riots of a people enraged over the high prices exacted for virtually everything they must buy. The police have had to guard the dealers in Liegnitz, Glogauer, Jauer, Hirschberg and half a dozen other towns.

Faced by these conditions, the Government finally has admitted, through the official North German Gazette, the existence of almost famine prices for virtually all necessities, and especially for meat. It still asserts, however, that the period of high prices is only temporary, and that a normal lower level must soon be reached. Holding, as it does, such a point of view, the Government believes that no legislative or other remedy is needed, and demands for such relief, which are pouring in from every quarter except from the agrarians, are met with the declaration that the economic policy of the nation cannot be altered to meet a situation which will soon pass.

Councils Take Action.
Meanwhile there is a rapidly growing discontent with the Government's policy which is so manifest that it cannot be overlooked or disregarded. All over the empire the Socialists, who represent a good third of the total population, have been holding meetings of protest which have been packed to the doors. The Socialist faction of the Reichstag, the strongest in that body, has petitioned convocation of the Reichstag and speedy legislation to open the cattle, meat and other necessities. Scores of city councils have discussed the situation and have either petitioned the Government for aid or have established municipal markets, taken other means to afford relief.

The Diet of the Kingdom of Bavaria debated an interpellation looking to a general lowering or abolition of the tariff rates on necessities of life. Herr von Stöfer, minister of the interior, answering the interpellation declared that such action would have no effect on prices, and, furthermore, that it could not be considered in any event, since it would mark a departure from the policy of the established protection. The municipal authorities of Frankfurt-on-the-Main have addressed a second petition to the Government, asking relief from conditions which make it all but impossible for the lower classes to get enough to eat.

BOND—MILLARD

Ingersoll Girl Becomes Wife of Young London Man.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Oct. 4.—Rev. C. J. McLean officiated at a quiet wedding at the Baptist parsonage, the contracting parties being Miss Nellie Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Millard, and Mr. Harold G. Bond, of London, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bond, Mill street. The bride, who was very becomingly attired, was attended by Miss Lizzie Kirby, and the groom was supported by Mr. Charles Pilon. Mr. and Mrs. Bond left for London where they will reside.

DR. HOWIE DEAD.

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 3.—Dr. John Howie, of Glasgow, who came to Beamsville for his health last May, died in the hospital here today. Deceased was prominent in the old land and held five degrees. He was 50 years of age and leaves a widow and three children. He was the father of Dr. Howie, of Glasgow, who was in Winnipeg on a tour of the world when the seriousness of his father's condition brought him here.

The World of Good Clothes Belongs to the SCOTLAND WOOLEN MILLS

We don't hesitate to make a very big statement like that printed above because we are overwhelmed with success. We are working night and day adding to our workroom buildings in order to cope with the flood of orders that come to us from one end of the country to the other. Our branches in the cities in the United States and Canada are doing a land office business.

And we are successful simply for the reason that we are giving the public a square deal in clothing. Fifteen dollars for a made-to-order suit or overcoat, cut from the best of imported woolsens, is an astonishing good proposition. We back up every sale with a guarantee that if you are not satisfied we will return any money you have paid.

If you have any doubt about what our claim is, just take a few minutes off and call at the branch. You'll be able to tell by the feel of the texture that it is all wool. The salesman will show you the suits as we deliver them to our customers. And there is the guarantee.

Choice of Any Material Made-to-Order $15 SUIT or OVERCOAT

And every suit or overcoat is made to your measure and the fit guaranteed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

CORRESPONDENCE

Future Punishment.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
The following is a continuation of my answers to the questions asked by inquirer:

8. Who said that the "hell of wrath" was more pleasant than conditions in this world? If the lost "perish" in hell in the sense in which the prodigal would have perished with hunger, or the lost sheep perish in the wilderness from the standpoint of existence and life on earth, as I understood to be inferred from the latter part of the sermon published, then that eternal perishing would be likely to take place so speedily in a place, such as in Rev. xx., 14, 15, and

AT LAST, HE IS FREE OF LUMBAGO

Because He Took GIN PILLS.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.
"I have been a sufferer from Lumbago for some years past and during Christmas week had a very acute attack, which confined me to the house. About the latter part of April, I met your Mr. Hill, and mentioned my complaint to him. He advised me to take GIN PILLS. I have been taking them at intervals during the early part of the present winter, and up to date have had no return of my old trouble—in fact, I feel better than I have for years, and think that my old enemy has vanished for good and all."

