RUSSIANS LOSE ANOTHER FIGHT

Reported Defeated Again with Heavy Loss.

Russian Volunteer Fleet Declared to Have Violated International Law—Complications Feared

LONDON, July 22.—A despatch to the Central News from Tokyo says there is reason to believe that a severe fight lasting all day occurred on July 19 at Kai Tou, north of Mo Tien Pass.

Another despatch to the Central News from Tokyo says that a telegram from the front announces that the engagement north of Mo Tien Pass was precipitated by the Russians who attacked the Japanese position at Sich-layen westward of Kaitou. After severe fighting the Russians were repulsed. The Japanese casualties were over two hundred. The Russian losses were heavy.

NEW CHWANG, July 21 (Midnight)—Quite an excitement has been caused here by the report that the Japanese are advancing in this direction and are at Tan Ping Shan, which is twelve miles distant. Yesterday heavy firing was heard here for a short time not far away. There are few Russian troops now in this place.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—The Official Messenger prints the following from Liao Yang, dated July 20: "Our left flank yesterday withstood a powerful onslaught of the enemy. Reinforcements were sent out. The Caucasian Mounted Brigade left Liao Yang this morning."

The above evidently refers to the Japanese advance reported by the Associated Press from Ta Chue Kiao yesterday on the northern Saimatshai straits since the Smolensk and it is believed that Great Britain will protest against the further passage of the Dardanelles by the Russian steamers unless the government promises that the vessels are not to be destined to act as cruisers.

ALEXANDRIA, July 22.—The British cruiser Venus, which arrived here yesterday, sailed today. Her destination was not given.

RUSSIAN PIRATES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 22.—The passage of the Russian volunteer fleet steamers through the Dardanelles under a commercial flag and their subsequent hoisting of the Russian ensign is considered here to be a violation of international law, rendering the vessels liable to be captured by the British Mediterranean fleet which intercept the Malacca. No further steamers have traversed the straits since the Smolensk and it is believed that Great Britain will protest against the further passage of the Dardanelles by the Russian steamers unless the government promises that the vessels are not to be destined to act as cruisers.

ALEXANDRIA, July 22.—The British cruiser Venus, which arrived here yesterday, sailed today. Her destination was not given.

JAPS CRITICIZED.

LIAO YANG, July 22.—In the course of an interesting interview with an Associated Press correspondent, General Renssenkamp, who was recently wounded and is now in a hospital, coolly criticized the Japanese as not up to the mark and said the Japanese relied upon the quantity rather than the quality of their fire. The general declared that the Japanese were over slow and cautious. This criticism may be somewhat discounted, however, by the fact that General Renssenkamp himself is one of the boldest and most dashing commanders in the Russian army. General Renssenkamp paid the highest tribute to the engineering skill of the Japanese. Their fortifications, he said, are marvels of completeness, well constructed, located and manned. He frequently used field telephones connecting their batteries and have excellent maps, many of which are marked. "The Japanese are a cunning and dangerous foe," said General Renssenkamp, "but he is not awful. He is a slave to system lacking the necessary dash and willingness to take chances that would make him a most formidable foe."

CHICAGO STRIKE RENEWED.

Employers Violated Their Agreement and Butchers' at Once Went Out Again.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The packing house strike was today ordered renewed in Chicago and other cities. Violation of agreement by the packing house proprietors is assigned as the reason. The following telegram was sent by President Donnelly to all the employees of the various packing houses in the different cities affected by the strike: "Order out all the departments again. Companies violated agreement."

HIS VIEW OF IT.

"Did you go into the poker game with those strangers?" "Well, at the time I thought I went in, but as I think it over now I incline to the belief that it was taken in."

GEORGE GEE DIED LIKE A BRAVE MAN.

Walked to the Scaffold Without a Tremor—Ready and Glad to Die, He Said—His Last Statement.

WOODSTOCK, July 22.—With his head held high and with step as steady as when he marched as a soldier, George G. walked to the scaffold this morning and paid with his life for the murder of Millie Gee, committed on March 16th. Not for an instant did his nerve fail. During the trying hours of the night, during the last awful walk, he was as cool and self-contained, as he has been throughout his imprisonment. Not a hitch marred the execution. All that he had to do was to stand and wait until the executioner came to the gallows, and then he was ready to die.

