THE OUTLAW LIKED NOTORIETY

Fought Fierce Battles With Officers in 1897 After Committing Atrocities.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 12.-A special to the Enquirer from Steamboat suers. Springs, Col., says: Although the last exploit of Harry Tracy, which ended In his death, was by far his most notorious achievement, he is by no means a new star in the western firmament of crime. He was especially weil known in this neighborhood, where, in 1897, he was concerned in the killing of Ranchman Hoy and Deputy Sheriff Bell, and terrorized the law-abiding element until in sheer desperation a man hunt was started, which ended in his capture and the death of his com-

During the fight, which lasted for days, and which was only closed by the fact that Tracy's ammunition gave out, he displayed the same qualities of desperate courage which he did in his latest tour. When he was at last cornered, one of his two remaining companions dead and the other seriously wounded, without a cartridge left for his guns, he advanced on the deputy sheriffs with a clubbed gun, and seemingly paid no attention to the bullets which rained about him.

It was in Routt County, Col., that he conducted his first campaign in the field, and it is certain that on the knowledge gained while on this trip he based his actions during his most recent exploit.

KILLED 20 MEN. If Tracy's own statements are to be relied on he killed over 20 men in his lifetime, for the killings with which he was charged by the officers of the law by no means exhaust the list. During Tracy's stay here he became connected with the "Butch" Cassidy gang of outlaws, who made their headquarters in the "Hole in the Wall" country, in Johnson County, Wyom., but who had a private refuge in the Brown's Park country, in the corner of the three states of Utah, Colorado and Wyoming, and about 90 miles from

The Cassidy bunch usually consisted of ten or a dozen outlaws. They were allied with every cattle lifter in the three states, and many a man who is now respected by his neighbors was then in collusion with the gang.

FULL OF VENOM. Tracy lent venom to the Cassidy possible; and as the officers were equally careful to avoid them, no conflict ever occurred. But Tracy did not like this. He wanted to keep in the public eye as much as possible. To this end, when he heard that a deputy marshal had come to Baggs, Wyo., to apture nim, he Baggs and ordered the deputy out of town. He left. In 1897 the Cassidy gang robbed an express train at Malta, Mont., of $40,-000 and scattered to avoid arrest. It practically broke up the gang. Tracy, with Jack Bennett and another desperado, managed to get to the Hole in the Wall country, and from there worked down to Brown's Park.

W. S. Hoy was a wealthy ranchman, cowning several thousand acres of meadow land and as many head of cattle. While not on unfriendly terms with the outlaws, he had never favored them particularly. During his absence Tracy and Bennett came to his house and frightened the women folk, though he offered them no indignity. Hoy returned, and in a burst of anger, cursed Tracy and threatened to expose him to the officers. MURDER OF HOY. Not long after Hoy was shot from

Shortly before sunrise one morning Farnham led his men right on the outlaw camp. An exchange of shots | was fireproof. resulted in the killing of one outlaw, who was never identified. That afternoon the outlaws in their flight mounted a cleft in the mountains. It was so Farnham's guess as to the course taken by the outlaws was justified by Their trail showed that they intended to leave the park by a little known pass. Farnham posted his men on a high cedar-covered hill, completely commanding the pass. Finally they came. They were evidently about tired out and were moving very slowly through the snow.

SHOT TO KILL. Farnham waited until they got in range, and then gave the order to fire. No opportunity was given them to surrender. The first fire killed one of the three outlaws, and soon after another, who had thrown up his hands in token of surrender, went down with a flesh wound. Tracy alone battled on, making the best of his way through the snow in an attempt to escape, and steadily returning the fire of his pur-They fell down over the hill

WOMAN HAD 36 PATENTS

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 12 .- Mrs. Brid. get French, who held 36 patents on inventions, died here Saturday night, aged 72 years. She was born in Queens County; Ireland, settling in Rochester in 1850.

The most remarkable feature of Mrs. French's inventions is that she spent less than two hours on any of them. Scientists tried for many years to discover the principle involved in her plumbago oil, which consists of heavy powdered plumbago in perfect graduated suspension in limpid oil. Since this discovery in 1872 Mrs. French invented ten improvements for lubricating oils, securing patents on all of

Among other inventions by Mrs. French are a burglar-proof lock, an automatic car coupler, the first perfect steam sterilizer and cooking apparatus and a stovepipe damper with vent. This last simple device has saved thoutime allowing the gas to escape up the pipe. Another invention is a funnel over the head with his six-shooter because the herder would not give him ammunition, which Tracy thought he widely known in the manufacture of medicines Mrs. French led an extremely active life, her inventive genius remaining with her in her last years. Her last invention was a portable chimney that could be attached at the roof. It was made of a rough, fibrous material and

There was not the least sign of a struggle, and she lay as if she had never recovered from her sleep to know what struck her. table was found the following note, left by Mr. Sower:

STUFF SOLD FOR BOURBON

Bridewell Doctor Makes Interesting Discoveries Regarding Liquor.

