Korniloff Gives Warning; Russia in Grave Peril

Commander in Chief Holds Approval of Nation

Regeneration of Russ Army Essential to Salvation of Nation, Says Korniloff; Must Hold Riga Shore, or Petrograd Falls

By Courier Leased Wire.

Moscow, Aug. 27.—The second general sitting of the National Conference was held this afternoon. General Korniloff, commander-in-chief entered the hall in company with Premier Kerensky. His appearance was the signal for a prolonged and enthusiastic ovation. All the delegates cheered for Russia, the revolutionary government and the army.

Vladimir Naboukoff, a prominent Social-Democrat, speaking in the name of the first duma, declared the country aimed at the establishment of a strong and independent power, uninfluenced by political parties; a power which based on democratic principles would establish obedience to the law, civil liberty and personal security. The speaker emphasized the absolute necessity of the independence of the high command of the army from every private influence.

M. Naboukoff said the members of the first duma repudiated with indignation all thoughts of a separate peace, and that if they were to have peace, they did not desire it to be the result of German victory, but the consequence of the triumph of Russia and her Allies.

M. Alexiinsky made a similar declaration on behalf of the second duma.

Premier Kerensky then introduced General Korniloff, saying the government had thought it necessary to invite the commander-in-chief to lay before the conference the situation at the front and in the army. General Korniloff said the death penalty, restoration of which he had asked, together with other measures constituted only a small part of what was necessary in an army stricken with the terrible evils of disorganization and insubordination.

In the present month, General Korniloff said, soldiers had killed four regimental commanders and other officers, and ceased these outrages only when they were threatened with being shot. Quite recently one of the regiments of Siberian rifles, which had fought so splendidly at the beginning of the revolution, abandoned its positions on the Riga front. Nothing except an order to exterminate the entire regiment availed to cause it to return to its positions.

"Thus we are implacably fighting anarchy in the army," the commander continued. "Undoubtedly it will finally be repressed, but the danger of fresh debacles is weighing constantly on the country."

"The situation on the front is bad. We have lost the whole of Galicia, the whole of Bukowina and all the fruits of our recent victories. At several points the enemy has crossed our frontier and is threatening our fertile southern provinces. He is endeavouring to destroy the Roumanian army and is knocking at the gates of Riga. If our army does not hold the shore of the Gulf of Riga, the road to Petrograd will be opened wide."

"The old regime bequeathed to Russia an army which, despite all (Continued on Page Six.)"

MICHAELIS A MISTAKE; NEW LEADER NEEDED

Charge Demanded by Georg Barnhard; Michaelis Without Experience and Must Learn or be Superseded

By Courier Leased Wire

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—The possibility of another change in imperial chancellors in Germany is discussed by Georg Barnhard in the Vossische Zeitung. He says that it is plainly already that the appointment of a minor official like Dr. Michaelis, without general political experience, was a great mistake, and that the results are not apt to be reached quickly under the leadership of the new administration. Parliament, he argues, must take the matter of internal reforms and peace into its own hands. Herr Barnhard still hopes that Chancellor Michaelis will see the error of his ways, and avoid the necessity for another change in the chancellorship.

Theodor Wolf, of the Tageblatt dismisses the new Bundesrat-reichstag committee as "a nostrum designed to soothe the cry of the German people for popular control of the government." Herr Wolf attacks Dr. Michaelis' reasons for side-tracking parliamentary reform until after the war, and says that the truth is that parliamentarism is not desired just now because it would impose real control upon the government, and end the domination of secret influences.

Disensus Note

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—Pope Benedict's peace note will be the principal subject of discussion at a meeting in Berlin this afternoon in which Imperial Chancellor Michaelis, members of the German parliament and representatives of Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony and Wurttemberg will participate.

Reports from the German capital add that Dr. Michaelis will leave for Belgium immediately after the meeting where he will have a conference with the governor-general, Baron von Falkenhause.

School Books Run Out

Amsterdam, Aug. 28.—The supply of school books in Germany will soon be exhausted, according to The Vossische Zeitung. Publishers of school books have been notified that they may use what stocks of paper they have on hand, but they will not be allowed any more paper for books.

Conflict at Conference Between Kerensky's Party and Democrats; Premier May be Superseded by Korniloff, People's Idol

By Courier Leased Wire.

Moscow, Sunday, Aug. 26.—(Delayed)—A conflict at the National Conference between Premier Kerensky, backed by the moderate Socialists and a majority of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, and the Constitutional Democrats and other non-Socialist parties, the Moscow Industrial group and that of the army, which stands for ruthless army discipline is approaching. The opposition to the premier looks to General Korniloff, the commander-in-chief of the Russian army, as its champion. This line-up of the delegates to the conference is indicated in interviews the Associated Press has had with members of all groups represented at the conference.

In this connection the newspapers remark that Petrograd is being brought into sharp opposition with Moscow. This opposition is emphasized by the fact that the Moscow "committee of public work," which met temporarily to organize Moscow's representation at the conference, today declared that it intends to sit permanently.

At present the name of General Korniloff is on every tongue. His coming was awaited with something akin to fear by the extreme left, which still incites against discipline in the army and with open exultation by the opposition group. The latter group today made the General's arrival the signal for a demonstration seldom accorded even to a general victorious in battle. The import of the demonstration is emphasized by the fact that not one member of the cabinet was at the railway station, but instead there was an imposing display by the military and civilian admirers of General Korniloff.

HIGH COURT OF FORESTERS IN FULL SESSION

Convention Properly Opened In Masonic Banquet Hall Today

The convention of the High Court, Ancient Order of Foresters, opened in full swing this morning in the Masonic Hall on Darling St., with probably over a hundred delegates in attendance. A formal welcome to the lodgesmen was extended on behalf of the city and the city council by Ald. Dowling and Ald. Wiley, who were introduced by Dr. E. R. Secord, Chief Ranger Martin and W. J. Vale, replying to the aldermen. An address of welcome was read and replied to, as was also a telegram of congratulations from the Ancient Order of Foresters in the U. S., sent to W. Williams, permanent secretary, upon his retaining office for 33 years. The hours of the convention were fixed at nine to twelve, and two to five.

The report of the credential committee was submitted together with those of the High Chief Ranger, High Court Executive, Medical Examiner, and High Court Treasurer, all being referred to this distribution committee. This afternoon the reception of reports will be proceeded with, and to-night the delegates will be entertained to a theatre party at the Brant Theatre. The full list of committees is as follows:

During the morning General Korniloff's biography and his photographs were distributed free by the organizers of demonstration. Officers went about the streets exhorting veterans of the war and particularly cavaliers of the Order of St. George to go to the railway station; explaining to them that duty compelled every patriotic man to support the "destined saviour of Russia" from foreign defeat and internal dissension.

At the station when the Russian commander-in-chief arrived was General Verkhovsky, commander-in-chief of the Moscow military district, Mayor Rudneff with a deputation from the municipality, a group of Socialist members of the conference, headed by Roditcheff, the veteran member of the duma, as well as leaders of Moscow's industries. The sole subject of conversation appeared to be the necessity of supporting General Korniloff's demand for strong measures, including capital punishment among the forces of disorder in the rear of the fighting army.

The station was filled with deputations of Cossacks and guards of honor, the chief guard of honor being composed of the much decorated cavaliers of St. George, youths from a military academy and Cossacks. Every man of the guard of honor, following the Russian army practice when welcoming a specially loved commander, held a ruse and another flower. There was also present a group of seven boy volunteers, none over sixteen years old, all of whom had fought since the beginning of the war and a girl volunteer, who had been wounded twice on the field of battle.

