KING'S VISIT TO FRANCE IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

It Is Hoped the Old Antipathies Will Be Wiped Out.

CERTAIN OF HEARTY WELCOME

President Loubet May Return the Visit—Kaiser Wilhelm Doesn't Like It.

Paris, April 12.—The subject dominating all else just now is the forthcoming visit of King Edward to President Loubet in Paris on May Day, and the decision of the President of the Republic to pay a return visit to King Edward in London, probably in the month of June. This welcome interchange of friendship between France and Britain is the result of a carefully-thought-out plan, to the maturity of which the leading London and Paris newspapers have most creditably and patriotically performed their parts. It is, perhaps, more than a mere coincidence that it was during the visit to Paris, at the time of the funeral of the late M. de Biowitz, one of the most eminent London newspaper proprietors, that the idea of an exchange of visits first took a concrete form. Cool-headed Frenchmen, as well as statesmanlike Englishmen, agree that the animosity that has existed between the two countries since 1870-71, and which has been the cause of so much mischief as actual hostilities, Britain is the best customer of France, and the industrial relations which for the last five years have been impaired by nationalism and jingoism on both sides of the channel, are really waxing stronger. There is always in latent or active form in France a certain amount of floating animosity. This force, like some noxious chemical element, had continued after the close of the war of 1870-71 to be manifested against Germany, until Bismarck adroitly succeeded in directing it against England.

For the last three months one of the great aims of British diplomacy has been to once more turn the tables, and by taking a leaf from Bismarck's philosophy, to redirect the constant quantity of animosity against Germany, thereby relieving the Anglo-French strain and bringing France into closer relations with Britain. To borrow the words of an eminent British statesman who recently passed through Paris, this is intended ultimately to pave the way for a real understanding and agreement between the three most liberal and progressive nations in the world—France, England and the United States. The continued efforts of British diplomacy, ably seconded by the press, to allay France

IMMENSE CROWDS THROGGED THE ADVERTISER BUILDING

Entire Plant Was Open to the Public Inspection.

Its Complete Equipment Very Generally Admitted.

The Advertiser was pleased Saturday night to meet so many of its readers and their friends. The evening chosen for throwing open our new building turned out one of the most disagreeable of this season, rain pouring down continuously, but the unpleasant weather was not the deterrent circumstances that one might suppose it to have been. The rain worked sincerely, but it did not destroy the success of the opening. It is a matter of fact that the evening had been clear and pleasant, a larger number of visitors would have inspected the building than could have been accommodated with any degree of comfort, for even as it was the number that went through the building during the hours it was open—from 7 to 10 o'clock—was too large to handle. It would be impossible to estimate how many accepted the invitation to inspect The Advertiser's new home. It was a floating population of several hundred people, and the number was increasing all the time. It is unfortunate that many of our friends who desired and intended to see the process by which The Advertiser is printed and the home of their paper, were prevented by the rain. However, it is not always raining, and it will be equally a pleasure, as it was Saturday evening, to show any who may still desire to see the new plant, through the entire building any afternoon from 1 to 4:30 o'clock. Our readers and all into are not readers of The Advertiser will be cordially welcome any afternoon.

The people began to arrive very shortly after 7 o'clock. Delightful music was played in the business office by Tony Cortese's fine orchestra, which played many selections during the evening. It was a tribute to the excellence of their music that so many people stayed in the office where they were frequently prevented. The visitors were first escorted to the top floor of the new building, whereon are the editorial rooms, mailing room and illustrating department. In the former there was nothing unusual to attract notice, the tools of the trade by which the news of the day is prepared for printing being neither numerous nor striking. It is different in the illustrating room, which was highly interesting to all. The process by which chalk plate illustrations are made and printed was exhibited in detail, and of the hundreds who streamed through the building during the evening, there were few indeed who did not express the wish to see and understand how it is possible to produce pictures with such fidelity and celerity. The composing room was the greatest center of interest. No other department, not even the press room, possessed for the people the same attraction that was exerted by the news

Steyn and Kruger Dying.

Montreaux, April 12.—It is President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, lives through the summer, which is very doubtful, he has asked Chamberlain to permit him to return to South Africa. He has reason to believe that permission will be freely granted, and he hopes that Steyn's presence will help to bridge over existing difficulties. The heads of the Steyn and Kruger households exchange daily bulletins on the condition of the ex-presidents. It is thought here that Kruger's days are numbered, and Steyn is not much better.

from Germany, or, to put it in a more pleasing way, to substitute Germany for Britain as the stalking-horse for French animosity, have already met with encouragement. One of the indications of this will be the May Day visit of King Edward to Paris, a visit which already suggests the inquiry whether Emperor William, jealous of his much greater personal popularity among Parisians, may not himself compete for the friendship of France, just as he recently entered into competition for the friendship of the United States. In diplomatic circles it is by no means felt to be an impossibility that Emperor William may arrange some fine day to come to Paris in full pageant and fine white Lohengrin plumes to shake hands with President Loubet at the Elysee Palace, a spectacle which would be the delight of the boulevard. Even at this early date the news of King Edward's visit is accentuated by the King's admirable tact in himself suggesting that personally a most gratifying feature of his intended visit would be to meet the leading French actors and actresses at a gala performance to be given at the Theater Francaise, which has aroused among Parisians of every class feelings of sympathy and cordiality.

TO FEDERATE UNIONS

Railway Clerks to Hold an Immense Convention.

Montreal, April 12.—A convention of all classes of railway clerks, freight stores and baggage employees of the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, Canada Atlantic, Intercolonial and other railways, will be held at Montreal May 5 for the purpose of uniting together the various unions of the above classes of railway employees and forming an international union, affiliated with the general union of Labor, and all international unions.

The object of the convention is to adopt a constitution, elect international officers of the union, and a committee, and choose headquarters.

The Kaiser's Latest.

Berlin, April 12.—Emperor William observed Good Friday in an unprecedented manner. He caused the royal standard on the castle to be placed at half-mast in memory of the crucifixion of Christ. His action has caused considerable comment in social and official circles in Berlin.

room. It is here that the world's information for the day is transformed into type, the instrument that converts intangible news into concrete form for the purpose of being read by the world. The greatest of attractions was the linotype machines, those marvelous mechanical structures, the invention of which worked such a tremendous revolution in the methods of newspaper production. The linotype operators explained in detail the working of their machines, giving practical exhibitions of the process. The work was so interesting that the visitors, who were numbered in the hundreds, were prevented by the rain. However, it is not always raining, and it will be equally a pleasure, as it was Saturday evening, to show any who may still desire to see the new plant, through the entire building any afternoon from 1 to 4:30 o'clock. Our readers and all into are not readers of The Advertiser will be cordially welcome any afternoon.

The most potent attraction on the ground floor was the new Cox Duplex press, that has wrought such a great improvement in the appearance of the paper. A special edition was run off on it for the entertainment and education of the visitors. On this floor also the workings of the printing room and trolley system by which the immense rolls of paper are transferred from the store room to the press, was shown. The highest point of interest in The Advertiser, which can always be seen from the street, was not new to the visitors, as were the other parts of the building, but its complete and elegant furnishings and handsome appearance were very generally admired. The Advertiser's guests on Saturday night unanimously expressed the pleasure it gave them in seeing in active operation the forces employed in producing a newspaper. The new home of the paper, its up-to-date equipment, its bright and airy rooms, and in short, its entire plant, modern and complete in every respect as it is, won for the paper the congratulations of all. The Advertiser Company itself was pleased to be able to receive so many friends as its guests, and proud also to show them that it is now in a position to publish a paper such as The Advertiser will always strive to be—clean, bright, abreast of the times, a paper that every man can bring to his home feeling sure that he and his family can read it with both pleasure and profit.

