TRAINED TEACHER FOR EVERY SCHOOL

What New Education Faculty May Accomplish—Toronto's Aid Appreciated.

"The University of Toronto should be in the very closest touch with the schools of the province," declared Dr. Falconer at the formal inauguration of the new faculty of education in convocation hall yesterday afternoon.

"We are seeking to do what we can towards the upbuilding of this province, and until the public recognizes the primary importance of the teacher, our civilization and our educational progress cannot be at all what it ought to be."

"We have over and over again treated the teacher shamefully, and I do not think that in the country, or even in the city itself, the great importance of the teacher to this country at large has been properly recognized, which is proven by the measure of respect we show to those who are entering the noble and our children are certainly our greatest treasures."

"Hon. J. P. Whitney said that the occasion which particularly drew his attention to the needs of the university was the fire (in 1890), which, as had been already remarked, had perhaps proved to be a blessing in disguise. He was then a member of the legislature and upon leaving carried into the subject, he found that the university was an asset of the province, which, like their other assets, ought either to be utilized or cast aside. This was the keynote of their action out of office, as well as in office, from that day down to the present."

"The then situation of the university was peculiar. For other universities existed in Victoria, Trinity, St. Michael's, Queen's, etc., all situated in different localities, doing good work, although this university was plainly lagging and was practically in a condition of stagnation and deterioration."

"A great many causes had, no doubt, conspired to bring about this state of affairs, and one of these causes lay in the existence of the other universities, but what was still more important was the fact that the time had not apparently yet come when the public mind and the public men of the country were ready to consider the immense importance of the university to the province."

"Some six years ago he had taken upon this subject a definite position, which was placed in the house, and this policy they had since endeavored to carry into effect. In 1904 the amount voted by the legislature for public schools was $510,000; in 1907 it was $900,000. (Applause.) In 1904 the University of Toronto was voted $142,700; in 1907 it was voted $35,000. He was not claiming any particular credit to himself in this connection, except this, that he and his colleagues had correctly gauged the true feeling of the Province of Ontario in regard to this important question."

"The government had also taken steps to improve the qualifications and to increase the salaries of the teachers of the province, to bring about the retention of professional training, while in a short time they hoped to have seven fully-equipped normal schools. (Applause.)"

"The establishment of this faculty of education was no experiment. Such faculties existed in all the great universities of the world—Oxford, and Cambridge and Edinburgh, as well as those in France and Germany. He was also glad to see that Queen's was moving in the same direction. And Queen's, with roots which had struck down strong and deep, was a great factor in and an important part of the educational life of the province."

"Toronto Has Helped. The premier said he further desired publicly to acknowledge the sympathetic generous showing by the Toronto Board of Education in the use of the city's public schools (Applause.) He looked forward to still closer relations with the board of education of this city. (Applause.)"

"When the time comes," concluded Premier Whitney, "for me to retire in private life I can by no possibility will afford me any recollection that I will not be the same honor as the small part which I have been permitted to take in improving the condition and prospects of the university of the people of Ontario." (Loud applause.)

"Hon. Dr. Payne said that the policy of the government, in so far as education was concerned, was not to revolutionize but to build up; and not to down, but to strengthen in every possible the educational system of the province. (Applause.) He hoped

DUGALD ROSS SELL KIMBERLY STOCK?

Disappearance of the Young Streetsville Man From Hotel in London Now Causing Anxiety.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.) LONDON, Oct. 2.—It thunders that Dugald Ross' disappearance is more mysterious than related yesterday. Tuesday of last week he retired from the Berkeley Hotel with a friend to the bank on Threadneedle-street, stating he had to call about a cheque for £20,000.

The friend waited five and a half hours for him, until moved on by the police. His cards were inscribed, Streetsville, Ontario, Canada. His note paper indicated he was an importer and breeder of Clydesdales and hackneys on a farm two miles east of Streetsville.

He visited Folkestone the day following his disappearance from London, staying 24 hours at an hotel there, and leaving suddenly with only a small bag. He had previously stayed at this hotel, departing in the same sudden, eccentric manner.

Absolutely no trace of him is discoverable, and the press is disseminating a description and photographs.

No word has been received of Dugald Ross, the wealthy young Streetsville horsebreeder, who has been missing for more than a week from the Berkeley Hotel, London, England.