General Korniloff alighted from the train soon after noon, followed by a bodyguard of Terak Cossacks, gigantic Asiatics in prune colored caftans, leather belts and vest, shaggy sheepskin busbes.

General Korniloff, who is of Cossack parentage, resembles a Japanese. He is below middle height and of medium size. He has small black eyes and a sparse-tartar beard. His manner was grave and modest as he inspected the guard of honor. He spoke to some of the soldiers and each soldier threw a flower under his feet as he passed.

KINGDOM OF SERBS, CROATS AND SLAVENES

Premier Pachitch Speaks on Subject of United Slav Nation NOW ACCOMPLISHED Fourteen Million Free People United Under One Flag and King

By Courier Leased Wire.

Corfu, Island of Corfu, Aug. 1.—(By mail)—The premier and minister of foreign affairs of Serbia, the venerable Nikola Pachitch, today summed up for the Associated Press, the main features of the proposed new state of the southern Slavs, which is to unite under one flag and one king, a self-governing population of some fourteen million people.

This in effect is the appearance of a new state in the sisterhood of nations. And it is no dream of enthusiasts, for it is the careful work of all the political leaders of the various Slav nations and has besides the powerful support of the Entente Allies. M. Pachitch had before him the formal pronouncement of this state, which had been agreed upon after lengthy councils between the various ministers, the president of the Serbian parliament, the king and regent now at Saloniki, and all the other elements affected.

M. Pachitch first took a large map (Continued on Page Six)

BRITISH ADVANCE

By Courier Leased Wire
London, Aug. 28.—As the result of a British attack on the Flanders front yesterday, the British lines have been advanced along a front of more than 2,000 yards astride the St. Julian-Poelcapelle road. The war office announced to-day

A year's savings, amounting to $200, were found in the bottom of a dinner pail carried by I. Mossell, who was run down and killed by a train at Cold Spring, N.Y.

ENEMY WAS REPULSED

By Courier Leased Wire.
London, Aug. 28.—German attempts last night to drive back the British from their positions in the Inverness Copse on the Ypres-Menin road, were frustrated and prisoners were taken from the attacking forces.

The New York Sun expresses the belief that the shipyard strike in the New York district is likely to spread throughout the States by tomorrow, unless a settlement is reached.

THE WEST VS. LAURIER
When Hon. Mr. Oliver returned to Ottawa from Winnipeg, where he helped to manipulate the Liberal convention for Laurier, he was heartily welcomed by the "plumed knight."

In this Sir Wilfrid was counting his chickens before they were hatched. It is one thing to manipulate a gathering of delegates and quite another thing to deliver the goods as far as the rank and file are concerned.

The Winnipeg Free Press, the leading Liberal newspaper of the West, in referring to the matter says: "The Liberal party in the west is divided. The convention membership, we should say, was about sixty per cent. pro-Laurier, though many of the delegates who held these views did not understand the situation; but the feeling among the Liberal electors of western Canada today is sixty per cent. the other way. It will be ninety per cent. within a month.

That is plain talk on the part of a paper hitherto devoted to Sir Wilfrid but no one can doubt that it is the truth.

The record was over two to one in favor of the measure and even those who cast their ballots against the scheme will, without doubt, in the long run realize that a good day's business was accomplished.

Those qualified to vote totalled an even 400, and it was necessary for at least 134 to answer in the affirmative or the by-law would have been defeated even had there not been a solitary negative.

The estimated cost is $65,000 and it will take annual payments of $4472.35 for thirty years to meet interest and sinking fund on the investment. Without any question it will prove to be money thoroughly well spent, and the step forward is going to redound to the prosperity of the place in a very marked way.

The split which many thought would be inevitable in the convention began today in earnest on the streets, in the tram cars, and the clubs of Winnipeg.

Duke of Devonshire Formally Opens Fair and Inspects War Veterans

PRESENT HERO MEDAL
Address of Welcome to The Governor-General Read By President Marshall

A LARGE GATHERING
Enterprise Referred to as Symbol of Vitality and Power of Canada

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Once again the Fair that made Toronto famous is in full swing. For the thirty-ninth time the formal ceremonies in connection with the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition have been carried through without a hitch, and the directors, having completed all their preparations, are waiting anxiously to see if the crowds and the weather will combine to make the Exhibition "bigger and better than ever before."

It got off to a very fortunate start yesterday, as the weather conditions were perfect and the crowd that turned out was accordingly better than usually the case on the first Monday.

If first impressions count for anything, those people who were present on the first day ought to be the Fair's best advertisement, for they found the grounds looking like a great garden, with all the magnificent flower-beds in finer shape than they have been in several years, making a splendid background for the exhibits.

The large crowd was doubtless partly due to the fact that His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire had announced that he would take the opportunity offered by the opening ceremonies to honor publicly the next in line of several Canadians who made the supreme sacrifice.

A grand review of veterans had been arranged in front of the Grand Stand, and in connection with this gathering, the Exhibition took place in the annuals of the Victoria Cross to the father of Sgt. Sifton, a Canadian hero who gave his life in France.

At the same time His Excellency presented the Medal to the widow of J. Allen Fraser, of Paris, Ont., who was drowned trying to save a woman from death in the Grand River.

The largest crowd that has ever witnessed the machine performance on the opening day at the Exhibition gathered to visit these presentations, which combined to make one of the historic occasions of the Fair.

MUNICIPAL CONVENTION

London, Ont., Aug. 28.—When the Union of Canadian Municipalities resumed this morning a resolution sponsored by Mayor Hardie of Lethbridge, recommending that members of the Canadian army, not professional soldiers, be given equal pensions irrespective of rank was introduced.

A resolution forwarded by the Board of Control of Ottawa that the Union ask power to collect back income tax when the municipality dis-covers that the tax has been paid by the amount of income had not been properly stated was unanimously endorsed.

Mayor Bourgeois of St. Catharines introduced a resolution requesting the government to allow an overseas man who have served three years a furlough of three months.

Mayor Hardie opposed interference with military authorities.

Alderman Risk, Toronto, expressed disapproval of bothering the military authorities with such matters. He had no doubt they were doing the best they could for the men.

Ald. Ryding, Toronto, supported the resolution which was referred to the resolution committee and will be dealt with later.

Mayor Bourgeois was sponsor of a resolution for increase pay for soldiers and an increase of the separation allowance for their wives.

Alderman Ramsden, Toronto, Mayor Bowly, Brantford, Frederick Wright Montreal, Alderman Risk, Toronto, and Ald. Ashplant, London strongly favored the suggestion.

Mayor Hardie said that something he inserted in the resolution mentioning the amount of the increase.

Mayor Bowly Brantford, remarked that Mayor Hardie evidently had not much confidence in the government. This drew a heated retort from Mr. Hardie about indulging in personalities.

NO MORE FOOD FOR GERMANY

President Wilson Tightens Control of Exports To European Neutrals

TO PREVENT LEAKAGE
Vigorous Use of Control By the Government as War Weapon is Forecast

ISSUE PROCLAMATION
Will Go to Any Limit To Enforce Blockade Against Central Powers

Washington, Aug. 28.—President Wilson tightened the President's control of exports last night by issuing an order forbidding the shipment of any European neutral countries except under license, and by extending the lists for which license is required in shipment to the allies and neutrals other than European countries, to include cotton, all meats, sugar, and most of America's other export commodities.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation the President said one of the first intentions of the Government will be to see that no American products are made "the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly."

Officials interpreted the order as forecasting a vigorous use of the export control as a war weapon and a policy of the strictest rationing of countries contiguous to Germany.

