

ALEXANDER WARWICK KILLED IN A HOTEL FIGHT POLICE HOLD JOSEPH WARD ON MURDER CHARGE

Fatal Row in the Morkin House on Saturday Night.

WARWICK THROWN INTO BASEMENT

He Alighted on His Head and Fractured His Skull—Ward Said to Have Been Drunk at the Time.

Alex. Warwick, known as "Trusty," is dead, and Joseph Ward, a young man from Springfield, is held on the charge of murder, as the result of a drunken brawl in the Morkin House about 6 o'clock on Saturday evening. During the scuffle, Warwick was shoved down cellar, his head striking the cement floor. His skull was fractured, and he lay only a couple of hours after being removed to Victoria Hospital. Ward was arrested by P. C. Harry Green in half an hour after the affair, and locked up. Yesterday the charge of murder was laid against him.

In King Street Hotel. Saturday afternoon Trusty Warwick was in the basement of the Morkin House, talking with Mr. Edward Morkin, the proprietor, about a hat that Warwick had hidden from one of the boarders the week previous. Shortly before six Warwick left the basement, and went out the front door. As he did so, he met Ward and George Talbot, a well-known man about town.

Challenged Warwick. As soon as Ward saw Trusty, it is alleged he said, "Now, do you want to fight?"

Warwick said, "Why, sure." Ward thereupon turned him, and he fell into the doorway of the Morkin House. He also slipped Trusty. Tom Morkin and another man separated them, and Warwick went into the hotel, followed by Ward.

At the end of the hallway the quarrel was renewed, and the men started arguing angrily.

Suddenly Ward said, "I will throw you down the cellar, d— you."

With that, he made a grab for the fighters, but missed them, and Ward, it is said, shoved Warwick down the cellar.

Alighted on His Head. Ed. Morkin was in the basement at the time, and heard Warwick scream as he fell.

Warwick struck on the back of his head on the cement floor, and blood spattered out of the wounds.

As soon as Ward had seen what he had done he left the hotel, and went east on King street, turning down Talbot street.

The injured man was picked up by Dr. Teasdale, who was summoned by telephone. He came in a very short time and seeing the nature of the injuries, called the ambulance and had Warwick removed to Victoria Hospital.

P. C. Green came along and on being notified of the occurrence he instructed the police to be on the lookout for Ward.

Skull Fractured. Warwick was removed to the hospital in the ambulance, but on examination it was found that his skull was badly fractured, and that there was no hope for him. He lingered until 8:20 o'clock in an unconscious condition, when he died.

P. C. Green soon picked up Ward's trail, and in a little more than half an hour arrested him at the rear of the Harrison House, just as he was coming out of the yard.

He was immediately taken to the jail and locked up. He was intoxicated at the time.

Mr. Morkin's Story. Tom Morkin, son of the proprietor of the Morkin House, saw considerable of the affair, and told the following story to The Advertiser:

"I was standing out in front of the hotel, when Warwick came out of the door," said Mr. Morkin. "When he met Ward said, 'Now do you want to fight?' Warwick said he did."

"Ward then tripped him, and he fell into the doorway," said Mr. Morkin. "I saw him, not a hard crack. I separated them and told them to go on. Trusty went into the house, and Ward followed. I went in, and I thought they had gone to the bar or into one of the rooms. In a minute I heard some more talk, and then I heard Ward say, 'I will throw you down stairs, d— you.' I reached for them, but just missed them by a few inches."

Warwick Fall. "Warwick fell on the floor and lay there. Ward turned and went out of the hotel. I called on him to remain, but he did not. He went east on King street, and then turned on Talbot street, I did not see him afterwards. We called half a dozen doctors and Dr. Teasdale came. He ordered Warwick to be taken to the hospital."

"The fight outside occurred just as I have stated. I do not know whether there had been any feeling between the men before this or not. I did not think they could hurt each other. Ward was quite drunk, and I did not think he could do so badly. He did not hurt Warwick when he knocked him down in the doorway."

"Trusty was not drunk. He was perfectly sober, and I do not think he had a drink all day."

Mr. Edward Morkin told his story willingly enough.

"Warwick and I had some trouble about a hat belonging to one of the boarders," said Mr. Morkin. "I sent for him, and he came. We straightened out that difficulty, and we were in the cellar together. I told him to go home, and he left me. In a few minutes afterwards I heard a noise, and then a scream. He Trusty came falling down stairs."

FRED MERNER WAS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

Charged With Breaking Into a Store at New Hamburg, Ont.

