A BITTER ALL-NIGHT BATTLE OVER LONG SAULT MEASURE AND HOUSE IS STILL SITTING

Opposition Obstructing, Refusing to Permit Non-Contentious Clauses of the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Bill to Go Through, Despite the Assurances of Government That Public Rights Will Be Guarded---Sitting Makes a Record One in Debates on Private Bills.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., March 15. — Morning dawned upon a House of Commons still in session, with the contending parties still in grips over the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Company's bill. Not only was this the first all-night session of the present Parliament, but it was the first ever spent over a private bill. The fight started at eight o'clock last night, when the House went into committee of the whole upon the bill, which is backed by Mr. Pardee, the chief Liberal whip, and which the Opposition claim is part of a stupendous scheme engineered by United States capital to acquire control of the water powers of the St. Lawrence.

Emmerson Started It.

In the early stages of the discussion there was nothing to suggest the deadlock that subsequently developed, but with the intervention of Mr. Emmerson in the debate, matters assumed a more serious complexion. The member for Westmoreland startled the committee with the declaration that "I can say that the company promiting the transmission line was linked up with a company which nine years ago obtained powers to dam the St. Lawrence, and also with a company recently incorporated by the New York State Legislature with powers to construct a dam on the American side of the Long Sault Rapids." With Messrs. Emmerson and Turriff on their side, the opposition became more determined in its efforts to obstruct the passing of the bill, and though Mr. Pugsley used all his persuasive powers to press the question to an early issue, midnight found the parties further from an agreement than ever.

A New Point.

About one o'clock the discussion took a new turn.

Mr. Pugsley had stated that the company would not be permitted to do any work until the plans had been carefully examined and approved by the Government, and in the course of further discussion it emerged that the

DOG CATCHER'S NAME FIGURES IN COURT

LADY DANCED AT "BEN'S"

Miss Whitelaw Says She Attended the "At Homes" in the Blackstock Residence and Accepted Mr. Blackstock As Escort.

George Whiting, a young man 23 years of age, formerly of St. Thomas, appeared before Acting-Magistrate Beattie at the police court this morning on a charge of seducing Elizabeth Ayr Whitelaw, of 14 Dundas street, under promise of marriage, at her father's home about three weeks before Christmas.

After hearing the evidence, Whiting was committed for trial at the next general sessions of the peace, to be held here in June.

Whiting gave Miss Whitelaw an engagement ring about two weeks after Christmas in the presence of her father. Whiting then took the ring back about four weeks ago. He asked witness if she had not lost a couple of the pearls out of it, and said he would bring it back after getting it fixed

Later he told her he had thrown it in the fire. Witness said Whiting had told her he was 25 years of age.

The Cross-Examination.

Cross-examined by Mr. E. C. Scatcherd, who appeared for Whiting, witness said she worked at McCormick's. Her father had introduced Whiting to her and he had taken her to the theatre and to dances.

Mr. Blackstock is the city dog catcher.

She had known Blackstock about two years. She had worked at a hotel in Dorchester for some time.

Witness said she had gone into hotel sitting-rooms several times with a Mrs. Plank and had drunk pop, while Mrs. Plank drank beer. Witness denied that any men ever bought drinks for her or for Mrs. Plank.

Plaintiff's Father.

Thomas Whitelaw, father of the plaintiff, stated that he had seen Whiting give his daughter a ring about Christmas.

Witness heard his daughter ask if this was her engagement ring and defendant said "Yes."

Witness stated that the festive Mr. Blackstock first introduced Whiting to him and brought him down to the house.

Witness said Blackstock was formerly a frequent visitor at his house, but was not now. Witness didn't say why.

WESTERN AMERICAN RAILROADS PREPARING FOR STRIKE CONFLICT

Twenty-Five Thousand Firemen Going Out at Once and Forty-Seven Systems May Be Temporarily Tied Up, Entailing Loss of Many Millions.

[By Associated Press.]

Chicago, March 15.—Railroad officials in all parts of the country were stirred today over the announcement that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineman had ordered a strike of 25,000 firemen on practically all the railroads between Chicago and the Pacific coast, and the exact hour at which the men were to quit work probably would be sent out within 24 hours.

President W. S. Carter of the brotherhood at midnight last night announced that the strike order had been decided upon by himself and 43 members of his committee, because the railroad general managers refused to submit all questions in dispute to arbitration under the Erdman act. He said the committee today would decide upon the hour at which the men should go out, and the officials of all local organizations of the brotherhood would be informed by telegraph.

Managers Will Fight.

While deprecating the strike order, and maintaining that trouble might still be averted, the railroads asserted they were determined not to agree to submit anything except the wage dispute to arbitration. They declared that the strike would temporarily tie up every freight and passenger train on 47 railroads, and probably throw out of employment 150,000 men. An appeal to the authorities at Washington to step in and prevent trouble would be made if necessary, according to a statement by W. C. Nixon, chairman of the managers' committee. Mr. Nixon, who is the general manager of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, and other general managers who constitute the committee were up all night working on a solution of the difficulty. Headquarters were established at a down-town hotel and telegraph wires were kept busy all night, asking officials in western and northwestern and southwestern cities that would be the condition if a strike were called without further notice. These queries asked for information as to the local conditions and as to the preparedness of various railroads if the firemen left their engines. Even a strike of short duration, the railroad officials declared, would entail a loss to the country of millions.

The Union's Stand.

Both sides disowned responsibility for a strike. The union officials said they had agreed to submit everything to arbitration, and that this showed their spirit in the matter.

The railroad declared they were willing to arbitrate the wage dispute, which was the only thing there was to arbitrate.

ALD. RICHTER GAVE COLD FACTS PER CAPITA FIGURES PRESENTED

A Comparison of the Tax Rate in London With That in Other Places—The Assessment and the Expenditures—A Businesslike Presentation of the Business Affairs of the City of London.

At a conference of the heads of the several spending bodies under the control of the city council and the finance committee held Monday evening, the financial condition of the city was discussed from every angle, and although the debate brought out many interesting features, nothing was accomplished save a better knowledge of conditions. Practically all the spending bodies were represented.

Ald. Richter had a regular arsenal of figures, which he presented to the board. He pointed out that the tax rate was altogether too high. In 1908 the average tax rate of 16 cities in Ontario was 22.2 mills. London's was 22.5 that year, but had been going up a mill a year, and the end was not yet in sight.

The Assessment.

He thought the assessment of London was not high enough. For 18 cities the average assessment per capita was $518 25. London was twelfth on the list, with a per capita assessment of $491 89.

"This to my mind is much too low," said Ald. Richter. "London, the fourth city in the province, should be much higher than it is. We certainly should raise the assessment.

"Of course, we must try to equalize

CUT COST OF STREET WATERING COUNCIL MAY DO THIS AT ONCE

At a Recent Meeting Rate Was Fixed at Four Cents—Question Is, Should People Who Petition for Street Watering Be Compelled to Pay Cost of Watering Before All Public Buildings and Also Sprinkling of the Street Intersections?

The price of street watering may be reduced.

At a recent meeting of the council the rate was fixed at 4 cents a foot. A protest was made that this rate was excessive, and that there should be a revision.

City Engineer Graydon looked into the matters, and from his report the price may be reduced three-quarters of a cent a foot, perhaps more.

According to the statistics presented, if the citizens who petition for street watering pay the cost of all the public buildings, parks, etc., and street intersections, the work can be done at 3¼ cents a foot, and there will be a slight surplus.

Listen to This!

If the city pays for the street intersections out of the general rate, but exempts the parks, Separate schools, city and Government buildings, the streets can be watered for 2.95 cents a foot, or in other words, the city could make some money at three cents a foot.

The question is whether or not the citizens who petition for street watering should pay for the intersections, and all other people in the city should enjoy the benefits and go scot free. A large number of property owners say they should not. City Engineer Graydon and many of the aldermen say they should.

Definite figures have been submitted, which shows that there are 412,896 feet of streets to be watered during the year.

Of this 13,631 feet are for parks, Separate schools, city and Government buildings, and the like.

The street intersections amount to 16,371 feet, and the exemption on corner lots, where both streets are watered, amount to 29,280.

The Exemptions.

"It is these exemptions that cause the trouble," said Mr. Graydon. "If the city pay for these, together with the public buildings and the rest, out of the general funds, we can water the streets at 3 cents a foot, and break even. If the citizens who want street watering pay for these they would be taxed 3¼ cents a foot, and make money. I am now convinced that 4 cents is a trifle high. I have a report for the council, and it will be submitted at the next meeting."

PITTSBURG HEARS OF MIGHTY POWER TRUST

The Westinghouse and General Electric May Merge at a Capitalization of $150,000,000.

[Associated Press.]

Pittsburg, March 15. — On what it asserts is trustworthy authority, the Pittsburg Dispatch announces this morning that negotiations are pending looking to a coalition of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and the General Electric Company This combination, the Dispatch adds, is closer to confirmation today than at any time before.

"If it is achieved, America will have another trust, with a combined capital approximating 150,000,000," says the Dispatch.

SCOTCH AND IRISH TO CURL TONIGHT

The Thistle Curling Rink To Be the Scene of Strenuous Struggle.

The Scotch and the Irish will settle a few old scores tonight at the Thistle Rink, when they curl for the championship. Odds are even at this writing, but there will be something interesting when the teams get together on the ice.

With the near approach of St. Patrick's Day, the Irish are in great form and declare the game will be theirs.

The players will be selected from the following: J. Purdom, S. J. McCreary, A. Talbot, Dr. McDonald, W. T. Strong, A. M. Heaman, Thos. Gillean, J. Richardson, T. Poole, W. M. Govenlock, J. Stevenson, J. A. Thrower, Dr. Bentley, W. Smith, F. P. Riddell, J. W. McIntosh, W. Bartlett, W. Fulton, H. P. Ranahan, J. J. Cox, S. D. Swift, C. Sterling, Jas. McDonald, Alex. Fraser, F. N. Allen, A. E. Barbour, J. W. Jones, C. M. R. Graham, J. Burnett, A. Whittaker, Dr. A. Scott, and R. D. McDonald.

MT. BRYDGES FARMER BADLY HURT WAGON OVERTURNED ON THE ROAD

James Elsey, a farmer living near Mount Brydges, is in a very serious condition at Victoria Hospital, as a result of being thrown from his wagon while he was on his way into the city yesterday morning.

Mr. Elsey had a heavy load of farm produce on his wagon, and struck a very rough place in the road.

The jolting caused the load to shift, and the wagon overturned, and before Mr. Elsey could escape he was buried under a number of heavy bags of potatoes, barrels of apples and other things.

Stunned by Fall.

The fall stunned him, and it is not known yet how long he lay in the road. He was finally discovered by some other farmers who were coming to the city, and it was some time before they could extricate him from the mass of produce which covered him. It was feared at first that his neck was broken. It is believed, however, that the spinal column is twisted and Mr. Elsey will probably have to undergo a critical operation. He has been unconscious most of the time since the accident occurred.

It is stated that some of the sideroads in the country are in such a condition as to be extremely dangerous, particularly to those passing over them with heavy loads.

LONDON CHICLE MEN ARE NOT AFFECTED

Do Not Believe They Will Suffer Any Even if a Tariff War Breaks Out With U.S.

Manufacturers of chewing gum throughout the country are much interested in the surtax of 25 per cent on chicle, which is announced in the new United States tariff. Up to the present time the great majority of American manufacturers have found it cheaper to have all their chicle cleaned in Canada, as there has been a duty of 10 per cent on all raw chicle imported into the United States. In the process of cleaning the chicle shrinks one-third, and as a result of the duty Canadian factories have done a big business.

London Affected.

The largest manufacturers in London state that there is some uncertainty yet as to whether the new duty will be imposed on the value of the goods or an additional 25 per cent on the 10 cents a pound already charged.

In either case they state they do not think that the washing of the chicle can be done as profitably in the United States as in Canada, and it is not thought that the industry of washing will be removed across the line.

In any event it is the American gum consumer who will have to pay the duty, as the Canadian trade is not affected by the tax, as the chicle comes direct to Canada from Mexico.

LOSS OF 33 LIVES VESSEL WENT DOWN

Lisbon, March 15.—A Portuguese bark sailing from Pico, one of the Azores Islands, has been lost and thirty-three persons drowned.

WATERWAYS BONDS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Edmonton, March 15.—In the Legislature today Premier Rutherford gave notice of a resolution for the complete investigation of the Great Waterways Railway deal bonds, by a judicial committee. The resolution names Hon. Justices Scott, Harvey and Beck.

BULLET IN CHEST AND BARN FIRED

Farmer Charged With Arson and Attempted Suicide.

Woodstock, Ont., March 15. — John Whyte, a well-known Blandford farmer, faced a double charge at the police court yesterday afternoon, that of attempting to commit suicide and attempting to burn down his barn. A neighbor found Whyte lying on the bed with a bullet hole in his chest. He said he had gone out to extinguish a blaze that threatened to consume his barn and had been shot by a stranger. Footprints that tallied with those of Whyte were found by the police leading from the house to the barn and back.

THE STUDENTS GOT OUT

Collegiate Institute Burned—Seventy-Two Lives Imperiled—Watchman Injured.

Glens Falls, N. Y., March 17.—The Fort Edward Collegiate Institute at Fort Edward, N. Y., was destroyed by fire early this morning, entailing a loss of $75,000, with insurance of $45,000.

The students, 75 in number, escaped, but a watchman was slightly injured. The institution was organized about 70 years ago by the Methodist Troy conference.

TRIAL OF HICKS.

Essex, March 15.—The trial of Rev. D. Hicks, the Methodist minister who left his charge at Gesto, and went to Corunna, Mich., will take place here Thursday, March 24. Five ministers from the district will act as trial judges.

LONDON'S ASSESSMENT GRADUALLY GOING UP

Mr. Grant Speaks of the Desire of Certain Aldermen to Boost It.

"Our low assessment used to be our boast," said Assessment Commissioner Grant, when he was informed that some of the council were in favor of increasing the assessment.

"We used to tell other municipalities that our assessment was low, and we took considerable pride in that fact. However, we are going up as it is. If you remember, the real estate returns showed that the assessment was 80 per cent of the consideration during the month of February. That in itself shows that the assessment is going up very fast. The sales were normal and the price of property is by no means low at this time. The city must pay its way, and if we increase the assessment we will obtain more revenue. However, a lot of information will come out of the discussion."

TALKING OF PEACE PREPARING FOR WAR

No Material Change in Strike Situation at Philadelphia.

[Associated Press.]

Philadelphia, March 15.—One of the chief difficulties to be overcome in bringing about an amicable adjustment of the carmen's strike will be the placing of all the strikers. The company has declared it will take back only such men as it needs and will not dismiss men it has employed since the strike began.

While the air is full of peace talk, the committee of ten having the general strike in charge, is working every minute of the day to extend the walkout. There was no very material change in the general situation.

The committee is not meeting with much success in forcing unions that last week decided not to strike to reconsider their action. The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company declares it is steadily increasing its working force.

FORMER LONDONER DEAD

Mr. Richard Spettigue, a Former Well-Known G. T. R. Conductor.

Word has been received in the city of the death at his home, 1714 East Harvey avenue, Spokane, Washington, of Mr. Richard Spettigue, formerly a conductor on the Grand Trunk. Mr. Spettigue was well known in this city several years ago and lived here for some time.

DROPS DEAD WHILE TELLING OF CONVERSION

Barrie, March 15.—At Collier Street Methodist Church last night, Mr. R. E. Elliott, a young married man, was giving his experience, having been converted a week ago, when he suddenly fell back dead. His father died just two weeks ago.

LONDON MAN KILLED IN THIS ACCIDENT

Hamilton Paper Prints a Story of the Desjardins Canal Horror.

The Hamilton Herald publishes an account of the terrible accident when a train plunged through the Desjardin's canal bridge, on March 12, 1857.

In the list of dead includes the name of William Sturdy, of London, who was employed by R. Walker, merchant tailor, who ran a store here known as The Golden Lion.

500 DUTCH SETTLERS

Winnipeg, Man., March 15.—The advance guard of a party of 500 natives of Holland, who intend to settle on the irrigated lands in Alberta this year, will arrive in the city on a special train tomorrow. Representatives of the party have been in communication with the commissioner of immigration for some time. They may locate on irrigation lands, as they believe conditions there will be somewhat similar to their native land.

All are experienced farmers, and it is expected that those who locate here this year will only be the forerunners of a big influx from the land of dykes and canals.

$50,000 PLANT FOR WHITE & SONS BIG FACTORY FOR THE EAST END

Permit Was Taken Out by the Company—Permits for the First Three Months of 1910 Exceed Those of the Same Period of Last Year.

Building looks to be booming in London.

Since March 1 building permits totalling $87,105 have been taken out—much more than was taken out during the whole month of March last year.

Up to the present time about $5,000 worth more of buildings have been contracted for than during the first three months of 1909.

So far there have been $169,237 worth taken out, and there is still the larger half of March to report. For the first three months of 1909 there were $164,280 taken out.

A Healthy Demand.

"There is a healthy demand for building permits," said City Architect Nutter. "There is a healthy growth everywhere, and there will be plenty of building."

Among the big permits taken out during the month were those of Geo. White & Sons, for their plant in East London, and the Hobbs Manufacturing Company.

White & Sons will expend $50,000. The plant itself will be placed in a cement building costing $40,000, and an office costing $10,000 will be erected near at hand.

Construction work has already commenced, and it will be ready for occupancy in the autumn.

Some Figures.

The figures for the first three months of 1909 and 1910 are as follows:

January	$24,385	$ 61,810
February	70,800	20,322
March	69,095	87,105
Total	$164,280	$169,237

ACTION FOR $5,000 DAMAGES AGAINST LOCAL BUSINESSMAN

John Ambrose, a Painter, Is Suing James Slater, of York St,— Citizen Brings Action Against London Street Railway —Says Conductor Beat and Ill-Used Him.

Two more jury cases, making eight in all, have been entered for hearing at the coming session of the assizes court which opens on Tuesday, March 29.

John Ambrose, a painter, is bringing action against James Slater, a warehouseman, of York street, for $5,000 damages for injuries received while in his employ. Ambrose was working on a ladder supplied by the defendant, engaged in painting a sign, when the ladder suddenly broke while he was 20 feet above the ground, throwing the plaintiff violently to the pavement from that height, causing, it is claimed, serious and permanent injuries, for which damages are claimed.

Action Against Street Railway.

Richard Stringer, a carpenter, is bringing action against the London Street Railway for ill treatment he claims to have received at the hands of John J. Thrift, one of the company's conductors on Dec. 10, at 7:30 in the evening, while riding on a Dundas street car, between Richmond and Egerton streets.

According to the plaintiff, the conductor claimed that he did not pay his fare, and, on his refusal to do so, beat and bruised him and cut his face and

DOG MONEY STILL ROLLING IN NO EXCUSES TAKEN IN COURT

Acting Magistrate Beattie Took in Twenty-Four Dollars This Morning—Some Cases Were Adjourned—A Drunk Was Fined Five Dollars.

Twenty-four dollars lay in a pile on Police Court Clerk Moule's desk at the conclusion of court this morning. He had collected the money from citizens who had allowed their dogs to run at large. There might have been $28, but there was some doubt about two cases and they were laid over until next week for further investigation.

Walter Johnston told the court that his dog got out in the night. A policeman saw it before it got back and took his name. The court was sorry, but $2 was necessary.

Christian Effinger said he had turned his dog out so that the dog catcher would get it. The dog catcher, however, didn't happen around that way but a policeman did, so Mr. Effinger dipped down and paid over $2.

William Skelly, John Feeney, James Quinby, George Franklin, Charles McKerlie, Isaac Coleman, Daniel Slade, Henry Wolfe, Albert Hunt and Gowin Boyd all admitted that their dogs were loose and paid $2 each.

Cases Adjourned.

H. J. Glanville and Robert Smith, also charged with allowing dogs to be at large without muzzles, said a mistake had been made as their dogs were not out. The cases were adjourned so that an inquiry may be made.

William Pate, charged with being drunk, was fined $5.

LONDON LADY TELLS OF THE AVALANCHES

Mrs. Gordon Writes Her Father, Professor Bowman, of This City.

Prof. J. H. Bowman, of this city, has received word from his daughter, Mrs (Dr.) Gordon, of Glacier, B.C., that she escaped unharmed in the recent avalanches, which caused such terrible destruction in the district around her home.

Mrs. Gordon writes that there were avalanches in all directions, some of them, of course, comparatively small, but all more or less dangerous.

Prof. Bowman is laid up with an injured knee, the result of a fall which he sustained in the woods on Saturday while looking for botanical specimens.

SPRING OPENING

The Spring Opening in our establishment has long since become the real fashion event of the season. This city has learned that our styles are the styles that lead--that we not only reprodnce Paris styles, but create fashions of our own. We respectfully invite you to visit our Spring Opening and inspect the many enticements we offer this season.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, and Following Days

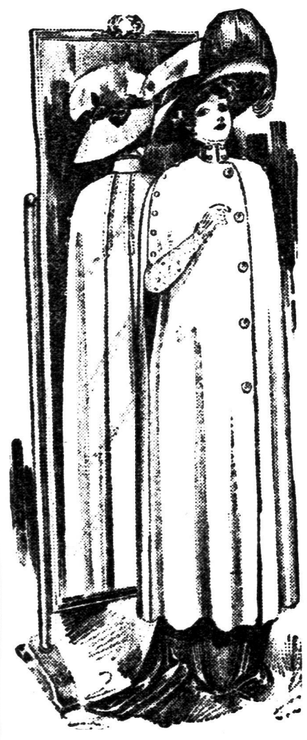

Begin with our windows on Dundas and Richmond streets, they are a fashion show in themselves. Follow on through the aisles and view this great store's stage setting of new fabrics and fashions for spring, 1910.

Spring Opening of New Black and Colored Silks

Our reputation as London's principal silk store is by no means confined to this city. We have been showing new styles since early January, from time to time, many of which are exclusively ours and not to be found elsewhere. But this week our display will be found almost complete for the spring season, and most everything that is new in weave, color and design is now here, and no woman should decide upon the silk for her new gowns until she has seen our splendid display.

COLORED SILKS—Among the colored silks you will find all the new spring shades—tussor, messaline, louisine and many other styles of printed and other fancy silks. Especially attractive are the varieties and values in these.

Millinery Reflections From Paris

Pursue your journey by east or west side elevators, or by the wide, easy stairway to the balcony, and on to the special displays of greater import, the expositions which reveal the newest and most authoritative fashions, the millinery.

Paris is the beauty centre of the world in women's attire, and her best art is strongly reflected in our millinery opening display, and we doubt if you have ever seen a single showing which could boast of so many inspired models.

There are three characteristic shapes this season—the turban, the mushroom shape and the turned-up brim. The last shape is allowed the greatest possible latitude. Sometimes it is at the side and sometimes in the back.

Turbans were never so pretty as they are this season. Being softly draped, they do not appear stiff, fitting down over the head almost covering the hair.

This promises to be one of the most wonderful flower seasons in years. Every sort of flower that grows in the garden may be found on the new hats, the rose being the most noticeable. So daintily made and so exquisite in coloring, it gives the hats a charm which no others have.

It is not our desire to boast that this is the most beautiful exhibition of millinery you have ever seen, yet more than this, and more than we can tell in the papers about the new things, can be learned by a brief visit to our new millinery salon on the second floor. We have given our best efforts. Your criticism is invited.

MILLINERY—SECOND FLOOR.

Superb Display of New Laces, Dress Trimmings and Embroideries

Direct from the great lace-producing centres abroad has come everything that's new and lovely in Laces, Dress Trimmings and Embroideries. Among the newest are the Flouncings, full length for skirts, and a beautiful display of new All-Overs, Bands and Edges, Net Bands and Edges; Net Bands, with delicate tracery in color; New Metal All-Overs; Net Bands and Edges; Black Galloons, beaded but light enough to trim the sheerest fabrics.

Spring Opening in Carpets, Furniture and Wall Paper

Our first spring opening in these departments will be of more than usual interest to the citizens of London, for if for no other purpose than to get in touch with the newest ideas of draping and furnishing your home you should have a look through these departments on the third floor, and see our model furnished home. The addition of a Wall Paper Department, with our own staff of hangers and decorators, completes the homefurnishing end of our establishment, and we are now equipped to furnish your home from top to bottom with Furniture, Draperies and Curtains, paper your walls and carpet your floors. With the housecleaning and renovating time so near at hand, it will at least be interesting to look through a stock of all new goods, such as ours. A year ago our new store was only half completed, and these departments were only thought of; but it has taken most of this time to organize and get into running order and thoroughly stocked, what we consider is today one of the best carpet and housefurnishing departments in Canada. Recovering furniture and all kinds of upholstering promptly done by our own workmen.

Spring Opening of New Black and Colored Dress Ends For Spring

For more than thirty years this store has had an enviable reputation for dress goods, and is accepted as Western Ontario's foremost provider of dress fabrics of every description.

