ATTACK ON WHITE GIRL START OF DEADLY FEUD; CITY THEN SET ON FIRE

Oklahoma Town Scene of Sanguinary Between Whites and Blacks—Martial Law in Force—Troops Out to Quell Disorders.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 1.—Seventy-five persons, whites and negroes have been killed in a race outbreak in Tulsa, according to telephone messages to Governor Robertson here today from the Tulsa chief of police.

Big Fire Adds to Terror Tulsa, Okla., June 1.—Nearly ten square blocks of the negro section here, where an armed conflict has been in progress between whites and negroes since early last night, resulting in a reported death list of at least six whites and fifty negroes, and a rapidly increasing list of wounded, were in flames today.

The riot was reported spreading and threatening to wipe out the white residential section. Martial law was declared at eleven o'clock and Adjutant-General Barrett placed in command of the city. Negroes are being captured and segregated in places transformed into prison camps.

APPHALIC CONCRETE, approximately 5.3 miles; macadam, approximately 1.2 miles; total 6.5 miles. With the continued improvement of the main highways leading into the city, and a free bridge across the bay, Belleville should become the leading market in this portion of the Province.

Few cities of the size of Belleville have cold storage facilities such as now may be had for the preserving of all classes of food supplies.

"Hasting County cheese is one food product that has attained first rank at home as well as abroad. A pure milk supply, so essential to any city, is now available.

The city is also located in a district abounding in many essential raw materials required in various manufacturing industries. Immediately to the east at Point Anne are to be found almost unlimited materials for the manufacture of Portland cement. The unlimited deposits of limestone are also a most valuable asset to this community, and when crushed and combined with Portland cement, will produce the requisite materials for building roads and all other types of structures.

"In the northern portion of this county are immense deposits of iron ore, talc, fluor spar, and other economic minerals that should eventually form the basis of many important industries in Belleville."

Mr. Allen praises the railway facilities as of the best. "With the operation of the new electric car service, Belleville may be reached at almost any hour, and should this service prove profitable, it will doubtless be extended to Napanee, Picton and other points so that Belleville should be the pivotal point

WHAT DOES CITY COUNCIL THINK OF THIS SUGGESTION?

That it would be well for the city council to discuss the question of electric car service and make suggestions as to extensions is the opinion of a citizen who spoke at the "The Ontario" today. He stated that the trolleyless car now operating between Belleville and Trenton on the C. N. R. was bringing trade to the city and extension of the service would mean undoubted stimulation of business. He favored the council giving the railway authorities their opinion as to the increase in passenger service by taking in other points.

How an extension to the east would help Belleville is apparent. There are perhaps seventy Belleville men working at Point Anne and having to spend their evenings there. Others return in the evening by bus. Continuation tickets might come in the course of time which would make transportation costs a very small item for the workman.

There is a good field for business in tapping the east by linking up with Napanee and other points. The day are suggested as a possibility. The electric car now on the run

THE BURDEN OF EMPIRE. With our country in its present condition, with our export trade steadily dwindling, with a burden of taxation twice as great as that of any other nation in the world, it is sheer lunacy to try to make another Eastern Empire. We shall end by destroying the older Empire we already possess.—Laval Fraser, in The Daily Mail.

Recommendations

The special recommendation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Messrs J. A. Higgs, J. H. Bryant and F. H. Henry, who heard the debate on the employment situation here at an open forum meeting, have presented their findings. They say:

"In the ideal city all able bodied men should be employed in some useful occupation.

"We would recommend, wherever possible, the eight-hour day for all labor, also one day's rest in seven, preferably on Sunday. This should also be extended to railroad employees where practicable.

"We would also recommend close co-operation between employer and employee. Meetings should be held at stated intervals and the welfare of the business of city discussed so that it would become a benefit to employees as well as employer.

"It would appear that the interests of both employer and employee would be better served if a practical profit-sharing scheme or bonus system could be devised.

"We recommend that employers of apprentices should encourage them by educational instruction in the shop and we also earnestly recommend the establishment of technical school, the same to be subsidized by the provincial government in order to enable the coming generation to become efficient in industrial pursuits.

"We recommend that ideal sanitary conditions be maintained in all factories and workshops.

"We would, in closing, strongly recommend that the people of Belleville give their hearty interest and support to the industries already established in our city."

Merchants Bank Official Moves to New Post by Own Car

Mr. N. D. McFadyen, manager of the local branch of the Merchants Bank of Canada, expects to leave for Montreal by motor some time on Friday to take up his new position as manager of an important branch in that city. His successor is not known for certain.

IRISH MODERATES ACTIVE

Trying to Influence Party Councils Towards Settlement

LONDON, June 1.—The London Times, referring to the Irish situation, asserts that the moderate section of the Sinn Fein is again trying to influence the party councils in the direction of a settlement. The paper adds that the Government believes that notwithstanding recent violence the prominence of the extremists and their numerical strength have declined considerably and that they are of comparatively small account except in the areas already under martial law.

G. T. R. ARBITRATION AGAIN

Ex-President Taft Not on Hand Today at the Opening

MONTREAL, June 1.—The Grand Trunk arbitration proceedings were resumed today, beginning at 10.30, although it is unlikely that ex-President W. H. Taft, who was absent, will be present until Thursday. In order to expedite proceedings, the Arbitration Committee will sit on Friday, June 3, the King's Birthday.

MIXED QUARTETTE HELD FOR DEATH OF YOUNG DOCTOR

Ramsay Rankin of Stratford Found Dying in Pool of Own Blood

MONTREAL, June 1.—Two men and two women were being held this morning by the police for a coroner's inquest in connection with the death early this morning of Dr. Ramsay Rankin, of Stratford.

Dr. Rankin was the son of J. P. Rankin, former mayor of Stratford and also a member of parliament for North Perth.

He was a great hockey player, figuring prominently on his home town team and with McGill. From information gathered by the police it appears that a party took place at the St. Catharines street west apartment house in which Rankin was under the influence of alcohol.

Around eleven, residents heard the front door bell ring. The door was opened and almost immediately a quarrel started. The sound of crashing glass was heard and when an investigation was made, Dr. Rankin was found lying on the stairs in his underclothing in a pool of his own blood.

It is thought he was first stabbed with a knife and then thrown through a window in which he was under the influence of alcohol.

LOST DIAMOND LAST FALL NOW RECOVERED IN FOOL

Point Anne Woman Nearly Swallowed Precious Stone at Noon Meal Today

LADY MRS. M. J. GIBSON, of Point Anne, who was making a supper for her family, found a diamond ring which she had lost last fall, in a piece of food which she was eating today at noon as she was eating she felt a hard substance in her mouth and on examining it she found it to be the same diamond which she lost in the fall while making the supper.

RAILWAY SHOPS RESUME

Both G. T. R. and C. P. R. Look for Better Times Soon

MONTREAL, June 1.—Preparations for a gradual resumption of the work of the various big railway shops throughout Canada are now under way, although it was stated today that these shops would not return to anything like full time, owing to the high costs of production and the diminished orders for work consequent on increased costs of traffic. This applies to both Grand Trunk and the C.P.R. angus shops.

Movie Folk Not in Big Star Now so Hungry

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 1.—A conservative member of the Hollywood film colony estimates that between 2,000 and 3,000 motion picture workers of the world's film capital are idle, and many of them are actually starving.

Following the feverish wave of war-time prosperity and high wages has come the reaction, which is being felt in the cinema industry as well as elsewhere, with the result that thousands of artists, clerks, etc., in the studios have been thrown out of employment.

MURNEY'S HILL NEARLY ITSELF AGAIN

MURNEY'S HILL, one of the prettiest gateways to the city, is again about to look natural. For two years it has looked like Hill "Twenty-three," or Hill "Sixty," which with grading and paving operations. But the final stretch of the improvements launched so long ago is now being run. The north sidewalk is complete and today Mr. Ed. Britton, who has charge of all the concrete work of the city is constructing a retaining wall in front of the Murney estate.

Back from the retaining wall to the Murney farm, the city will grade the soil and sow it with grass seed. In a few days the south side operations will be begun in which a number of lawns will be improved, having been put out of reach of the street by excavations for the sidewalk. A week or so will find all the hill again a thing of beauty.

The Britton Brothers, who are experts in concrete work, are making an excellent job of the north retaining wall.

ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY IS TOPIC

Naval Defence Question Growing out of This is Problem of Future

LONDON, June 1.—The Imperial premiers, together with representatives of India, are assembling in London the second fortnight in June for what is considered the most important meeting of the kind ever held in the history of the British Empire. Matters that will come up for discussion will include the naval defence of the Empire, renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, the Imperial foreign policy, and the arrangements for a subsequent Imperial conference to settle the issue of policy as between the Mother Country and the dominions.

Of these questions the Anglo-Japanese alliance is the dominating one, involving as it does the relations between the British Empire and the Japanese Empire. The naval policy which needs settlement is the extent to which the dominions will in the future contribute to the burden of the naval defence of the Empire, which heretofore has fallen almost entirely on the Mother Country. The Prime Minister some months ago declared in the House of Commons that the British taxpayer could no longer be expected to bear this heavy burden alone, and that it must be shared by the dominions.

The Dominion Governments, it is said, are not averse to such a solution, but will expect in return to have greater votes in the Imperial policy. It only remains therefore to settle whether the dominions' contribution will be in the shape of money or ships.

GIVINGS SET UP RECORD

Over $4,500,000 of Which Forward Movement is Half for Year 1920.

TORONTO, June 1.—Unanimous agreement recommending to the Presbyterian General Assembly a further postponement of organization with the Methodist congregation and Anglican churches has been reached by the Church Union Committee, which will report to the assembly this week according to the Toronto Telegram.

The Presbyterian Committee on church union, which is understood to reach an agreement for or against organization with the Methodist and congregationalist bodies. It will therefore go before the assembly unopposed by unanimous agreement from the body of two dozen leading churchmen who for four years have had the matter in hand. The feeling of the committee is said to be strongly pro-union, but that there are still a dozen strong opponents in body.

Big Total of Givings. The grand total of giving of the Presbyterian church in Canada during the past year for maintenance, equipment and extension reached the record sum of about four and a half million dollars.

This was the summary of the report presented by the treasurers, Rev. A. Laird and Rev. T. Stewart at the general assembly, which opened for business today.

The forward movement thank-offerings constituted the largest individual item in the list making up this stupendous total. These amounted to over two million and a half. Congregational giving totalled well over one million.

At a dinner given in his honor, Sir Herbert declared it was his desire to see a closer entente with the French in Asian affairs.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS VEXING QUESTION HERE

Board of Education Does Not Expect, However, to Lose Many From Staff This Year

Appointment of teachers and fixing of salaries will be the problem soon to be solved by the Board of Education. Next meeting will see the appointments made. But before that time a great amount of work remains to be done by the School Management Committee. Already a meeting has been held in connection with this branch of the board's work.

The school board does not expect to lose many teachers this year.

CAVE-DWELLERS FORGOT CLOTHES

Colony Living Just Outside of Berlin, Germany, Dispersed by Police

ATTRACTED SIGHTSEERES
Leader Soon Spoiled Things by Trying to Reform the World, and Failed

BERLIN, May 31.—The colony of cave-dwellers of Berlin, which took the back-to-the-land doctrine so literally that scores of men, women, boys and girls dug caves for themselves in the banks of the Spree just out of Berlin and discarded all modern wearing apparel, has been dispersed by the police. The colony's leader, Dr. Heinrich Coudberg, argued before a magistrate that the experiment was a simple solution of the housing and cost of living problems.

The cave-dwellers began by discarding hats and shoes but soon decided to do away with clothing altogether and in this fashion disported themselves in the waters of the Spree, or sat about their cave doors munching black bread and sausages, apparently oblivious to the crowds of sight-seers which began to frequent the vicinity.

Dr. Goldberg from his abode in the "Cave of Zarathustra" issued circulars discussing the Nietzschean philosophy, anarchy, Communism, the faults of the present civilization and asking the rent-weary and the work-worn to "watch this colony grow."

Somebody spoiled the experiment by complaining that the brotherhood was having a deleterious effect upon public morals and calling attention to the doctor's career, which was said to have included efforts to reform England, Russia and Poland.

The colony has disappeared but its leader has become a familiar figure upon the streets of Berlin, wearing long hair and going barefoot.

GREEN FOR SPORTS

For the sports girl who would not be a whit behind the mode comes the whisper that green is the color for the links and court.

Knitted alpaca (and what old-time visions does that recall!) in brilliant green with straight chemise frock and long knitted cape is the smartest thing in feminine sport toggery.

Not a few of these garments are banded with china red silk from hip to border. The neck line is invariably collarless and the sleeves are of the short mandarin variety. These as well as the narrow green sirdle which knots loosely at the waist, are edged with china red.

The capes have a delightful neck treatment—a long scarf, attached and deeply fringed.

For suits, which desire a sporting air, nickel buttons are the latest conceit. They are found at the strapped pocket and belt and occasionally one finds the skirt which flirts below the jacket, of the knitted variety.

Soutache braid, of which there used to be miles used every season, is finding its place on the semi-sport suits.