His relatives are becoming alarmed at his prolonged absence. His mother, Mrs. John Ross of Streetsville, had a letter from him Tuesday, in which he said they had to sail for New York on the Crown Prince, and would be back in a few days.

Rev. M. McGregor, editor of The Presbyterian Magazine, an uncle of Mr. Ross, is setting in motion machinery for his recovery.

Ross is 22 years of age. He is said to be a quiet young fellow, sober and of immaculate habits. His hobbies are horses and automobiles, both of which he likes fast.

Mr. McGregor says that he believes that the young man had come to the sale of stock in the Kimberly diamond mines, from which he would realize about $25,000. He had intended to go to South Africa to negotiate this sale before his return to Canada, but had later decided to send his money to the bank. He had also completed the sale of a lot of hackney horses to the Japanese Government, from which he realized a considerable sum.

The Canadian high commissioner at London and the Scotland Yard officials are being acquainted with the facts known here, and are being urged to spare no effort or expense to find the missing man.

TELEGRAPH CO. HOLDING UP THE WEST

Such is the Charge of Government's Western Organ—Argument For Public Ownership.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Following the arbitrary action of the C. P. R. in raising rates from the lakes to the coast on ten hours' notice, two hundred per cent. in order to forestall The Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers, who have organized an Associated Press. The Free Press today publishes a two-column editorial demanding that the railway commission be given authority to deal with this, the meanest and most powerful monopoly in Canada.

In part The Free Press says, "The new schedule increases the day rate from Western Ontario 114 per cent. increases the night rate from Western Ontario 100 per cent.; increases the day rate from Alberta 109 per cent.; increases the night rate from Alberta 114 per cent.; increases the day rate from Saskatchewan 114 per cent.; increases the night rate from Saskatchewan 100 per cent."

"How happy we all would be if we had a state-chartered monopoly in a common rail, and could take our patrons by the throat whenever we felt like it, and oblige them at will to double their contributions."

"The railways used to be able to do this sort of thing, but they can do it no more. An aroused people upon the collar of popular control upon them, increases the night rate from Saskatchewan 100 per cent."

"The C.P.R. Telegraph Company appears to be only licensed free-booter left. This Dick Turpin still swaggers along the highways spilling the way-farers with the insolent condescension of the knight of the road. Let him enjoy his license while he may, for even now the shackles are being forged that will forever his career of plunder."

"There is nothing in this latest exploit of the C.P.R. Telegraph Co. to excite astonishment among the western newspapers. They have long been familiar with the peculiarities of this institution—its covetousness, its zest in petty tyrannies, its picaresque meannesses, its nepotism and notorious inefficiency."

"Nothing that the little tin gods of this machine can do will surprise them any more. It is not very long since the C.P.R. Telegraph Company cancelled a press rate from Toronto to Winnipeg, which had been in existence for over a dozen years. The new schedule increased the night press rate 86 per cent., and the day rate 235 per cent.—only 233 per cent."

"The thanks, the hearty thanks of the public are due to these gentlemen for establishing by their conduct the authority of the railway commission over the telegraph companies. The case is already strong, but we are not without hopes that they will make it overwhelming by some crowning act of autocratic imbecility."

REV. T. B. HYDE HAS RESIGNED

Pastor of Northern Congregational Church Retiring Thru Ill-Health.

At a meeting of the management committee of Northern Congregational Church last evening, the pastor, Rev. T. Bradley Hyde, tendered his resignation, to take effect on Nov. 1.

Health for a year past is given as the reason for his retirement. His resignation will be submitted to a meeting of the congregation next Wednesday night.

Rev. Mr. Hyde, who became pastor of the church fourteen years ago, had for four years previously been connected with the Dwight L. Moody Church in Chicago. Mr. Hyde has been an energetic worker in behalf of his church, and so effective have his labors been that the large mortgage which confronted him at the outset has been practically wiped out.

A prominent member said last night that Mr. Hyde's earnest, painstaking efforts at the time of the Torrey revival had very plainly marked effects soon after, his health having broken under the heavy strain cheerfully assumed by him at the time. He had never since regained his former health. After a long illness, Mr. Hyde hopes to re-enter the active ministry.

KIPLING'S CONFESSION. Has Been Trying for Twenty Years to Bind Empire.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Rudyard Kipling arrived in Winnipeg this morning and spent the day in the city.