Cincinnati, Aug. 10.-The unprecedented number of 41 cases of delirium tremens are being cared for at the Bridewell, and the officials went out to investigate. The result was astonishing, even to those who knew something about bad whisky. Dr. Charles Sceleth visited a levee resort and bought a bottle of something that was sold him as "bourbon." Taking it back to the Bridewell he poured and a minute later the meat had turned black. Then some of the liquor was applied to the top of a desk, and soon the varnish became softened. "No wonder we have so many cases of the tremens," said Dr. Sceleth.

That stuff is rank poison, and the only amazement is that men who drink it do not die outright. The human stomach can endure a good many abuses, but it can't stand for such stuff as this. The man who sold this liquor should be in the penitentiary.' More persons entered the Bridewell yesterday than on any day since the institution was opened, 1,408 being re-

Of the 41 tremens patients, 25 had to be strapped down to prevent them from doing violence to themselves or "Idle men and laborers coming here

"Particularly noticeable is the fact that young men make up the great majority of our prisoners. The bulk of the prisoners here range from 18 to 25 years of age. Vacation loosens the reins over boys, and so in the John Worthy school we have 398 boys, where generally 275 is a large number.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—Ontario has a large crop, and a private report dated Aug.4, says: "The recent hurricanes in some of the western sections have done more good than harm, as they have relieved a number of orchards of sur-plus fruit, which was badly needed in order to allow the residue to attain their normal growth." Regarding the Nova Scotia crop there are diverse opinions, both as regards quality and quantity, one dealer stating that he is more optimistic than some of his wellposted confreres, as he predicts a good average crop, whilst others say 70 to 75 per cent of an average. The apple crop of the United States will unque ionably be a good one, both as regards quality and quantity; the former being assured; but the degree of abundance appears to be somewhat Montreal advices under Thursday's date say: A million barrels of applels is the order which one Belleville dealer has received from an English house, and he has started buyers out to get the goods. The significance of this can be seen when it is remembered that a million barrels of apples would in most seasons in the past equal nearly the whole of Canada's export. This order is, therefore, far and away in excess of any order ever received before by a Canadian dealer. It indicates the high value placed upon Canadian apples and the possibilities for increasing the trade in this fruit. G. C. Creelman, superintendent of farmers' institutes, who has been traveling through the province lately, reports that there will be a good crop of apples in all sections."

BOUND TO PASS EDUCATION BILL

In Spite of Opposition Before Christmas.

LICENSING BILL HITS CLUBS

Comto Henri de la Vault's Ballooning Record-675 Kilometers in 19 Hours.

London, Aug. 11.—The great event of Saturday would naturally have been preceded by the prorogation of Parlia-ment, but the education bill, unless it perishes by its own weight, has to be passed. For that purpose Parliament, which began to sit in the middle of January, will resume its labors in the middle of October. Mr. Balfour, with the colloquial looseness which in a prime minister may be called inaccuracy, talks about an autumn session. A real autumn session would take up all bills afresh. The education bills, for example, would have to be brought in again. At an autumn sitting it will be taken up just where it was left. The Government has staked its reputation, if not its existence, on passing it before Christmas.

Clause seven, upon which too much time and energy have been expended, stands in the middle of the bill. It is, in fact, the central point of the meas-ure, for it deals with the management denominational schools upon which Tory churchmen and Irish Nationalists are determined there shall be no sur-

THE OPPOSITION.

The Nonconformists and Liberal churchmen are bound by their principle and pledges to make a firm stand on the rational and intelligible principle that there should be no payment of local rates without local control. The Bishop of Hereford, a broad minder, enlightened prelate, continues to urge in the columns of the Times his practical judicious compromise. He would have the board of management equally composed of representatives from the county council, representatives of the parish, and the council of trustees in proportion of one-third to each, but the church millitant will not

THE LICENSING BILL. The home secretary, Mr. Ritchie, has carried his licensing bill, and for that the Government reserves some credit, for though a small and modest proposal, it is sensible, practical and in the right direction. It aims a blow at drinking clubs, which, bad as the worst public houses, are at present beyond the control of the police. While attempts, more or less desperate, are being made to explain away the Liberal victory in North Leeds, the unopposed return of Mr. Shackleton for the Clitheroe division of Lancashire has attracted less notice than it deserves. The late member for Clitheroe, now Lord Shuttleworth, has ways been a mederate, though decided, Liberal. Mr. Shackleton belongs to the Independent Labor party, of which Mr. Keir Hardie has hitherto been the only spokesman in the House of Commons. It is highly desirable that the working classes should be peras well as constitutionall presented in the Commons, but Mr. Shackleton is not merely a working nan. He is an advanced socialist, and his unanimous election for a great Lancashire constituency must be regarded as a striking sign of the times. KING OSCAR A LIFESAVER.