ZION'S HILL

The funeral of the late Mrs. Wm. Chambers of Bethel, was held here in the Methodist Church on Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted by the pastor Rev. Mr. White, while Mr. Palmer sang a very impressive solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holbert, of Thomasburg spent Sunday at Mr. Arthur Stevensons.

Rev. George Denyes, of the Norway House of Manitoba, made a flying visit here last week. He also visited his sister, Miss Helen Denyes at Whitby College.

Mrs. Edmond Kennedy is able to be up again after an attack of pneumonia. Nurse Effie McMullen, of Halloway, is nursing her.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sills, of Foxboro, spent Sunday here guests at Mr. Roy Sills.

Mrs. J. V. Ketcheson is very ill at present. Mrs. Osborne of Belleville, is staying with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Casey spent Thursday at Mr. J. Bryans, Foxboro. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Thompson spent Monday at Moira guests at Mr. D. Thompson's.

Nurse A. Elliott has returned to her home at Moira after spending some time at Mr. Lorne Brown's.

Mr. Willett Ketcheson had a narrow escape from being badly hurt on the 24th. On their way to Foxboro his horses were frightened by a car and the team broke loose from the buggy. The buggy was badly smashed up, but no one was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Mitts, of Fuller, also Miss M. Hollinger, spent Friday in this neighborhood.

Daughter May Receives Position Vacant By Death of Father

Renfrew—The Renfrew Mercury understands that there is a movement on foot, backed by several local organizations, to have Miss Mabel Wright appointed to the position made vacant by the death of her father, the late Orange Wright. Miss Wright is well fitted for the position. She is a graduate of Queen's University and has had eleven years' experience as her father's assistant, during the years when there has been a changing tariff to deal with. There are no details of the business with which she is not perfectly familiar. In all her work she has given uniform satisfaction. We understand that the appointment of Miss Wright would meet with the approval of a very large majority of the people of Renfrew.

Louis Frances, an Indian from West Bay, was sentenced to 15 days in jail for robbing a drunken man in Sudbury.

Consumption

—alone and poor!

"CONSUMPTION!"

To a little milliner in a small Ontario village the doctor's word sounded like her death sentence.

"Rest," said the physician, "fresh air, sunshine and good food are the only medicines for you."

—but how empty his words sounded!

"Rest!"

To this girl—without a relative in the world—rest meant starvation.

Death stared her in the face— and then a ray of hope!

The woman she boarded with spoke of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives—

If she could only get there?

She did—and now this young, pretty girl is well again.

Consumptives' Emergency Million Dollar Fund

Week—May 29 to June 4

The Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, destroyed by fire on November 30th last, must be replaced by buildings, larger and fireproof.

Accommodation is needed at the Muskoka Free Hospital for 400 adults in early stages of the disease. This will restore 250 of them to their homes and loved ones—cured. The remainder will be greatly benefited.

A few months for each patient soon means thousands cared for. Funds are urgently needed for this work.

Again—adults in advanced stages must be treated at the King Edward Sanatorium on the banks of the Humber near Weston. Extensions are necessary. Many of these patients can be saved.

And again—little children—stricken with the dread disease—must be cared for at the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children near Weston. Ninety per cent. of these are saved to become healthy men and women.

Funds are urgently needed to cover the cost of extensions.

Further, funds are urgently needed to carry on the work of The Gage Institute in the City of Toronto, where the needy poor come for free examinations, including X-ray, and for medical and nursing assistance.

Fifteen thousand needy consumptives have been cared for to date at the hospitals conducted by the Association.

PRINCE OF WALES FOR RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

H. R. H. Cables Her Excellency He is Pleased Canada is Carrying on Good Work

TORONTO, May 31.—In a cable message received here from Her Excellency, the Duchess of Devonshire, president of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Prince of Wales has expressed his cordial good wishes for the success of the Membership Enrollment Campaign which the Red Cross is now conducting throughout Canada.

The message reads as follows: "To the Duchess of Devonshire, President, Canadian Red Cross Society:

"I am pleased to hear that the Government of Canada has issued a Royal proclamation inviting support for Red Cross membership campaign. I cordially wish success to the Canadian Red Cross, which did such wonderful work during the war."

(Signed) EDWARD P. The Prince of Wales had already sent a message to the League of Cross Societies at Geneva wishing success to the world-wide membership enrollment of the thirty-one societies in the League. The Prince is a life member of the Canadian Red Cross.

Cattle Ring at Port Hope "Lost" the Game for Them

Belleville is not the only Central Ontario ball town that has a "joke" ball park as witness the following from the Port Hope Guide:

The cattle ring, at the Town Park which is serving no useful purpose at the present time, lost the opening ball game for Port Hope on Saturday. The fair directors, having called off the exhibition this year and consequently these rings are not necessary. They are certainly no adornment to the Park and according to the agreement between the council and the Fair Directors at time they were erected, these rings were to be portable affairs and were to be removed immediately after the exhibition.

Proposal to Organize Clubs Like "Canadian" in U. S.

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 31.—A concrete plan for the organization of British communities in foreign countries is to be launched in connection with the Imperial Conference, F. L. Lowther, of Sydney, Australia, will present a proposal in London for increased activities for the promotion of British clubs and associations wherever there are British subjects under another flag, similar to the Canadian Clubs in the U. S.

Their Excellencies the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire returned to Ottawa early Saturday morning having spent the past week in Toronto and Hamilton.

A GLIMPSE AT THE WORLD OF SPORT

ALL SET FOR LINDSAY'S BEST TRUNKS HAVE SNAPPY WORKOUT

All that is needed now to make tomorrow afternoon a big day in the local baseball world is the appearance of Mr. Oulette on the mound. The boys are eager to meet him. They put on a fair work-out last night with the willow—somebody broke another—and the infield snapped 'em across, backwards and forwards, the infield playing their positions.

One or two new men were out and of these Knott, (or is it Noid?) a youngster of promise was tried out hearing them up to the batters.

He will get a chance later on to show how long he'll last in a real game.

Mills behind the home-made "plate"—since some kind soul purchased the new rubber one—was boss of the job and his whip to second was perfect 9 times out of 10.

The infield is snappy but their one fault is that perhaps they hurry it when there's no need and often put 'em too low at first or home.

In the outer regions, the boys with that trusty veteran, Symons, showing them all how, were grabbing off long shots with care and nicety.

Fred Goyer warmed up and then batted some hot ones out for practice.

Mr. Duff was out looking his proteges over and making last arrangements for the tussle with Lindsay. They expect to have some ceremony to "open" the season here.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay, President of the B.A.A.A. was expected to pitch the first ball but will be out of town, it was said. In his place Mr. Mackenzie Robertson, vice-president, will officiate, Mayor Hanna and Mr. McMillan of the G.T.R. will be asked also to do the honors.

The grounds are as good as can be expected and Mr. Elliott, chairman of the grounds committee, of the B.A.A.A., has the matter in charge and will have the infield as trim and clean as possible. It's to be hoped it don't rain again as the ground won't hold any more moisture just now.

The nets behind the catcher are high enough, the only fault to be found with them being that they are a shade too close—not enough to do any harm, however.

SUCCESS OF CAR BEING WATCHED

Prince Edward Hope to See the Electric Service Extended Through to Picton

PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVES
Bible Society Elects New Officers for Year—Personal Mention

WELLINGTON, June 1.—Many people here are watching with interest to see if the Trolleyless Electric Car service on the Trenton-Belleville line is a success, as it is stated that a similar service may be established on the Trenton-Picton line. As this line is so inadequately served at present it would be a boon to many in this locality if such a service were started, with an early train up in the morning, and late train down at night connecting with the main line trains.

The ensuing sittings of His Majesty's Court Revision Court will be held by Hon. Judge McLean in the Masonic Hall on Thursday, June 9th, at 10 a.m.

Boyce Wilkie is home from Simcoe. Stephen and Mrs. White, of Bloomfield, spent Friday and Saturday visiting Mrs. Charity Morden, and other friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Honey and sons Roy and Charles, of Port Hope, also Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips, of Rednersville, visited Sarah Garratt and Mrs. Chislett on Sunday.

Prof. Arthur G. Dorland spoke at the Friends meeting on Sunday morning on Friends Reconstruction Work in France, as he saw it on his visit to France last summer.

There was a successful domestic sale at the Friends Church on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Sylvia Boyce has come back to Wellington for the summer's work, and is staying with her brother Albert Boyce.

Archie McCullough has been appointed junior clerk at the Standard Bank here.

D. S. Ainsworth and E. E. Taylor, the undertakers, have dissolved partnership owing to Mr. Taylor's ill health. The business of undertaker will be carried on by Mr. Ainsworth.

At the annual meeting of the Bible Society here, new officers were elected for the Wellington branch.

President, James W. Secretary, Treasurer, Ralph Dorland. Representatives of Churches on the executive: Anglican, Stephen Leavens; Friends, Mrs. S. D. Cronk; Rose Hall Methodist, L. B. Ferguson; Wellington Methodist, Mrs. Dowerman.

$56.85 was sent to the Bible Society last year, and a canvass is being arranged to collect funds within a few weeks.

Miss Gretta Adams, a student from the Moody Institute, Chicago, spent a few days with Mrs. David Vandervoort. On Wednesday evening Miss Adams spoke to a good company at the Friends Prayer Meeting.

Her subject being "Answers to Prayer." The message was much appreciated. Miss Adams has trained for missionary work, and expects to receive an appointment under the China Inland Mission for service in China. She left Wellington on Saturday to visit relatives at Ameliasburg.

Many people here got a surprise and a bit of shock on Friday, when there was a notice out that Mrs. Leina Durland's house was up for sale. Mrs. Durland proposes to sell her house and locate near her son at London, Ont., but she is likely to spend the summer months in Wellington.

BALKANS SEETHING WITH WAR FEVER, RACIAL HATE
Foreign Observers Fear Outbreak of Another Conflict that May Involve Europe

ROME, June 1.—Sweeping down from the highlands of Macedonia and Albania, great bands of irregular soldiers today are threatening to start another Balkan war which may involve all of Europe.

The fighters—almost bandits in their mode of warfare but driven by strong nationalistic feeling—entered foreign countries. Pillage and arson marked their trail. The Governments thus taunted immediately planned to raise forces to combat them.

The old Balkan troubles are involved in the fighting. Greece wants more land to the north; Bulgaria wants to reclaim some of the territory lost in the war, and Serbia wants to retain her newly won lands.

Latest advices received here show the situation is especially critical in Macedonia and Albania, whose problems were not solved by the treaties of St. Germain and Sevres.

Officials here feared that before the Allied Supreme Council or the League of Nations can intervene, the irregular will clash with regular military forces and start the conflict which may engulf not only the Balkans but spread through Europe.

"KIDDIES" WITH JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS WHICH PLAYS IN BELLEVILLE ON MONDAY, JUNE 13.

CLOWN BAND ON TABLEAU

Big Hit in Parade With Little Tots

They're coming to town—the clowns, the elephants and everything. John Robinson's circus will exhibit at Belleville, Monday, June 13 and with the show, say the advance men, are fifty of the funniest fellows, the merriest, merry An-draws that ever swung a stuffed club or cracked each other indelicately with the time-honored slapstick. Among them are a half-dozen clowns known as producing clowns, fellows who carry their own troupes of funsters and their own props, as the paraphernalia of their acts is called. These fellows have built burlesques of every event now being recorded in the daily press.

They ride a tableau wagon in the two-mile street parade and they constitute the funniest jazz band this side of the equator. Big clowns, little clowns, fat clowns, and slim clowns—they pull justly on their horns and trombones while their band-wagon goes rolling along. In the performances, they have a hundred stunts which they pull in the rings, on the stages, in the air and on the track. They are always on the job and they will bet that they can make you laugh as you never laughed before, for they are the pick of American and European funny-makers.

AN IMPROVEMENT OVER IN AUSTRIA

Sir William Goode Thinks People Look Healthier and Money is Easier

FAILS TO GET LOANS
Trouble is that War-Torn Country Has no Security on which to Get Cash

VIENNA, June 1.—Sir William Goode, chairman of the Austrian section of the Reparations Commission which has just gone out of existence, who has made several attempts to obtain British loans for Austria, sees some signs of improvement in the internal situation of this country.

By Austria's initiative, since she has no assets to pledge except, by permission of the Reparations Commission, the import requirements for these should be financed without any serious demand upon state funds.

Sir William pointed out that neither the League of Nations nor the Reparations Commission can grant credits to Austria for they have no money. Neither, he said, can foreign credits be obtained solely by Austria's initiative, since she has no assets to pledge except, by permission of the Reparations Commission.

"Only by a combination of all these factors can any result be achieved," he continued. "When the League of Nations have concluded their investigations and made their proposals which are to be based upon private credit, it will still be for the bankers to say if they will put up their money."

These foreign credits, if granted, he said could not be made available until the claims against Austria for reparation and for relief loans had been postponed and this involved obtaining the consent of several countries who have not yet had an opportunity even to study that question.

Therefore, he concluded, that no foreign credits would be available for Austria for the next few months. Hard times are ahead for Austrians, he declared.