Detective Nickle arrested Fred Merner on the market last night, on a charge of breaking into the store of Gables & Co., of New Hamburg. The police received a telegram early in the afternoon that Merner had broken into the store of Gables & Co., and had taken considerable money. The message stated that it was thought that Merner had fled from London. Detective Nickle kept a sharp lookout all the afternoon and evening, and about 8 o'clock walked up to his man on the market square and placed him under arrest. He had $23 in his pockets when arrested, the majority of it being in American nickels. Merner was taken back to New Hamburg today.

SURE HE KNOWS WHO KILLED GIRL

But Not Enough Evidence Yet to Prove Case in Kinrade Murder Mystery.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Hamilton, April 5.—Provincial Detective Miller, the officer who has charge of the Kinrade case, had a conference with Crown Attorney Washington this morning, and when asked if there was anything new he said the authorities were practically convinced that they knew who murdered Ethel Kinrade, but they had not succeeded yet in getting the evidence to prove it.

COUNCIL MEETING WILL LIKELY BE VERY BRIEF

Business to Come Up Tonight Does Not Look Important at This Distance.

The council will meet this evening, and from what can be learned there will be little done.

The business is not heavy, and it is likely that there will be a short session.

The committee reports, with the exception of that of the board of works, are brief, and will entail little discussion.

In No. 2's report the tenders for supplies will be awarded, but as they have been taken up at two different meetings, it is not likely that they will be discussed at any great length.

The council will not make any effort to investigate the charges as to the irregularity of isolation hospital and other contracts.

It is doubtful if they will be brought up at all, and if they are brought up, little discussion will take place.

The estimates will not be considered at all, but will be taken up at the next regular meeting.

INCREASED REVENUE FROM SALE OF STAMPS

Ottawa, April 5.—For the fiscal year just ended the revenue of the post-office department from the sale of stamps was $3,215,862, compared with $3,856,570 for the preceding twelve months, an increase of $640,492, or compared with 1903. The increase is $4,088,401, or almost 100 per cent.

REVIVE OLD DANCES

Edward Enchanted With Minuets Presented at German Court.

London, April 5.—It is understood King Edward is considering favorably a petition from the dancing teachers who wish old dances revived at the palace. It is said the King and Queen were so enchanted with the pavan and minuets as danced at the German court that they have decided to introduce them at the Buckingham Palace state balls, where the men as they wear either court dress or uniform, will not look so out of place dancing stately minuets.

MR. JOHN E. McNEE DIED THIS MORNING

Well-Known Young Businessman Has Passed Away After Long Illness.

A PROMINENT ATHLETE

Well Known in Football, Curling and Bowling—The Hero of the Famous McNeek Kick.

Mr. John E. McNeek, one of London's most prominent young businessmen, died at the residence of his father, Mr. John McNeek, corner of Central avenue and Richmond street, at an early hour this morning.

For some time he had been ill, but his condition was not thought to be very serious. Few other than his most intimate friends knew just how ill he was.

On Friday last he was down town, and in the evening he started for home, feeling very tired. When he arrived there, his weakness was very apparent, and he went to bed. At the time it was thought that he had taken the grip.

On Saturday his condition became worse, but it was thought he would rally. Yesterday he became much worse, however, and five physicians were called in consultation. They diagnosed his case, and declared that he could not get better.

About 2 o'clock he lapsed into unconsciousness. He rallied early in the evening, but it was only temporary. He then lapsed again into unconsciousness, passing away shortly after 1 o'clock this morning.

Well-Known Cigar Man. John E. McNeek was the second eldest son of Mr. John McNeek, the well-known cigar manufacturer, and was 23 years of age. He was engaged in the business with his father, and was widely known throughout the Province.

He was a splendid athlete in his earlier days, and was well known on the football field and in other branches of sport. Two years ago he became ill, and took a trip to Germany to get the benefit of the sea air, which improved his health. The past winter he took another bad spell, and went south, but returned little benefited by the change.

Deceased is survived by his father and mother, four brothers, James, Ernest, Doug and Elmer, and one sister, Florence.

A Splendid Athlete. Few athletes have been better known in Western Ontario than "Jack" McNeek. In 1906 he played with McGill, when that team won the Inter-collegiate championship. Prior to that he had played on the Ontario team, his playing being considered most brilliant.

After his return from McGill he played with the London Intercollegiate when they won two championships. The celebrated "McNeek kick" was one of the features of football when he was in the game.

It was in bowling, however, that he achieved his greatest popularity. It is said to be the only time he has won a prize in the game.