A RIOT IN PRETORIA

Serious Trouble With the Men of a British Regiment.

Pretoria, April 12.—A somewhat serious riot occurred among the men of the Second Leinster Regiment in barracks. The military police, while attempting to arrest several men, who were the worse for liquor, were overpowered by comrades of the latter. The remainder of the troops were called out, whereupon the rioters armed themselves with rifles, and, having obtained ammunition, they took up a position outside the barrack-room with fixed bayonets. When closed upon they fired, and after their ammunition was expended a hand-to-hand conflict ensued. The rioters were eventually overpowered and arrested. Four men received bullet wounds, one being killed, and sixteen men were more or less injured. An inquiry has been opened into the affair, which was quite spontaneous and unexpected.

ACCIDENT TO THE LIEUT-GOVERNOR

Sir Oliver Mowat Falls And Fractures a Thigh.

PATIENT IS DOING VERY WELL

The Physicians in Attendance Say The Fall Was Not Due to Paralysis.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, April 12.—While undressing preparatory to retiring last night about 10 o'clock, Sir Oliver Mowat in some inexplicable way fell and fractured one of his thighs.

Dr. Temple and Dr. Primrose were hastily summoned, as was Dr. Archibald Moir, house surgeon at the Hospital for Sick Children, and specialist in anaesthetics. The venerable statesman suffered considerable pain, but the bone was quickly set and all possible means to relieve the patient. Drs. Primrose and Moir remained till a late hour. Dr. Temple spent the night at Government House. They were all there early this morning, so there has been a physician in constant attendance. "Sir Oliver had two or three hours' sound sleep," said his son, Sheriff Mowat, "which, under the circumstances, was most remarkable—remarkable in one of his age. It is difficult to say just how the accident occurred. For a month or so since the peace accident, when Sir Oliver fell, breaking a small bone at the thigh joint or injuring it, I am not sure it was broken, attendants have occasionally had to move him about. While lifting him last night the right thigh-bone was broken."

"There is no suggestion of paralysis."

"Oh, no, not the slightest. It is a break, and has been very skillfully and speedily set."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

A Woodstock Woman Cuts Her Throat.

Woodstock, Ont., April 12.—Mrs. Halsey, a woman arrested on the morning for the theft of a small box, attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a knife this afternoon at the jail. The knife was taken away from her before she succeeded in doing much harm to herself. When arrested she was in an intoxicated condition.

A TRIPLE SHOOTING

An Italian Uses a Gun With Deadly Effect.

Hartford, Conn., April 12.—Dominic Pacifico, a young Italian, shot three men in the street here late last night. Andrew Halliday, 35, a barber, was probably killed. Jeremiah Condon and Thomas Fitzgerald, who attempted to quell the disturbance, which grew out of an argument between Halliday and the Italian, were wounded slightly. A crowd of 2,000 persons followed the prisoner to police headquarters and there were threats of lynching.

THE DEADLY PIE

Man Survives a Duel To Be Killed by Pastry.

Redding, Cal., April 12.—After surviving a desperate duel with knives, in which he killed his opponent, and was himself terribly carved, Lee Barnes was laid low by a plain, ordinary blackberry pie. Barnes is dying from the effects of eating an entire pie yesterday. Shortly after finishing the pastry he was seized with violent cramps, stitches which had been taken in his lungs and abdomen broke, and the surgeon says his recovery is impossible. A few weeks ago Barnes fought a terrible duel with Bill Silverhorn, in which the latter was killed. Barnes was almost dismembered, and was at first supposed to be dead. He regained consciousness, however, and was on the high road to full recovery when he went against the blackberry pie, which has apparently done deadlier work than Silverhorn's dagger.

Boys Fight a Duel.

New York, April 12.—To decide who had the better revolver two boys faced each other in a busy street in Brooklyn last night, standing not more than fifteen feet apart, each with his weapon leveled at the other. One of the boys, Michael Telasco, who is only 14, is dying at the Bushwick Central Hospital in Brooklyn, with a bullet wound in his head. Joseph Gossang, his opponent, 14, was arrested last night while hiding in the cellar of his home, at No. 2657 Broadway, Williamsburg. In the same house young Telasco also lived.

BUFFALO HOLDS MURDER RECORD

Seven Cases of Murder and Suicide in One Night.

POLE KILLS SON AND LANDLADY

One Young Woman Swallows Vitriol and Another Takes a Dose of Morphine.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 12.—A shooting affray, in which a 9-year-old boy was killed and a woman fatally wounded, a murder, an attempted murder, two suicides, and two attempts at suicide that may result fatally, occurred in this city last night. Jos. Kwiatkowski, 51 years old, formerly a business man and a representative Polish citizen, is locked up at police headquarters charged with fatally shooting his landlady and killing his 9-year-old boy. Kwiatkowski, formerly conducted an extensive business in one of the markets of the city. His wife died about a year ago, leaving two children. Since the death of his wife his affairs have gone from bad to worse, and his business difficulties drove him to drink. For the last four months he has lived in rooms at 190 Coit street. The owner of the house, Mrs. Tekla Wolinski, her husband and their children, occupied the rear part of the building. The children of the two families were constantly quarreling. Tonight, when Kwiatkowski returned the children were in the usual turmoil. Mrs. Wolinski notified him that he would have to move, whereupon Kwiatkowski drew a revolver and began firing, backing out of the house as he did so. Mrs. Wolinski followed the infuriated Pole, and grappled with him in the vicinity of a saloon. She breast and fired. She fell to the ground fatally wounded. Kwiatkowski fired several shots, one of them striking his 9-year-old son Peter, killing him instantly. A large crowd quickly gathered, and Kwiatkowski retreated into the house, locking the door behind him. Five officers in plain clothes who were on duty in the vicinity, surrounded the house, and endeavored to get a shot at the Pole. They fired about 30 shots through the window, but failed to hit him. A bullet knocked off one of the officer's hats, and another passed through the lapel of his coat. Kwiatkowski continued to fire, until his ammunition was exhausted. The officers then battered down the front door. They found the Pole hiding in a closet. He gave a desperate battle with a stiletto before he was finally overpowered.

George Jennings, 55 years old, had been separated from his wife for some time. He called upon her today and tried to induce her to resume marital relations. She refused, and he drew a revolver and fired. She fell to the floor in a faint, and, believing that he had killed her, Denning ran away. His body was found later in the evening in a Salvation Army lodging house. He had taken poison and died in a short time. Miss Marie Beers, 20 years old, said to have been very successful in the vaudeville stage, took morphine some time during the day. She is dead. A note found on a table beside her read as follows: "My dear Arthur, I am going to end my life. You don't care for me care for me. Don't bury me till Harry comes."

Bertha Vaughn, 23 years old, swallowed a dose of vitriol. Her condition is serious. Miss Blanche Murphy was sitting in Warren's hotel with an unknown man this evening. They thought they were alone in the room. Miss Murphy swallowed a quantity of laudanum. She may recover.

MR. SIFTON A WORKER

Is Busily Engaged on the Tribunal Case.

London, April 12.—Hon. Clifford Sifton and his staff, in connection with the British side of the Alaskan boundary tribunal, are still plodding away at the Hotel Cecil.

The Minister of the Interior has refused all invitations to festivities, and declines to take any holidays until after May 3, when the cases will be exchanged between the United States and British Governments. After this, it will occupy two months to prepare the respective replies.

As already announced, it has been decided that the tribunal shall not meet until the autumn. None of the American commissioners or representatives have arrived here, and they are not expected until just before the commission assemblies.