A dispatch received from Stockholm reports that King Oscar today enacted the role of lifesaver. His majesty was yachting near Stockholm, when the Marstrand bridge, which was crowded with women and children, collapsed, Petit Goave Reduced to a Pile of Ruins | and a large number fell into the water. The king doffed his coat and aided in the rescue of 23 persons, who were placed aboard the royal yacht.

Comte Henri de La Vault has made a balloon ascent in the Aerbelub No. 2, from St. Could, Paris, and landed safely at Opoes, near Geldhausen, Hesse, having covered 675 kilometers in nineteen hours. ASTONISHED THE BERLINERS

The Men in Kahki Neither Brutes, Bears Nor Bullies-The Future of South Africa.

Berlin, Aug. 12 .- Dr. Kellner, the former burgomaster of Bloemfontein, who is a native of Charlottenburg, is spending a few days in Berlin. He has greatly astonished a German interviewer by the favorable nature of his testimony regarding the character of British officers and British warfare. Dr. Kellner started the conversation by observing that his sympathies were entirely with the Boers when the war broke out. He proceeded as follows: "I had previously warned them most seriously against war, but they would not listen to me, for they were firmly convinced they would defeat the Brit ish. Mr. Brand, who was an excellent president of the Orange Free State clearly foresaw the direction that af-fairs would take. On his deathbed he spoke to me the memorable words, The Boers desire to consolidate South Africa into one state. Well, it will be welded into one state, but only under British rule. Then South Africa will break away from British rule, just as did the North American colonies." "The first portion of this prophecy has been fulfilled. Will South Africa one day become independent imagine that things there will shape themselves much as they have done in Australia."

KRUGER AND STEYN. Dr. Kellner proceeded at the interviewer's request to give his opinion of the most prominent personalities in the war. He declared that Mr. Steyn was "not a wise man." He had allowed himself to be completely dominated by Mr. Kruger. His friends regarded that as a virtue, and said, "Kruger and Steyn fit to ether like cap and head."

"Most true," his opponents were ac-customed to rejoin, "but Kruger is the head and Steyn the cap.' Of Mr. Kruger himself, Dr. Kellner said that he was a stubborn man, who desired to remain president at all costs. He might have remained president and South Africa have retained its independence, if he had followed Mr. Cecil Rhodes' advice. GERMAN SLANDERS.

The interviewer asked if the German eports regarding cruelty of British warfare were correct.
"The British, as I have learned to mow them," was the answer, "are entlemen. It stands to reason that e nation which rules the world must be a noble nation." The former burgomaster described the proceedings of Lord Roberts, "A distinguished gentleman from head to foot," and of he army at and after the capitulation of Bloemfontein, and Heroic Lad's Fearful Sufferings—First added that the promise made by Lord Roberts that the city should suffer no damage was most faithfully fulfilled. The interviewer next tried his fortune with the concentration camps, and was told that unusually cold weather was the main cause of the large percentage of deaths. The sympathy of the British with the miseries of the Boer inhabitants of the camps, and their ultimately successful efforts to relieve these miseries, ought, said Dr. Kellner, to be the more highly appreciated, because they themselves were at the time suffering keen deprivation. BEGINNING AND END.

regard to the origin of the war, Dr. Kellner asserted that its immediate causes were to be found in the antag onisms aroused by the agitation of the Bond, under Mr. Schreiner and Mr. Hofmeyer, who incited the Republican Boers to hostilities, while remaining themselves secure from all personal risk. The result of the war was never n doubt, after the appearance of Lord Roberts on the scene. "Do you mean to say," asked the astonisher interviewer, "that the Boers were absolutely forced to peace?" "I do," was the reply. "The appearance of individual Boers towards close of the struggle showed that the commandoes were getting into a desperate condition. The prisoners brought in offered a terrible picture, with their ragged clothing and their emaciated figures. Food and ammunition were exhausted. Hunted from all sides, they were compelled to conclude peace. The game was up."