Prohibit Exports to Germany. Exports to Germany and her allies also are formally prohibited by the President's order, and this is understood to mean that the export control is about to supersede the British system of giving letters of assurance for American cargoes.

Up to now there has been nothing except the British blockade to prevent the shipment of American goods to Germany.

Last night's order in this respect accomplishes one of the purposes sought in the trading with the enemy bill pending in Congress.

Coin, bullion, currency and evidence of indebtedness are placed under export license restrictions to European neutrals, and never regulate their export have been enumerated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

SOCIALIST CONFERENCE

London, Aug. 28.—The Inter-Allied Socialist and Labor conference was opened in London this morning under the presidency of Arthur Henderson, member of the House of Commons and former minister without portfolio.

Some 70 delegates representing Great Britain, Belgium, Russia, France, Portugal, Greece, South Africa and Italy are present. More than half of them are British representing various sections of the Socialist and Labor parties.

The figures are of little significance, however, as the conference is not to vote, but to consult and, if possible, agree on the policy to be followed in regard to the International Socialist conference at Stockholm.

It is proved to be impossible to reach an agreement, the various sections will put forward their own views at Stockholm.

The chief subject for consideration by the conference, however, is the war aims of the allies. A report on this matter has been drawn up by the executive committee of the British Labor party, and an effort will be made to reach an agreement.

The sessions of the conference will be private. Reports of each day's proceedings will be issued.

THE BEST INVESTMENTS

THE CAREFUL investor requires an investment of definite security and a good assured income. No other form of investment answering these requirements is more satisfactory than the Debentures issued by the Royal Loan & Savings Company.

The Laws of the Province of Ontario authorize Executors and Trustees to invest Trust Funds in these Debentures, which is the very best evidence of the security afforded by this form of investment.

These Debentures are issued for sums of one hundred dollars and upwards to any one applying for the same.

To The Editor A COMPLAINT

Dear Sir:—In looking over the Courier a few nights ago I see where the noise of the whistles has again been mentioned, and thought I might slip an interesting subject in for Holmedale people in the district of the mills. I was thinking that when Mayor Bowby was being so disturbed by the whistles, I wondered how he would like to do a big washing for a family every week, and so often have to do it over the second time, on account of soot from the mills. The clouds of smoke are dreadful; some times it is impossible to put up a window or open a door for it. Trusting something can be done before winter comes on. Thinking you for your space. Yours truly, One Who Suffers From it Greatly.

Activities of Schubert Choir

The executive of the Schubert Choir met last night to make definite arrangements for their season's programme. After a lengthy discussion, it was unanimously decided to produce the three latest works of Sir Edward Elgar, written on the war, viz: "The Fourth of August," "To Women," and "For the Fallen." The composer desires that the three works be given at one concert. "The Fourth of August" is a dramatic ballad on the declaration of war between England and Germany. "To Women" is an eulogy on the magnificent part that the women of the British Empire have played in the war, and "To the Fallen" is an impressive requiem to the brave and valiant men who have fallen in the great world struggle for democracy. All these works require the services of a first class orchestra, and arrangements are now in hand to secure the Toronto Symphony orchestra, which last year made its reappearance, and was so successful. It may be mentioned that the Mendelssohn choir of Toronto, have included the three works in their program for this season. As an additional attraction, one of New York's star singers will be engaged, which will make the season's programme one of the best that the choir have ever presented to the Brantford public. The choral works, both for their beauty of theme and music, will make a strong appeal to all choral singers, as well as all musical people, and the fact that they are entirely new, published in 1916, Brantford people will hear them first hand as a trilogy. The orchestra will also perform several of the best concert hall pieces, written by composers of the allied countries. We feel sure that with such a great program the support of the Brantford musical public is assured.

KINGDOM

Continued from Page One of the Balkans and pointed out the sweep of territory included in this new Slav kingdom. "It embraces," he said, "the territory over which the Serbs, Croats and Slavens are distributed through the western Balkans. They are all essentially one race, with one language, which has been kept broken into small groups by the political policy of Austro-Hungary. We now propose to bring these scattered secondary powers of Europe in area and population, and approaching some of the great powers. It would be a great sea front as well, and the premier pointed out a responsible and long sea front on the Adriatic, giving access thence to the Mediterranean, the Atlantic and the commerce of the world. This little rivet into little rival communities, trust into their internal discords would keep them from uniting. "Here we propose to establish a united Slav nation," Mr. Pachton went on, "with a government having these essential points: "A monarchy based on democracy and the rights of the people to be consulted; with a constitutional system, a parliament, and a responsible ministry. Elections will be by universal, equal and direct suffrage with secret ballot. All titles of nobility, baron, count, etc., will be abolished. The ancient form of the monarchy is retained in deference to tradition and in recognition of eminent service of the Karageorgevitch dynasty, which will be at the head of the new state. Complete freedom of religion will be guaranteed to Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Muslim alike. While there will be one flag and one king for the united nation, yet each state, Croatia, Serbia, Dalmatia etc., will be autonomous and self-governing on local affairs. Included among the main principles of the declaration is the following: "The name of this state will be 'Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slavens,' and the title of the sovereign will be 'King of the Serbs, Croats and Slavens.' "The Serbian government has communicated this declaration to all the governments of the Entente Allies.

CHINA READY TO FIGHT FOR THE ENTENTE

Three Generals, With 50,000 Troops, Volunteer For Active Service.

By Courier Leased Wire. Peking, Thursday, Aug. 23.—(Delayed)—Generals Lu Pei-Ching, Lung Chi Kwang and Ku Chin Tan, commanding 50,000 troops of Yunnan, Kwei Chow and Kwang Tung provinces, have offered forces for service in Europe. The provisional governments of Yunnan and Kwang Tung have given official recognition of Peking's declaration of war against Germany, apparently having been reconciled to the government of the acting president, General Fung Kuo Chang. The hostile movement in the southern provinces is now plainly a fiasco. Eighteen provinces have approved the project for a national council, which probably will be established within a fortnight. The press generally is urging China to present an undivided front to the enemy.

REGENERATION

(Continued from page 1) the defects in its organization nevertheless was animated by a fighting spirit and was ready for sacrifices. The whole series of measures taken by those who are completely foreign to the spirit and needs of the army has transformed it into a collection of individual groups which have lost all sense of duty and only tremble for their own personal safety. "If Russia wishes to be saved the army must be regenerated at any cost. We must immediately take measures such as I have referred to, which have been approved in their entirety by the acting minister of war." General Korniloff then outlined the most important of these measures in addition to restoration of the death penalty, which are: First, restoration of discipline in the army by the strengthening of the authority of officers and non-commissioned officers; second, improvement of the financial position of officers, who have been in a very difficult position in the recent military operations; third, restriction of the functions of regiment committees, which, although managing economic affairs of the regiments, must not be permitted to have any part in decisions regarding military operations or the appointment of leaders.