TERRIFIC STORM HITS PITTSBURG

Man Killed in the Streets by a Thunderbolt.

CITY UNDER 2 FEET OF WATER

Houses Swept Away and Street Car Traffic Is Completely Demoralized.

Pittsburg, April 12.—With terrifying swiftness a thunder storm, which came out of the west last night, burst over Pittsburg. Miniature rivers poured through the streets, flooding cellars and inflicting damage that will reach thousands of dollars. One man was killed by lightning and many buildings were struck. Irvin T. Wilson, of Dubois, Pa., while walking from one building to another at Dixmont Insane Asylum, where he is employed, was struck down by a bolt. The congregation of Christ's Methodist Episcopal Church, Center avenue, was stormbound. The street car blocks around was flooded. Street car traffic was almost entirely suspended in the eastern portions of the city. In Wilkensburg the cloudburst poured through the valley. People were driven into the second stories of their homes. The loss to property in the thirty-seventh ward was great. A house in Coal street was almost swept from its foundation. Street car tracks were lost under two feet of water. Thousands of feet of lumber were carried away from a Pitt street yard. A signal tower of the Pennsylvania Railroad was struck by lightning, and the adjoining passenger station was fired.

A ROYAL GROOM

How Prince Alexander of Teck Actually Worked.

New York, April 12.—The Sun has the following special article: London, April 11.—Secretary of War Brodrick's army reforms have produced many strange results. The latest is that when the Prince of Wales visited his brother-in-law, Prince Alexander of Teck, at Hampton Court barracks, he found him in uniform. The prince, who is a keen feeder and groomer of horses, accompanied the troops. Inquiries elicited the fact that Prince Alexander belonged to a regiment which consisted at the time of seven men and two officers. It is a composite regiment of recruits to the Seventh and Tenth Dragoons, which are both in South Africa. Due to the fact that the composite site regiment to nine men. They had to tend 34 horses, the war office having refused permission for the employment of civil help to groom the horses. This provisional regiment of hussars is included in Secretary Brodrick's first army corps.

BRIDEGROOM-ELECT FLEES

And a Big Public Ceremony Fails to Materialize.

Yaek, N. Y., April 12.—"I'll go out, dear, and buy a new hat. It is all I need to complete my wardrobe." With these words Carl Schmitt left Bertha M. Frank, whom he was to marry two hours later. Invitations for the wedding had been out for three weeks. Two hundred people were in the opera house, where the ceremony was to be performed, but the bridegroom-elect failed to appear. With tears in her eyes Miss Frank ordered the guests to enjoy themselves, and herself joined in the dancing. It was afterward learned that Schmitt left for New York. He was formerly a merchant there.

Russia's Original Excuse.

Pekin, April 12.—The Russians explain their delay in evacuating New-Chuang, Manchuria, by the fact that they are organizing an international sanitary commission with a Russian at the head of it, to prevent a recurrence of the outbreak of bubonic plague.

Snowstorms in England.

London, April 12.—Severe weather today spoiled the northward bank holiday. It was bitterly cold, four degrees of frost being registered in many parts of the country early in the morning. This was followed by heavy snowstorms throughout the north and the midlands, while some snow fell in London and even so far south as Dover.

Agricultural Congress.

Rome, April 12.—The International Agricultural Congress was inaugurated at the capitol today before King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. About 1,300 delegates were present. The Marquis Di Capelli, president of the congress, in his opening speech, criticized the "ultra protectionism of certain American countries," and said he foresaw that their attitude would "change with the increase of their populations to the average of those of European countries."

OPENING SESSION OF THE GAMEY-STRATTON INQUIRY

The Bagdad Railroad.

London, April 12.—It is announced by the Standard this morning that an agreement has been concluded whereby Britain, France and Germany will participate equally in the control of the proposed Bagdad Railway. The revenues will be guaranteed by the Turkish customs. Three British directors have already been chosen, and two of three more will be appointed as soon as arrangements can be completed. Some such announcement was foreshadowed by Premier Balfour's statement in the House of Commons last week.

A SURPLUS OF $12,000,000

May Be Over That Sum in Dominion Treasury.

Ottawa, April 12.—It would not be surprising if the close of the present financial year witnessed a surplus of $12,000,000 or $14,000,000 in the Dominion treasury. For the nine months up to March 31 the ordinary revenue exceeded the ordinary expenditures by $14,929,156 and over all expenditures combined the excess of revenue amounted to $10,055,068. As compared with the same nine months of 1907 there has been a gain of $2,453,423 in the revenue and a reduction of $3,963,363 in the capital expenditure, while the ordinary expenditure has only increased by $753,950, showing a total improvement in the national finances of $9,454,836. Taking the average of the past nine months and applying it to the remaining three months of the present fiscal year would give a total revenue for the year of $62,000,000. Adopting the same procedure in regard to the ordinary capital expenditure the total disbursements would on June 30 stand at about $47,000,000. There are several payments each fiscal year, of which the most important is the long after June 30. As a counterbalance to this, however, there may be a larger reduction of capital expenditure than has been allowed for. So that on the whole the surplus will not be far off the amount stated above.

King Leaves Gibraltar.

Gibraltar, April 12.—The British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward on board, escorted by six cruisers, sailed today for Malta.

Toronto, April 12.—On Tuesday the court of appeal will deliver judgment in eighteen cases, and will begin hearing argument in the Soo election, in which Mr. Mismacphell (Conservative) appeals from the decision unseating him.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE SITUATION AS SHOWN BY E. J. MACROBERT

Teutonic's Big Mail.

New York, April 12.—An immense amount of mail was brought to New York by the Teutonic yesterday. There were 527,270 letters alone. Allowing five inches as the average length of each envelope, this collection would make a single string end to end, of 21,865 feet, or more than four miles.

HONORS FOR MR. FISHER

Will Probably Be Decorated by Japan.

Montreal, April 12.—It is likely that Hon. Sydney Fisher and Commissioner Hutchison will be decorated by the Japanese Government before they leave to return to Canada. Advice to this effect has been received by Mr. Tatsuo-Goro Nosse, Japanese consul-general for Canada.

CZAR WAS UNGUARDED

He Goes Through Moscow's Streets Unattended.

Moscow, April 12.—The Czar and Marina have come here to celebrate the Russian Easter, which occurs on Sunday next. The occasion was noteworthy because for the first time in many years there was no parade of troops on their arrival, no ceremony, and no interference with the populace. From the station to the Kremlin, a distance of two miles, there was not a soldier visible. Even the customary guard of honor at the station were absent, and only a small civil official alone greeting their majesties.

Venice's New Campaigne.

Rome, April 12.—The first stone of the new Campanile at Venice will be laid on April 24. It is hoped that by next spring the first 30 metres will be built, and the whole finished by the spring of 1906.

An Exciting Episode.

Winnipeg, April 12.—A lady with a baby carriage had an exciting episode at the northwest corner of Portage avenue and Carlton street on Friday. There is a very large and deep pool of water at the corner mentioned; the carriage slipped from the walk and the baby was precipitated into the pond and sank out of sight. The frightened mother jumped into the pond and rescued the child, fortunately without much damage, but the infant had a narrow escape from drowning.

A Crowded Courtroom Attends the Initial Proceedings.

MR. GAMEY TAKES THE STAND

His Evidence Was a Rehash of the Charges Made in the Ontario Legislature.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, April 12.—Before a crowded courtroom the Gamey-Stratton investigation began at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. Gamey was early on hand, and occupied a seat behind his counsel's table. Hon. J. R. Stratton entered the room three minutes before the judges took their seats. Mr. J. W. St. John was the only member of the Legislature present at the opening of the inquiry.