TWO OF WARWICKS DROWNED THIRD MET A VIOLENT DEATH

Richard and Robert Warwick Met Their Fate in the Thames—Alexander Killed by a Fall Down Stairs—A Peculiarly Unlucky Family.

Alex. Warwick was the third of the family to meet with a violent death. Two of his brothers, Richard and Robert, were drowned in the Thames thirteen years ago on Aug. 8.

The two boys had gone down to Ward's Hotel in Springfield in a row-boat.

After spending the evening there, they took their boat and started for home.

Boat Capsized. They never got to the city, the craft capsizing somewhere in the deep water near Wonderland, and both were drowned.

There were no witnesses of the accident, and how it happened has never been known.

The affair caused a great deal of talk at the time, but nothing was done. Both boys were younger than Trusty.

Alex. Warwick's Funeral. The funeral of Alex. Warwick will be held on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of his brother, John Warwick, 242 Horton street, to Woodland Cemetery. The services will be conducted by Canon Dena, of St. Paul's Cathedral.

TIME EXTENDED FOR CLUB CONTEST

The Special Trip-to-Europe Offer Open Until April 17.

SUBSCRIPTIONS IN FIVES

Important Notice as to Conditions Covering the New Premium Competition.

The offer of one thousand extra votes for those who bring in a club of five subscriptions has been extended to the great interest shown in The Advertiser's Free Trip to Europe Contest. Many inquiries have been received as to whether a candidate could bring in one subscription at a time, and when five have been entered make a claim for the extra votes. A careful reading of the announcement, which appeared in Saturday's paper, will show that this is not permissible. The announcement distinctly states that "the five subscriptions must be turned in at the same time." If the candidates will remember this rule they will save themselves some disappointment.

There has been one change decided on since the announcement was published, which will be all for the benefit of the contestants. It was felt that the limiting of the time for obtaining the premium votes to one week might prove a hardship on some, and as a result has been decided to leave the opportunity open for one week longer than was at first decided, and the candidates will have until the 17th of April in which to secure club subscriptions. But even two weeks is not a very long time, and it is to the candidates' interest to take advantage of every moment of it.

JOSEPH WARD APPEARS ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Was Remanded by the Police Magistrate Until a Week From Tuesday.

Long before 10 o'clock this morning Carroll street was lined with an eager throng of men and boys waiting to see Joseph Ward, charged with the murder of Alexander Warwick, when he was brought to the police station.

The police, however, anticipating what would happen, had taken Ward up earlier in the morning. He walked from the jail, where he had spent the night, to the police station, accompanied by Detective Rink, Toronto, holding them to a side beyond remarking that it was a nice morning.

The spectators' gallery in the court room was crowded when he appeared. Promptly at 10 o'clock the prisoners were led in, and Ward took his seat quietly in the cage. He is a very tall young man, with long, dark hair, and was neatly dressed in a suit of black clothes.

He was quite composed when he re-entered the look which many eyes turned on him.

"Joseph Ward," read the magistrate, and Ward jumped up from his seat. "You are charged with the murder of Alexander Warwick on the evening of April 3. How old are you?"

"I am twenty-six years old," said Ward. "I will remain your prisoner from tomorrow until the result of the inquest is made known," said the court.

Ward was immediately taken away to the cells, and walked quietly with the constable.

Mr. John M. McEoy has been retained as counsel for Ward.

CHINA'S NEW LOAN

German Bankers Have Arranged to Supply Fifteen Millions.

Paris, April 5.—A conference of German, French and British bankers was held here Friday and Saturday to discuss the question of making a $15,000,000 loan to China, for the extension of the Pekin-Hankow Railway to Canton. German bankers have already practically engaged themselves to supply this loan, but the British and French bankers consider that this engagement violates the agreement made in Berlin in February last, when the British, German and French bankers agreed not to advance money to China without having a European engineer in China to check expenditure and to insure that the money was devoted to the purpose for which it was intended. The Germans, not having exacted this precaution in the case in question, the British and French bankers refused to participate in the loan, and if the Germans persist in concluding it they intend to protest to Peking on the ground that it violates the convention made with China in 1905.

LOOKS LIKE A 22½ MILL RATE

Certainly Taxes This Year Will Be No Less Than in 1908.

INCREASES ALL ALONG THE LINE

Every Spending Body of the City Service Wants More Money.

After tonight's meeting the estimates will be all in to the council, the board of education being the last to submit figures.

On the whole they are considerably larger than last year, and it will keep the finance committee busy to retain the tax rate at 22½ mills of last year.

The figures, compared with 1908, are interesting, and show where the increases will be.

The Increases. The police department will take $45,000 this year, as compared with $43,218 last year.