H. A. JUKES.

GIN PILLS will protect your Kidneys and Bladder against the ravages of winter. No matter how much you may dread cold weather, because you have been subject to Rheumatism or Lumbago, you will be free of pain if you take GIN PILLS.

xxii., 8, that many would prefer the short agonies of such a perishing to prolonged miseries of one kind and another in this world. Nevertheless, by comparing Rev. xix., 20 with Rev. xx., 10, the two persons who "were cast alive into the lake of fire burning with brimstone" were still living after more than a thousand years. Rev. xx., 1 to 10. If still existing in the place where the devil is to be "tormented day and night forever and ever," when would they be likely to "perish" in the sense of going out of conscious existence?

Scripture speaks of lost men in corresponding language "the smoke of their torment ascendeth up forever and ever; and they have no rest day and night." They would surely be at "rest" if they had perished in the common use of the word in this world.

7. If I mistook the meaning of the sermon then I am sorry. What led me to write what I did about encouragement to suicide was having just read a book on the subject of "Suicides." In which was a letter from the Rev. R. A. Torrey, the noted evangelist, in which he gave as one reason for the increase of suicide the growing disbelief in the hell of the Scriptures. He writes: "If men believed in the Bible doctrine of hell, no sane man would commit suicide and thus send himself to hell." People speak of suicide to relieve themselves of miseries in this life—and a mere "perishing" as we use the word of perishing in this world seems desirable, or, at least, worth risking, to escape loss and shame and pain without hope here.

8. I had no reference to "Dante's Inferno." As far as I had had knowledge of dreams and visions vouchsafed to reliable Christians believing the doctrine of hell as has been ordinarily believed and preached until of late years these have agreed.

9. We are, at least many good Christian ministers and intelligent Christian people, quite ready to believe the many accounts of dying Christians having been given visions of heaven, of loved ones awaiting them, of their glories, etc. Why should we not be equally prepared to believe the awful experience to which some of the lost have testified on their dying beds, especially when their actions and whole demeanor has corresponded to the fearful things which they declared? Why should we be slow to believe these dying testimonies since there have been many such when they are gathered together and they correspond with one another?

10. It is not these visions "alone" that we rely upon when we refuse to depart from preaching "the Word" as it is given with regard to hell, as well as with regard to heaven. We depend chiefly upon the words of Holy Writ, but dreams, visions and experience, in which some seem to have had a foretaste of hell as others have experienced in themselves heavenly ecstasies, etc., make a sort of corroborative evidence leading in the same direction.

11. Paul weeps over the lost as Christ wept over Jerusalem. "Many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ, whose end is destruction." Phil. iii., 18, 19. Conflicting emotions may have moved in the apostle's breast, causing such tears, and I feel quite sure that when he warned professing Christians day and night that he was moved, not only by the thought of their disgracing the name of Christ, but also of the awful eternity they would endure if they were untrue to Him.

12. The Scriptures and the Scripture as a whole have been searched and searched through the centuries of the Christian era, and the general teaching and preaching resulting therefrom—unless it be of false and false promises—has been of "a falling away" before the Lord comes the second time (2 Thess., chapters 1 and 2)—has been that of a hell of fire.

In conclusion, I may say that if the "lake of fire and brimstone," into which "the beast" and "the false prophet" are "cast alive," and, concerning which Christ said it was better to cut off hand or foot in this life than to be cast into "hell fire" with the "whole body," is not a lake of fire and brimstone, I shall certainly wait until the hereafter to find out.