As soon as the judges had taken their places, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston requested permission to make a statement before the proceedings began. He said: "We have been served with a document which has been termed 'formulated charges.' Mr. Johnston had got this far when Chancellor Boyd interrupted to state that in case any items of the formulated charges were objectionable it would be wise for counsel to mark them with red ink and then file the objections."

"We have the text of the Gamey charges made upon the floor of the House and we must take them up in the shape in which they are made," added the chancellor.

Mr. Johnston was not satisfied, and endeavored to point out the scope of the charges as formulated by Mr. Blake were infinitely wider than the scope of the commission.

Justice Falconbridge: "But both the formulated charges and the charges made by Mr. Gamey in the House have many things in common, and why could we not deal with the things in common and then have the objectionable points for further argument?"

Mr. Johnston said: "We are here to meet three specific charges. First, the payment of $5,000; second, the payment of $1,000; and third, the corrupt use of money in the highest grade of domestic science question for the last few months, I consider it my duty to the citizens in general and to those of the fourth ward in particular, to state my position plainly. On Feb. 5, 1902, Principal Merchant, of the Normal School, wrote to the Board of Education, offering the use of the domestic science room there, to test the practical value of this subject. He suggested that classes from the Collegiate Institute of the highest grade of domestic science be allowed to take this course. This offer was accepted on the recommendation of No. 1 committee, of which Mr. W. T. Hamilton was chairman. This arrangement was so eminently successful that when Principal Radcliffe, on July 4, recommended that the vacant room in the commercial building be equipped for the teaching of domestic science, the board immediately acted on the suggestion, Trustee Hamilton supporting the motion, and Miss McIntosh was appointed teacher. At this time I gave notice of a motion to allow the girls of the senior grade of the public schools to receive the benefits of this course, which motion was ruled out of order by Chairman McCormick. He gave the following reasons for his ruling: 1. That the pupils had not passed the entrance examination. 2. That the separate school supporters would be paying a portion of the expenses. 3. That there was no money for this purpose in the estimate. To overcome these objections I consulted the Minister of Education, who replied that the board had full power to allow the pupils of the public schools to take this course without passing the entrance examination. I then introduced a second motion, by which the cost would be charged to the public school account and would come under the next year's estimates. But in spite of this Chairman McCormick ruled this motion out of order on the same grounds as he had objected to the previous one, by so doing placing his opinion above that of the Minister of Education. But, feeling that the citizens were satisfied with the action of the board, and desired that the girls of the public schools should receive a course in domestic science, I again introduced a motion to this effect at April meeting of the board. This was ruled out of order by Chairman Hamilton, on the ground that there was no money in the estimates for it. Let us first consider what the extra expense would be. The teacher receives

Mr. MacRobert's Letter.

The letter from Mr. E. J. MacRobert, public school trustee, published elsewhere in this issue, merits some attention. Perhaps Mr. MacRobert could disclose a great deal more than he has told in his communication as to the motives of some of his colleagues in opposing his domestic science motion. At any rate, it will be interesting to note whether the chairman of the Board of Education, Trustee Hamilton, accepts the invitation to explain his somersault on this question. Trustee Hamilton was chairman of the committee which recommended the introduction of domestic science at the Collegiate Institute. He was an enthusiastic advocate of the course, and favored extending it to the pupils of the public schools. Has some pressure been applied to compel him to throw out Mr. MacRobert's motion, so as to save the faces of other members of the board who have been obstructing it all along? It is evident that the same organization which leads the city council by the nose has been meddling in school board affairs. It has failed to discipline Mr. MacRobert, and he will have general support in keeping up the fight for the public schools. He shows that domestic science instruction could be given to the senior girls of the public schools for the paltry sum of $275 a year, by utilizing the equipment at the Collegiate Institute, the teacher being free to give half her time to public school classes. The objection that no funds have been provided in the estimates is merely a pretext, as the sum of $1,500 has been set aside for unforeseen expenses. The course would be very valuable to public school girls, many of whom cannot enter the Collegiate Institute. The Board of Education is doing an injustice to this class, mostly the children of working-men.

Officers' Uniforms.

The militia department has prescribed a less expensive mess uniform for rural militia officers. The regulation is in the right direction, but it is not of much importance. The mess uniform is a superfluity. Two-thirds of the rural officers do not wear it, their blue serge being good form for mess and for public places. It is questionable whether the mess uniform should be worn in field training, anyway. The department might do something to reduce the cost of militia officers' uniforms in city battalions. The minimum expense of a captain's outfit is $150, which puts a commission out of the reach of anyone whose purse is not fairly well lined. The dandified uniform is a tradition of the British army. Thackeray pokes fun at it by giving the tailor's bill of Lieut. Wellesley Ponto, of the 120th Queen's Own Foot Hussars:

Dress Jacket, richly lined with gold	35 0 0
Ditto Pelisse ditto, ditto, ditto	35 0 0
With sable	60 0 0
Undress Jacket, trimmed with gold	15 0 0
Ditto Pelisse	30 0 0
Dress Trousers	12 0 0
Ditto Overall, gold lined on sides	5 0 0
Undress ditto	5 0 0
Blue Braided Frock	14 0 0
Storage Cap, gold lined, plume and chain	25 0 0
Gold Barreled Sash	15 0 0
Sword of Harrison	11 0 0
Gold Belt and Sabretache	15 0 0
Pouch and Belt	15 0 0
Sword Knot	1 0 0
Cloak	12 0 0
Valise	7 0 0
Regulation Saddle	7 0 0
Ditto Bridles, complete	10 0 0
A Dress Housing, complete	20 0 0
A pair of Pistols	10 0 0
A Black Sheepskin, edged	6 0 0
Total	£47 9 0

Of course this is a gross exaggeration, but Thackeray was probably satirizing the gaudy apparel of the Household Guards, surpassing the glory of Solomon.

The Land of Sulphur Fumes.

The anniversary number of the Copper Cliff Courier comes to hand, printed on fine paper and illustrated in halftones. The edition would do credit to any printing office in the Dominion; yet seventeen years ago Copper Cliff consisted of one log cabin. It has now 3,000 population, with banks, stores representing every branch of trade, a $30,000 hospital, five churches, schools, a fire brigade and all the modern improvements, including a brass band. The Courier gives an interesting sketch of the great copper-nickel mining industry, which has sprung up north of Lake Huron, and redeemed the wilderness from a barren solitude. It was not till the year 1882 that these riches were discovered. Judge McNaughton, who was acting as stipendiary magistrate of Sudbury, was lost one day in his rambles through the woods, and the town turned out en masse to search for him. He was found seated on a knoll three miles west of the town examining a peculiar speckled mineral which he had broken out of the black rock. English and American capitalists were interested at once, and the Canadian Copper Company was organized with a capital of $2,500,000, commencing work in 1886 at the Copper Cliff mine. In 1889 the first smelters were built, and the nickel industry definitely established. Now the Canadian Copper Company alone produces over a million pounds of refined nickel every month, and some 1,500 men find employment where a few years ago only the Indian and the hunter could gather the bare necessities of life. Before 1889 nickel had a very limited market, its use being confined to nickel-plating, the manufacture of German silver, and the American five-cent piece. But in that year an English steel worker, James Riley, discovered that the addition of three per cent nickel to soft steel produced a metal twice the strength of common steel and extraordinarily tough. Almost at once the use of nickel was taken up by the steel makers of the world, and in a few years the great navies were clad in this wonderful metal, which is found largely in two places—Ontario and New Caledonia. The ore in the Sudbury district is dug from immense quarries, 200 feet deep in some cases. Below these open pits a regular system of underground mining has been developed. The ore is broken by power drills and dynamite, hoisted to the rock-house, where it is broken into fragments, and then sent to the roast yard by trains of flat cars. The roasting, which goes on for three or four months, removes the sulphur, the fumes of which blast all vegetation for miles around, but do not injure the health of the people. The ore after roasting is re-melted to a high-grade matte, carrying about 80 per cent metal. With the growing uses of copper and nickel, the industry is yearly expanding, and the bleak country is becoming the seat of a great population.

