These are noble words from that grand old Rebrew leader. Moses, given to the assembly heat of Israel. They form a part of his farewell address e'er he went, to heaven from Nelve's lonely mountain. There are certain things that the people should not forget as well as laws which should always be in practical operation. FLOUR AND BREAD. Flour of good quality-better than the average of what the bakers use-can now be had in this market at $2.25 per hundred or 21 cents per pound. And still the four pound loaf stands at fourteen cents, which is 31 cents per pound for the bread. In a few places here the loaf, not of the best by any means, is sold for twelve cents, but nearly all the bakers keep the figure up to fourteen cents. The price of bread is notoriously out of all proportion to the price of flour. It is asserted by those who onght to know that a baker would make a living profit, and something more, by giving pound for pound or a thousand pounds of bread for a thousand pounds of flour. Some say that three pounds of flour will make day or $300 worth per week, which at present prices would be about eleven bartions to various parts of the world to obday or $300 worth per week, which at present prices would be about eleven barrels or twenty-two hundred pounds per day. It is outrageous, we say, for a baker to demand fifty dollars for the day's work of making into bread and delivering in that shape the fifty dollars' worth of flour. Allowing a handsome margin for profit, also for rent and all other expenses, it is far too much. Does any mortal believe that the weekly expenses of a baker lieve that the weekly expenses of a baker using eleven barrels of flour per day can be anything like $300 per week, or $15,600 a year? Or that his daily expenses, cost of flour not included, can be anything like $50? We think not. The public will not be made by the astronomers is to accertain as exactly as possible the dispersion of the thing at which we have now arrived, that there should be only 50 cents' worth of flour in a dollar's worth of bread. The bakers had better do as Davy Crockett's coon did, and "come down."

DR. WILD'S POPULARITY.

No other church in the city, or in the country for that matter, can draw so large a crowd as Dr. Wild's on Bond street. Nor is the success of Toronto's popular oracle merely ephemeral. The crowd last night was just as large as it ever has been for the past two years. The doctor drew enthusiastically at the outset and his popularity has not waned at all, but on the contrary increased. One distinctive feature of the doctor's success seems to be his aptitude for taking up the question of the day and presenting it in a popular light. While other ministers are preaching the theory of christianity Dr. Wild is applying the principles of his religion to the questions of ciples of his religion to the questions of the day. When the spider discovered his visitor he threw a web around the smake's neck and fastened it to the bottom of the sofa above the make. He then proceeded to add another web, and another, and another, nntil the combined wabs made a strong cord, that completely fastened the anake so that it could not extricate itself. It it attempted to go forward the cord raised its head higher and higher, antil his snakeship would be half off the floor. If it attempted to go backward it ended in the same way. Such was the condition of the snake when it was found on Friday morning by Mr. Robinson. In the meantime the spider was secure in his nest above, looking down upon the snake and awaiting results. Doubtless to the great disappointment of the spider, Mr. Robinson extricated the snake from its hanging position, killed it monster shells over the federals and into woods where the confederates were forming. One of the shells fell in front of a brigadier-general from Georgia and two aides, and came rolling to their very feet. Like lightning each of the trio threw himself flat on the ground, rolled over once or twice and then hugged the ground and wested. They could hear the sputter of the burning fuse, and the chances of being wiped out were ninety-nine in a hundred. In this situation one of the aides called out:

"Gentlemen, I believe secession is wrong, and I'm sorry I took up arms."

"And I know that rebellion is wicked, and I'm ready to resign!" groaned the other side.

It was then the general's turn to say something, and while they were waiting to hear him declare himself he suddenly called

A very prouliar animal has been seen in Lancaster, Pa. It has appeared at night sround cornfields and potato patches. It appears in different forms at different times. One darkey saw ears half horse and half semething else. Another avowed that it was half horse and half bear. A third said that it had horne and walked on its hind legs, leaving the tracks of a man and a billy goat behind. None of the negroes in the vicinity will venture out after dark.

That the great city will ere long be hardly recognizable by its former denizem, all the world has heard. The visitor passing up the Thames now finds his eye gratified by the many handsome edifices recently erected. As he resches the famous Viotoria Embankment, there rises over him on the right hand the new Times office, and on the left hand the new tower-crowned works of Messrs. James Epps & Co., both phases of Italian architecture. It may be said that these two buildings are types of the far-reaching business energy of the nineteenth century, for it has resulted from such means that these two establishments have brought themselves to the fore, and that the annual issue of each has come to be estimated by millions. During the last year the number of copies of the Times issued is estimated at 16,276,000, while the number of packets of Epps' Cocca sent off in the same period is computed at 14,749,695. The latter is a large total, when it is borne in mind that in 1830 the consumpsion of cocca throughout the whole kingdom was but 420,382 lbs. there then existing no preparation of it such as this, which by the simple addition of boiling water would yield a palatable drink. Truly time may be said to work many changes.

Saint Clair flats furnishes perhaps the best ducking marshes and pends to be found north of the Chesapeake.

Several clubs have been formed about Ontario that have arranged with the govarnment for privileges of shooting.