This evening he addressed the Canadian Club in Manitoba Hall before a large and enthusiastic audience. He confined his remarks principally to the growth of Winnipeg since his last visit, 15 years ago, and the development of Canadian spirit.

He said: "I make one confession. For the past 20 years, I have been doing all in my power to draw together the various parts of the empire."

WHAT'S THE COST OF COAL? WE ALL WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

Dealers Should Be Able to Deliver it in Toronto For $6.00 Plus a Reasonable Profit, According to the Estimate of a Correspondent.

Coal is one of the real necessities of life. The price of coal affects every household in Toronto, and an increase of even half a dollar a ton is a serious item in purchasing the winter's supply. Within the last five years coal has advanced in price fully 33 1-3 per cent. It is now selling at $7.25 a ton CASH.

There is no attempt by the coal dealers to deny that they act together in agreement. But they do deny that their prices are exorbitant, and quote figures in proof. "Figures don't lie," says Old Gorgon Graham, "but that's because they don't talk," and below, "One Who Knows" contributes a vastly different story. Who's right?

That coal bought by wholesale dealers at winter rates can be had down in the cellars of Toronto citizens at $6.91 per ton, and less, is the statement of "One Who Knows" in a communication to The World, which reads:

"The coal consumers of this city are becoming somewhat turbulent because of another threatened rise in the already exorbitant price of coal."

"Let us look into this matter for a moment. The present cost of hard coal at the International Bridge is $5.30 per ton of 2240 pounds, or $4.91 per ton of 2000 pounds, our weight, and as sold to consumers here; duty nothing; freight from the International Bridge to Toronto, 80c per ton; switching to dealers' yards, nothing; average cartage from cars to customers, say 40c (a man at $10 a week is supposed to average six tons daily delivery). Total apparent cost to dealer in cellar of a citizen of Toronto, $5.91 per ton."

"Now, buying by the gross ton and selling by the net ton, in every 1-3 the tons sold the dealer has a ton for himself. This is certainly worth considering, but this bit of information is never cheerfully furnished the public. In fact, the public are not supposed to take time to consider it. The public are supposed to pay for coal and burn it, and like a good public, not be suspicious or ask too many questions."

"We were assured in a recent issue of your paper, which, by the way, is usually foremost in expounding matters of public moment, from the president of one of the leading coal company roads of the United States, that the wholesale price of coal, for several years past, and that no blame could be attached to mine owners for the increase in price of coal, was the same as last season, when coal was selling here at $6 per ton."

"The only apparent difference is that the local combine may not have for smaller firms in view, not of themselves, which they may particularly desire to put out of business."

"The periodical cry of shortage of cars and shortage of stocks doesn't amount to much after all."

"The present unreasonable price of coal demands an investigation. Someone should move and move at once."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AT BROCKVILLE. BROCKVILLE, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—In the past year the municipal gas works of Brockville manufactured 2,000,000 feet more than double the quantity of gas produced by the same works at the time they were taken over by the municipality.

In the year immediately preceding municipal ownership the quantity produced was 12,000,000 feet; in the year just closed 28,000,000 feet.

MONTREAL FORCE MUCH THE LIMELIGHT

Police Committee Scorn James Reginald's Letter and Pitch It in Waste Basket.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Efforts to bring the recent newspaper campaigns against the police force of Montreal to the notice of the police committee met with very scant courtesy from that body this afternoon.

For some time past a Sunday newspaper has been charging that the police winked at breaches of the liquor laws on Sundays and also that a regular system of protection for disorderly houses existed, while it has been intimated that policemen had to pay for promotion, and that in general the city police force was being modeled along corrupt lines.

So long as the agitation was confined to the Sunday paper and another afternoon daily the aldermen did not bother about it. But a few days ago each of the eight members of the police committee received a letter from a person signing as "James Reginald."

The letter writer asked a number of cogent questions as to why the laws against Sunday liquor selling and the closing of disorderly houses were not enforced, and also if it were true that men high up on the force had been frequently punished for drunkenness, while constables had to pay for appointment and promotion.

Ald. Gallery considered that the letter was a serious one and demanded an investigation. He was, however, a lone minority in the matter. Chairman Proulx suggested that the letter was an insult to the committee and moved that it be thrown in the waste paper basket.