CONFLICT AT

(Continued from page one) Korniloff, on behalf of the city of Moscow. The mayor declared that the general was not only the destined victor at the front, but the saviour of Russia from ruin at home. As General Korniloff marched between lines of soldiers toward M. Rodicheff, the officers drew their swords and the band played the Marseillaise. Addressing the Russian commander, M. Rodicheff, said: "Russia has all her army wants, arms, supplies and a brilliant commander. All she lacks is a fighting spirit in her soldiers. It is you, General, who have the will and the means to restore that spirit." After kissing M. Rodicheff, General Korniloff made a brief speech, roughly phrased, but impressive by its unpretentiousness. "We expect from Moscow," General Korniloff said, "a message to the army. That message I hope will not in this grave crisis be of liberation and equality in the name of which I have been driven off the right track, but a message of victory and order. For myself at any sacrifice I shall do all in my power to turn that message to reality. I believe in and predict the resurrection of our army." As General Korniloff left the station he was given a tremendous ovation by the military and civilian population. The working classes, however, were absent and the sharply defined attitude of General Korniloff towards the cabinet and the Socialists, his declaration to the conference, and his interest with the keenest interest. His intimates, however, declare that owing to the position, he will not indulge in any sharp attacks. They say that the program of the military party and its criticism of the government probably will appear in a speech which General Alexieff, former and present-in-chief already has prepared.

CLOSURE RULE INTRODUCED

In Connection With The C. N. R. Resolution Opposition Then Commence Obstruction Tactics

Ottawa, August 27.—The prediction that the closure rule would be invoked to secure the passage by the House of the C. N. R. legislation was verified at 10 o'clock to-night, when Sir Thomas White minister of finance invoked rule 17 in order to make some headway with the bill. Clause 1 of the bill which provides for the acquisition of the Government of the 600,000 remaining shares of C. N. R. not in possession of the Government, has been under consideration since it went into committee some days ago.

To-night Sir Thomas White moved that further consideration be postponed and that clause 2 be taken up. His purpose was to bring the various clauses of the bill under review so that formal notice could be given. Under the closure rule its consideration would be completed at the next sitting of the House. Mr. Pugsley Overruled. When the rule was invoked Hon. Wm. Pugsley immediately appealed on the ground that notice should have been given. The Deputy Speaker did not sustain his objection and the Speaker was sent for. The ruling of the deputy chairman was sustained on a vote of 42 to 24, a Government majority of 18. Dr. Michael Clark and Mr. J. G. Turriff voted with the Government.

Obstruction Tactics. When clause 2 was taken up Hon. Mr. Pugsley rose and continued the obstruction. The clause is a simple one providing for the formal transfer of the shares to the Finance Minister in trust, but the member for St. John made it the pretext for a lengthy rehash of the arguments against the measure. Mr. Pugsley protested against the application of the closure rule, and declared that the people of the country would have something to say about the matter.

Sir Thomas White did not attempt to reply to Mr. Pugsley's general argument as regards closure, he pointed out that it was current knowledge that the Opposition had been prepared to obstruct any measure in connection with the Canadian Northern Railway in order to force the Government to use closure. Mr. Pugsley's indignation, therefore, was only a masquerade. He stated that in view of the formal nature of the clause he would move that the motion be passed on to the consideration of the next one. The motion was carried. Several Opposition members got up to demand a count of the members, but their colleagues had not come for the count. The count with its certain result, and consideration of Clause 3 was taken up.

Sir Thomas White got the floor and moved his proposed amendment putting a limit of 60,000 upon the amount the Government may spend on improvements, rolling stock, meeting liabilities, etc., without coming to Parliament. The amendment was then continued. E. MacDonald of Pictou, N.S. being the chief performer in this act. He repeated all the old objections to the scheme. It meant a probable payment of $60,000,000 to the "interests," and it meant saddling the country with a debt charge of over $600,000,000. Mr. MacDonald finally ended and made way for J. E. Marcille of Bagot.

Another despatch says:—Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Wild scenes of angry disorder, which threatened at one time to terminate in a riot swept Parliament last night. Amid shouts of "Call the police," and a tumult and angry roar above which no words could be heard, Sir Thomas White and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux were both on their feet, quivering with passion, and gesticulating at one another, and Deputy Speaker Rainville. A moment later Hon. William Pugsley, backed by Opposition cheering and Government hooting, was out in the middle of the floor, facing the manifestly nervous Deputy Speaker, and demanding recognition from the Chair for Mr. J. Gauthier (St. Hyacinthe) who was endeavoring to address the House.

Passion ran riot in the Chamber, and both sides roared personalities and insults at one another. The din at times was deafening, and nothing beyond the babel of shouts could be heard in the press gallery. Bitterness and trouble had been brewing all night, but the storm broke shortly before midnight, when, under the closure rule, Sir Thomas White endeavored to take the floor from Mr. Gauthier, and was recognized by the Chairman.

A new officers' training camp opens at Pittsburg on Thursday. Seven hundred Franciscan pilgrims from the New England States are now in New York.

DESTROYER SANK ENEMY SUBMARINE

Warship Came To Rescue of Merchantman Attacked By U-Boat

By Courier Leased Wire. A Gulf Port, Aug. 28.—The capture and destruction of a German submarine by an American destroyer and the killing of four members of the submarine's crew who had boarded a British steamer is reported by William Raymond Brown, an American seaman, who arrived here today aboard a British steamer. The submarine stopped a British steamer, but soon after she came alongside, the American destroyer came up and destroyed the U-boat. After the submarine was destroyed the men who had previously gone aboard the British steamer, tried to take charge of the vessel. One of the German officers was hit and killed and three others were killed in the fight that followed.

EAT LESS MEAT IN HOMES TOO

Housewives Should Aid Food Controller In Conserving Supply

There can be little doubt but that the "meatless day" regulation of the food controller has partially achieved the object for which it was designed, but in order that the measure may be a total success, it is thought by some restaurant proprietors that private households should co-operate and voluntarily ban bacon and beef from the dinner menu on Tuesdays and Fridays, the two forbidden days. Local eating houses are apparently observing the rule strictly, but while the demand for beef and bacon has been materially lessened, on the other hand orders for veal and lamb have been much more frequent. Fish and fowl have also become more popular, but while fish is con-considered an ideal light food for Sundays, it is thought that less will be served when the colder weather arrives. Butchers and grocers state that their sales of beef and bacon have not declined to any appreciable degree since the order went into effect, and only in a few isolated cases are customers refusing to purchase these meats on Tuesdays and Fridays. Whereas proprietors of eating houses, where more than twenty-five meals are served each day, are liable to a fine of from $25 to $100 for a violation of the regulation, householders may use their own discretion in preparing their meals and they are guided solely by their inclinations.

Building a Retail Business

The features that build a retail business are WORTHY GOODS POPULAR POLICIES, COURTEOUS and CAPABLE SALESPeOPLE, SMART SHOW WINDOWS, ATTRACTIVE INTERIORS, the SQUARE DEAL, and SERVICE.

All these features are necessary, and all of them together constitute a PROPER BASE for the most important thing of ALL—NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

You see establishments in every town that a few years ago were small, but which have grown BIG and PROMINENT—in every town, too, you see the slow-moving conservative kind.

They were small when you first knew them, but they are relatively smaller now. They continue to plod along in the ways of the PAST, losing a little MORE trade each year to the MODERN fellow whose shop rooms bright and alluring just across the way.

WHY IS it that the old-fashioned places are DWINDLING and flickering out one by one like spent candles? And why is it that right alongside of them are OTHER places which are FLOURISHING and PUSHING AHEAD with EVER-LENGTHENING stride? Do you WISH TO KNOW the answer? It is ADVERTISING.

Manage a business in a way that will make that business WORTH talking about in the daily newspapers—then apply your PRINTER'S INK! The rewards of TRADE go to those that KEEP UP WITH THE AGE!