PROSPEROUS FUTURE. The interviewer next asked if the result of the war would be beneficial to the annexed states. "Most certainly,"
Dr. Kellner responded, "for freedom progress are with Great Britain. All British colonies prosper, and the Transvaal and the Orange Colony are approaching a prosperous future. could already sell several of my es tates at a higher price than they would have fetched five years ago, but I shall not realize, for they will become still more valuable with time."

"Will it surprise you to hear," Dr. Kellner concluded, "that before the war Dewet, whose military genius ex-Kellner concluded, cites our unstinted admiration, long to the party in the Volksraad which, because it contested all reform, was known as 'the skid'? Dewet opposed the construction of railways in the Orange Free State with all his force. Railways, he said, meant the influx of foreigners and British. What a contrast is here furnished with the new government, which is thinking of expending 30,000,000 marks on the development of our railway net! and the new rulers have come, and we hope that a period of renewed happi ness is dawning for the Boers." The foregoing interview, which might dispel many German illusions, published on Saturday in the Lokalanzeiger. With one exception the Berlin evening papers have carefully refrained from reproducing it.

Garforth, 17 years old, No. 4155 Terrace Hospital in a very precarious condition. Both of the young men were employed at the Imperial woolen mills, on the canal bank, below Rector street Manayunk. During the dinner hour the two, along with other employes, start ed to play ball along the canal bank. Near by was a large tank, 15 feet long, 6 feet deep and about 4 feet in width, sunk in the ground to within a foot of the top, and used to collect the exhaust steam and water from the mill engines, the water being at a temperature of about 200 degrees. PULLED IN BY HIS FRIEND. Garforth, in trying to catch the ball, stumbled over the portion of the tank above ground, and fell backward into three feet of water. Carr, who saw his mishap, ran to his rescue. In reaching down into the tank Carr lost his bal ance when Garforth grasped his hand and fell in on top of his friend. Thinking the water was deeper than it really was, Carr, although suffering excruciating pain, immediately struck out, and swam around in the tank, managing to keep Garforth's head above the water.

The agonizing cries of the two attracted the other players, who hurried to their rescue. The boys were pulled out after being in the boiling water fully three minutes, and hurried to St. Timothy's Hospital. Care was parboiled from head to foot, while Garforth was badly scalded over his entire body, except the head.

This was regarded as negligence upon the part of the parent, and when a jury in the circuit court awarded a verdict of $10,000, the company regarded it as excessive, and carried the case to the supreme court, where the judgment was set aside. The Iron and Steel Bounties.

The Dominion Iron and Steel Com pany has brought suit against the Do-Government for $200,000, alleged the company for bounties under the act of 1897. The Government that the company in the manufacture of steel makes use of molten iron taken direct from its blast furnaces, while the act authorizes a bounty only on steel made from pig fron.

to which the growth of the iron and steel industry in Canada is bearing upon the public exchequer. Since 1883 a bounty has been offered on pig iron made in Canada. In 1897 Parliament also authorized a bounty of $3 per ton on steel ingots when not less than 50 per cent of the ingredients was Canadian-made pig iron; also a bounty of $3 per ton on puddled iron bars made from Canadian pig iron. The bounty proportion produced from Canadian ore and $2 a ton on the proportion produced from foreign ore. The Government chose the bounty system in preference to raising the duties, which would have been detrimental to the vast iron and steel using industries of the country. It was wisely determined, however, that the bounties should be limited in duration. They expire on June 30, 1907, and are reduced from 15 to 20 per cent every year on a sliding scale until they reach the vanishing point. Last year bounties of $351,259 were paid for pig fron and $116,761 for est 851/2. steel ingots and puddled iron. The payments for the current year will probably be a million dollars, owing to the increased production in Nova Scotia, and Mr. Clergue's new plant in Sault Ste. Marie, which is beginning to turn out steel rails. The Dominion Iron and Steel Company in its prospectus declared that it expected to earn $8,095,000 in bounties between 1901 and 1907. In addition to this these industries enjoy a tariff protection of $2 50 a ten on pig iron and $2 a ton on iron or steel ingots and puddled bars. That is not all. In Ontario a bonus of $1 per ton is paid on the pigmetal product of fron ores raised, or ince, the aggregate amount not to exceed $25,000 a year. It will be seen that the wonderful growth of iron and steel production in Canada will result in a heavy drain on the public treasury for the next five years, but after that the industry must stand upon its own feet, which it has already demonstrated that it is capable of doing. In fact, this would be the only justification for so liberal a measure of public aid in the early stages.

The production of pig iron in this country has increased from 37,829 tons in 1895 to 244,976 tons in 1901; of puddled bars from 1,509 tons in 1897 to 5,568 tons in 1901, and of steel ingots from 18.137 tons in 1808 to 33,352 tons in 1901. Nearly 80 per cent. of the pig iron consumed in Canada last year was home-made, as compared with 47.5. per cent, in 1895.