The world's best producers contribute to our stocks. Our buyers go directly to the makers in this and foreign countries, buying in such quantities as to insure absolutely lowest prices. Every new fabric, novelty and new color is here. Be sure and attend our opening exposition this week, commencing tomorrow.

Showing of New Spring Styles In Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Section

Spring is here. The pleasant stir and bustle among the Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Garments gives evidence of this. A few rough days will make little difference now, and with Easter so near at hand, an extra incentive to early buying.

But the garments themselves are the best incentive. Never such splendid range of choice, comprising a woman's every need; never such wealth of models from which to choose, nor such a variety at each price.

Take the skirt shown on the figure, for example; made of good quality Panama cloth, in navy, brown and black, stitched with silk and thoroughly shrunk; one of our styles we are showing at the very moderate price of only $5.00

Reception and Street Gowns

Ready for display tomorrow, and these alone are worth a special visit to our store. They are being unpacked today and will be shown on the models tomorrow.

See our show windows. Dundas and Richmond streets.

Tenders will be received and considered for any or all of the items indicated above and numbered from 1 to 9, both inclusive.

Plans and specifications may be seen in the office of the chief engineer of the commissioners at Ottawa, Mr. Gordon Grant, and in the office of the district engineer of the commissioners at St. Boniface, Man., Mr. S. R. Poulin.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied by the commissioners, which may be had on application to the chief engineer at Ottawa, or to the district engineer at St. Boniface, Man.

Each tender must be signed and sealed by all the parties to the tender, and witnessed, and be accompanied by an accepted check on a chartered bank of the Dominion of Canada, payable to the order of the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway, for a sum equal to ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the tender.

Any person whose tender is accepted shall within ten days after the acceptance thereof sign the contract, specifications and other documents required to be signed, and in any case of refusal or failure on the part of the party whose tender is accepted to complete and execute the contract with the commissioners, the said check shall be forfeited to the commissioners as liquidated damages for such refusal or failure, and all contract rights acquired by the acceptance of the tender shall be forfeited.

The checks deposited by parties whose tenders are accepted will be deposited to the credit of the Received-General of Canada as security for the due and faithful performance of the contract according to its terms.

The checks deposited by parties whose tenders are rejected will be returned within ten days after the signing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders. By order,

P. E. RYAN, Secretary.

The Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway.

THE TARIFF WAR CLOUD.

The American press is showing an unwonted degree of interest in commercial relations with Canada. The immediate cause is the possibility of tariff reprisals within a few weeks, but the discussion is only one of many proofs that the American people are no longer indifferent to Canadian affairs. The view of a particular American newspaper upon the tariff differences with Canada is influenced by its party politics and its attitude toward high protection. The low tariff advocates and the Republican insurgents would welcome a tariff war as a means of discrediting the Payne-Aldrich law. They denounce it as the Dingley tariff under another name, and describe the recent revision as a solemn farce. They are quite ready to place upon the American "stand-patters" the whole responsibility for any rupture with this country. Their opinions are expressed by the Chicago Record-Herald:

"Our new act is based on the stand-pat theory that the minimum tariff is a boon for which other nations ought to pay liberally, in the shape of favored nation treatment and handsome reductions of their general rates of duty. The President has no discretion except in so far as it is left to his judgment to determine whether an alleged discrimination by any foreign country is 'undue or slight and trifling. Will he feel himself constrained to decide against Canada and to punish her by clapping on the extra 25 per cent on her dutiable exports to our market?

"That would be a painful and disastrous thing to do. Canada would retaliate, commercial war would ensue, the friendly sentiments would evaporate, and—we should lose a good deal of trade. Canada buys of us $2 worth per every $1 worth we purchase of her. The total trade exceeds $270,000,000. How would our manufacturers, merchants and workmen enjoy a war imperilling a good part of this commerce?"

The "stand-pat" press is plainly anxious, and is preparing to put the blame entirely upon Canada's shoulders. The following from the Detroit Free Press is a sample of the high protectionist argument:

"The average ad valorem rate on dutiable and free imports into the United States from Canada was 1 per cent lower than the average rate on imports into Canada from the United States last year, while the rate on dutiable goods alone was 5.5 per cent lower on imports into the United States.

"The indications are strong that Canada has allowed her jealousy of her neighbor to get the better of her good sense, and that she is just waking up to the fact when it is almost too late. Fortunately, some days yet remain of March, and a way may be found to prevent the disastrous conflict into which false pride has led the Canadians."

Canadians refuse to believe that the United States tariff is more favorable to Canada than is the Canadian tariff to the United States. The bulk of Canadian exports to the United States consists of natural products and raw materials, which our neighbors admit free or at a low rate of duty for their own advantage. The greater part of American exports to Canada consists of partly or wholly finished products, which are taxed for the protection of Canadian producers. It is easy to juggle figures to conceal this distinction. That is what the American negotiators appepar to have done.

BRITISH FINANCES IN DISORDER.

The rejection of the budget by the House of Lords in November has brought grave embarrassment to the treasury. The Chancellor of the Exchequer estimated a revenue of £162,840,000 for the present fiscal year, which ends on March 31 next. The revenue up to March 1 was only £130,294,941, and on March 31 there will be a deficit of £25,000,000, according to present calculations. It was estimated that the income tax would yield £37,000,000, but only £12,057,000 had been secured up to March 1. Many people are refusing to voluntarily pay their income taxes, knowing that the Government's authority to collect them has been destroyed by the peers.

The Government could compel the payment by passing a special bill, but to do so would be to surrender the budget and submit to the dictation of the peers in the domain of finance, from which the Government is trying to exclude them. Much of these unpaid taxes will not be recovered, even if the budget becomes law. It will be impossible to run down every defaulting taxpayer. The country will in the end lose millions of pounds through the unconstitutional and partisan conduct of the House of Lords. The responsibility for the loss and confusion was laid at the door of the Unionist party by Mr. Asquith in a speech on March 4. He pointed out that he had predicted the present trouble in his last speech in the House of Commons before dissolution, but his prophecy had been decided as a Radical bogey. In declining to pass the income tax clauses of the budget separately, in order to collect the arrears, Mr. Asquith said:

"I am not going to be a party to departing from what has been regarded as a fundamental principle of our financial system for the past forty years. We regard the taxes imposed by the budget not as a number of isolated things which you can treat as they used to be treated in the old days, each the subject of a separate enactment requiring the assent of both Houses of Parliament, but following in the footsteps of Mr. Gladstone and his successors, we will treat financial proposals as one thing. The taxes of the budget must be treated as a whole; the bill which authorizes the budget, and ultimately gives it parliamentary sanction, must be treated as a whole. (Ministerial cheers.) We are taking the time of the House up to March 24, and the House will not resume business till the 29th. You cannot, consistently with those arrangements, do anything in the time that remains open to get rid of, to seriously mitigate, or soften the damaging results that have followed the action of the House of Lords." (Ministerial and Labor cheers.)

The Government intends also to make certain that the Unionists, if they are returned to power within a few weeks or months shall bear the burden of their own making. Supplies have been asked for only six or seven weeks, so that if the budget is rejected either by the House of Commons or again by the House of Lords, the task of a Unionist chancellor of the exchequer will be an appalling one.

WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT.

An interesting discussion arose in the House of Commons the other day in regard to railway companies being authorized to acquire and develop water powers. The claim was made by a member of the Opposition that the interests of the public are not properly safeguarded in this respect.

It is conceded that private interests should not be permitted to tie up any important water power, so as to exclude any form of public development or public control. The difficulty is in determining how far a private concern should be allowed to generate power. Hon. Mr. Graham cites the case of a railway company which developed more water power than it required for the operation of its road. How could it be prevented from selling its surplus? A large amount of horse power can be developed at a smaller cost per unit than a smaller amount. If a railway company should need only 5,000-horsepower at present, but lays out its plant to provide double that quantity in order to be ready to meet the growth of trade, would it be fair to that company to prevent it developing 10,000-horsepower? Mr. Graham takes the view that it would be more reasonable to permit the company to develop all it wanted immediately, and a little surplus, and sell that surplus, so long as the price is safeguarded.

In so far as the waters of Canada are under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government, a very definite policy is being followed. By the terms of the irrigation act of 1908, water in the prairie provinces is vested absolutely in the control of the Dominion Government, and the Dominion lands act, passed in the same year, provides for the development of power upon these waters. The Government may rent a water power to a company, and the rental may be changed from time to time. The amount which consumers shall be charged by the company for power is under the control of the railway commission and subject to adjustment at periods of seven years. The commissioners will be enabled to compel a power company to give the people in the locality a reasonable price, so that the greatest good may come to the greatest number. If such a plan could have been worked out in respect to Niagara power, it would have saved municipalities the expense and risk they have undertaken.

The fight for the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company has begun at Washington. Mr. Rockefeller has already decided on the dissolution of his Standard Oil fortune.

Great Britain will build eleven armored cruisers and thirty-seven destroyers this year. According to Canadian arm-chair critics, these are useless tin-pot affairs when built in Canada.

The drift from the country to the town will be stayed by bringing the town to the country. Rural mail delivery, electric railways, good roads, rural telephones and daily newspapers are doing it.

The Pittsburg Dispatch wants to know why Patten was hooted in Manchester and cheered in Liverpool. The fact that he was hooted in Manchester was sufficient to endear him to Liverpool. These cities are the Fort William and Port Arthur of Great Britain.

The Washington correspondent of the Brooklyn Citizen reports a conversation with an insurgent Republican and a long-time student of political economy, who said among other things: "The Canadian newspapers have of late been calling attention to the fact that nearly 100,000 American citizens, with their families, have crossed the Canada border in the northwest of the United States, and have taken up farming lands. It has been estimated that each family has brought at least $5,000 into Canada, others much more. Our tariff is largely responsible for this enormous immigration of American farmers."

Lord Rosebery's scheme for the reform of the House of Lords will never be accepted by the Liberal party. It requires that 200 peers shall be elected by the entire peerage, which would mean that no Liberal would stand a chance. Scotland returned 62 Liberals and 10 Conservatives to the House of Commons in the late election. Two weeks later the Scottish peers met and elected 16 Unionists and not a single Liberal to the House of Lords. They rejected the only peer who voted for the budget. Lord Rosebery's "reformed" chamber would be more partisan than the present one.

An esteemed contemporary finds it hard to understand Leader Borden's complete change of front on the naval question within the short period of a year. Why not charge it up to the system? Why men like Mr. Borden submit so readily to such a system, a system which deprives men of so many of the privileges of free manhood, is another question. —Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

There is nothing inherent in the party system that deprives men of the privileges of free manhood. In Mr. Borden's case, to the surprise and disappointment even of his opponents, the manhood proved to be lacking. Never again can he convince them it is there.

A COMPLIMENT FOR HIM.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

"Your husband looks so much more intellectual since he has got to wearing glasses than he did before."

"Do you think so?"

"Yes. Hardly anybody is wondering any more why you married him."

SINCE THEY ARE MARRIED.

[S. E. Kiser.]

He never buys her candy any more,
He used to send a pound box daily;
She never runs to meet him at the door,
She used to go to meet him gladly, gayly.

He used to take her to each latest play,
But he has ceased to do so since their marriage;
There was a time when he was glad to pay
To sit beside her snugly in a carriage,

He never tells her that she has a charm
She never is seen clinging to his arm,
He prizes no love notes that she addresses.

He wastes no precious time deciding how
He best may please her father and her mother;
They once were lovers and are married now—
But not, oh, gentle reader, to each other.

CYNICAL LYSANDER.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Young Professor's Wife—Lysander, you have explained to me several times how the over-production of gold causes high prices, but somehow I can't get it through my head.

Young Professor—Oh, yes, you can; the passage from one ear to the other seems to be entirely unobstructed.

THE WANDERLUST.

[Washington Star.]

"Wouldn't a railway increase the population of this village?" asked the enterprising person.

[Chicago Daily News.]

AFTER DISCARDING THE KNIFE.

[M. A. P.]

Discussing international marriages, Senator Tillman said humorously at a dinner in Washington:

"Think, too, of their queer foreign manners. They knot their napkins about their necks, you know, like bibs. They say that a Czech nobleman, a short time after his marriage with a Chicago heiress, appeared at the club with his face covered with fine scars.

"'Dear me, count!' cried a friend. 'Your face; Duelling again! Don't you know that your life is more valuable now?'

"'Ah, no, count,' the other answered, touching his torn countenance gravely, 'I have not been duelling. It is my American wife. She insists on my eating with a fork.'"

THAT MIGHTY PEN.

[Christian Register.]

The superiority of man to nature is continually illustrated. Nature needs an immense quantity of quills to make a goose with, but man can make a goose of himself with one.

LESSER OF TWO EVILS.

[Judge.]

Novice—It must be a dreadful sensation to run over a man.

Chauffeur—Not nearly so dreadful as to run over a cow—and it doesn't injure the machine so much.

TOUGH EVERY WAY.

[Chicago News.]

"It certainly is tough that we can't have beefsteak," sighed the man who was reading about the cost of living soaring higher every day.

"Oh, cheer up," laughed the optimist. "It would be tough if we had it, so what is the use to worry"

CRUSHING.

"'Madam,' said the milk manufacturer, with withering dignity, 'to the pure all things are pure.'"

NEW LAYING FOR HENS.

[Boston Transcript.]

Hicks—I see that a Cornell professor has succeeded in getting colored eggs by feeding the hens with dyes.

NEXT.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

To the seven naval policies of the Opposition has to be added one more, that of Rodolphe Forget, M. P. for Charlevoix, who wants to abolish the British preferential tariff, and give millions every year to the British Admiralty. Next!

EXAMPLE OF PUBLIC SPIRIT.

[Stratford Beacon.]

Rufus Isaacs, K.C., M.P., the new solicitor-general of Great Britain, is the acknowledged leader of the London bar. He is reported to have a practice worth $40,000 per annum. In accepting the solicitor-generalship, he sacrifices a large part of this enourmous income, but such is the public spirit that prevails in the motherland.

THE MUZZLE.

[Walkerton Telescope.]

Just the other day we noticed the dog's chin worn raw from one of these wire muzzles that are in vogue, and if a dog is supposed to put up with this without getting mad, it's too much to expect. The law may have the effect of ridding the country of some thousands of useless dogs, and in that it will be good, but the muzzling is torture to the dumb animal.

THE CABLE MAN.

[Montreal Witness.]

So strong is the passion of those who control our sources of information to deprecate the Asquith Government that it is difficult to gather anything clearly from some of the dispatches except a strong sense of that ruling attitude.

Sickly Women

SCOTCH FARM LABORERS ARRIVE AT TORONTO

All Experienced Men and Considered Finest Ever Came to This Province.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 15.—Officials of the Ontario department of colonization were kept busy all day yesterday looking after a party of 94 Scotch farm laborers who arrived in Toronto on Sunday, having been sent here by McKay Brothers, of Edinburgh. About half of the farmers who came here availed themselves of the offer made by the Government, and borrowed the loan to pay their passage, which will be repaid when the men start to work. The farmers are all experienced men, and in the opinion of the government officials the party was without exception the finest which ever came to this province. Another party, similarly assisted, will arrive from Ireland next week. These men will be distributed from the new government immigration office at 172 Front street, opposite the Union station, which has just been opened.

McKay Brothers will send out another large party of experienced farm laborers in April. In order for farmers thoughout the province to get experienced farm laborers, it is necessary to pay from $18 to $25 a month. Inexperienced farm laborers may be secured for from $10 to $18 a month. Farmers who wish to engage farm laborers should apply at once to Mr. Donald Sutherland, director of colonization, at Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anæmia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ROSEBERY OPENS REFORM DEBATE

Pleads for Abolishment of the Hereditory Principle.

SEES PERIL IN DELAY

Wants a Second Chamber Elected by Corporations and Town Councils.

London, March 14.—The House of Lords was crowded this afternoon when Lord Rosebery arose to initiate the momentous debate on the reform of the House of Lords. The former prime minister gave notice on March 9 that he would today move the following three resolutions:

1. That a strong and efficient second chamber is not merely an integral part of the British constitution, but is necessary for the well-being of the state and the balance of parliament.

2. That a second chamber can best be obtained by reforming and reconstituting the House of Lords.

3. That a necessary preliminary to such reform and reconstitution is the acceptance of the principle that possession of a peerage shall no longer in itself give the right to sit and vote in the House of Lords.

Lord Rosebery declared that the time had come for a reform from within, without waiting for the Government to carry out its proposals to hamstring the peers and so emasculate the House of Lords that it would become no better than a painted chamber in which no self-respecting person would care to sit. He said that it was wished to establish the elective principle, but it must not be through popular elections, but by elections by associations, corporations and county councils.

A Brilliant Scene.

The scene was a brilliant one as Lord Rosebery arose to speak to his resolutions. The Prince of Wales sat on the cross benches, peeresses filled the galleries and privy councillors thronged the steps of the throne.

Lord Rosebery received faint cheers as he moved that the House go into committee to consider his resolution as to the best means of reforming the Lords so as to constitute a strong and efficient second chamber. The debate on these resolutions is expected to last until Thursday.

At the outset of his argument Lord Rosebery declared that the House of Lords had attached to it that which was most eminent in public life—its antiquity. As such it was a descendant of the Witenagemot. It was an integral part of the constitution. Its abolition, according to Freeman, who was a great historian as well as a great Radical, Lord Rosebery said, would be the greatest of revolutions.

Referring to the claim that the result of the recent general election was a conclusive condemnation of the House of Lords, Lord Rosebery proceeded to analyze the majority obtained by the Government. The object of the Irish party in uniting with the Government, he said, was purely temporary. Once they had succeeded in abolishing the House of Lords they would take no further interest in the Government. The Laborites wanted to abolish the Lords in order to nationalize everything. As to the Scotch, Lord Rosebery said he was unable to flatter their lordships by saying the Scots' objections to the hereditary principal would ever be removed. It was in their blood, he said.

Not Tyrants.

He remembered Gladstone telling him how, as a boy, he had passed through danger, and had seen two posters which had made his blood run cold. One of them ran like this: "To hell with the blood tyrants."

He could not but recall that their lordships were the bloody tyrants to whom that poster referred. But he could not avoid the knowledge that there was nowhere in the world anything less like a collection of bloody tyrants than the somewhat apathetic, sometimes somnolent, but always highly respectable body of men constituting the Lords. He would not weep for the Lords themselves, but if reduced to the condition which the proposals of the Government might bring, there was nothing to prevent the Commons from abolishing the Lords entirely. It followed that any legislative body that might, with care, abolish one branch of the Legislature, might be found dealing with the throne itself without anyone to intervene between the monarch and the Commons.

Points to Cromwell.

He appealed to the greatest sovereign who reigned without the name of king—Oliver Cromwell—who said he would not govern without a second House. Then sketching the Government's proposals, he pointed to the gallery of the Commons and asked:

In conclusion, he said that the Government must soon go to the country with their proposals. Let the Lords go with theirs. He asked them to surrender those powers which were verging on the obsolete. He recalled to the Lords that night when the aristocracy of France surrendered one privilege after another and left the assembly to private citizens. If any noble friend told them that the concessions had brought about the French revolution he would tell them wrongly. The Bastille had fallen, the revolution had already begun. The lesson of it was "Too late." If French aristocracy made their concessions 100 years earlier they would have saved the monarchy.

Speaking in deep, solemn tones, Lord Rosebery concluded:

"Those words, 'Too late,' shall not be repeated here. I rest confident in the wisdom and patriotism of this

ASQUITH'S LATEST BUDGET STATEMENT

Will Force It Through Commons Before Spring Recess No Matter What Happens.

London, March 15.—Premier Asquith stated to the House yesterday that it was the intention of the Government to pass the budget through before the House adjourned for the spring recess.

THE LONG SAULT BILL WAS UNDER DISCUSSION

Charged That It Will Be an Invasion of Provincial Rights.

Ottawa, March 15.—The bill to incorporate the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Company, which has for its object the damming of the Long Sault Rapids, was up for discussion in the Commons last evening.

Mr. H. R. Emmerson saw a menace to Canadian interests in the measure. He said the danger in connection with this bill was that Parliament had already given power to a company in 1894 to dam the St. Lawrence, but it did not give the power of transmission. The present bill would supply that power of transmission which the company lacked.

When it was recognized, said Mr. Emmerson, that the state of New York insisted upon the new company just incorporated exercising its power only for a consideration, he wondered why this Parliament was willing to give this power for nothing.

Sharpe (North Ontario), claimed that to pass the bill would be an invasion of provincial rights, and would injure the hydro-electric policy of the Ontario Government.

He considered that the promoters of the bill should accept two amendments first that a clause be added that the act should come into force by order of the governor-in-council. The bill as at present amended, threw the responsibility on the governor-in-council of certain plans only, but the amendment as suggested by Hon. Clifford Sifton for the conservation commission, threw the responsibility on the governor-in-council for adopting the principle of the bill. The second suggestion was to protect provincial rights, and his amendment was to the effect that the company could not expropriate crown lands without the permission of the lieutenant-governor-in-council of the province.

F. B. Carvell said the hydro-electric commission pretended to sell the people power at $20 per unit, when they really charged from $60 to $70, and named Stratford, Ingersoll, and Galt, as cases in point.

Stratford would have to pay for peak load, transforming and a hundred and one other things.

Mr. Pardee asserted that if the amendments suggested by the opponents of the bill went into the bill, the province would have the right to refuse this company power to go on with its work.

J. G. Turiff, Assiniboia, agreed that the bill should be referred back to the committee in order to ascertain whether or not the statement made by Hon. H. R. Emmerson is correct. While not opposed to the development of waterpower, he thought this would be the best course to pursue with this bill.

EXPLODING LAMP BURNS DOWN HOUSE

Clinton, Ont., March 14.—The house of Charles B. Hale was almost completely destroyed by fire last night. It was one of the first residences erected in Clinton.

Mr. Hale was Clinton's first real estate man, some 50 years ago. The fire originated from an exploded lamp in the hands of a servant, and the loss is partially covered by insurance in the Commercial Union and Ontario Companies.

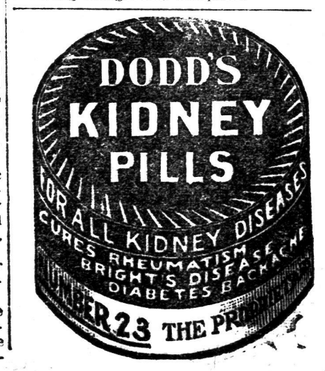

NOTED GAMBLER DEAD

New York, March 15. — Phil Daly, years ago one of the best-known gamblers in this country, is dead of heart disease in Long Branch, N. J. He was 75 years old, and of late years had lived almost as a recluse.

He had large real estate holdings but most of his property was heavily encumbered, and it is believed that he was practically penniless.

WEAPON CARRIERS FINED.

Montreal, Que., March 15.—As the outcome of a raid made by the police on Italians who have made a practice of going about armed, thus giving rise to numerous crimes, nine men appeared in the police court today and were fined $3 and costs. The police are determined to make the foreigners stop carrying dangerous weapons.

QUEEN PREFERS ENGLAND

King of Sweden's Mother Will Only Visit Continent Occasionally.

London, March 15.—The Dowager Queen of Sweden has just made it clear that she proposes to spend the remainder of her life in England save for brief visits to the continent, and she is trying to purchase the freehold of the comparatively small house which she rented a short time ago in Buckinghamshire.

The ex-Queen and the present King of Sweden are not on the best of terms, which is the reason of her desertion of her own country. When the late King Oscar was alive he had to act as peacemaker many times between his wife and his eldest son, and after his death the estrangement between the mother and son was an open secret.

The ex-queen lives a life of absolute retirement in Buckinghamshire. Her only social dissipation is an occasional motor trip to London to have tea with Queen Alexandra.

For Coughs, Colds,
BRONCHITIS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, CROUP, ASTHMA, PAIN or TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST and all BRONCHIAL or LUNG TROUBLES there is nothing to equal
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.
It contains all the virtues of the world famous Norway pine tree, combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Nasty Hacking Cough Cured.

Mrs. John Pelch, Windsor, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with a nasty hacking cough for the past six months and used a lot of different remedies but they did me no good. At last I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and with the first few doses I found great relief and to-day my hacking cough has entirely disappeared and I am never without Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in the house."

The price of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 25 cents per bottle. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, so be sure and accept none of the many substitutes of the original 'Norway Pine Syrup."

Half a Chance

The Great New Serial Story of Adventure by

FREDERICK S. ISHAM

Auther of "Under the Rose," "The Strollers," etc.