The body hung for twelve and a half minutes before the physicians pronounced G. dead and it was fully half an hour later before the body was cut down and handed over to the friends of the family, who took it this morning to Holmsville, where the interment will take place on Saturday.

Gee's execution was the one topic of conversation about the streets this morning, and it was discussed by a number of people there are naturally various stories as to the details of the execution. All agree, however, that the hanging was done in a remarkably quick time. From the time George walked up the steps till the trap dropped he did not move more than half a minute. The work was done so quickly that it is generally believed that G. did not know what happened.

The body was handed over to Gee's friends about 8 o'clock this morning. A team was in readiness at the jail and at once started on their long drive to Holmsville. The family are making elaborate preparations for the funeral, which it is expected will be the largest ever held in Carleton County. The general feeling throughout the county is favorable to the boy, and it was carried so far that certain dealers said they would not sell the lumber necessary for the gallows.

This morning several boards were knocked off the enclosure and the general public took possession of small boys had a good time and assisted by people whom one would not expect to see at a public execution. The boys were tripping the fall. The structure will be torn down as soon as the sheriff can get the job. All agreed that the gallows, when asked to assist in the removal desired to have anything to do with the rope used in the execution has been cut in a thousand bits, and almost everybody here has a souvenir. For two days before the execution the rope was subjected to a severe test. It was fastened to a beam in a barn and a moving machine was used as a weight.

The morning of the last day that G. was in the jail, he was found him cheerful and talkative. He laughed over the remembrance of past happy times and admitted that his hunting exploits seemed to give him the greatest of pleasure. The thought that he was never more to roam through the trees, hunting and camping as in former days did not awaken any sense of bitterness within him. Towards the people of Woodstock towards his judge and jury, even to the hangman himself, G. expressed only feelings of gratitude. G. said: "I am glad I met this man, he's all right and seems to be a fine fellow."

G. had a good sleep the night before, and said he would sleep all right the next night if it wasn't for this affair. He had courage to meet his end, but the suspense, told on him. "I wonder just what time it is going to take place," he said, "I would like to know just the time. I have not many hours to live, but I will be all right when the time comes. I don't think there will be any change in me. I am not making any preparations for it. I'll just go out as I am, and it won't take long before everything will be over."

As the afternoon wore on G. was the most unmoved of all present. At the service held in the corridor G. offered up a simple prayer, in a firm and steady voice, asking God for forgiveness and strength. Several ladies were present and sang at his request, "Where his Lewis I Will Follow." All except the prisoner were moved to tears by the sad occasion. Radcliffe was deeply affected. The tears coursed down his cheeks, and he wept continuously as he joined in the service. "God Bless You" was the last hymn and all departed after shaking hands with G.

Throughout the evening crowds thronged the streets of Woodstock, passing and re-passing the jail. Outside of the prisoner's window was a dense mass of people all trying to get a look at him. From his seat in his cell G. could see them standing there, but he did not seem to care. "Just look at the crowd, trying to see me through the window," he said and added, "There is a lot of curious people in this world, but they have been very kind to me and I don't complain."

Inside the jail the officials and the men in the low, gray tones, discussed the arrangements for the execution. Radcliffe would repeatedly walk over to the gallows, which by the way were his own invention, testing the rope, the trap, and the catch, adjusting

Doctors Fear Death from Blood Poisoning. Cimmiok Lay Awake All Last Night and Heard Them Hanging George Gee.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 22.—Dr. Cummings was at the jail early this morning to see Cimmiok. The old man did not sleep at all last night in consequence of the excitement over the Gee execution. His cell is the one nearest to the door that leads to scaffold, and the sound of the drop was plainly heard by him.

As soon as the officials were astride this morning he asked that Dr. Cummings be sent him, and his request was at once granted. The physicians are now of the opinion that he cannot live, as they expect that the bullet will eventually cause blood poisoning. He has nothing further to say and his son who is in the cell next to him is naturally silent.

SYDNEY STRIKE OFF.

Miners Acknowledge Defeat and Go Back to Work at Old Rate of Wages.

(Special to the Star.) SYDNEY, N. S., July 22.—At a meeting of the general council of the P. W. A., held this morning, it was formally decided to declare the strike at the steel works off, and permit the men to return to work at the rate of wages in force prior to the strike. The settlement was brought about through the good offices of the deputy minister of labor, W. L. MacKenzie King.

