PARIST Aug. 15.—Warsaw was still holding tonight, as far as is known, but the battle raging under the wais of the city is increasing in violence. From the vague and scant news reachfight. The Russians attacked on both sides of Radzymin at Segreziand at Okuniew, less than 15 miles due cast of Warsaw.

Warsaw, Aug. 16.—An armored flotilla is patrolling the Vistula River between Warsaw and Thorn to prevent the Russian Bolsheviki from crossing that stream in the movement to encircle this city. Many of these boals saw service along the Pripet and Dnieper Rivers, some having been captured from the Bolsheviki and moved to the Vistula by railroad.

Soviet cavalry is working westward along the Prussian frontier, and was reported at various points northwest of Warsaw today. These horsemen are a source of constant annoyance, endeavoring the drive in behind the Polish lines.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSSES MAY BREAK RECORD THIS YEAR

Ottawa, Aug. 16 .- Canadian Press -- If the average of losses of the first five months of the year is maintained, fire losses in Canada during 1920 will reach almost $28,000,000, according to figures made public by the commission of conservation. Should these figures be reached the losses will exceed any thus far recorded, with the exception of those incurred during 1918 through the destruction of a number of munitions plants. They already exceed those of 1919, an exceptionally favorable year, by over one and a half million dollars, the total for the five months period being well upwards of $11,000,000.

Efforts Still Being Made To Secure Necessary Bail.

SEARCH FOR FUNDS

State and Federal Officials Continue Investigation.

Boston, Aug. 16 .- The inquiry into every ramification of Charles Ponz's spectacular financial activities again occupied the attention of state and federal officials after their week-end respite, but they took up their task with the assurance that the discovery with the assurance that the discovery of further damage to the financial fabric of New England was unlikely. Ponzi's counsel centred their efforts today on attempts to obtain the bail necessary to effect the release of their client from the East Cambridge jail, where he is held by the Federal Government on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Should such a bondsman be found, the sheriff has ready at the jail a warrant upon which Ponzi would be arrested for the state authorities on a charge of larceny. The bond required by the federal court is $25,000 charge of larceny. The bond required by the federal court is $25.000.

To gain his freedom from the jail he then would have to surply a bond of $10,000 on a three-count larceny charge standing against him and whatever additional bail may be asked on the 53-count larceny charge that has not been served upon him. Attorney-General Allen said although no amount had been agreed upon in the latter case, he personally would approve of bonds of $50,000. According to this Ponzi will have to produce a total surety of $85,000.

Threats Are Made.

A heavy guard remained around Ponzi's home at Lexington. Threats against penzi by persons who were attracted by his offer of "50 per cent in 45 days," and preparations were made to guard him carefully if he was freed today.

A search for possible hidden funds entrusted to the "Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company," which was compelled to close last week, was made today by officials engaged in tracing that concern's operations on a "100 per cent in six months" basis. Charles M. Brightwell, Raymond Meyers and Fred Meyers, the three officers of the company, who were locked up on charges of larceny, have not procured bail. They are held in default of $50,000 bonds each.

Government, and the whole bill was thrown out.

For a time it looked as though all work must be suspended for the year, but it was finally decided to appeal to the Ontario Railway and Municipal loard. That body agreed to grant its approval if bylaws were passed by the city council. This was done immediately. The two bylaws were given only two readings, it being intended to give the third when the assent of the board had been obtained, as this had been the custom in the past.

Three Readings Required.

It was found, however, that not only must all three readings be given, but that the bylaws must have the assent of three-fourths of the council, including the mayor.

This presentated the attendance of the price formerly paid for this fruit. The grapes are used for wine. The acreage of grapes throughout Western Ontario will in all probability be greatly increased within the next few years, according to farmers interviewed.

BIG DEMAND FOR BYLAWS THEIR CIDER THIS YEAR

FINAL READING Buyers Are Trying To Secure Apples in Large Quantities.

Despite the threatened shortage of barrels, boxes and other containers for packing fruit, farmers throughout West-Efforts to pass third readings of by laws authorizing debenture issues for electrical and waterworks extensions finally were successful when a special meeting of the city council, at 11:45 a.m. today gave the necessary three-fourths vote in favor of the final readings.

Word was immediately forwarded to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board by the general manager, E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission. Their indoisement of the project is expected immediately. The first bylaw authorizes an $55,000 debenture issue for water main extensions. One big operation is planned. That is the build, of a main on Central avenue from the river to the C. P. R. round-house to supply that railroad with river water in the same manner as the G. T. R. is now supplied. Water for street sprinkling in that part of the city may be obtained from this main also.

The second bylaw authorizes a debenture issue of $80,000 for electrical extensions.