AIR MINISTRY OFFERS 6 MACHINES AS GIFT
LONDON, June 1.—A gift of six giant airships to any syndicate ready to operate them on a commercial basis, was offered by the British Air Ministry today. On the grounds of national economy, the Government has decided to dispense with airships and concentrate on airplanes.

"The decision does not mean that we doubt the efficiency of airships for naval or military purposes," declared Major-General Sir Frederick Sykes, Air Controller.

"There is urgent need for economy by England and instructions have gone out for all departments to cut expenditures. Airships are costly to operate, and therefore we are prepared to make a gift to any syndicate with sufficient enterprise and vision to embark in the business of carrying passengers or goods over long distances, such as from London to New York or to Egypt, South Africa, India or Australia.

PALE AND NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Need Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school-rooms cause their blood to become weak, their nerves over-wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus' Dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep this rich and red by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Watson, Grand Falls, N.B., who says: "In the spring of 1919 my daughter, Thelma, then 12 years of age, began to show symptoms of nervousness which developed into St. Vitus' dance. She seemed to lose control of her limbs and at times every muscle in her body seemed to be twitching and jerking, and the trouble seemed to be growing worse. We finally decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result was better even than we had hoped for, and she is now enjoying the best of health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORGANIZE TO AID PEACE OF WORLD

League of Nations Society With Borden President Begun at Ottawa

WILL HELP LEAGUE
Hopes to Foster Mutual Understanding With Neighbors of Dominion

OTTAWA, June 1.—That Canada may do her share in the task of fostering mutual understanding between the nations and so promoting the success of the League of Nations Society, which is to be Dominion-wide in its scope, was instituted, with Sir Robert Borden as its first President, at a meeting held here last night. The objects of the new organization are: "To promote international peace; to furnish information about the League of Nations, its principles, its organization and its work; to study international problems and Canada's relations thereto as a member of the British Commonwealth and of the League of Nations; to foster mutual understanding, good will and habits of co-operation between the people of Canada and other countries in accordance with the spirit of the League of Nations; to promote the establishment of Provincial or local associations, clubs or other bodies having like objects, and to co-operate with any existing organizations for such purposes.

Officers of the Society are:—Honorary Presidents—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. T. A. Crerar. President—Sir Robert Borden. Vice-Presidents—Hon. N. W. Rowell, M.P., and Hon. H. S. Beland, M.P.

Honorary Secretary—Vincent C. Massey, of Toronto. Honorary Treasurer—A. J. Brown K.C. of Montreal.

An organizing committee was appointed, consisting of the officers elected and General Sir Arthur Currie, G. S. Campbell, Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., M.P., Dr. Howard Murray, L.L.D., Major Hume Cronyn, M.P., Isaac Pitblado, Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, Leonard P. D. Tillyer, K.C., Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Senator C. P. Beaubien and Dr. H. M. Torr, L.L.D.

His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire spoke strongly in favor of the movement.

The woman who kisses another woman she hates may possibly fool herself, but she never fools the other woman.

It is the natural economy of women that causes her to cut out of her coat's worth of sleeve in order that she may wear $5 worth of glove.

"SIDEWALLING," WHICH IN THE VERNACULAR OF THE "WHITE TOPS" MEANS ENTRANCE TO THE SHOW WITHOUT A TICKET. THESE KIDNERS WERE CAUGHT "SIDEWALLING" AT THE JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS WHICH COMES HERE MONDAY, JUNE 13TH.

BEAUTIFULLY COSTUMED and lovely girls with John Robinson's Circus

You don't have to go to the big musical productions nowadays to see beautiful show girls, for when the John Robinson circus comes to Belleville Monday, June 13, there'll be girls aloft and girls on the stages and in the rings that will match the grandest beauty that ever stepped down stage in a Lucille gown. Take the Nelson sisters—six of 'em—count 'em—for instance. Here are young women who somersault in the fastest acrobatic act ever known, an act that has been acclaimed for four generations. One would expect them to be nearly perfect physically, but one would hardly expect to see their delicate type of beauty, which is that of the avenue and the tea room, rather than of the outdoors. But the Nelson girls are debutantes, and the world knows that debutantes are adept in every outdoor sport these days. And there is Irene Montgomery, equestrienne and aerial marvel. Irene has a vivid, appalling beauty that registers at once with the people in the stands. She is known as the best dressed woman in show business, which does not exclude the stage. Not a bit of it.

Then there are Nettie Dill, Madame Bedini and Madame Hodgkin, who are exceedingly good to look at. And they, too, will be seen in creations that will captivate the women in the John Robinson audiences. And among the two hundred other girl performers with the big show are all types of beauty—all garbed in really fetching costumes, turned out by the same modistes that dress the big musical shows. Times change with the circus, and nowhere is this fact so pronounced as in the costuming of the circus girls. At least, she's come into her own—brave little heroine of the white tops, who scorns temperamental stuff and does her hazardous work willingly, smilingly.

DESKS CLEARED TO TAKE CENSUS FAST, ACCURATE

Everything in Readiness Says J. A. Kerr, Chief Commissioner for Hastings

REPORTS FIRST DAY Jail and Institutions Will Not Lose Any Time—Revised List of Men

"Everything is in readiness for the enumeration," said Mr. J. A. Kerr, West Hastings Census Commissioner, today in reference to the work which begins tomorrow and continued— "I don't know of a weak spot in the list. If a man falls down, we have made provision for that emergency as we are ready to put one in his place."

"We'll have all in Belleville by the fifteenth day, some of them before that, some even on the eighth day. "I'm going to have one list in at four o'clock on the first day. There will be another in at five o'clock."

"Have some been working?" he was asked. "No. These lists are from institutions. The jail will be enumerated by ten o'clock tomorrow morning. The House of Refuge will be completed some time in the afternoon, the Ontario School for the Deaf will, I think, be done in the first day or not later than the second."

"Some of the business sections will not take as long as the residential districts. I am not just sure but I think it may expect some returns in within a week. Lists of enumerators revised to date are: Belleville

NEW TAX ON BORDER Canada Follows Example of United States on Imports

WINDSOR, Ont., May 31.—The new tariff regulations by which importers of potatoes, wheat and wheat flour from the United States are required to pay duty of 20 cents on a bag of potatoes, 12 cents a bushel on wheat, and 50 cents on a barrel of flour, went into effect on Monday at border points. The Canadian tariff, which corresponds with the United States emergency tariff, has been on the Dominion statute books for some time, according to A. T. Montreuil, Collector of Customs at Windsor, but never enforced because there was no similar tariff in the United States.

1600 ASSESSMENT APPEALS Court of Revision to Hold Initial Session Tomorrow Eve.

FLOOD WATERS BURST DYKE 400 FARMERS ARE MENACED

WOODLAND, Wash. May 31.—A dyke protecting a reclaimed farm area of some twelve thousand acres near here broke under the pressure of flood waters early this morning. A pumping station at Burch Slough was washed out soon after the break occurred and indications were that the entire district would be flooded. Between four and five hundred farmers live in the section and couriers were sent to warn them to flee.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MAKE CITY PROVIDE MONEY?

Question Will Not Be Allowed to Drop at the Present Time

REQUISITION ACCEPTED? Educationists Declare the Council Only Sparring for Time; Know the Law

That the Coleman Ward School question will not be allowed to drop is evident from the attitude of the Board of Education. They would not state today what steps that body would now take.

The board, however, has had legal advice that the council, having once accepted the requisition is legally bound to provide the money for the construction. Legal steps to force council would take time and perhaps would make completion of the school impossible this year.

"The council know the law on the point. They are just sparring for time in order to delay the beginning so that the work cannot be begun this year," said a trustee this morning. "They turned down the second reading but did not turn down the requisition." So more about the school anon.

Declare Moira River Has Usual Complaint

Dumping from Plant up the Stream Stopped From Today It is Said

Old Father Moira is beginning to look as if he is in for his usual summer complaint with its vile odors and decaying fish. During the past few days the stream has borne a sickly appearance. The water is no longer clear and seems full of a weedy growth—algae the scientists call it.

Representations have been made to a certain plant on the Moira and it is stated that waste from the works will cease to flow into the Moira from today.

CRAIG HAS 40 SUPPORTERS Sinn Feiners and Nationalists Have Only Six Each

LONDON, May 31.—The final results of the elections for the Ulster Parliament were announced last night. County Down returns six supporters of Sir James Craig, one Nationalist and one Sinn Feiner. The new Parliament for the North of Ireland now stands: Craig supporters, 49; Sinn Feiners, 6; Nationalists, 6.

GIRL RECRUITS FOR MORMONS REJECT PRESBYTERIAN'S ADVICE ACCEPT ANGLICAN HOSPITALITY

MONTREAL, May 31.—A party of twenty-nine recruits, mostly composed of handsome young girls, for the Mormon colony of Latter Day Saints at Salt Lake City, Utah, arrived in Montreal on Monday on board the Pretorian from England. They were met by Rev. John Chisholm, Presbyterian Dock missionary, who is an old-time enemy of their sect and who did his utmost to dissuade the party from proceeding on their journey. He was not successful, however. They endeavored to get seats in a bus bound for the Canadian Pacific Railway's

COLEMAN SCHOOL LEFT IN THE AIR COUNCIL SAYS NO

Vote was 4 to 3 Against Giving Second Reading to Requisition By-Law

REASONS; APOLOGIES Council Asked by G.W.V.A. to Aid in Improving Grounds for June 3rd

"Coleman Ward School will be a vision only for some time. Council last night by a vote of 4 to 3 turned down a motion of Ald. Adams to request the requisition bylaw its second reading.

Mayor Hanna was in the chair and could not vote. Those voting for were—Ald. Adams, Wensley and Bal-Finger. Against were—Ald. Woodley, Ostrom, Treverton, Bennett and the absentees were, Ald. French and Ald. Fisher.

Mayor Hanna declared "I have to declare your motion lost. Personally I see no reason for this at all. I think it is a very foolish move. You all know the need. You think you are going to save money, but I think not, since you will have to build at Grier street school to house the children."

Ald. Ostrom—"I'm not here to take any dual position. No one doubts the need, but there is dispute about going on with the work now. He had favored a compromise to bring unanimity.

"This old boat, the municipally owned, has been for three years sailing along spending on improvements. I thought if you could help us a little to straighten out our finances, we would be glad to wait until January to pass the bylaw would not delay very much the construction.

"You will pardon us taking the opposite view to you members of the Board of Education. There are a number of finance with perhaps $200,000 debentures yet to be floated at a possible loss.

He favored passing the by-law before the end of the year. Ald. Woodley spoke in the same strain. "The money question is not in my mind. I don't think it is in the council's."

Mayor—"I cannot understand your arguments." Chairman McGie was surprised at the words of Ald. Woodley and Ald. Treverton and said the expense of make-shifts was too great.

Majority Missing Ald. Ballinger told of the change in the attitude of the council. "Where was our first majority?" he asked, saying it had disappeared. "I think the 1921 council will go down to history as the quickest of lightning change artists."

Ald. Ostrom—"We are here as guardians of the public. There are 60 or 70 per cent of the people who don't understand the school situation. The school board made a mistake he thought, by not offering to wait for eight months for the by-law.

Trustee McGreevey assured the board of the guarantee that the work could be completed by January. "Next year for buildings," said Ald. Ostrom—citing the school, the fire hall, etc.

Ald. Bennett—"I've attended a lot of meetings in my time, but I never heard of a motion being discussed after it was passed. It is all out of order.

Personalities Fly. A few personalities were indulged in and it took the Mayor's suavity to smooth the wrinkles. Mayor Hanna—"I certainly don't think it is economy to delay. It is a turn down to the Board of Education, Coleman Ward, and the children of the city. It is a blow to economy."

The following petitions for sidewalk repairs were presented—N. Elm street, S. Catherine, N. Wilkins, W. Isabel, N. Lime, N. Evans, N. Brasse, S. College, N. Pine St., as were petitions for sewers—Dunbar, Jones, Emitt, Albion, Bleeker.

Unofficially signed petitions were—Gordon, Octavia, Cemetery, etc. Six Dollars Per Foot Pavement Church street pavement will cost it is estimated $14,225.30. The rate per lineal foot will be $4.04.50. The city's share will be $9,820.80. Ald. Adams asked if anything had been done about closing the drain on Ashley street.

Ald. Treverton thought the foreman would start at once. The present sewer would be taken up and an eight inch main laid. The east side was to be filled with pipe, to drain off surface water from the hill.

Ald. Ballinger informed Ald. Treverton that surface water flooded a walk on Station street.

WAR CRIMINAL TRIALS FAIR—SAYS BRITISHER

Solicitor-General Back From Leipzig Declares Sentences Adequate; Judge Impartial

LONDON, May 31.—Sir Ernest Peelock, the Solicitor-General, has returned to London from Leipzig, where he attended the opening trials of the German war criminals. He was impressed, he said, with the authority of the court, which was equivalent to the British Privy Council. The president was a man of striking character and impartiality. The British witnesses were examined with complete fairness and their testimony was well interpreted, according to the Solicitor-General, who declared he was satisfied that the court might be regarded with the fullest confidence.