The schools will ask $199,240 in 1909, while in 1908 the estimates were $176,000.

The hospital trust will expend $36,000 this year, as compared with $29,250 in 1908.

The public library will spend about the same, $11,000, and the separate schools will show a small increase, bringing their figures to $12,000.

The Board of Works. The board of works are asking for $83,425, as compared with $66,100 last year.

No. 3 committee will want a great deal more. This year than last. The regular committee work will cost $45,110, as compared with $36,900 in 1908, but the fire department will cost a great deal more this year, no less than $54,628 as being set aside for that purpose.

The estimates of No. 1 committee are not yet ready, but just as they asked for $48,418, so $50,000 will cover the requirements of that committee this year.

Uncontrollable. The uncontrollable expenditure will show some increase also. In 1908 the sum of $12,019 was set aside for this, but it is thought the total will be at least $225,000 must be set aside for this purpose at the present time.

In this basis, the total estimates will be in the neighborhood of $742,208, as compared with $688,829 in 1908, an increase of $53,378 last year.

What It Might Mean. Of course, the estimates will be slashed considerably. If the increase in estimates remains as it is figured above, the increase in taxation would amount to practically three mills on the dollar.

But they will be considerably reduced. The item for a storm sewer, amounting to $5,000, will be cut out, as will also the item of $6,000 for a new greenhouse.

The board of education figures cannot be cut to any extent, as there are few items among them that can be cut out. The increase in the school taxes practically eats up the whole of the new taxes derived from the increased assessment.

The fire department also is costing a great deal more, for extra men with two new halls to maintain.

The Tax Rate. From these figures it is rather hard to see how the taxes will be any less than in 1908, and it is more than likely that the tax rate will be at least a mill higher than in 1908.

The uncontrollable expenditure will be much higher than last year, because of the fact that the Niagara power debentures must be sold, and the sinking fund and interest provided for this year. A considerable sum of money has already been expended, and it will have to be charged up to that.

WELSH RIDING BACKS ASQUITH

Liberal Candidate Returned in East Denbighshire With Increased Majority.

London, April 4.—The result of the by-election in East Denbighshire, Wales, was a striking victory for the Asquith Government. Hemmerde, the Liberal candidate, received a vote of 6,265 against 3,544 received by Cunliffe, the Unionist candidate. In the last general election the vote was Hemmerde, Liberal, 5,917; Roscawen, Conservative, 3,126. The Government is thus a full thousand votes ahead on the by-election.

LONDON, MONDAY, APRIL 5.

A NATIONAL NECESSITY.

That the Government at Ottawa has done the proper thing in going to the assistance of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company is generally admitted. Mr. Borden himself has said that Parliament and the country are committed to the great enterprise, and that it must be carried out.

In the course of his remarks introducing the loan resolution, Mr. Fielding recalled the fact that in the early days of the C. P. R. somewhat similar conditions arose, and the government of the day went to the aid of that company to the extent of three times the amount asked for in the present instance. The assistance then given tilted the C. P. R. over its difficulty, the road was completed, and the loan repaid before it was due. Surely, with the country prospering as it has during the past ten years, and as it will doubtless continue to grow and prosper, the Government has ample security for its advance to the Grand Trunk Pacific.

As showing how great is the national necessity for the completion of the undertaking, particularly the prairie section, for which a loan is intended, Mr. Parnell, of Lambton, pointed out that since the launching of the project, in 1903, Canada's population has increased over 1,000,000, nearly 200,000 homesteads have been granted, the total trade of the Dominion has grown more than $175,000,000, there has been an advance of $30,000,000 in revenue, the production of grain in the three western provinces is nearly 100,000,000 bushels greater than in 1903, and notwithstanding the railway development during the past few years, the farmers of that section of the Dominion have close on 70,000,000 bushels of grain on hand, which have been unable to forward to market.

The transportation problem is as important today as ever it was, and it is in the interests not only of the west but of all Canada that the Grand Trunk Pacific be enabled to complete the prairie section from Winnipeg to Wolf Creek before the end of the present year, if possible. This fact is forcibly pointed out by western members. At present there is a great stretch of prairie country between Winnipeg and Edmonton, 900 or 950 miles in length, and 800 miles in breadth, that is greatly in need of railway facilities. Fifty or a hundred miles west of Edmonton is the country known as the foothills, where the mountain ranges are lower and the valleys wider, and where there is an extraordinary influx of settlers. The running of the main line of the G. T. P. through this region will benefit a section that will yield timber, minerals and fruits in addition to farm lands.

CRIME IN CANADA.