Made Out Estimates.

The history of these two issues is a long and varied one. In accordance with custom, the utilities made out its estimates for extensions in these departments and sought to have them in dorsed by the Legislature in the Lonal of the covernment, and the whole bill was thrown out.

For a time it looked as though all, work must be suspended for the year, but it was finally decided to appeal to by the garding for the for grapes, while they are on the trees. Letters have been sent by these companies to the owners of orchards offering to the owners of or

Today we have with us another of the federal Parliament, and one who has greatly to honor the Laurier tradition.

Today we have with us another of the federal Parliament, and one who has greatly to honor the Laurier tradition. The proposal tradition is a to inform the people of the means whereby the obvious ends of government are to be achieved by his administration, and of the policies which are to serve as the means toward these ends.

Instead of that, Mr. Meighen has satisfied himself with giving to the country a statement of the ends, and leaving the country wholly in darkness as to the means by which they are to be attained. Indeed, he has unwittingly, but nevertheless in the clearest possible manner, indicated that neither he nor his ministers are able to make up their minds as to what should be done; that they themselves are wholly in the dark, and propose to institute an inquiry as a means of throwing some light upon the path which they ought to take. Let me quote Mr. Meighen's own words. INTO AGAIN CALLS

I ask the people of Canada: Did they ever hear from the lips of a prime minister of a country, such a puerile statement of financial policy as that contained in these first two planks? It makes one think, not of the government of a country struggling with its problems of trade and commerce, under a public debt which has become debating society, where in the absence of constructive thought and ideas the most obvious platitudes are made to serve the purposes of national policies. Mr. Meighen has overlooked; it is this which he and his ministers who continue in office, are prepared not only to ignore but to defy; it is this which the Liberal party seeks to establish and maintain as it has sought to do in the earliest beginnings of its recorded his story.

Let me, by way of comparison, illustrate exactly what I mean. The Government is to go in debt no farther. What would be thought of any government of Sir Wiffrid Laurier was returned to power in its last term of office in the fall of 1903 According to office in the fall of 1903 According to the law it was entitled to remain in office until the fall of 1913. In the course of its term of office there came up the important issue of reciprocal trade relations with the United States. Sir Wilfrid might well have argued that this was no new issue, but on the contrary.

BOSTON, Aug. 5. — Was Charles Ponzi the head and front, or only the 'front'' of the millions-over-night swindle that flourished unhindered for eight months in the heart of Boston's financial district? This was the subject of countless open forums on Boston Common and street corners, in the foreign quarters, and wherever the Sunday allowed big and little groups to gather. "Dinty" Moore, Stunt Flyer TO REORGANIZE Comes To London Tuesday POLICE TO STOP To Offer Thrillers Here

Famous Motion Picture Aviat or Will Make Sensational Loops and Dives Over the City and Drop Lucky Coupons For Dollar Day Shoppers.

"Dinty" Moore, the champion dollar ace, will arrive in London tomorrow afternoon from Toronto, dropping his moving picture work for a day or two to give London tolks a few thrillers in the way of loops and dives. Wednesday people of the surrounding towns, will see him and on Thursday he will fly low over the bargain centre.

In a letter received Saturday morning "Dinty" promises to provide something new in the way of low flying, so that all folks may see the giant plane to the greatest of all bargain days.

It has meant no little amount of planning to stage this big event—in fact the executive of the Dollar Day Association has been working on the plans for two months. Each merchant is charged to offer something novel and the public will await the first announcement of the merchants in Tuesday's paper, with subsequent advertisements on Wednesday. Past Dollar Days have met with popular favor—as this one has several innovations it

The best plan to cover the ground successfully and picking up the greatest number of bargains is to make a great deal of danger in flying so low over the business houses on Dollar Day, but his policy is to be right with the people on the big bargain day.
"Dinty's" visit to this city will be made still more attractive by all the merchants placing in his hands several coupons. These he will let fly in his several ascensions and the finders can redeem them at the various stores offering the many prizes. He will also be armed with bombs in the form of printed advertising, calling attention est number of bargains is to make a complete list of intended purchases the night previous from the newspapers. All that is required is sunshiny weather to make this Dollar Day the best ever. Even if it rains the merchants are sure that thousands will brave it in order to take advantage of the thousands of specials for Dollar Day. Watch for the free coupons that "Dinty" Moore will pass out so freely. There's plenty of room for farmers to park cars throughout the city.

NEW SUBJECTS FOR BIOGRAPHY.