BOWELS SLUGGISH, LIVER TORPID, HEADACHY, BILIOUS—"CASCARETS"

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels, how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestines—you always get the desired results with Cascarets.

Clean your stomach, liver and bowels tonight, end the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; relieve your torpid liver and constipated bowels of all the sour bile, gases and clogged-up waste which is producing the misery.

A ten-cent box of Cascarets keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel cheerful and buoyant for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too.

that out, and shall preach the Word in part and as a whole as it stands, treating the passages which refer to the torments and punishments of the lost as I do the other parts of God's Word. I shall, I trust, "preach the Word" itself, and not various explanations away of the Word. I do not profess to be infallible, but I stand in the midst of a large and mighty company, taking the history of the Christian church from the beginning. I would have wished to have written in less space, but felt that I could not fairly do so in justice to myself, in standing for the old beliefs, answer these twelve questions according to the best of my present ability in less space, and, therefore, hope, Mr. Editor, that, as you published the letter asking the questions, you will be indulgent enough to publish the answers I have given, for which I thank you beforehand. Very sincerely,

A. H. RHODES, Pt. Edward, Ont.

ONLY ONE REPORT SAYS MR. POCKOCK

The Chairman of Water Board
Again Reverts to Ald.
Richter's Charge.

The controversy over the city street lighting problem, in which Chairman Philip Pockock of the water commission and Ald. J. G. Richter have been engaged for some time, was again heard from at a meeting of the water commission held yesterday afternoon.
Manager Glaubitz reported that nothing further has been heard from the city council in relation to the street lighting contract, and in view of this fact it was decided to leave the matter in abeyance. The chairman, however, took occasion to make an explanation as to the Richter trial.

"Only one report was made to the city of London," declared Mr. Pockock.
"The other document referred to by Ald. Richter was simply a memorandum of certain facts sent to Mr. Beck for his private information by the engineers, who were preparing the report on street lighting."

"Mr. Baker, as already explained, went to Mr. Beck, stating that Ald.
Richter was very anxious to obtain complete information concerning street lighting. Mr. Beck accordingly handed Mr. Baker his memoranda, and this was furnished to Ald. Richter, who copied the document. The insinuation made to the citizens was that we eliminated two columns of figures from our street lighting report before sending it on to the council. This is absolutely untrue, as only one report was made to the city. The other was private information sent to Mr. Beck for his personal information, and you are already aware of the use made of it."

SWOPE WAS IDENTIFIED BY ST. THOMAS MAN

Earl Falls Knew Him as Edward Swick—Says Latter Stole
His Clothes.

Earl Falls, of St. Thomas, on whose information a warrant was issued there for the arrest of Edward Swick, whom he charged with stealing clothing from him at a boardinghouse, went to the county jail here yesterday accompanied by Detective Down, and positively identified Edward Swope, who is in custody there, on another charge, as the man wanted.
Swope is now on remand from the local police court charged with stealing a watch and chain from Charles Pelos at the Bank Hotel. It is said that he sold the timepiece to another man whom he met on whiskey row.
Swope appeared to tally with the description of Swick sent out from St.
Thomas, and Mr. Falls was accordingly brought here to complete the identification.

Mr. Falls discovered a short coat and other articles of clothing of his own among Swick's effects at the jail.
He explained that he had had a slight acquaintanceship with Swick
after working on a bridge job in St.
Thomas, and had met the man apparently in hard circumstance on the street shortly afterward.
Swick declared that he was out of funds, according to Mr. Falls, and was taken to the latter's boardinghouse, where he was given remnant clothing.
The next morning, however, he departed taking the clothing with him.

LONDON MEN BOUGHT WILCOX HARDWARE PLANT

Property in Chelsea Green Sold
For a Little Over $4,000
at Auction.