An increase in crime greater than that in population is the showing made by the latest volume of Canadian criminal statistics, which are for the year ended Sept. 30, 1927. The figures of indictable offences covering the greater classes of crime against the person and against property for two years are:

Charges	1926	1927
Convictions	10,901	12,041
Deaths	8,093	9,110

As regards the totals of convictions to charges in the records of the different provinces, there is a marked difference. Manitoba leads the list with convictions in 86.6 per cent of the charges. Prince Edward Island being lowest, with a percentage of 58.3. The following table shows the total number of convictions in Yukon territory, and each of the provinces, with the number per 10,000 of population:

Province	Convictions	No. per 10,000
Yukon	42	65.00
Manitoba	921	23.44
British Columbia	268	22.55
Saskatchewan	580	18.99
Alberta	390	17.41
Quebec	3,891	17.47
Ontario	2,657	11.70
Nova Scotia	450	9.67
New Brunswick	163	4.33
Prince Edward Island	14	1.38

One of the worst features of the record in the showing is the more serious crimes in 1927:

Charges	Convictions
Murder	32
Attempted murder	72
Crimes against decency	322
Crimes against chastity	189
Crimes against property	204
Assault	1,690

In this last item there is a large increase over the preceding year; otherwise the showing is not very much worse.

In proportion to population there is more crime against property in the west than in other parts of the Dominion, and the statistics for the whole country show a twofold increase in the number of crimes prompted by malice in 1927 over 1926.

The convicted during 1927 included 2,569 laborers, 912 persons engaged in commercial pursuits, 905 of the industrial class, 569 of the domestic class, 244 of the agricultural class, and 77 of the professional class. Of those convicted, 4,995 were single and 1,985 married. Seventy-seven per cent of the whole were classed as drinkers, and 23 per cent as immoderate.

Native-born Canadians formed 65.34 per cent of those convicted, British-born, outside of Canada, 16.26 per cent, and foreigners 18.40 per cent. Of the whole 10.49 per cent could neither read nor write, while 1.89 per cent were highly educated. Six out of every hundred persons convicted were second offenders and seven were habitual criminals.

In addition to the record of indictable offences there were 70,960 persons against whom summary proceedings were taken before magistrates for minor assaults, breaches of bylaws, vagrancy, drunkenness, etc., or 7,262 more than in 1926.

TWO POINTS OF VIEW.

Lord Charles Bessford laments that the national purse is at this moment in the hands of David Lloyd-George, who, he says, is "a little navy man and chiefly interested in old-age pensions, and domestic problems."

The difference between Lord Bessford's point of view and Mr. Lloyd-George's is the fundamental distinction between British Conservatism and British Liberalism in their true sense. The one measures Britain's power by the strength of her army and navy, and well-being are associated exclusively with these things. It holds military and naval matters and imperial aggrandizement to be the chief concern of a British Government, and it regards domestic questions as inconveniences to be dealt with when they can no longer be avoided with safety to the party.

The school represented by Mr. Lloyd-George believes that the moral and material condition of the people of the British Isles should be the first interest of British statesmanship. The present Government, while maintaining the army and navy at a standard which it believes to be adequate, though far below the demands of the Unionist party, has busied itself chiefly with the standard of the man behind the gun. It has relieved necessities of old age and is attempting to remedy the evils of drink, poverty, and unemployment.

Which is the nobler ideal? Which is the policy more calculated to increase the wealth and power of the British Isles? Which is the more civilized conception of the duties of statesmanship—and the more Christian?

A Frenchman won the Marathon race, with an Italian second, and Irish-Americans third and fourth. What's the matter with the good old Saxon race?

The white man's hatred of the Orientals on this continent is one of the obstacles to the movement to convert the Orientals in their own countries.

A Welsh riding has returned a Government supporter by a majority of 2,721. Wales is historically Liberal, and is not to be tricked by the Drednought party game.

Toronto Saturday Night says that a Canadian navy would in time of war strike for the high dry spots. What a contemptuous opinion of Canadians some Canadians have!

Mr. Foster, invoking the protection of a rule which forbids a member of parliament to say things disagreeable to a fellow-member, is the biggest parliamentary joke Canada has known in years.

The members of the civil service commission, who reported the abuses in the marine department, have been described in the House of Commons as "three fussy old gentlemen," anxious to make a sensation. This language is too severe. They were misinformed in some particulars, but they were honest and zealous, and the Cassell inquiry showed that their report had much foundation in fact. The present minister of marine inherited a very loose system, but he has conscientiously tried to reform it.

SAID UNCLE SILAS.