Steam vs. Electricity.

The experiment of the New York Central Railway Company with electricity as a motive power will be watched with great interest. The company has offered to substitute electricity for steam on all its express trains entering New York city, and upon suburban trains along their whole route. This will do away with coalburning locomotives within the city limits, and will mitigate the smoke nuisance in a large degree. As the New York Central volunteered to make the change, it may be assumed that the company has found the scheme is practical and economical. In Chicago and other large cities the railroad companies are being urged to adopt the same reform, but some of them argue that any system of electric traction is liable to be tied up frequently by steam power are now running over head wires. Steam railroads, however, cannot defy the elements, either. The Chicago Tribune points out that in New England trains that used to run bly steam power are now running over long distances, and with profit, by electricity. There is nothing improbable in the idea that with the rapid development of electrical invention, the plectric motor will supplant the locomotive in the not very far distant future. In a letter to the official organ of the Press Exhibition, Copenhagen, Denmark, published only today, Thomas A. Edison says: "I believe that within thirty years nearly all railways will discard steam locomotives and adopt electric motors, and that the electric automobile will displace the horse almost entirely."

[Brooklyn (N. Y.) Times.] The crown that was placed on Edvard's head today is the symbol of nore Imperial power than was ever vested in any human monarch. Even the days of William Cowper the prediction had been verified in literal truth that was said to have been uttered to Queen Boadicea:

"Regions Caesar never knew Thy posterity shall sway; Where his eagles never flew None invincible as they."

But never since the crown was placed in the head of British king did it signify such stretch of world-covering dominion as it means today. There was a savage wrench at British expansion made when the thirteen American colonies released themselves from the authority of King · George, but so far as territorial area was concerned the loss had been made good long before Victoria ascended the throne-for the thirteen colonies were but a small part of the United States of today-but the reign of Victoria was an era of expansion from first to last, and there are many new jewels in the crown that Edward receives from the dead hands of his mother. Will there be more or less when that crown is transferred from his brow to that of his successor? It is a question that only time and destiny can answer, but so far as human foresight can descry, while there may be no more jewels in the crown, they will be welded more firmly together. Great Britain learned a great lesson from her revolted American colonies. British colonies are no longer flouted and oppressed; they are praised and pampered and cajoled. And, in consequence, the British crown sits more firmly than ever before on the head of a British sovereign. colonies are more British than Great Britain. The people of the United States owe no allegiance to the British King, but in spite of the rhapsodies of unforgiving zealots, we know that we have scotched, not killed, the Briton in our blood, and with no disloyalty to America in our hearts, we can say "Amen" to the British prayer, "God

LIVERPOOL. Dairy produce report for the week endig Aug. 1, reported by Hodgson Bros.: Cheese—The demand has been less active, dealers having apparently filled immediate cheese—The demand has been less active, dealers having apparently fille i immediate wants, and which they prefer to see going into consumption before operating further. The cable indication of slightly easier markets have also doubtless had an effect, and quotations have not materially altered on the week. We quote today: Finest Canadian or States colored, 48s 6d to 50s; finest Canadian or States white, 48s to 49s; full cream seconds, extremely scarce, at 43s to 46s. Of lower grades there are none offering, and there is no inquiry. Butter—The market has been very quiet and is somewhat easier, Irish and Russian supplies being fairly plentiful, and fill the demand at a slight reduction of values from last week. Choicest Canadian creamery, in 56-lb boxes, 94s to 96s; fine Canadian dairy, in tubs and boxes, 80s to 34s; choicest Russian, in Kiel casks, 88s to 94s; second grade Russian, in Kiel casks, 88s to 94s; second grade Russian, in Kiel casks, 80s to 86s; finest Irish creamery, 92s to 96s; lower qualities of Irish butter, 80s to 84s.

Engineer Rund, accompanied by a detail of soldiers, has gone to Haines to survey the military reservation there, pre-liminary to the location of buildings for a new army post.

POLICEMAN MURDERED

And His Companion Wounded-The Work of Chicago Burglars.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Policeman James Devine, of the West Lake street station, was shot and fatally wounded today at Ashland and Jackson boulevards. He died while being taken to the county hospital. Officer Charles Pennell, who was in the company of Devine, was wounded at the same time, and was taken to the county hospital where his life is despaired of. The men had evidently encountered a band of burglars, and in an effort to arrest them had been shot.

The sleeping policemen in all the stations were roused, and in fifteen minutes every bluecoat in Chicago was seeking for some trace of the murderers. Everyone found on the streets was compelled to give an account of him-self, and late prowlers were arrested.