Ruling By Court Here Follows Opinion Given By High Court Judge

In the report of the O.T.A. case in which Robert Stewart of Point Anne was charged with a breach of the act by having liquor illegally, Magistrate Masson's judgment was dittoed, and as published yesterday, Mr. Masson's ruling was that liquor obtained in the way as claimed (joint shipment), could not legally be stored in the defendant's own dwelling but owing to an expression of opinion of a high court judge in an O.T.A. judgment that the defence had been established in a similar case the magistrates gave the benefit of the doubt on the point in the Point Anne case and dismissed the charge against Mr. Stewart.

MANY INJURED IN BAD WRECK

EDINBURG, Ind., May 31.—From fifty to sixty persons were injured in a bad wreck here last night when a Pennsylvania freight train crashed in the Dixie flyer, a fast Indianapolis-Columbus and Southern Traction car, carrying a trailer at the track intersection here.

An emergency hospital was made out of a doctor's office and the injured were taken there for medical attention. All available doctors were rushed to the place. Many women and children were among the injured.

Most of the men injured were in the smoking compartment of the head car. The flyer was en route from Indianapolis to Louisville and was carrying many persons from the automobile races at Indianapolis. The freight car was turned over and the motorman's vestibule was torn off and thrown against the side of a building some distance away. Both car and trailer were loaded to capacity. The traction line is on the main line and the accident occurred in the heart of the city.

GARFIELD BODY TO FAMILY Attorney-General Will Put No Obstacle in the Way

TORONTO, May 31.—The body of Garfield will, in all probability be handed over by the authorities to his relatives for burial instead of being interred in the jail yard, as is commonly done in the case of executions. Yesterday Robert Garfield, a brother of the condemned murderer, called at the Parliament Buildings to ask for permission to remove the body after the law has exacted the full penalty. He spent some time with Inspector W. W. Dunlop, to whom he made the application.

TRENTON POWER IS WORTHLESS?

Drury Government Thinks Central Ontario Power is White Elephant

MIX-UP IN PURCHASE Government May Take Over Chippewa and Wholesale Power to the Users

What to do with the provincially owned Central Ontario power system, formerly the Trenton Electric, is one of the problems that is receiving the careful attention of the Drury government.

The government finds that the system is not on a proper financial basis and that unless rates are raised it may become a white elephant. The province paid $2,700,000 for intangible assets which now prove to be worthless and should the system be turned over to the municipalities that amount would have to be written off as a loss.

The system was purchased on the initiative of the hydro commission and Hon. Howard Ferguson, but the former approved of the deal on the understanding that the debentures issued would be for 40 years instead of which they were issued for only 20 years.

Another reason for the rejection of the bill is the fact that the government is considering the question whether the province should not take over the Chippewa Canal and the whole task of producing power, leaving it to the municipalities and the rural power users to provide the local distribution systems.

BRITISH MOTOR COSTS

Trade Has Been Poor Lately With Prospects Brighter Now

LONDON, May 30.—(By Canadian Press)—The automobile trade has been poor during the past few months in London, according to a newspaper statement, but there is now some promise of improvement. It is stated that orders are coming in with a certain degree of freedom.

Nevertheless prices have come down substantially, second hand motors being available sometimes at absurdly low figures. Tires an expensive motoring item, have been reduced approximately 10 percent, and in one case a further reduction of 1 pound sterling a tire, is reported. There is also a 10 percent reduction on a number of other accessories.

GOLD CAN BE "MADE" SAYS NEW YORK CHEMIST

Dr. C. B. Davis Claims Also to Have "Made" Silver, Copper and Platinum

NEW YORK, May 31.—Dr. Charles Benson Davis, of this city, in a paper which he has just submitted to Engineering Foundation, claims to have solved the problem of manufacturing gold. He declares he has already successfully demonstrated the possibility of making gold and other chemical elements, such as silver, platinum and copper, by transmutation of a common element. He has shown samples of the metals he claims to have made to members of the Engineering Foundation and has requested that body to investigate his claims and his methods. Dr. Davis is a well-known chemist and has a high standing in his profession. He is a member of the Chemical and an honorary member of the Societe Academique d'Histore Internationale. He is the author of several papers which have been published in chemical journals.

LADIES' EYELASHES NOW FOR SALE; HAVE SOME IF SEEMS THEY USE 'EXTRA ONES' IN THESE DAYS—PASTE 'EM ON, OVER REAL ONES

NEW YORK, May 31.—Ladies' eyelashes have become saleable articles. The dressing table in milady's boudoir may now be adorned in addition to the numerous other things mere man is supposed to suppose are natural, with artificial lashes that paste on right over the regular ones. This innovation in feminine attractiveness was on display here, recently at the American Ladies' Hair Dressing Association Exhibition. The latest fashions included a half bobbed wig to cover the old-fashioned long hair, thus relieving the necessity of cutting it. A parable in moving picture form was shown, demonstrating how a wife, who had lost her husband's affection, regained it by rejuvenating her rose petal cheeks.

KRUPPS EMPLOY 12,000 MORE

Big Plant Before the War It Now Covers Four Times the Ground ON RAILWAY EQUIPMENT

NEW YORK, May 31.—A correspondent of the Guaranty Trust company, writing from Berlin reports that the Krupps are employing 12,000 more workmen now than in the month immediately before the outbreak of the war. This total does not include workmen in five other manufacturing undertakings which are controlled by, or work in alliance with the Krupps. At Essen, in addition to the casting and rolling operations formerly carried on, 13 different kinds of machines, apparatus or technical articles are being produced. The Krupps cast steel works have been extended from a pre-war area of 242 acres to 1,400 acres, and the construction of railway material has reached enormous dimensions.

The Krupp concern has now absorbed the Rhine Metallware and Machine factory and that great war plant is now engaged in the manufacture of agricultural machinery and enamelware. Krupps control the Ermenann Works, Dresden (large manufacturers of cameras and moving picture apparatus), and also are specializing in the manufacture of cash registers, textile machinery and oil and sugar refining machinery.

A MAY-BASKET SHOWER

The girl friends of a bride-to-be gave her a most ingenious and pretty shower, using the old-fashioned custom of handing May-baskets as a means of bestowing the gifts.

The bride was surprised in the usual manner at about eight o'clock in the evening, but no gifts were carried along. Shortly after they had all assembled the doorbell rang, and the bride, answering it, found a basket of flowers hanging on the knob, and in the basket there was a letter from the girls, telling her of their love and good wishes. The basket was such as could be used later for flowers or for a plant.

At intervals the bell rang and the bride-to-be would find baskets of various shapes hanging there for her. Sometimes it was a large basket which could be used advantageously in the new home, sometimes just one of those crinkly paper ones filled with flowers or small candies, after the manner of the old-time May basket. In these were some bits of linen.

These particular gifts could not afford to spend a great deal of money on their friends so most of the gifts were small and most effective in the homemade baskets; but the idea of

SAY WOMEN ROUGE 'KNEES

NEW YORK, May 28. (By Mail)—The latest style secret—Women are rouging their knees.

But, according to Sidney Brooks, who made the revelation today, it will be secret very long if the girls continue to wear 'em shorter and roll 'em lower.

Brooks, a former hair dresser in the Curtis, Peices and now manager of the beauty parlor in the Waldorf Astoria, said that recently some of his feminine assistants had been called upon to initiate clients in the art of beautifying their knees.

"Some time ago, as the public is fairly well aware now, women began to roll their stockings below their knees," Brooks said.

"As skirts continued to grow shorter it became apparent that what with disclosures that might result while sitting in the present conventional posture or crossing the legs, or even boarding a taxi, at much attention should be paid to the knees as the face—by the women themselves, I mean.

FARE FOR WEDDING GUEST

Every now and then some bride-elect asks me, "What can I serve at my wedding that will be moderately elaborate?" The emphasis is invariably on the word "moderately," and I always find, when reduced to terms of actual food, that this idea of moderate elaboration stands for something just between mere ice-cream and cake, and an abundant buffet, or a formal, seated meal.

The first is too simple; the others are considered impossible, generally on the ground of expense. In endeavoring to answer this oft-repeated question I usually reverse the order of the two words and suggest something "moderately moderate" and thing "elaborately moderate" in the direction of charming accessories, decorations and service rather than the relative desirability of croquettes versus salad.

A Bride's Cake.

The latest thing in a bride's cake is a rich white cake baked in a large wedding-ring tin, the special novelty consisting of a wire flower-stand that fits into the open space in the center of the cake. Flowers matching the bride's bouquet or the table decorations are arranged gracefully in this openwork frame, so that the effect is wonderfully beautiful and altogether novel. This cake is cut by the bride, who uses a special knife decorated with satin ribbon or tulle and a spray of flowers. Such a knife makes an ideal wedding-gift of the two words and suggests something "moderately moderate" and thing "elaborately moderate" in the direction of charming accessories, decorations and service rather than the relative desirability of croquettes versus salad.

The Convenient Buffet.

The popular refectory-table is particularly well adapted to buffet service, and its length and comparative narrowness display everything to the best advantage. If you are doing your own catering, don't leave the arrangement of the buffet to chance. Have a rehearsal of this feature of the wedding, even though with empty dishes.

A hot dish at one end; a cold entree at the other; with a mixed salad at one side and a mold of jellied fish or cold appetizer at the other, accepted arrangement with starting of sandwiches and small cakes, little dishes of olives, salted nuts and bonbons here and there. Then, at the extreme end, go as to be quickly available, a pile of plates and piles of napkins with the necessary

Strawberries an Naturel Olives Salted Nuts Consomme in Cups (either hot or cold) Salmon Mousse Cucumbers Breast of Chicken on Toast, Sauce Supreme Fresh Mushroom Sante Espargue Salad Vinaigrette Ice Cream on Souvenir Patis Fours Cafe Noir

Bridal-Shower Refreshments For light refreshments to be served at a "Bride's Shower" or very similar afternoon festivity in honor of the bride, try something like this: Harlequin Cheese Salad Tea Strawberry Coupe Frosted Sponge Cake

If possible, serve such refreshments at small card tables, instead of having the guests stand. The "harlequin" feature of the cheese salad is the variety in color and flavor given by mixing finely chopped pimento, green peppers and olives into a cream cheese moistening with cream and pressing into original cylindrical shape.

The "patty" sandwiches are stamped in rounds, the top one having its center removed and the filling mounted higher in this opening. Strawberry coupe is served in a spreading glass; red strawberries go in the bottom, then vanilla ice cream to the level of the glass, and the top is garnished with a single perfect berry.

Beleville More Accessible Than Progressive

(Continued from page 1.) of access for all the surrounding districts. "As some indication of the advantageous situation of Beleville, it may be stated that there are 30 passenger trains that arrive and depart from Beleville each day. Beleville is fortunate in being located in the navigable waters of the Bay of Quinte, which affords access by vessel to all the Great Lakes, as well as to tidewater navigation. "Although many towns having on-rail communication have in the past few years suffered coal shortages during the winter, Beleville with the advantages of water-transported coal has never yet really suffered a coal famine. "The hydroplane or seaplane will doubtless be used more extensively than the ordinary aeroplane for carrying heavy loads. As Beleville is located on the Bay of Quinte, safe landing places may be secured at many points, it is safe to say that Beleville will be on the main air route east and west. The telephone, telegraph and rural mail routes put the town within easy access to the world. This city is entered by three provincial highways. "Whether the city has progressed in other lines, or increased in population commensurate with its material advantages, cannot be charged against its lack of accessibility. "Have our authorities in Beleville made any steps to bring in coal? Is there any unloading apparatus?" asked Judge Feltus. "Why is it with all our advantages, Beleville has only 12,000 people? After 1878, the city declined. Today the Chamber of Commerce and its Manager are bringing the city to what it should be. "I saw the very first train that came through in 1857. The Grand Trunk brought a blight to every frontier town. "Judge Fraeclt told how the Rathbun Company was driven away from Beleville to Deseronto. "The C.P.R. did not build their divisional point here, the Judge claimed, because of friction with the city council. "The scoring on accessibility was: Ideal Local 200 150 Highways 150 150 Railways

BRIDE OF SEVEN WEEKS ILL BUT ONE HOUR, DIES

Stirling mourns death of Mrs. Peter Turcotte, who succumbed to attack of acute indigestion—Funeral Largely Attended—Many Floral Tributes.

A deep gloom was cast over Stirling and countryside when the word came that Mrs. Peter Turcotte of Stocco had passed away at 3 o'clock on Sunday morning, May 22nd, after one hour's illness from acute indigestion.

Mrs. Turcotte was formerly Miss Loretto Ryan, a bride of just seven weeks. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, of Holloway, in her 23rd year. Her funeral took place from the home of her parents on Tuesday morning, May 24th, at St. James' Minor Church, Stirling, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Fr. O'Reilly.

Campbellford District Increases Its Giving

Methodists in that Section Show Progress—Name Delegates to Conference

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., June 1.—The Campbellford district of the Methodist Church increased its giving by $1,000 this year, with a total of $79,609. While membership remained about the same, the giving for missions increased from $7,266 in 1919 to $7,850 in 1920.