[Los Angeles Express.]
There's a heap of difference between being a good man and being a good fellow.

THE DIFFERENCE.

[Judge.]
"What is the difference between an optimist and a pessimist?"
"A pessimist is always thinking of his liabilities, while an optimist thinks only of his assets."

A PROTEST AGAINST WAR.

[Extract from speech of Mr. Macpherson, M. P. for Preston, England.]
He (Mr. Macpherson) knew as an absolute fact that the whole of our military policy was based and conceived upon a war with Germany within the next few years. ("No, no.") That was the impression conveyed to his mind by statements of officers holding high rank in the army. It had almost been admitted from both front benches in the present debate that our policy in regard to the navy was based upon the policy of Germany and a probable war with her. ("No, no.") Might God grant that such a war might never come. (Cheers.) Mr. Macpherson concluded that it is not your battleships alone, or your armies alone, in this matter. Think of the economic waste that comes out of it all. (Cheers.) I had a brother who went to South Africa on your pirates' raid. He was a decent lad before he went. Now he is one of the unemployed in the land. Why are we who have fought in industrial wars now striving to bring about conciliation? It is because we have seen and experienced the brutality of the fight. What we are doing in the industrial world can be done if men are in earnest in the political world. We plead with you in this House to go back to the old Liberal words, "Peace, retrenchment and reform," to cease from these aggressive steps, and to try to use your machinery of government and your statecraft to bring about agreements between the nations, so that this money can be set free to be spent in other directions for the benefit of the people." (Cheers.)

HIS IDEAS OF LOCATION.

[Kansas City Journal.]
"I don't know much about buying meat," admitted the young husband. "How do the prices run?"
"According to location," explained the dealer.
"Then gimme a two-pound roast, best you have in the orchestra circle."

THE TREND IS TOWARD TRUTH.

[Goldwin Smith, in Weekly Sun.]
Since intolerance, gathering up its skirts, as it were, in the last heresy trials, has ceased to struggle, the antagonism of science and philosophy to religious belief has not increased, but on the contrary has grown less. The deeper movement and the growing force of society are unquestionably on the side of free truth.

BUT NOT MILITARISM.

[Kingston Whig.]
Physical exercise is a good thing in the schools, but not the spirit of militarism. One must guard against that in accepting Lord Strathcona's bounty.

WHY BOYS LEAVE THE FARM.

It's the slovenly farm which does more to drive the young man away than anything else.

A woman who visited the British Museum recently inquired of an attendant: "Have you no skull of Cromwell? I have been looking all around for a skull of Oliver Cromwell."

CIVILIZATION.

[C. B. Quincy, in New York American.]
SPEECH BY BRITISH PRIME MINISTER.
We cannot but be gratified by the friendly which Germany exhibits for us, and which we so fully reciprocate. The warm way in which the King was greeted in Berlin shows conclusively that the bonds of peace which unite us can never be broken. So convinced of this is the Government that we will at once lay a wreath of six new Dreadnoughts. (Cheers.) We must be prepared. (Cheers.)

SPEECH BY GERMAN CHANCELLOR.
Germany stands with the world. With Great Britain we are on peculiarly friendly terms. We are united by the strongest bonds of humanity and commerce. The Government can assure the country that in 1913 we shall have thirteen Dreadnoughts in service. (Cheers.) And we shall at once begin the construction of four others. (Loud cheers.) To do this increased taxation will be necessary. (Loud silence.)

DEATH OF BUILDER OF PERE MARQUETTE.
Saginaw, Mich., April 5.—Word was received here late today of the death on the ranch San Ysidro, near Santa Barbara, Cal., of Dr. H. C. Potter, founder and builder of the Pere Marquette Railroad, banker, financier and manager.

Dr. Potter's death was due to a general breaking down, which set in soon after the suicide of his son, H. C. Potter, jun., in Detroit last winter. Dr. Potter was born in Utica, N. Y., in 1822.

FOLLOWS PLAN OF THE NEOLITHIC MAN

English Engineer's Novel Scheme to Get Water From the Desert Places.

London, April 4.—In an interesting paper read before the Society of Arts on Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., Mr. George Hubbard, F.R.S.E., makes the suggestion that not a few arid now deserts, may be made inhabitable by the formation of dew-ponds on the lines of those constructed by the Neolithic man on the summits of the South Downs. Since no surface streams exist on the chalk, the downs would have been uninhabitable until comparatively recent times, when the Neolithic man, by the formation of dew-ponds on the summits of the South Downs, made them habitable.

