THE LIBERAL ATTITUDE

In connection with the passage of the second reading of the Naval Bill in the House of Commons, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, during the course of a speech, said:

He maintained that the contribution was both unwise and unnecessary, and had been brought in under false pretences. The Admiralty memorandum specifically declared that Britain was preparing to guarantee the security of the Empire for years to come. After dealing with the explicit statements as to relative sea power contained in the memorandum, Sir Wilfrid noted that the Government was now having its case on alleged "secret information" possessed by the President, but the facts spoke for themselves, and that was all the case should go on.

The Liberal policy was based rather on the gradual development of the British Empire, with the stronger nations as they grew in strength and strength protecting their own coasts and trade routes. It was argued, if the need ever came, that their place in the Empire's defence line. "This is our policy, and it is the challenge of the verdict of the Canadian people."

In other words, the ex-Premier thinks the Asquith Government was justifying the facts when they told the world that the emergency contribution would be most welcome, and he is hankering to force a general election.

Let us look into this a little. No one questions the veracity of Mr. Borden. His honor and his honesty are universally recognized, and no one doubts that he conveyed a message to the House and to the country when he solemnly affirmed that while in the Old Land he was officially told that an emergency existed which would render immediate naval aid by Canada most desirable.

It is quite true that the Admiralty memorandum did not say so, for the Bill is not such a good as to the secret information to the world. The idea of the Liberals that a deficit in 1911 was a fluke, and that the people are just yearning for an election to put them in power is screamingly laughable. It is a fact that the Conservatives forced an election to hold an election on the majority proposal, but that was a national issue, an Empire issue. We know now, thanks to a quarrel between Taft and Roosevelt, that the Kaiser sent a letter to the Colonel, stating that the whole dodge was to make this great Dominion "an adjunct" of the States.

The navy proposal does not present any such acute phase. Both sides are agreed upon giving $35,000,000, and the only question is the method.

The Conservatives say Now, at the request of the Asquith Government, and Mr. Laurier says Canada should build ships herself, when he well knows that we cannot do that for many years.

Another general election would be so inconvenient in many respects, but should it come Conservatives would not fear the outcome in the smallest degree.

In all human probability it would simply mean a still further lessening of the Laurierite following at Ottawa, with some more men chopped off who should have gone last time.

IMPORTANT MEETING

Of Members of the Associated Boards of Trade—A Variety of Crucial Matters Discussed.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A network of radial railways, covering the whole of the Province of Ontario, running in every direction, as advocated by Hon. Adam Beck, and the extension of the T. and N. O. Railway from James Bay to Toronto, with branch lines in Ontario, were unanimously favored by the Associated Boards of Trade of the Province of Ontario, whose annual convention opened yesterday at noon in the Board of Trade rooms on Richmond Street.

The introduction of a system of parcel post, municipal government by commission, a progressive policy of reforestation, a uniform Insolvency Act, the encouragement of the five stock industry, the appointment of a provincial fire marshal, and a progressive policy of good roads, as outlined by the Ontario Government, were also favored by the delegates.

There were about 150 representative men from the Province attending the gathering, and the keenest interest is being manifested in the proceed-ings. A big program remains for Friday's sessions.

President Reason Opens the Convention
 The convention opened shortly before noon, with Dr. Harry T. Reason, president of the board, in the chair. Mayor Graham was introduced to the gathering, and in felicitous terms welcomed the visitors to London. The late key was on the outside, and all were invited to have the best possible time. Col. Ponton, of Belleville, first vice-president, responded on behalf of the delegates, and he declared that the convention had been properly started, by his worship. Dr. Reason then read his annual address. In it he thanked the delegates for the honor done him in electing him president, and also in selecting his home town, London as the place of convention. He spoke of the progress made by the organization during the year, of the successful interviews with Hon. L. Borden and Sir James Whitney, and the introduction of legislation along the lines suggested by the board.

Stop Bouncing Industries.
 He called attention to the necessity of the enactment of a law to prevent the bouncing of industries. In his judgment grants of money from taxation should be made to local boards of trade to assist them in their work. The necessity of rigid supervision of immigrants was also mentioned.

Secretary F. G. Morley presented the report of the executive, which showed a good balance in the treasury and an increase in membership during the year. The request of the New Ontario towns that the board visit the Northern country during the summer was left to the incoming executive.

The necessity of a uniform in col-very law created some discussion. Mr. F. G. McMaster, of Guelph, introducing a resolution favoring Dominion legislation in this matter. The present conditions were most unsatisfactory and injured the credit of the Dominion. Col. Ponton, of Belleville, favored the suggestion, and it carried.

Reforestation was another theme introduced by the Guelph Board of Trade by Mr. McMaster, of Guelph, and a resolution suggesting that more fire rangers be named, and the German system of reforestation or something akin to it be introduced by the Government was carried without discussion.

Commission form of government was not unanimously favored by the delegates, a great deal of discussion following the introduction of ex-Mayor Thorpe's resolution requesting legislation giving municipalities the right to institute such a form of government if they so desire. Mr. R. Home Smith, of Toronto, pointed out that it would be better to make haste slowly.

"If a commission similar to the Hydro Electric Commission were appointed to take over all public utilities, the aim of Mr. Thorpe would be accomplished."

However, the majority of delegates favored Mr. Thorpe's motion, and it carried.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church tendered a complimentary banquet to the choir-master, organist and members of the choir in the school room last night, at which between forty-five and fifty sat down to a very dainty lunch. A toast list and very enjoyable program followed. Rev. J. W. Gordon occupied the chair. The toast to the Ladies' Aid was proposed by Mr. S. Percy Davies and was responded to by Rev. Mr. Gordon. Mr. M. B. Crouch proposed the toast to the ladies of the choir which was responded to by Miss Jennie Lee. The toast to the choir was proposed by Rev. Mr. Gordon who thanked them for the good work they had accomplished and the valuable assistance they had given him. The choir leader Mr. S. P. Davies, in responding thanked the members of the choir for their loyalty to him and the church. He took occasion to present Mrs. J. Haworth and Miss Jennie Lee with a small token for regular attendance to choir practice and church, as he two ladies have not missed once in three months.

A program followed to which the following members of the choir contributed numbers which were well received: solo, Mrs. C. Hay; solo, Miss C. Corke; solo, Mr. Burrill; solo, Mrs. Chamberlain; solo, Miss H. Hurrey; comic duet, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Davies. Rev. Mr. Gordon, W. Johnson and H. B. Crouch told interesting stories. The most enjoyable affair was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

A GOOD MOVE

As a means of furthering the policy of developing the poultry interests of the Dominion, in which the live stock branch of the Department of Agriculture is actively engaged, the live stock commissioner is anxious to secure the name and address of each breeder of poultry in Canada who is systematically endeavoring to improve the quality of his stock, particularly from the standpoint of increased egg and meat production.

The information is desired in order that the live stock branch may be brought more closely in touch with progressive poultrymen throughout the Dominion and with those whose names might be eligible for inclusion in a Dominion Poultry Directory.

As a means of securing this information, in part at least, all those who are interested are requested to write the live stock commissioner, Ottawa, indicating:

(a) The breed, variety or family of poultry they are breeding.
 (b) The extent to which selection for increased egg and meat production is being practised.
 (c) A brief but specific statement of what has been accomplished.
 (d) Whether or not they are actively engaged in trap-netting at the present time. If not, what means are being used to select the most desirable individuals for the breeding pens.

Letters giving the above information should be addressed to the live stock commissioner, Ottawa. Such communications do not require postage.

COUNTRY OR PARTY?

To most thinking men the political question at Ottawa is the cause of much unpleasant reflection. It makes them wonder whether there is more than one member of the Liberal party patriotic enough to sink party expediency below the interests of the country, or who is independent enough to rebel against the misuse of Parliamentary procedure for the pur-

Sunday School Banquet
 The First Baptist church last evening treated the members of the Sunday School to a banquet and entertainment. More than 300 boys and girls sat down to daintily laid tables on which were the good things that the boys and girls like. After supper, Rev. Mr. Whittaker, missionary to the Eskimauks gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on his work among that people. All of the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the school. The attendance of late has been around the 400 mark. Mr. Fred Chalcraft, the efficient superintendent presided.

One Taste leads to another

There's a palate-tickling taste to Tillson's Rolled Oats that brings you back for more.

We don't put it there—Nature does. From the broad oat-fields of Canada we get the "pick of the pick" for Tillson's—big, plump, sun-ripened grains which Nature has filled to the bursting point with flavor.

To keep this flavor unimpaired we use our pan-drying process, the pans always being enclosed. So when Tillson's reach you in the form of porridge you will say:

"That's just the tastiest porridge I ever ate. More, please!" And Tillson's are perfectly cooked in 15 minutes.