LEAFS DROP TO SECOND AGAIN

Richmond Took First of The Series, Hitting Warhop At Ease

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Some unknown humorist once upon a time made solemn declaration that the elevator man's lifetime was full of ups and downs, but this satirical wit, whom discretion probably has driven into obscurity, would have had further foundation for his statement if he had watched the progress of the Leafs during the season. Up to-day and down to-morrow, climbing into the lead and then losing it, regaining their position and forging ahead, and then slipping back to their original level—that has been Toronto's erratic pennant race, and to-day they are again trailing those Rhode Island Grays, who have the faculty of winning whenever the Leafs lose. The Leafs' inconsistency is not confined to their climbing abilities, either, for usually when they meet the best in the league they give them hard battles, and the records show that Newark is the only team that have the edge on them this season, but when the Rebels or any other weak team come along, the Leafs promptly follow their pace, and so that explains to some extent why the Leafs lost to Richmond yesterday by 3 to 1.

WEIRD GAME WON BY WASHINGTON

CHICAGO WINS AGAIN

Blanked Yanks, While The Tigers Beat Red Sox—Athletics Trim Browns

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—Washington won a peculiar game from Cleveland to-day 11 to 9. Cleveland drove out three pitchers, but so did Washington. Playing an uphill game, Cleveland took the lead in the fifth, but Morton's poor work aided by Harris' error, sent Washington into the lead again in the sixth. Johnson, was credited with the victory, as Morrison was charged with the defeat. Cleveland staged a triple steal in the fifth. Roth scoring, while Harris and Wambogans advanced. Twelve bases were stolen by the two teams, Roth stealing four and Rice three, the latter also stealing home. Gallia struck out the entire side in the second, while Shaw performed the same feat in the fourth. The score: Washington . . . 033013001—11 11 3 Cleveland . . . 112040010—9 10 5 Batteries—Harper, Gallia, Shaw, Johnson and Ainsworth; Klepfer, Coumbe, Morton, Covaieski and O'Neill.

At Chicago Chicago gave a full game to Boston in the American race to-day by shutting out New York, 3 to 0, while Detroit won from Boston. The White Sox now are three games ahead of Boston. There is a possibility, however, that the league will be composed of only four teams, but this would only tend to make a tighter race and the season is drawing rapidly to a close, and would possibly be the best proposition.

KING OF GREECE

Pays a Visit to Devastated Saloniki

The New Monarch Frequently Cheered by The People

By Courier Leased Wire Saloniki, Greece, Saturday, Aug. 25.—King Alexander to-day visited Saloniki and viewed the devastated region, caused by the recent fire. The king was received by Greek officials and also by General Sarrail, the French commander and Lieutenant General Milne, the British commander, and the foreign consuls. After inspecting the burned area and the refugee camps, King Alexander had an audience of Generals Sarrail and Milne. Gen. Sarrail has informed the mayor of Saloniki that the French government was sending a contribution of money to aid the people of Saloniki. He also promised that France would furnish tools and materials with which to build temporary dwellings for the populace. The visit of King Alexander made a good impression on the people, who frequently cheered him.

STRIKE TROUBLES IN SILESIA

Seriously Reduce The Production of German Coal Under - Nourished Miners Cannot Do Full Days Work

Copenhagen, Aug. 28.—Strikes of miners in Silesia last month reduced the German production of coal by more than 1,000,000 tons, according to statements made in the debate in the Reichstag main committee on the fuel problem. Vice Chancellor Helfferich gave an urgent and earnest warning against further strikes. The government report stated that production had been affected by inadequate food supplies. This was corroborated by speakers of various parties, who said under-nourished workmen could not do a normal day's work. A representative of the military authorities declared that more miners could not be spared from the army. The gravity of the situation is shown by the seriously considered proposal to restrict the production of iron, although this is needed for munitions.

BOOST FOR INTERCITY BASEBALL

The organization of the proposed Inter City League has been unexpectedly delayed. Sarnia and Windsor, which were at first considered as prospective members of the League, have found it impossible to enter agreements of sufficient strength, while Toronto and Hamilton, where the city leagues are supposedly amateur, will find it necessary to secure the approval of the Amateur Association before they cast in their lot in a semi-pro organization, and thus endanger already precarious amateur standing. In London, where the season has been anything but a financial success, funds to finance the undertaking is the obstacle. Woodstock and St. Thomas are said to be practical certainties and Brantford fans are sure to patronize the strong team that can be lined up from the City League. Sam Lee, who is working energetically to effect the organization of the league, left for London this morning and if that city can be lined up, a schedule will likely be drafted and the games commence almost immediately. There is a possibility, however, that the league will be composed of only four teams, but this would only tend to make a tighter race and the season is drawing rapidly to a close, and would possibly be the best proposition.

WEATHER HAS BEEN GOOD

For The Ripening And Filling of Western Grain Harvest Operations in Full Swing in Alberta

Edmonton, Alb., Aug. 28.—Weather conditions during the past week have been ideal for ripening and filling the grain. There have been two or three hail storms, one of which did considerable damage over a somewhat extended territory, where splendid crops were ready to harvest. During the week officials of the Department of Agriculture have visited a number of districts and report harvest operations quite general throughout the eastern and southern part of the province with fair yields and good sample crops, but that harvesting won't be general throughout the whole province until the middle or end of the week. Harvest operations are also in full swing throughout the Peace River district, which continues to report very optimistic conditions. Labor conditions are now quite satisfactory.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE BRANT. Mary Pickford, in her latest Art-craft-Paramount production, "The Little American," is a stellar attraction of the first rank at the Brant theatre the first of this week. Pulsating, patriotic, penetrating, "The Little American" is a picture of a grade seldom achieved upon the screen, and presents one of the most potent and graphic arrangements of Prussian Kultur ever yet set before the people of Canada. The theme deals with life in invaded France in the early portion of the war, after an unusually vivid and realistic delineation of the torpedoing of such a transatlantic liner as the Lusitania. Miss Pickford in the production is supported by an all star cast, and the staging and filming of the picture is beyond criticism. Bushman and Bayne, co-starring in "The Great Secret," and fresh comedy features, are other attractions on the motion picture program. The Argot Troupe present an original and entertaining offering, a series of modern surprises.

THE REX

The Byrne and Byrne musical comedy company opened their engagement at the Rex theatre yesterday afternoon and evening with "The Kodak Girls," a miniature frolic of fun, in which their famous female impersonator scored a decided success. The picture program is one of the best that has been shown for a good many months. The feature of the bill is a five reel Laskey production, "What Money Can't Buy," presented with one of the strongest casts ever assembled, including Louise Huff, Jack Pickford and Theodore Roberts, supported by James Cruze, Hobart Bosworth, James Neil and Raymond Hatton. The picture is interesting throughout, and the scenes which are laid in a little kingdom in Europe, present many interesting situations. A financial battle between an American money king, and a foreign financier, and the old, old story in which Louise Huff and Jack Pickford assume the leading roles, are the two stories that develop side by side with the progress of the play. Replete with human interest, another excellent O. Henry story is thrown upon the screen, and proved as popular as its predecessors. A Keystone comedy rounds out an exceptionally good all round programme.

THE GRAND

The Edward Keane players at the Grand last night scored a great hit with their first performance of "The Rich Little Poor Girl." A pretty and dainty play of unusual romantic interest and opportunity, to which the company did full justice. The story is of a rich little girl who is poor and works as a slave in a London lodging house. Among the numerous orders is one that treats the little girl kindly, and she grows to love him. But he is a struggling composer and artist whose work is continually turned down because of his high ideals and his refusal to write music to suit the vulgar and popular taste. The artist is Launcelot (Mr. Keane), the little rich girl is Mary Ann (Miss Reade). Launcelot has a friend, a merchant who persuades him eventually to write popular "stuff," and he becomes rich and is classed as a genius. The friend is Mr. Peter, played by Stanley Price. Launcelot has just about decided to take Mary Ann out of the lodging house and marry her and live with her in the country when the vicar of Mary Ann's parish arrives with the news that Mary Ann has become a great heiress, and he takes her away from Launcelot. For six years they know nothing of each other until one evening at Mary Ann's charity concert, Launcelot, now the great composer, comes, identifies her and claims her. She has loved him all through the years and all ends happily.