As the name implies, the dew-pond is fed by dew, and not by springs or by rain. However primitive man has been, he has been ingenious in his application of physical laws, untravelling only during comparatively recent years, is a mystery. As described by Mr. Hubbard, the dew-pond was formed by hollowing out the earth for a space far in excess of the apparent requirements of the pond. The whole of this area was then thickly covered with dry straw, which in turn was covered with a layer of well-puddled clay, particular care being taken to extend this over the margin of the pond. A dew-pond, constructed in a suitable position, will gradually fill with water by the condensation of dew from the air. The layer of straw, being a non-conductor of heat, isolates the clay coating above it from the earth below. As a consequence, after sundown on a clear night, the dew-pond will gradually fill with water by the condensation of dew from the air. LORD OF ADMIRALTY IS WELL-HATED MAN

His Independent Methods Jar Some Over-Sensitive and Jealous Rivals.

New York, April 2.—The Herald's naval correspondent in London cables: "For our part we are against any party or government that neglects the force on which the nation's life depends. The time for shilly-shallying and soft speeches has gone. We must have eight Dreadnoughts. We must have much more. Sir John Fisher must go and all that fisherman means."

That is the policy of the Imperial Maritime League in a nutshell. Nor while Messrs. Balfour and Lee depute attacks upon the admiralty lords are there wanting other leaders of the Unionist party, like Messrs. Austen Chamberlain and Wyndham, who are willing to support extremists. Even where the agitation is not actuated by party motives, it will serve party purposes. Nothing is more common than to whip and wirepullers, would make more for the success of their side at the next election than the cry that the navy is in danger. It would certainly pull the people together on the side which is far from satisfied with tariff reform as a war cry.

This circumstance cannot fail also to have its effect on Liberal leaders like Winston Churchill and Lloyd-George, who have no desire to relinquish the sweets of office. If they want to reply effectively to the khaki and jingo mottoes and placards of the other side they must show that they have done their duty in the provision of an adequate fleet. This is another reason why we should have eight ships.

Dreadnoughts Alone Count.

It is strange how obvious Sir John Fisher is to a large number of people. Sensible men of both parties recognize his genius and acknowledge that to him is due the enormously increased efficiency of the navy. Nothing by the way, could be a finer tribute to his foresight than the acknowledgment now made that it is Dreadnoughts only that count.

The very men and journals who a short time ago were reviling the Dreadnought design are now crying out for more of these ships. There is a host of men and women, however, who hate Sir John Fisher for his autocratic treatment of all kinds of vested interests and who would be glad to see him replaced by some one more amenable to influence, particularly of that kind which goes with petticoats.

He has shown, too clearly for many, that he has no use for professional cranks or popular idols. If not all of his selections have commended themselves to the service the perfect fairness and justice which have characterized his choice have been respected. No first sea lord has been surrounded as he by such numbers of young, progressive, energetic subordinates, partly because he has been able to work himself and partly because he possesses that prime element in success—the faculty of picking out the right man for the right place.

Anxious To Leave Office.

His strategic insight has sometimes been called in question, but the steady accumulation of the best reply to this criticism, while the fact that he is known to have the advice and approval of Sir Arthur Wilson, the foremost strategic and tactical officer of the navy, supplies further evidence of the unfounded nature of this charge. Sir John Fisher's personal friends say that he is anxious to relinquish office and has been so for some time past, but if some of the Liberal leaders do not like him, they will find it most difficult to replace him. There are many among his assailants who fear that if Mr. Balfour came into office again he would like him to stay as his first sea lord.

It has been stated that the area of operations will be placed in the Atlantic and not in the North Sea, and that once more there is to be a realization of the scheme of training inaugurated in Lord Selborne's time, when the fleet all took part in exercises under the command of Sir Arthur Wilson.

MODJESKA DYING.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4.—Except that she is becoming gradually weaker, there was no change tonight in the condition of Mrs. Modjeska. Dr. Boyd said she might die at any moment, but might also live a week or more. Artificial means are employed to sustain life.

PETROSINO'S ASSASSIN.

Palermo, April 5.—It is stated here that the assassins of James Petrosino, chief of the Italian bureau of the New York force who was murdered in this city last month, are known to the inspectors of the ministry of the interior sent down here from Rome, and that they have been communicated to Premier Giolitti.

FEED YOU MONEY

FEED YOUR BRAIN AND IT WILL FEED YOU MONEY AND FAME.

"Ever since boyhood I have been especially fond of meats, and I am convinced I ate too rapidly, and failed to masticate my food properly. The result was that I found myself, few years ago, afflicted with ailments of the stomach and kidneys, which interfered seriously with my business."