THE ALLIANCE

Unanimously Endorses the Abolish the Bar Policy Amid a Scene of Great Enthusiasm.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—Ontario is now in for the biggest prohibition fight in its history. Yesterday, the Alliance executive with 1175 registered delegates, created itself the second party in the Ontario political arena, and adopted the Grit remnant's leader and machinery as an alliance annex. For over a decade the alliance has been dubbed as an annex of the Liberal party. With the tremendous enthusiasm and practical political sagacity and absolute unanimity manifested yesterday, its convention "bleat to a frazzle" the memorable Grit convention, which held an ante-plebiscitary gathering in the same hall.

Last night visitors to the Massey Hall night almost have thought that the wave of "banish-the-bar" sentiment had already overwhelmed its opponents downstairs. Fifteen hundred delegates and adherents were given a banquet free of charge by the local committee, with the ladies of the local temperance societies as hostesses. The tables were sumptuous with floral adornment and the fervor of devotion to an absorbing cause fired the atmosphere. Upstairs the silver trumpet band of the Salvation Army headquarters furnished a program of patriotic music and other popular melodies, adding color and tone to the environment. That the delegates were in a frame of mind to scatter throughout the province, intent on their aim to set the heathen on fire for Rowell and his platform, was emphasized and manifested by the utterances and demeanor of the working members of the convention, to their vision Rowell, as Premier and "Hon. Frank Spence" as provincial secretary, appeared assured.

Money and Effort. Joseph Gibson, the retiring president pointed out at the close of the convention's afternoon session that although they had agreed on entering the political arena as a united phalanx, the fight would mean more determined effort than before and more money.

The convention responded by adopting a motion to raise $5,000 to wipe out the deficit and $15,000 for campaign expenses of the present year.

"Are we men or are we mice?" replied F. S. Spence. "The man who does not act up to his conscience in this vital matter is worse than a mouse."

The committee's report was then adopted unanimously. "God be praised," exclaimed Rev. Dr. Carman. "I am glad beyond all words that I have lived to see this day."

President Gibson called for the doxology and the compact to support the Rowell policy was thus solemnized. Then the convention wanted to cheer everything and everybody. The platform. The political action platform adopted was as follows: "That this convention hails with delight the advanced position taken by the Liberal party in the resolution of which N. W. Rowell, K.C., leader of the party has given notice in the legislature.

"That this convention calls upon all friends of the temperance cause to take steps to secure the nomination and election in every constituency of a representative who can be relied upon to do all in his power to secure the enactment of legislation for the suppression of the liquor traffic and declares that advocacy of anything less than the proposal of Mr. Rowell could not be looked upon as sufficient."

SUCCESSFUL DEBATE.

Last night the Borden Debating club had a successful opening session. Proceedings took the form of a mock City Council, and the event proved most interesting. There was a good attendance and many resolutions were introduced. There is a handsome trophy for the club donated by Mr. N. K. Thompson.

LATER DESPATCHES

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Universal training was the big subject of discussion in the annual militia conference with Col., the Hon Sam Hughes to-day. All the military organizations assembled here for their annual conventions were represented, and the subject was dealt with by fully a dozen speakers, most of them strongly in favor of universal training with various modifications.

The subject was introduced by Col. Rathburn of Deseronto, who said that it was impossible to launch such a scheme in Canada at present, but that education of the public through the press in favor of the system should begin at once. The adverse views of sections of newspapers were only being altered.

Lieut.-Col. Hall of Victoria, Lt.-Col. Kemmis of Calgary, Lt.-Col. Gregory of St Catharines, Lt.-Col. Loggie of Hamilton, Col. Steele of Winnipeg and others spoke along similar lines.

Lieut.-Col. Gregory urged more extensive work among school boys and Lt.-Col. Loggie favored the Minister of Militia's plan of finding those who did not serve, thus aiding the militia financially.

Col. Floyd, of Cobourg, attacked the press. Before starting any new movement, he said, it was necessary to go to the newspapers and put up $50 to buy the editor. Col. Hughes said that George Floyd had never been in politics when he talked of $50 going far with the papers.

Lieut.-Col. Fisher, Pembroke, wanted a commission to investigate universal training. Inspector Hughes of Toronto said only two fathers there had ever objected to their boys having military instruction.

Mrs. Cole, wife of Col. Cole of Montreal, the first woman to address a military conference in Canada, declared that it was useless to talk of universal training. Canada would not stand for it. But the militia should be popularized, especially with the mothers, and made much stronger.

A strong military country was the best guarantee of peace, and the Minister of Militia should be called "Minister of Peace."

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—Colonel Hughes handed out some straight talk on military matters at the annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association yesterday in the presence of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught.

The people of Canada should be ready to defend their country if necessary, he said. They have a right to. "I am glad they are waking up to their duty," he said. "We have applications from 50,000 young men who want to enroll in the militia, but we haven't the money to accommodate them. Every man should be ready to defend his country. And if not, then he ought to pay a tax of $5 a year towards the upkeep of those who will. This system is followed in Switzerland and advocated by Premier Louis Botha of South Africa."

Communication re L. E. & N.
The following communication was received by Township Clerk Smith from the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa:

"Sir—Referring to an application made by the Lake Erie & Northern Railway Company for approval of a route map of their line from Brantford to Galt, Ont., I have to inform you that such application has been set down for hearing by the Minister at his office in the Western Block here on Wednesday, the 5th of March proximo, at 12 o'clock noon.

"The Clerk."
"Township of Brant,
"Brantford."

Police Court.
One-billed man was remanded for a week. The man who tried to get away with the shoes from Townsend's shoe store, was evidently feeling the worse for booze when he committed the act. He was allowed to go with costs $4.85. Chub and Thomas Sears were charged with appropriating some cast iron from Hartley's foundry. Each witness called seemed to have two or three distinct stories, with the result that the case threatened to run on all day. It was adjourned, however until Joet Lipovitch, could be secured a practical joke on one of the city barbers which nearly caused him some trouble. He took one of the barber's razors and pawned it intending to return it later. However, it had to be returned sooner than expected and the return trip of the said razor cost the defendant $4.85. The receiver of the razor was allowed to go also with costs.

THE VOTE
(Courier Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, Feb. 28—The second reading of the naval aid bill passed the House shortly before 2 o'clock this morning by a vote of 114 to 84, a government majority of 30. Col. H. H. McLean, the Liberal member for Queen's Sunbury, voted with the government on this occasion, and also upon the two divisions upon amendments which were voted down before the principal of the bill was approved.
The divisions were witnessed by crowded galleries.
The second division was upon the amendment of Mr. J. G. Turiff (Assiniboia) calling upon the government to defer action on the naval aid bill until after a redistribution of constituencies and a general election had taken place.
This proposition was defeated by 117 votes to 81. Col. McLean, (Queen's Sunbury) and Mr. Girard, Independent Liberal (Chicoutimi) supported the government and Messrs Achin, La Marche, Barrette and Guilbault sided with Mr. Turiff.

SPORT

BASEBALL

Lining Up at Peterboro.

Peterboro, Feb. 27.—The Peterboro Canadian League team is gradually being rounded up, and Manager Barthold expects to have his squad complete within the next few weeks. So far President Denham has received the signed contracts of six members of last year's team as follows: Firstbaseman and Manager Johnny Barthold, Philadelphia, Pa.; Pitcher Ken Tracey, Detroit, Mich.; Pitcher Hanson, Chicago, Ill.; Outfielder Jimmy Beard, Reading, Pa.; Outfielder "Peggie" Swartz, Reading, Pa.; and Catcher "Dubbie" Shea, of Toronto.

Shortstop Harry Brant, who did brilliant fielding and hitting for the White Caps when he was secured from London in mid-season, is still holding out for more money, but President Denham is not worrying any. So far nothing has been heard from Third Baseman Joe Byrne or Pitcher Leroy Osborne, while Outfielder Jack White has written asking for his release. Manager Barthold has written President Denham to the effect that he has been successful in signing two new pitchers, a good catcher and an outfielder, while he is hot on the trail for a rattling good second baseman and another box artist.

J. Ira Will Probably Be the Fourth Umpire.

President Fitzgerald, of the Canadian League, announced that his fourth umpire would in all probability be J. Ira Davis, who officiated during the greater part of last season.

Davis is undoubtedly one of the best umpires who ever worked in the Canadian League, and the president is making no mistake in trying to get the former big league ball player back into the fold as a regular official.

Davis can umpire a game as well as the best baseball arbitrators in the business if he wants to, and should be again secured to handle the indicator, he will give his best to the league.

Francis Fox Signs

1913 London Contract.

Francis Fox, the versatile infielder of the London Baseball Club, returned his contract to President Stevely signed up. The old players are falling into line one by one and by the time that spring training time arrives it is expected that all the players on the 1913 reserve list will have come into the fold. Fox expects to have the best year of his career this season under Manager Deneau.

Like Magic To Weak Nerves

With the nerves exhausted both mind and body are of little use. You feel tired, worn out and down-hearted, and the organs of digestion fail to perform their all-important functions.