He, too, had not failed to remark the visible alteration in his friend's looks and manner; had been hurt to observe that his own society, once so welcome, was now shunned as much as possible, and had, indeed, given many an anxious thought to the state of Orme's mind and spirits; but he was too staunch and spirits; but he was too staunch and Judicious a friend to make Gilbert's feelings the topic of conversation in a club, and was not sorry, moreover, to poohpooh any suggestions of Landless, whom in his heart he considered a "gossiping" That worthy, however, had not done

Just like his poor father. I remember him well, though he was rather before my time, you know. He went just the same way—gave up hunting and society, and all that—took to living quite by himself; grew perfectly childish. I've been told; and at last died very suddenly in his armchair. They hushed it all up, I remember, but everybody down there was persuaded that he had made away with himself. It's in the blood, depend upon it—in the blood. I know what these things are, and I should never be surprised at anything in that family."

"Nousense!" retorted Holyhead, fairly provoked, and in another minute he was galloping off in the direction of the park, to get rid of his misgivings, if possible, by rapid motion; while Landless, taking up the evening paper, fell to its perusal with the calm satisfaction of one who has succeeded in making his neighbor thoroughly uncomfortable.

It required, indeed, no great perception to observe a change in the demeanor of Gilbert Orme: for a few weeks after his return he had disappeared altogether, and even his most intimate iriends never knew how or here those weeks of wild.

Each fresh paroxysm becomes less painful, each love of oblivion deeper than its predecessor. Wave after wave of self-consuming sorrow succeeds at long intervals, and the troubled ocean subsides into a cold, sad calm at last. Others, again, seem to be stunned and crushed by the blow they had sustained. They gaze wildly around, apparently incapable of an effort for their own preservation. Dull and stupefied, they take no note of anything but the fatality that has overtaken them. Perhaps with touching help-lessness they hover aimlessly about the spot where the wreck went to pleces when she came ashore. They would hide themselves and their woes from their themselves and their woes from their fellow-men; they want no sympathy, no assistance; they only ask to be left un-noticed and alone. For such there is little hope. The wild animal carries his

It is needless to say how he repented of his bitter words and violent reproaches in his last interview with Ada. How twenty-four hours had not elapsed ere he was willing to submit to anything, however humiliating, only to see her again. How he went back the following day to her house at the earliest hour decency would permit, and found that she was gone.

The former lady was not yet dressed. It had evidently arrived the evening before, and had been thrown carelessly aside after perusal. It contained only a few lines, stating that the writer was summoned into the country unexpectedly, and should be unable to attend her ladyship any more. Ada had indeed sought safety in flight. Add and indeed sought safety in flight. From the uncertainty of his movements, she was spared the trial of having to answer her husband's letter. She was stern and pittless. With that dogged resolution which sustains women in an effort of self-sacrifice, she stifled all the softer and kindlier feelings of her nature, forcing herself into what she deemed the performance of her duty with the say-age energy of despair. And she thought, poor Ada! that she could sustain this high-wrought part—that her own heart would not soon smite her too keenly on his behalf, whom she knew to be in sadness and loneliness and desolation—that the reaction would not come and leave her weaker, fonder, more helpless, more miserable than before.

However, she went out of town, and left no trace by which he could follow her or obtain information of her whereabouts; and after a time Gilbert reappeared on that stage on which the characters were their restarting the stage of the could content of the court of

I am not sure but that the pale convive sitting at the board clad in brave apparel, and crowned with the fastive apparel, and crowned with the festive wreath, is not a drearier sight, as he quaffs his wine with ghastly smiles, than the cowering wretch who shrinks from his fellows in honest helplessness, neither afraid to bemoan his sorrow nor ashamed to confess his sufferings. As usual, the braver nature must take the deepest braver nature must take the deepest wounds the while it carries the highest creat, and the serge jerkin is opened at once to dress scars that must stiffen uncared for beneath a cloth of gold.