Copyright 1909, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"When the man woke," he had said, "he cursed the sea for bringing him, as he thought, nothing. One desire tormented him. It became intolerable. Day after day he went down to the ocean, but the surf only leaped in derision. For the thousandth time he cursed it, the isle to which he was bound. Weeks passed, until, almost mad through the monotony of the long hours, he inadvertently picked up a book. The brute convict could just read. Where, however learned, I forget. He began to pick out the words. After that——"

"After that?" The girl had drawn closer; his language was plain, matter-of-fact. The picture that he drew was without color; she, however, saw through a medium of her own. The very landscape changed now, remained no longer the terrible, barren environment. She seemed to hear the singing of the birds, the softer murmur of the waves, the purring of the stream. It was like a mask, one of those poetic interpolations that the olden poets sometimes introduced in their tragedies. John Steele paused. Was it over?—Almost; the coral isle became a study; there was not much more to tell. Through the long months, the long years, the man had fought for knowledge as he had always fought for anything; with all his strength, passion, energy.

"Incredible, by Jove!" she heard Sir Charles' voice, awed and admiring. "I told you, Steele, when you were about to begin, that we people of the antipodes take a man for what he is, not for what he was. But I am glad to have had your confidence and—and—tell me, how did you happen to light on the law for special study and preparation?"

"You forget that about half of your superb library was law books, Sir Charles. A most comprehensive collection!"

"So they were! But you must have had wonderful aptitude."

"The law—the ramifications it creates for the many, the attendant restraints for the individual—I confess, interested me. You can imagine a personal reason or—an abstract one. From the lonely perspective of a tiny coral isle, a system, or systems—codes of conduct, or morals, built up for the swarming millions, so to speak—could not but possess fascination for one to whom those millions had become only as the far-away shadows of a dream. You will find a few of those books, minus fly-leaf and book-plate, it shames me to say—still in my library, and——

"Bless you; you're welcome to them," hastily. "No wonder that day in my library you spoke as you did about books. 'Gad, it's wonderful! But you say at first you could hardly read? Your life, then, as a boy—pardon me. It's not mere idle curiosity."

"As a boy!" John Steele repeated the words almost mechanically. "My parents died when I was a child. They came of good stock—New England." He uttered the last part of the sentence involuntarily; stopped. "I was bound out, was beaten. I fought, ran away. In lumber camps, the drunken riffraff cursed the new scrub boy; on the Mississippi, the sailors and stevedores kicked him because the mate had kicked him. Everywhere it was the same; the boy learned only one thing, to fight. Fight, or be beaten! On the plains, in the mountains, before the fo'castle, it was the same. Fight or ——" he broke off. "It was not a boyhood; it was a contention."

"I believe you." Sir Charles' accents were half-musing. "And if you will pardon me I stake a good deal that you fought straight." He paused. "But to go back to your isle, your magic isle, if you please. "You were rescued, and then?"

"In a worldly sense, I prospered; in New Zealand, in Tasmania. Fate, as if to atone for having delayed her favors, now lavished them freely; work became easy; a mine of two that I was lucky enough to locate, yielded, and continues to yield, unexpected returns. Without especially desiring riches, I found myself more than well-to-do."

"And then having fairly, through your own efforts, won a place in the world, having conquered fortune, why did you return to England, knowing the risk, that some one of these fellows like Gillett, the police agent, might——"

"Why," said John Steele, "because I wished to sift, to get to the very bottom of this crime for which I was convicted. For all real wrong-doing—resisting officers of the law—offences against officialdom—I had paid the penalty, in full, I believe. But this other matter—that was different. It weighed on me through those years on the island and afterward. A jury had convicted me wrongfully; but I had to prove it; to satisfy myself, to find out beyond any shadow of a doubt, and ——"

"He did." For the first time Captain Forsythe spoke. "Steele has in his possession full proofs of his innocence and I have seen them; they go to show that he suffered through the cowardice of a miserable cad, a titled scoundrel who struck his hand from the gunwale of the boat when the Lord Nelson went down. Yes, you told that story in your fevered rambling, John Steele!"

"Forsythe!" the other's voice rang out warningly. "Didn't I tell you the part he played was to be forgotten unless——"

"All right, have your way, grudgingly.

"A titled scoundrel! There was only one person of rank on the Lord Nelson besides myself, and—Forsythe——" the old nobleman's voice called out sharply. "You have said too much or too little."

John Steele made a gesture. "I have given my word not to——"

"But I haven't!" said Captain Forsythe. "The confession I procured, and what I subsequently learned, led me directly to—— Here is the tale, Sir Charles."

It was over at last; they were gone, Sir Charles and Captain Forsythe; their handclasps still lingered in his. That was something, very much, John Steele told himself; but, oddly with no perceptible thrill of satisfaction. Had he become dead to approval? What did he want? Or what had been wanting? Sir Charles had been affable, gracious—eminently just in his manner. But the old man's sensibilities had been cruelly shocked; Ronsdale, the son of his old friend, a miserable coward, who, if the truth were known, would be asked to resign from every club he belonged to. And he, Sir Charles, had desired a closer bond between him and one he loved well, his own niece.

Perhaps John Steele divined why the hearty old man's face had grown so grave. Sir Charles might well experience shame for this retrogression of his own class, the broken obligations of nobility; the traditions shattered. But he thanked John Steele in an old-fashioned, courtly way for what he had done for his niece, whose life he had saved. Perhaps it was the reaction in himself; perhaps John Steele merely fancied a distance in the other's very full and punctilious expression of personal indebtedness; his courteous reiteration that he should feel honored by his presence at any and all times at his house.

For a few moments now John Steele remained motionless, listening to their departing footsteps; then turned and gazed around him.

Stomach Troubles

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

When the nerves become exhausted the first sign of trouble often comes from the stomach. The nerves which control the flow of digestive fluids fail and the result is loss of appetite, indigestion, nervous headache and sleeplessness.

Opiates and narcotics cannot possibly do more than afford temporary relief, and aids to digestion are merely make-shifts. To get well you must get the nervous system back into condition by such treatment as Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Here is a letter which illustrates the point:

Mr. John McLean, 316 Hunter street west, Hamilton, states: "My trouble was principally with my stomach. As a result of weak nerves my appetite was poor and I had severe attacks of indigestion. I found that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food relieved me, and since using it regularly for some time my digestion is excellent, my appetite is good, my nerves strong and vigorous, and I feel an altogether different person. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have derived from this medicine."

If you are in earnest about a cure why not make it thorough by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food regularly and persistently until the whole nervous system is restored and you can know again the joys of living.

SENTIMENTAL AND INTELLECTUAL FEAR

How to Explain the Terror of Heros, Napoleon, Ney, Turenne and Augustus.

London, March 15.—Fernand Mazade has an article in La Revue of Paris in which he discusses the question, "What Is Fear?" He begins by asking, "Is there a difference between fear and fear, or is there such a thing as fear and phobia, and again is all fear a mere malady How are we to explain the terror of such a man as Augustus, the victor at Actium, and how many other famous commanders, such as Turenne, Napoleon and Ney, have had a shiver at the beginning of a battle? A coward is he, said Ney, who boasts that he never was afraid."

M. Mazade applied to various celebrities for their opinions, one of the first being Prof. Ballet, of the Hotel Dieu of Paris. He says:

"The subject is one of ordinary psychology and pathology, but of a duplex nature which it is difficult to explain at a moment's notice. When we say fear we say apprehension of danger, an apprehension that is often vague, uncertain, like that which we experience at night in the darkness in a deserted part of the country. Sometimes it is not so instinctive, but reasoned out, as when we are in the presence of an imminent peril.

"Can fear be combatted? A distinction must be made. There is the instinctive sentimental fear, and, so to speak, the intellectual fear in the presence of a known danger. The second kind may be reduced to a small matter or to nothing—pathological cases. Physiological fear can be combatted with success, but i talways remains true that the strong are less subject to fear than the weak."

M. Victor Marguerite admits that he has sometimes been in a funk, but this, he says, can happen to anyone without being a coward, and adds that "fear is a physical trouble much more than a feeling, and it can ultimately be overcome by force of will."

General Percin, on the other hand, says: "A man can be brave and know fear, which is the sentiment of danger. I do not think that the feeling can be cured." M. Pouchet of the Academy of Medicine, doubts whether any man has ever been quite free of fear for himself or for others. M. Richet, also of the Academy of Medicine, says: "Fear, in the last analysis, is a protection against death, but we must fight against it by forgetfulness of self and a sense of duty."

M. Sicard, a professor at the Faculty of Medicine, considers fear or courage to be the result of temperament, training and thought. Fear can be partially eradicated by reason and education, but it will never be overcome in the most acute form, namely, the instinct of self-preservation.

EXPLAINS FASCINATION OF THE CHAUFFEUR

Women Adore Men Who Have Power of Control, Says Lord Beaulieu.

London, March 14.—Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, pronounced Bewley, was one of the pioneers of automobiling in this country and may fairly pretend to know all there is to know about a car. In the current number of the Car he even explains why one hears so often nowadays of ladies eloping with their motormen. Lord Beaulieu considers the common remark when such events happen of "How could she?" or "Just fancy, with a motorman!" quite unjustified.

"Is there nothing more than an ordinary masculine attraction for the feminine mind in a smart looking motorman, gifted with a good manner, deferential yet independent and well educated also as often happens now?" he writes, and answers: "I think there is." Pursuing the question psychologically and historically his lordship proceeds:

"And looking back, this attraction toward the driver or guider of moving vehicles or ships is very old. A hundred years ago it was the most interesting form of tittle tattle and gossip to discuss how so-and-so's stud groom or horseman had run away with the heiress or proposed to a ward of court. The seventeenth and eighteenth century histories and plays are full of allusions to such events.

"Perhaps Jehu, who drove furiously to the common danger, was a charmer in his time; at any rate there is no doubt that rapid motion has a distinct effect upon the human mind.

"Sometimes it induces sleepiness, sometimes thought, sometimes affection for the god, or maybe goddess, controlling the car; but it is certain that no human person remains quite uninfluenced or normal in a good car by the side of a good driver and in congenial company, to which, if you add picturesque scenery, the picture and the sensations should be complete."

A WARNING TO PARENTS

And Long Terms for Men Were Given at Brantford.

Brantford, March 15.—At the police court yesterday morning Police Magistrate Livingston sentenced two young men, John Richardson and Herbert Logan, to twenty-three months each in the Central Prison on charges arising out of a story told by a girl fifteen years of age. The magistrate took occasion to sound a note of warning to parents.

John A. Spittal, of the King's Hotel, for serving Richardson with beer and allowing the girl to loiter about the hotel, paid $55 in all.

Miss Ermolova, daughter of an ex-minister of Russian agriculture, a beautiful and eccentric society lady, has become an active member of the St. Petersburg fire brigade. In regulation trousers and fireman's helmet, she worked hard at a fire, climbing on the roof of a house.

EMUR OF AFGHAN LIKES TREACLE PUDDING

Also Is a Warm Dresser and Likes the English Tailor.

London, March 15.—Ernest Thornton, an Englishman, for some time employed at Kabul in the organization of the amir's tannery and boot factory, has, with the aid of his wife, written an interesting book dealing with their experiences.

The Amir of Afghanistan was very friendly towards the Thorntons, and particularly appreciated Mrs. Thornton's English cooking. His favorite dish was treacle pudding. When he first sampled this delicacy, he was so pleased that he had a portion instantly conveyed to his brother-in-law, who, after an exhausting day at court, had to be roused out of his sleep to taste the royal bounty.

"The amir favors English fashion in clothes, and occasionally brings a tailor from India to replenish the royal wardrobe.

"After such a revision his majesty spends days in sorting his discarded suits, hosiery, gloves, etc., into lots. When at last they are all ready, he will call up one of his page boys, and, pointing to a lot, say: 'You may have those for 30 rupees, and you'—beckoning to another luckless one—'may take those for 8 rupees.' The young fellows have no alternative, and therefore pay and remove their bundles, without murmuring, as the amir proceeds with his sale.

"One day the Government fur-keeper came into court and told the amir that many thousands of astrakhan skins were lying in the stores, and not improving there. Habibullah Khan pondered a few moments, then remarked loudly: 'All my subjects who love me will wear black astrakhan hats!'

A Gruesome Story.

"Nobody was allowed inside the arrk next day without a black hat. By night every scrap of astrakhan was sold."

There are some gruesome stories of Afghan justice. The amir had given orders that owing to the scarcity of timber, three trees should be planted where one was felled. One day a poor man came up to be tried for breaking a bough off a Government tree by the road near to the leather works. He was asked why he did it.

"Sahib," said he, "I had no wood to bake my bread with."

The amir was not satisfied with the answer.

"Take away this man," was the command, "to the very tree he broke, and hang him up to it by his hands today. Tomorrow hang him by his feet, and so on for five days. Then bring him back to me."

Fortunately the man did not live for further torture.

A baker who sold short-weight was baked in his own oven. A moolah, disapproving of the amir's proposed visit to India, prophesied that he would never return. The rash priest was summoned to the royal presence and asked whether he had really made the observation alleged. The moolah, knowing that there had been plenty of witnesses present when he had made these remarks, said: "Yes, it is true. I did say so."

"Then say it again now," was the command.

The priest repeated his statements, and as he finished them, Amir Habibullah cried: "Do not speak another word!"

Sending for a tailor he made him sew up the lips of the moolah, saying: "His mouth shall not be opened should I return safely, but should I fail to return open his mouth and proclaim him a true prophet throughout Afghanistan."

ROOSEVELT AT KHARTOUM

Khartoum, March 15.—Col. Roosevelt and his son, Kermit, both looking as hard as nails, and wearing khaki hunting suits, arrived here yesterday afternoon.

Slatin Pasha, inspector-general of the Soudan, and other prominent British officers, received and escorted the Roosevelts to the palace of the Sirdar, where numerous introductions were made.

The stay at the palace was brief, Col. Roosevelt hurrying away to the railway station to meet Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who were expected on the train at three o'clock.

With a keen appreciation of the situation, the officials of the city had so arranged affairs that this family reunion after a year's separation, was in strict privacy. In the station room after the arrival of the train were only Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and their son and their daughter, Kermit and Ethel.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifing the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN!

The finest "first aid" is Zam-Buk for many reasons. It is antiseptic—kills the poison in any wound. It ensures any wound, or skin injury, or disease against poison-germs in the air which are always ready to enter a sore place and set up poisoning and putrefactive change. Immediately they enter Zam-Buk they are instantly killed.

While certain ingredients in Zam-Buk are thus protecting you against external dangers the rich healing herbal essences in the balm penetrate the tissue, stimulate the cells, and bring about perfect healing. Nothing like it! Watch it work!

PROOF FROM THE HOMES.

Mrs. Halliday, of Wroxeter, Ont., says:—"I have found Zam-Buk a most reliable household remedy. I have used it for cuts, sores, and various skin diseases, and have found it an effective cure in every case. I would not be without a box of Zam-Buk in the house in cases of emergency, and I recommend all mothers to keep a box handy."

Mrs. R. B. Levy, of Hackett's Cove, N.S., says:—"Eczema broke out very badly behind my baby's ears, and, despite treatment, got worse and worse. I was advised to try Zam-Buk. It proved effective from the first, and in a very short time it cured the eczema completely."

Equally good for all skin injuries and diseases, piles, etc., 50c, druggists and stores everywhere or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

France has decided to spend £56,000,000 on the reorganization of her fleet, the cost to be spread over a period of ten years. Under this new naval scheme the French navy will have 28 battleships.

Marriages being prohibited in Vienna during Lent, a thousand weddings were recently celebrated at the Austrian capital on Sunday, and in the poorer districts twenty couples were married simultaneously.

AIRSHIPS WILL RULE SAYS COUNT ZEPPELIN

Good for Anything, From War to Chasing Recreant Wife, German Contends.

Hamburg, Germany, March 15.—"Perhaps you think I am exaggerating the possibilities of my airships," said Count Zeppelin, who is here, discussing the future of his monster dirigibles. The aged count is full of enthusiasm and confidences. He drew a stirring picture of the days that are shortly coming when wonderful journeys at speeds now unknown will be made through the air and his ships will be made to serve purposes as yet almost inconceivable. He laughed as he said:

"What think you of husbands, deserted on the continent, pursuing their errant wives in airships to London and getting there five hours before the runaways, travelling by train and steamer? Oh, that will be easily possible. Still, if you think I am drawing the long bow you can only agree with most of my critics and with the imperial authorities who will not believe what they have not yet seen. But I know. Great things are coming!"

Norway-London Line Planned.

At this moment Hamburg and the whole north coast are greatly excited over the prospect of an airship service to Norway and London. The rest of Germany is skeptical about even this. It is generally assumed that the demand for a huge airship harbor at Hamburg is really connected with the Government's naval plans.

Count Zeppelin is out of touch with the German Government just now, intrigues having set aside his rigid form of airship in favor of another type. He would say nothing about the Hamburg plan except that the trips are perfectly feasible.

"There is no element of danger nowadays," declared Count Zeppelin. "Airship travelling is not a sport. There is not risk enough in it for that. In the next naval war there is no question that big airships will prove ideal blockade runners. To stop them will be impossible. They will be very effective in delaying the movements of hostile war vessels. They also will be able to take an offensive part by dropping explosives on war ships and by similarly destroying harbor machinery.

"To the newspapers they will be of the greatest use. Journalists, from a safe point will be able to describe a battle by land or sea and send their reports direct by wireless without a censor having a chance to cut out all the interesting parts. Airships will soon be valuable also as speedy means of transportation in Europe. Businessnessmen in a hurry to reach London from Berlin will be able to do so much more quickly through the air than in any other way."

Expects Polar Success.

As to the north pole, Count Zeppelin said that under proper scientific control his vessel will be sure to make important discoveries in the polar regions. Germany is disinclined to place much faith in the count's north pole plan. Even friendly critics fear the veteran inventor can scarcely live to see the day when airships will sail over the pole.

Major Perseval, whose little airship recently made the remarkable trip to Berlin from Bitterfield, which the big Zeppelin craft accomplished earlier to the delight of Emperor William and the German royal family, says it would be very difficult for airship men to tell when they were at the pole. Baron von Gemmingen declares it would be impossible to tell. He thinks the best plan would be to use the airship to take the explorers, dogs, equipment, and provisions to some point not far distant from the pole, where after observations the party could start over the ice on a sure line with sledges.

Count Zeppelin admits that he has abandoned the project of himself going to the pole with his airship. He merely hopes at present to make voyages of discovery as far as 85 degrees.

FOUR YEARS FOR BRIBERY

President of Defunct Shipping Company Sent to Sing Sing for Larceny.

New York, March 14.—Francis G. Bailey, former president of the defunct Export Shipping Company, who was convicted of grand larceny last week, was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for not less than four years and six months or more than seven years and one month by Justice Delvis today in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Bailey and his brother, Alfred W. Bailey, who is now serving a sentence in Sing Sing, were charged with the larceny of merchandise worth $45,000, which they put on board the steamship Goldsboro, sailing on May 3, 1908, for Honduras, without clearance papers.

A special train, composed of eight luggage vans containing the costumes and scenery of the transformist "Fregoli," has been lost between Milan and Paris. Efforts to trace it made by the Italian and French railway authorities have proved fruitless.

HOW THIN FOLKS CAN GET FLESHY

New Accidental Discovery Gives Startling Results—Puts Flesh on Thin People, and Rounds Out Imperfect Figures.

SIMPLE PRESCRIPTION GIVEN.

For women—and men, too, for that matter—who can never appear stylish with anything they wear, because of abnormal thinness and angularity, this remarkable prescription is destined to solve the problem. As a beauty maker for the figure it is simply wonderful, while it adds brightness to the eyes and color to the cheeks and lips. It requires no particular dieting, but acts as an aid to nature by its peculiar action on the nerves and blood supply. The blood and nerves distribute over the body all the nourishment or flesh-building elements obtained from the food. The trouble with thin people has always been that they do not absorb or retain enough of the fleshy matter to make them gain in weight even to a normal extent; but this new discovery of blending certain harmless drugs is a revelation to science, and hundreds have gained from ten to forty pounds in a few weeks. There is no danger of becoming too fat. When you get the right weight then stop using.

The general health and strength is greatly improved in anyone from the age of 16 to 60. Women soon get plump, with well-rounded arms and full bust, and men become straight, strong-looking and healthy.

In a half-pint bottle get three ounces of essence of pepsin and three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Take a teaspoonful before and after meals, and weigh before beginning.

INVESTORS!!!

MONEY-MAKING OPPORTUNITIES

In our advertisement of last week we informed you that we were opening a department for the handling of syndicate accounts. By the word "syndicate" we mean the joining together of a number of small cash accounts and the utilization of the total sum for the investment of money in New York stocks. By this method the small investor obtains a footing equivalent to the man with a large bank account. For instance, if a man had $100 to invest, the least he could get would be ten shares of stock, and his $100 would protect him ten points. A market, such as we have had at present, is capable of moving as much as 25 points, although this seldom occurs. Therefore, the small investor would be wiped out of his money and have nothing to show for it. By putting his $100 into a pool and operating the pool along conservative lines, large percentage profits can be made. This is what we are doing.

Send us what money you can spare, and we will look after it for you. We will do the buying and selling, notifying clients at the end of each week what has been done. Sometimes the markets are not active enough or are in an unsafe condition, in which case we may use our judgment and not operate. In this case we allow our clients 6 per cent interest on the amount of money to their credit. This is better than you can do in any other line of business, and have your money available. Credit balances can always be withdrawn by making draft on us, by telephoning us or calling in and getting a check.

The following are a few instances of what money will do, operating in stocks, taking the range of prices of Friday, the 11th inst., as an example, the amount of money in use being $500 in each case, the profits being for the day alone:

By selling 20 Union Pacific.....$60 could have been made
By selling 20 Reading.....$40 could have been made
By selling 20 United States Steel.....$40 could have been made
By selling 20 Southern Pacific.....$40 could have been made
By selling 20 American Copper.....$60 could have been made
By selling 20 Smelters.....$40 could have been made

It will be seen that $40 is the lowest profit on any one of the above six mentioned stocks, and $40 in a day on a $500 investment means enormous profit. Figure it out for yourself. While this percentage cannot be made daily, yet an average of more than 50 per cent is assured on absolutely safe grounds.

Send us a deposit and let us show you how it will grow.

By having a large number of accounts, we will make a great deal of money for our clients, and by so doing will make a fair return on the work involved, out of our commissions. We charge the regular brokerage commission of one-eighth each way for buying and selling, that is for every 100 shares, $12.50 for buying and $12.50 for selling.

Put some of your money with us, and do it now. The market is in a splendid trading condition, and small amounts will grow very rapidly. You can, as we have pointed out before, always withdraw if you do not care to leave your balance open. All we ask you to do is to let us demonstrate to you what can be done in the money-making line by conservative investment in New York stocks.

Write us and open an account today. You cannot make money faster in any other line of business. You cannot put your money out and have it placed at anything like the earning power that you will have here.

Cobalt Stocks

Cobalt stocks show signs of greater activity. There is an extraordinary demand for good Cobalt properties, and the control of Cobalt mining companies by American capitalists.

Temiskaming recently struck very rich ore at the 425-foot level, demonstrating the fact that the Cobalt camp is not a shallow one, and that this mining region is proving itself to be one of the mining wonders of the world. The gold discoveries in the Porcupine District are also turning out wonderfully well. We strongly recommend the purchase of Temiskaming, Cobalt Lake, Gifford and Beaver. We carry these on margin.

Write, telephone or wire us your orders. Let us make you money. We have done it for others.

NOBLE FAMILIES THAT COULDN'T PROVE IT

Thousands in France Could Not Produce Their Patents If Demanded.

London, March 15.—About 25,000 so-called noble families in France would be seriously embarrassed were they asked to produce their patent of nobility, writes Baron du Roure de Paulin in the Paris Revue. The number of bearers of spurious French titles, according to the baron, is enormous. After exhaustive genealogical investigations he comes to the conclusion that while there are today 70,000 noble families in France there existed before the revolution only 30,000 noble houses, and since then no more than 15,000 new names have been legitimately added.

It is astonishing how many illustrious French names have disappeared during the nineteenth century. The oldest French nobility traces back to the Crusaders, of whom 6,000 bore French names and escutcheons. Today hardly 400 French families can boast with more or less justification of a Crusader ancestor.

One single French family, the ancient house of Saunhac, traces genuine direct descent from William of that name, who was grand master of the Order of the Templars, and was killed in the battle of Mansurah in 1249. Of the half dozen premier dukes and peers of France who took precedence over all others no descendants now exist. At the time of the French revolution there existed 39 dukes who ranked as peers of France and 41 others, but of all these only 23 are left.

Other noble families whose heads were direct grand vassals of the French kings have all but died out. A notable exception is the house of De la Tour d'Auvergne, always prolific in producing great men, among others the famous Marshal Turenne.

There are still descendants living of the illustrious house of Lusignan and also legitimate bearers of the names of Guise and Richelieu, but the Colignys, the Montmorencys and the Mazarins among others have all died out.