Nervous troubles do not go away of their own accord, but gradually grow worse and worse, until some form of paralysis is developed. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can be depended upon to revitalize feeble, wasted nerve cells as nothing else can. Here is a case in illustration:

Mr. A. Sicard Dana, Sask., writes: "When I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the recommendation of a friend, my system was so much run down that I was weak and exhausted, and could not at times attend to my work. The effect of the Nerve Food was almost like magic, for in a few days the weakness wore away and I found strength and vigor being restored to the body. That cure was effected three years ago, but I generally use the Nerve Food in the spring, as I can find no treatment so effective as a spring tonic."

BEARD MADE OF BEES

NOT REALLY DANGEROUS.

By Putting the Queen in a Cage Which He Suspended From His Chin, the Apiarist Was Able to Make the Bees Swarm About His Face—Italian Species Mild and Usually Good Tempered.

When bees swarm they fill their honey sacks with honey that they might not go hungry before having time to establish themselves in their new home. After having thus enjoyed a square meal, like human beings, they are good-natured. So in the accompanying picture of an English apiarist, the bees were taken in the act of swarming. The queen was put into a small cage and suspended by a string from the man's chin. Bees always cluster about their queen, so in clustering with their queen they formed a good-sized beard. A sudden shake of the head, and they were dropped in a shower, and the queen allowed to go in with them, thus forming a new colony.

Bees have had the reputation of being vicious and ready to sting at sight, and with certain bees this is not far from right. The black bee is more inclined to sting than is the Italian or yellow bees. A cross between the two races producing a hybrid often gives us a colony of bees that are tame and are ready to fight at the drop of the hat.

Cases are on record where cows, horses, dogs, chickens, and even human beings have been stung to death by angry bees.

Various conditions tend to rouse the anger of bees. If they have been carelessly dropped where the bees can get to them, they seem to go crazy over the taste of it. Bees from all the hives near will come out to get at the honey. After it is all cleaned up, they will attack weak colonies, and the bees will sting each other, and in the battle that follows thousands and, if enough bees are in the neighborhood, millions are killed. While in this state of frenzy it is liable to go hard with any one who happens near, as they will sting any living thing that crosses their path.

With the gentle strains of Italian bees there is little danger of being stung if reasonable precautions are taken. By blowing a little smoke on them when the hive is opened, the bees will turn tail and run as if scared out of their wits.

Relics of Charles I.

Jord Ashburnham, who died recently in England, leaves large estates in Essex, Northamptonshire and Wales. He was a widower, his wife having died twelve years ago, and a Roman Catholic. His death recalls the fact that at the family seat in Sussex, are several relics of the execution of Charles I. The king was assisted in his flight from Hampton Court Palace by the Ashburnham of that period, who was guest of the bedchamber. It is also interesting to remember that the famous Mazarin Bible at Ashburnham Place was sold in 1897 for $20,000. The only child of the deceased peer, Lady Mary Ashburnham, now 27, who was a remarkably fine horse-woman and much liked in society, became last year a novice in the Order of the Sacred Heart at Southampton. The heir to the earldom is the Hon. Thomas Ashburnham, who is now in his 58th year and settled at Frarcton, N.B. At one time he was captain in the 7th Hussars.

Showing Off the Author.

One day the Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, in a tramp through Cornwall, came to a little village in which a tea-meeting was going on. Mr. Pearse entered the little chapel and joined in the tea. He was in the most unorthodox of clerical costumes, which was an act of sense on his part; but during the progress of tea one or two of the "leaders" managed to recognize him; whereupon one of them approached him and said, in an anxious whisper: "Be you the Rev. Mark Guy Pearse?"

"Yes—I be," he answered.

"I thought as how you was. Now, do you see, we want to raise a little money, and a thought have struck us. Do 'ee just come out quiet like and say nothing to nobody, and then we will put 'ee in the vestry, and we will go into the chapel and say, 'The Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, author of 'Daniel Quorn,' is in the vestry, and can be seen at threepence each, if proceeds to go for the good of the cause.'"

The Biggest Colliery.

Ashington Colliery, Northumberland, England, is claimed to be the largest in the world. The royalties held by the company cover an area of twenty-five and a half miles. There are seven winding shafts, capable of turning out from 11,000 to 12,000 tons of coal per day, the average daily output at present being 9,000 tons; and the wages bill ranges from $15,000 to $150,000 fortnightly.

NO ONE STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says: "every feeling, emotion and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body." He continues, "so we may be said to live (through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. For weak stomachs and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Several months ago I suffered from a severe pain right under the breast-bone," writes Mrs. G. M. MURKIN, of Corona, Calif. "I had suffered from it off and on for several years. I also suffered from heart-burns did not know what was the matter with me. I tried several medicines but they did me no good. Finally, I was told it was my liver. I did not dare to eat as it made me worse. Whenever I swallowed anything it seemed that I would faint—I hurt so. I grew very thin and weak from not eating. I had to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took five bottles of it, and could feel myself getting better from the first dose. I could eat a little without pain and grew strong fast. To-day I am strong and well and can do my day's work with ease. Can eat everything and have plenty of flesh wonderfully. I will say to all sufferers write to Dr. Pierce. He has my undying gratitude."

Lady Marjorie's Love

"I thought it would be a long time before this I am sure." This answer of hers was such an unpropitious beginning that he found it impossible to follow glibly his reply to it with anything more. She quietly took him up as he faltered. It appeared, that after all she had not told the Countess quite all the contents of his letter.

"You said you were coming down for a particular reason. Loftus—at least I think so, didn't you?"
The color rose warm and bright in her cheeks now because, you cannot have been in the hint which he had been at such pains to convey—and taken it exactly the wrong way. The special reason could be but one, she had thought, and now she faltered, feeling angry with herself because it was so certifying to her business and hers to introduce the subject of their marriage. For him, he thought he saw the opening he had wanted to obtain, and did his best to seize it.
"Quite right, dear. I did say so. Your letters have had so little in them of course I know that you cannot have been in the mood for writing poor child. I understand that I feel that I am quite in the dark about your plans and so on. I mean."
"Plans?" Marjorie echoed blankly. "As to the future—when you leave here, I suppose it won't be long before those confounded Chadrums come down to take possession now? Rather decent of them, we must allow, not to have done so at once—as soon as they could. What are your arrangements for afterwards?"
"My arrangements? What I mean is, I am amazed, bewildered. I—I have made none, Loftus. You know that I—you that I can't do so."
He forced himself to look at her, and as he met her eyes, full of pain, doubt, terror, wonder, but with no spark of comprehension, what his outward courage he had managed to invest himself with sank down. He called himself a cur wretchedly, and confessed to himself that he could not tell her straightforwardly.
The situation was unendurable: he got up trying to walk himself into an affection of ease. He had abandoned all hope of telling her the truth so utterly that he began to half lie to the easiest and most curish way out of it.
"Of course I know dear, that in ordinary circumstances you cannot be your place to make plans—it would be mine. I ought to have written or come down to see you about it before I know I ought. But—well the fact is I thought you would understand. When we were first engaged I never mentioned what I mean is that you know my position?"
"Your position?" She followed him with her eyes as he paced. "Yes—that is I suppose I do. Loftus. It is what it has always been, isn't it?"
"Yes, worse luck, only more so. That's it, Marjorie—that is what I mean. You know how confoundedly poor I am."
"Oh, that." Her voice changed, her face brightened, she blushed again. He had halted beside her, and she put her hand against his. "I always knew you were poor, Loftus. I mean that. I am poor myself now, you know. I understand that when we are married that things will be very different from what we used to talk about and expect. But I shall get used to it and when I am once right away from Castle Marling perhaps it won't seem so hard. You must not think of it or mind it for my sake."
For her sake? He was not without a sense of humor and he could have laughed. But he only moved a step away and her hand fell.
"My dear child you don't understand what I mean at all. There is poverty and poverty, I am in debt, un luckily, I haven't any profession. I am going to try Rydersdale to help me to a post but I don't know whether he will manage it." He was not looking at her but out of the window, over her head; he shuffled uneasily from one foot to the other. No, it was not a pleasant position for a man who liked comfort to find himself in. His sentences came out in jerks, confusedly. "I shall ask him but I don't know that he will do it. He and I never hit it off much. And of course until I can do something nothing can be done. That is, for the present, things must remain as they are. They will work round some time no doubt. At any rate I hope so, for having them as they are is a confounded bore." Very much against his will he let his eyes meet hers. "What I mean dear, is that our marriage can't be yet."