"At last I took the advice of friends and began to eat Grape-Nuts instead of the heavy meats, etc., that had constituted my former diet."

"I found that I once again benefited by the change, that I was soon relieved from the heart-burn and the indigestion that used to follow my meals, that the pains in my back had ceased entirely."

"My nerves which used to be unsteady and my brain, which was slow and lethargic from a heavy diet of meats and greasy foods, had gradually, but none the less surely, been restored to normal efficiency."

"Now every nerve is steady and my brain and thinking facilities are quicker and more acute than for years past."

"After my old style breakfasts I used to suffer during the forenoon from a feeling of weakness which hindered me in my work, but since I have begun to eat Grape-Nuts food I can work till dinner time with all ease and comfort." "There's a Reason."

BLACK HAND CHIEF IN CHICAGO NABBED

Vincenzo Geraci Walks Into Trap Laid by Intended Victim.

Chicago, April 3.—Vincenzo Geraci, who is said by the police to be the leader of the Chicago Black Hand Society, was arrested here today in the office of Dr. Peter Cuterra, from whom the Italian had demanded $3,000 on pain of death.

Geraci, it is said, has given evidence concerning his associates in the plot, and the police expect to arrest several other soon. It is thought that the members of the Chicago society are in close touch with the New York gangster, Alvin Karpis, who is the man who brought about the death of Lieut. Petrosino of the New York police department recently in Italy.

Dr. Cuterra, several days ago received a threatening letter demanding $3,000, but he paid no attention to it. A second letter was received. Today the physician received a telephone message from a man who was one of those who had written the letters.

"Unless you pay us the money you will be killed within an hour," said the man on the telephone.

Dr. Cuterra invited the man to come to his office. He prepared a large check for $3,000 and sent for the police. Detectives came at once and were concealed in an adjoining room.

Within a short time there came a rap at the door and Geraci entered. "I have come for the money," said he.

Just as the physician was handing the package over, the detectives jumped out and grabbed Geraci. He fought hard but was finally overpowered.

SALVATIONISTS TO START UNIVERSITY

Commander Booth Says Effort to Raise $50,000,000 Will Begin April 10.

New York, April 3.—Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, announced from the army's headquarters here today that she was undertaking, to be known as a "world university of humanity," for the training of workers for the army's social service operations, would be launched on April 10, in honor of the eightieth birthday of her father, General William Booth. The work of raising $50,000,000 for the founding of the university will begin on that date and the first branches will be opened in this country in New York and Chicago.

The headquarters for the rest of the world will be in London and it is intended to extend the institutions to all the 54 countries now occupied by the army, as rapidly as possible. It is believed that the university will be an efficiency of workers, and attract a superior class to the service. The number of graduates from the first is estimated at 3,000 a year.

U. S. NICARAGUA ROW

Latter Fails To Adjust Emery Claim and Brings on Crisis.

Washington, April 5.—Indications are that the relations between the United States and Nicaragua are nearing a crisis, resulting from the failure of President Zelaya to adjust the Emery claim. In diplomatic circles it is believed that the situation is serious. The present difficulty has gone beyond the range of diplomatic discussion, in the view of the state department, and the present difficulty has gone beyond the range of diplomatic discussion, in the view of the state department, and the present difficulty has gone beyond the range of diplomatic discussion, in the view of the state department.

It is regarded as significant in connection with the present state of affairs is the fact that J. H. Gregory, the United States charge d'affaires, who recently reached here from Nicaragua, is not expected to return to the Central American Republic. One of the next moves by the state department will be to request the transmission of all the data bearing on the case to Congress.

Minister Espinosa declines to discuss the situation pending further developments.

KAISER SENDS FLOWERS

Orders Roosevelt's Cabin on the Hamburg Decorated With Carnations.

Naples, April 4.—The people of Naples are rejoicing at the interest in the arrival of ex-President Roosevelt. Unfortunately, however, the brevity of Mr. Roosevelt's stay here will compel the abandonment of many of the arrangements which have been made for his entertainment. He probably will only be able to remain in Naples for a few hours, as the emperor's ship, the Hamburg, will not reach here until Monday afternoon or evening.

King Victor Emmanuel has instructed the Duke of Aosta to welcome the ex-president to Italy in his name, and to express to Mr. Roosevelt the king's warmest greetings. In addition to sending greetings, has ordered the German consul-general here to tell Mr. Roosevelt's cabin on the steamship Admiral with carnations, red, white and blue, the German colors, as a token of the emperor's goodwill.

Representatives of the board of aldermen will officially greet the ex-president in the name of the city on board the Hamburg, prior to the disembarkation.