Ald. Gallery pressed for some more decisive action to either justify or improve the police force, and demanded to know what the committee was afraid of, but he was outvoted and the letter was solemnly consigned to the depository for waste paper.

THEATRES ON SHIPBOARD. Cunard Steamship Company Considering Frohman Offer.

The company is now planning specially designed halls for plays and concerts on board three of the ships of the line.

Other trans-Atlantic line companies are considering Mr. Frohman's proposition.

ORD BISHOP'S CONCEPTION OF THE CHURCH

Above All, Must Be Unworldly in Itself--He Scores New Theology of Salvation.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 2.—In a sermon in Holy Trinity Church during the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Anglican Christianity in America, the Right Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington-Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, gave his idea of the characteristics which the church that shall dominate the future must possess. He said, in part:

"First, undoubtedly, the future can only belong to a church which believes only in the forthright teaching, earnest and preaches the forthright teaching, and preaches an active love of God. God forbid that I should deny the difficulties which surround a belief in the love of God, or ignore the stern side of the New Testament, but no church will save the world, and especially these thousand millions who have not yet had a chance of making up their minds as to the truth of the Christianity, except a church that believes in these proclaimed and lives out the love of God to every child that he has made."

Message of Salvation. "And with God's help the love of God must go what we call in England the message of a free salvation. It may be that in the past we may have allowed a legalising spirit to creep over the church, but to-day high church and low church vie in England to preach a gospel of a free salvation that the eternal Son of God came into this world and give Himself for his brethren, that the Christian religion does not consist in a belief in a good man named Jesus Christ, dying on the cross, but consists in a belief in the sacrifice of God Himself."

Scores the New Theology. "I have no means of knowing the trend of religious thought in the United States, but from my experience of that country, and from the fact that the future lies with no church which sinks to what is called the new theology. 'God forbid' we should say a word against any individual man who believes as much as he can of the Christian creed, but what we must beware of on both sides of the Atlantic is the loss of the power of our message by trying to make it easier to be believed."

"The church of the future must undoubtedly possess individualism, patriarchy and the historic sacraments which you possess in the church of America to-day. 'Hold fast that thou hast, that no man take thy crown.' But, after all is said and done, the most evangelistic, the most catholic, the most orthodox church on earth, produce no effect upon the world if it has not still one further characteristic. It must clearly and unmistakably, and before all the world, be unworshipful itself."

"Bear with me, then, when I say, as my last word, that the greatest danger to the church on both sides of the Atlantic is worldliness."

"In one sense, it is impossible for the church to mix too freely with the world. In the slums of East London, into the business of Wall-street, into the mining camps at Klondyke, the church must go and no human interest in the world is outside the interest of the church."

Kingdom Not of This World. "But on the other hand, to run a church as a man runs a successful business, to depend upon cleverness and management, rather than the grace of God to enlighten the mind and intercession in favor of influence with the press, to lower the teaching of the church or its moral standard in order to suit a self-indulgent age, is to spell ruin and failure, and shame for the most orthodox church in the world. In a voice which still rings down the centuries, Jesus Christ Himself proclaimed: 'My kingdom is not of this world.'"

"TOUCHED" U.S. CONSUL. Someone Knew the Combination; Got Two Hundred Dollars.

COMMISSION IS BUSY. OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—It is not expected that the railway commission will may-out any program this week or set any cases down for hearing, as there is a great deal of work to dispose of before new cases can be very well heard.

The express tariffs, Bell Telephone rates, terms and conditions of bills of lading, uniform operating rates, equipment of railways and other matters are under consideration and the members of the board are eager to clean the slate if possible before undertaking new work.