The writer has also traced the downward pedigrees of other famous Frenchmen. Nothing is left now of the families of Racine, Moliere, Montaigne, Rabelais, Boileau and Saint-Simon. Only Beaumarchais and Corneille have still descendants living. Not a single trace is left of the heroes of the revolution except in the person of the woman novelist "Gyp," who is descended from Mirabeau's brother, Mirabeau-Tonneau.

Napoleon created five kings, one viceroy, seven princes, three grand dukes and forty dukes, but of all their splendor only twelve ducal names remain today.

STATISTICS OF RULERS

European Imperial and Royal Personages Double in Fifty Years.

Paris, March 14.—Some more interesting vital statistics concerning European rulers and their descendants have been compiled and published by a Swedish savant named Sundboerg. His figures show that the number of imperial and royal personages has more than doubled in fifty years, increasing from 727 to 1,596.

Princes, as a class, have more sons than daughters, the proportion being 119 to 100. While in the ordinary ranks of life 106 boys are born to every 100 girls. This may account for some of the morganatic marriages, though Sundboerg does not venture to suggest it.

King Edward has three daughters and one son. The Czar, too, has three daughters and one son, but there are six imperial German princes and only one princess, and King George of Greece has five sons and one daughter.

A remarkable fact is that the progeny of the house of Hohenzollern is persistently male, that of the Romanoffs is persistently female.

The heads of European states marry young. When Emperor-King Francis Joseph was 24 he espoused Duchess Elizabeth of Bavaria, who was 17. King Edward, King George and Emperor William all took wives when they were 22, their brides being 19, 16 and 23 respectively.

Three of Emperor William's sons, the Crown Prince, Prince Eitel and Prince Augustus William, had scarcely come of age when they married.

European rulers do not reach a ripe old age. Their average age of life is 63 years. There has never been a centenarian monarch, or even prince. The only chiefs of state in Europe today who are well on their way to their 100th birthday are the Prince Regent of Bavaria, who will be 89 next month, and the Emperor-King of Austria, who is nearing his 80th anniversary.

LONDON MUSIC HALL TO COST $2,000,000

"The Palladium" Will Be Elaborate and Will Seat 5,000 Persons.

London, March 14. — Where the old Hengler Circus stood, in Argyle street a little way off Oxford street, is to be erected the Palladium, which, it is announced, will be the most elaborate music hall in the world. It will be built to seat 5,000 persons and cost nearly $2,000,000.

Capacity is not the only respect in which it will differ from other big London music halls. It will have a number of unique features. For instance, it will have a reading-room, a hairdressers' bourdoir, a silence-room, a luncheon room and a tea room, a free library and tape machine. In the event of Harry Lauder or Little Tich not having anything you require, you can turn into any of these rooms and solace yourself according to your choice.

This enterprise is not a one-man affair, but is backed by a syndicate, at the head of which is Walter Gibbons. He expects to have the Palladium open about September. The prices are to be popular.

Profits Are Enormous.

The enormous success of all the London music halls of late has, of course, led to this investment. When you remember that last year they all paid dividends ranging from 8 to 22 per cent it is no wonder that theatrical speculators have gone music hall mad. The only problem now is to find the performers for them.

Although there are several first-class theatres here closed, there is a good deal of serious talk about new ones to be built. Both Mr. Bourchier and Mr. Irving are reported to have the new theatre bee in their bonnets. Some managers seem to think it is cheaper to build a theatre than to rent one. Perhaps they are right, as the rents for a moderate sized west end house will run up to some $50,000 a year. That's because there are so many middlemen in the arrangement.

Americans Are to Sing.

Five Americans are listed as principals in the coming grand opera season at Covent Garden. They are Mmes. Elizabeth Amsden, Marie Louise Elvina and Minnie Saltzmann-Stevens and Edmund Burke and Caston Sargent.

In talking of the Wagnerian season, Mr. Forsyth, the manager of Covent Garden, said:

"The works will be presented in their entirety, without cuts, in the same manner as at Bayreuth. 'Tristan und Isolde' will commence at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and terminate at about 11 o'clock, with an interval, after the first act, of an hour and a half for dinner.

"No restriction will be made as regards dress at the performances. The only rule that will be rigorously inforced is that ladies must remove their hats, bonnets or any headgear whatsoever."

Right from the links to the opera without changing a collar button!

A Remarkable Costume.

"Miss Tittell-Brune is handsomely garbed in 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,'" says the Era. "One superb dress is a study in black and gold, with long borderings of jet fringe and Indian bold embroidery. A further novelty is a wedge-shaped incision at the side of the skirt which discloses the gold shoes worn. Another gown introduces vivid yet dark serpent-green coloring against a black background."

KING EDWARD IS ALLY OF THE DRAMA

His Majesty Helps Swell Theatre Receipts by His Love for Stage.

London, March 14.—Managers of London theatres should give thanks every time they count up the box office receipts that Edward VII. is King of England. He is the best patron of the drama in the United Kingdom. Queen Alexandra and the Prince and Princess of Wales have the same inclination, and are almost as persistent theatre-goers as is his majesty. During one week recently the King, accompanied by members of his family or royal guests, attended four different performances, ranging from grand opera to frivolous farce.

It is well to remember that the King is not a "deadhead." He pays for his boxes and pays handsomely. Outside of the advertisement that his presence gives a theatre his steward's check is a big and welcome item.

"It is far from easy to discuss the importance the hands play in any part," says H. B. Irving at the Strand, "for, truth to tell, the hands, after all, merely follow out the dictates of the brain."

Let us hope that Mr. Irving's brain or that of any other clever actor, never harbors an idea of pocket-picking. Nobody's purse would be safe.

Frohman's Name Pun Basis.

When London paragraphists roll up their sleeves and really go to it they certainly do write "deucedly funny" jokes. Listen to this from the Sporting Times:

"Charles Frohman is now known as Charles To and Frohman."

The Star says it received a news item: "James Welch will deliver a lecture on 'Fools' to the members of the O. P. Club. These tickets will doubtless bear the old legend, 'Admit one.'"

Why only one? According to the newspapers there was a large attendance at Mr. Welch's lecture.

The following is from London Opinion: "It is good hearing to learn that Charles Brookfield is doing another play. There is always a capital story going around the town about Mr. Brookfield. The current one has it that he had great difficulty in cashing a check given him by a certain actor-manager, with the result that it got much creased. But one day at lunch at the Pall Mall, C. B. pulled out the check and presented it confidently—only to have it once more rejected. 'What's wrong with the check?' asked C. B. crossly. 'I had it ironed with my hat this morning.'"

Anything that has been ironed, from a reputation to a pair of trousers, is all right. Probably the check was not crossed except with creases. In this town a check without two pen marks across it is a suspicious character.

Play Reversion to Type?

Miss Annie Hughes is now playing Miss Rose Stahl's part in "The Chorus Lady." She is rehearsing a new play called "The Belle of the Washtub." What does it mean, anyway? A reversion to type?

The Daily Telegraph says that Signor Grazzo, the star actor of the Sicilians, kissed Miss Ellen Terry on both cheeks when she called at his dressing-room to congratulate him.

ARITHMETIC AND FOOD

School Children Must Be Fed Right.

A young girl in Indiana says no one has a better right to speak of Grape-Nuts food than she.

"I was in school, but in poor health, until mamma began to give me Grape-Nuts food. I began to improve at once, both mentally and physically, and I improved so in my work at school that I got 100 in arithmetic, and during that time I gained three or four pounds in weight.

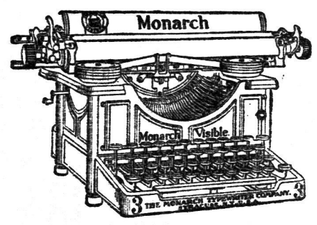

"There is no one has a right to recommend the food more highly than I. Mamma neglected to supply it for about three weeks, and I began to fail in health again, so I commenced the use of the food over, and now I don't intend to do without Grape-Nuts on the table."

It is well for parents to know that Grape-Nuts food contains selected elements from the grains, prepared and cooked in such a way as to present these food elements so that they can be quickly digested and assimilated; the phosphate of potash obtained from the field grains, and contained in Grape-Nuts unites with the albumen of food to quickly rebuild the gray matter in the nerve centres and brain.

It is of the greatest importance that growing children and students be given food that sustains both brain and nerves.

INTRODUCTIONS---$1,000

Price American Girls Pay to Get Into Best Society.

London, March 14.—The Hon. Mrs. Alistair George Hay, a conspicuous figure in London and in Paris, is highly indignant because she was asked point blank in court this week if she received $2,000 for introducing the beautiful and wealthy Miss Ruth Harmon, of New York, into Paris society. Being obliged to answer the question and having been sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, she had to say that she escorted the young woman around in Paris salons and received $1,000 for that special service.

Mrs. Hay's chagrin over this strictly personal, confidential matter being dragged out in court was intensified by knowledge that London society would deem her figure a bargain rate, for as a rule the chaperonage contracts between wealthy Americans and needy English society women run into the tens of thousands. Gossip would not take into consideration that the $1,000 covered, perhaps, only a fortnight and not a season.

Although naturally neither party to an arrangement of this character desires publicity, it is a recognized (and sometimes advertised) method of increasing an income for a member of exclusive society, often a woman of high rank, to accept substantial remuneration for presenting to her associates a stranger who is in all respects a proper person to be introduced to them.

This instance was brought to light in family litigation. Mrs. Hay, a sister of Lord Greville (who married last November Mrs. Henry Kerr, of New York, a daughter of J. W. Grace, of Kentucky), divorced her husband, a brother of Lord Kinnoult, about two years ago, and now there are money troubles. It was while Mrs. Hay was being cross-examined about her sources of revenue that the embarrassing question was asked.

News has reached Dresden that an empty balloon has been observed adrift at sea off Jakobstad, Finland. It is believed to be the Saxon Airship Society's missing balloon Luna, in which Lieut. Richter started on a long-distance journey at Christmas.

Heights of the two peaks of Mount Huascaran, ePru, one of which Miss Peck, of America, climbed, have been calculated by expert French engineers sent out by Mrs. F. Bullock Workman, to be 21,812 feet and 22,182 feet respectively.

HE TOOK A FRIEND'S ADVICE

AND DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS SOON CURED HIS BACKACHE.

How Malcolm McKinnon Found Complete and Permanent Relief From His Kidney and Stomach Troubles.

Shunacadie, Cape Breton County, N. S., March 15. — (Special) — Suffering with Backache so much that he could not work, Malcolm McKinnon, a well-known resident of this place, took a friend's advice and used Dodd's Kidney Pills. The result is that he is back at work and his backache is gone.

"Yes," he says, in speaking of his case, "I was troubled with Backache, due to wet feet and hard work. It got so severe at last I was quite unable to do my work.

"It was through a friend's advice I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I was soon aware that they were doing me good. My back was easier, and I had less pain in urinating.

"As Dodd's Kidney Pills had done me so much good I thought I would try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I did so with marvellous effect. Two boxes set my stomach right."

With Dodd's Kidney Pills to keep my kidneys well and the blood pure, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to put the stomach in shape, so that the body receives the nourishment it needs, you are assured of the two first essentials of health. Any doctor will tell you that.

ALL THE NEWS THAT IS NEWS

A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON MANY SPORTS

SATURDAY'S SENIOR CONTEST MARKED COMPLETION OF O.H.A.

THE CHAMPIONS EARNED HONORS

Desperately-Contested Games Not Only in Finals, But Throughout the Season.

The O. H. A. championship season of 1909-10 was completed with the playing of the senior final on Saturday night. The champion teams are as follows:

Senior—St. Michael's College, of Toronto.

Intermediate—Collingwood.

Junior—Frontenacs, of Kingston.

The season just closed has been the most successful in the twenty years' history of the greatest hockey association in the world. Altogether, 94 teams competed in the three series—11 in the senior, 43 in the intermediate, and 40 in the junior. There were five districts in the senior, twelve in the intermediate, and twelve in the junior.

Great Hockey Weather.

Altogether, over 250 championship matches were played during the season, more than all the other leagues in Canada, amateur and professional, put together. The association was favored by remarkable hockey weather, inasmuch as on only one night, viz., Friday, Jan. 21, was it compulsory to postpone games, and on that occasion all but five out of twenty-one were played according to schedule. These five were played within the time limit, so that no time was lost.

There were many good hockey teams in the O. H. A., and this was demonstrated by the desperate contests that were necessary to decide the winners in the various series. There were all kinds of ties and draws in the preliminaries, and many extra games were found necessary to reach a decision. This was continued right to the end, and nothing closer in the history of hockey can be found than in the finals for the championships.

A Record in the Juniors.

In the junior series the Frontenacs of Kingston defeated Preston by scoring the winning goal on the round 40 seconds before the expiration of play. Preston had a most remarkable record, and the hardest row to hoe of all O. H. A. teams. To win their district they had to play 60 minutes' overtime to beat Berlin in the decisive game. In the next round they tied with London in home-and-home games, and won the play-off at Stratford. They created a record of hockey in the next round, when it took them four and a half games to beat Barrie. They tied on the round with Dyment's Colts in home-and-home games, and in the first play-off at Toronto went 30 minutes' overtime to a tie, when the lights went out.

Preston Beat Barrie.

In the fourth game Preston put Barrie out of the running, and at Kingston were themselves laid away, though six minutes from the call of time they were two goals to the good on the round, and the championship looked sure for the Mineral Springs.

Previous to the Preston-Barrie series the record for O. H. A. hockey was held by the Frontenac-Beechgroves of Kingston and the Marlboros of Toronto in the final for the junior championship in 1903. The teams were tie in home-and-home games, and in the play-off at Port Hope, went eighty minutes' overtime before the Marlboros got the decision. Thus the total in this series was four and a third games of sixty minutes each, against four and a half in the Preston-Barrie series.

Collingwood's Good Team.

In the intermediate series Collingwood had fairly easy sailing until they struck London in the finals. They finally won out on the round by 2 goals, but London was ahead by that margin at half time in the second game, and Collingwood did not tie it up until within 8 minutes of time, eventually scoring the goals that gave them the championship with 6 minutes to play. Collingwood considered they had as good an amateur team as there was in the country, and sent in a challenge for the Allan Cup, but were notified that that trophy was for winners of senior series only, not for intermediate champions. It is likely that Collingwood will play senior next year.

St. Mikes' Tight Fit.

The senior series was in keeping with the other competitions, St. Michael's had no great difficulty winning their district, but in the semi-finals and finals they had to battle for their lives to defeat the John Ross Robertson cup, winning both by the smallest possible margin, one goal. With Stratford the first game was a tie, 8 all, and St. Mike's won the return by 4 to 3 after a desperate battle. The Parkdale series was even more keenly contested. The first game was a tie, 4 all, and it took 20 minutes' overtime Saturday night for St. Mike's to score the winning goal. As Alex. Miln so aptly put it, "The championship was a draw in favor of St. Michael's."

The Champion Players.

The Frontenacs, as junior champions, will receive bronze medals and the Crosby cup. Collingwood will get silver medals and the Dunlop cup, and St. Michael's will get gold medals and the John Ross Robertson cup. The players of the champion teams:

Kingston Frontenacs (Junior).

CATCHER SCHMIDT COAL HILL HERO

Petitioned by People of Arkansas Town o Play Before Leaving—Made a Home Run and Won.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Fort Smith, Ark., March 14.—Charley Schmidt, the Detroit backstop, entertained 2,500 people at his home at Coal Hill today with a game between Coal Hill and Clarksville. Schmidt captained and played with Coal Hill, and Clarkeville lost by a score of 4 to 1. Schmidt's homer in the ninth decided the game.

The people of Coal Hill and surrounding territory wanted to see Schmidt play so badly that they petitioned him to arrange a game before he left to join the Detroit team.

Spectators Miners.

One half of the spectatorhs were coal miners, and they came from all parts of the western portion of the state to see Schmidt, who is also a miner.

Every business house in Coal Hill suspended operations and the day was given over to a general holiday. The game was a red-hot affair, the score remaining 1 to 1 until the ninth round. In this inning Coal Hill put two men on the sacks, and Schmidt sent one to the boundaries for a round trip, scoring three runs.

LONGBOAT WILL MEET DORANDO AT 20 MILES

Indian Has Recovered From Threatened Attack of Fever, and Is in Training.

[G. N. W. Service.]

Toronto, March 14.—Tom Longboat and Dorando Pietri are booked up again. This time the distance is 20 miles, the place Pittsburg, and the date March 31. Longboat has recovered from his threatened attack of typhoid fever, and commenced training on Saturday.

FOOTBALL MEN ARE MOVING IN STRATFORD

Game Has Been Arranged For Good Friday Between Y. M. C. A. and G. T. R.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, March 14.—Things are already moving in the football line in Stratford.

The Sing-Sings, last year's champions of Western Ontario, are anxious to get out and get into shape to defend their laurels. But something more definite has been done in the way of calling a game for Good Friday in the flats between the Y. M. C. A. and G. T. R., weather permitting. Practice will be inaugurated by both teams as soon as the ground dries sufficiently.

M'CAFFERY FAILED TO LAND W. KEELER

President of the Leafs Got Rudolph and Grimshaw, However.

New York, March 14.—President McCaffery, of the Toronto Eastern League club, held a conference at the Hotel Victoria today with his manager, Joe Kelley, and William Keeler.

McCaffery wanted Keeler to sign a contract, but the former Highlander intimated that he would accept the terms offered by Manager McGraw, of the Giants. It was said Keeler had received a telegram from McGraw in the morning.

McCaffery did not go away empty-handed, however, for he signed Pitcher Rudolph and Infielder Grimshaw late in the afternoon. Manager Kelley said he had strengthened the Torontos since last season and expected them to make a strong bid for the pennant.

SWEDE LJUNSTROM WINS GREAT RACE

Sets Great Clip for Twenty Miles at New York and Finished in 1:50:58 3-5.

FRED MEADOWS IS ILL

Guelph Runner Stayed in the Race Until Unable to Continue — Acoose Was Second.

New York, March 14.—Gustav Ljunstrom, of Sweden, won the 20-mile race in the Madison Square Garden tonight, and was cheered to the echo by a crowd of nearly 8,000 persons.

He had an advantage of more than two laps at the finish, with Paul Acoose, an Indian, second by 1¼ laps, and Jim Crowley, of the Irish-American A. C., third, by two laps, Percy Sellen, of Canada, fourth.

Fred Meadows, after setting a terrific pace for seven miles, became suddenly ill and had to stop.

Ljunstrom's time was 1:50:58 3-5, a new record, the previous figures being 1:57:25 1-5. Ljunstrom's performance was another triumph for Sweden.

Pro. Cohn Won Handicap.

Harvey Cohn ran his first professional race in the five-mile handicap which preceded the 20-mile event. He had an allowance of 15 seconds. There were 22 runners in the handicap, and when they began to spin around the 10-lap track, nearly 7,000 persons were seated, the entire floor space being kept clear.

Cohn took the lead at 2½ miles and finished a winner with plenty to spare. His time was 25:46 3-5.

In the betting before the big race, Meadows ruled a strong favorite with backing for Crowley, Johanson, Ljunstrom and Zanti, the Italian, who had hundreds of enthusiastic countrymen in the building.

The Betting.

Paul Acoose, the Canadian Indian, was tipped as a dangerous factor, while a bunch of Toronto sports preferred Percy Sellen. Ireland's representative was Fred Clarke, a noted long-distance performer.

Johanson and Ljunstrom, the Swedes, were the first to appear for a preliminary jog.

The men got off at 8:25 o'clock with Meadows cutting out a swift pace. Zanti went after him at top speed, and Italy went wild with delight.

But Meadows, with a great sprint, rapidly increased his lead until he had 50 yards at the end of four laps. Zanti was second, 10 yards in front of Ljunstrom, Acoose and Clarke, in a bunch, Sellen and Crowley following together, 20 yards back, with Johanson trailing last, taking it easy.

Clarke Blew Up.

Clarke blew up at this early stage of the race and left the track an exploded phenomenon. He complained of a cramp in his left leg.

Meadows finished the two miles in 7:43 3-5 seconds. The Indian was beginning to show the effect of the fearful pace and seemed to be hopelessly out of it.

Meadows turned three miles in 14:54 2-5. He was 2 2-5 seconds behind his figures in the previous race. Ljunstrom was going well. Meadows' time at end of the fifth mile was 25:21 2-5, 2 3-5 seconds faster than the time he hung up for this distance in the previous race. Sellen, Johanson and Zanti were going along at a steady grind close together, while Crowley, the Irishman, apparently under a pull, was jogging around and around at an even gait.

Meadows Slows.

Meadows ran six miles in 36:51 1-5, but at a greatly reduced speed, and Ljunstrom had recovered a half a lap by that time and was speeding in great shape.

Even Zanti sprinted away from Meadows in the next quarter of a mile, and when Crowley overtaked the Canadian, the cheers were deafening. Ljunstrom was only 50 yards behind Meadows at 6½ miles, and was hitting up his speed so much that in the next lap he caught Meadows, and passed him, taking the lead amid a wild scene. Meadows, apparently ill, staggered on for another lap, and then fell into the arms of his friends. The early pace had killed him off.

His time for seven miles was 36:33 4-5. After the lead had been wrested from him he resumed running with great gameness.

No Record Breaking.

Ljunstrom was the leader at eight miles by nearly two laps, his time being 42:00.

Ljunstrom ran nine miles in 47:28 2-5, with Meadows at his heels, just two laps behind him.

This time was 13 seconds slower than Meadows' record for the distance.

Ljunstrom began to sprint in the next half mile, and quickly showed that Meadows could not stand the strain. He stopped to secure stimulants and started off again.

When Ljunstrom finished 10 miles in 52:54 3-5 he was leading Acoose, the nearest competitor, by nearly 1¾ laps. Crowley was third, with Sellen fourth, Johanson fifth, Meadows sixth and Zanti last.

Guelphite Leaves Race.

Meadows quit again after going another half mile, and was led away by his handlers. He was loudly cheered as he left the track.

Eleven miles were covered by Ljunstrom in 58:29 1-5, and his time for 12 miles was 1:04:02 3-5, nine seconds ahead of Meadows' best time. Ljunstrom finished the 13 miles in 1:09:44 3-5, and the 14th in 1:15:39. He ran 15 miles in 1:20:24 3-5, two-fifths of a second slower than Meadows' record.

Acoose Lets Loose.

At 15½ miles Acoose turned on the steam and began running at tremendous speed.

As he gained on Ljunstrom rapidly the crowd yelled like Indians. He cut the Swede's lead down to a lap and a half. Ljunstrom ran 16 miles in 1:27:18 4-5, and 17 in 1:33:40 1-5.

Johanson had quit by this time, because his countryman seemed to have the race clinched. Ljunstrom's time for 18 miles was 1:39:10 1-5.

Acoose was now two laps behind him, with Crowley third. The Swede's time for 19 miles was 1:45:14 1-5, nearly six minutes faster than the previous record.

In the last mile the Swede ran away from the others, and finished at top speed, with nearly 2½ laps to the good. His time was 1:50:58 3-5. Acoose was second, Crowley third, Selien fourth, and Zanti nowhere.

MRS. GEORGE GIBSON ASSISTS PIRATE "BOSS" IN WORK-OUTS

"Mooney" Accompanied on Trips to Track Each Day by His Wife, Who Sets the Pace—"Hack" Doesn't Allow Pitchers to Twirl—Gossip of Champions.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

West Baden, Ind., March 14.—The arrival of Harry Camnitz and "Lefty" Leifield brought joy to the Pirate camp. Leifield arrived with his wife and was warmly greeted by the players. He looked to be in the pink of condition. Camnitz came in on the evening train alone, having left his brother, Howard, at his home in Kentucky. Harry was very backward when asked about Howard's intentions, but it is believed that he has a great deal to say to Manager Fred Clarke and President Barney Dreyfuss when they reach West Baden this week.

Catcher Simon Leaves.

Catcher Mike Simon departed for his home at North Vernon, Ind., in response to a telegram notifying him of the illness of his 2-year-old son. It is not known when he will return. With the exception of Howard Camnitz, the only absentees are Chick Brandom and Sam Leever, both of whom are expected tomorrow.

George Gibson is all smiles over the way things are moving. While the players are stiff and sore after the first days' practice, there are no "charley horses" or bad arms in the squad. It is expected that the players will "thaw out" before the first of the week, and be able to start hard work when the remainder of the squad arrives Tuesday morning.

Workout on Speedway.

Catcher Gibson is nearly always accompanied by his wife on his trips to the speedway. Mrs. Gibson, muffled up well and wearing a white sweater-coat, sets the pace for her husky husband, and Hack, strong man and great catcher though he is, is hard beset to keep up with his small, slightly-built better-half.

The next to make his appearance at the track is usually Deacon Phil. This old warhorse starts out like a 3-year-old, just fairly burning up the ground beneath him. A little later the youngsters show up, and every manjack of them start in to tear off the distance with a mighty good will.