It might be taken as one sign of the new age that is with us that greater interest is being taken in the lives of proletarian leaders. Ancient biography had no place save for the lives of soldiers and statesmen. The Renaissance added artists and scholars, but our day goes still farther afield and finds interest in the romance still lives in ordinary life. lives of men in humble station who, through struggle and turmoil, forced things ahead notch and won a place among makers of better things. Graham Wallas may not have started interest, but his life of Francis Place, issued some years ago, gave a quickening to it. A second edition of the life of Place, issued on both sides of the Atlantic, has recently had extraordinary popularity. The London Nation says that the biography by Wallas virtually started the study of the enormous mass of extant concerning the social and economic aspects of English history in the first three decades of last century. The years following the battle of Waterloo presented most remarkable parallels to the present after-war period. There was the same fear of the name "radical." much talk of secret plottings to up set the established order of things, two ancient parties quarreling and bickering, but giving no reason for their existence. The life of Place maid that she thinks she hears the postman rapping was lived in the very heart of this turmoil, and on the roof. from behind he directed men and events as scarcely any recognized statesman of the time was able to do. A contemporary declared that he was the most disinterested reformer he ever knew, "valuable in counsel, fertile in resource, performing great labors."

Two other biographies of a somewhat similar character have just been issued, the life of Robert Owen and the life of William Lovett. Owen's was an eventful life and his biography is of first importance in the history of British socialism, labor and co-operation. Lovett was the leader of the Chartist movement and the author of the famous "people's charter." There its ever-changing moods, now with waves has been a marked revival of interest in the study of the Chartist movement and its important place in English social and economic history has been noted by half a dozen writers in the last few years. Three valuable studies potently on the great rock that stands sentinel on of phases of the movement have appeared in the historical studies issued by Columbia University, while two English scholars, Hovell and West, have written large works on the move-and the foot of the second is a ravine of such luxuriant growth of lush grass, bulrushes, blue weed, ox-eye daisies, brown-eyed Susans, bouncing Bet, milkweed and goldenrod, as to invite lingering. One embankment is thickly wooded with immense trees of elm, walnut and maple and slopes down to a small creek crowded with watercress and across the wide ravine on one side of the roadway on the other embankment, runs an avenue of tall poplars, gleaming silver and emerald in the sun, and touched to silken whisperings by the wind. Down in the still grasses flutter Monarch butterflies and a flock of goldfinches feast among the lavender and silver thistle bloom, while lordly blackbirds stroll leisurely along the tiny banks of the creek. Further up the roadway, almost at the foot of the second part of the ascent, is an immense poplar, towering and wonderful, with blended murmur of leaves like the distant song of sea surf. This invites a passing greeting before one wanders on up under the fine old maples bordering home gardens with glimpses of gay nasturtiums, stately hollyhocks, fluttering sweet

Rates for Telephone Service

OUR rates for exchange service, fixed many years ago, developed many inequalities as between cities at one time equal in population,

In the new schedules filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners we have so grouped cities and towns of approximately equal telephone development as to wipe out these inequalities.

The rates for exchange service proposed for London under the new schedule are shown in the following table:-

	Proposed
BUSINESS SERVICE	Monthly Rate
Individual Line	$4.75
2-Party Line	4.00
RESIDENCE SERVICE
Individual Line	$3.00
2-Party Line	2.50/
Rural Party Service	$2.50

These new rates, we submit, should be considered in the light of the present purchasing power of the dollar. They compare favorably with the increased rates which telephone companies have had to secure from Public Service Commissions all over the continent.

The commodities we have to buy-labor and material-have advanced in no lesser degree than have those staples of every day use, the cost of which has made present living expenses so high.

Pellagra.

The present status of our knowledge of pellagra was well brought out by a discussion of the subject at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association at New Orleans in April.

Dr. S. R. Roberts of Atlanta, believes that pellagra is decreasing in frequency through the south, due, perhaps, to a spread of knowledge concerning the cause and prevention. It seems to be decreasing also in the severity of its manifestations. For instance, the pecubonnet pattern they would lend me, suitable for a baby three to six months old. I am unable to buy any here. We always enjoy your page very much. Wishing you every success.

May Continue Road.

A proposition will come before the council at Port Stanley Monday night to have the road which runs from William street west and south of the tracks continued further west and across the property of the L. and P. S. Railway. The mayor of London and members of the London commission are being asked to attend a meeting, that they may be personally advised of the proposed construction of the road and the purposes for which a highway would be continued through and beyond the limits of the railway property. The annual outlay of its maintenance would, it is said, cost about $900 by the London commission, unless it were naturalized and its birthplace is genernaturalized and its birthplace is generally forgotten. It means "grace of the Lord," and has its earliest origin in the old Hebrew Joanna, a name bestowed upon the holy woman of the Gospel.