In view of the general weakening in the ranks of the P. W. A., coupled with the depletion of their defence fund and the unwillingness of the miners to come out in sympathy, there was no alternative left to the steel workers but acknowledge defeat and return to work.

Most of the men will be given their former positions. There is considerable relief in business circles in the city over the termination of the strike, which lasted nearly eight weeks, the men having been called out on June 1st. There were 1800 men involved in the strike.

AGE OF GREATEST MENTAL FORCE.

The mind is at its highest power between the ages of forty and sixty, if we take the great authors as examples. Swift was fifty-nine when he wrote "Gulliver's Travels"; John Stuart Mill was fifty-six when he published "Utilitarianism"; his essay on "Liberty" was written three years previously; while Sir Walter Scott wrote "Waverley" after forty. Milton wrote "Paradise Lost" between fifty-four and fifty-nine; Cowper wrote "The Task" and "John Gilpin" after fifty; Defoe wrote "Robinson Crusoe" at fifty-seven; Thomas Hood wrote "The Song of the Shirt" and "The Bridge of Sighs" at forty-six; Darwin's "Origin of Species" was evolved after fifty, and his "Descent of Man" after sixty. Longfellow wrote "Hiawatha" at forty-eight; Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote "Songs in Many Keys" after fifty-five. Bacon's greatest work took fifty-nine years to mature, and Grose's "History of Greece" a few years longer.

A CLEAN CAMPAIGN.

If Theodore Roosevelt runs the coming presidential campaign as he says he will and is elected next November, the so-called "practical" politician will have to begin and learn his trade all over again.

In the United States, as elsewhere, elections are not, as a custom, "made with a clean sweep." There, as in some other countries, the party which has the control of the patronage and which can accumulate the largest campaign fund, is usually conceded to have a great advantage. And during a presidential election the patronage power and the "cash" have heretofore been worked to their full extent.

In the last two elections the Republican party has had the advantage on both points. Naturally it has had a monopoly of the office promising and free silver advocacy of the Democrats, had the practically unanimous support of the great financial interests of the country. For the coming contest, supposing both sides were to fight with equal unscrupulousness, the chances would be more nearly even, as it is well known that Wall street, the financial index of the country and the greatest contributor to the campaign fund, is as heartily opposed to Roosevelt as it was to Bryan.

In the face of all this, it is stated that the president has declared that he will throw away whatever illegal advantages he has; that he is determined to run a clean campaign and will not buy votes either with money or the promise of office. Under usual conditions such a declaration would be meaningless as the campaign manager would arrange this to suit himself regardless of the candidate's scruples. But in this case the nominal manager is Mr. Cortelyou, formerly the president's private secretary, who was appointed at the president's demand in the face of the determined opposition of the machine politicians. This means that the real director of the contest will be Mr. Roosevelt himself and that he will be in a position to carry out any campaign policy he chooses.

The Democrats are standing on no such high ground, and considering their unenvied alliance and their long absence from power, it is not likely that they will. So, if President Roosevelt will have the declaration attributed to him, this election promises to be something entirely new. If, fighting clean handed against the free use of money, he wins, Mr. Roosevelt will have done his country a service that will far outweigh anything else that stands to the credit of his remarkable career of honorable and effective work for the public good. If he loses, however, as the politicians say he will if he persists in his folly of refusing to arm himself equally with his opponent, he will only be classed as another rattle-brained Quixote who charged impossible windmills.

The risk is a big one, but for a man of Roosevelt's calibre the game is worth the while.

GEORGE GEE.

The qualities in George Gee that enabled him to die as he did would have made him a strong man and a valuable citizen had he been rightly directed.

There is no evidence of any innately violent trait in the lad. The crime for which he has paid the penalty was the outcome of passion which no attempt had ever been made to control, inflamed by intoxicants in which he had freely indulged, apparently without parental hindrance, from his boyhood. He had the power to win the liking of all his acquaintances and that he possessed unusual courage is proved by his dying.

With that courage to strengthen him, with those passions, well under control, to stimulate him, and with the moral ideas that an upbringing under good influences would have given to govern him, George Gee might have been a pride to his community instead of a horrible dead thing to be pointed out as a warning.

And, as the lad did not choose his environment, who is to blame for his distorted life and the crime that brought it an end?