Big Bill Powell and Willis Humphries were so glad to get down to work that they were not content to walk—they started in to run, and both circled the track (one-third mile) on a dead run.

This walking and running continued for an hour, when a visit to the springs was made. Here every one of the players partook of at least three glasses of water, mixing Sprudel with the others. By 9 o'clock breakfast was over and the order was issued to get into uniform for a workout.

Youngsters Show Up Well.

The day was a beautiful one. Even in this valley, where fine days are the rule, the natives swear that today was the prize fine day of the Orange County's history. The sun was warm enough to cause one to think of sunburn; the wind was tempered with just sufficient warmth to make it comfortable to walk without a coat. In fact, many of the boys en route from the hotel to the ball grounds carried their coats on their arms.

When the grounds were reached little time was lost in getting down to work. The four catchers, first of all, caught the pitchers, at times one catcher taking two and even three heavers. "Boss" Gibson was careful not to permit any of the twirlers to take chances and whenever he saw a shoot being started he would yell at the pitcher to take care; to "cut out that kind of stuff."

DEL DRAKE'S DAILY HOME RUN WINS THE GAME FOR TIGERS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Fort Worth, Tex., March 14.—At the start of the contest, which the young Tigers won by a 10 to 0 score, the Texans presented a pitcher named Deardoff, who is well thought of here and who pitched as though he should be.

He started badly, walking the first two batsmen, but he struck out three of the next four.

The one he didn't fan was Drake. The latter came up with two down, and hit the first ball pitched to him for a clean home run drive, sending it far over the right field wall.

That counted three runs. Later he doubled, but the home run which counted three tallies was his real achievement. He gets one nearly ever day now.

Drake Has Rival.

Drake has an outfield rival, Harry Ball, however, who did not look so bad. Ball got two singles, scored three runs and stole a couple of bases, besides fielding nicely, which is far from an idle afternoon. Of course, the opposition wasn't as stiff as it might be, Fort Worth playing very loosely at times, having only two or three spurts of real baseball form. The team looked about as was remarked in yesterday's comment on the New York game here. If the Tigers hadn't scored in double figures today they would have been overlooking opportunities.

SLIPPERY RUNWAYS AT A.B.C. ARE PREVENTING RECORDS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, March 15.—Why the country's best bowlers are missing easy spares on the A. B. C. tournament alleys at the Wayne Gardens is a topic of much discussion among the experts regularly attending this conclave of ball and pin artists.

Explanations are being advanced by bowlers as they step off the runways and out of the paddock to atach their names to the book that closes their official connection with this tourney.

The runways have attained a glassy smoothness, and are absolutely unfit for securing a good foothold, they say. This throws their stroke off, and makes it impossible for even the best bowlers to find the groove consistently.

No Remedy Now.

Nothing is being done to remedy this evil. The officials are helpless. The contract with the people who laid the alleys has nothing in it to require them to wash off, sandpaper or scrape the runways every night, as has been done every year heretofore. Everyone is sore, but there is nothing that can be done now. If the alleys were prepared, the bowlers who have set the pace so far would consider it unfair to them. The conditions governing the tourney would not be the same for all, and a great deal more dissatisfaction would result than under the present circumstances. And so the matter rests.

Few more foreign squads will appear on the alleys. The balance of the Detroit teams will be run on from now till the end of the meet. The last two days it will be chiefly Detroit.

TRUNDLING AT DETROIT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, March 15.—A Philadelphia pair, M. Michael and W. J. Knox, topped the field in the doubles with a total of 1,191 to their credit.

The team made a whirlwind finishing game, with 232 and 244, respectively, after counting 725 in the first two games.

They won eleventh place in the standing. Four blown spares and an equal number of splits marred their series. G. Floss and "Jimmy" Smith stood second, counting 1,158. Floss held the total down with three splits and three errors. Smith averaged 202 during the series.

C. White and W. Troope, of Cleveland, stood first among the three opening squads of the day in the doubles with a total of 1,188, winning sixteenth place in the standing. White put the team up in the money, averaging 209 2-3. During the series the pair met with five splits and five open frames. B. G. Frazier and A. F. Fouse, of Philadelphia, ranked second with 1,185, Frazier being high with an average of 214, and his second game of 255 was high count of the morning.

Detroit, March 15.—The out-of-town men finished their rolling today in the tenth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, and tonight and tomorrow will see nothing but Detroit bowlers on the alleys. The 2,880 of the Cosmos, of Chicago, is generally believed to be good enough to win the first prize of $800 for the five-man team event.

SKIP J. D. CONSTABLE WON TANKARD AT ST. MARYS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Marys, March 15.—Two St. Marys curling rinks played off the finals on Monday afternoon for the G. B. Smith tankard, and Skip J. G. Constable's rink won the trophy from Skip S. K. Martin's men by a score of 20 to 4.

The following were the rinks:

James Egan, Leon J. Constable, H. L. Rice, Skip S. K. Martin.—4.

W. Leslie, S. J. Dunseith, D. G. Anderson, Skip J. G. Constable.—20.

ABE ATTELL TO MEET ENGLISH JEM DRISCOLL

[By Associated Press.]

San Francisco, March 15.—Promoter Coffroth last night signed Abe Attel and Jem Driscoll, of England, to fight 25 rounds at Colma on the afternoon of July 2. The weight will be 126 pounds. Coffroth counts on getting a large crowd of visitors who will be in the city to see the Jeffries-Johnson battle on July 4.

BUFFALO BALLPLAYER HANGED HIMSELF

Buffalo, N. Y., March 14.—Charles N. Brown, 27, who formerly played third base for the Buffalo Eastern League team, hanged himself in the attic of his mother's home, at Albion, shortly before noon today. Brown recently suffered a nervous breakdown, and had been confined in a hospital at Batavia. He escaped last night and walked eighteen miles across country to this village. Last summer Brown played ball with the Lancaster (Ohio) team.

KETCHEL IN TRAINING.

[By Associated Press.]

New York, March 14.—Stanley Ketchel will be here in a few days to begin hard training at Woodlawn. He says he cannot fit himself anywhere else. It is probable that Ketchel will tackle Al. Kauffman or some other heavyweight in Philadelphia next month.

As an "After-Shave"

Campana's Italian Balm has won thousands of warm friends. It soothes the smart which the use of even the best soap and razor will not entirely prevent. It's excellent, too, for frostbites, burns or chilblains. 25c a bottle, at your druggist's or from E. G. West & Co., Toronto.

TURFMAN DOBLE SUICIDES IN WEST

Former Uxbridge Man Suffered Stroke of Paralysis, and Became Despondent.

[G. N. W. Service.]

Winnipeg, March 14.—James Doble, half owner of the Broncho, the famous pacing mare, and one of the best known sportsmen in Canada and the Western States, committed suicide last night in his room in the Leland Hotel by blowing out his brains with a heavy colts revolver.

On May 15 last, Mr. Doble suffered a stroke of paralysis which robbed him of his speech. This is thought to have been the cause of his act.

He was an ardent follower of the turf, and in addition to The Broncho, owned Broncho Boy, a son of The Broncho.

He was also a great dog fancier. Mr. Doble was 60 years of age. His home was in Uxbridge, Ont., coming west 20 years ago. He was unmarried and leaves a brother in Uxbridge.

LACROSSE MEN ARE TO ORGANIZE

But City Will Not Be Represented in the C. L. A. This Season.

SUPPORT IS LACKING

Exhibition Matches Will Be Arranged With Nearby Towns.

Local lacrosse players are getting in line for the coming season, and a meeting will be held soon to organize.

The team will be run along the same lines as last year's, and the city will not be represented in the C. L. A., as very little interest is taken in the game in this section, although it is about as fast as hockey and fully as interesting.

Homer Pearson and G. E. Patrick, who led the organization last year, will again be the movers.

There was some talk of a league, comprising London, St. Thomas, Strathroy and other places in this vicinity, but the support accorded last year's aggregation would hardly warrant the move, it is said.

Exhibition games will be played through the season.

HAYES' SARNIA RINK KEEPS GLENN TROPHY

Defeats Challengers From Chatham After Long and Exciting Contest.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Ont., March 15. — In one of the best exhibitions of curling that has been seen in Sarnia this season, Dr. Hayes' rink successfully defended their right to hold the much-coveted Glenn trophy, which they won from Brampton a few weeks ago, against a rink from Chatham, skipped by H. Gillies. At no period during the game up to the 19th end was either rink more than three shots in the lead. The home rink, however, managed to get a lead of four shots in the 19th end, which practically won for them the game. The final end was, however, played, and the home team got another shot, making the final score 21 to 16 in favor of Sarnia. The last end was played at 2 o'clock in the morning.

The challenging rink was accompanied to Sarnia by two other rinks from Chatham, who played a friendly game with two picked rinks from Sarnia. They were, however, more successful than the challenging rink, and won out by 21 shots. Following were the skips and the scores:

JACK JOHNSON'S CASE NEXT WEEK

Heavyweight Champion Then Must Answer to Charge of Assault.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

New York, March 14. — March 23 was set today as the date for the trial of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, on a charge of assault in the second degree. Counsel for the negro conferred with District Attorney Whitman today and pointed out that in the ordinary run of business the case would not be reached until May. As this would interfere with the fighter's training, Judge Mulqueen, of the court of general sessions, agreed to the advancement.

Johnson is now in Milwaukee. He is accused of attacking a diminutive black in an uptown saloon.

SOX CATCHER, SULLIVAN, HAS BLOOD-POISONING

Stepped on Rusty Nail at Los Angeles and Is Now Delirious in Hospital.

Los Angeles, March 15. — Billy Sullivan, catcher of the Chicago Americans, is suffering from blood-poisoning as a result of a wound inflicted in his left foot by a rusty nail. Sullivan's condition is said to be serious. He stepped on the nail while coming out of the grounds at Chutes Park after the game with Vernon last Saturday. He was taken to his room at the Elks' Club, where he now lies delirious from fever.

I WAS NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS, DISCOURAGED

MY HEALTH WAS SHATTERED; I SEEMED A WRECK THAT NOTHING COULD CURE.

FERROZONE MADE ME WELL.

"I am sure," writes Mrs. E. V. Block, of South Camden, "that pain can be more easily borne than the vague restlessness of nervous depression. When I count up my miseries, as I now can, it almost frightens me to think about what I went through. I ask myself now what was I afraid of—why I was so depressed? I can't answer my own question. But I do know I was haunted by the fear that something was to happen. I couldn't rest, couldn't sleep, was unable to eat. I lost weight very quickly. Heavy lines under my eyes made them look tired and listless. Happily little gains give hope. When I had completed my first box of Ferrozone I found I had some appetite. Ferrozone made things taste good—made me look for meal time. My digestion improved. Day by day I gained in strength, got color in my cheeks, felt strong blood coursing through my veins. Ferrozone lifted me from a state of despondency to the most robust good health. I recommend such a nourishing tonic to everyone in poor health."

Try one or two Ferrozone tablets at meals. The results will surprise you. 50 cents per box, six for $2.50, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

M'KENNA CLASHES WITH BERESFORD

Flatly Accuses Lord Charles of Making a Mis-Statement.

London, March 15.—An interesting phase of the political situation yesterday was Premier Asquith's announcement in the House of Commons that the budget would be reintroduced and disposed of before the House rises for the spring recess. This announcement revived political speculation in the lobbies. It is generally believed that the Nationalists will abstain from voting, in which case the budget will be passed. If the budget is defeated there is no doubt the Government will resign and go to the country again on the questions of the budget, and the reform of the House of Lords.

The debate on the naval estimates in the House of Commons was noteworthy for the breach between Lord Charles Beresford and Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, the latter flatly accusing Lord Charles of making mis-statement.

Introducing the navy estimates Mr. McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, expressed regret that he was unable to hold out any hope for the future of a decline in the estimates. He defended the present large increase, which he said had been rendered necessary by the building programme of foreign nations. An expenditure of over $200,000,000 was imperative to properly safeguard the security of the country and to provide against contingencies.

Mr. McKenna explains that counting the Australian and New Zealand ships, which would still be in British water, Great Britain would have in the summer of 1912 21 Dreadnoughts, while in the following January five Dreadnoughts in addition to this year's programme would be added to the fleet, and thus Great Britain's security through this type of ship would be absolute.

SCIENTIST CHURCH SEEKING BILL

Montreal, March 14.—The Christian Scientists are making a big fight to be incorporated in this province. Last session of the Legislature the Assembly passed the bill unanimously. But the council rejected it.

Adelard Turgeon was the champion of the bill, saying that the Catholics of the majority should not reject the bill. They must stand for religious liberty. They had received religious liberty at the hands of a Protestant majority. This year there is to be a bigger attempt and the fight is likely to be bitter.

A DRESSY COMMONS

Present British Parliament Quite Up to Mark Sartorially.

London, March 15.—A new House of Commons is looked at from many points of view, but the Tailor and Cutter naturally considers only one aspect of it. From the point of view of clothes this expert organ finds the present Parliament quite satisfactory.

Taken as a whole, we are told that it is a morning-coated assembly. One or two individuals are singled out for special notice. Sir Robert Hermon-Hodge is commended for a new silver gray over-garment which is said to have "a classy appearance." Harry Lawson, son of Lord Burnham, proprietor of the Daily Telegraph, wears "a splendid specimen of the fashionable silk-faced frock coat," and Dr. Addison "exacts from his tailor a standard of excellence in covering the external anatomy."

Mr. Yerburgh, it is said, has been compared to a "Piccadilly fashion plate, which is the highest sartorial praise a man can have conferred upon himself or his tailor." No mention is made of Winston Churchill's hat, which achieved fame during the general election. No politician's photograph was published more often than Winston Churchill's, and he invariably appeared wearing a soft felt hat about four sizes too small for him perched on the top of his head.

ATTENDED FALLEN LION

One of Napoleon's St. Helena Household Still Alive in Australia.

London, March 14.—There is a man in a Sydney, New South Wales, institution presided over by the French Sisters of the Little Company of Mary, who will be 106 on March 26. He is William Johnstone and in 1815 he was cabin boy on H. M. S. Northumberland, the British warship that took Napoleon to St. Helena. For a time afterward he remained on the island as one of the personal attendants of the fallen emperor.

His story has been sifted by the sisters and less unworldly folk, and they have no doubt that it is genuine. It is certain, at any rate, that a William Johnstone was cabin boy on the Northumberland when Napoleon took that memorable voyage.

Johnstone loves to tell anecdotes of the emperor, and, of course, never lacks listeners. He generally begins: "I was cabin boy under Mr. Wilson and I used to look after the emperor's cabin. We used to have many talks and I think he got rather fond of me."

When the play "A Royal Divorce" came to Sydney, Johnstone was taken to see it and thoroughly approved of it. He said the man who played the part of Napoleon was just like him—"same stand, same walk, same face and he had a mark on his neck like Napoleon."

ANTI-GAMBLING BILL FOLLOWS NAVY DEBATE

Opponents of Measure Expected to Move Amendment Limiting Time of Meets.

Ottawa, March 15.—An arrangement has been arrived at between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. H. Miller, whereby the Commons will be given an opportunity to discuss the anti-gambling bill as soon as the naval bill has been put through the committee of the whole House.

This probably means that the fight over the bill in the House will commence just before, or soon after the Easter adjournment.

It is doubtful if any lengthy recommendations will be made to the House, either by the supporters or opponents of the bill in the committee.

In the House, however, the opponents of the measure will move amendments with the object of allowing bookmaking, but limiting the length of the race meetings, the advertising of tips, etc.

Mr. Miller is quite optimistic as to the chances of the bill getting through both Houses. He says that if the House adopts the bill by a good majority the Senate will not decline to pass it, nor will it seriously alter the provisions of the bill.

NEW FAD IN DOGS

Queen Alexandra Sets the Fashion for St. Bernards.

London, March 15.—Queen Alexandra whose fondness for animals is well known, has wavered in her allegiance to toy dogs of rare breeds, and has purchased a large St. Bernard. This means that St. Bernards will become fashionable pets all over England and their price will rise.

In the '80s this dog was in great favor. Since then except in a few country houses it has been comparatively little seen in England. An experienced member of the Kennel Club in London says that the favor of the St. Bernard will not last long. It is a questionable woman's pet for its temper is not certain, and its clumsiness makes it impossible to have it indoors.

THE SUN'S CANDLE POWER

London, March 15.—Stupendous figures representing the luminosity of the sun are given by Professor Nordmann, of the Paris Observatory, whose calculations of solar temperatures were mentioned in these columns not long ago.

The solar heat is now placed by him at 6,482 degrees centigrade. The sun's total candle power he expresses in an unthinkable number which begins with 18 followed by 27 noughts. This is equivalent to 1,994,000 for every square inch of the sun's surface. Some idea of the amount of light these figures represent may be gained from the fact that the most powerful electric arc light known at the present time has an illuminating power of barely 20,000 candles.

As an illustration, Professor Nordmann says that from every bit of the sun's surface the size of a finger nail a quantity of light issues that would illuminate the entire Avenue de l'Opera for a whole night. As the sun's surface measures 200,000,000 square miles, its total luminosity may be put at 51,000,000,000,000 times that of the Avenue de l'Opera.

Professor Nordmann has also worked at measuring the light and heat of various large stars, some of which are even more powerful illuminants than the sun. Sirius, for instance, he finds is about 30 times hotter than the sun—correctly 190,600 degrees centigrade, while the Polar Star is a comparatively cold body of merely 8,200 degrees.

NO SALARY GRAB THIS SESSION

HOUSE ENDS THIS WEEK

Legislature Hurrying To Finish by the Middle of Week, and Night Sitting Called.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 15.—The Legislature signalized the opening of the last week of the present session by going at the order paper with a will yesterday afternoon, and in a two-hour sitting two-score bills were put through committee or given second and third readings. This process, though materially forwarding the work of the session, was not productive of much copy for the press gallery, as there was practically no discussion on any of the measures, none being of a contentious nature. This afternoon promises to be a busy sitting, as bills involving disputed points will be taken up. Sir James Whitney's desire to close by the middle of the week will result in a night sitting being held tonight, and it is possible that it will last through until the early hours of the morning.

A Boiler Bill.

The second reading was given Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill respecting steam boilers. The minister explained that it was the outcome of a conference held at Regina with representatives of other provinces. In the past boilers made in Ontario had in many cases required to be reconstructed to meet the government regulations in British Columbia and other provinces. The bill provides a remedy by giving the lieutenant-governor-in-council power to fix a standard for boilers uniform with that of other provinces, and to make rules, regulations and specifications regarding materials, methods of construction, tests, and inspection at the factory.

Mr. Brewster (South Brant), asked if the bill applied to second-hand boilers which were being reconstructed. Hon. Dr. Reaume informed him that it affected only new boilers.

Hon. Mr. Matheson made a correction in a return showing the travelling expenses of the Ontario railway and municipal board. Instead of being $1,109 35 last year, as stated in the return, the sum expended was only $410 01.

Sir James Whitney introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the government house property. He explained that it was to enable the Government to carry out the plans for a new government house.

Lennox Causes Laugh.

Mr. Lennox (North York), gave the legislators a laugh in the course of the afternoon. When called to preside over committee of the whole, instead of taking the chair at the head of the clerk's table, he ascended the dais and was about to seat himself in the speaker's throne. His error was pointed out in time to save him from the commission of the act of lese majeste.

That Round Robin.

Just before adjournment, Mr. Studholme, the East Hamilton Labor member, took occasion to deny the article in an evening paper which stated that he had been one of the members who had signed a round robin, asking for an increase of the sessional indemnity from $1,000 to $1,500. He had seen nothing of any robin, round or otherwise.

"I am not displeased that the honorable member has raised this matter," said Sir James. "Although this is the season for robins to appear, I have not seen any robin, round or square. It is well that the general public should know how it is sometimes deceived."

No Hope for Grab.

Despite the fact that both Mr. Studholme and the Premier thus disclaimed any knowledge of the ornithological curiosity to which they referred, other members were not reticent in acknowledging that the agitation for a larger indemnity had reached an advanced stage, and that nearly one hundred members had signed the document whose existence was scouted by the Premier. It is now positively stated, however, that there is no hope of the grab being rushed through in the expiring hours of the session and the members who joined in the agitation must wait at least until next session. Several ministers are said to have favored the increase, but two snags were encountered, one being the opposition of half-a-dozen private members, and the other being an even more serious obstacle in the form of Sir James Whitney's determination to refuse the request if it was made to him.

Mr. Studholme informed a newspaperman that when approached on the matter, he had told the advocates of the increase that he would not join because it would be a violation of a contract wage agreement between the members and the electors. He had, however, said that he would not oppose the proposal in the House, hence the impression given that he was in favor of the increase.

AIRSHIP WRECKED

First One Built at Ottawa Fails To Take the Air.

Ottawa, March 14—The Lohner aerodrome No. 1, the first built in Ottawa, was taken out for its initial test this morning, but was badly wrecked. It never rose an inch, and the wind hitting it, she keeled over from side to side several times. The steel runners, the guy wires, the wooden framework were broken and the canvas ripped in many places. No engine was in it. It was tried by means of automobiles pulling it along the ground, men meanwhile hanging on to the framework by long ropes. It did not rise and is now a bad wreck. It will be hauled back to the aerodrome shed this afternoon or tomorrow.

SMALLPOX IN HOSPITAL.

Hamilton, March 15.—The interesting story was made public yesterday afternoon that a patient suspected of having smallpox was detected in the city hospital two weeks ago.

The patient in question was taken to the institution suffering from what was supposed to be typhoid fever. After a time a rash broke out on his face and body, and Dr. Langrill, the medical superintendent, diagnosed it as smallpox. He gave instructions that the patient should be removed to his home near Waterdown, and after that was done a liberal use of disinfectants was made. The nurse who attended the patient was vaccinated, and she can now barely lift her left arm.

Dr. Langrill stated this afternoon that he had not heard anything since of the patient. At the time he diagnosed the case as smallpox, and in view of no further information, he had no reason to change his opinion.

He says every precaution was taken to prevent the other patients in the institution contracting the dread disease.

ACTRESS PUMMELS ACTOR

Adele Ritchie Says She Punched Carter De Haven "Good and Plenty."

Chicago, March 14.—According to Carter De Haven, who is stage manager and leading man in the "Girl in the Taxi" show, playing at the Court Theatre, Miss Adele Ritchie, the actress, gave him the beating of his life Saturday night just after the last curtain.

De Haven admits that he was put to rout by his fair adversary. He said in explanation:

"Miss Ritchie had purchased a box for the forthcoming actors' benefit and had posted a notice on the bulletin board asking the members of the company to come through with their pro rata. I saw the notice and said to Miss Ritchie: 'Miss Ritchie, if any notices are to be posted here I will do it,' and then I just ripped off that notice, crumpled it in my hands and dashed it to the floor.

"We went through the play in the role of lovers and the audience was all unknowing of the bitterness that lay between us. But at the fall of the final curtain Miss Ritchie flew at me in fury and passion and punched me in the face.

"No, I did not strike her—I could not do that—but she threw a silver vanity box at me and I grabbed it up. Then she set upon me with redoubled energy and I retreated. It was a case of retreat or fight, and I retreated."

Miss Ritchie said:

"That miserable little fellow is beneath my contempt—utterly beneath my notice. Let him talk. Why should I notice what he says? He has been talking ever since we struck Chicago. When he is through talking I will talk in a different way.

"I punched him all right, and I punched him good and plenty. When the curtain was rung down I went after him and slapped his face. Then the fellow grabbed my vanity box and broke it—my silver vanity box. Then I went after him again and punched his face good for him and he turned and ran."

DROPPED DEAD.

Toronto, March 14.—An unknown man dropped to the floor of a Broadview car this morning on Queen street east, and was found to be dead when picked up. Nothing on his person gave a clue to his identity.

LONGBOAT MATCHED.

Toronto, March 14.—Tom Longboat and Dorando Pietri are hooked up again. This time the distance is 20 miles, the place Pittsburg, and the date March 31. Longboat has recovered from his threatened attack of typhoid fever and commenced training Saturday.

NA-DRU-CO

NA-DRU-CO

When you see this Trade Mark on any Medicinal or Toilet Preparation you purchase, it is an assurance to you that every ingredient entering into that preparation is of the highest quality that money can procure. What is even more important, it is an assurance that these ingredients have been compounded, according to the best formulæ known, by expert chemists of long experience, in the employ of one of the largest wholesale drug firms in the world, the National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada.

As you have probably noticed, "NA-DRU-CO" is made up of the first parts of the words "National Drug Company". It is pronounced "NA-DROO-KO", with the accent on the second syllable.

Being aware of the extensive use in Canada of simple household remedies and toilet preparations, we felt certain that Canadians would welcome a line of these goods, sold under a distinctive trade mark, that they could be sure were not only of the highest standard and guaranteed purity, but were compounded by expert chemists, from formulæ that had been well tried out.