He restlessly walked away, devotedly thankful that so much at least was out. He felt impatiently that if she would only remonstrate, assent, demur, question him, say something, the rest of his task would be easier. She only sat still, her hands upon her lap and followed him with large bewildered eyes. There was nothing for it but to come back again and continue as best he might.
"It is really the only thing to do dear until things work round. You must see that. In another year or so most likely I shall have got out of my present hobble—that is we shall have got out of it. Until then we must do the best we can. We can write to each other of course, and as I said you must let me know what your plans are when you know them yourself. If I were not such an unlucky fellow it would be my business to make them out for you. It is a fortunate thing that you will always have a home with the Countess until—you have one of your own."
She did not immediately answer. She followed him with her eyes again as he moved uneasily away, and slowly trying to grasp the meaning of what he had said. But not until he turned towards her did she speak.
"I want to quite understand," she said. "It would make you poorer, I suppose, Loftus, if you were to marry me now?"
"Poorer?" He laughed impatiently. If she had understood him and overwhelmed him with reproaches, he was man enough to feel that they would have been easier to bear than this blind innocent faith and unsuspecting. "My dear child, that does not express it. I can be well be poorer than I am un luckily."
"Harder for you then?" she corrected. "You will get on better for the next year or so without me—that is what you mean, isn't it?"
He said aloud that that was what he meant, and he inwardly said himself a cur again. Marjorie quietly said down.
"I wanted to understand," she said. "I should be sorry for you to be any poorer through me. I don't know whether I can stay with Fenella or not—I suppose I can. I'll wait Loftus."
"Of course you will. You are a wise little woman, and you see it is the only thing to do." He saw the end of his ordeal so welcomingly near that he showed a wretched cheerfulness. "You do see it, don't you Marjorie?"
"I—I think so—yes." She looked up at him wistfully as he again stood beside her, as handsome as ever, as graceful as ever, just what she did always know him, and yet she did not follow the thought, poor child, or try to penetrate the meaning of the miserable tumult and pain in her breast. She had expected something utterly different, but what he had said was very sensible and right and inevitable, no doubt. She was confused, bewildered, disappointed, hurt, chilled, but duly acquiescent. "I suppose so," she said.

Good News From the Lumber Camp
Men in the lumber camps have free medical attendance, and when many suffer from piles on account of exposure from cold and dampness, the doctors do not seem to have any cure for piles.
Many letters come from lumber camps in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and here is a sample of how they read.
"Mr. Wm. Jones, cook in lumber camp at Prairie River, Sask., writes: "For a long time I suffered from itching, bleeding piles, and could not sleep nights, because of the intense itching. Two doctors treated me, but the relief was only temporary. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised in a newspaper, and it cured me completely in four months ago. Two bottles cured me. I had the piles at the camp, and were cured by ointment. I gave them. After all the treatments I tried I never expected to be cured and am grateful for it." Dr. Chase's Ointment is a positive cure for itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

THE SECRET OF GIRLISH BEAUTY

The Blood Must Be Kept Rich and Pure, and the Nerves Properly Nourished.

Every parent of a growing girl and every young woman who looks after herself, should be constantly on the watch for symptoms of impoverished blood. Girls in their teens should not be pale, languid and constantly fatigued. Nature intended them to be bright, energetic and active. The happiness of a lifetime depends upon giving the blood the help it needs at this time, when girls are too frequently allowed to overexercise, overwork or suffer from lack of exercise. The symptoms of impoverished blood are unmistakable. They are languidness of breath, violent palpitation of the heart, particularly on going up stairs, poor appetite, dizziness and headaches and a tendency to faint. These symptoms of course are not all found in every case, but the more the victim has of them the greater progress has the trouble made and the more imperative is the necessity to at once begin to check it, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which bring back the glow of health and energy to every part of the body. The case of Miss Jeanie Fraser, Hamilton Ont., offers proof of this. She says: "For about eighteen months I was in a very bad state of health and thoroughly run down. I had no appetite and suffered from most of the symptoms of anaemia. I went to a local doctor and received treatment from him for three months, and although I took bottle after bottle of medicine I was steadily growing worse, and I got so down-hearted and depressed that I felt I would never get better. At this time I read the case of a young lady whose symptoms were similar to my own, and had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. By the time I had used three boxes my appetite had improved and I was feeling more encouraged. I continued the use of the Pills for a time longer and my health was fully restored."
These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE SECRET OF GIRLISH BEAUTY

The Blood Must Be Kept Rich and Pure, and the Nerves Properly Nourished.

Every parent of a growing girl and every young woman who looks after herself, should be constantly on the watch for symptoms of impoverished blood. Girls in their teens should not be pale, languid and constantly fatigued. Nature intended them to be bright, energetic and active. The happiness of a lifetime depends upon giving the blood the help it needs at this time, when girls are too frequently allowed to overexercise, overwork or suffer from lack of exercise. The symptoms of impoverished blood are unmistakable. They are languidness of breath, violent palpitation of the heart, particularly on going up stairs, poor appetite, dizziness and headaches and a tendency to faint. These symptoms of course are not all found in every case, but the more the victim has of them the greater progress has the trouble made and the more imperative is the necessity to at once begin to check it, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which bring back the glow of health and energy to every part of the body. The case of Miss Jeanie Fraser, Hamilton Ont., offers proof of this. She says: "For about eighteen months I was in a very bad state of health and thoroughly run down. I had no appetite and suffered from most of the symptoms of anaemia. I went to a local doctor and received treatment from him for three months, and although I took bottle after bottle of medicine I was steadily growing worse, and I got so down-hearted and depressed that I felt I would never get better. For the Cure of Consumption

OTTAWA, Feb. 28.—The Government has under consideration the sending of a representative to New York to investigate Dr. Friedmann's cure for tuberculosis, and it is possible that they may invite him to visit Canada.

This statement was made by the Premier in reply to Mr. A. K. MacLean, who moved the adjournment of the sitting for the purpose of discussing the subject. Mr. MacLean said that even if only partially effective Dr. Friedmann's cure would be a great blessing to the human race. The United States Government had sent a surgeon of its Government service to welcome the German physician on his arrival. Mr. MacLean suggested that Canada should send a qualified physician to confer with Friedmann and possibly invite him to visit Canada to give demonstrations at a central point.

Mr. Borden answered that the subject had already been under consideration. Whether or not anything effective could be done by carrying out Mr. MacLean's suggestion might be questioned. He would imagine that the effectiveness of Dr. Friedmann's remedy would require a good deal of time to demonstrate it, and a visit to New York might not have very practical results. He did not know whether Dr. Friedmann would have time to visit Canada. In any

John Bull and Uncle Sam are Getting Together

(Courier Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Congress has taken up the women suffrage question in earnest by the designation of a sub-committee headed by Representative Hobson to inquire and report to the House whether it would be best to leave the question of equal suffrage in the election of president and vice-president to a constitutional amendment or the action of separate states. Various committees of congress have for many years considered proposed amendments but none has ever reported one out.

Suffrage leaders are mostly in favor of a constitutional amendment to give women the ballot. There is some opposition to that plan, however, headed by those who believe it might be better for the states to decide, and thereby escape a problem which might arise with the granting of equal suffrage in the southern states.

REJOINDER DELIVERED. (Courier Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The rejoinder of the British Government to the last American note regarding the Panama Canal zone tolls question was delivered today to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce. Though naturally of great interest to Secretary Knox he will make no effort to consider it, but will allow the negotiations on the American side to be continued by his successor in office.

The note was read to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce at the Secretary's Office and a copy was left with the secretary by direction of Sir Edward Grey. It is withheld from the public for the present to afford Secretary Knox an opportunity to lay it before President Taft, but it has been arranged that the note shall be given out for publication in the Sunday morning papers in this country and the Monday morning papers in England.

United States Congress Takes up Woman Suffrage

(Courier Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—President-elect Wilson has made known to Democratic Senate leaders most closely in his confidence, that he favors the passage of Senator Root's amendment to the Panama canal bill to repeal the provision exempting American coast-wise ships from payment of toll.

It was said today that the new president has made his position plain, lately to several Democratic Senators. It was the subject of remark because Senator O'Gorman of New York,

Picture Machine Exploded in Face of Operator
While taking flashlight pictures in the Simpson House last evening Mr. E. McIntosh, of Toronto, formerly chief of the Denison House, Lindsay Warder, of Toronto, was struck in the face and head by a picture machine exploding. Mr. McIntosh pulled the string that caused the machine to explode, but it did not work. He tried several times and finally it would not work. What happened over to the machine to see what was wrong, and while repairing the machine exploded in his face. He was at once taken to the Royal Hospital, where he now lies suffering from intense pain. Mr. McIntosh would have probably lost his eyesight, but for the fact that he was wearing glasses. This morning he had his eyes examined and was found to be all right.

Photographed from "Lindsay Warder" of Jan. 13th last.
Now read "The Sequel"

Mr. MacIntosh says—"At the hospital I was kept masked night and day for five days. At the end of that time the burns were still very bad and the doctors would not hear of my returning to work. I knew if I could only get some Zam-Buk for the burns I would be back at work in quick time, because I had previously used the balm and knew what it would do. At last I left the hospital and went straight to a local store and bought some Zam-Buk. At the hotel I applied a Zam-Buk dressing and this cooled the burning pains and gave me quick relief. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment and returned to work. Within just one week after first commencing with the Zam-Buk treatment I might have defied anybody to detect where the burns had been, so splendidly did Zam-Buk heal the injury."

Mr. MacIntosh resides at 48 Humbert St., Toronto.