The Advertiser has made arrangements for a complete and unbiased report of the Gamey investigation, which opened today.

King Edward seems to have undertaken an international "jolly" tour. No one can fill the role better than he and a King could hardly be engaged in a better business.

The accident to Sir Oliver Mowat must tell seriously on a constitution enfeebled by old age. The heartfelt sympathy of the whole country will go out to the veteran, and the hope that he will be spared much pain and suffering.

It is thought that great difficulty will be found in recruiting the militia battalions for this year's camp owing to the great demand for labor on the farm and in the workshop. Certainly 50 cents per day and rations is no great inducement at the present time. The militia department may have to solve the problem by raising the allowance.

The Rush To Canada.

[The Financier, New York.] The rush to Canada is not a temporary craze. It will continue because the farmer finds there some of the finest wheat lands in the world, and as was the case with the Western United States, there will be no cessation until the free territory is exhausted. The future of Canada, once regarded as unpromising, has suddenly assumed a brighter phase. Those who express doubt as to the permanency of the agricultural migration, because of different forms of Government, do not grasp the situation. The extent of the smallest lot in the class, after hearing this statement, raised her hand and said:

"Miss Johnson, if that name means Father of Waters, why didn't they call the river 'Mister Sippi'?"

The Beauty of Goodness.

[Little's Living Age.] Beautiful faces are those that wear it. It makes little if dark or fair—Whole-souled honesty printed there.

Beautiful hands are those that do work that is earnest and brave and true. Moment by moment the long day through.

Beautiful lives are those that bless—Silent rivers of happiness. Whose hidden fountains but few can guess.

Revised Proverb.

[Punch Bowl.] Take care of the pennies, and after a while the dollars will take care of you.

Open Air Exercise.

[Hamilton Times.] The Lancet credits the Pope's magnificent constitution to his open air life when he was Bishop of Perugia. In those days the Pontiff was a great part-time hunter and exceedingly fond of mountain climbing. It is probably true that most of us suffer from lack of open air exercise. Muscles and lungs lack the right kind of stimulus—that to be got in fresh air baths, enjoyed while free from the cares of business.

Canada's Grand Old Man.

[Montreal Witness.] Canada has a new advertisement in the attention bestowed on both sides of the Atlantic to the remarkable career of Senator Mark. A country which can boast of a politician 100 years old, active, energetic and capable of attending to his parliamentary duties, must possess many advantages, for the longevity of its people is the best proof any country could offer of having conditions favorable to human life and happiness. It may be said that Mr. Mark is an exceptional instance, but anyone who will note the obituary columns in Canadian newspapers must be struck by the considerable number of notices of persons who have passed the 90 mark. The mean average length of life in Canada is really very high in proportion to population, a fact which may be attributed to the healthiness of our climate and the good habits of the people generally.

Willing She Should.

[New York Sun.] Clergyman—I require and charge you both—Bridegroom—That's right, parson; make her pay her share.

The Romance of Ontario.

[Toronto Telegram.] Ontario has had few battlefields but lots of bush farms in her history. The heroism of the battlefield is not greater than the heroism of the bush farm. The gray cathedrals of Europe hold no nobler dust than the country graves of Ontario, where sleep the brave men and patient women whose toils wrought an unbroken wilderness of brush and swamp into the earthly paradise of smiling fields and happy homes which we call Ontario.

Wages in Holland.

[Ottawa Journal.] No wonder there is a big railway strike in Holland if the scale of wages at present paid is stated correctly in a cable dispatch, as follows: "At present engineers receive 20 florins ($8.00); a second fireman, 12 florins ($5.20); chief conductors, 14 florins ($5.62); conductors, twelve florins ($4.80); smiths, 12 florins ($4.80); workmen, 9 florins ($3.62); signal men, twelve florins ($4.80); bridge guards, 11 florins ($4.42); block guards, 10 florins ($4.02); barrier closers, 8 florins ($3.21). Engineers work a fortnight at a stretch, or 168 hours, and have 24 rest days yearly. Other employees average twelve hours daily."

The Limit of the Law.

[Chicago Record-Herald.] "Have you ever been convicted of a previous crime?" asked the judge before passing sentence. "No, your honor," the prisoner replied, "but this time I've been convicted. He gets up and moves his lawn before sunrise, judge," interrupted a man at the rear end of the courtroom. "That will do. The penitentiary for life."

"REGGIE" USED A WHIP.

Young Vanderbilt Thrashes a Photographer.

Newport, R. I., April 13.—Reginald Vanderbilt on Saturday photographed a photographer in the presence of his fiancée, Miss Nelson, who was driving with him. Mr. Vanderbilt and Miss Nelson were riding down Bellevue avenue. Just as they reached the reading room, the fastidious men's club, the young man halted his trap and started to run across to the Hill Top cottages, all of which have been engaged for his friends for Tuesday's wedding when half a dozen photographers aimed their cameras at the couple.

"Stop, stop!" shouted Vanderbilt, throwing his hands across his face. But the cameras were slowly focussed. Beside himself with rage, the young man snatched his whip from the trap and brought it down heavily again and again upon the nearest camera man. "I'll sue you for damages," shouted the photographer, trying to protect his face from the stinging cuts. "I don't care!" yelled Mr. Vanderbilt. "I'll teach you a lesson."

"I was only taking pictures of the cottage across the street," protested the photographer, "when you came along."

Realizing that perhaps his had made a mistake, Vanderbilt sheathed his whip and started towards a policeman who was running along the street at the sight of the disturbance. "I have stood everything, but I won't stand that," he declared.

"I'm sorry, sir," said the policeman, "but these photographers were trying to take pictures of the house across the street."

At that Mr. Vanderbilt whipped up and drove away. Subsequently he tried to have the report of the affair removed from the police blotter, but it was too late.

Physicians are calling attention to the fact that influenza has come to stay. In the larger cities there has been a marked increase in diseases affecting the organs of respiration, which increase is attributed to the prevalence of influenza. Persons who are recovering from grip or influenza are in a weak condition and peculiarly liable to pulmonary disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, lung "trouble" and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It is the best tonic medicine for those whose strength and vitality have been exhausted by an attack of grip. It purifies the blood, cleansing it of the poisonous accumulations which breed and feed disease. It gives increased activity to the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of pure blood, rich with the red corpuscles of health.

"A word for your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, Cocheton Co., Ohio. "We have been using it as a family medicine for more than four years. As a cough remedy and blood-purifier there is nothing better, and after having the grip Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is just the right medicine for a complete bracing up."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs.

MINISTERS AS CO-DIRECTORS

The British Public Objects to the Combination.

HAYES FISHER'S RESIGNATION

The British Coal Exporters Suffer Greatly From the Dutch Strike.

London, April 13, 1 a.m. — Premier Balfour made a great mistake when he altered the sanitary rule laid down by Mr. Gladstone forbidding ministers to be directors. This is evident from the comments which are appearing in the financial and literary reviews on what is known as "The Tele-scriptor Case." An inventor secured a patent for a new system of telegraphy, and Mr. Hayes Fisher, M. P., the financial secretary of the treasury, and some other capitalists agreed to find the money to give the patent its real value on the condition that they were to share the profits.