CORONATION DAY AT AILSA CRAIG. to his heart's core. I heard a lad complaining once to a surgeon that he had run a thorn deep into his hand, and whenever he moved, whatever he touched, he was reminded of its presence by the pain. "Cut it out," was the sage and medical advice given. "O doctor." said the boy, "it would hurt more to cut it out than to bear it as it is!" I have often thought of my young friend and his philosophy, not differing entirely from Hamlet's. How many of us have a thorn that we would fain be rid of, and yet that we go on enduring, afraid to face the pain of eradication! How many a burden would be thrown off, how many a chain broken, how many a complaint Ailsa Craig celebrated the corona-tion of his Majesty King Edward VII. by a baseball match with Forest and by remembering three of the South African heroes. At baseball the Stars again defeated Forest by 11 runs to 8, of which the Stars earned 7 and their opponents 2 runs. The feature of the game was the playing of Charles Barnes for the Stars. Barnes is a veteran, as well as a family man, and has been playing with the Stars for twenty years past. On Saturday he caught for the first four innings, and pitched for the last five, as Finan, the Stars' particular invincible, was laid off with an almost dislocated shoulder. Barnes is credited with eight put-outs, two of them being foul flies; he went to bat five times, made four hits, of which three were two-baggers, and the time he failed to make a hit he was caught at deep right field most brilliantly by Ralph Tripp; he also assisted four times, struck out four men, gave no charities and was only hit three times, and no runs were made off his offerings.

through the flesh to incorporate itself with the bones—every day the difficulty of extraction becomes greater—and more and more we wince from the probe. At last we resign ourselves helplessly to our pain. Habit is second nature—it becomes part and parcel of ourselves. Perhaps the boy was right, after all, and "it would hurt more to cut it out than to bear it as it is!"

I do not think that at this time Gilbert was an agreeable companion. He took to drinking deeply, not with the jovial abandon that glosses over, If it cannot excuse, that vice, but with a morose determination anything but characteristic of a bon mamarade. After these bouts he would go into society with a flushed brow and haggard eyes to stand in silence contemplating the scene with indifference, or to whisper a few sardonic remarks to his next neighbor, who, if of the fair sex, was pretty sure to approve of his observations. The best and kindliest of women are not proof against well-directed safire airmed at their thirds. After the game was over Corp. John Gunn, Tenth C. A. F. Good-hearted Holyhead strove to calm Mrs. Montpellier's anxieties, assuring her that they were entirely without foundation, that Gilbert's altered looks were but the effect of climate, and that his late hours and extravagances were but bad habits contracted in the colonies, which he would soon lose again now that he had returned to his former associates; but he succeeded neither in reassuring the lady nor himself. Mrs. Montpellier shook her glossy black head, vowing she would face the whole Visigoth set, and attack Lady Olivia herself on behalf of her son, rather than let things go on as they were: while Holyhead, who had his own reasons for knowing the truth of these reports about Orme's wild caprices MOND. Break seemed to have good control of his car, as he used the breaks to good advantage, and got a gift of a base following results: the first time up. He also showed that he could wield the stick, as he scored would have had a nice assist to his credit. A very fast double play was made in the second inning, from McLeod to Downs to Black to W. Westman. W. Westman made a beautiful stop, but spoiled it by making a bad throw. The pitching of Capt. Black was very good, and his hitting and fielding was perfect. He is surely a grand leader and shows his men a good example.

A very funny occurrence took place in the fourth, Lucas hitting a fly to Kent, who made a grand circus catch. Lucas could not understand why he should be called out when the ball caught ere it reached the ground. Probyn as well as Louch caught a very fine game, both of them making some fine stops and throwing well. Louch kept his eye on the ball in the same manner as he does his pas-The ball got lost; someone called to him to slide and he reached second on his ear. Another fast double was made by McLeod unassisted, also one from Havas to Dowdell, who also played a fine game, replacing Tolmie at second. Waters seemed to be the hero of the day, securing a home run in the seventh, tying the score and making one of the longest hits of the season. The umpiring of Gordon Bennett was perfect. Tom Reycraft had his hands full in keeping the scorer from fainting of overwork. Manager Currie was the most excited man on the grounds; he is also one of the busiest in London, accepting and rejecting challenges. He has accepted a challenge from the military school team and will play them within a few days.

The team has also again challenged the police for a return game and feel confident they can defeat them.
Lucas played a star game in right field and will make a great man "one" day. The following will show