THE INFUX FROM JAPAN BROUGHT ON THE CRISIS

Not Altogether a Labor Issue— "Yellow Man" a Troublesome Element.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 25.—(Staff Special.)—Sizing up the Asiatic immigration problem in the west, the general conclusion may fairly be drawn that it has been brought to the critical stage by the influx from Japan. And this is one of the reasons why this cannot be called a labor issue. Labor rose with as much or more antipathy to the Hindus. What the coming of the Japs in large numbers did in British Columbia was to put a head upon just such a dangerous race division as the white people in the Southern States have on their hands. Hitherto to the Asiatics in British Columbia, for the most part Chinese, have been material in the labor market, and nothing more. As the blacks have been the labor upon which the south could depend without anxiety until education began to turn their eyes to broader fields, so the Chinese in British Columbia would have continued for years to be absorbed by the mines, mills and railroads west of the Rockies had the Japanese not come among them with their high intelligence and efficient ideas concerning the exceptional advantages offered in the province to the yellow man. In British Columbia the Japanese cannot but prove a troublesome element. They intend to reap all the advantages of citizenship, aided not only by their own intelligence, but by their purposeful combination in every employment, whilst they can and will never become citizens of Great Britain. The very wealth of the Pacific province, as well as the highly-paid labor obtaining along every phase of development, either under way or contemplated, must continue to invite them, and it requires no exaggerated stretch of vision to see a possible future for that part of Canada with the whites standing in proportion to the Asiatics no larger than that of the blacks in the Southern States of the republic.

It has been said that the British Columbia states often a free field and no favor to all comers, foreign alike with native. Had the foreigners only come from the United States all would have been well. Canadian and British capital was slow in penetrating the "sea of mountains" and naturally there was a "welcome" sign hung out along the border to the investor from the United States. The American capitalist brought American labor, and the only result of that was to render the lot of the Canadian employer of labor more thorny. Some strange stories are told in the border towns of the actions of walking delegates from the south among the workmen on the Canadian side. The British subject had no such liberty in the State of Washington as his United States competitor, whether of the employers or the employed, had on Canadian soil. And, of course, the Japanese had no show at all in the State of Washington. The law was against them as foreigners and the labor unions practically told the employers from time to time what they had to do.

The Japanese have found British Columbia a happy hunting ground indeed. The scarcity of labor ensures every able-bodied Jap some species of employment, and the laws of the province are as free to the Japanese investor as to the man of money from Spokane, St. Paul or Seattle. What then is going to happen? Perhaps this is the question that the States of the Pacific coast are asking. The Japanese have sprung up along the Pacific Coast of the Dominion as soon as the Japanese labor now being attracted and misdirected in the existing industries becomes available. At least such are the possibilities in the popular perspective of white British Columbia to-day. Therefore, white British Columbia has grown vociferous in resolving that British Columbia shall remain a white man's country. The legislators, who have discovered its helplessness to comply with the popular demand, the situation depends upon Ottawa, altho the government at Ottawa conveys the idea that the co-operation of both the Imperial and Japanese Governments may be obtained and is essential in the next effort at restriction. Obviously, the government at Ottawa interprets the British North America Act in the light of the authorities at Victoria. And the opinion is further expressed at Victoria that Mr. Chamberlain, when in power, interestedly least, supported the view of British Columbia to the same extent that he admitted the authority of the Dominion in the dispute, or rather strategy, over it. It is a question, of course, of the great constitutional lawyers, and certain it is that because of the international responsibility having to be borne by the Imperial government, the leaders of both parties at Ottawa will be cautious and slow in taking such action as the popular feeling throughout British Columbia demands. It was significant that Mr. R. L. Borden, upon the day of his arrival in Vancouver, professed not to understand the question sufficiently to be able to express an opinion, but a few days later, after he had conferred with the provincial Conservative leaders, he gave utterance to the popular view, which The World in these letters has reiterated after having fully investigated the situation, and probed the deliberate convictions of citizens of representative standing thereon. Mr. Borden was candid when he put it: "I am willing to agree with the people of the west that if the present conditions continue the immigration from China and Japan will mean the driving out of the white people from British Columbia. The question really is whether the province shall be dominated by subjects of the mikado or by Canadians."

Mr. Borden is candid because he plainly follows the popular opinion he

HOW BIG A GLASS OF ALE IS A MAN ENTITLED TO?

A Matter of Interest to a Good Many Citizens—Some Places Serve Large Glass, Others Small—Which Should Regulate?

Editor World: Having been only a short time in your city, I would like to ask for a little information. Now, occasionally, I take a glass of ale, but keep none in my home, so I go into an hotel bar, when I feel I want a glass of ale. In some places I am served with a very small glass and one-third froth. If I object I am insulted by the gentlemanly bartender and asked if I wish a bath. Now, I think when I pay for a glass of ale I have a right to what I pay for. I think this is something a license inspector should give his attention to. Hoping you will excuse me for bringing such a trifling matter before the public, I am very sincerely yours, George Hartwell, 103 Borden-street.