Mr. George Trudell, formerly a member of the Empire Manufacturing Company, and ex-Ald. R. C. Eckert, yesterday purchased the plant of the defunct Chelsea Green Hardware Company for a little over $4,000, at public auction, and as soon as new machinery can be installed they will commence the manufacture of various hardware specialties.
The property of the Chelsea Green Hardware Company, which was situated on the line of the London and Port Stanley Railway, in Chelsea Green, was disposed of by the London and Western Trusts Company, which had the affairs of the concern in hand.
The greater portion of the machinery was sold out to representatives of London, Hamilton and Toronto concerns.

Mr. Eckert stated to The Advertiser that the company plans to commence with quite a large staff of men, and it is expected that the plant will develop into one of London's important industrial assets.

FILLING SILOS

Corn Cutting Is Being Rushed in Melrose District.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Melrose, Oct. 4.—Corn cutting and silo filling will soon be in full swing here.
The farmers have their wheat in. Some are digging their potatoes, and find many of them rotten, owing to so much rain.
Miss Lavina McIntyre has returned home, after spending a week in London.
Miss Nellie Weston has returned to her home in London, after visiting a few days in this vicinity.

Mr. Arnold Tuckey has the repairs of his barn now complete, and has a first-class cement wall built by Mr. George Bowman.
Mr. Arthur Vennor is building a new silo.
Mr. Willoughby has rebuilt his silo, which was blown down some time ago.

EALING PEOPLE WANT ANNEXATION

Township Council's Meeting to Raise Objection Was Not a Success.

BLUE RUIN STORY AGAIN

Mayor Graham, Reeve Jackson and Others Addressed the Gathering at Length.

At a meeting held in the Ealing schoolhouse on Thursday evening, which was called at the instigation of the township council, to protest against annexation to the city, a large number of ratepayers attended to learn of any new night that might be thrown on the proposition by the annexationists, and also to hear some arguments rehearsed in favor of union which had been previously discussed.
Reeve Jackson and Councillor Barter, and Mr. W. R. Meredith, representing the township civic authorities, and Mayor Graham, for the city, all spoke at some length.

Sentiment seemingly has not changed in Ealing since the former meeting, when annexation was first presented to the people, and the same mind both before and after last night's meeting, and that the opinion prevailed that they could not do better than join with the city at the terms offered was plainly evident.

Reeve Jackson, of London Township, was the first speaker for the township. He stated that he had not expected the petition which he had been circulating and signed, but had been told that a great many ratepayers had signed their approval of union by placing their names on the lists. The tax rate, although somewhat high this year, owing to several bridges being built throughout the township, and costing a large sum, would lower gradually, and within three years would be less than the 15 mills offered in the terms of the annexation agreement.

Councillor Barter said that the township would treat the village fairly and would do justice to them in all matters; but if the city were giving them something for nothing they could not do better than annex. If the majority of the ratepayers wanted to go into the city that should be no reason for the township to refuse to have a say in the matter. He thought that the question should be submitted to a vote of the ratepayers and let that vote be the decision. Everyone should have a say in the matter.

Mr. Meredith's opinion.
Mr. W. R. Meredith explained that in regard to annexation it was a business matter and not one of sentiment.
The question of the township was after the date of annexation any house erected, addition to the same, or when any vacant land would be subdivided into building lots, the city commissioner would assess these parcels of property at the city rate of taxation, while their neighbors adjoining would have to pay only a rate of 15 mills for 15 years on the 1911 assessment.
The city debt would not after 15 years have passed would still be large,
and the rate of taxation would be greater by some mills at that future date than the township ratepayers would pay. The bridges, which are being built at present are a large expense, and as debentures extending over a term of years had not been issued for these, the rate was higher than normal in the township.

The Mayor Explains.
Mayor Graham stated that he did not come to Ealing as the mayor of London, but as a champion and defender of the proposition. He told them plainly that the petitions had not been presented to the city council as yet, and any man who had signed them would have the option to withdraw his name.