RECEIVED BONUS SHARES. A syndicate was formed, and Fisher, who was appointed one of the directors, subscribed for a thousand shares, in consideration of which he was allotted two thousand fully-paid bonus shares. The syndicate incurred liabilities, and wound up, and Justice Buckley was the judge that decided that there was a prima facie case for prosecuting Whitaker Wright, disapproved of the conduct of the directors, and expressed the opinion that they should redeem the bonus shares at par.

COMMENTS ON RESIGNATION. Mr. Fisher at once wrote out a check for the nominal value of the shares and passed his resignation to Premier Balfour's hands. The Prime Minister has been blamed in some quarters for accepting the resignation, but the sense of the House of Commons and country is decidedly against ministers, during the period of official connection with the Government, being directors of public companies. Labouchere says in Truth, "Whilst they eat the official loaf they should eschew the directorial fishes."

DUTCH STRIKE.

It is believed here that the Dutch strike will be over in a fortnight, or less, but meanwhile the British coal exporters and shipowners are carefully watching the progress of events, for if the struggle should happen to be prolonged the effect upon the coal and shipping trades of this country would be distinctly felt. Both Amsterdam and Rotterdam take large quantities of British coal, and when a temporary stoppage of shipments would tend to weaken freights and coal prices in the north country markets, which do the bulk of the Dutch trade. On the other hand, Rotterdam is the port of shipment for German coal, and the interruption to German shipment would, if continued for any length of time, favor the export of British coal to those markets which Germany is in the habit of supplying.

NEW DISCOVERY OF HARD COAL

Eight New Veins That Had Never Been Dreamed Of—Contain 300,000,000 Tons.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 11.—An immense tract of coal has just been discovered in Hanover Township, south of this city, on land owned by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company. Eight new veins have been discovered, which were never before encountered in the development of this region, underneath the twelve veins now being worked in other parts of the upper region. These twenty veins are estimated to contain 300,000,000 tons of coal. The discovery is the most valuable ever made in the anthracite region since its general development.

THE GIANTS CONFER

Hill and Morgan Thought to Be Planning New Move.

New York, April 13.—J. P. Morgan was in conference this afternoon at his office with President J. J. Hill, of the Northern Securities Company, and J. H. Morgan, of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads. The conference was reported to have some bearing on the decision in the Northern Securities case, but no confirmation was obtainable as those present at the conference declined to talk for publication.

Massacred Garrison.

Victoria, B.C., April 13.—The steamer Victoria, which has arrived from the Orient, brought news that a party of Manchurians and Koreans who are in the employ of the Russian Government and Russian troops have massacred the Chinese garrison of Cha-Kushin, on the Yalu River. Russian officers from Moukden have proceeded to the locality.

News comes from Chihli of a Boxer rising in that province. Yuan-Shih-Kai, the governor, is endeavoring to put down the movement, and troops being sent to the scene a battle occurred, in which there was large loss of life. Ten of the principal Boxers, among whom half a million women, were captured and beheaded.

The Barr Colonists.

St. John, N. B., April 13.—The steamship Lake Megantic, with the British colonists under Rev. Mr. Barr, for the Saskatoon district, arrived here on Saturday morning. There were 800 people aboard, and they had with them half a million dollars, and will be rushed through to Winnipeg as quickly as possible. Nearly half a million dollars worth of goods were sent along for them by the Manitoba Government.

The Age of Oysters.

A wholesale oyster dealer was sitting up a new invoice yesterday. "There are some old fellows in that lot," he said, as he showed to one side some abnormally large ones. He picked out one and measured it. The oyster was eight inches long. "The age of an oyster has absolutely no effect upon its quality," he said. "It doesn't get tough with age, like the higher order of animals. How long does an oyster live? Well, I couldn't say, exactly. I have known Maurice River oystermen to claim that an oyster undisturbed in a neglected cove would live for 25 years before it finally died of old age. And an oyster of the Maurice River type keeps on growing all the time. I have seen some myself that measured nearly a foot in length."—Philadelphia Record.

KING EDWARD'S TOUR

How His Majesty Will Be Received in France. Paris, April 13.—The Figaro Saturday afternoon publishes details of the approaching visit of King Edward to France, according to which his majesty will enter France from Italy on the 1st of May. The King will be met in Paris at the Bois de Boulogne Railroad station by President Loubet and the high officials of the republic, and escorted to the British embassy here. Various entertainments have been organized for the royal visit. King Edward, according to the Figaro, will leave Paris on May 4.

San Francisco, April 13.—The earliest American civilization, far antedating the generally accepted limits of pre-Columbian cultures, have been traced in Peru by Dr. Max Uhle, director of the Anthropological excavations and explorations in that country by the University of California, where, heretofore, Inca traditions had led scientists to believe Peruvian civilization existed only a few centuries before the coming of the Spaniards.

The archaeological work of Dr. Uhle has established the fact that a great civilization flourished at least 2,000 years earlier, and that a cultured race of higher development than the Incas was in existence before the Trojan war.

This remarkable discovery follows a study made in the two expeditions which Dr. Uhle has led in recent years under the auspices of the University of California.

LOUBET'S TRIUMPH

Great Crowds Give Him a Hearty Welcome.

Marseilles, France, April 13.—President Loubet arrived here today from Paris on his way to Algeria, after receiving continuous ovations along the route. The presidential party was met by the civil and military authorities and was escorted to the prefecture, where an official reception was held. A crowd estimated to have numbered 300,000 persons packed the thoroughfares and gave the President an enthusiastic greeting, cries of "Long live Loubet" and "Long live the Republic," being heard on all sides. A grand banquet at the bourse followed the reception.

MOUNT BRYDGES.

Mount Brydges, April 10.—At the annual meeting of the Methodist Sunday school held on Monday night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing conference year: Superintendent, Mr. Torrance; secretary, Clifton Thomas (re-elected); treasurer, Small (re-elected); organist, Miss West (re-elected); librarians, Fred Thomas and Asa Lipsitt.

Mr. Frank Lockwood has purchased what is known as the "Pearce" property, and is moving there. Houses are in demand here.

Mrs. McLellan is spending the Easter holidays with her brother, Dr. F. Bartlett, of St. Thomas.

The funeral of the late J. D. Reilly took place yesterday from the family residence (Muncy). Services were conducted in St. Jude's Church, Mount Brydges, and the Masonic burial services at the village cemetery. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family as they had lately sold their farm and were preparing to move to Mount Brydges. Mr. Reilly's death was sudden.

Mrs. Clapp, of Harrison, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Whiting.

Mr. Edward Dingman and Miss Maude Steer were married at the manse at Delaware on Wednesday, this week.

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nervine never fails to cure in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nervine in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentery, cured to stay cured. Nervine also cures cramps, colic, pain in the stomach, and sick headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c bottle and try it. Nervine is all right.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

BY MRS. C. N. WILLIAMSON.

[Copyright 1902. All Rights Reserved.]

Perhaps the idea was an absolutely mad one, but I wanted more than I had ever wanted anything to see Noel—not as a lover, oh, no! but merely a friend falsely accused of a crime whom I might help.

I had no knowledge of French police procedure, but it seemed just possible that I might be allowed to see him in the presence of others, if the authorities knew who I really was, and I thought, as father liked Noel, he would not object to my making use of his name as a sort of passport, provided I could manage to get into the city.

It was not that I was the daughter of the British Home Secretary, I had never been an ambassador, nor the friend of a minister, and ask if he could do anything for me.

I had been vexed last night at hearing Aunt Clem called "conventional," still, there was enough truth in the taunt to keep me from taking her into my confidence. I was sure that she and Lord Gowan would not do anything they could to stop me from being conspicuous, and perhaps they would wire to father.