The above letter suggests a rather interesting line of thought and has received from The World a quiet but thorough investigation. Howard Saxby, the Eugene Field of Cincinnati, once enquired: "Why is it that when a man goes into a saloon for a drink of whiskey he always says to the bartender, 'Give me a little whiskey?'" "Because he knows that he is going to help himself." In England, a man buys liquor—at least the "hard stuff" by liquid measure, and pays so much for a given quantity. On this side of the ocean he is permitted to help himself. In the United States, the bartender hands out to the customer a little whiskey glass, which is supposed to hold a gill, and the customer fills it to the brim. As a matter of fact, it seldom happens that a customer more than half fills the glass, and a rule, it is not more than one-third filled. Big hotels in reckoning upon the "issues" to the saloon department figure upon so many drinks as to be a matter of course.

In Canada the bartender sets out to the whiskey-drinker a great big glass, which is nearly a pint, but he trusts the customer not to overdo, and he would get it if he were buying by measure or weight. Not Regulated. Now to revert to the matter called to your attention by our correspondent, we find that of course a man who wants a beer should not take chances by filling a glass to the brim. In the nature of things, he cannot be allowed to help himself. It would be impossible to have the customer select his own glass and draw his own beer. It is apparently in the hands of the wine clerk or bartender to determine how much of the wine or fluid he will push out in return for the money. There does not appear to be any statute, order-in-council, or license regulation to determine how much beer, or a man shall get for so. Evidently, he should get a reasonable amount, but it is not clear how much that is. A transparent and a teapoonful of beer to a customer, while on the other hand the customer should not expect to get so.

When Rushing the Can. In the United States, where lager beer is very extensively used, there is a man known as the "growler" trade. People and their homes for a pitcher of beer and they are supposed to get a pint for five cents. For the "growler" trade is reserved the beer first drawn from the keg, which is too "wild" or fresh for the bar customer and is poured into a receptacle. The dregs and leavings of the keg are put into this receptacle; also the nocht-vechters or "night watchers" as the Germans call them, for the ordinary trade will not drink lager beer which has stood over night. All this stuff goes to make up the material which is pushed out as far as possible to the growler trade. The customer who comes into the bar and buys a glass of beer over the counter expects to get it cold, reasonably fresh and lively, and he expects to have his taste catered to by shining glasses, bar-tenders in immaculate white, and the chance to converse with and tell his troubles to some one. This attendance is worth something, so the hotel men insist. Glasses Differ. In Toronto we find the ale or beer glasses vary in size from six ounces to 12 ounces. The ordinary glass served at the ordinary bar is a six-ounce glass, composed of thin glass almost straight, the flaring slightly towards the top. This glass really holds as much as the big thick glass or "schooner" style of glass. There is a difference of course between the quantity served in a hotel and the quantity served in a home. The latter is mostly water, and the former is mostly liquor, bankers, merchants and the like, and smaller customers are mostly laboring men returning from work. The man who has been working in a rolling mill all day and wants a drink before going to supper, expects a big glass, and as a rule he is served without objection, with a glass containing from 10 to 12 ounces. On the other hand a man leading a sedentary life, coming into a down town hotel and with a party where there is bound to be several drinks bought, does not wish a 12 ounce schooner pushed out on the first round. It is part of the bartender's business to size up his customer generally, and to size up the particular customer before him. In many of the down town saloons a six ounce glass is pushed out unless the customer calls for more, and in nearly all of these if he should call for a big glass he would get a ten ounce glass without question.

A Matter of Choice. It would be very difficult to regulate this matter by any order from the inspectors. Many a customer, in certain places, would be as much offended by having a big schooner put out in front of him as others in different places would be offended by having a small glass put out. Perhaps the best way to get to an understanding would be to have every place's handle two different sizes of glasses, and require the customer to call for the size he desires. As to having too much froth on the ale we find that this depends largely upon how freshly the keg has been tapped. A freshly tapped keg is always wild, while a keg opened for some time and getting down to the dregs, is inclined to be flat. Some people like their beer wild, while others like it flat. In conclusion, while in certain cases evidence may be found to support and strongly support the complaint of our correspondent, it is not generally true that there is much criticism from consumers as to the quantity of beer served in this city. The World does not pretend to have exhausted the subject, and it is not impossible that further data might be furnished by gentlemen who have had some experience on either side of the bar.