What The Laws Say

For the protection of the public the law of each Province in Canada states that only thoroughly qualified men are allowed to dispense prescriptions—these men being physicians or graduates of recognized Colleges of Pharmacy. Therefore if a doctor gives you a prescription the laws of Canada require that it be dispensed by a duly qualified druggist and not by a man ignorant of the action of drugs.

The logical conclusion is that as the laws are made by the representatives of the people, the people want protection, and should welcome the opportunity of being able to procure in any part of Canada medicinal and toilet preparations compounded by expert chemists and guaranteed by a firm of our standing.

When you see the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark you have this opportunity and the guarantee for which you are looking.

Source Of The NA-DRU-CO Formulae

The National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, acquired the businesses and maintains the honorable traditions of 21 of the principal Wholesale Drug Houses in Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver.

All of these firms had long and successful careers, some of them for fifty to one hundred years, and during their existence they had accumulated a splendid lot of formulæ which all became the property of the "National". After giving these formulæ careful study and practical tests for several years we have now brought out, based on them, the NA-DRU-CO line of about 125 medicinal and toilet preparations. All the ingredients in these preparations are the best and purest that money can buy, and they are compounded by a staff of expert chemists, each of whom ranks high in his profession.

We have such implicit confidence in NA-DRU-CO Preparations that we offer them with

A Four-Fold Guarantee

is the firm behind the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark.

The National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, is one of the largest wholesale drug firms in the world, having a Paid-up Capital of over Five Million Dollars. We have wholesale branches in the principal distributing centres of Canada so that you can at all times satisfy yourself that there is such a firm. We are the largest buyers of drugs and do the greater part of the wholesale drug business in Canada. We employ a staff of about nine hundred people and distribute in salaries, dividends and other expenses over One Million Dollars annually. We carry a stock distributed among our Branches of about Two Million Dollars, and in addition we own real estate and buildings which are to-day worth about Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, and other large assets. All this stands as a guarantee behind each package bearing the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark.

The Second Guarantee of NA-DRU-CO quality is the NA-DRU-CO trademark itself.

If we put this Trade Mark on one article only and proceeded to advertise it, plain common sense would tell us that we must make that article good or we would lose out—for people will not keep on buying unreliable goods.

Multiply that necessity for quality by over one hundred and you have our position. On the quality of each NA-DRU-CO article is staked not only our investment in that article and our hope of trade in it, but our investment and our hope of trade in the whole NA-DRU-CO line.

We know that the quality of the first NA-DRU-CO preparation you buy will practically decide whether you become a regular user of NA-DRU-CO articles or not—and for that trial you may select any one of the 125 preparations. We welcome this because each article is fit to uphold the reputation of all.

The Third Guarantee of NA-DRU-CO quality is the fact that NA-DRU-CO preparations are never, at any time or in any place, sold at cut prices.

NA-DRU-CO preparations are so much better than the preparations whose prices are cut that discerning people prefer to pay full prices for the NA-DRU-CO goods, because they have the guarantee that every NA-DRU-CO article is compounded by expert chemists from the very best ingredients.

The Fourth Guarantee

of NA-DRU-CO quality is short and very much to the point. If after trying any article bearing the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark you are not entirely satisfied, return it to the druggist from whom you bought it and he will hand back your money. He will do it willingly, too, because we guarantee to stand the loss and return to him every cent he gives back to you.

NA-DRU-CO Preparations Not "Cure-Alls"

There is no NA-DRU-CO preparation that will cure everything, and we don't ask you to believe that there is. But there is a separate NA-DRU-CO remedy for each common ailment—a remedy that will command the confidence of the public.

Consult Your Physician

NA-DRU-CO medicinal preparations are not intended to take the place of your physician's prescriptions—far from it. When you are ill you need the physician's skilful diagnosis and treatment, and it would be folly to depend on your own diagnosis and any household remedy.

But in emergencies when you cannot get the doctor quickly, and in many other cases, a reliable household remedy is a real blessing.

To put the absolute reliability of NA-DRU-CO preparations beyond doubt or question, we are prepared to furnish to your physician or your druggist, on request, a list of the ingredients in any NA-DRU-CO preparation. Ask these men, who are men of standing in your community, and in whom you place implicit confidence, all about NA-DRU-CO remedies.

If your druggist has not the particular NA-DRU-CO preparation you ask for in stock, he can get it for you within two days from the nearest of our wholesale branches, listed below.

GAS, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN AND ALL MISERY FROM AN UPSET STOMACH GOES

Indigestion and All Other Stomache Distress Goes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water Brash, Pain in stomach, and intestinal or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist, and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES SPRANG SURPRISE

Only Ask the Council for $283 More Than the Estimates of 1909.

NEW REVENUE SOURCE

Collegiate Fees Grow Handsomely and Wipe Out the Deficit of Last Year — Figures Presented Yesterday.

The board of education sprang an agreeable surprise yesterday afternoon when they handed down their estimates for the year.

Contrary to all expectations, they are but little higher than last year. To be accurate there is an advance of only $283 88.

This is the case in spite of the fact that an overdraft of $2,332 73 is saddled onto the board because the finance committee last year would not sanction the sum which was estimated for the manual training.

The total asked for this year is $199,575 45, as compared with $199,291 57 in 1909.

The public schools require $164,396 63, and the collegiate institute $35,178 82.

Increase in Receipts.

The saving is due to the increase in the receipts. A good agreement was made with the county in 1908, and instead of only deriving $1,650, as estimated from county pupils' fees, the sum of $5,442 was received, thus enabling the collegiate institute to finish $4,399 29 ahead of its expenditure.

The sum of $5,400 is estimated for this year, and this materially helps.

BRONCHITIS

COLDS, COUGHS, CATARRH AND THROAT TROUBLE.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine, which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at its source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas if a liquid or tablet remedy were used, the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"CATARRHOZONE"

A BREATH-ABLE "DIRECT" MEDICINE.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums—all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment, guaranteed: price, $1; smaller size, 50 cents; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PAST MASTERS' NIGHT OF UNION LODGE, 380

Former Officers Were at Notable Session Held Last Night.

There was a large attendance of the members and visitors at past masters' night of Union Lodge, No. 380, A., F. and A. M., last night in the Masonic Temple. All the chairs were filled by former masters, and the work of the third degree was put on.

The officers were as follows: W. M., Wor. Bro. H. Stratfold; S. W., Wor. Bro. J. A. Cottam; J. W., Wor. Bro. James Dean; S. D., Wor. Bro. H. Ryan; J. D., Wor. Bro. Stephen Grant; chaplain, Right Wor. Bro. J. W. Wallace; D. of C., Wor. Bro. Ben Noble; I. G., Right Wor. Bro. Morris; S. S., Wor. Bro. Gardner; J. S. Wor. Bro. Duncan.

On the completion of the work, the brethren were congratulated on the fine work done. The lecture of Very Wor. Bro. Bridle was exceptionally well done.

A Banquet.

A banquet was held after lodge adjourned, at which Wor. Bro. J. H. Moran presided.

After the health of the King and the craft had been drunk, Right Wor. Bro. Wallace and Right. Wor. Bro. Metherall responded to the toast to the "Grand Lodge of Canada." "Visiting Brethren" brought responses from Bro. Erskine, Montreal; Wor. Bro. Whitehead, Corinthian Lodge; Wor. Bro. Hagerman, Dutton; Wor. Bro. McCutcheon, Thorndale; Bro. J. Hazlett, Bro. J. H. Fowler and Bro. C. G. Carlton.

Right Wor. Bro. Metherall introduced the toast to "Union Lodge," which was responded to by Wor. Bro. Moran, Wor. Bro. Stratfold, V. Wor. Bro. O. J. Bridle, Wor. Bro. Frank Lawson, Wor. Bro. Harry Ryan, Wor. Bro. J. A. Cottam and Wor. Bro. D. C. Davidson.

STRATFORD TO VOTE ON $85,000 BYLAW

If Passed Money Will Be Used for Power and Lighting System.

[Special Correspondence.]

Stratford, March 14.—The light and heat commission purposes submitting a new bylaw calling for the expenditure of $85,000, for distribution of power and the installation of a lighting system. It will be submitted to the finance committee on Friday night and to the city council next Monday night. It is expected that it will be submitted to the ratepayers some time in April. The bylaw will not provide for an uptown distributing station. The powerhouse and equipment will be at the east end in connection with the receiving station. The idea contemplated is to give the city three times the lighting service there is at present. It is proposed to use arc lamps in the centre of the city, and Turgsten incandescent lamps for the outlying streets, placed at close intervals. The $85,000 includes the $35,000 voted on favorably at the municipal elections of 1909.

Nearly Fatal Accident.

What might easily have proved a fatal accident occurred at Mr. Logan's furniture factory this morning. William Donaghey, 175 St. David street, was manipulating a saw when a board which he was cutting got caught between the saw and the gauge. The saw kicked and the board flew up striking the young man on the nose with terrific force. Four stitches were required to close a gaping wound between his eyes. The force of the blow rendered him unconscious for some time. Dr. Gemmell, the attending physician, stated that if the blow had been an inch higher up, it might have proved fatal.

A most successful social was held by the young people of the Congregational Church tonight. An excellent programme was given, followed by refreshments. The proceeds went in aid of a fund for repairing the organ.

Called to St. Thomas.

A wire was received in the city today from St. Thomas extending a call to Rev. O. C. Elliott, of the Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Elliott was in St. Thomas a week ago Sunday, when he evidently made a most favorable impression. During his pastorate here, Mr. Elliott has seen his church make splendid progress and it would be with great regret that he would leave Stratford.

Two well-known residents of Stratford died on Sunday. Mr. Frank Wheeler, of 242 Davis street, aged 51 years, died of consumption, after an illness extending over four years. Mrs. Thomas Walder, an old pioneer of Perth County, aged 70 years, died as a result of a paralytic stroke.

The anniversary services held at the Baptist Church have been most successful. Tonight the church was crowded to hear the lecture of Rev. A. L. Geggie, M. A., of Toronto, on the subject, "The Rose, Shamrock and Thistle." He was assisted by Mr. William Hazeldene, of Toronto, and the lecture was illustrated in song and story. The occasion was the fifty-first anniversary of the church.

Epworth Institute.

An institute of the Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues of the Stratford district was held in the Central Methodist Church this afternoon and evening. A number of delegates were present from outside towns, and the evening session was especially well attended. The programme was as follows: 1:45—Devotional exercises, led by pastor; 2:00—The special province of the institute, Rev. J. C. Reid; 2:15—Discussion on the following subjects, led by the Sunday school secretary: (a) What are the least qualifications in a teacher to justify his appointment?; (b) To what extent should the personal element enter into a teacher's work? 3:00—A conference of pastors, Sunday school officers and workers, F. L. Farewell, B. A. 3:30—Discussions on the following subjects, led by the district league president: (a) What means should be adopted to assist any young person in preparing himself to accept the active member's pledge?; (b) What is the probable future of the league judged from present tendencies? 4:30—Address, F. L. Farewell, B. A.

The evening session was as follows: 7:00—Devotional exercises, led by the pastor; 7:15—Reports of committees; 7:30—The Sunday school and Missions, F. L. Farewell; 8:00—The Sunday school of today and tomorrow; 8:30—Discussion; 8:45—Address, Rev. F. L. Farewell.

ENGLISHMEN'S VOICES CHANGING GREATLY

Going From Basso to Falsetto and Street Noises Are Blamed.

London, March 15.—There are evidences that the high pitched voices supposed to be characteristic of America are becoming equally characteristic of London. A retired colonel who has just returned to London after an absence of 39 years, declares that the Englishman's voice has changed from a deep, heavy tone to a shrill falsetto. Men who are hale and hearty, deep chested and bearded, charged with authority and carrying enormous responsibilities, surprise him by talking in high, rasping tones which do not in the least match their appearance.

He attributes the gradual change in voice to the present noise and clatter of London streets, the roar of underground and tube trains and traces it to the law of evolution, or mankind adapting itself to its environment. He admits that perhaps his ear is particularly keen, as he has been living among the people of the mountains and of the plains in both India and Africa, where the male voice is always deep and resonant.

He says that the Boers of South Africa are slow of speech and unexcitable; a shrill note never creeps into their deep tones. Among the mountain races of India the male voice is also deep and manly, but in crowded bazaars where thousands gather together and haggle over prices the shrill note is immediately evident.

HONORABLE FRIENDSHIP

Prince Henry of Prussia Makes Anglo-German Peace Speech.

Hamburg, March 15—Addressing the East Asiatic Society, Prince Henry of Prussia, said that as a result of his visit to England he could assure them that Great Britain offered to Germany an honorable and sincere friendship. The idea of aggressive action, he added, was completely absent from the minds of those in the British Government. That, however, rested on reciprocity, and nothing must be omitted that might serve to strengthen the confidence of the two nations in each other. The old saying, confidence begets confidence, he continued, was here applicable. He could answer for the friendly feelings of the naval officers, but the merchant had a similar duty to discharge just as much as his military comrade.

Prince Henry then invited the society to give its warm support to the projected company, organized to build at Hamburg an airship dock which will accommodate at least two of the Zeppelin dirigibles, at a cost of $25,000, and make Hamburg the first point of departure for over-sea airship lines. A subscription list was opened.

FORFEITS HIS DEPOSIT.

Toronto, March 14.—William Henry Brundage, hotelkeeper, of Kingsville, Essex County, forfeited the hundred dollars' deposit he had placed in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, as the motion on his behalf to quash the local option bylaw of that town, was not supported this morning. Chief Justice Meredith made an order dismissing the motion, but not to issue before Thursday. Brundage alleged the bylaw was not legally submitted and voted upon.

TWO FRIENDS RESCUED BY GIN PILLS

THE KIDNEY AND BLADDER REMEDY.

Mr. Herbert Bauer, of Davisville, says he owes Gin Pills a debt of gratitude, which he can never repay. He suffered for years with Bladder Trouble, and could not pass urine except by much straining which caused great pain.

Mr. Bauer sent for a free sample of Gin Pills. The first dose did him so much good that he ordered six boxes and began to take them regularly. A month's treatment completely cured him.

In high glee he called on his friend, Mr. Simpson, to tell the latter about his recovery and what a wonderful remedy Gin Pills proved to be. Mr. Simpson, at that time, was suffering intensely with his Kidneys. Gin Pills were promptly recommended and taken—with the gratifying result that both these good friends are well and happy men today.

Gin Pills are a special remedy for three special diseases—Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Troubles. For these, Gin Pills are sold with an absolute guarantee of prompt relief or money refunded. Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2 50. Write National Drug and Chemical Company, (Dept. G), Toronto, for free sample.

Whole Country Amazed

AT "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Moorefield Magistrate Says "The Days of Miracles Are Not Passed."

His cure seems a wonderful thing to his family and all his friends.

Mr. Henry Speers, the well-known J. P. of Moorefield, Ont., suffered for two years with Chronic Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which brought on a serious Heart Trouble. He wasted away until he was nothing more than a skeleton. Two physicians gave him up to die.

Then his son made him try "Fruit-a-tives" and now Mr. Speers is entirely well. As he says: "The days of miracles are not passed, and I am convinced that 'Fruit-a-tives' will cure Stomach and Heart Trouble where doctors and everything else fail." Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2 50, or trial size 25 cents. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

SUNDAY MORNING FIGHT IN FRONT OF CHURCH

[Special Correspondence.]

Chatham, March 14.—The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church were witnesses of a hand-to-hand fight in front of their sacred edifice at the conclusion of the service Sunday morning. The principals in the fight were Christian Hagner and Frank Wilson, both of Harwich.

Hagner had been keeping company with a young lady who was visiting at Mr. Wilson's home, and he believed that Wilson had been attempting to persuade the young lady from going with him. He came to the city Sunday morning in pursuit of Wilson, and met him just as he and Mrs. Wilson were leaving the church. He attempted to shake hands with Wilson, but the latter declined, and the row began. Before the startled church-goers knew what was happening Hagner had landed a blow on Wilson's chin. Wilson parried further blows until two of the church members stepped in and ended the fight.

During the month 35 dogs were killed by the dog-catcher. This makes 52 dogs in all that have been put out of the way since the mad dog scare has been on.

Township Councils

WESTMINSTER.

Westminster Township council met in Lambeth on March 7., Mr. F. W. Farncomb handed in his resignation as township engineer, which was accepted.

Mr. E. S. Hunt, collector, presented his report as follows: Uncollectable dog tax, $12; business tax, $8 30, returned; on hand, $103 56; other expenses, $2. Report accepted.

Mr. A. C. Johnston addressed the council, asking for a grant to the Vegetable and Fruit Growers' Association. The sum of $10 was voted.

Mr. Hickson addressed the council asking to have a ditch opened through the property of Mr. Thurlow. He was advised to proceed under the ditches and watercourses act.

Mr. Birtwhistle addressed the council re ditch in front of his lots, parts of 53 and 54, E. T. R. The whole council will meet on April 4 at 9 o'clock a.m. and examine the same.

Mr. George McCubban, of St. Thomas, was appointed township engineer to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Farncomb's resignation. The clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw to confirm the same.

Mr. Mair notified the council regarding a poor family at Byron, in need of help. The council will grant them $10, to be left in the hands of Mr. Mair.

E. T. Baynard and Alex. Shaver were appointed to enforce the bylaw relating to dogs.

The following checks were issued by the council: E. S. Hunt, $23 30, uncollectable dog tax, business tax and other expenses; Vegetable and Fruit Growers' Association, $10, Judge Elliott, $5 50, on the Brown and Dale ditch; James Murray, $22, two meetings board of health; Strachan Bros., $17, printing; Henry Harkness, $15, hauling earth to fill street, charged to police village of Belmont; Jas. Clark, $1 50; George Johnston, $2 50; Ed. Scott, $12 50; James Nixon, $4 25; Thomas Grieve, $7; R. Sumner, $16 15; J. R. Staples, $14; J. H. Dunham, $9; D. Jackson, $1 50; W. Hunt, $3, each for shovelling snow; J. H. Mair, W. E. Grieve and A. J. Blakie, $26 each, ward money; J. Murray, $30, pay list for three meetings John Jones, $15, for grave.

Next meeting of council to be to be held on the first Monday in April.

GEO. RIDDELL, Clerk.

LOGICAL ECZEMA CURE INDORSED BY PHYSICIANS

Dr. R. A. Folkerts, of Duluth, Minn., tells of his success in treating patients with D. D. D. Prescription:

"There was a man here suffering from eczema for the last fourteen years, and I applied the D. D. D. treatment. I also applied it to a man of West Duluth, Minn., who has been suffering with Eczema in his feet, and the second treatment in both cases cleared the skin almost absolutely. The first application is a balm, and its soothing effect is beyond expression. I shall never be without it, and shall use it among my patients altogether."

No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm, etc., you will feel instantly soothed and the itch allayed at once when a few drops of this compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., is applied. The cures all seem to be permanent, and we recommend it unhesitatingly. Anderson & Nelles and W. T. Strong.

Choose An Executor That Will Not Die

It is serious enough for an executor to carelessly manage an estate, and not maintain an up-to-date record of his investments and expenditures. But suppose he should die. Consequences might be serious. Anyway, it would cost money to get affairs in proper order again. Unless there was a second living executor, an administrator would have to be appointed, which is additional expense.

This Company makes an honest, capable, experienced executor. Strict account is rendered of every dollar invested or expended in the interest of an estate. Our books show how wisely and economically we have discharged our trust—show the exact value of an estate to date.

Furthermore, this Company cannot die, become sick, abscond or speculate. It is always within easy reach when required. Correspondence invited and promptly answered.

TARIFF SITUATION IS VERY CRITICAL

President Taft Intimates That Maximum Will Be Used Against Canada.

Washington, March 15—A special to the Toronto Globe says: The tariff situation, as it affects Canada, is critical. President Taft has had a long conference with Secretary Knox, Senator Aldrich, the commissioners to Ottawa and tariff advisers. Facts were placed to show that on dutiable goods actually exchanged between the two countries, the American tariff is lower than the Canadian. This is notably true of agricultural implements. It was also shown that Canada's intermediate duties, offered France under the recent agreement, are extended to many other countries in Europe and Asia, some of which have only one tariff, but are not offered to the United States.

United States Contention.

The American contention is that these intermediate duties to France, Japan and others, involve "undue discrimination" within the meaning of the Aldrich-Payne law. If that contention prevails with the President, the maximum against imports from Canada seems inevitable.

Situation Critical.

The maximum would be prohibitive against a variety of imports as diverse as lumber, gang plows and chicle. An Ogdensburg lumber firm would lose one million dollars on one recent contract. Tonawanda lumber interests are similarly involved. So with many small Canadian industries building up a trade in the United States under the new tariff. They would be hit very hard. The surtax from Canada would react on small American industries. Shrewd politicians here see political trouble for both Governments in a tariff war.

The decision rests with the President. He is unquestionably anxious to avoid even the appearance of a tariff war with Canada. My interviews with Secretary Knox and Senators Aldrich and Lodge convince me that this anxiety is shared by all the high protection Republican leaders. But the law allows the President no alternative if "undue discrimination" is found. The President said the situation is "very critical." I believe it is.

The view of the President's advisers seems to be that a crisis might be averted if Canada offered even a short list of articles on the intermediate schedule now given other countries, excluding articles specially important to Canadian protected industries. The President's advisers see no other possible escape from the application of the maximum. The President himself assures me he will go to the limit of the law, but he cannot flagrantly violate both the spirit and the letter of the law.

Amusements

A Good Company.

A large audience was present at the Grand last night when the Phil Maher Stock Company opened a week's engagement with "Thorns and Orange Blossoms." The company, while new to the theatregoers of this city, made an instantaneous hit, and capacity business is looked for the remainder of the week.

Phil Maher, as "Teddy Bones," proved himself to be one of the best comedians seen here with a popular-priced company in a long time.

The specialties introduced between acts were above the average. Particular mention should be made of Eddie McNeil and his trick dog "Buster." This act alone is worth the price of admission.

Tonight the play will be "The Village Vagrant," a comedy-drama of New England life. Tomorrow night an amateur contest will be held, and judging from the large number of entries received the contest will be a "hummer." There will be a special St. Patrick's Day matinee Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Bargain prices will prevail.

A Treat Tonight.

Undoubtedly the concert to be given this evening in the Auditorium by Mr. Cyril Dwight-Edwards, assisted by Miss Jeanette Durnot, will be one of the greatest musical treats of the season, and music lovers in London undoubtedly will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing these eminent vocalists. Mr. Edwards has a more than local reputation as a vocalist, and he is unvaryingly popular not only in London but in other cities of Ontario.

At this concert Mr. Edwards will sing a number of songs that will be entirely new to a London audience. Several of these will be sung in French, in which language Mr. Edwards is a master. The words of these songs will, however, be translated in the programme for the benefit of those who are not familiar with the language.

Miss Durnot, the assisting artist, has achieved a very enviable reputation for herself as a pianist. She is renowned for the temperamental nature of her interpretations, and her rendition of her numbers on the programme are expected to be a delight to her hearers.

Londoners have in the past not always supported art as it should be, and tonight's event should not be added to the list of neglected opportunities to improve oneself and assist the artistic in the Forest City. Beyond any doubt Mr. Dwight-Edwards is an artist of high merit. Outsiders, it is often said, appreciate this gifted vocalist more than do his fellows of London, and this is not a credit to the many Londoners who, at least, claim to love art and appreciate its exponents.

The "Ben Hur" Sale.

Londoners and residents of surrounding towns are showing their anxiety to see the "Ben Hur" performances in London Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 21, 22 and 23, with Wednesday matinee. It is astonishing to see the number of mail orders that have arrived for seats. Hundreds of letters, accompanied by the cash, have arrived at the box office, and Manager Eagan is endeavoring to keep up with the mail order rush.

To show one the number of orders received, it may be mentioned that in the wide aisle, in the balcony, there are only 59 seats in all across the theatre. This would mean 177 seats for the three nights' performances, whereas over 300 orders have been received for these particular seats, and it will necessitate moving to other seats. On account of the large number of seat orders received by mail, it has been necessary to withdraw all mail orders excepting for $1.50 and $2.00 seats. This does not mean that all the $1.00 seats have been sold for the three performances, but regular attendants from the city and outside have to be provided for, outside of the mail orders. It is the intention to open plans in Ingersoll, Woodstock and Stratford today, and in St. Thomas on Wednesday.

The first car of scenery for the "Ben Hur" performances arrived in London today. It is the panoramic scenery, and it is necessary to have this in the theatre at least four or five days ahead of the performances. Two sets of scenery are carried by the "Ben Hur" company. The seat plan opens Thursday.

A Worthy Attraction.

Saturday, March 19, is a date that should be reserved for the popular concert, which takes place at the Auditorium. The concert is in aid of the London sanatorium, and will be under the patronage of Mrs. Adam Beck, Mrs. Geo. Robinson, Mrs. H. S. Blackburn, Miss S. O. Graydon, Mrs. Harley Brown, Mrs. F. P. Drake, Mrs. John Stevely, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. G. C. Gibbons, Mrs. J. W. Scandrett, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Miss Lillian Harris and Mrs. Donald McLean, etc.