AS USUAL.

Another mission of the attorney general's undertaken at great expense to the province has failed. In spite of all his prophesies in spite of all his loud expressed confidence in the strength of New Brunswick's contention against the reduction of its representation in the Dominion parliament his case proved so weak that, after he had finished his argument, the imperial privy council did not even consider it necessary to listen to the argument in favor of the Dominion, but made their decision summarily. That power of ingenious gubblings, which gives Dr.

Pugsley his chief claim to legal eminence does not carry much weight with the common sense of the privy council. But of course there is a bright side to this as to every other matter. The province may be a little worse off but the attorney general has had a nice trip and is some thousands of dollars richer.

The remarkable discrepancy between the number of Russian and Japanese killed in the war correspondents' reports and in the official casualty lists is another proof of the truth of the saying: "The pen is mightier than the sword."

FORGIVENESS.

(By Alfred Austin).

Now hush with the dead years conflict dead, And with fresh days, let all begin anew, Why longer amid shrivelled leaf-drifts tread, When buds are swelling, flowers, sheaths the vernal through?

When buds are swelling, flowers, sheaths the vernal through? When buds are swelling, flowers, sheaths the vernal through? When buds are swelling, flowers, sheaths the vernal through?

How few men half the bitterness they speak! Words more than feelings keep us still apart, And in the heat of passion and of pride, The tongue is far more cruel than the heart; Since love alone makes it worth while to live.

Let all be now forgiven and forgive, From the Independent of June 2, 1904.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, July 21.—Hon. Mr. Fisher in reply to a question today said the amount paid out for taking the census was $1,188,728. The work is practically completed.

Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick gave a most unqualified denial to the report in the Mail and Empire that he was to be solicitor of the G. T. P. He said that the men exposed to be charged with all the crimes in the public calendar short of murder, but it was a different story when men were attacked professionally. The report in the Mail was an attack on him professionally, and he added, "that there is not the slightest truth in the report. No such offer was ever made, ever contemplated, and I never made the other day, but of course if he recovers this cannot be used against him. Carleton is a man who has known Clemmick for years and are satisfied that he is crazy and should be sent to the provincial lunatic asylum as soon as his health would allow of the long trip. Neighbors have noticed for some time that the man was acting queerly, and the news of the shooting was not such a big surprise to them as to outsiders. The doctor attending him at the asylum at St. John, and after several months' treatment was discharged as cured. He is a native of the United States, having been born in Lepreux. His sons seem fine fellows and feel very badly over the affair."

MURDERER IS WORSE; MAY DIE.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 21.—Thos. Clemmick, the man who shot his wife at Chapmanville a few days ago, was brought to the city this evening by Deputy Sheriff Foster and Officer Worton. Clemmick is now in the county jail, where he is being carefully looked after, receiving the best of attention. In a cell near the old man the son, who is accused of being an accessory after the deed, is confined, and is very anxious as to his father's condition. Dr. Cummings of Bath, who accompanied the officers and their prisoner here, was at first of the opinion that Clemmick would die, but was now inclined to believe that he will recover, although he says that the case is one of the most remarkable he ever heard of. The bullet entered the head back of the right ear, and all the doctor's efforts to locate it have failed. He has probed several times, and on each occasion without finding the lead. When the train arrived about 5:30 this afternoon Clemmick was out of the car and calmly took a seat in an open double seated carriage that Chief of Police Kelly had in waiting. Several officers were present, and Clemmick was escorted to the magistrate's office by a body-guard of men who have lately locked up Jesse James. Magistrate Dibbles read the charge to the prisoner, wifful murder, but he was not asked to plead and was committed to jail till Monday at 2 o'clock.

Clemmick is a man who holds his age well, and despite the many cuts and heavy bandages showed a clean and sharp countenance. His hair in his younger days was red, and his two sons who are now here resemble him greatly. One of the boys in jail, the other a half brother, were also discharged as cured. He is a native of the United States, having been born in Lepreux. His sons seem fine fellows and feel very badly over the affair.

PROVINCES LOSE.