Capl. the Rev. H. B. Kenny, chairman of the district, presided at the meeting which was very enthusiastic. Three probationers, Messrs. Caffey, Gardner and Thompson, were examined in the customary way. Only one, Mr. Thompson, was received into the district.

The Sunday school secretary's report was read and showed an increase in membership of 277; the graded lesson observed in 11 schools as against last year; 44 pupils enrolled in Teacher Training work; Decision Day was observed in 11 schools as against 3 schools last year.

Rev. J. R. Butler was appointed to represent the district, along with the chairman of the station committee of the conference, Rev. J. Batstone was elected reserve for this office.

The following were appointed lay delegates to the annual conference: G. A. Kingston, B. A. Alex. Walters, Campbellford; G. A. Brethren, Norwood; G. A. Elliott, Norwood; H. C. Martin and L. S. Weaver, Stirling; John Parks, Harold; P. S. Ewing, W. A. Wallace, L. Deuker, Norwood; R. C. Deuker, Hastings; Ben. Klund, Keene; H. Thistlewaite, Norwood; Geo. Vanvalkenburg, Hastings; W. B. Ritchie, Havelock; B. C. Tucker, Harold R.R., No. 1.

Alternatives: C. A. Wilson, Campbellford; S. A. Hatton, Stirling; J. V. Hoover, Harold; S. Armstrong, Keene.

Mr. W. B. Deacon speaking on the city's progressiveness, said: "We are looked upon by travellers as a finished town. We have a pretty fair city government and look as a whole a pretty fair City Council. We have things here a great many places twice our size have not."

He spoke of Beleville's library, Y.M.C.A., its city hall, its Hotel Quinte, its waterworks, its gas works, its lighting facilities, all of the best. "The assessment compares well with that of cities of the same size. Beleville is not over-assessed. The curse of Beleville is the knockers, said Mr. Deacon. The Grand Trunk people form one-third of the city's population, their earnings being one and a half million dollars annually.

Mr. Deacon compared Beleville with adjacent towns, showing that the per capita assessment was no higher here in spite of all the local improvements, which others have not. "Mr. Deacon paid a tribute to the Chamber of Commerce and its ideals of progress. Beleville is favorably conditioned in that our population is an English-speaking, with no low class foreign inhabitants.

The public school system, the work of the school nurse and social worker, are some of the marks of progress. Mr. Deacon spoke very strongly in favor of the adoption of the city membership plan. A good strong personality was required to handle the city and prevent waste and extravagance. "Out playgrounds are doing very well, thanks to the assistance of Mr. Thomas Ritchie. But the system should be extended.

The police force was very efficient. Beleville's fire loss has been very low. The city has wholesome water at a very low rate.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good. Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"Fruit-a-tives" cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

BAPTISTS PRESENT PAGEANT OF THE SEASON.

Last evening the Young People's Society of the Victoria Ave. Baptist Church presented a unique and varied entertainment. The fine audience present had the pleasure of seeing an illustrative pageant entitled "Youth and the New Day."

The responsibilities of the youth of this generation were pointed out, the impressiveness created was the result of the fine way in which the young people gave their parts. The collection donated was for the support of their native-missionary work in India.

The pageant was preceded by vocal and orchestral selections. The programme was as follows: Opening hymn and prayer. Piano solo, Mr. Alex. Gordon. Orchestral selection, leader, Mr. F. Elliott. Scripture reading, Miss Laura Cook. Cornet solo, Mr. A. Wannacott. Chairman's address, Mr. P. C. MacLaren. Trombone selection, Mr. J. Cookson. Vocal duet, Miss E. Forman and Mrs. B. Doollittle. Opening and explanation of pageant.

Reading by Miss Mildred Lloyd introducing pageant, "Youth and the New Day." Closing hymn and prayer. Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their work, because they are absorbed in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels unattractive to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Col. O'Flynn took up the cudgels for the opposition and pointed out the need of a strong and efficient council due to the lack of efficiency of councils due to the system. There are six or seven departments all acting separately. The city manager could adopt a system of budget and accounting. They are not doing anything of the estimates.

Col. O'Flynn touched on some of the benefits of single tax and suggested special taxation of vacant lots. There is no zoning in Beleville. The corner grocery is everywhere. "We have a number of shacks in the city which are not proper to live in. There should be certain restrictions on building. "We have not sufficient police to police the city. Since January last 340 cases in court have practically paid the cost of the department. The Chief and officers are doing excellent work. Col. O'Flynn favored motorization of the fire department and modernization of the alarm system. The city has many fire traps.

Lack of progressiveness in neglect of boulevard was seen. Public spirit was not what it should be; few citizens offer for public service. Beleville is overstocked with clubs and community organizations, with danger of slipping over much needed work. The hospital had not been supported as it should have been. Fortunately the social conditions here are good, thanks to the work of the women.

The Judges allowed the following points on the subject of Progressiveness: Government 100 100 Budget, taxation and accounting systems 125 65 City planning and zoning 50 10 Police and fire protection 50 20 Centralized purchasing and testing 25 5 Buildings 75 65 Streets and public services 100 80 Business methods 75 50 Public spirit 150 100 Miscellaneous community organizations, public institutions 150 100

ONE MORE SEAT IN SASKATCHEWAN

Three Cities Get Two Each but Soldier Members-at-Large Disappear

ONE NEW RIDING

Quietest Political Campaign in Prairie Province Drawing to a Close

REGINA, Sask., June 1.—By Canadian Press)—The quietest political campaign in the history of the province of Saskatchewan is now drawing to a close with nominations tomorrow and polling one week later, on June 9.

The election will terminate the Fourth Legislature of Saskatchewan, which was chosen on June 26, 1917. In this house, composed of 59 members, there were 51 supporters of the Liberal administration, headed by Hon. W. M. Martin, K.C.; six Conservatives and two Independents. In the new legislature there will be a total of 63 members elected. By a re-distribution of seats during the recent session three cities—Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon—are given two representatives instead of one and the new constituency of Gravelbourg created. As the soldier seats will disappear, the change merely adds one seat to the house.

Owing to the fact that there are no constituencies in the province with more than two members, proportional representation could not be tried out without radical changes in the borders of the constituencies. Conservatives Leaders. Present indications point to the government running candidates for the government. The movement for independent political action will undoubtedly supply the greatest opposition to the Martin government. The Conservative party, at present without a leader, Donald Stirling, having resigned this post on April 27 and announcing he would not be a candidate for re-election, is not likely to put up a serious fight.

The Non-Partisan League will also have a number of constituencies, mainly where there is a large proportion of voters of foreign birth.

The platform on which the Martin government is appealing to the electors is based largely upon a further development of the co-operative movement which the government has strongly supported during its four years of office. In his manifesto issued by Premier Martin, on May 16, Stirling does not mention the platform which the government pledges itself, if returned to power, to carry out.

Co-operation to Continue. To continue the application of the principle of co-operation between government and people in the solution of the economic problems connected with production and marketing, as far as constitutional and financial limitations will permit, to co-operate with the farmers in any practicable method of improving the system of marketing grain and farm products generally to continue the fight the government is now waging to lower freight rates to provide for an agricultural survey of the province by the College of Agriculture and the establishment of demonstration farms under the control of the College in close touch with the people.

The government also proposes a thorough investigation of the whole problem of the treatment of both curable and incurable cases of tuberculosis; pledges enforcement of the Saskatchewan Temperance Act to continue the various lines of educational progress; to further develop the co-related highways system of the province; to extend the provincial system of telephones wherever practicable, put forth its best efforts to obtain from the Dominion authorities the transfer to the province of its natural resources and continue its investigation of representative, provincial development its policy of assisting farmers in the purchase of livestock, encourage the work of the Far Loans Board, and continue the policy of assisting financially the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries Company and the Saskatchewan Co-operative Stockyards.

Like North Dakota. The Non-Partisan provincial platform is practically a duplicate of the platform of the Non-Partisan League in North Dakota and proposes: Provincial terminal elevators, flour mills, stockyards, packing houses and cold storage plants; direct legislation; provincial purchasing of machinery; provincial grading of all grains according to milling values; a banking system whereby the public credit can be used for the public good; proportion of representatives, provincial compulsory insurance laws. Platforms of other candidates opposing the government vary widely, the majority having one or more of the planks in the Non-Partisan League platform. The following are a few of the planks from some of the independent platforms: Provincial encouragement of co-operative activities; tanneries, manufacturers of leather goods and woolen mills; a land settlement scheme based on a regulating influence in the price of land, owners of idle land obliged to place a selling price on their lands, that price also to be regarded as an assessable value for the purpose of taxation; direct legislation with the initiative, the referendum and the recall. It is also proposed that the whole system of selecting the premier and cabinet be changed and that the men filling these offices be elected by the members of the legislature from the floor of the house.

A woman's idea of a true believer is one who can just well postpone until to-morrow.

HOORAY! CIRCUS DAYS COMING!

And John Robinson's Shows Will Be Here

It's coming to town—John Robinson's circus, with elephants, clowns, jungle beasts, spangled folk, acrobats and everything that makes the big top dear to us all. The four show trains will steam into the city with the dawn of Monday, June 13, and every inhabitant of Boyland is acquiring with anticipatory joy.

The one hundred and eight men of the advance forces are passing through, contracting for railroad accommodations, supplies and the one thousand and one necessities of the oldest white top organization on the road—the oldest, the biggest, and the best," as the agents ahead declare with pride, for the John Robinson circus is now in its ninety-eighth annual tour of the United States and Canada. For nearly century the Robinson banners have whipped the breezes over this one great enterprise—long years in which the show underwent transition from wagons to steamboats, from stevedores to ordinary freight trains, from freights to its own special flats, stocks, elephant cars and sleepers. And during those decades the John Robinson show has been the first to use electric lights, the first to introduce the present huge oval tent in place of the old one ring round top and the first to experiment with motor stake drivers and other auxiliary equipment.

The circus is here and this year, it is said, with the greatest arena performance and the most attractive parade in its long and honorable history. The performances, which open at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., will be impressive and necessarily presented in three rings, on two stages, in an aerial enlage and on a quarter mile hippodrome track. Nearly four hundred well known performers will be seen in picturesque action. There are fifty clowns, headed by Johnny Lowlow, Jr., son of the famous singing clown of the 70's, 80's and 90's.

WOMAN PAINFULLY BURNED

FUMES FROM TAR IGNITED

Cornwall—Mrs. D. A. Galtner met with a serious and painful accident at her home in Latifecheville near Cornwall. She was having the roof of her house tarred, the tar for the work being melted in a large pall on an oil stove, and the fumes ignited. An effort was being made to throw the burning tar out of the house, but some of it struck her skirt and burned her clothes almost completely off. She was taken to the General Hospital, and was found to be severely burned all over the body.

CHAPTER I.

"Confound her!"

The anatomized "her" was no creature of flesh and blood, but the elusive creation of Chandos Kain's brain.

He was a novelist, by profession, and feeling that "play-act" after an attack of influenza, he had gone to Overseas with the firm determination to do no manner of work for at least a month. An old college chum of his, Jack Willoughby, by name, had recently come in for a pretty little place there, and had invited Kain to the guest of himself and wife; but, having as yet the merest acquaintance with Mrs. Willoughby, Kain preferred the little cottage where he had stayed once, years before, at the other end of the straggling, picturesque resort.

He was still sufficient of an invalid to want to go his own way, though glad enough of the almost daily motor runs he took with the Willoughbys in their luxuriously appointed car.

Edgecliff—the cottage—in question—was coarsely named, in so far as it stood near enough to the edge of the cliff to require pedestrians in its immediate locality steady legs and a cool head on dark nights.

Chandos Kain had been there but one short week, yet the Demon of Fancy had already pounced on him.

Ideas for a new story flowed in on him with each recurring tide, and presently he began to think that the tides were really responsible for the thoughts that filled his brain, and drove him to work in spite of his desire to be idle.

He started a story, anyhow, scribbling anything his pen chose to write, and, at the end of half-an-hour, the call-boy shouted for the heroine of the piece to take the stage.

Now Chandos had fondly imagined that he had to trip gracefully into public view. Her personality and her name had come to him easily enough, almost, her character, though he had learnt from long experience that the heroine was as variable as the character of apparently fictitious persons, whose doings and thoughts might well be supposed to be directly controlled by the author of their existence, but who are, in reality, completely under the influence of their own free will.

This no doubt accounted for the fact that, at the very beginning of her career, Chandos Kain's new heroine had been named "No."

When he had fully intended her to be "Yes," woman-like, she had an explanation to offer for her contrariness, but she stuck to her "No" with an obstinacy not to be shaken.

Therefore—

"Confound her!" said Chandos Kain; and having so said, he threw down his pen in disgust, and raised his eyes to where the narrow path disappeared over the brow of the cliff on its way to Pointhead.

A woman, seemingly young, slender in figure, and robed in white, was making her way leisurely along the path. Her hair was turned to Overseas, and the foolish fancy came to the baffled novelist that she was his heroine in the flesh deliberately deserting him, after doing her best to spoil his story.

"It'll go after her, and make her see reason!" he said, himself, snatching up his cap, and starting in pursuit, half in fun, and half in earnest. At any rate, should the woman in white prove good-looking, and not too unapproachable, he might get some enjoyment out of her morning, in spite of his spoiled story.