He (sitting behind her)—Oh, no
madam, I've cut it off.
An Englishman and an Irishman went to the captain of a ship bound for America, and asked permission to work their passage over. The captain consented but asked the Ir-ishman for references, and let the Englishman go without them. This made the Irishman mad and he planned to get even. One day when they were washing off the deck, the Englishman leaped far over the rail, dropped the bucket, and was just about to haul him up when a huge wave struck and washed him overboard. The Irishman stopped scrubbing, peered over the rail, and seeing the Englishman had disappeared went to the captain and said: "Perhaps you'd remember which shipboard this vessel, you asked me for attend had the pleasure of seeing two of the brightest little plays put on in Brantford this season.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe, 224 Park avenue, last evening, it being the birthday of Mr. J. Manning. A number of his shopmates and friends gathered and surprised him, presenting him with a fine gold watch.

Mr. Manning has boarded emerged on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell of Burch, Ont., when their daughter Mary Evelyn, was joined in wedlock
by the Rev. G. N. Simmonds, to Mr
Harry Elton Emmott of Newport Ont., in the presence of about fifty guests.

Promptly at noon the bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Lena Minshall.

The bride was becomingly gowned in cream Bedford cord, with trimmings of seed pearls and carried a huge bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Eva Campbell, sister of the bride, wore a gown of silk mull with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Wm. Emmott supported the groom. Little Miss Edna Emmott looking charming in a dainty frock of white mull with trimmings of tiny pink chiffon roses received the guests.

After the ceremony all sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast.
During the signing of the register
Mrs. Charles L. Warne of Brantford, sang "O Promise Me."

Many and beautiful were the gifts received including two substantial checks, showing the popularity of the young couple.

The happy couple left for London and points west amid showers of rice and confetti and the good wishes of their friends.
On their return Mr. and Mrs. Em-mott will make their home in Newport, Ont.

LAUGHTER LINES.

Paul Rainey, while showing cinematograph pictures of his African lion hunts, told an amusing lion story. "A man," he said, "sat before his tent, when a magnificent lion siftened for the spring, leaped, and —missed the man, missed him by jumping three feet too high. It then slunk back into the forest, thoroughly ashamed. The next day the man came unexpectedly on the lion by a stream. It had up-ended a log of wood and was practicing lion jumps.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Here are a few uses for gelatin: To ored dresses use two level teaspoon-fuls of gelatin to one quart of water.

So stiffened, the garment or curtains come on without them?

"Yes," said the captain, "I remember."
"Well, you've been deceived," said the Irishman, "he's gone off wid yer pail."

Worth Remembering

If the oven should be too hot at any time, place a pan filled with water in it, and the heat will be lessened.
To test the freshness of eggs, drop them in a dish of water, and if the small end comes to the top they are fresh.

To make pies or biscuit a nice color, moisten the top of them with a little sweet milk just before they are put into the oven.

For iron rust, lay in kerosene oil and let it remain covered for some time. The oil will loosen the rust so that it will come off.

A tablespoonful of powdered borax dissolved in the bath will prove very invigorating, as well as soften the water so that it will feel like velvet.

Women who spend hours caring for their hands pay little attention to their feet. They are such hard-worked members of the body that they deserve better treatment.

Feet are best kept in condition by shoes that fit. Never economize in vanity and get footgear that is too small.

Frequent bathing keeps the feet from being tired and swollen, and it prevents roughness of the skin that leads to callous spots.

Water in which a bit of washing soda has been dissolved is restful.
Hot salt water is equally refreshing, while a vigorous rubbing with alcohol will quickly relieve a burning sensation.

Pumice-stone, used frequently, keeps the skin smooth. It is especially necessary on the heel and on the ball of the foot, where the weight of the body rests in walking.

Never cut the nails too short, as they are more likely to become in-grown. And file them smooth with sandpaper, so they will not catch and pull the threads of your stockings.

And remember that one's disposition is quickly affected by painful feet.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSE-KEEPER

How to Scale a Fish.
If fish are dipped in boiling water a minute they will scale much easier.
Begin at the tail with sharp, upward strokes until every scale is removed.
If the fish is to be boiled or broiled do not remove either tail or head.
Handle a fish as little as possible. Do not wash it in more than one water or much of the juice will be lost.
Wipe clean with a cloth, with a pinch of salt. When all the blood and scales are wiped away wrap the fish in another clean cloth and set aside until time to use.

Many of the fresh water fish, have a muddy taste. This can be removed by rubbing with dry salt and let them stand a few hours or over night or soak them in salted water for an hour, with the skin side of the fish up.

Old World Notes

It is said that the very latest fad among women in Paris, who have nothing to do but invent fads, is to carry your own teaspoon when you go out to afternoon tea, whether to the house of a friend or the establishment of a confectioner. Naturally it is something very ornate in the way of spoons.

It is of gold or silver and studded with jewels and you carry it in a tiny case, which you can slip into a hand bag.

Miss Edith Taliaferro, who this season is starting in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook farm," is one of the latest converts to a vegetarian diet.
She eats but two meals a day, one at midday and one at night, and both are a combination of fruit and nuts, and grain and vegetables.

The typewriter is much older than most people think. The first machine constructed was the work of an Englishman, Henry Mill, who patented it in 1714. The next recorded patent for a typewriter was granted in France in 1841, to a blind man Pierre Foucault, whose machine was used in many public institutions throughout Europe. The first patent for a machine on the type bar principle dates from 1856, but to C. Z.
Sholes, an American, belongs the credit of the machine which in 1872 was put on the market.

A street car was derailed and the line tied up for an hour last night when a mouse made its appearance in the car in which a theatre party was riding. In their efforts to get out of the front door, terrified women knocked over the motorman, and the car, running at a high rate of speed ran into a switch and toppled over in the mud—Pittsburg despatch to the New York Herald.

Polling took place at Hove recently on the Corporation Bill to provide money for the acquisition of the electricity undertaking carried out by the Hove Electric Lighting Company. The voting resulted as follows: For the Bill 1,384, against 1,015. The money to be found by the council approximately is £195,000.

Despite the recent decision of the Senate of the University of Cambridge to throw open Divinity degrees to all candidates, irrespective of religious belief, the special syndicate has reported in favor of confining the holding of divinity profes-sorships to clerics in holy orders in the Church of England.

Fire did £5,000 worth of damage at Mr. Percy Clarke's extensive farm at Sutton, Beds, recently. The farm buildings and several racks of hay and straw were destroyed and many bullocks, cows, pigs, poultry and horses were roasted alive. Sparks from a threshing engine ate believed to have fired a thatched roof.

At the inquest at Reading on Walter Stroud, aged 26, of Liverpool Road, his last letter, written on the eve of his wedding, was read as follows: "Dear Elsie—Good-bye forever. I shall be dead when you read this. From your one loving Walter Stroud. I leave all my things I have got to you. Don't ever think of me."
His body was found in the four-foot way of a railway siding. The jury returned a verdict of "suicide during temporary insanity."

A skeleton on a mountain top was found a few days ago, on a lonely part of the County Waterford Mountain, Ireland, about eight miles from Clonmel and about midway between Clonmel and Rathgormack. A sergeant and constable of Ballincarbery came upon the skeleton of a man on a high part of the mountain peak not far from the Nire river.
There were a few scraps of clothing,
and a pair of men's strong boots.
The affair is a mystery. As far as can be ascertained, nobody has been missing from the locality for a considerable time.

The sad desecration of the Aske-aton, Limerick, Ireland, buryingground was reported recently to the Rathkeale town council by the town ship engineer, Mr. E. C. Harrigan.
Graves had been opened and the corpse of a woman eaten by dogs.
The walls had been knocked down, locks broken and the entrance gate taken away. This condition is said to be due to hurried burials by night.

The story of a little heroine's death comes from Killycrazy, County Armagh, Ireland. While four children were playing the other day, one of them pushed a plank raft into a quarry pond. In trying to get on it a little boy of seven, Patrick Mullen, fell into the water, and a young girl of ten, Mary Estate, jumped in to attempt a rescue, but both were drowned.

LUCKY TOWNS. English Communities Which Make Money For Their Expenses.

The man who has to put his hand deep into his pockets to pay rates at nine or ten shillings in the pound may well feel envious of his luckier fellows from whose shoulders a large part of the burden is taken by municipalities which, by running their own trams, owning gas and water works, and in a score of other enterprising ways, come to the relief of the ratepayer's purse.

THE POLICE

A Meeting Takes Place of the Commissioners-- Deputation Praises the Force and Requests Increase of Pay and Members--A Tilt Between the Mayor and a Minister.

A meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners took place in the Judges Chambers yesterday afternoon, all the members of the board being present. The question of an increase of wages was discussed, but after much debating, pro and con, no decision was arrived at by the board and the matter was laid over until Tuesday afternoon next for further discussion and consideration.

The matter of an increase to the membership of the force was also raised and this matter too was laid over until the next meeting, but judging from the feeling of a majority of the Board it is not likely that at present any addition will be made to the force.