McCANN'S WERE PARTED ON THEIR WEDDING TOUR

Adventure of St. Catharines' Groom Who Went to Get Shaved in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—"Parted on their bridal tour" is not often seen in real life, but that name might well be applied to a domestic drama enacted in Buffalo to-day and yesterday. The action started in St. Catharines, Ont., on Monday morning, and the happy denouement occurred in the afternoon in a boarding house at No. 262 Carolina-street in this city. William McCann is 28 years old. McCann, after a courtship lasting several years, journeyed from St. Louis to wed his sweetheart, a bright eyed beauty of St. Catharines. They arrived here about 11 o'clock Monday morning and engaged a room at the Carolina-street house. At 4 o'clock the bridegroom went to a barber. He had never been in Buffalo before, and knew absolutely nothing about the city or the streets. About 6 o'clock Monday night, when the chill of the evening was coming on, Patrolman Conboy of the Pearl-street Police Station encountered a lonely man wandering aimlessly along West Tupper-street. He approached and asked, "Say, I'm lost. Can you tell me where I am? I have all the money and my wife is helpless and penniless alone." Patrolman Austin Roche was detailed to try and find the unfortunate man's wife. At 8 o'clock this afternoon, the two policemen and the wandering husband walked up to the door of the house at 262 Carolina-street. The wife was there. Her uncle was there, too, having been telegraphed for from St. Catharines. Explanations were accepted.

NO WORK FOR DOCTORS HAPPY TIME IS COMING Will Be Replaced by Public Health Officers Who Will Prevent Disease. LONDON, Oct. 2.—The change the practice of medicine is undergoing was the keynote of several addresses made by leading London doctors at the opening of the winter session of the medical schools connected with the London hospitals. The speakers said the day was coming when the doctors in private practice would disappear and be replaced by the public health officer, whose work would lie in the prevention rather than in the cure of disease. Dr. Ewart told the students that the profession was in the throes of a double crisis, economical and professional. He declared that the growing success in reducing the prevalence of disease and the growth of specialism had contracted the field of general practice and the process was inevitable to continue. He said it was inevitable that the profession should be come more and more the servant of the state. Henceforth its members must devote themselves to the culture of health, preventing instead of curing disease. Other addresses of a similar nature were heard, one physician contending that things were moving toward the unique consummation of a calling by its own training and application destroying the very source upon which it depended for its living.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Moderate extension of the rally of yesterday afternoon seems likely in the stock market today, especially as regards the best stocks and issues that have been oversold for the time being. We would be cautious about following up too closely for the reason that the money string again assumes pre-eminence over other factors, now that the market has twice demonstrated by recovery, that what the president can do in view of the recent action of the courts, has largely been discounted so far as prices of values are concerned. Northern Pacific, reported well bought yesterday, shows a much stronger position and is apparently reaching for the old level of 133 to 134. An upward trend is again displayed by Union Pacific, Reading and Great Northern.—Financial.

SHERIFF IN ANTE-MORTEM BLAMES DEATH ON MINERS

BAKER CITY, Oregon, Oct. 2.—The Western Federation of Miners was accused of instigating the death of Harvey K. Brown, formerly sheriff of this county, in an ante-mortem statement made by the victim yesterday afternoon. Brown was blown up by a bomb as he was entering his front gate late Monday evening, the outrage being in many respects similar to that which destroyed former Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho. The ante-mortem statement reads: "I was on my way home from uptown last night when I met a man in front of a residence which is a block away from my house, and spoke. The man made no reply. This man was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, his weight was 165 pounds. He wore a brown suit and a celluloid collar, and was clean-shaven. I have been conscious of having been followed for three weeks, and I have no doubt that those who attempted my life are persons connected with the Western Federation of Miners, and that I was marked for death on account of my connection with the Steunenberg and Steve Adams cases."

Brown died soon after making the statement. Brown arrested Steve Adams at Rainier when the latter was wanted as a witness in the Steunenberg case, and he testified at the trial of Adams in Wallace, when the latter faced a jury on the charge of having murdered a claim-jumper.