TROTTING AT BRIGHTON. New York, Aug. 12 .- The second seaside meeting of the New York Trotting Association began yesterday at Brighton Beach under favorable auspices. The track was fast and 5,000 spectators saw the sport. The big feature of the card was the $10,000 Bonner Mebounced out of Kent's hand and was morial purse for trotters of the 2:12 class, for which there were 12 entries. The blind horse Rhythmic, who has won all his races down the line from Detroit, was the choice at $50 to $40, but eventually sold at $2 to $1 on. Silver Sign and Major Delmar made the clip hot to the front and led home by a ength. In the second heat Rhythmic led all the way, and in a cracking fin-ish with Lady Thisbe he won by half a length. The favorite won the third, but was whipped home from the distance, with Alice Carr close up. disappointment of the race was Dan T., who with a record as fast as Rhythmic's was never formidable. The 2:15 pace was on what is named the novelty plan. The race is completed in three heats. The winners of the first and second heats retire from the race, and the first money goes to the winner of the fastest heat, second and third moneys in the same way, while the fourth goes to the horse holding the best position. The talent in this race forsook the pools and made all their betting in the books, as in reality. each heat is a distinct race. Prince Direct was the favorite at 2 to 1 in all three heats, but he was not able to get to the front till the third. In the first heat John, a 5 to 1 shot, led the field by six lengths from the quarter to opposite the grand stand, when he tired and broke badly, Pauline G. winning by half a length from Alice Mapes. Carl Wilkes, well backed at 3 to 1, cut out the work in the second heat, and never quit the lead, winning the fastest heat of the race in 2:09%, and the first money. In the third Schley Pointer, a son of the champion Star Pointer, led the party to the distance, with Prince Direct and Alice Mapes close up. Pointer broke close to the wire, and the heat went to the Prince, with Alice Mapes at his wheel. The 2:14 trot was also on the same plan, and a good field of nine met. For the first heat The King was the favorite at 2 to 1, and he won, pulling up, by two lengths. In the second heat Mobel was a hot favorite at even money, and won, with a little to spare, from A. J. D. The public thought Ida Highwood the best of the balance of the party, and she sold at 6 to 5, and her backers were never in doubt, as she led from start to finish, winning by three lengths. The fastest race of the day was the 2:06 pace, for which Dan R. was the favorite at 2 to 1. In the first heat Fanny Dillard, in a most exciting finish, won by a neck in 2:05¼, and in the next heat the pair had it so close to the finish that many good eyes saw a dead heat, Dan R. really winning by a very short nose. Dan R. also won the third heat. Under the Brighton Beach rule only the two-heat winners could lead to 1. Steele), a to 1, 3. Time, 1:15¼.

Second race, ½ mile, for 2-year-old fillies, selling — Helen Oakford, 105 (Hopkins), 4 to 1, won by half a length; Dusky Secret, 102 (R. Steele), 6 to 5, 2; Galla Water, 102 (Louden), 12 to 1, 3. Time, 0:50¼.

Third race, 1 1-16 miles, for 3-year-old fillies, and unwards selling—Lady of the length; Dusky Secret, 102 (Louden), 12 to 1, 3. Time, 0:50¼. vorite at 2 to 1. In the first heat Fan-went to the three-quarter pole together, when Dan R, broke so badly that Fanny Dillard distanced him. Under the rules Fanny Dillard will have a walk-over for her third heat. Sum-2:15 class pacing, purse $1,500; novelty At Chicago— R. H. E.

WANT LONDON PASTOR. The Vancouver World of Aug. 4 contains the following reference to a popular London pastor: "Although the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church has only been officially and technically vacant for one week - having been duly declared to be without a shep-herd just eight days ago—it is believed that the selection of a new pastor may have been already accomplished, and that at their special meeting on Wednesday evening of this week the officers of the church may extend a call. The choice is understood to be Rev. W. J. Clark, of London, Ont., an earnest and vig-orous young minister, who is spoken of in terms of the highest appreciation in his own province, and enjoys the very good opinion of the General Assembly. The Rev. Mr. Clark visited British Columbia last summer and preached in Nanaimo during July and August. In the latter month he also occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church and preached to a large congregation, making a very favorable impression. His charge at the present time is the First Presbyterian Church of London, Ont.'

TROUBLE IN CHICAGO. Chicago, Aug. 12.—An attempt is to be made to call out all the employes of the Union Traction, the Consoli dated Traction, and the Chicago City railway companies—5,000 men. Last night at a joint meeting of the executive boards of the various locals of the union, a strike programme was pre-sented for ratification. The time named for calling out the men is Fri day of this week.

COUNTING THE COST. Toronto, Aug. 12.—The Dominion Government has billed the city for the services of the militiamen here during the progress of the street car men's strike. Contrary to expectations, the bill amounts to considerably under $5,000, the estimate at the time the volunteers were called out. The total of the bill rendered today amounts to only $1,975 03, but this does not include transportation of the troops from Niagara to the city, which will in all probability bring the total amount due up to $3,000 or $3,500.

A cold bath on a hot day is refreshing. Every pore of your body is more open in hot weather and requires more frequent cleansing than in cold weather. The pores in hot weather absorb more freely than in cold weather; it is therefore most undesirable, after taking a morning bath, to cover the body with underclothing that has been washed with adulterated common soap. For comfort, cleanliness, and free-dom from skin disease, the clothing worn next the skin should be washed with a pure and well-made soap. If Sunlight Soap be used in the laundry your pores absorb purity.