The girl turned calmly demure eyes on him as he came hurrying up to where she was seated on the stile at the end of the cliff-path, monarch of all she surveyed.

She slowly descended from her perch, and stood aside to let him pass. But he made no attempt to do so. He was struck motionless by an amazing coincidence. For, in this white-robed maiden he did, in every truth, recognize the heroine of his story.

He had seen her photograph a few days before in Willoughby's drawing-room; had coloured it to suit his mental fancy, and had instantly decided that she would "do" for his next novel. He now found that his colouring had been true to nature.

This girl was sufficient of a brunette to merit the name he knew her to have received at her baptism some twenty-odd years before—the name of Olive; her eyes were a dark hazel, her nose was slightly retroussé, her mouth suggestive of nothing so much as kisses.

Kain felt tempted to kiss her then and there, as he raised his cap and found his tongue.

"May I introduce myself, Miss Granger? We shall meet at dinner this evening, and I came out on purpose to reason with you."

"It will be a waste of time, Mr. Kain. Nobody ever succeeded yet in reasoning with me."

"You know my name?" she asked rather superfluously, a delighted smile parting her lips.

"Your photograph stands next to mine on a bracket in Mrs. Willoughby's drawing-room," she replied.

"Really! How kind of her to bracket us! Surely the fact affords sufficient excuse for us to dispense with formality and become friends on the spot. Don't you think so?"

"I do; the more especially as I desire to go the way you are going, yet came to a standstill—or rather a sitstill—on this stile, owing to a wholesome fear of tramps."

"You don't look as if you could fear anything," he observed, with a long glance into her eyes.

"You will change your mind when you know me better. But let us get on. I have bet Jack Willoughby a dozen pairs of gloves that I will lunch at Pointhead and send him a key announcing the fact."

"But Pointhead is a good six miles from here?"

"What of that? I have two hours and a half to do it in. Her accused me of wearing shoes too tight to walk in. His wife simply ruins her feet by wearing stumpy things miles too large for her. She does it to please him. She has promised me another dozen of gloves if I convince him that it is possible to combine elegance and ease in one's foot-gear. An eight-mile walk in three hours in this weather was considered to be a fair test. I undertook to do it with a reading book, temporary forgetfulness of tramps, and was just regretting my woe when I saw you coming along to my infinite relief."

"You mean you purposed paying me the compliment of inviting me to accompany you?"

"I did. I recognized you, you see. Do you mind coming? It's not too far for you?"

"Rather not! And I shall be delighted. Are you going to walk back?"

"Not if I know it. Jack will bring along the car when he gets my wife. Jack is my cousin, you know."

"I did not know."

"And I was at school with Amy; so we are chummy all round. What did you want to reason with me about?"

He explained, to her mingled amusement and gratification, that "you are putting me into a story, really? How delicious! And I have bothered you already? How more than delicious! But what have I done?"

"You have said 'No.' Instead of 'Yes,'" he told her, with a gloomy remembrance of his literary worry.

"Of course; I always say 'No.' on principle. How correctly you must have diagnosed my photo."

"Why prefer 'No' to 'Yes?' he asked.

"I'll explain, if it happens to fit the case in point. What do you want me to say 'Yes' to?"

"To the proposal of marriage!"

"In the first chapter, 'Horrible! Why, it would involve you in a divorce case long before you got to the end. No, really, Mr. Kain, if I am to end up respectably, you must not try to make me say 'Yes' too soon."

He found a great charm in listening to her, and watching her. Her eyes danced wickedly, and smiles came and went around her tempting lips.

"I wonder how you would make love," he said involuntarily.

"Make love!" She turned a shocked face on him. "I should never think of such a thing!"

He stammered an apology, which died a sudden death, as he caught the glance she bestowed upon him through her drooping lashes—a real interest of art.

"You are very kind to let me know what is going on behind the scenes," he said, with a grin.

"You are very good. It is delightful to meet with a nature so sympathetically attuned to the real interests of art."

"I assure you, I am! I shall be glad to assist you in any way I can, with regard to the novel you are writing. You will come over to Thurleston every day, won't you? In the character of my would-be fiancée, I mean."

"Certainly. How long do you think it will be—four or five days—before you can bring yourself to accept me?"

"Let me see. I shall be here a fortnight. You may safely venture to propose a date, if you like. He shook his head firmly.

"That won't do at any price. The experience I should gain of your responsive powers would be very insufficient. I think we had better, perhaps, let Nature take its course. I shall throw myself so thoroughly into the part of wooer, in my desire to make my story a living thing, that I think I may safely be trusted to do the right thing at the right moment."

"Ye-es!" She seemed rather doubtful on this point. Her next question was seemingly irrelevant.

"It is permitted me to ask the extent of Sylvia's claim on you?" He hesitated almost imperceptibly. "She calls herself my wife, but—"

"with an untranslatable sort of smile which yet was not a smile—"we do not live together—never have, in fact."

"Oh!"

He chuckled secretly as he saw he had effectually stopped further questioning. In a tone of slight relief she went on to say:

"I really will help to pass the time very nicely, and I shall love to think that I am helping a real live author with his work. I hope the book will be a success."

To herself she was saying: "I wonder Amy did not tell me he was married. Perhaps, though, it is a secret, and he has only told me as a delicate reminder that I need not 'mix' in earnest. I like him for it; he shall not find his confidence has been misplaced."

She ceased her soliloquy, in order to answer his query as to the number of guests at Thurleston. He knew some people were expected, but had not felt sufficiently interested, until now, to inquire about them.

"Only two, besides myself. Neither Amy nor Jack care for a lot of people to entertain. Do you know Lady Clevedon at all? She is here—and a Major Rosedale."

"Olive Rosedale! He's an old friend of mine. Lady Clevedon I knew slightly before her husband's death. It was a pretty girl then—about your age."

"Well, now she is, I should say, a still prettier woman. Black suits her. That incorrigible little match-maker, Amy, wants her to marry Major Rosedale, so I shall be left out in the cold."

"Let me have my way, and shift my belongings to Thurleston, and I will quickly alter that."

"Only, look here, Mr. Kain—" he murmured, obeying her, literally, in time to witness the warm suffusion of her cheeks at his words and tone.

"My hero's name is 'Chandos,'" he murmured, obeying her, literally, in time to witness the warm suffusion of her cheeks at his words and tone.

"But that is your own name, surely?"

"I have given my name to my hero. My heroine is called Olive."

He said this with a matter-of-fact air that she could not decide if he had or had not known that she, too, was called Olive.

"You look as innocent as an angel," she said, laughing a little. "I was christened 'Olive,' I would have you know."

"What a happy coincidence! I shall, then, in the person of my hero, enjoy the privilege of using your own name, and of hearing you use mine. Now shall we begin dancing?"

"No, no! that is too abrupt—far too abrupt. You must be content with glances this morning, and perhaps a hand-pressure at parting."

He held her a moment, gazing in the shudder which ran through her that she was probably unable to stand alone.

The little episode served to sober Olive. Her wild spirits deserted her, and she felt, for the first time, a glimpse of another side of her manifold character.

This graver mood lasted until they reached Pointhead, where a judicious application of the magic once more brought the joyous light to her hazel eyes and the smiles to her sweetly-curved lips.

But she was not unmindful of what he had done for her. And when they were alone in the coffee-room of the hotel where they had had lunch, waiting for Jack Willoughby, she raised grateful eyes to Chandos Kain, and murmured appreciatively:

"Don't say anything about—that me, you see, she depended on you for keeping me amused."

"What fools we are, sometimes, when we insist on taking the reins of destiny into our own hands! I declined the invitation to Thurleston, because I thought I did not want to flirt or to amuse anyone."

"And you have found out your mistake."

"Within the last half-hour. I shall take the liberty of changing my mind—and my habitation—without delay; I simply pine to be Mrs. Willoughby's guest."

"Take my advice and stay where you are. I have a sad trick of trying of people when I see too much of them. Think how disastrous it would be to refuse to marry at all. It is a heroine's duty to marry, sooner or later, you know."

"I am prepared to risk so alarming a disaster. If the worst comes to the worst I will admit Tom into my story. But I vow he will not survive the honeymoon."

"Really, you make me respect you, Mr. Kain. Your powers of intuition, shall we call it? are simply immense. I have assured you more than once that I am in order to aid and abet Mr. Kain's grumblings at having lost his bet was cut short by his desire to learn how Miss Granger and Mr. Kain happened to be there together and on such apparent intimate terms."

"Somehow neither thought it worth while to explain, then or later, the actual origin of their sudden friendship—the contract into which Miss Granger entered in order to aid and abet Mr. Kain's grumblings at having lost his bet was cut short by his desire to learn how Miss Granger and Mr. Kain happened to be there together and on such apparent intimate terms."

"We both happened to fancy a walk to Pointhead this morning. We met at the first stile, and, our recognition being mutual, we joined hands, and looked at each other as if we had never met before. You can introduce us to the form, Mr. Willoughby."

"Not if!" declared the graceless fellow. "If Olive will go careering like the cork on a sea, picking up with all sorts of worthless people, I decline to be held responsible."

"Is he cross because he has lost his bet then?" cooed Olive teasingly. "And never once thought of my shoe? Jack is expected to arrive. Mr. Kain will be my witness that there was in no way fatigued when we reached Pointhead."

"I refuse to accept him at witness. A successful writer of fiction is bound to be an excellent fighter. You will drive back with us, Kain?"

"After that gross insult? Most certainly not. I am going to explore Pointhead, and shall patronize the railway, explaining the inevitable and very casual flirtation by a proposal of marriage, which was promptly, though courteously, cut short by Olive, she having neither anticipated nor desired such a climax to their growing intimacy."

He left Scarborough at once, mistaking surface-smarting for a severe and permanent hurt.

When, to their mutual discomfort, they met at Thurleston, Rosedale, in order to convince the "heartless flirt" that she was already forgotten, plunged into a flirtation with Lady Clevedon.

The advent on the scene of Chandos Kain suggested to the discarded suitor a pleasant means of revenge, of which he was quick to avail himself, little guessing the actual misery he was causing in return for his own little bit of surface-smarting.

He was not a bad-hearted man, take him all in all; but he was narrow-minded, rather selfish, and intensely self-love—fallings which stood out in his artless cruelty, and worked quite as much harm.

Olive and Chandos started on their "artistic" agreement during dinner that evening at Thurleston. The Willoughbys, openly deceived by Kain's acting, it was said, were rejoiced over his "conversion" for they had looked on him as a confirmed bachelor. But Rosedale frowned ominously when he saw "What was taking place."

As Kain had told Olive, Rosedale knew all about the "Sylvia" episode, which some heard from below now whispered to him to make him feel, should the girl who had refused him, herself as a husband show signs of intending to bestow herself on Chandos Kain.

Olive sang after dinner. She had a sweet and well-trained, soprano voice, which was more than pleasant to listen to, and Kain volunteered to accompany her on the piano.

When she was tired of singing he played to them, and Olive retired to a corner and studied his face more thoroughly than she had yet had a chance of doing.

He was undeniably good-looking, without being handsome; undeniably clever-looking, without being largely intellectual.

His forehead had more width than height; his brows had neither mental strength, which was slightly contradicted by the small straight nose—more artistic than strong—and by the rounded easy-going chin; but these, in their turn, were balanced by the tolerably firm mouth.

To sum up—as Olive Granger learned to do when she knew him better—it was the face of a man who would never entirely lose his head; a man in whom imagination and reason constantly fought for the mastery; a man to whom no woman need fear to trust her life's happiness, it—a very important "if"—she were sure of his love, and be of hers.

Meanwhile, he and she began their game of playing with fire like a couple of children, and enjoyed themselves immensely so long as they were able to pretend that they were only playing.

When everybody had had enough music, they all went out to look at the moon. Amy leading the way with Rosedale, and followed by Lady Clevedon and Jack.

Jack had known Sir Eric Clevedon intimately, and Sir Eric's widow liked talking to people who had known her dead lover—husband, so to speak.

"Let them get on a bit; there is no hurry," said Chandos, as he wrapped a white scarf about Olive's head and shoulders. "There! Come and look at yourself. I call it most becoming."

The hazel eyes laughed as they met the brown ones.

"You will make me valuer than I am already, and I assure you it is not necessary, so long as you are from you, though I hate doing so."

"That is very sweet of you. Go on, please; that sort of thing agrees with me remarkably well. I really think it could be possible, if everybody talked like that."

"I don't want you to be amiable to other people—at least, not to other men. Why don't you like Rosedale?"

"What an abrupt change of subject! Come outside and I will tell you. The tide must be high; it will look lovely under this moon."

They went on the terrace, and thence to a sort of lawn, where grass refused to grow, except in patches; and thence again through a little gate to the rocks beneath, where Olive seated herself, and gazed up at the moon. Kain, leaning at her feet, and looking at her, said he grew fond of the silver orb.

"Oh!"

"She started, and looked at him questioningly. "If Olive will go careering like the cork on a sea, picking up with all sorts of worthless people, I decline to be held responsible."