Toronto furnishes perhaps some of the best shots that go to the flats, but as a rule a good duck shot is rare and not more than a good duck shot is rare and not more than one in a dozen should be trusted in a marsh alone. Messers. Dave Ward, T. Tinning, I. O. Heward, Christopher Robinson, Chief of Police Draper, Alderman Manghan, Taylor and Winfield, and few others, who have been duck shooting for twenty years, would be considered pattern shots in any maish, and on a good day their guns would yield a hundred. But to see some of the "freshmen" at it is very amusing, though to a nervous man it is madding. He commences by arming himself with a cannon size of gun, a great mistake, for many good shots object to even a number ten. Then he splashes about the marsh making more moise than a sea screent, insists that a diver splashes about the marsh making more noise than a sea serpent, insists that a diver is a weunded duck and accordingly hunts it; he drops his paddle overboard, gets stuck up to his knees in mud, forgets his lunch, breaks his pipe, fires at everything he sees, hits none of them, every; time his "cannon" goes off the other duck shooters awear, returns dirty, powder-smoked and tired, and says it is a poor place to shoot. Some of the gentlemen who go duck shooting manage to make it pay, one having sent last year 150 brace to a game dealer in Toronto.

The County Judgeship. Judge Mackenzie having determined to vacate his seat on the county bench, speculation is rife in legal circles as to who his successor will be. D. B. Read, Q. C., Nicholas Murphy, James Tilt, J. E. Mc-Dougall and W. G. Falconbridge are among those whose names are mentioned in this connection. Mr. Drury did oppose sending county funds out of the county, believing that the county council had neither the legal nor the moral right to do so. But at the same time if the authors of the flysheet were honest they would have told the electors of East Simcoe that Mr. Drury subscribed $50 at that time out of his own private purse for the relief of the suffering Irish, whereas many of his unscrupulous opponents, whilst willing enough to vote or sanction the voting! of other people's money away for the relief of the Irish, took precious good care to spend little or none of their own. broadcast throughout the constituency

Business in New York. The results of diligent inquiry by members of the Tribune staff indicate, says that journal editorially, a favorable condition of usiness in New York. The hotels have been crewded this rall with buyers from all parts of the country as they have not often been in years past. Among manufacturers and wholesale dealers the assurance is given and wholesale dealers the assurance and that trade has seldom or never been more vigorous. Sules are 10 to 25 per cent vigorous. The than they were last autumn. The rigorous. Sales are 10 to 25 per central eavier than they were last autumn. The demand comes from all parts of the union, is not speculative, and very nearly equals the supply. This is regarded as an encouraging outlook, as it is considered that the state of trade in New York reflects pretty accurately the condition.

THE THREE CREEDS.

God-fearing men, in days long past, Nor likely to return, Their bread upon the water cast,

Unswerving souls and stern— The fath they felt they could impart, The creed to which they clung

The creed to which they clung
Was taught by loving, selfiess heart,
By fearless, fervent tongue.
So Wesley flashed upon a world
Which but for him was hell;
So righteous Whittelers thunder hurled
At Mammon's mightees fel.
They came, they saw, they conquered sin,
Those Cassars of the Word;
Through guilty cities' strife and din
Their heaven-taught hymns were he rd.
Through mines far galleried underground
That music echoes free That music echoes free When through each pause of song reson

The sobbings of the sea. Unhelped, unpraised, unpaid; Their bread upon the waters cast With God alone to aid.

Such preachers and such m.n. were they;
But times are changed, and bring
To press and pulpits of so-day
A very different thing.
The carved and cushioned seats are soft,
And through the pertuned air
Such mellow music floats sloft
As suits a rich man's preven

As suits a rich man's prayer.

No poor man's presence soils the place,
To such we do not preach;
But sermons full of fashion's grace
The "upper classes" reach;
Our ladies at their Sunday show
All jewels, lace, and flowers. All jewels, lace, and flowers;

No church in all the city so
Respectable as curs!

O source of all our light and life,
We know Thee but in name, Thy power to help in claim :

Theu whose existence over bold, Are they who fain would see, And dare the dread communion hold. In ways unworthy Thee. Unthinkable to human thought, Shall human phrase miscall, In terms with endless error fraught That awful, abstract all? To thought's abstractest forms we find No place where Thou canst be, In homage of the silent kind We prayerless worship Thee.

O not unowned, unnamed, forgive, For creedless faith have care; And if in work our life we live Take Thou that work for prayer !

The club room of the City of London chess club, held at Mouffiet's hotel, in London, was crowded on Sept 27 to witness the annual performance of Mr. Blackburne, the "blindfold chess player," who undertakes to play eight games simultaneously with as many members of the club. The team opposed to him was the strongest he has yat played in London, none of them being unannual performance of Mr. Blackburne, the played in London, none of them being under what is technically called 'pawn and two strength.' Mr Blackburne was not literally blindfolded, but he sat at the far end of the room with his back toward the players, so that he could not possibly see the boards or the men, and he had to depend for the conduct of the games entirely on his memory. In the result two games were drawn and Mr. Blackburnd woil six in the largert line we in Toron.

This memory. In Blackburne wolksix I were drawn and Mr. Blackburne wolksix I were drawn and Mr. Blackburne wolksix I were drawn and Mr. Blackburne wolksix I lynn, Mass., always was a good place for health, but it has become a modern Betheda since Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of 233 Western avenue, made her great discovery of the Vegetable Compound, or panacea for the principal ills that afflict the fair creation. This, differs, however, from the ancient scene of marvelous cures in this important particular: The healing agent, with all its virtues, can be sent to order by express or mail all over the world.

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.
Perhaps the most extraordinary success that he can achieved in modern medicine has been attained. sand patients treated during the past this stubborn malady. This is none the less start-ling when it is remembered that not five per cent of its presenting themselves to the regular pracner are benefited, while the patent medic titioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Strings with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites, in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims, the catern's practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one elso by him two years ago are catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be donient home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and perminent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferens should, correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King ttreat west, Torento, Canada, and enclose stamp for his treatise on catarrh.