Brotherhood Delegation.

A delegation composed of Rev. A. E. Lavell, Rev. C. W. Rose, Rev. J. W. Gordon, Rev. Mr. McIntock and Messrs J. M. Young and J. Hurley representing the Brotherhoods of the various churches were present and His Honor Judge Hardy at the opening of the meeting asked the gentlemen if they had anything they wished to state. Mr. James J. Hurley on behalf of the Committee, rose and read the following address:

"I beg to say, your Honor, in presenting this resolution that we do not do so in any dictatorial spirit, nor because we have any doubts that you will fall in your duties, but rather to represent to you the state of public feeling, and to assure you that whatever you may do to strengthen the force and maintain its present high standard of efficiency, will receive the endorsement of all right-thinking men who regard law and order as the first requisites to the maintenance of our Christian civilization. We now have a large number of people who are strangers to our land, and while the great majority are industrious and law abiding, there are some among them who may miscon- strue recent events; and who may not continue to show the respect for law and order that is expected of them; therefore we believe that it is necessary that public opinion be ex- pressed in some way, so as to assure you that disrespect for constituted authority will not be tolerated in our midst. We wish to assure you of our continued confidence in the police commission and the force under your control. We wish also to express our confidence in the Chief of Police, and our admiration for the admirable showing he has made during the years he has been under your jurisdiction. We believe him to be a capable, efficient and incorruptible officer, and that our duty lies in standing behind him until it can be shown that he is otherwise. If it is necessary to increase salaries to maintain the present standard of our police force we trust you will not hesitate to do so because of any doubt as to the support of the citizens of Brantford. The laborer is worthy of his hire—and we can assure you that you will have all good citizens behind you in whatever conclusion you may come to in this mat- ter."

Mr. J. M. Young addressed the Commissioners saying that he was in accord with everything that had been said in the address, and wanted to congratulate Chief Slemin and the members of the force for the efficiency and standard of the force. Mr. Young stated that he was much pleased to say that the force was very ob- servant of business places during the hours of the night, and acts of care- lessness and negligence on the part of employees, such as leaving doors of business places open, were quickly detected and reported by members of the force, thus saving merchants probably many dollars a loss.

Rev. Mr. Lavell followed, and also congratulated the Chief and the members of the force on their effi- cency, and was heartily in accord with giving the police a raise in wages, and also that the membership of the force be increased.

His Honor Judge Hardy stated that he was pleased to have the delegates present. His Honor stated that in his opinion that the matter was one that needed careful thought and con- sideration. He said that probably the Commissioners erred a little on the part of economy in not increasing the force, but this would incur an increas- ed expenditure of public funds, which he said was something that should be done in a thing we must and will have exclaimed the Judge. His Honor re- ferred to recent disturbances, but was of the opinion that they would not occur again in the near future.

Crossed Swords
At this juncture, Mayor Hartman crossed swords with the Rev. Mr. Lavell. Mayor Hartman rose and said he was pleased to see the minis- terial delegation present, but did ob- ject and object strenuously to any minister of the Gospel dragging municipal affairs into the pulpit. The Mayor referred to the sermon deliv- ered on Sunday night by Rev. Mr. Lavell.

The Mayor said that any time any clergyman wanted any information in reference to municipal affairs should come direct to him, or any member of the city council, and the informa- tion they sought would be gladly given.

Rev. Mr. Lavell stated that, in his opinion, the clergy had a perfect right to discuss affairs in the pulpit, and he intended to do so when in his opinion occasion demanded.

His Honor, Judge Hardy, upheld Rev. Mr. Lavell in this case.

Mayor Hartman said that a raise in wages and an increase to the police force would mean an increase of taxation, a thing the citizens did not want. Mayor Hartman said law and order could be maintained by the present force. The Mayor then refer- red to a portion of Mr. Lavell's sermon as follows:

"The Police Board should not be influenced by any section of this council."

"There is no section in the coun- cil," said the Mayor.

Rev. Mr. Lavell stated that he had been misquoted, and the Mayor judged him wrong.

The Mayor said that the council were perfectly capable of looking after the city's affairs, and that church and state should be separated, and that it was not for the ministers to tell the Commissioners what they should or should not do.

Rev. Mr. Lavell stated that "we were living in the 20th century and not in the dark ages, and that he had a perfect right to preach on live topics if he so desired. "It is rumo- red," said Rev. Mr. Lavell, "that the ministers were prompted by Chief Slemin, or friends of the Chief, which as far as I am concerned is abso- lutely false."

After thanking the Commissioners for their careful hearing the dele- gation departed.

Increase of Salary and Increase to the Force.

This was the next question which came up for discussion, being intro- duced by Magistrate Livingstone. Mayor Hartman rose and read a list which he had prepared, showing the number of police on the force of Woodstock, Stratford, Guelph, Peter- borough, Woodstock, Chatham, and Windsor, also the amount of salary paid the chiefs of the different places.

The Mayor stated that the Brant- ford police were as well paid, if not better than most of them, and also that Brantford, in his opinion, had sufficient men on the force. The Mayor also stated that if the increase was made it would mean a greater outlay of money which, at the present time the city cannot afford to do.

Magistrate Livingstone said that he was entirely in sympathy with the men being granted an increase of pay and stated that he wanted to be just and fair both to the men and at- tach to the city. He said that with the high and increased cost of living it was hard for the men to save any money at the wages they are now be- ing paid. The Magistrate stated that the Commissioners wished to keep within their bounds in regard to ex- penditure, but wished also to be fair with the members of the force, which is at present in first class condition. The request of the men for an increase of pay, he said, was reason- able.

In closing, Judge Hardy said that, in his opinion this matter should be given careful consideration and much thought should be given on the sub- ject before a decision is reached. His Honor also stated that, in his opinion the request of the men was reason- able, but if the request for an increas- ed pay was granted then it would mean an increased expenditure by the city, which he said must be very carefully considered. His Honor said that he would like the matter ad- judged again until Tuesday after- noon to give the question more care- ful consideration.

This the commissioners decided to do.

A deputation from the police force was present and asked that the mem- bers of the force be given an in- crease of pay.

The advisability of adding more men to the force was not urged, and it looks as if the Chief will have to be satisfied for a while with the number of men he has at present on the force.

Mayor Hartman thought it was un- necessary to send out the patrol to block or so from the police station.

P. C. Carr's Case.
The case of "negligence while on duty" laid by the Chief against P. C. Carr, came up for hearing.

His Honor Judge Hardy thought that this was a matter solely for the Commissioners, and that the press might be asked to retire.

Police Magistrate Livingstone was of the same opinion. The press re- fused the question, withdrew.

The question of counsel for P. C. Carr was discussed, the Judge being of the opinion that counsel was not necessary, but the Magistrate was of the opinion that it was perfectly right for Carr to have counsel, and the Judge consented.

After hearing the facts of the case, the Commissioners could see no good grounds for his suspension, and he was honorably acquitted of the charge

Old World Notes.

At the inquest at Surbiton on Henry Denham Wall, aged 54, a com- mercial traveller who died at a large house in Berrylands Road, the wid- ow who had been brought from Marylebone Workhouse, told a pain- ful story. She said she had been judicially separated from her hus- band four years ago. Ordered to pay her one pound a week he paid her only a few months. Then he took all the furniture away, and she found herself destitute. The coroner said it was very sad to think that this poor woman had been compelled to live in a workhouse when her hus- band was living in luxury. The jury returned a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

An exhibitor of prize Newfound- land dogs, Miss Agnes Tiller, of Barnes, sued the London General Omnibus Company at Westminster County Court on Tuesday for 25 pounds damages for loss of a New- foundland dog, which was killed by a motor-lorry. The judge decided that the negligence was on the part of the dog, and not of the driver, and found for the defendants.

At a meeting of Godalming Town Council the presentation was made to the Corporation, on behalf of past and present scholars of Godalming Grammar School, of an oil painting of Jack Phillips, the wireless op- erator on the Titanic, who was an old scholar, and also a native of God- alming. The presentation was made by Mr. Charles Elworthy, until recently the headmaster.

A committee representing the Ad- ministrative and three of the leading motor-boat clubs are considering the or- ganization of a fleet of privately- owned motor-boats to assist the Navy in time of war. There are over 300 motor-boats suitable for this purpose around the coast, and a scheme of defense in which these could take part is being discussed.

The smaller boats, it is thought, would be most useful for police and other duties in harbour, and the larger boats could carry ammunition to the fleet and act as scouts. They would be especially suitable for this purpose, as they are fast and low- lying and can be made practically silent.

Painted by Mr. Harold Speed, and subscribed for by the Cinque Ports, a life-size portrait of himself in oils was presented to Lord Brassey, the Warden of the Cinque Ports, at Dover Town Hall, on Tuesday. The presentation was made by Mr. Geo. Wyndham, M.P. for Dover.

The beds had been stripped and the children's clothes sold by her for drink.