LONDON, July 21.—In the judicial committee of the privy council the case of the Maritime Provinces against the Dominion of Canada, Aylesworth, K. C., spoke for two and a half hours, and Attorney General Pugsley one and a half hours before lunch. Aylesworth advanced a new line of argument on the interpretation of sub-section 4, section 51, of the British North America Act, contending that no reduction of the number of members of the Dominion Council takes place until there had been a readjustment. Increasing that number. He also gave a graphic historical review.

Pugsley's contention was that the four provinces named in section 51 of the Constitution Act were not included in the Dominion of Canada, including the territories and British Columbia.

After lunch the court decided it was not necessary to call on Pugsley, but reserved judgment.

Blake, speaking to the Canadian Press Association, said no comment is made here today on the whole of the dominion's contention.

Hon. Mr. Lennox speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, declared himself delighted with the result. It was a clear victory on every point of the dominion's contention.

CHURCH UNION. TORONTO, July 21.—The general committee of the Methodist church met here today and discussed church union. It was decided to increase the membership of the church union committee of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches. The following members from New Brunswick were appointed on the union committee:—

Clerical—Dr. Evans, Rev. Geo. Steele, Dr. Paisley. Lay members—Dr. Inch, Dr. Allison, H. E. Chipman, who died there some days ago. Mr. McLeod spent several months in St. John in 1902, when he preached in Calvin church. A call was extended to him to come here to take charge of the church, and the congregation of Calvin church speak very highly of the late gentleman's ability as a preacher.

ITALIANS LEAVING SYDNEY. About forty Italians arrived in the city yesterday from Cape Breton on their way to Montreal, where they intended to secure work. While they were at the depot, however, a telegram arrived from Montreal saying that there was no work there for Italians. Upon receipt of this intelligence about half of the Italians changed their route and bought tickets for Boston, while the rest determined to go to Montreal. They caused a lot of excitement while they remained at the depot.

REV. H. F. McLEOD DEAD. Montreal papers recently devoted considerable space to the late Reverend H. F. McLeod who died there some days ago. Mr. McLeod spent several months in St. John in 1902, when he preached in Calvin church. A call was extended to him to come here to take charge of the church, and the congregation of Calvin church speak very highly of the late gentleman's ability as a preacher.

OUR FAIR PRICE BANNER WAVES OVER ALL.

Our correspondent had a long chat with Gee this afternoon, in the course of which he expressed a desire to thank Sheriff Hayward and his wife for their kindness to him, also all the neighbors from which the bullet that ended Millie Gee's life came, but that the real murderer was Bennie Gee, as it was his conduct that caused the trouble. He was the man that he wanted to shoot, and once when he had the rifle pointed at him he was only prevented from shooting by the fact that Bennie's little children jumped in the bed in which their father was sleeping. The night he shot Millie he called her twice from the house, hoping in this way to entice Bennie from the house, but was unsuccessful. It was then that he overcame by ruse and being partially drunk the influence of liquor he fired the fatal shot. The door was closed at the time and he fired at random.

It was a few days previous to this that he persuaded the unfortunate girl to give up a good position as a domestic and go home with him, where he found her so intimate with Bennie Gee, whose wife was in Bangor, he in a fit of passion shot her. The only regret Gee has is that he did not kill her instantly. He never meant that she should suffer, but he now well satisfied he was wasting money if they fail to take advantage of the great sale that is now on at Dowling Brothers' store. Thousands of dollars worth of blouse waists are being sold at prices so astoundingly low that eager throngs crowd the store from morning till night.

To keep up the interest in Friday night shopping Messrs. Morrell & Sutherland have arranged another lot of special bargains for this week. Their advertisement on page four tells of some timely offerings which go on sale tonight at seven o'clock.

SHIP CREWMOOR BURNED.

The vessel reported in the Star yesterday to have been burned off Fire Island, a few miles from Eastport, was the full-rigged ship Creemoor, capt. William Humphreys, bound from New York to Liverpool, with a load of oil and naphtha. The Creemoor was a 40-ton ship and was built at Gardner's Creek, N. B., twenty years ago for Jas. Kennedy, of this city, who in 1884 transferred her ownership to the time of her destruction. The ship's commander, Capt. Humphreys, belongs to this city.