"Pardon me if I prefer to please myself; pardon me also if I beg you to remember that my Olive should not waste the precious hours in open abuse of her unlovely Chandos. It is by no means an artistic manner of leading up to one of the impassioned love-scenes which you own to enjoying."

"Forgive me"—she turned laughing, mocking eyes on him—"I really was forgetting my part. I will try now to be as sweet as—"

"As you are to the man called Tom," suggested Kain, feeling in his heart the dawn of violent hatred to the absent Tom.

"Quite so," agreed Olive demurely.

"Isn't it lively? This nice high tide and that dear, wicked moon looking down so innocently on us, as though wiffully shutting her eyes to the fact that all sorts of dreadful things are going on in other parts of the world."

"If she is guilty of doing that, the moon must be very human. I prefer to think that she has attained such a height of philosophy that she does not trouble her cool old head concerning either good or evil, knowing it will be all the same a hundred years hence."

"But will it? We must all leave our footprints behind—our impressions on the irrevocable past—our lives, our characters, in order to be true to your beloved Nature, as you purpose making me the heroine of your tale."

DENIED ENTRY TO U.S. WORKERS

Border Incident is Taken up by Americans and They Talk Reprisals

25 PAINTERS GO BACK

Canadian Border Official Says Canadians Have Been Refused by Car Load

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 30.—Following the refusal of the Canadian immigration authorities at Fort Erie to admit twenty-five painters from the state into Canada to decorate the Fort Erie race track, it is held that plans are under way by the American officials to be just as technical on this side of the river when Canadians, working in Buffalo and frontier towns, attempt to gain entrance to the states.

Many of the painters who were denied admission to Canada were veterans of the world war. Some of them had been out of employment for several months.

It was stated by the Canadian immigration authorities that the men were denied admission to the dominion under the contract labor provision of the Canadian laws, which provides that labor cannot be imported for a Canadian job.

"These men brought the trouble upon themselves," the Canadian inspector in charge said. "They tell us that they were only going to be over here for a few hours. They did not explain that they were going to take a job. If they had been honest with us we could have saved them a lot of trouble. The United States has a similar law, and Canadians have been stopped by the carloads at the international bridge."

PIANO RECITAL AT FRANKFORD

The pupils of Miss Edith Pitcher gave a very interesting piano recital in her studio in Frankford on Saturday afternoon, May 21st. Pupils from the Introductory to the junior grades taking part.

Invitations were sent to the parents and friends of the pupils who filled the large auditorium to overflowing, even though the weather was intensely warm.

The programme was very cleverly rendered by the pupils who showed themselves to be real musicians and reflected much credit to Miss Pitcher, their teacher, which showed her to be a very able and thorough teacher. Much credit is also due Miss Edith, who made so many other good friends that you will not miss him, but that he will regret passing up your friendship.

What Shall I Do?

MORE ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

Perplexed Betty—Try to reason the thing out with your mother, but in the end be sure you take her advice. You can bank on it that she has some good reason for her disapproval. Don't stand out, and talk to the boys who bring you home from a dance. Invite them to come and dash the conversation some other time.

Peggy—So sorry your letter didn't reach me in time, though I don't think I could have helped you to send flowers so far. Better luck next time.

Anxious—Refuse the invitations of the man you don't like—that's your privilege. Accept the invitations of the one you do like, but don't try to find out how much he likes you—you can't until he wants to tell you, and when he tells you he won't have to try to find out.

Lodi Girls, Evelyn and Dorothy—Send a stamped and self-addressed envelope for a personal reply to your questions.

Restless—Don't hint. Tell the young man right out, straight from the shoulder, that you want him to keep away, and that if he doesn't, you will have to ask your husband to tell him more forcibly than you can. Don't tell me that this may hurt his feelings—he deserves to have his feelings hurt, and it will be better to do that than to let him hurt your heart and your home.

Dot—Don't know, can't imagine, why a girl who has a partner for every dance should lack an escort home. But oh, I do wish you girls had some other place to dance than a public dance hall! Write me for a personal letter if you care to.

Down Hearted—There is nothing you can do to win the friendship of anyone who is determined not to like you. I advise you to forget him and make so many other good friends that you will not miss him, but that he will regret passing up your friendship.

Dolly—Since you're written twice and had no reply, I'm afraid there's nothing for you to do but make up your mind that your friend has found new friends whom he cares more for than the old. If you feel quite sure he must have gotten your letters, Dolly, and I think you will soon find someone to take his place. You're not silly a bit—these things will happen and they hurt. I'm sorry.

"813" MYSTERIOUS ARSENE LUPIN STORY AT GRIFFIN'S.

WHILE successful photoplays are always endowed with a proportion of spice of some nature, the element of mystery, when carefully sustained throughout, is really the best sort of spice to insure success. It is mystery and plenty of it that makes "813," the Robertson-Cole 7-part special, featuring Wedgewood Nowell, which opens a three days engagement at Griffin's tonight, one of the best films seen on a local silver sheet in some time.

To begin with, "813" is an Arsené Lupin story by the famous French author, Maurice LeBlanc, and has the "pep" and punch which has distinguished M. LeBlanc as one of the best novelists of the day. The picture is placed in France and carries many beautiful settings of Paris and cities in the southern portion of the Republic.

As Arsene Lupin, Wedgewood Nowell has the greatest vehicle of his career for character, depiction, and he takes advantage of every opportunity. "By Golly," a famous 2-reel Mack Sennett comedy, William Courtenay and Jane Gray in a 2-reel comedy drama, "The Inner Ring," a Burton Holmes Travelogue and other varied plays will also be exhibited on the same program.

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Edison Questions Fail To Stump College Girls

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 30.—That college girls are better posted on non-technical subjects than the average male student, and that they boast a real sense of humor as well, has just been demonstrated here by members of the senior class at Wilson college. An informal examination including 20 of the Edison questions was held among the seniors and more than 80 per cent. of them passed with ratings of 75 per cent. or better.

If the senior class had not had so many humorists, the rating would have been even higher, but several of the girls just had to inject a little fun into the test. To the question, "What state is the largest?" no less than six replied: "Matrimony."

Other questions that inspired levity, together with some of the answers submitted, were as follows:—From where do we get our dates? A.—The University of Pennsylvania. Q.—What is coke? A.—Seven cents, including the war tax. Q.—What was Cleopatra? A.—Anthony's sweetie. Q.—Where do we get peanuts from? Q.—The circus. Q.—To what is the change in seasons due? A.—Good team work on the part of the milliners and dressmakers.

What is perhaps the prize answer was made by one of the seniors to the question, "What star is it that has recently been measured and found to be of enormous size?" "Patty Arbuckle," she replied.

Paul, Esq., M.P., the Member for Lennox and Addington, who was stricken with paralysis on May 24th, is much improved. Dr. Booth, under whose care he is, holds out every encouragement for a complete recovery.

Mrs. A. M. VanWhy, of Los Angeles, California, formerly of North Fredericksburgh, Ont., is visiting her son at Galveston, Texas, who is holding a fine position as Gulf Manager of Shipowners' Radio Service. Prof. and Mrs. Snell and Miss Kathryn Coolidge, of Syracuse, N.Y., arrived at Selby on Saturday to spend a week visiting at the home of Mrs. E. R. Williams. Miss Myrtle Coolidge will accompany them home on Saturday.

Little Bonny's Note Book

Today in school I was eating gum drops out of a bag, and I had ate 4 without Miss Kitty seeing me and it was getting kind of monotonous eating just one at a time, me thinking, I wonder if I could eat 3 at once without her seeing me.

Which I tried it to see, putting 3 gum drops in my mouth all together, making a pretty big size of a bump on the outside of my face on account of being extra big gum drops me thinking, Gosh, if she sees this bump she'll suspect rite away.

Which I then went and did she but see it, she just thinking, G, I'll hurry up and take the hole bag up to her and give her the rest of them for a present, and she'll think that I'll browt them for and she'll think she made a mistake about seeing me eating.

And I quick got up and took the bag up to Miss Kitty's desk with the gum drops still in my mouth feeling bigger instead of smaller, and I put the bag on Miss Kitty's desk saying, Heers a present I browt you, Miss Kitty.

Being a fearsome hard thing to say on account of my teeth sticking to the 3 gum drops, and Miss Kitty looked at me as if she was saying, "Wats that you're saying?"

Which I tried to say it agen wishing I was eating 3 easy things like 3 chocolets instead of gum drops, and Miss Kitty sed, "Have you got the mumps?"

No nam, I sed wishing I had, and she sed, "No, you've got a mouth full of eggs, haven't you?"

Me just looking at her gilly without saying anything, and she took the bag and threw it in her waist paper basket saying, "Bribery is one of the worst forms of sins, you will most certainly be an hour after school is dismissed."

Which I did.

GARFIELD STUMBLES INTO DEATH CELL

Condemned Slayer Again in Toils Has Had Last Glimpse of Outdoors Hanged Next Thursday Inside Jail

GARFIELD HANGING NOT TO BE PUBLIC

WOODSTOCK, May 28.—The people of Woodstock will not be able to see the Norman Garfield execution. He will not be hanged in the court yard of the jail as expected. It will be an inside hanging. The execution which will take place on Thursday morning next, will be in the jail building, a custom now in vogue in every jail where there is sufficient space to permit a scaffold to be built. Sheriff McGhee has decided to erect a scaffold in the jail, after consulting hangman Ellis yesterday afternoon.

WOODSTOCK, May 28.—Norman Garfield is back in his cell at Woodstock jail this morning. At 3.10 a.m. he alighted from a taxi, faltered a step or two and practically stumbled up the two steps to the iron gates that bar the entrance or exit to the jail.

On Wednesday afternoon he unlocked that same gate and briskly sped across the park and away on what was his last chance to mingle with people and liberty.

WAIT TO SEE CAPTURED MAN

All night long people had waited to get a glimpse of the captured prisoner, but an early hour when he arrived the crowd had vanished and only jail officials, newspapermen and a few taxi drivers were present.

James Clark and Charles Tyler, the latter his night guard for two months, met the party at the door. Garfield made no effort to greet his old keepers, simply staring right ahead. Once inside there were no further formalities to be carried out, and Sheriff McGhee hustled him off to his night cell. He was soon asleep and at nine this morning he had not wakened.

GUARD AND TURNKEY "ABSENT"

At the jail there appears to have been a general shake-up. Robert Ball, the day guard, is not there, his place has been taken by George Tottley, a returned soldier. John Robley, turnkey, is also absent.

Charles Tyler, veteran of many wars, will continue his night duties. No one has been appointed to take Robley's place and it is probable the sheriff will personally supervise affairs at the jail until after Thursday morning next.

The Georgetown Episode was soon lodged in the Georgetown jail.

Chief Turnkey Suspended. WOODSTOCK, May 28.—All men under the sentence of death should be kept in provincial penitentiaries and not in county jails. Arthur Ellis, official hangman, said here in an interview. "Had Garfield been in Kingston he would never have escaped," stated Mr. Ellis. "I have always contended that county jails are not built or adapted for keeping condemned men, and Garfield's escape proves it. His escape was easy. If he had been in Kingston under proper guards no such thing would have happened."

"The transfer of condemned men to federal prisons would eliminate the sentiment that is created for convicted men by local conditions and people. Garfield would have been removed from all this sentiment that has been shown here."

Ellis visited Sheriff McGhee this afternoon. "It is not yet June 2nd," Ellis commented. "Garfield may be caught before that time."

Ellis came to Woodstock to supervise the erection of the scaffold. He came on Thursday. Garfield walked out Wednesday.

Chief Turnkey John Robley, of Woodstock county jail, from which Norman Garfield escaped, has been suspended by Sheriff William McGhee. It was announced by the sheriff. Robley is the father-in-law of Special Guard Ball, who looked after Garfield. Robley's suspension follows the investigation at the jail. Sheriff McGhee said he suspended Robley on instructions from Queen's Park, Toronto, and also on his own initiative. Ball is not now working at the jail.

WOODSTOCK, May 27.—Norman Garfield is heading for Toronto, according to the belief of Chief of Police Moore this morning.

The chief has received information to the effect that a man answering accurately Garfield's description was seen in Milton last night at eight o'clock. The story is to the effect that at six o'clock last evening a man was seen near the village of Ash, who enquired where he could secure a freight train to take him north. The direction was given but a little while after the stranger asked for a "lift" from a driver of a buggy. He only rode a short distance, however.

BOUGHT GREEN HAT

About eight o'clock the same man, dressed exactly as Garfield was, entered a store at Milton and purchased a green fedora hat and two collars. He then quietly left the store and was seen heading for the village of Ash.

Inspector William Greer, of the Provincial Police Department, is investigating the circumstances surrounding the escape of Norman Garfield from Woodstock jail on Wednesday, under the direction of General Elliott, the new Commissioner of Police.

Garfield owes his freedom to Death Watch Robert Ball, who failed to comply with strict prison regulations in handling of murderers, and disobedience of Chief Turnkey Robley, Ball's father-in-law.

Ball carried the key of the front iron gate (which Garfield opened) in his pocket, when it should have been lying in the desk in the jail office.

DEATH WATCH TO BLAME!