The unusual spectacle of two bears- sears in one funeral was witnessed in Wexford, when the interment took place of the Misses Cassandra and Jane Elgee. The deceased ladies were nieces of Lady Wilde and sis- ters of Mr. R. W. Elgee, solicitor to the Wexford County Council, at a special meeting of which a vote of condolence was passed.

At the hearing of a charge of child neglect against Michael Campbell at Celbridge Petty Sessions, Sergeant Lane stated that the only food he found in the place, which was a lab- orer's cottage, was a piece of raw turnip, in which were marks of chil- dren's teeth. The defendant was found lying in bed, and when ques- tioned he said he got his feet wet in the snow, and had to remain in bed. The case was adjourned for a month to give Campbell a chance of doing better.

BABY PRINCESS HOLDS TRAIN Queen Wilhelmina Wouldn't Leave Until Child Was Asleep

THE HAGUE, Feb. 27.—Queen Wilhelmina and her daughter, Princess Juliana, were scheduled to leave here at 7.30 last night to join the Prince Consort, who is ill in the Tannus Mountains. A crowd of people waited at the station to see the Queen depart, as there is great anxiety over the illness of her husband, but her Majesty would not start until she got the young Princess asleep. This delayed the departure until 10 o'clock, but the crowd waited patiently and then cheered the party as the train started.

HEADACHY, CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Removes the scum from the tongue, sweetens a sour, gassy, bilious stomach; cleanses your liver and 30 feet of bowels without gripe or nausea.

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas you belch undigested food and feel sick and miserable, it means that your liver is choked with sour bile and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases and acids and that these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

Most people dread physic. They think of castor oil, salts and cathartic pills. They shrink from the after effects—so they postpone the dose until they get sick; then they do this liver and bowel cleansing in a heroic way—they have a bowel wash-day—that is all wrong. If you will take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs to-night you will never realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the poisonous matter, sour bile and clogged-up waste will be moved on and out of your system, thoroughly but gently—no gripping—no nausea—no weakness. Taking Syrup of Figs is a real pleasure. Do not think you are drugging yourself; it is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna, and aromatics, and constant use can cause injury.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Exhilarator of Senna," and look for the name, California Fig Syrup Company, on the label. This is the genuine—old reliable. Any other Fig Syrup offered as good should be refused with contempt. Don't be imposed upon.

MAN OF MANY TITLES

LANSDOWNE IS A SMALL PEER AGE BY HIMSELF.

The Leader of the British Tory Peers Who is Fighting the Liberal Legislation So Vigorously, Goes Back to Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke, and Has Titles in England, Scotland and Ireland.

Lord Lansdowne, Unionist leader in the British House of Lords, and subsequently chairman of the Tory party's big majority in that august chamber, has returned to a prominent place in the public eye. When the celebrated Veto Bill which broke the back of the Conservative peers as a legislative obstacle to the Liberal Government, was in the hands of the nobility, Lansdowne figured large in the daily prints. When he accepted the distasteful measure the scene of battle shifted back to the Commons and the Home Rule Bill, for which the Veto Bill was merely an advance guard, was fought out in the lower House. Then, amid dust of battle and shouts of victorious Liberals, it went to the Lords, only to be crushed summarily. Passed twice again it becomes law, and the Green Isle will be free to settle its feud with Ulster.

Lord Lansdowne figures only officially in the first rejection of Home Rule, but the other day he came into LORD LANSDOWNE. prominence as one of the leaders who favored the dropping of food taxes temporarily from the Unionist platform.

The Marquess of Lansdowne is the fifth of that title, which was created in 1794, but his family goes back much further than the eighteenth century. He is also the twenty-sixth baron of Kerry and Lixnaw, a peerage created away back in 1181. He holds also the barony of Keith and Nairne, founded in 1681, the Earldom of Kerry and the viscounty of Clannaurice, created in 1723, the viscounty of Fitzmaurice, and the barony of Dunkerton, 1751, the Earldom of Shelburne, the barony of Wycombe, the Earldom of Wycombe and the viscounty of Gains. His earliest celebrated ancestor was Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke, famous in our histories, and many of his forebears have since held notable places in the realm.

The present Lord Lansdowne is now sixty-eight years of age and has had a career filled with honors. He has held several Cabinet positions, but his post of chief interest to Canadians was the Governor-Generalship of the Dominion, which he occupied from 1883 to 1888. He has a large landed estate possessing 143,000 acres, a London mansion and a handsome estate in each of England, Scotland and Ireland.

Wanted To Be In It. When the late Mr. Raffles completed his twenty-five years' service as police magistrate of Liverpool the court was literally filled with congratulations.

As the venerable stipendiary took his seat on the bench a prisoner was called. But before commencing the ordinary proceedings one of the barristers rose and expressed a few words of warm congratulation upon the completion of such a long period of honorable and distinguished service. A solicitor followed the barrister, the chief constable followed the solicitor, a reporter followed the chief constable, a court usher followed the scribe, until everybody had expressed their congratulations.

The prisoner had been kept standing all the time—about three-quarters of an hour. When all had finished he asked, with charming simplicity: "Am I expected to say a few words of congratulation, your worship?"

Lazy Clergymen? Lazy clergymen are scored in a recent pastoral of an English bishop, Dr. Diggle, to the rectors of his diocese.

After denouncing two or three of the clergy for their lax habits that are bringing them "to the brink of exposure," the plain spoken bishop says: "Others seem afflicted with incurable indolence. The less they have to do, the worse they do it. Others are dull and listless, they get through Sunday, but Sunday does not shine through them. Their ministry is not ministry, but mechanism. They do not visit sympathetically. They take little loving interest in their people, and consequently their people take little loving interest in them, except to write to me when vacancies occur and say how dearly they would like to see them promoted. Their churches are shut from Sunday to Sunday, and on Sundays they are empty."

POST OFFICE MARVELS.

Stamping Six Hundred Letters Every Minute.

A visit to the London Metropolitan and many of the larger provincial head postoffices in England would come as a revelation to most people. "They are more like factories than offices," remarked a visitor to the British post office, and indeed, there was much justification for his remark. The machinery at these gigantic institutions is of the most varied character. Most of them, to begin with, are equipped with a complete electric light and power plant, comprising a battery of boilers and large steam-driven dynamos. The convenience of the public is considered and safeguarded to the extent of providing duplicate sets of even the most expensive machinery, so that any breakdown of the running units is always provided against—the standby set being always ready for action.

In the Birmingham office are six powerful lifts constantly in use, day and night for the conveyance of mails from floor to floor. The last six years has seen a revolution in the method of dealing with such matters as obnoxious advertising stamps on letters. This is done almost entirely by machinery, the stamping machines in use having been brought to such perfection that they will deal with letters and post-cards at the rate of six hundred per minute. At Christmas time, in the office in question, four of the machines kept working incessantly for four or five days. A little calculation by the mathematically-inclined reader will give him some idea of the amount of correspondence which passes through a busy office during the festive season.

A very important part of the engineering equipment of a postoffice is its pneumatic plant. Powerful air compressors in the basement are constantly forcing air into huge containers, from which radiate miles of pneumatic tubes. Messages are placed in small cylindrical leather carriers with felt discs attached to one end. These discs fit the tubes fairly tightly and thus the rush of air through the tubes forces the carrier and its message along. In many instances the tubes are laid underground and carry messages to outlying offices a mile or two distant. In the instrument rooms, which are usually situated on the upper floors, some very interesting machinery may be seen. It is necessary to continually collect the messages as they are received and transcribed by the hundreds of operators and convey them to a central point for dispatch. Formerly this was done by hand, boys and girls being employed for the purpose. Inventive genius has been hard at work upon this matter, however, and the result is an arrangement known as a "pick-up conveyor," which is almost human in its working. There are hundreds of these silent messengers busy all day, each one responsible for its own operator, and the room is a veritable network of moving cords and wheels.

Reveling In Statistics.

Mr. L. G. Chiosso Money, of the British Commons, is one of the few politicians who can make statistics interesting. He is a prolific writer on free trade, and has rendered very great service to his party both in Parliament and in the press. Official blue-books are interesting reading to Mr. Money, and he can handle figures to a manner which is only equaled by Mr. Bonar Law. Though born in Genoa forty-two years ago, Mr. Money is English on his mother's side, and has spent the greater portion of his life in England. His natural talents led him to financial journalism, and for five years he was managing editor of Commercial Intelligence. It was owing to his efforts that a complete revision of the Board of Trade returns was brought about, and he appeared as a witness before the Select Committee on Income Tax in 1906. In that year he was returned to Parliament by the Liberals of North Paddington, his constituency he represented until 1910, when he was defeated; but he returned to the House a few months later as member for East Northampton.

Past Salaries of Actors.