THE WESTERN FAIR

Sept. 7th to 15th. The management of London's Exhibition have decided this year to put Coin Controlled turnstiles on their Grand Stand. These turnstiles proved so satisfactory on the gates last year that the Directors were unanimous in favor of the change. They will, therefore, be used on both gates and Grand Stand this year. The public will be saved the annoyance of crowding for tickets, all that is necessary is to be provided with a silver coin, either a twenty-five cent piece, or a fifty cent piece, if a reserved seat is wanted, and pass right through the stile without tickets of any kind. It is expected this will be the banner year of the Fair. It will be the 50th year of the Fair, and the 50th year has seen some advancement, until the present year will doubtless eclipse them all. The space in the different buildings is nearly all allotted and the Exhibitors will do their best to make their displays attractive. The Dog Show will be a feature again and judging will commence Tuesday, Sept. 11. Prize Lists and all information regarding the Exhibition given on application to the Secretary A. M. Hunt, London, Ontario.

TROUT FISHING IN THE LAURENTIAN LAKES

HERE is in Eastern Canada a region strewn with lakes where one can drop of the train and in three or four hours return with a "catch" (weighing 20 to 40 lbs.) of those dainty minnows which are as game as the black bass and as beautiful as the rainbow. That region is the district which lies between St. Agathe and Nominating in the Laurentians, Province of Quebec; and its myriad lakes, and streams abound with grey and speckled trout, which, according to many experts with the rod, have no equal elsewhere for size, gameness and variations in color.

The total run north from Montreal to Nominating over the Canadian Pacific is only a six hour ride; or to put it in another way, starting at Montreal one reaches St. Agathe in 3 1/2 hours, Labelle in 5 hours, and Nominating in 6 hours, while the distance from these and other stopping points to the adjacent or near-lying lakes and streams varies from one-eighth of a mile to four miles, except Nominating, where the very remotest lake lies 12 miles distant from the Canadian Pacific line. Another important feature that makes this splendid trout-fishing region absolutely unique is that a score of lakes, and as many streams, are as yet totally unexplored; and there, as one expert with the rod and fly puts it, "the trout are wholly unspoiled," which is another way of saying that they will bite and snap at a fly the moment they spot the gaudy counterfeit.

The most unique feature of this trout-fisher's paradise in the Laurentians is its infinite or endless variety. Do you want to have the best trout though not large in size, are "sporty" little fellows, which like to rise to the fly, and you can fill a creel in a very short time. In the same area are two other lakes, Lovesque and week there will suffice. Next, en-train for St. Faustin, only 13 miles distant from St. Agathe. Drop off at St. Faustin, and an eighth of a mile away is Square Lake, where the trout fishing with fly or troll that this continent affords? Then drop off at St. Agathe and proceed to Lake Manitou where the speckled trout are specially plentiful and gamey. A miles away from the station, you can get a week of good speckled trout fishing with fly; you can prolong your stay in the Labelle district by a week's fishing in Lakes Wade and Escare, where good fly-fishing is obtained. A couple of weeks at those waters will suffice. Now proceed to Labelle, 23 miles distant, and at Lakes Caribou and Labelle, 2 and 4

Cucumber, and not be disappointed. But it is in the lakes near Nominating 24 miles from Labelle, that you will get all that the expert-fisher with rod and fly can desire. Here is a series of small lakes—Petit Nominating, St. Joseph, Gaumont, Brochet, and Sacre-rie—all of which abound beyond dream in speckled trout, varying in size from 1 lb. to 8 lbs. They are a game and exceedingly beautiful. In fact one of the phases which make a month's fishing in these lakes particularly interesting is that in no two lakes are the trout exactly alike. They show small, but appreciable difference in size, shape, color and taste. So that the fisherman may always rely on getting fresh pleasure as he proceeds from lake to lake in the Nominating region. It should be added that the trout in these lakes appeal especially to the expert who prides himself on his ability to catch a fly.

Large grey trout are to be caught in the bigger lakes, especially Grand Nominating, Commandant and Louise, but the first is the best and most popular with the devotees of this kind of sport. The trolling must be done with spoon bait or minnow, and from a slowly moving canoe. For variety one may try the fly, but this has been found practically ineffective. The reason is that in May, when the trout season opens, few winged insects are seen on the big lakes, and the grey trout, being a good student of nature, seems to know this, and will not be fooled by the artificial fly.

CHAPTER IV.
Blackmail.

There was a breathless instant while the combination of knobs, bolts and locks defied her impertinently so obstinately that Sally was tempted to despair.

She dared not look behind her; but momentarily, as she groped, flummied, and trembled at the front door, she was aware that a man had backed out of the library into the hall and paused there in the gush of light, after her.

And when the door suddenly yielded she heard—or fancied that she heard—his voice, its accent peremptory: "Stop!" Or perhaps it was: "Wait!"

But she did neither; the door slammed behind her with a crash that threatened its glass; she was at the foot of the front steps before that sound had fairly registered on her consciousness; and her panic-winged heels had carried the young woman well around the corner and into Park Avenue before she appreciated how interesting her tempestuous flight from that rather thoroughly burglarized mansion would be apt to seem to a post-pog policeman. And then she pulled up short, as if reckoning to divert suspicion with a semblance of nonchalance—now that she had escaped!

But a covert glance aside brought prompt assurance; after all, the gods were not unkind; the policeman was just then busy on the far side of the avenue, hectoring humbly into the heart of an unhappy taxicab operator who had, presumably, violated some minor municipal ordinance.

Inconsistently enough, so strong is the habit of a law-abiding mind—the sight of that broad, belted, self-sufficient back, symbol of the power and sanity of the law, affected Sally with a mad impulse to turn, hail the officer, and inform him of the condition she had just quitted, and she actually swerved aside, as if to cross the avenue, before she realized how difficult it would be to invoke the law without implicating herself most damningly.

Recognition of that truth was like receiving a dash of ice-water in her face; she gasped, cringed, and scurried on up Park Avenue as if hoping to outdistance thought. A forlorn hope, that; refreshed from its long rest (for since the storm she had been little better than the puppet of emotions, appetites, and inarticulate impulses) her mind had resumed its normal functioning.

Unobtrusively it analyzed her plight and proved that what she had conceived in an hour of absentminded execution on the spur of an envious instant could nevermore be undone. What had been planned to be mere fit of clothing—was to be returned in good order, reasonable wear and tear excepted—was one thing; safe-breaking, with the theft of Heaven only knew what treasure, was quite another. As to that, had she not been guilty of active complicity in the greater crime? How could she be sure (come to think of it) that the stout man had not been the law's caretaker rather than a rival house-breaker?

She had indeed begun to be adventuresome with a vengeance. The police were bound to learn of the affair all too soon; her part in it was as certain to become known; too late she was reminded that the name "Manvers" indelibly identified every garment abandoned in the bath-room! Before morning certainly, before midnight probably, Sarah Manvers would be the quarry of a clamorous hue and cry.

Appalled, she hurried on aimlessly, now and again breaking into desperate little jog-trots, with many a furtive glance over shoulder, with as many quizzing round-abouts for refuge or resource.