We were not going back to England until the next day, so there was no excitement about getting off, and Aunt Clem, being quite upset about the news of Noel, had gone to bed. My time was my own for the present, and without stopping any longer to think I went quietly out of my room, not to advertise my movements to Marion, I took with me the locked writing case in which I had put the necklace, for I was not quite self-absorbed enough to be careless of a thing which was apparently of great value.

It was at the bureau, saying that there was jewelry in the case which I would like to have kept in the safe. Then I told the porter to call me a cab, which he did, and off I drove to the British embassy.

Sir George Mott saw me alone; and when it was really time to make my request, I found that he had supposed, and got very much confused, I am sure, when I had finished that Sir George must have thought I was engaged to Noel, though, of course, I said nothing of the kind; and he told me one thing which had not been found out in time for the first edition of the evening papers which we had seen. It appeared that an accomplice in a very cleverly planned robbery, he had been acquitted.

I could see that Sir George was reluctant to do anything for me in the matter, perhaps because he had a daughter he would not thank my father to interfere in such a way. But I persuaded him that if he didn't help me I would try and write and put out any help, which would make things a lot worse. So he wrote a letter to the Chief of Police in Paris, saying who I was, and asking for my favor that I might be permitted a few minutes' conversation with the accused man.

I took the letter myself, to save time, and because I was anxious to be doing something every moment. How I should have hated it all, had it been for anyone except Noel—but as it was I did not mind the delay. The Chief of Police, who was a most courteous person, I received an order for the governor of the prison where Noel had been taken, who he explained would procure me an accomplice in a very cleverly planned robbery, he had been acquitted.

"A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and I began to improve before I had taken half a bottle. One bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

As a prompt cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is wonderfully effective. It is not a mere cough mixture, but a thorough and far-reaching medicine, which acts on the whole system, and drives out disease: 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much), 60 cents at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

When it hurts to cough, when coughing or a long breath causes pain, or a feeling of soreness in the chest, when the linings of the throat and bronchial tubes feel raw and sore, when you feel that the cold which you are expected to wear away is getting the better of you, turn to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and you will get prompt relief and cure.

Mr. Hope, Ontario, writes: "Being exposed to all sorts of weather I frequently catch cold. Last winter I was so bad with a cold I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared it would develop into consumption if I did not succeed in getting proper relief. But a friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and I began to improve before I had taken half a bottle. One bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Fellers, of Chatham, president; Roy Abraham, of Danbury, vice-president, and J. Butler, of Windsor, secretary-treasurer. RULES COMMITTEE MET. Toronto, April 13.—A meeting of the rules committee of the Ontario Rugby Football Union was held at the Rossin House Saturday afternoon. Each member of the committee and the executive had been sent a draft copy of the rules, framed in accordance with the amendments passed at the last annual meeting of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

President W. N. Ferguson presided, with the following present: Rev. A. F. Barr, Vice-President W. A. McPherson, Secretary F. D. Woodworth, Max Yates, Jack Hobbs, London, F. Coffee, Toronto; Mr. DuMoulin, Hamilton. The draft rules complied with the object of covering every possible point which might occur in a game were changed in minor details and will be printed.

The following rule relative to kicking the line was favored by the executive:

"The man who first receives the ball when it is snapped back shall not carry the ball forward beyond the line of scrimmage unless he has regaled it after it has been actually passed to and has touched another player. If he does so the ball shall go to the opponents on the spot."

Regarding off-side interference two pertinent rules are put in to bear directly on the point. They read as follows:

"After the ball is put in play the players on the line of scrimmage of the side that has possession of the ball shall not lock their hands or arms, but only while on the line of scrimmage may obstruct the opponents with the body only. The player running with the ball may use his hands and arms. For an infringement of this rule the offending side shall be given the ball. This rule bears directly on the off-side interference. If, when the ball is in play, any player of the side having possession of the ball, being off-side is charged by players of his own side, and being forced to advance towards his opponent's goal, takes more than two steps in that direction, it shall be considered off-side interference, and the penalty for the first offense shall be a loss of 10 yards, and on each subsequent offense during the game the loss of the ball.

THE RING.

TO MATCH FELTZ AND CORBETT. Savannah, Ga., April 11.—A certified check for $1,000 was deposited today with the sporting editor of the Morning News on behalf of Tommy Feltz to bind him for a match with Young Corbett for the featherweight championship, the men to weigh in at the limit of 122 pounds at the ringside, or for a match with Harry Forbes for the bantamweight championship, the men to weigh in at 115 pounds. Feltz is willing to meet either of the men before any responsible club, and his forfeit is up.

Feltz claims the championship of Canada. Feltz was played in both these classes, asserting that neither Corbett nor Forbes has fought at the weight of his class in months.

Sports Boiled Down. Danny Duane has so far recovered from his sickness that he has challenged any lightweight in New England to fight him in three weeks.

Matty Matthews and Rube Ferns are old rivals in the ring. When they face each other at Fort Erie, Ont., on April 27, it will be for the sixth time. They have fought 16-round bouts at Fort Erie, and each winning once, and the other engagement was a draw. At Toronto, Ferns knocked Matthews out, and in Whist. Elected Officers. Toronto, April 11.—The annual meeting of the Whist Club was held last night, and the following officers were elected: Honorary president, W. M. Logan, of Hamilton; president, J. S. Wallace, of Toronto; first vice-president, W. S. Horning, of Toronto; second vice-president, John Hull, of Woodstock; third vice-president, W. F. Patterson, of Brantford; honorary secretary, R. S. Brown, of LONDONERS WON WHIST TROPHY. The eighth annual congress of the C. W. L. started on Thursday, April 9, at Toronto, the chief feature of which was the C. W. L. challenge trophy and four championship, open to teams of four, representing any whist club in Canada. There were five teams entered. The first session was played on Friday morning under the Howell system in the Temple building. The aggregate score obtained by each of the pairs determined the team that would be eligible to enter in the final contest, which would be played on Saturday.

The first and second score teams, the London team, consisting of Messrs. W. M. Gowanlock, W. H. Galbraith, Fred Magee and W. A. Thrasher, obtained a total of 88 1/2 points, with a score of 147 1/2, tied Napanee, with 37 1-5, the Woodstock team following them closely, with the Welland team in the rear. The London team played the first and second top score teams, Toronto winning by five tricks, and the final game between London and Toronto was won by London with a score of 147 1/2.

The winners obtained a commanding lead early in the game, winning four tricks on the first four boards, and three tricks on the second, the results being announced as each series of four boards were finished.

As this contest is essentially a contest of "fours" and not of two pairs, each player played one-third of the deals with each of his team mates as partner. Two of the London players had never before played a game as partners, and in fact, had only played a few boards as opponents when they met at the same table in a compass of 100 games.

It was a very interesting contest, and the London team played the system of whist played by these gentlemen when they could sit together as partners, and on the eight deals played by them, make for their team a net gain of one trick.

A summary of the results of the gains and losses by the London team on each set of four boards is as follows:

Gains. Losses.
First set 3 0
Second set 3 0
Third set 1 0
Fourth set 1 0
Fifth set 1 0
Sixth set 1 0

Totals 9 0

The trophy is on exhibition in Barnard's window, while the medals adorn the proud breasts of the winners.

The London team, being the victors in the four sets, failed to qualify for entrance to the championship pairs. Had they lost or made the second highest top score in the preliminaries they would have been able to enter.

ROBERT DARCH'S DEATH
Aged Citizen Died Early Easter Morning.

He Was One of London's Best-Known Residents—A Pioneer of the City.