A number of autograph letters of Edmund Kean supply some interesting information about the salaries of actors early in the nineteenth century. One relates to an offer by Mr. Ellison offering Kean $15 a week as acting manager of "the new theatre in Wyck street." Later this rose to $125 a month. In 1826 Kean was offered $12,000 a year to go to America. In the prime of his popularity he received $1,000 for a week in Edinburgh and apparently reached the highest point when Mr. Bunn wrote from the Theatre Royal, Dublin, on Feb. 3, 1826, and offered him $250 a night to play in Dublin and Cork—Liverpool Mercury.

The Ants of the Himalayas.

In the Himalayas, on the side facing India, the limit of perpetual snow is about 6,500 feet higher than in the Alps. One result of this is that various forms of life are found in the great Asian mountains at an elevation which seems extraordinary. Among these are many species of ants. Up to nearly 10,000 feet the ants are very abundant, and even at the elevation of 12,000 feet four species have been found, and it is believed that more careful investigation would show that they exist even at 13,000 feet or more.

Earning $500 a Week at the Age of Twelve Years.

Master John Brown, whose address at the present time is the Criterion Theatre, London, Eng., is a boy who is likely to make theatrical history. He is only ten years of age, but, at the moment of writing, is strenuously rehearsing the title-role of "Billy's Fortune," the new four-act comedy which is now being produced at the Criterion to delighted houses every night. For some time the author of the piece, Mr. Roy Horniman, and the manager of the theatre, Mr. E. Craven, Payne, searched London and the provinces for a young actor suitable for the part. Just as they were despairing of ever finding a boy with the necessary qualifications Master John Brown was introduced to them, and after a trial was engaged on the spot. He acts naturally, and takes hints so quickly that Brown of the Criterion should become one of the most popular juvenile actors in London. "But when a reporter asked him the other day if there was anything he liked better than acting, he promptly replied: 'Yes, Jack, my little mongrel terrier, who accompanies me to the theatre.'"

Neither is Master John Brown the only wonderful boy actor at present in London. At the Garrick Theatre, for instance, Master Philip Tonge is making another "hit" in "Where the Rainbow Ends," and that delightful sprig of the piece, Miss Maria York, who is still in her teens, is the delight of every child who witnesses this wonderful fairytale on the stage. And no one has made a bigger success in the Drury Lane pantomime, "The Sleeping Beauty," than Rease Mayer, the exquisite little "Puck" who is only eleven years of age. This little fellow has acted in many parts since Mr. Gerald du Maurier produced "Pussers-By" at Wyndham's Theatre, when little Rease was the child who brought together two loving hearts.

The meteoric career of that wonderful girl dancer, Miss Elsie Craven, furnishes another striking story of juvenile stage triumph. Miss Craven began to dance almost as soon as she could walk, but it was not until she was one year of age that her friends happened to notice her skill as a dancer at a children's party, strongly recommended her father, a London artist, to have her trained. Her debut was at the end of a couple of years she was taken to Sir Herbert Tree, who was forming a company for his fairy play, "Hildegarde." Miss Craven gave a trial dance. When she was only half through it, Sir Herbert delightedly exclaimed, "She is wonderful. I engage her as Queen of the Fairies." Her dancing created quite a sensation, in addition to which she proved a most charming pantomime actress. So great was her success that Mr. Oswald Stoll engaged her to appear at the London Coliseum at the gigantic salary of $500 a week, though little Elsie was then only twelve years of age.

Old Adage Disproved.

So far the winter in England has been as mild as, to judge from telegrams from Canada, the winter has been there; but the old adage that "a green Christmas means a fat graveyard" has by no means been verified, says a London despatch. Inquiries among the medical officers of London show that so far from the weather having proved unhealthy, cases of illness have been remarkably few. Indeed, one of the leading medical practitioners here declared that the Christmas just past had been one of the healthiest since 1885, the year of the last great "white Christmas," and incidentally one of the worst epidemics of influenza recorded. "The fact is that a green Christmas does not make a fat churchyard," he said. The common illnesses have been uncommon. There has been very little pneumonia, not even a slight epidemic of influenza, and, on the whole, little infectious disease of any kind. The "green winter fat churchyard" proverb was also derided by Dr. Forbes Ross. "It is an old tag," he said, "which, like most of that kind, is nothing more or less than absolute tomfoolery."

Early Mince Pies.

Mince pies were known as early as 1598, and they are said to be derived from the paste images and sweetmeats given to the fathers of the Vatican at Rome on Christmas eve. They were more formidable at one time than mince pies, than mince pies are now, consisting of "neals" tongues, chicken, raisins, lemon, sugar and orange peel, with various kinds of spicery. Peppy's, the diarist, writes of Christmas, 1686: "Lay pretty long in bed and then rose, leaving my wife desirous to sleep, having sat up till 4 this morning seeing her maids make mince pies. Clearly it was an undertaking, and Mrs. Peppy was a beauty of only twenty-six too."

The Heads on the Rails.

Viscount Hardinge, brother of the Indian Viceroy, in a lecture in London on the Delhi Durbar referred to a much criticized statement which he maintained was absolutely true. Whenever the viceroy traveled in India policemen were stationed along the railroads at intervals of a hundred yards. The policeman, he said, often became sleepy and lay with their heads on the rails to listen for the approach of the train. On one occasion a train of fifty engines lost their heads. Lord Curzon asked him where he got the yarn. He replied, "I got it from my brother, and I do not think he would tell a 'cracker.'"

An Irish Incident.

"Driver," said an English tourist who was having dinner in a junction car through the Donegal highlands, "I notice that when you speak to your friends whom you meet on the road you invariably do so in Irish, but when you address your horse you do so in English. How is this?" To which came the retort: "Musha! Now, thun, isn't English good enough for him?"

SIR WM. MACKENZIE USED TO START WORK AT SEVEN.

Railway Magnate Wondered When He Found No One Was on the Job at the Legislature at 8.30 a.m. and GuesSED Perhaps People Slept Later Now Than When He was a Boy—Prod of His Modest Start.

Sir William Mackenzie may be a prince of railroading, but he has remained all his life one of the most democratic and unpretentious of men in ordinary personal relations. Not is he any less proud of the modest beginnings of his boyhood, and the earlier years of manhood, when he applied his best abilities to the tasks nearest to hand.

SIR WILLIAM MACKENZIE. An English friend, passing the Legislative building he stopped the car and ran up the steps to enquire for a certain official. It was then only 8.30 a.m., and no Government employees were on hand. Sir William returned to the car a trifle disappointed.

"I believe the world is sleeping later in the mornings than it used to, he remarked to his companion. "When I was a young fellow I had my breakfast over every winter's morning by seven, and was ready for work." "This was in the university?" queried the visitor. "This was in the maple bush," corrected Sir William, with his accustomed crispness.

Mystery of Sleeplessness.

An attempt to explain the excessive somnolence of Pickwick's fat boy is made by Dr. Frederick Taylor, F.R.C.P., in an interesting article on sleep in The Practitioner. Dr. Taylor is sympathetic towards those with whom sleep is an affliction, and he thinks that the Fat Boy may possibly have suffered from some mysterious disease. "There is no evidence that he was overworked mentally or physically," says Dr. Taylor. "He cites the case of a prisoner who when charged with sleeping in the roadway went to sleep in the dock; tells of a housemaid who went to sleep in the act of announcing a visitor, and while carrying a tray with cups full of coffee; and mentions a woman who was a nurse till, in one of her sleeping paroxysms, she dropped the baby on the floor and nearly killed it."

"There are also on record other cases of somewhat different kind," says Dr. Taylor, "in which the individual sleeps continually for hours, days, and months; some of these are described as narcolepsy, and they seem to present alliance with trance, catalepsy, hysteria and insanity."

"A man slept seven months without interruption; on another occasion fifteen months. Another man, for eight years spent more than four and a half of them in sleep. The final attack lasting fifteen months. Tea, coffee, and even tobacco are mentioned as remedies which will keep people awake when attacked by sleepiness. Dr. Taylor states that he has employed with success an egg beaten in coffee."

What Wellington Was Afraid Of.

Sir William Allan covered a large catwalk with a picture of the Battle of Waterloo which the Duke of Wellington bought. His grace asked the painter to call at the Horse Guards on a certain day to receive payment. Fortunately Sir William called, and the duke began to count out notes for the sum agreed upon. Knowing how valuable was his time, Allan said that he would be quite content to take the duke's cheque.

His grace went on counting, and the artist, thinking he had not been paid the promised sum, said: "It would save your grace time and trouble if you would give me a cheque on your bankers."

Either angry at being interrupted in his counting or else jocularly, with a touch of the truth that is sometimes spoken in jest, the duke answered: "Do you think I would allow Coult's (his bankers) to know what a fool I have been?"

An Eccentric Wager.

In the old betting books of the Jockey Club and White's in London are to be found many curious records of wagers. There was once a young man who made money on spider races. "His wager was that as spider which he would produce would cross a plate quicker than a spider to be produced by a friend. Each spider was to have its own plate. His opponent's spider, however, on being started would not stir, while his own ran with immense speed. The bet was consequently lost, and the loser found out the reason why. Our young friend had a hot plate." This is told by Ralph Nevill in "The Man of Pleasure."