Captures Live Deer. LINDSAY, Oct. 2.—A live deer has been captured by William Shields, near Janetteville, and he has the animal now in his barn. It followed his cattle home, where it was caught by two men scaling up behind it and grabbing it by the hind legs.

Annual Meeting in Montreal—Acquiring Lines and Buying Lake and Ocean Vessels.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. to-day, the report of the directors was unanimously adopted.

The directors met immediately after the meeting of shareholders, at which meeting Sir William Van Horne was elected chairman of the board; Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the company; and David McNeill, vice-president; and the following were appointed the executive committee: Sir William C. Van Horne (chairman), and Right Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Mr. Richard B. Angus, Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy and Mr. David McNeill.

A resolution was passed authorizing a lease of the St. Mary's and Western Ontario Railway.

An issue of four per cent. debenture stock was authorized for the following purposes:

For acquisition of bonds of the Northern Colonization Railway, 94 miles, not exceeding $20,000 per mile. For additional issue on Sudbury branch not exceeding $10,000 per mile, for 22 miles.

For two lake steamers, $180,000 sterling, and one Pacific coast steamer, $125,000 sterling.

For Regina, Saskatchewan branch, 165 miles, and for extension of St. Mary's branch, 100 miles, at $4,000 sterling per mile.

The board was authorized to arrange for the construction or acquisition of the Pacific coast steamer, large and faster than the existing service, transferring the Empire of Britain and Empress of Ireland to the Pacific and to incur necessary capital expenditure therefor.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in the course of his remarks at the 26th annual meeting of the C. P. R. to-day, moving the adoption of the annual report, stated, in referring to the upward springing of the annual dividend of 25 per cent. in the shrinkage of wheat as compared with last year. There will, however, be a very considerable increase in the quantity of wheat available for export, and a high price of wheat will receive in aggregate quite as much for their produce as they did last year for their wheat.

Sir Thomas said that unless the business of the country had a serious setback, and there was no present ground for such an apprehension, in the foreign policy will proceed from year to year.

In carrying out these plans the shareholders will be asked to sanction the issue of the balance of the ordinary shares capital already authorized to be used as required.

Speaking of the company's land as a whole, Sir Thomas stated that the 8,000,000 acres of the original grant which now remains unsold will yield on the average a price per acre considerably higher than heretofore realized. By the end of the present season 361 miles of canals and ditches will have been completed in the western section of the irrigation block, sufficient to water 210,000 acres. The cost of this work will be about $5.50 per acre.

Sir Thomas believes that it will be profitable to irrigate further tracts along their main line east of Calgary. There are now in the service of the company 74,000 officers and employees, with a monthly pay roll of $3,700,000.

MARKET RELAPSES INTO DULNESS.

World Office, Wednesday Evening, Oct. 2. Yesterday's splurge at the Toronto market exhausted most of the energy left in that institution, as business relapsed again to-day to about the normal record. There were no new demonstrations attempted to-day, and those having a watchful eye over their specialties were quite satisfied that the liquidation was no larger. The buyers are few and far between, as there is still a want of confidence in the market for the next few months. Less is heard of money tightness here, but it is still difficult to borrow on securities.

COBALT Larder City Progressive Progress in the Season --- COBALT

Story of the Work Done at the Gold Camp During the Season.

World Office, Wednesday Evening, Oct. 2.

The discovery of free gold at Larder man and Kerr-London prospecting parties has resulted in the growth of a gold camp which to-day gives abundant proof of possessing great possibilities.

The location of any trail or route to Larder is so well-known to-day that it is unnecessary to go into the details.

This town is called Larder City, and presents to-day a very thrifty appearance. Over fifty buildings have been erected. These are all constructed of logs, but are neatly built.

Larder City is the headquarters of over four hundred people. There is a large general store, a hardware store, restaurant, blacksmith-shop, drug store, poolroom, photograph gallery, bakery, hotel and a saw-mill nearly completed.

The annexed table will give some interesting statistics of the summer's work at the principal properties which have been visited by The World's correspondent.

Table with columns: Name of Property, Number of Claims, Area in Acres, Men Employed, Camp Buildings, Machinery.

"The Man on the Spot" will find a series of letters giving details of development work done on the following Larder properties: Chesterville, Lucky Boys, Redick, Kerr-London, Addison, Proprietary, Bernard's Point, Tighe-Larder, Gold King, Harris Maxwell, Richardson, Blue Bell.