One of the city's oldest residents has passed away in the person of Mr. Robert Darch, of 564 King street, who died early Easter morning, after a brief illness. Up to the time he was taken ill a few weeks ago, he had always enjoyed good health, and though he was in his 84th year he had been hale and hearty. His death was not expected until within a day of its occurrence.

The late Mr. Darch was one of the best known residents of this city. He was born in Rings, in Devonshire, in 1820. His father, Mr. John Darch, brought his family out to Canada in 1850 and settled in London. The late Mr. Robert Darch, with his father, and a brother, shortly afterwards started a harness business on Dundas street near where the Market Lane is now located. Here the business was conducted for almost 25 years, during which time Mr. Darch became acquainted with the majority of country residents, who came into the city, as well as gaining a large number of friends in the city of London. He retired from business 25 years ago, living continuously since that time in the city of London.

In his earlier days, Mr. Darch was a hard worker in politics, always being identified as a Conservative. He was also an enthusiastic Englishman, being prominently connected as a life member with St. George's Society, in which as everywhere he was held in high esteem. He was predeceased by his wife about nine years ago. One daughter survives him, Mrs. Selena Griffin, widow of the late George J. Griffin; also two sons, Thomas, of Colorado Springs, and Frederick J., of this city. One daughter, who died several years ago, was Annie, wife of Mr. W. H. Thorn, still of this city. Mr. Darch is also survived by one brother, Joshua, and two sisters, Susan and Mrs. Gillean, of this city.

The funeral appointments have been made for tomorrow afternoon, when services will be conducted by Rev. C. C. Brown, and interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

BOYS STEAL A TROLLEY
And Make a Record Run Through the Town.

Lowell, Mass., April 12.—Two boys, Fred K. Eckart and Irving Bancroft, both of Draught, have been arrested, charged with breaking and entering the barn of the Boston and Northampton Railway and stealing a trolley car. The boys had been to a party, and were returning home when, according to the police, Eckart suggested a trolley ride. The car barn was broken into and a car taken. With Eckart on the front and a record run to Hudson, N. H., was taken. After the town of Hudson was reached, the trolley was turned, and the mad run back was begun. On the way the car jumped the track and was abandoned.

HOME GUARD BANQUETED
THE VISITING OLD BOYS

Local Association Entertains International Executive.

Speeches Breathed Loyalty to Old Home and Country.

The local association of London Old Boys were the hosts at a dinner given at the City Hotel on Saturday evening to the members of the international executive committee. The pleasant event was attended by a company of about 50 persons, including a number who have been prominent in the Old Boy movement since its inception. To be still more exact, it was mainly through the efforts of Joe Davis, C. A. Stone, Harry McBride and Atwell Fleming, of Toronto, that the first excursion was held from that city. These Old Boys were on hand on Saturday, together with Wm. A. Small, the mainstay of the Chicago association; Dr. Bert Leys, and Col. Sullivan, of Detroit, and others.

The banquet commenced at 9:30, and for two hours following the nicely-prepared and appetizing dinner, the company listened to speeches and songs. In addition to the members of the executive and the local association who attended the meeting of the former, there were present Sir John Carling, Mayor Beck, Nicholas Wilson, one veteran teacher; T. H. Purdon, K. C., W. A. Eastwood, Ald. Saunders, P. McPhillips, Charles Wheeler, Arthur Garthwaite, S. H. Craig, E. R. Crossley, Cyril Dwight-Edwards, J. W. McIntosh, John M. Daly, Wm. Buchanan, J. B. Cox, W. C. Ferguson, J. Thompson, Finlay Marshall and others of the home guard. Requests at inability to attend were received from Messrs. Charles S. Hyman, M. P., Senator Coffey, Thomas Weston (Chicago), J. H. May, of Windsor, honorary vice-president of the International Association, John A. Cousins (Rochester), W. Harwood (Cleveland), Frank A. Wilson (Buffalo), L. H. Dams, of St. Paul, Minn., Capt. Coyne (Mount Forest), D. B. Dewar (Hamilton), Frank Plant (Ottawa), W. M. Begg (Toronto), and James H. Lee (Strathroy).

MINTO INTERESTED.
Mr. B. C. McCall, president of the home guard, handled the most list and introduced "The King." There was a great deal of truth in the saying, but Mr. Purdon added that those who remained at home did well, like those who went abroad. The question was asked, "Do you think the Old Boys would be as good as they are if they did not have the common sense to come when they were wanted?" Mr. Purdon answered that the Old Boys would be as good as they are if they did not have the common sense to come when they were wanted. thing held good throughout the entire universe. Whether we gaze on our own earth or on planetary bodies about us, or worlds so far distant that the brain reels and calculation wavers, said the bishop, we see everywhere God's universal design. It is the handwork of the one God who is teaching now the elements of eternal truth.

Passing to the unity in revelation, the bishop said people might ask how the resurrection attested the Sonship of Christ. The answer lay in the fact that it was for that very truth he was crucified. His death was the work of his enemies, a punishment for assuming to be the Son of God, and his rising from the dead was his vindication. The resurrection was the record of his triumph over sin and death, and his great promises. It told of the efficacy of his atonement. It told of our sins having been laid on Christ, and that, having died on account of them, he had risen again. It told of that same Christ as the Son of God, who is teaching now the elements of eternal truth.

A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.
"If there is one question more than another that clergymen are called on to answer," said the bishop, "it is the question asked by bereaved ones as to the possibility of a meeting beyond the grave. To such a question our answer is threefold. The Scriptures tell us with one voice that when the spirit has taken its flight from the body it goes to be with the Lord. As regards the body there are two things to be said. Its component parts must go back to their original and constituent elements, but what beyond? What we look for is a resurrection of that body—a rising of what was, has passed and has been brought into being again. If every atom passed away and nothing were left that would be impossible. Some germ must remain, and just what it is we cannot tell, as it lies with the omniscience of God. Bearing in mind that some germ is to be retained by which the resurrection is made possible, we come to the question as to what the form of the resurrected body shall be. The answer must be that of St. John. It does not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when it shall appear we shall be like him. Those glorious forms that will collect about us in the better land, those glorified beings that shine like the noonday sun, are the men and women who have trod the weary and dusty pathway of this world, but who have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb and

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"DEVIL'S AUCTION."

For 21 years "Devil's Auction" has made its annual tour, and still is as popular as ever. While staged apparently laboriously, it was not put on by any stronger company than usually appears in this production. The music, of course, has been changed and new songs take the place of old ones, but they are not of a particularly bright ones. The best of them were not sung to best advantage, as the soloists and their support were not strong. The vaudeville element was pleasing, so far as it is possible for that style of acting to please when thrown together with music, as the "Devil's Auction" and such medleys are.

are standing today in the presence of God.

"The question is sometimes asked, 'Shall we know our loved ones there?' Our answer is that memory must be retained. The man who has been rescued from the very gates of death does not fail to remember and feel grateful for what was done for him. How are we to praise our Saviour unless our memory can pick up the events of this troubled life and show us the pit from which we were saved? Our memory must remain and must be vivid enough to take up the details of our lives and reweave the garment of the past, bringing its scenes before us again. The question is asked how can we look back on our former lives without being made sad? Heaven alone will answer that, but one thing at least we know—that God will wipe away all tears from their eyes and there will be no sorrow there."

EASTER AT ST. PETER'S
Concerning the musical services at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday much might be said. The choir was assisted at the morning mass by Mr. Dwight-Edwards, the celebrated English baritone, who sang two solos with the choir, and whose voice was a full strength, led by Mr. Hubert Traher, and the entire musical portion of the day was up to the mark. As St. Peter's Easter is always noteworthy for its beautiful decorations, the altar being generally almost completely hidden from view with lilies and palms. The decorations for yesterday were thrice as beautiful as those of the day before.