The prisoners snatched this key from the guard when he overpowered him. The death watch also disobeyed Turnkey Robley's orders when he permitted Rev. Mr. Gaetz to enter the death cell, with only on guard present—himself.

The question the police are trying to solve today is: "Who told Garfield that Ball had the key of the front gate in his pocket?"

Did he see the key in the pocket, or was he tipped off?

NO MORE "BLACK-TANS"

New Forces for Ireland to be Drawn From Units on Foreign Service

LONDON, May 28.—The Government's policy for "sterner repression of the criminal element in Ireland," as it is phrased in authoritative quarters, involves strengthening of the Crown forces in Ireland, with military reinforcements which will be drawn from units now in Foreign Service.

No increase of the auxiliary police or "Black Tans," or of the constabulary is contemplated, it is declared.

There is some likelihood of the extension of martial law to the whole of Ireland, with the exception of Ulster, it is indicated, but the initiative rests with General Sir Nevill Macready, military commander in Ireland, as it does in the question of introducing the Kitchener block-house system. It was officially stated today that reinforcements to be sent will be considerably less than fifty thousand, as not that many troops are available.

Dublin, May 28.—The weekly review of events in Ireland, issued by the Dublin Castle authorities, says that the intensified campaign of murder continued unabated during the past week, and that the casualties to the Crown forces and civilians again were heavy.

The police and military casualties totalled 57, including 25 deaths, the review asserts. There were eight murders of civilians, attributable to the Sinn Fein, and six cases of attempted murder. Eleven attempts were made on occupied barracks, and 49 raids on the mails. Four raids were made on coast guard stations, and three raids for arms. The persons now interned number 3,054.

Queenstown Cut Off. Belfast, May 28.—Queenstown was completely cut off from communication from the surrounding districts. Even the Admiralty was unable to communicate with Haulbowline, the island opposite Queenstown containing the naval dockyards as the cables from Whitepoint to Haulbowline were cut last night.

More Mansions Fined. London, May 28.—Rebel Ireland's arson was broke out again on Thursday, when fire was set to several big mansions of loyalists in the Cork region.

Gasoline Reductions in Kingston. Kingston—Gasoline has taken a drop in the city and motorists, who are trying to make every penny count, are pleased with the announcement. The highest grade of gasoline has taken a fall of one cent and the prices of other lower grades have also gone down, correspondingly. Coal oil has also fallen in price.

At the office of the Canadian Oil Co., Ltd., Ontario street, it was stated that advice from head office stated that there was little likelihood of a further drop in price for some time.

LOOK FOR BIG TOURIST TRADE

Peterboro Chamber of Commerce Acts as Backing Agency Now

AMERICANS WRITE FREELY

Leading Papers Have Given Trent Waterways Big Publicity

PETERBORO, May 30.—Letters of inquiry about the Trent waterways, addressed to the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, continue to pour into Secretary L. Frazer's office in this city, and it is evident that there is an unusually large number of Americans cruising in the Trent waterways this summer. The inquiries come from all parts of the United States, and answering the letters is no easy task. Practically every letter asks about the length of the navigable stretch of the canal, the depth of the water, supply facilities, and so forth. A New Yorker has written a letter with enough questions in it to take a half morning to answer. He asked if the country was of a primitive nature and if there were any summer resorts. Evidently he suspected nature would be as undisturbed as on Champlain, and in some centuries ago. Further inquiries in the letter were about the price of "gas" and supplies. "Are mosquitoes bad?" he also asked.

Daily the letters filled with inquiries about the water route accumulate, and in view of such display of interest the Secretary feels there will be more American motor boats in the Trent waterways this summer than has hitherto been the case. Canadian and American newspapers have given unbounded support in the greater development of the waterways and many papers have secured information for articles in their columns. The Montreal Gazette a short time ago carried a story on the waterways, and the Detroit Times and Toronto Sunday world are preparing articles along the same line. Much interest is shown in the Trent Waterways Development Association in Orillia, the end of next month.

Purteile's record bull.

WISE SQUIRREL RETURNS, THOUGH 39 DAYS AWAY, TO OWN HOME AND FOOD

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., May 28.—A "homing" squirrel of more than ordinary sagacity and cunning is the subject of a great deal of interest here. It came up its home in the rafters of the home of George H. Small some months ago with the evident intention of spending the remaining years of its life there. On one occasion it was taken to Vancouver and liberated in Stanley Park, but thirty-nine days later it was back in its New Westminster home.

"There is no doubt of the identity of the animal," said Mr. Small, "as he always came to the same window for his food on his return, and then repairs to the same hole in the roof which is the entrance to his home."

The squirrel has now been taken to West Vancouver, and will either have to swim the inlet or come over on the ferry if he elects to return home.

WOULD SAVE 221 MILLIONS YEARLY

Deepening of St. Lawrence For Ocean Boats Would Cheapen Power

THE COOPER REPORT

More Than Six Million Horsepower Unused Below Lake Erie

The cost of deepening the St. Lawrence River between Lake Ontario and Montreal to take care of vessels of 30 feet draught is, estimated at $550,000,000 in the Cooper report recently received by the International Joint Commission which is preparing its final report on the big scheme. But if the waterpowers along the river are developed for electrical purposes, the cost to be charged against navigation and the Governments of the United States and Canada is reduced to $150,000,000.

The Cooper plan provides for only five dams and six locks in the whole 120 miles, with 116 1/2 miles of open water and three and a half miles of canal. The Gardner report was submitted to the deep waterways convention at Detroit last year, provided for seven dams and nine locks. At present ships have to traverse 46 miles of canal and pass through 21 locks.

Expense Not Warranted?

The amount of traffic the St. Lawrence would carry does not warrant the expenditure of the vast sum necessary to provide a 30-foot channel. The overhead of ocean liners is 90 per cent. more than for lake carriers of the same size. If the deep waterway is to be secured it must be by commercializing the available waterpower. At present 170,000,000 horsepower is being developed, but this could be raised by 5,000,000 horsepower, of which Canada would be entitled to 4,000,000. The Cooper firm estimates that another 1,625,000 horsepower could be taken from the Niagara River, in addition to the 680,000 now being used, without spoiling the scenic beauty.

The total of $6,325,000 new horsepower that could be secured from the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers would develop a greater number of "hours" of energy than is now supplied to the whole of the United States. It would supply the needs of 41,000,000 people at 160 horsepower per thousand, and save 190,000 of manpower by reason of greater efficiency. As each horsepower of electric power saves an average of $35 per year per horsepower, as compared with steam, the annual saving would be $213,375,000, which would represent 1 per cent. on a capitalization of $22,000,000,000.

Magnitude of the Scheme.

The magnitude of the scheme is staggering. With the generation of all the electric energy mentioned, 65,250,000 tons of coal would be required for other uses along with railway property, now used in the handling of coal, worth $671,400,000. It would cost $1,300,000,000 to develop all the additional 6,625,000 horsepower.

There would be five locations on the St. Lawrence for the development of the five million horsepower there, the existing private plants of the Cedar Rapids Company, the Soutlanges Canal, and the Canadian Beauharnois Power Company would have to be scrapped and their owners reimbursed. The Cooper report urges that the rates charged for power from the five locations should be standardized.

John Weaymouth, the oldest ballist on record has resigned his position in Barrie after 45 years' service. France must borrow thirty-two billion francs to cover this year's expenses.

HOTRUM DENIES M'FADDEN TALE

In Condemned Cell He Tells Own Counsel He Did Not Shoot Sabine

WHAT OF CONLEY'S TALE?

Says His Statement Will be the Same Until He Drops on August 3rd

TORONTO, May 28.—"I deny absolutely that I ever made such a statement. What I did say is that I hoped McFadden would get off so that he might tell the truth about me," said Roy Hotrum, condemned murderer, to his solicitor, Mr. Murphy, when the latter interviewed him respecting the sworn statement of County Constable Eyre to the effect that Hotrum had told him that McFadden did not shoot Sabine.

Although apparently in good spirits when Mr. Murphy was admitted to his cell, Hotrum broke down four times. He began to sob as he said, "I am willing to give my life to bring Mr. Sabine back, and if he did come back he would say I didn't do it." Hotrum expressed much sympathy for Sabine. "If I go to the gallows my statement will be the same until the moment I drop; that I didn't shoot Sabine."

"After McFadden was sentenced he and I were walking to the cell together when McFadden turned and said to me, 'I suppose you should have got off,' added the condemned man.

"I hoped that McFadden would get off then I would have, as McFadden would then tell the truth."

When shown the statement of Jack Conley then his Conley, from what he had found out after the shooting, the prisoner said: "I can't understand Jack or Arthur Conley making the statements they did. Why did they wait until the last minute. Why didn't they tell the newspapers what they found out since I'm not afraid of anything they say if they tell the truth. Where did they get a chance to go to find out anything? They've been in jail ever since."

"If I did it I would have come through long ago," continued Hotrum to Mr. Murphy. "In order to save McFadden, I will go to the gallows on August 3rd, for the robberies, but as far as being hanged for the murder I'm not guilty. They might fool the people in the world as to who shot Sabine, but God knows I did not. They can't fool Him."

Hotrum was much put out when shown a heading in a local paper which in effect said he admitted his heading. He thought it was an unfair trick.

This was the first occasion on which his lawyer, Mr. Murphy, who so ably defended him at the trial, has seen him since he was convicted.

Miss Annie Davidson, principal of Cataract school, as well as Miss Gladys McBroom and Miss Marie Graham of the same school have also resigned. J. W. Milne, manual training instructor, has also tendered his resignation.

FUSION WITH THE GERMANS

Three More Provinces of Austria Will Vote on Future Allegiance

PLEBISCITE SOON

Austria Now of Opinion It Cannot Survive Without Aid of Berlin

VIENNA, May 27.—(The Associated Press)—Three more provinces will initiate the Tyrol and hold secret plebiscite referendums on the question of the fusion of Austria with Germany. Salzburg, Styria and Upper Austria have set May 29 as the tentative date for the ballot and it is believed that Carinthia also will fall into line. Vorarlberg, the western-most of the states last summer voted practically unanimously to join Switzerland.

The almost unanimous vote for fusion in the Tyrol on April 24, was a surprise even to the most ardent of fusionists. They had estimated an 80 to 90 per cent favorable ballot and it is conceded that the excess represented a number of those hard-headed mountaineers who voted simply because of the Entente prohibition against the referendum.

"The movement toward a union with Germany, born almost immediately after the creation of the republic, has grown steadily and these sporadic and independent referendums are the outgrowth of the failure of the effort to force the central government to defy the Entente and order a nation-wide vote.

According to foreign observers who have kept a watchful eye on the agitation there is no doubt that the total vote will show a heavy majority for the union. They do not share the belief professed by the opponents of the movement that if the vote actually meant action instead of a sentimental expression of opinion it would not carry. On the contrary they express the belief that it is a genuine and earnest thought and desire on the part of the mass of the people and say they are motivated by three controlling things.

First is the rooted conviction that Austria cannot survive politically or economically as an independent state. The economic arguments have been set before the world officially and unofficially for the past two years but the political phase of the matter was brought to a focus by the former Emperor Charles' recent attempt to regain the throne in Hungary.

The threat of Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania to occupy Hungary if a Hapsburg is restored spells an inevitable occupation of Austria along with it. They realize the utter impotency of Austria to resist the public against its powerful Slav neighbors and the present political situation in Central Europe does not calm their apprehensions.

As part of the stronger German state, they feel that they would be secure against any aggression and at the same time obtain advantages of a commercial nature which they cannot hope to gain independently. The belief of Austria in the rehabilitation of Germany is abiding and they wish to share it.

Behind this motive is said to lie the natural racial and language ties, coupled with the dread that Slav institutions will supplant their Germanic traditions and culture.

Another important factor is the well organized effective German propaganda. Directed by north German capitalists and financed by them, it evidenced its efficiency in the Tyrol vote. The Vienna opposition press openly charged that 4,000,000 marks were spent on that referendum alone and that as much more may be needed will be forthcoming to keep the moving going.

Coupled with this charge is the name of Hugo Stinnes, the great German capitalist whose recent business invasion of Austria, ranging from purchases of newspapers in Vienna and every provincial capital through many enterprises to control of the great

PRESBYTERIANS AGAIN TO TALK CHURCH UNION

Great Gathering in Toronto Next Week of Men From Coast to Coast

PARLIAMENT AT 600 Many Other Big Topics Will Have Serious Consideration of Delegates

TORONTO, May 28.—(Special.)—The annual General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which will meet in St. James Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto, Wednesday, June 1, and will likely continue in session for at least a week.

This Presbyterian Parliament meets annually and is a very important and impressive gathering, which only comes at intervals after thorough debate and full consideration.

According to the census of 1911, the proportion of Presbyterians to the total population was 15.4 per cent. Methodists, 14.93 and Anglicans 14.47.

The six hundred will, moreover, represent the Dominion geographically, for there will be Commissionaires present from New Foundland and Cape Breton on the East to Prince Rupert and the Yukon on the far North-west.

Parliament of 600. This Parliament of the six hundred also constitutes a real Parliament and a real democracy.

The coming Assembly promises to be an epochal one, chiefly because of the long-discussed Church Union with the Methodists and Congregationalists.