But the city of that night wore a visage new and strange to her, and terrifying. The very quietness of those few residential blocks, marooned amid ever-rising tides of traffic had an ominous accent. All the houses seemed to have drawn together, cheek by jowl, in secret conference on her case, sloughing their disdainful daytime pose and following her fugitive, guilty figure with open amusement and contempt.

Some (she thought) leered hideously at her, others scowled, others again assumed a scornful cast; one and all pretended to a hideous intelligence, as though they knew, and if they would, could say what and why she fled.

It was as if the storm had been a supernatural visitation upon the city, robbing it of every intimate, homely aspect, leaving it inhumanly distorted in an obsession of abominable enchantment.

With the start of one suddenly delivered from dream-haunted sleep, she found herself arrived at Forty-Second Street, and safe; none pursued her, nothing in her manner proclaimed the new-fledged malefactor; she need only observe ordinary circumspection to escape notice altogether. And for several moments she remained at a complete standstill there on the corner, blocking the fairway of foot traffic and blindly surveying the splendid facade of Grand Central station, spellbound in wonder at the amazing discovery that Providence did not always visit incontinent retribution upon the heads of sinners—since it appeared that she who had sinned was to escape scot free!

With this she was conscious of a looting spirit of exultant impetuosity; the deadly monotony of her days was done with once and for all. It mattered little that—since it were suicidal to return to the studio, the first place the police would search for her—she was homeless, friendless, penniless; it mattered little that she was hungry (now that she remembered it) and had not even a change of clothing for the morrow; these things would somehow be arranged—whether by luck or by virtue of her wit—they mattered not.

All that really mattered was that the commonplace was banished from her ways, that she was alive, foot-loose and fancy-free, finally and definitely committed to the career of an adventuress!

Paradoxically, she was appalled by contemplation of her amazing callousness; outwaded, declasse, she was different to her degradation, and alive only to the joy of freedom from the bondage of any certain social status.

Now, as she lingered on the corner, people were passing her continually on their way over to the terminal—a man who, carrying a small Oxford hand-bag, came up hastily from behind, started to cross the street, drew back barely in time to escape annihilation at the wheels of a flying squadron of taxicabs, and so for a moment waited, in impatient pre-occupation with his own concerns, only a foot or two in advance but wholly heedless of the girl.

Sally caught her breath sharply, and her-wits seemed to knit together with a sort of mental click; the man was Blue Serge, identified unmistakably to her eyes by the poise of his blue-clad person—the same Blue Serge who owed his life to Sally Manvers!

In another instant the way cleared and the man moved smartly on again, with every indication of one spurred on by an urgent errand—but went no more alone. Now a pertinacious shadow dogged him to the farther sidewalk, into the yawning vestibule of the railway station, on (at a trot) through its stupendous lobbies, even to the platform gates that were rudely slammed in his face by implacable destiny in the guise and livery of a gateman.

At this, pausing a little to one side, Sally watched Blue Serge as he cost the gateman, argue, protest, exhibit tickets, and finally endeavor to bribe a way past the barrier. But the train was already pulling off; with a shake of his stubborn head the uniformed guardian moved on, and ruminating on a power of pent protest, Blue Serge turned and strode back into the waiting-room, passing so near to Sally that their elbows almost touched without his rousing to the least recognition of her existence.

But that in itself was nothing to dismay or to check the girl in her purpose, and when Blue Serge a minute later addressed himself to the Pullman bureau she was still his per upon his communication with the authority of the brass-banded wicket.

"I've just missed the eleven ten for Boston," she heard him explain (as he displayed tickets on the marble ledge, "and, of course, I'm out my berth reservation. Can you give me a lower on the midnight express?"

"No," Authority averred with becoming sententiousness. "An upper, then?"

"Nothing left on the midnight," "No, even stateroom?"

"I told you nothing doing." "Well, then, perhaps you can fix me up for the Owl train?"

"Wait a minute." While Authority consulted his records; not a long pause, but one long enough to permit a wild, mad inspiration to flash like lightning athwart the clouded horizon of Sally's doubt and perplexity. Surely it were strangely inconsistent with her role of adventuress to permit this man to escape, now that destiny had delivered him into her unscrupulous hands!

"Owl train? De luxe room or ordinary stateroom—all I got left."

"Good enough. I'll take—"

If Blue Serge failed promptly to nominate his choice, it was only because Miss Manvers chose that juncture to furnish him—and incidentally herself, when she had time to think the girl over with what was unquestionably for both of them the most staggering surprise of that most surprising night.

Peremptorily plucking at blue-serge sleeve with the brazenest impudence imaginable, she advised her victim:

"Take both, if you please!" (Continued in Wednesday's issue.)

CASTLES IN THE AIR

"Look on my sleeve!" cried David. Mazie and Doty came running from the garden to see.

"Kill it!" cried Mazie. "No, it won't hurt you. That's a measuring worm from Whizzenpoof's castle in Whereawayland," exclaimed Doty.

"Oh, dear, who ever heard of a Whizzenpoof?" laughed David watching the worm crawl up his sleeve.

"Or a Whereawayland!" exclaimed Mazie. "I'd kill it, David."

"Perhaps you've never heard of them, but there is a Whereawayland and Whizzenpoof is the King. I've been there and I know," replied Doty.

David and Mazie always enjoyed Doty's tales of Fairyland, so they begged her to tell them all about it.

"One day when I was sitting under the elm tree a worm like that fell on my sleeve. Great tears rolled out of his eyes and ran down his long neck. I asked him what was the matter, and he told me the King of Whereawayland had ordered a new suit. Some one had stolen his measuring stick and he couldn't measure his suit."

"You see I'm the tailor of Whereawayland," he explained, "and if I don't have the King's suit ready by sundown I lose my head."

"I felt dreadfully sorry," said I, "and I would only be too glad to help him find his measuring stick if I only knew how."

"Then come up to Whereawayland and entertain Whizzenpoof while I hunt for my stick," said the worm, and when he touched me I grew smaller and smaller until I wasn't any bigger than a lady bug.

"From the elm tree hung a long spider web—the worm had made as he came down—this proved to be a long, long stairway. He took hold of my hand and we went to the top. There stood the castle. Sometimes it was gold, when the sun shone on it, then when the moon peeked at it the castle walls turned to silver."

"King Whizzenpoof opened the door. He was dreadfully funny. He stood up on his hind legs and used all his other hands. His eyes were black and from them shot sparks of fire. He had a long yellow streak with four little white puff balls on it. I suppose it was really a yellow jacket and the white balls were buttons. I wanted to laugh, but he sprang toward me. I must never laugh or he would lose his head, and so I didn't."

"What do you want?" cried Whizzenpoof. "Come to pay you a visit," I answered.

"Then Whizzenpoof began to laugh. Did you ever hear a whizzenpoof laugh? The children shook their heads.

"Well, it sounds like the squeak of a rusty door, only not so loud. He opened the door wide and I walked into the castle. The walls were hung with gold and silver tapestries and rubies were piled sky-high. I began to fill my apron with them and all my pockets when I heard Whizzenpoof's voice.

"Pay me a visit! Don't you know when little girls and boys come to Whereawayland they can never return home again!" sneezed Whizzenpoof, and he sprang toward me just as the door flew open and I rushed the green worm with the measuring stick in his hands.

"When the King saw the stick he thought of nothing else but his new suit, and while the green worm was taking his measure I slid down the stairway and dropped on the grass under the tree," finished Doty.

"But where are the jewels?" asked Mazie.

"Foolish, I didn't really go there—just made the story up."