A very attractive programme is being prepared and every effort is being used to make the concert what it deserves—a great success.

Those to take part and whose services are voluntary are: Miss Edith McBride soprano; Mr. W. A. Bluethner, accompanist; Mr. John Patterson, Scotch comedian, well known as London's Harry Lauder, and the Y. M. C. A. minstrels, who recently entertained so well. The programme will be supplemented by the Victor Auxetophone, which will also be used in conjunction with Mr. Patterson and in the rendering of a complete act of Faust, "The Great Prison Scene," by Farrar, Caruso and Journet.

A nominal charge of fifteen and twenty-five cents is made, and to avoid disappointment seats for this worthy attraction should be booked without delay.

RHEUMATISM CURE STOPPED HIS HEART

INQUEST NOT NECESSARY

Coroner MacLaren Investigated and Found It Was a Case of Accident —Victim an Actor.

Mr. Gilbert Writt, aged 35, of 121 William street, died in Victoria Hospital last evening under circumstances that were unusually sad.

Writt has for 15 years played the part of Simon Legree in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with the McFie Opera Company, travelling in the United States, and it was only last week that he had signed his contract and was getting ready to meet the company in Kansas City on Good Friday.

Some time ago a friend of the family gave his mother, Mrs. Geo. Murray, a recipe to cure rheumatism from which she suffers at times very acutely. The principal ingredients in the mixture were liquor and colchicum seeds.

Mrs. Murray got the things, and made the mixture, but it proved too strong for her, and she threw most of it away.

Took Dose of Medicine.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Writt remarked that although he was feeling pretty well, he thought he would take some of the stuff, so that it would purify his blood, and he would be in tip-top shape for going out on the road.

His mother warned him that it was pretty strong, and told him to be careful. He laughingly told her that it might be strong for her, as she was weakened from her rheumatism, but it would do a big fellow like himself no harm.

He drank what was left of the medicine in the bottle, and secured some of the colchicum seeds and made some more of it.

Taken Violently Ill.

It is understood that he took about 25 cents worth of the seeds. On Sunday afternoon he was taken very ill with vomiting spells, and through the night was no better.

Yesterday morning Dr. Cline was sent for, and seeing how serious the case was had Writt removed at once to Victoria Hospital.

Everything possible was done for the patient, but the effects of the colchicum seeds upon the heart were such that he died from the inability of that organ to do its work.

Mr. Writt remained conscious to the last, and knew that he was dying. He passed away shortly after 6 o'clock.

Inquest Unnecessary.

Coroner MacLaren investigated the case, and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

"Colchicum seeds affect the heart," he told The Advertiser, "and the quantity that Mr. Writt took simply weakened his heart to such an extent that it could not do its work. Had a stomach-pump been used when he first took the stuff it is likely that his life would have been saved.

Mr. Writt joined the McFie Opera Company about 15 years ago. He was unmarried, and besides his mother, Mrs. Murray, of 121 William street, is survived by one sister, Mrs. Robert Morris, of 362 Grey street.

A brother, Mr. Edward Writt, died about two years ago very unexpectedly, from appendicitis.

During the winter, while he was home, Mr. Writt had been working at Wortman & Ward's factory as a machinist.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

HAMILTON REGIMENT MAY NOT VISIT LONDON

Now Said That the 13th Will Not Be Here On May 24.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, March 15.—The Spectator says:

The Thirteenth Royal Regimental Band, of this city, will have a trip to Chicago during the summer months, where it will play at a convention of the St. Bernard Commandery, Knights Templar. The trip will last about a week and will be made during August. That is the only trip the band has arranged so far for this summer.

That there is a likelihood of the Thirteenth Royal Regiment going to London, Ont., on May 24, is denied by its officers. It was thought at first that it would be a good plan to go to London and join in the annual celebration there of the regiments at Wolseley Barracks, but the obstacle in the way is that the regiment has not yet been invited.

If the inspection of the local regiments by Gen. French is held here in May, as it is thought likely it may be, the regiment will have a trip on Dominion Day, and if the military council is amenable to the idea, the trip will be to Buffalo, where the Thirteenth has spent other pleasant times. This coming fall the local regiment will try to obtain permission to entertain the Sixty-fifth Regiment of Buffalo, and it is expected the permission will be readily granted, as the local regiment was in Buffalo for several days and was well entertained by the American corps.

ALD. RICHTER GAVE

the income and outgo of the city. If we spend more than we receive we are headed for bankruptcy. We must establish an equality."

Board of Education.

Ald. Richter then dealt with the expenditure of the board of education. The average cost per capita for 17 cities for education was $3 56, while in London the per capita was $3 87.

"I have little to suggest regarding the board," continued the alderman. "I am convinced that the Collegiate Institute should be made self-sustaining. We should give every boy and girl a free public school education, but after that we should cease. If the parents paid more for educating their children —if they paid the actual cost—there would be fewer idlers."

Hospital Expenditure.

Ald. Richter took up the hospital expenditure also, and found that the average cost was 37 cents per capita for nine cities, while London paid 74 cents. He advocated an increase of the fees for the public ward from $3 50 to $5 or $7 a week, if it could be arranged.

London's police department was costing above the average, in Ald. Richter's table. The average per capita for all the cities was 66½ cents, while London paid 88 cents. He could not understand why, with so many churches, London's expenses should be so high for police protection. If the expenditure were reduced to the average, the city could save half a mill.

"The department has increased in cost, but 1 cent per capita in twenty years," declared Mayor Beattie.

The fire department was above the average in cost of maintenance. The library board and the board of health were doing good work at comparatively small cost.

Receipts From Licenses.

Ald. Richter then drifted on to receipts from different sources, and touched on receipts from licenses. According to the figures, the average receipts from licenses per capita for 13 cities was 40 cents, while London received but 31 cents.

"How is that?" asked Ald. Richter.

"Give us more hotels," answered one member, and the committee laughed.

"There might be something in that," retorted Ald. Richter. "However, we might increase our other fees."

Local Improvements.

The question of local improvements was another matter in which London did not compare favorably with other cities, according to the statements presented. London paid for the intersections, and half the cost of sidewalks, curbs and gutters, and sewers. This was too high, as it meant that 60 per cent of the total cost was paid by the ratepayers out of the general tax rate.

In Toronto and other cities, but a very small portion, not averaging 25 per cent of the cost, was paid by the city. He thought London might wisely consider the change in its local improvement legislation.

Street Railway Percentage.

"We could obtain a mill on the dollar, and do all we are doing now, if we made an agreement with the London street railway to give us a percentage on their earnings," said Ald. Richter. "We receive in the way of more tickets and the like what is tantamount to 10 per cent of the receipts, and this, if turned over to the city, would reduce our rate at least a mill. Toronto receives $1 48 per capita per annum, from the company—rather a favorable sum of money.

Taxes Per Capital.

"The amount of taxes paid per capita in London is not so unreasonable as one would imagine," Ald. Richter went on. "In sixteen cities the average per capita is $9 52, while in London we pay $8 63. We are consequently quite low, although our tax rate looks abnormal. In Toronto the taxes paid per capita amount to $11 59. The tax rate should not be above 20 mills. We could make it that and still have money sufficient to run the city. And we should retrench in our expenses as much as possible."

Publish the Rolls.

"We should publish the assessment roll," continued Ald. Richter. "We should follow that up by a board of valuators, who would raise the assessment and equalize it. That would assist us materially, and I am confident would increase the assessment of the city at least $2,000,000."

Mr. Richter took issue with those who declare that the debenture debt of the city was the reason of the heavy tax rate. For seventeen cities the average per capita debenture indebtedness in 1908 was $90 71, while in London it was but $69 71.

He did not consider the London and Port Stanley Railway a paying investment at the present time, and thought the city was obtaining very little for the money invested.

Increase in Expenditures.

A statement of the comparative figures of the city in 1888 and 1908 were given.

Since 1888 the board of education expenditure has increased 228 per cent. The per capita cost has gone from $2 13 to $3 82.

The hospital expenditure has increased 162 per cent. The per capita cost has gone from 24 cents to 63 cents.

The board of health had increased 69 per cent, the per capita cost being the same, 6 cents.

The police expenditure had risen 83 per cent, the per capita cost going from 91 to 92 cents.

The council's controllable expenditure had increased 82 per cent, but there was a decrease in the per capita cost from $3 97 to $3 91.

The population had increased 85 per cent, and the assessment had increased 88 per cent.

An Explanation.

Mr. C. M. R. Graham and Mr. J. I. A. Hunt explained the board of education expenditure. They pointed out that it had increased owing to the fact that there was a general levelling up of salaries throughout the country. The city of London had to meet conditions, and this meant a substantial addition to the cost of education. However, the worst was over so far as that was concerned. The per capita basis was not fair to the board, and they pointed out that if a comparison was made on pupil basis, London would stand more favorably.

"We have made retrenchments, and are at the present time making an effort to increase the receipts," said Mr. Graham. "We had a big struggle to effect a reduction in the kindergartens, but we did so, and we hope to do something with reference to making the Collegiate pay more money."

Separate the Rate.

Ald. Richter advocated that the school rate be separated from the general rate, and form the third installment of the taxes, as in Toronto.

"That would call the citizens' attention to the school rate," said Mr. Hunt.

Mr. J. C. Judd, K. C., explained the hospital rate, and declared that the increase in cost of foodstuffs had largely to do with the increase in expenditure in the hospital. Every economy was exercised, and the best possible care to save money was put forth. The hospital was the best in the Province, Mr. Judd declared, and was a credit to the city.

He thought that other cities contributed just as much to hospital expenditure as London, only they made grants, while the citizens paid it through their taxes.

Ex-Ald. Thomas Gillean, chairman of the library board, Mr. J. H. McMechan, of the board of health, and others discussed the question briefly.

Those present were. Mayor Beattie, Ald. Richter, Ald. Underwood, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Fitzgerald, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Pocock, Wm. Wyatt, Thomas Gillean, John Forristal, C. M. R. Graham, W. T. Strong, J. I. A. Hunt, J. H. McMechan, J. C. Judd, S. Screaton, Superintendent Heard and others.

IN DOCTOR'S OFFICE A MOMENT BEFORE

Joseph Allaster Had a Bottle of Medicine in His Pocket When Killed by Oxford Car.

ONLY OUT OF HOSPITAL

Very Sad Are the Circumstances of the Death of Van Street Man on Hamilton Road Yesterday.

With a bottle of medicine in his pocket, which he had just obtained from Dr. Holmes, of 260 Hamilton road, who had been treating him for a temporary attack of deafness, Mr. Joseph Allaster, a young man, of about 29 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allaster, of 876 Van street, was struck by an Oxford street car, No. 80, in charge of Motorman McFadden, at 3 o'clock, and almost instantly killed, as was reported in last evening's Advertiser.

Allaster had just been discharged from Victoria Hospital, where he had been treated for grippe and pneumonia and as a result of the former illness he had been left almost completely deaf, and it was this affliction that was largely responsible for his death.

Struck by the Car.

But a short time before he had left the store of his brother-in-law, Mr. E. E. Linnell, and had gone, as stated above, to the office of Dr. Holmes, who had been giving him treatment for his deafness. He had left there, it is thought, to go to the shop of Mr. Lows, a barber, on the other side of the street. He had not noticed that an Oxford car was approaching from the east, and he stepped onto the Dreaney avenue crossing. The bell of the car was ringing, it is alleged, and the motorman evidently did not think there was any danger, till Allaster stepped directly in front of the car.

The motorman immediately plugged the car and brought it to a standstill in its own length.

Between the Rails.

When found Allaster was lying between the rails at the rear of the car. The wheels had not passed over him, but he had been rolled along the ground beneath the car, and his face and head was badly cut and his body terribly crushed.

Dr. Black, who lives near by, was on the scene of the accident almost immediately, and stated to The Advertiser that death must have been practically instantaneous.

The body was placed in the car and taken to the "Y" at Mamalon street, where Coroner MacLaren was called. After viewing the remains and making inquiries the coroner ordered that an inquest be held. The body was then removed to Smith, Son & Clark's undertaking parlors.

The Crew of the Car.

The car was in charge of Conductor W. H. McRae and Motorman William McFadden, and according to the spectators the car was not moving at an excessive rate of speed.

The motorman said that he was ringing his bell as hard as possible as he approached the crossing, but apparently the man did not hear. Seeing this McFadden plugged his car, but too late to prevent an accident.

Mr. P. Sternberg, of 120 Mamalon street, was the only passenger on the car at the time.

An Eye-Witness.

Mr. Peter Bremner, who was standing in the doorway of Mr. Charles Depper's grocery store, at 239 Hamilton road, saw Mr. Allaster turn onto the crossing. He stated that he could hear the gong ringing loudly, but the man apparently paid no attention.

"I noticed," he said, "that he was getting too near the car and I was afraid that he would not get across safely."

Mr. J. Mackenzie, of 120 Mamalon street, was another spectator of the accident. He had seen the man walk into danger and had shouted for him to look out, but the warning was unheeded.

Was Highly Respected.

The deceased had resided in this city all his life, and was well known and respected. Previous to his illness he had been working for the Dennis Iron Works, erecting iron work at Victoria Hospital. He was unmarried, and is survived by his mother and father, three married sister—Mrs. Wm. Begg, Mrs. E. E. Linnell and Mrs. Charles Scott, all of this city, and three brothers, Frank, of this city, and Jack and Harry, of Toronto.

Inquest Opened.

An inquest was opened at the undertaking parlors of Smith, Son & Clark, when the jury viewed the body. The inquest was then adjourned till Thursday night at the police station.

The jury were empanelled as follows: Fred Brown (foreman), T. I. Fraleigh, A. E. Hall, Joseph Kelly, I. A. Weaver, John Mattice, W. E. Crittle, Hubert Thorne, Stephen Impett, A. G. McLeod, David Tripp, Edmund Pudney, Arthur Mann, Henry Clark and Edward Lortie.

CITIZEN SOLDIERS TO BE MOBILIZED

Altogether Likely That Big Scheme for May 24 Will Be Carried Out.

It was stated to The Advertiser today that if the four days' camp of the city regiments of the district does not materialize, that the Seventh will go into camp on its own account at some place yet to be decided upon.

It is regarded, however, as extremely likely that, as stated in The Advertiser, the nineteenth brigade, made up of the various city regiments of this district, will come here and go into camp, probably about May 24.

In that case, the Seventh will go under canvas with them.

What course will be taken, however, will not be known until official word is received from Ottawa regarding the grant for the proposed camp.

DUKE OF NORFOLK TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Montreal, Que., March 15.—It is announced that among the most distinguished visitors to Montreal for the eucharist congress will be the Duke of Norfolk, who is the leading layman of the Roman Catholic Church in England today. The duke and his party will visit Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara. His grace has accepted the invitation of President Hays for his suite to be guests of the G. T. R. on the Canadian tour. His Grace the Archbishop of Westminster will also attend.

MINES, FORESTS, FARMS OF ONTARIO PROVINCE

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 15.—The annual report of the minister of lands, forests and mines was tabled in the Legislature yesterday afternoon. It contains some very useful and interesting information on the mineral and forest wealth of the province, especially of Northern Ontario. So far as crown lands are concerned the report states that during the ten months of last year there were sold for agricultural purposes 78,658 acres, for $128,154 28. There was collected on account of these and former sales, $118,995 12. There was sold for mining purposes 10,708 acres for $363,635 78, and there was collected on account of those sales $235,098 04. For mining purposes there was leased 3,296 acres for $3,-295 64, and the amount collected on account of mining leases was $19,-016 74. There was 8,265 acres leased for other than mining purposes, and collected on account of crown leases $6,911 12. The total area of lands of the crown disposed of during the ten months was 104,821 acres, and the total collection on account of lands sold and leased was $388,729 52.

"The region lying north of Lake Temiskaming has continued to attract the largest number of settlers," says the report. "The land is known to be good. It has been demonstrated beyond question that grains and roots of all varieties can be successfully grown there. The country is being opened up by the T. and N. O. Railway, and colonization roads are being built in various directions. Labor has been in demand and good wages paid. The mining industry and the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway have employed a large number of men, and there is a good market for all that can be grown.

"A number of townships were opened up for settlement along the line of the National Transcontinental Railway; a considerable area of land has been taken up therein, and many settlers have gone into occupation. The department has endeavored to make certain that only land capable of cultivation is being taken up, and that settlers prosecute their improvements in compliance with the law and regulations. Any lands unsuitable for agriculture are not sold. The best land available in the old free grant districts has been taken up."

During the year only 30 military grants were made, bringing the total up to 13,987.

The production of ores and minerals proceeded vigorously during the year. The silver mines of Cobalt again surpassed all their previous records. Judging from the total output for the ten months, the total yield for 1909 will not be less than 25,000,000 ounces, and will probably exceed that amount. The output of silver in Ontario for 1909 will be about one-half that of the entire United States during the same period. The total revenue from mining sources for ten months was $254,114 78. The total collections of the department from all sources for the ten months ending Oct. 31, amounted to $2,028,224. Of this amount $235,098 04 was derived from mining lands, $338,-426 66 from royalties, , $885,892 from woods and forests, $49,739 from supplementary revenue, $108,-701 from mining licenses, and $110,772 from recording fees. The gross expenditure for all services during the ten months was $522,813 23. The principal services were agents' salaries and disbursements, $40,475 76; forest ranging, $46,656; fire ranging, $132 827; forest reserves, $6,692; mines and mining, $17,197; exploration and investigations, $12,639; mining recorders, $22,651; surveys, $83,357; veterans commutation, $8,050; provincial mines, $13,777; refunds, $14,964; parks, $11,847; contingencies, $31,609.

Woods and Forests.

The total revenue from woods and forests for the ten months was $885,-892, consisting of bonus $285,571; timber dues $529,422; ground rent $68,-528; transfer fees, $2,370. The revenue from timber dues is small as compared with other amount appearing in previous reports, being only for ten months. The explanation is that the accounts for the previous season's cuttings were not collected, as they do not accrue due until the first of December, following the winter in which the cutting took place. The bonus consists of deposits made on account of the sale held in September.

The lumber trade is in a better condition because there is an increased demand and an advance in prices. What effect the tariff legislation of the United States will have when applied remains to be seen. The output of the season of 1909-10 is estimated to be from sixty to one hundred millions in excess of the previous year.

EX-MAYOR STEVELY IN CALIFORNIA

Londoner Is Now Picking Oranges From His Own Grove in the South.

The Daily Press, of Riverside, Cal., says: "Mr. Samuel Stevely, who has just completed two terms as mayor of London, Canada, is visiting his brother-in-law, G. W. Tackabury. He is a real "booster" for the thriving Canadian city of which he has been the chief executive, but is quite free to admit that when it comes to winter climate, Riverside has decided advantages over London. It was 16 below zero the day before he left there.

"Mr. Stevely recently had Mr. Tackabury purchase a fine orange grove for him on Arlington Heights and he enjoyed the pleasure today of picking oranges from his own trees. He is much pleased with his investment here, and is contemplating making Riverside his winter home. He is certainly a type of progressive citizen we should be proud to welcome either as a winter or all the year resident."

RAYCRAFT GETS TITLE

To Lands in Stratford, Despite the Attorney-General.

Toronto, March 15.—Thomas Raycraft, who was awarded a certificate of title to fifty acres of land by the local master at Stratford, had his right of possession confirmed today, when the attorney-general's appeal was dismissed, with costs, by Mr. Justice Britton.

"The crown is not entitled," said his lordship, "any more than an individual would be, to tie up and prevent alienation of this land for any such term, definitely or indefinitely, for the alleged reason."

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctors said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would cause instant death. They found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 284 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

BUTTER IN DEMAND OFFERINGS LIGHT

EGGS WERE PLENTIFUL

At 24 to 25 Cents Dozen—Hay Offered in Abundance—Vegetables Were Scarce—The Prices in All Lines.

There was a strong demand for butter this morning, but the market was very small, and the supply was consequently anything but adequate.

The stages, which often bring in quite a supply, were eagerly besieged but did not yield a very rich harvest.

Despite the scarcity, however, there was no noticeable increase in price, first quality rolls going at 25c and crocks at 24c.

Eggs were fairly plentiful, though the small market somewhat told against the quantity offered here also. The prevailing price for these was 24c by basket lots and 25c by the single dozen.

Maple syrup was another popular feature of the morning's market, and there was a very fair supply offered, that found a very ready sale.

Evaporated syrup went at $1.35 a gallon and unevaporated at $1.25.

Vegetables were very scarce, lettuce and cabbages, outside of the roots, being about the only thing offered.

Big Hay Supply.

In the heavier market produce the market was better supplied. There was a very good supply of hay, more than has been offered in several weeks. There were upwards of 40 loads in all, but on account of the very small supply for some time back, there was no glut on the market. Even the price remained fairly steady, first-class quality going from $16 to $16.50.

Oats sold at $1.27 to $1.32, only the very best quality going for the higher figure.

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, March 14.—There was the unusually heavy delivery of 119 cars of stock on offer at this market today. In addition there were 22 cars of cattle going through for export and not on sale. The total receipts were 141 cars, with 2063 head of cattle, 57 calves, 19 hogs and 126 sheep and lambs. In consequence of the high prices at which cattle were held by the drovers, trade was slow, though before the close of the market between 700 and 800 head of cattle were sent over the scales. Some of the usual buyers deferred operations for the week-end markets, but the representatives of the big packing houses were making sure of getting in good supplies for the Easter trade, with the result that prices were good and firm, and for the choicest picked butcher cattle 10c to 15c higher than last week. There was a good proportion of choice and extra quality cattle among today's offerings. There were extra fancy Easter heifers selling at the fancy price of $7. Very choice butcher heifers, about 1,000 lbs, sold at $6 to $6 10. Loads of good exporters sold at $6 50, and some of the exporters held over for tomorrow's market at $7 asked. The general run of mixed, good to medium butchers were selling steady to firm at $4 25 to $5 50, and common cattle at $3 to $3 50; good cows firm at $4 50 to $5; bulls firm at $4 85 to $5 25. Sheep and lambs are firm at last week's advances. Hogs are still firm at the top prices, and are quoted 10c to 15c higher than last week, at $9 35 f. o. b. and $9 60 to $9 65 fed and watered, at Toronto.

TORONTO, March 15.—Trade active and steady; 91 loads in today, including 163 cattle, 290 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 145 calves. Quotations: Export cattle, choice, cwt, $6 to $6 50; do, medium, $5 50 to $5 75; export bulls, $4 75 to $5 25; do, light, $4 40 to $4 75; do, cows, $4 75 to $5 50; butchers, choice, $5 75 to $5 90; do, medium, $5 25 to $5 50; do, common, $4 75 to $5; do, cows, $4 to $4 50; do, bulls, $4 25 to $4 75; stockers, choice, $4 25 to $4 50; do, medium, $4 to $4 25; do, common, $3 50 to $3 75; do, bulls, $3 to $3 25; feeders, heavy, $4 75 to $5; do, short-keeps, $5 to $5 25; milch cows, choice, each, $45 to $60; do, common, each, $25 to $35; springers, each, $35 to $55; sheep, ewes, cwt, $5 50 to $6, steady; do, bucks, $4 to $5, steady; lambs, grain-fed, $6 to $7 50, steady; calves, $3 to $8, steady; hogs, f. o. b., $9 40; do, fed and watered, $9 65.

STOCKS.

By private wire to H. C. Becher, London, from Harris, Winthrop & Co.

NEW YORK, March 15—Wall street, 10 a.m.—Americans in London are heavy, ⅛ to ½ lower. Twenty-five thousand firemen on western roads announce their intention to strike within 24 hours on refusal of railroads to arbitrate questions in dispute. Good prospects of settlement of the Philadelphia strike. London settlement continues today and concludes tomorrow. London expects higher money rates, with possible advance in bank rate. Standard Oil hearing before the supreme court resumes today. The New Jersey supreme court decides that packers must show their books. Since the beginning of the month contracts for nearly 300,000 tons of steel rails have been placed, showing a heavy increase. Corn Products dividend meeting today; declaration of 2 per cent on preferred expected. Demand for about 25 per cent increase in wages on all roads in Western Canada.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Interesting Cases Dealt With in Inspector's Report.

Many matters of interest were dealt with at the monthly meeting of Children's Aid Society held Monday afternoon in the city hall, at which Sheriff Cameron presided, there being a very good attendance of members.

The inspector's report brought to the attention of the board some cases of child neglect and waywardness, requiring even more than the usual amount of deliberation. These were, however, all carefully considered and disposed of at the meeting.

