HOW ROSSLAND IS HANDICAPPED. The mines have been compelled time and again to suspend stoping and even to close down altogether owing to the inability of the two railroads to haul away their product. The Columbia & Western railway has been kept in operation at all times, but owing to its being a narrow guage road with heavy grades and curves, with but three small engines in its equipment and with a heavy passenger and freight traffic to take care of it has never, under the most favorable circumstances, been able to handle more than 250 tons of ore per day on the average. The Red Mountain railway has been of little service in moving ore so are on account of blockades and washouts in the spring and lack of a bridge across the Columbia since the river rose. —Rossland Miner.

It will then be developed down to the 800-bot level, the levels being 200 feet apart. The mill have a capacity of 300 tons at that depth. The engine will be set in a station underground, 1,200 feet from the boilers, at the end of the tunnel where the station is out. The station proper for the engine is 35 feet high, 35 feet wide, and 70 feet long, and is all timbered with Oregon fir, 16x18. The new machinery and theover hauling of the mill, the building of a large vanner room, the cutting of the boilst, the engine and the different levels will cost when ready to start, $225,000. The mine will then be run steadily at full capacity.

Admiral, and will at once proceed to Honolulu to succeed Rear Admiral Lester A. Beardslee in the command of the U. S. Pacific station. This, accord ng to leading American comment, is an specially important assignment in view f the state of affairs in Hawaii, through the Hawaiian government prohibiting Japanese immigration. Hawaii is inluded within the geographical limits of he Pacific station. The change in com nand will probably mark the nent from active service of Admiral Beardslee. He announced some time ago his intention to retire voluntarily in February, under the long service clause, but it was supposed he would serve the rest of the time allowed him before compulsory retirement on account of age.

THE most curious petition which i cent years has been presented for the signatures of Victorians made its appearance in the western suburb yesterday morning, awell known anti-Chinese advocate having prepared it and taken in hand its circulation. The document is addressed to "His Worship the Mayor and Common Council," and requests that honorable body "in the interests of health and common decency," to enact by-law "prohibiting the sprinkling of clothing in public wash-houses by the spewing of water or other liquid from the mouth." The desired legislation is said not to be without precedent, the promoters of the petition having secured copies of an ordinance of San Jose framed in the exact language adopted in the memorial. By 2 o'clock in the afternoon the signatures of twelve men and sixteen women had been secured. although the canvasser stated he had only been work-RICHIBUCTO, N. B., April 26th, 1997.

in contemplation with the C.P.R. for the building of the Crow's Nest line they would be able to insure the people of the Pacific coast such rates as would enable them to compete successfully for the trade of mining districts. The people of the coast cities ought to be satisfied with the arrangements which the government was making. The government ought mot to be asked, either directly or by impliwas making. The government ought not to be asked, either directly or by implication, to commit itself to an undertaking which might involve an expenditure of eight or ten million dollars to save 100 or 150 miles. Moreover, there was no conclusive evidence as to the feasibility of a line west of Penticton to the coast.

In order that his triends in British Columbia might know what his views were he had spoken out so plainly. The question thus brought forward in this acute manner is one of extreme importance. Great Britain was the first power. This recognition was promptly followed by similar action on the part of the United States and all the European powers except Austria. The Japanese appreciated this very greatly and they will be likely to resent very keenly any step on the part of Canada or one of the provinces of the Dominion which aims at discriminating against them.

Throughout these sixty years England and the United States have remained at peace and brotherhood. Minor differences have arisen, but never of a nature failing to respond to the peaceful arbitrament of diplomacy. They stand to-day one people, with a common language, religion and literature. They read the same books and sing the same songs. Their hopes, aspirations and code of ethics are identical, and they partake in common of a rugged love of insticated of seeing this kind of a power. ## THE SMELTER QUESTION.

(From the Rossland Miner.) The announcement of the agreement on the Crow's Nest Pass railroad probably the first place to be no monopoly of the In the second place, the price of coal as made by the C.P.R, cannot exceed $2 profit on coal of more than 75 cents a ton. Supposing the price of coal is $2 per ton on board the cars at the mines, the freight charge to the Columbia river and common points certainly would not be over $2.50 per ton—perhaps not over $2 will be proportionately low, certainly not over $7 per ton. Coal delivered at the Trail smelter now costs about $12 per ton, and coke $14, so that the Crow's Nest line will reduce the price of coke

What will be the result? Smelting can and will be done even more cheaply on the Columbia river and common point within British Columbia than on the other side of the line. We do not be lieve an export duty on ores will be need British Columbia, but that it will come because as a matter of business it will be better to do it here. This is, after all,