David tenderly lifted the green worm from his sleeve to a blade of grass. "Well, I'm not going to kill him anyway, for some time maybe he'll take me to Whereawayland," said David, and the children watched the green measuring worm crawl out of sight under a blade of grass.

GET PEOPLE TO WONDERING.

Molly and the Cynic were talking about a young man who has recently bought a new car.

"And what do you suppose," said Molly, "he told me the other night when he took me out that he was beginning to get tired of it. And he's only had it two months. I can't understand it."

"What were you saying to him?" said the Cynic.

"Why I don't know," said Molly, "I'm sure I don't know. Weren't you telling him how crazy he was over it or something like that?"

INCREASE IN PENSIONS. Further Allowance Owing To Increased Cost Of Living Matter To Be Dealt With By New Parliament.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Pending final action in regard to pensions to soldiers and soldiers' dependents there is to be a flat increase in the rate of pensions to meet the increased cost of living. The announcement was made in the House by Sir Robert Borden in explaining the Government's decision to postpone legislative action upon the proposed new scale of pensions.

The whole pension question, stated the Prime Minister, was one that should be dealt with by the new parliament that would shortly be summoned. It was a fact, however, that the cost of living had materially increased in Canada, and the Government deemed it advisable, pending final consideration of the question, that there should be a further allowance to those drawing pensions. The proposed increase would date from the beginning of the present fiscal year, April 1st.

To Hon. Charles Murphy, the Prime Minister stated that the Government had not decided upon the rate of increase.

CHINESE KILLED BY COUPLER LEASED WIRE. Seattle, Wa., Aug. 28.—A Chinese, identified as Yee Bing, alleged head gunman for the Hop Sing Tong on the Pacific coast, was shot and instantly killed in the Chinese quarter of Seattle last night, by two Chinese alleged to be members of the Bing Kong Bow Leong Tong. A Japanese bystander was wounded. Yee Bing, it is charged, was responsible for the numerous tong murders on the coast. Police officials said they feared that another outbreak of tong warfare along the coast would result from last night's shooting.

FAMILY HARD HIT. Quebec, Aug. 27.—Three members of the De Longchamp family of this city are on the casualty list today, while a fourth member of the family is on sick leave in a military hospital in England. A fifth member of the family is now under training at Valcartier for overseas service. The latter is only 18. Joseph De Longchamp of Quebec, was wounded in the night of August 16. His nephew, Louis Fournel, was wounded on the same day in the leg. The latter brother, Alfred, received a gunshot in the eye on the same day. All of these men enlisted in the 189th Battalion, but were serving in the 22nd when wounded.

GIRLS' DRESS. By Anabel Worthington.

A convenient little dress for the junior girl to slip into when she is in a great hurry is No. 8366. It is in one piece from shoulder to hem and has tucks in the front which produce the effect of a panel. The dress buttons all the way down the centre front and has a youthful looking collar. Two styles of sleeves are offered—the short plain ones for a wash dress, and the long ones for a school dress for light weight wool material. The most attractive feature of this dress is the trimming, consisting of pockets and straps in one. The straps start at the shoulders and follow the line of the tucks in front until they develop into pockets at the sides. The dress may be made with or without the belt.

The girls' dress pattern, No. 8366 is given in sizes 6 to 14 years. The 8 year size requires 2 1/2 yards 36 inch material, with 1/2 yard 36 inch contrasting goods. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

AN ARMY OF SONG

"Here we are! Here we are! Here we are again!"

The battalion came swinging down into the dusty main street of the village, and burst into song as it reached the first house. It was anxious, evidently not to be overlooked. It was anxious, also, to make it perfectly clear that there was nothing in the war in general, in the dust of that road in particular to make it other than gay-hearted. So with a roar there came, on the heels of the song of arrival, "Are we downhearted? No!" And then the battalion broke into song again.

"Not while Britannia rules the waves. Not likely. While you're Jack upon the sea, And Tommy on the land you need not fret. It's a long, long way to Tipperary. But we're not downhearted yet."

But it is not always that a British soldier sings what he feels, his good humor and his confidence, so directly and simply as that. His humor more often goes by contraries. If he is cheerful, he likes to show it by singing a melancholy song. Nothing pleases him more than a song that does not suit the occasion, or a song with words that obviously do not belong to it, or a song that tells you, with every exaggeration possible the exact opposite of what he feels. In fact at every turn of his life his humor is moved above all by anything that is inappropriate. He sings a song, but he likes better still to parody it. He likes to give a comic touch at times even to his patriotism, as in the song of the patriotic pawnbroker going to war. The words run something like this:

"Goodbye, Rachel! Let everybody know I'm fighting for the shamrock, 'the shille, the shille, the shille, I'll be there, dear, when the bugle calls, Fighting for my country and the Three Brass Buttons."

In fact he will make fun of anything, and, with most pleasure of all, he will make fun of himself. If he can get somebody to write his verses to any tune, declaring (as he one pathetic song, "I want to go home") that he is a coward, that he will do anything to keep away from the fighting, that he is willing to send all his family to the trenches, if only you will not send him, then he has found a song that he will sing with more cheerful pleasure than any rousing verses of war.

The Marines have as their song: "A life on the ocean wave, Where the scattered waters rave, And the winds their revels keep, And so on.

But you do not suppose that such stormy and solemn sentiments about the sea will satisfy the Marine. He knows exactly how to prefer to sing of it in another way. He prefers:

"A life in the Royal Marines Is better than going to sea, But what the difference is I'm hanged if I can see."

There are many hymn tunes that the soldier sings, or they are simple, nearly everyone knows them, and they are easy to march to. But he sings them to his own words. They are always very secular words. To one well-known hymn he sings:

"When the beer is on the table When the beer is on the table When the beer is on the table I'll be there."

These words sung to a tune of such different associations, on an open dusty road, have an exquisite and tantalizing inappropriateness such as the British soldier loves. Many roads of Britain and France have heard the tramp of feet to the sound of the "Church's One Foundation." But the words they have heard have nothing to do with the church. They are more than secular:

"We are the ragtime army We are the R. N. D. We cannot fight, we cannot shoot What a jolly fine lot we are! But when we get to Berlin The Kaiser he will say: 'Ach! Mein Gott! What a jolly fine lot we are! Are the boys of the R. N. D.' But it is not only the Royal Naval Division that may have the pleasure of proclaiming its uselessness in those words, any unit which can fit its name (however useless) into that verse, can and does do the same.

It is the advantage of many soldier songs that they can be altered, without any trouble and at a moment's notice, to the occasion. There is that other hymn which goes now to the words:

"Marching, marching, marching, Always bloomin' well marching, From reveille to lights out, We're always marching on, Always jolly well marching, But there will come a time some day When we shall march no more."

But should it begin to rain, you can sing the song again, with a new point and freshness: "Raining, raining, raining,"—just as everyone in his early days in the army sings it with vehement bitterness to "squad drill, squad drill, squad drill!"—So each soldier in its time plays many parts.

Sentimental songs have their short and hectic day. They run like a flame through an army; they are sung and sung; and then forgotten; though their parodies live after them. But some for special reasons will be remembered. There is "This long, long trail," which everyone is singing. It has that simple sentiment of sadness and hope which

YENOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may enter an odd-section of land, or a pre-emption. Price $300 per acre. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of 50 acres extra. Must reside six months in each of three years after each year's homestead payment on certain conditions.

If he cannot secure a pre-emption, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $200 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years after each year's homestead payment of 50 acres and erect a house worth $200.00.

Holders of entries may count time of employment for ten laborers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for land. They may apply at the office (not at Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented.