When Joan came into fashion in England and nameu the daughters of Edward II. and other members of royalty, France formed Jeanette in accordance with their inimical habit of making a diminutive. Jean had already been popular there, and Jennette and Jeanne, which seem to have been used almost interchangeably, became instantly in vogue. Jeanne or Jeanette of Flanders, as she was called, was the famous heroine of the Henbonne, while Jeanette La Pucelle of Orleans ranks with the great of France, Jeanne de Valois, daughter of Louis XII., and discarded wife of Louis XII, was another famous woman bearing the name. The French went one step farther and have a Jeannetton, but it was never imported from Coelie soil

The annual outlay of its maintenance would, it is said, cost about $900 by the London commission, unless it were conveyed to the village corporation, who would assume the responsibility of its upkeep.

It is doubtful if the commission would vest any of its property rights in the Port Stanley council, and the commission does not look favorably on the proposed extension.

Lightning Strikes Store.

A bolt of lightning struck Gould's store, Talbot street, this afternoon, and smashing the flagpole climbed down and broke one of the plate glass windows. The streak than cavorted across the sidewalk and got astride a street car rail and lost itself in the east end somewhere. The store employees and customers were badly frightened, but no person was injured.

Double Tracking Postponed.

The double tracking of the portion of the Grand Trunk leased by the Wabash has been postponed indefinitely, so an intimation came from the Wabash officials who gathered here today in conference with the local officials over the main details affecting their end of the system which were under consideration at the recent meeting of the chief officials and management of the system in St. Thomas. President Williams, accompanied by a large party of prominent officials of St. Louis, had been on a tour of inspection of the road, and stopped over to discuss matters of local importance. The business of this division has never been so satisfactory.

The evening was well advanced before the party reached the pavilion, where dinner was served, so the time given to speech-making had to be curtailed to allow them to continue their journey. Ex-Mayor Geddes, vice-president of the Board of Trade, and Mayor Brinkman extended a welcome to the party in behalf of the city. Brief and felicitous responses came from several of the members of the party, all expressing their regrets that their stay did not permit them to see more of the local country. Antwerr Aug. 16.—The classic pen-tathalon—ave tests of strength, speed and skill which the athletes of ancient Greece thought showed the measure a man—was attempted today in the Olympic stadium. These tests were: 600-meter run, 1,500-meter run, running broad jump, throwing the discus and throwing the javelin. Of all the athletes who entered, the man who made the best showing in all was to win instead of the laurel wreath of the afficients, the Olympic gilt medal and statuette and was to have the honor of having his name inscribed on the tablet of the statuette Olympic challenge offered by the King of Sweden, which was won in Stockholm in 1912 by F. New York, Aug. 16—Wall Street, 16:36 a.m.—Fresh complications in the foreign situation and indications of further strain on local financial resources at the opening of today's stock market. Shippers, oils, motors and steels were under severe pressure, losing 1 to 4 points. Improvement was shown by several of the active railroad issues, probably as a result of better credit conditions. Exchange on London continued very unsettled, rates for demand bills falling slightly under last week's final guestations.

Decree Calls For Extinction From Fortress.

LONDON, Aug. 16.-The famous monkeys of Gibraltar, the Barbary apes of Gib, are doomed. According to the latest news from the fortress. Gen. Sir H. L. Smith-Dorrien has decreed their extinction or banishment. And they are the only wild monkeys on the continent of Europe. How they are to be exterminated or, banished, the general's order does not state. Tradition had it that they came to Gibraltar from Morocco through a secret tunnel under the straits, a tunnel known only to the apes themselves. The more probable version of the story is that they were imported when the Moors ruled Spain, and have been suffered to remain upon the fastnesses of the rocky any attempt on the monkeys lives. Int.

1863, however, the species was almost extinct, and Gen. Sir William Codrington sent to Africa for four young monkeys of the species to perpetuate the race. Another governor awarded them an imperial subsistence allowance which works out at about £1 per

In his opening remarks he told his audience that health, wealth, strength and vigor will come if one did not fall in one's aims, if they were God's aims, and if one had faith in him.

"David thought his favorite son. Absolom, was surrounded with influence that was of the highest, but he was not. He was surrounded with influence which has dragged many a man down to the very depths of hell. Why should he be like this? His mother was a heathen, and she was the daughter of a heathen king. This all accounts for it. It has happened in many cases. all accounts for it. It has happened in many cases.
"If a person does not get a good start, in nine cases out of ten that person goes to the bad. Absolom fell beneath the best influences. He should have been under the temple worship, and the knowledge and history of God's goodness would have brought him out of what he fell into. If that had happened he would have that had happened he would have