May Gould, a tourist from Fitchburg, Mass., met her death by falling over a cliff. She and a friend, Miss Caroline Pierce, also of Massachusetts, were descending a sharp incline when suddenly they came to the edge of a cliff. Both slipped over board they realised the danger of their situation, but immediately caught hold of shrubs, which held them for some time. Miss Gould became exhausted and dropped while Miss Pierce maintained her hold until rescued. Among the hundreds of dressmakers in this city are at least scores of GOOD ones. A woman who has a poor dressmaker is handicapped even more than the man with bungling tailor. And once again, here the wails offer to her full emancipation—for they will find for her the right dressmaker. Every dollar is a servant—and should be kept busy; else the servants become the masters. Work for dollars can be found through the want ads, as readily as work for men. To cure Headache in ten minutes use KUMFORD Headache Powders.

Gregory Lobb Charged by His Son With Ill-Treatment.

Gregory Lobb, a shoemaker, who resides on Grand street, was charged by his son, a bright looking lad about 16 years old, who charged his father with ill-treating him and meddling with his work.

The son until quite recently was employed by J. S. Gibbon & Co., but was discharged through the interference of his father. The father gave as his reason for seeking the discharge of his son from his employment with J. S. Gibbon & Co. that he wanted him home.

Lobb and his son have not lived together for some time. Magistrate Henderson told the boy to go back to J. S. Gibbon & Co. and request that his old position be given back to him. The magistrate urged him to live with his father, if possible, but that if he could not, to suit himself as to his place of abode.

NO COMPROMISE.

Statement that Local Opposition Wants a Sav-Of in City and County is False.

An article in today's Telegraph, the chief object of which was an attempt to make it appear that the local opposition party wants to compromise in the city and county, attracts considerable attention. It is intimated that an effort is being made to have the government consent to the unopposed election of M. E. Agar from the county in return for a similar favor extended to the government candidate in this city. It is also hinted that this candidate will be Mr. McKeown.

In a chat with the Star this morning, Miles E. Agar said that the only part of the Telegraph's article that at all concerned him was the paragraph intimating that the suggestion of a compromise was made in his interest. "I may say that I was not and am not a party to any such suggestion," he said. "When I accepted the unanimous opposition for the county, I did so fully determined to enter upon a contest. I am not at all inclined to be boastful, but I venture the opinion that the Telegraph's laughing at the suggested compromise is intended as a whetting to keep up courage more than anything else; and when the government has the courage to bring on the contest in the county it will discover that it will not have matters all its own way."

The town talk is that John Connor is the gentleman referred to by the Telegraph as the individual who had "approached the local government and calmly proposed to swap." The Star had an interview with Mr. Connor this morning. He said that he did not take too seriously all that the Telegraph said, either directly or indirectly, regarding him. He would not deny that he had talked over the subject matter of the Telegraph's article with more than a few prominent politicians within the past several days, all of whom were supporters of the local government.

He was not so selfish, however, he said, as to claim the origin of the suggestion. He felt that it was due to all parties that he should say that he was not the man who was directly or indirectly party to the suggestion. Indeed, from what he knew of his own mind, he was sure that if the course were clear in all other directions Mr. Agar would not be a party to any compromise.

Mr. Connor also stated emphatically that he had acted on his own responsibility and without the knowledge or concurrence of Mr. Hazen or any other of the leading members of the local opposition.

FRED GOSS BACK AGAIN.

He and the Hutchings Woman Again Meet in St. John—Police After Them

There came from Boston this morning a telegram addressed to Magistrate Ritchie, requesting that steps be taken to arrest Bessie Hutchings and Fred Goss, who the telegram intimated, were in St. John in hiding.

This information that Goss and the Hutchings woman had ventured back to the scene of their unlawful relations was in part corroborated this morning from another source. A person had written only yesterday the Hutchings woman in a house on Fort Howe.

It will be remembered that the Hutchings woman at the close of the hearing in the police court, left with her child for Newfoundland, her former home and arrived there according to a telegram received from her. Goss and his lawful wife, a few days later, went to Boston by boat. There must, however, have been a secret understanding between Goss and the Hutchings woman to return as soon as opportunity offered.

Magistrate Henderson this morning sent the police to find if the information contained in the telegram was true. So far Goss has not been located. The Hutchings woman is said to be staying with a certain Mrs. Moran, Fort Howe. When both are discovered they will be summoned before the police court.

The prisoner was sentenced to be hanged on Monday, September 12. Yesterday the taking of evidence was concluded and address of counsel were given. The judge charged the jury this morning.