The mayor thought the proposition was not clearly understood by the residents of Ealing. He explained that it would not be fair to allow any person to sign the petition and then object to it, and not assess them on the city rates. The city would have to make all modern improvements thereon and it would be counted the same as city property.

Mr. Graham promised the ratepayers that after annexation had taken place
the first extension of the street railway would be along the Hamilton road to Ealing. This announcement was greeted with cheers.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to Chairman Saunders, Mayor Graham, Mr. Meredith and the township representatives.

DIED AT BELMONT

Mrs. Wm. Knott Had Been Ill for Some Time.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Belmont, Oct. 4.—The funeral of Mrs. Knott, wife of Wm. Knott, was largely attended. Deceased died at her home here after an illness extending over some time. Besides her husband and her mother she leaves to her, three sisters, and four little children.
Norman, son of Mr. John Smith, met with a very serious accident resulting in his death while working in the barn. Some overlay fell on his head, and he was killed. He was recovering nicely.
Many people are complaining that their potatoes are rotting in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fitzpatrick have arrived home after a trip through the west.
Miss F. Campbell and mother, who have been visiting friends in Windward, have returned.
Mr. and Mrs. R. Hislop, of London, spent a few days among friends and relatives here recently.
Miss Ella Fitzpatrick, of St. Thomas, is visiting her parents at present.

TAKING OVER THE WELLS

Matter Has as Yet Been Finally Settled—More Transformers To Be Bought.

The adoption at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the water commissioners of Prof. Angus' report approving of two air compressors at the Horton street pumping station, which had not shown the required efficiency in a previous test, marked the completion of Hon. Adam Beck's contract with the city to furnish a supply of water from the Horton street system of artesian wells.
Although the plant has been used by the city of London for the past two years, and the greater portion of payment without further parley, as the people are satisfied with the manner in which the work was carried out, but Chairman Pockock thought it not shown that the work had been done until it is shown that every detail of the agreement has been carried out.

Report of Parks Board.
The Parks Board's report was received, showing that all trimming is being continued despite the fact that the cost of the work may exceed the amount available for the purpose. The commission accordingly decided to call a temporary halt to continue with the more essential improvements at Springbank Park. However, the police commissioners may be asked to remit $250 charged for service at Springbank, and when this is done the tree pruning difficulty will be overcome.

Mr. Glaubitz reported that street railway trolley lines on the extensions on Chapside and William streets, are conflicting with hydro service lines. The hydro wires are consequently being raised to a proper height, and the street railway will be called upon to bear the cost.

Light on Every Pole.
The commission decided to place a hydro light on every pole on Dundas street east, from Wellington street to the fair grounds. It was at first thought that the ornamental system would be extended over this section this year, but as this is now impossible additional lamps of the ordinary variety will be provided. Manager Glaubitz was instructed to proceed at once with the erection of thirty-five, but no additional charge will be made to the city council for this year.

As the peak load has now climbed to nearly 2,400 horsepower, Mr. Glaubitz recommended the purchase of three additional transformers to take care of the increase in business. The new transformers will cost over $2, 000, and will have a total capacity of 750 kilowatts. The lowest tender was $3,195, and the highest $3,988. The transformers will be delivered in about three months, and will be looked after in next year's estimates.

Thirteen transformers for street use next year will also be purchased at the next meeting of the commission.
Electrical supplies are now somewhat cheaper than formerly. The highest bid in this instance was $995, and the lowest $792.

Ornamental Lights.

The board of education will probably have two ornamental lights erected at the main entrance of the new Alexandra school.
Apples from the trees in Springbank Park will be distributed among local charitable institutions.

Those present were Chairman Philip Pockock, Mayor Graham, Commissioners Dr. H. J. Stevenson, John H.
Chapman, John Marr, General Manager H. J. Glaubitz, and Secretary Elwood.