During the month one little girl, 9 years of age, who was growing up under very unfavorable circumstances, was delivered to the guardianship of the society by the police magistrate, after hearing the evidence submitted by the inspector. Another bright little one, 3 years old, is in the Shelter Home awaiting the disposition of her case by the magistrate. She was removed from a place which could not be given the name of a home, and was in a very neglected state when taken, away, but has improved wonderfully in the short time she has been under the society's care.

Personal Mention

A cablegram has been received saying that Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard and Miss Marshall safely reached the old country last Sunday, and that they had splendid weather in crossing the Atlantic.

CURLING STONES AWAIT OWNER

They were shipped from St. Marys on Feb. 16.

Local curlers have been advised of their presence, and anyone whose property they may be, or who knows anything about them, should communicate immediately, either with the officers of the curling club or direct with the Grand Trunk station.

ACTION FOR $5,000

attempted to eject him from the car, during which argument the plaintiff claims to have received painful injuries. He also claims that he had his clothing torn and destroyed, and more than that, he claims damages for having been held up to ridicule and disgrace to the injury of his reputation.

He is asking for $1,000 damages and costs of the action

The Defence.

The conductor on the other hand claims that the plaintiff had used profane, insulting language toward him, whereupon he had requested the defendant to leave the car, when the plaintiff assaulted him.

The company claims that the conductor's attitude was justified and in self-defence. What he had done had been done in the scope of his authority, and the defendants claim that they are not responsible.

Messrs. Meredith and Fisher for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Ivey and Dromgole for the company.

WILLIAM BRECKNER DEAD.

EAST END STORES TO CLOSE AT SEVEN

Every Night Except Saturday—Resolution Adopted But Men Are Objecting.

A resolution to close at 7 o'clock every evening except Saturdays, was passed at a meeting of East London businessmen held in Society Hall Monday afteroon, and as a result of the session a number of dry goods and furniture men who do not favor the early closing are circulating a petition among the merchants today dequestion them to keep their doors open until 8:30 o'clock.

Those in favor of the 7 o'clock closing claim that if all the merchants agree on that time it will be fair to every person, while the other faction is of the opinion that much money comes in when workingmen do their shopping after supper.

A committee was composed of President Thomas Shaw, ex-Ald. Parsons and Fred Simmons was appointed to interview the men who have not yet agreed on the 7 o'clock closing.

As in other years East London stores will close Wednesday afternoons during June, July and August, and the first Wednesday in September.

Among those at the meeting were President Thomas Shaw, ex-Ald. Parsons, Fred Simmons, W. J. Crocker, J. H. Falkner, John Nash, Ed. Boyle, Jas. Childs, W. G. Young, Chas. Ross, Dr. A. J. Wyckoff, secretary of the association.

LATE LOCAL NEWS

—Mr. Bert Ferte, who has been connected with the Lambeth office of the Southwestern Traction Company, has been promoted to their St. Thomas office.

Mothers' Club.

The Colborne Street Mothers' Club will meet in the kindergarten room on Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Charged With Theft.

Frederick Steele was taken to Hyde Park this afternoon for his hearing before Squire J. W. Wallis, on the charge of stealing a sum of money on March 4.

Removed to Asylum.

Samuel Pearson, the McGillivray Township farmer, who was brought to the county jail some days ago charged with being violently insane, was removed to the asylum Monday.

Information Wanted.

Chief Williams has received a letter from California, asking him to try and locate Mrs. Dolly J. White, whose maiden name was Weaver. If the lady is in this vicinity she is requested to call and see the chief.

Tillsonburg Case.

At Osgoode Hall, in Tillsonburg Waterworks Company vs. Tillsonburg Packing Company.—Motion to continue injunction. By agreement between the parties, reference made to Dr. Hodgetts to examine into and report upon the matters in dispute. Motion stands sine die until after report, and then to be replaced on list on two days' notice. Matters to remain in statu quo in meantime.

Enjoyable Recital.

A very enjoyable recital was given last night by the piano pupils of Miss Steele, assisted by Miss Gladys Shaw, a vocal pupil of Miss Brown. A difficult programme was very attractively rendered by the pupils, and the recital was greatly enjoyed by all those who were present. Those taking part were Miss Gladys Shaw, Miss Margaret Bell, Miss Anna Guenette, Miss Jessie Bell, Miss Eloise Barid, Master Eric Mitchener, Miss Helen Patterson, Master Gordon Stewart, Miss Elsie Mitchener, Miss Geraldine Glover, Miss Irene Thompson, Miss Geraldine Bindner, Miss Lettie Ward, Miss Alberta Somerville.

C. P. R. Pictures.

Mr. Chas. Wynard, special photographer for the C. P. R., will present in the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon and evening a special and exclusive line of moving pictures. These pictures have never before been given in London, are owned and controlled exclusively by Mr. Wynard, and are of a very fine series of films—the review of the Independent Order of Oddfellows in Seattle, the Canadian soldiers under arms at the Yukon Exposition, the Yosemite Valley, and the President of the United States reviewing the Canadian live stock exhibition. Those who have seen these pictures speak in the very highest terms of them.

Hear Thompson Seton.

People are looking forward eagerly to the lectures of Ernest Thompson Seton on Thursday afternoon and evening. This is the first time the great naturalist has lectured in London, and those who have read his books anticipate a great treat. Also those who attend the lectures are helping a good cause, as the proceeds are to be used to establish a museum in London. Many things of historical interest are being lost to this city because there is no place here where they can be properly preserved. A good museum is always an attraction to a city, and has a great educational value. "If we wish our children to become loyal citizens of Canada," says a citizen, "we should take every means to inform them of the history, resources and beauties of their country, and this can be accomplished no way so well as by a well-arranged museum."

MAILS ARE FLOODED WITH GERMAN MATTER

London postoffice authorities state that the removal of the tax on German goods has had the effect of flooding the mails with German catalogues and lists of all kinds.

It is stated that never before has there ben such an enormous amount of mail from Germany for this district as lately, and it is further stated that many German houses are preparing to send travellers to this country to go thoroughly over the ground and get all the business in sight.

JURY GIVES DAMAGES TO THE ZEUFELTS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, March 15.—After being out for eight hours, from 9 last night to 5 this morning, the jury in the high court case of Zeufelts vs. C. P. R., brought in a verdict for the plaintiff of $3,000 and costs, for the death of his son and daughter killed at Beachville by a snowplow Jan. 4, being $1,800 for the son and $1,200 for the daughter. Justice Magee seemed to charge strongly in defendant's favor, but the jury found against them on almost every point. Damages asked were $10,000.

BITTER ALL-NIGHT BATTLE

plans had been laid before the Minister of Public Works. Instantly came a demand from the Opposition that the plans be tabled, and upon and around this point more than any other the battle continued to rage. It was in vain that Mr. Pugsley assured the committee that the interests of the public would be amply protected. The Opposition were spoiling for a fight, and they found the Government side equally determined to stand by their guns.

Mr. Pugsley expressed his willingness that the Opposition should see the plans at a more convenient moment, and suggested that the bill be given a second reading, on the understanding that any amendments could be moved on a third reading.

The oppositionists to the bill, however, would not have this. Dr. Sproule insisted that the bill be amended before it passed a second reading, and he was supported in his demand by Mr. Emmerson. Shortly after 2 o'clock Mr. George Taylor, the chief Conservative whip, suggested a compromise. "Why not," he said, "postpone the second reading until the afternoon, and then have plans before the committee?"

Mr. Taylor's ideas of a compromise were not in accord with those of the Liberals, and the battle proceeded.

Mr. Ethier, stung by some unkindly remarks of Col. Sam Hughes, declared that he was prepared to sit till Saturday if need be.

"So are we," roared back the Opposition.

Later Mr. Fielding turned his hand as peace-maker. "If," he said, "the gentlemen who oppose this bill will consent to pass one clause, so that we will have made some progress, I will be content."

A Sleepy House.

After that it was a case of talk for talking's sake. Realizing that there was no possibility of a compromise, members slipped out to sleep in their room, while those who remained curled themselves up in their chairs to snatch a few winks, leaving Dr. Reid, of Grenville, Col. Sam Hughes, Mr. Middleboro, and the minister of public works to fight it out.

Pugsley in Fine Form.

Mr. Fielding went home but was back again by 8:30, and relieved Mr. Pugsley, who went to breakfast in the speaker's chambers. Though he had borne the brunt of the attack all through the night, the minister of public works had lost none of his urbanity. "I am in great form," he said to a group of sleepy newspapermen. "I am really enjoying this battle."

In the early hours the unusual sight of members smoking in the House was to be observed. Some enjoyed a cigar, while others puffed wearily at their pipes.

After the breakfast hour those who had gone home for a rest began to reappear, and the discussion was continued with renewed vigor.

At 1 1o'clock Mr. W. F. Maclean declared that if the Government was not committed to the bill, they should call a halt to proceedings.

He pointed out that the time had arrived for the railway committee to sit, and urged that committee rise and report progress.

Mr. Fielding repeated his suggestion that non-contentious clauses be allowed to go through. He disclaimed any desire on the part of the Government to force the bill through.

"Is it the intention of the Government to sit here till Saturday night to force this bill through?" asked Mr. Northrup.

Mr. iFelding reiterated his statement that the Government has no desire to push through at the present sitting the clauses to which objection was taken.

Shortly afterwards Sir Wilfrid Laurier appeared on the scene, and was at once appealed to by Mr. George Taylor. "We have been here all night, and the prime minister might let us go now," said the chief Conservative whip . But Sir Wilfrid merely shook his head and smiled.

At press hour the House was still in session.

Ingersoll, March 15.—(Special.)—Mr W. E. Bigney, who for the past eight years resided here, leaves, with his wife and family, for Medicine Hat this morning. It will be remembered that J. Wilcox purchased the business about two months ago.

The Rev. Mr. McLean leaves for Toronto today, where he will resume his duties at once.

A very interesting debate took place in the basement of the Baptist Church on the suffragette question. Mr. J. C. Clark and J. T. Gibson for the affirmative and H. E. Robinson and W. Mitchell for the negative. The judges, Mr. J. L. Paterson, W. Briden and W. McDermott, decided that the affirmative had the best of the argument.

Tonight the Centennial Chorus Choir, which contains some of London's best talent, will give a concert in St. Paul's Church.

The new Carnegie library is not completed yet, and will not open till the latter part of May or first of June

ALLEGED THAT THIEVES CONFESSED THE CRIME

Broke Into Parsons' Fair in St Marys and Stole Goods.

A message from St. Marys received yesterday by ex-Ald. Parsons stated that three country youths, students at the high school there, had been implicated in the burglary of Parsons' store in St. Marys, a while ago, one of them confessing when taken to the police station, it is alleged.

The telegram stated that the first suspicion was aroused when it was discovered that two boys, chums of the young fellow arrested, had been seen walking away from the town with guns the day following the burglary. Since that time both have left the district.

The third was taken to the police station, and told that the others had been located, and that they had confessed and implicated him. After being questioned he broke down, it is said, and took the officers to where the rifles and revolvers were hidden.

Mr. Parsons intimated that he had no desire to punish the boys if the property was returned, and it is understood that their parents are willing to pay up.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' Club will be held in the kindergarten of that school on Thursday evening, March 17, at 8 p.m. Dr. S. P. Reynolds will give an address on the care of the teeth. An invitation is extended to all to be present, as this is a subject which should interest all fathers and mothers There will also be a short musical programme.

ALLEGED VICIOUS DOG.

The police were notified this morning that a dog caused a collector some trouble near the corner of Adelaide and Elias streets, and a man was sent out to investigate. The animal is said to be of a playful disposition, but his hilarity being mistaken by persons easily frightened is liable to cause him some trouble.

EAST END PICNIC.

A meeting of the executive of the East London Businessmen's Association will be held tonight, when the affairs of the last annual picnic will be arranged preparatory to the holiday this summer.

Last summer over 10,000 people crowded Queen's Park on the day of the picnic, and as it was but the second of the kind held the association was greatly pleased.

It has advertised East London very well, and will be made an annual event. This year an effort will be made to make it a greater success than last summer, if possible.

COURT STELLA WINS.

At the last regular meeting of Court Stella, No. 7047, A. O. F., the pleasing information was received that Court Stella had succeeded in winning the district trophy awarded by the executive council for the court getting the largest number of new members upon the percentage basis of membership in each court. The presentation will be made by Bro. F. Ball, D. C. R., at the next regular meeting of the court on the 24th inst.

CLANDEBOYE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Clandeboye, March 15.—Mr. Levi Boyle, of Lucknow, has been visiting his relations in this place the past week.

Mr. Ira Birr was in the village today on special business.

Mr. James Barry tips the scale at 290 pounds, and does it easy.

The two Miss Boyles, from Moosejaw, Sask., were visiting relatives here and have now gone to Lucknow to visit their uncle.

Mr. Ted Cotter, who was visiting in Detroit, has returned here and is looking well.

Mr. M. McIlhargey, of McGillivary, has gone to Detroit on a visit to his cousin, Mrs. Mahen.

Mrs. Yager, of Exeter, is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. Cunningham.

Mrs. Albert Cunningham, of Ailsa Craig, is visiting her mother-in-law here.

BAVIS WAS DISCHARGED

Doctors Examined Him and Found Him To Be Not Dangerous.

John Henry Bavis, who was arrested on a warrant for trespass sworn out by his mother, appeared before Squire Chittick this morning. It appears that the real reason for Bavis' arrest was that he was suspected of being insane and dangerous to be at large. He was examined this morning by Superintendent Robinson, of the London Asylum, and Dr. McArthur, who found that the man showed manifest signs of insanity. They did not consider, however, that he was in any way dangerous, and stated that he would be able to earn his own living without difficulty. The man was, therefore, discharged, on the understanding that he should not go near his mother. It was erroneously stated in a previous report that Bavis had been accused of trespass and theft. There has been no charge of theft made against the man.

REV. J. G. INKSTER ON ORKNEY ISLANDS

An Interesting Lecture Delivered Last Night in St. Andrew's Hall.

Rev. J. G. Inkster gave a most interesting illustrated lecture on the Orkney Islands in St. Andrew's Hall yesterday evening, before a very appreciative audience. In speaking of the history of the islands, the speaker divided it into three periods, the early period when the Picts reigned over the land. Many interesting examples of the relics of this period were illustrated and explained by the speaker.

The Norwegian period began in 860, when Harold the Fair-Haired became king of Norway. His oppression of the Norman earls led them to flee from the land and go to Orkney, and from there they fitted out an expedition against Harold, who proved too much for them, however, and finally subjugated the Orkney Islands. It was not until the reign of the Earl Sigurd that Orkney was again brought back to Christianity.

In 1263 the Norse era gave place to the Scottish, who have ever since been the dominant nationality in the islands.

The speaker went on to tell of the great injustices that have been done to the people of Orkney through all the ages by landlordism, and these difficulties obtain even to the present day.

"Pope of Orkney."

The speaker then discussed the customs and activities of the people, whose principal industries are the herring and lobster fisheries, and in the course of these descriptions some beautiful sea scapes were thrown on the screen.

Mr. Inkster closed his lecture with a glowing tribute to Rev. Dr. Patterson, of the U. P. Church, who was sometimes known as the "Pope of Orkney," and who had from his little island made his influence felt the world over.

CARE OF BEES

Honey Committee of Western Fair Will Give Demonstration.

The honey committee of the Western Fair board held a meeting, and decided at the coming exhibition to give a practical demonstration on the care of bees and the latest methods of extracting and inspecting honey. The matter was brought to the notice of the board by a committee from the Bee Keepers' Association, and was unanimously adopted, and should prove a feature of great interest. It is proposed to erect a stand in the vicinity of the dairy building, and have one or two colonies of bees. An expert will go in among them and give practical demonstrations of their care, and of the methods of securing the honey. The demonstration will be absolutely free.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH OF LOCAL ACCOUNTANT

Mr. Ezra E. Werner, of Evergreen Avenue, Seized With Fatal Convulsion.

Mr. Ezra E. Werner, of 36 Evergreen avenue, South London, an accountant, fell in a convulsion while at his work in the office of the Robinson Corset and Costume Company on Talbot street, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, and died in Victoria Hospital shortly before 6 o'clock without recovering consciousness.

For two years Mr. Werner had been suffering from chronic Bright's disease, and the convulsion was a result of his illness. He was 43 years old, and a son of Rev. Henry Werner.

Until three years ago deceased lived in Rodney, but since that time had resided here, and had done accountant work for a number of firms. He is very highly spoken of by all. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Wilfrid, aged 9, and Reginald, aged 4, four brothers and four sisters, Samuel, Moses, Ephraim, of Detroit; Neil, of Portland; Sarah, of Reeve City, and Marion, Martha and Mary, of Rodney.

Mr. MacLaren investigated the cause of death and decided that no inquest was necessary.

SPACE CHARGES ARE INCREASED

Western Fair Will Ask $2 for Spaces in Machinery Hall.

At a meeting of the manufacturers' committee of the Western Fair last night, it was decided to charge $2 instead of $1 in future for space in the machinery hall. The directors found out that at the present price of $1 which includes a space 14 feet by 22 feet, free power and a ticket, they were losing money. It was also recommended that the west end of the machinery hall be lowered a couple of feet in order to accommodate the heavy machinery.

YOU'RE RESPECTABLE

House—so confident that I am convinced that they will rise to the height of the occasion and vindicate the principles of the constitution. You will, my Lords, if I am not greatly mistaken, save the constitution by maintaining the guarantees that the constitution demand. You will save the future of our country when nothing less than the future of our country is involved. You will earn imperishable honor and imperishable gratitude, not merely from the nation now, but as long as the history of the country shall survive."

He spoke for two hours.

The House of Lords adjourned the debate after a discussion which revealed marked differences of opinion as to the value of Lord Rosebery's proposals. Viscount Morley expressed surprise that Lord Rosebery had not waited for the Government's proposals, and pointed out that the Rosebery plan of reform would entirely fail to remove the possibility of future deadlocks arising between the two Houses, which was the real difficulty to be solved.

Puppets and Cripples.

"If they do as they have threatened of whom will this House be composed? What self-respecting person would sit here if he could find a seat in any ordinary vestry? Who would sit in a House composed of puppets and cripples? The whole country and its interests would be at the mercy of a chance majority; any sudden impulse and ebullition of momentary wrath such as swept the country in 1906."

They were told that this was the voice of the country. No one had a greater respect for the voice of the people than he, but a redistribution would make the voice more effective. He instanced the City of Kilkenny's 1742 votes as contrasted with the 53,000 cast in South Essex. Each returned one man, but "the voice of the people coming from Kilkenny was quite as loud as from South Essex."

He then returned to the subject of the throne, saying that resolutions as a rule, were not carried out by the voice of the people, but by a small and determined minority. The very House of Commons that carried the resolution at the time of Charles I., was a mere "rump," a fragment of the original House. The execution of that unhappy monarch was carried out by a very small minority of the British people. In France the execution of Louis XVI. was not carried out either by France or by Paris, but by a comparatively small minority of the cabinet. Speaking for himself, Lord Rosebery said that it was not the voice of the people that he dreaded so far as revolutionary movements were concerned, but the voice of a small, determined and intrepid minority.

Continuing, he said: "There are two vital principles at stake; so vital that without their adoption it is useless to touch the question of reform at all. The first question is that of heredity—the hereditary right to sit in this House and the doing away with which was the unanimous and spontaneous recommendation of your lordship's own committee."

Lord Salisbury here interrupted the speaker to say that he had not been present when the committee had adopted this principle and so had not voted.

Resented by People.

Resuming his argument, Lord Rosebery said:

"The hereditary principle was not inserted in the constitution until the reformation. Until that time a majority of the peers did not sit by hereditary right at all, but it is now a part of the constitution; the most objectionable to the country, the most resented by the people at large. It is the easiest principle to attack, the most difficult to defend. It is insufficient to point out the eminence of the House of Lords. It has given us a great many more peers than are wanted.

"It was enlarging year by year," he went on. "A fertilizing stream like the Nile flowed annually, almost weekly into the House, but unlike the Nile it did not retire."

Elective Principle.

The second principle which he asked them to adopt, and which was essential to any reform, was election to their membership from the outside. Nothing else, he contended, would give life and strength to the chamber. Nothing else would give it that contact with national life and thought which was necessary to the strength of any chamber exercising the functions wherewith they were endowed. The hereditary principle had not given, and could not give, the strength that was desired. He had not proposed to add to the Lords by popular election. That would only make them a feeble understudy of the Commons, and, moreover, multiply the horrors of general elections. But the House of Lords would derive new strength, new grace, new dignity by associations with the corporations, the county councils formed into elective bodies all over the country. He urged their lordships to recognize and adopt these principles.

"Your lordships," he went on, "have the opportunity to render the country a greater service than has fallen to the lot of any body of men since the barons rescued the liberties of England from King John. Your lordships, like the barons, may rescue the nation from the impending despotism, not of a king, but of a single, irresponsible chamber."

MISSIONARY MEETING IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The seventh annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of Western Canada will be held in St. Andrew's Church, March 22, 23 and 24, commencing on Tuesday evening, with an informal reception. Delegates from all parts of the Dominion will be present and the business of the year arranged.

In the afternoon sessions prominent women workers in the mission fields and officers on the board will give addresses. Wednesday evening a limelight lecture, "Pioneer Days With the Gold Seekers of the Klondyke," will be given by the Rev. R. M. Dickey, Toronto. Thursday evening the speakers are to be Rev. E. D. McLaren, D.D., Toronto; Rev. J. D. Byrenes, B.A., Cobalt, and J. A. Macdonald, LL.D., Toronto. The public are cordially invited to these meetings.

SOLDIER IN COURT

Richard Willis Brought Back From Hamilton.

Richard Willis, until recently of Wolseley Barracks, appeared before Acting Magistrate Beattie in the police court yesterday morning, on a charge of stealing a fur coat valued at $35 from an officer, and was remanded a week for trial.

It is understood that a charge of desertion will be laid against Willis by the authorities at the barracks. He was captured in Toronto on Saturday, and brought to this city on Sunday by Detective Egelton. Willis deserted on Wednesday last, taking with him the officer's fur coat and a suit of clothes. He went to Toronto, and was engaged in watching the capture of some thieves, when the police took him. At the station he gave his name, and would have been let go, only the desk-sergeant recognized at once that he was the man of whom Chief Williams had wired a description, and asked the Toronto police to look out for. He was detained and the London police were notified.

EVA STRANGEWAYS DEAD IN BELLEVUE

Had Beaten Hotels and Broken Into Society as "Countess of Ilchester."

New York, March 15.—The tempestuous career of Eva Fox Strangeways ended yesterday in a hospital cot in Bellevue where she died shortly after noon.

The woman was probably one of the best known hotel beats in the history of this class of crime, and was known sometimes as the "Countess of Ilchester," a self-conferred title. Her death is believed to have been directly due to a dose of headache medicine that she took March 4, when she was arrested at the New Amsterdam Hotel and charged with giving the hotel a worthless check for $25, drawn on the Traders and Manufacturers' Bank of Poughkeepsie. She was registered at the hotel as Helen Drummond, and said that she was employed on an afternoon newspaper.

Eva Fox Strangeways was the daughter of an English coast guard and had travelled around the world several times, living on her wits. She had beaten innumerable hotels and as the "Countess of Ilchester" duped society people in almost every big American city. In 1907 she was sent to Blackwell's Island for a year for swindling a dressmaker. She left prison July 14, 1908.

Her name got into print again last August when the Rev. George Sanderson, Episcopal chaplain of the Tombs, got a letter saying that a large legacy had been left Eva Fox Strangeways by a relative in Ireland.

KATRINA MURAT DEAD.

Denver, Col., March 14. — Katrina Murat, the first woman settler in Colorado, and reputed to be a countess, died here yesterday. She was 86 years old. With her husband, "Count" Murat, she came to Denver in 1858, necessitating by her presence a complete change in the modes of life of the border town. She was born in Baden-Baden, Germany.

MAPLETON.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Mapleton, March 14.—Mr. Bruce Brown has returned after visiting relatives at Chisanning, Mich.

Mrs. George McCaulley is ill with appendicitis.

Mr. Andrew Wismer received a telegram on Sunday from Flint, Mich., announcing the death of his brother, Dr. George Wismer, veterinary surgeon, of that place, which occurred on Saturday. Deceased was a son of the late John Wismer, of this place, and lived here until he was about 34 years of age, when he left for Flint, Mich., where he has since resided. Deceased was in his 64th year, and leaves besides his wife, two daughters and one son. Four sisters and three brothers also survive, namely: Mrs. Thos. McGregor, of Belmont; Mrs. Jessie Hoover, of Kingsmill; Mrs. Robert Putnam and Mrs. N. Pew, of St. Thomas; David Wismer, of Dakota; John, of Belmont, and Andrew, on the old homestead.

The weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Church of Christ was held on Friday evening. The topic was "Patient Faithfulness That Wins a Crown." The leader was Miss Eva Warwick, who gave an excellent essay. Little Veda Brown sang a solo.
