London, Aug. 16.—The proposal to build a new bridge over the Thames, adjoining St. Paul's Cathedral, is condemned by the Royal Fine Arts Commission, on the ground that the new structure would be inartistic. However, the proposal is being tenaciously adhered to by the corpora-tion, although the building of the bridge would take nearly £1,000,000 from the current taxes, without counting what sum would be available for the purpose from the corporation's existing revenues.

Competent critics of the proposed bridge assert that it would not re-lieve the congestion of traffic. The lieve the congestion of traffic. Southwark Bridge was recently built at an enormous expense, but it I remains almost deserted.

Markham, Aug. 17.-There is to be no federal election this fall. This was Premier W. L. Mackenzie King's statement at the close of his address at Markham on Saturday afternoon on the occasion of the picnic tendered by North York Liberals in his honor. The reason why there was to be no election, he said, was because he thought the government was doing extremely well, because the people were satisfied with it and because the country was on the high road to prosperity after having been dragged from the morass into which Tory mismanagement had thrust it.

It was his desire to give the country the benefit of more of the beneficent rule it had been experiencing for the past two and a half years, and he felt convinced that at the end of its term of office the government, firmly established in the affection of the people by reason of the fruits of its labors, would be returned with a bigger

"I should be more than human if I were not deeply moved at the presence of such numbers of my friends and all that I have witnessed and been the recipient of since my arrival in Toronto this morning," said the premier. "I appreciate all this magnificent demonstration expresses of personal good will."

Mr. King said he recognized the loyal support the members of the great gathering evidenced in the government and in the principles and example, moneys that were paid as interest on the loans that had been raised, and moneys that were paid out for soldiers' land settlement, and on account of pensions, more particularly during the period of demolization. Unable in the first year of his adninistration to show more than a very material reduction in the inoese which had been made to the public debt in previous years, Mr. King said that instead of adding to the public debt $30,000,000 as was the case at the end of the last fiscal year the government was able to speakthe government was able to speak-honestly of a surplus amounting to over $35,000,000. Expert Saves Office Clerks Shut in Vault

Toronto, Aug. 17. - Locked for over an hour in the vault of a North Toronto branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada, narrowly escaping death from suffocation, H. Smith and R. Smith, clerks were only rescued after manufacturers of the vault located one of their safe experts, who was able to open the doors after considerable difficulty.

Together with Frank Mason the young men were putting some books and papers away, when in some way the door was closed and the clerks imprisoned.

The manager of the branch and others who knew the combination of the lock were away and could not be located, and after some difficulty the police got in touch with a safe expert, who liberated the young men, very flushed and ruffled, but little the worse for their experience.

An engineer, before the war, proposed to obtain power from British coal mines by setting them on fire and pumping down air, thus generating great heat, which he would have utilized in running gigantic electric stations

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—Lt.-Col. E. W. MacDonald, D.S.O., M.C., of Halifax, has been appointed inspector of penitentiaries by the civil sarvice commission. Col. MacDonald was formerly commissioner of provincial police for Nova Scotia, and organized and directed that force during the and directed that force during the industrial unrest in Cape Breton. He received a commission in September 1914, and while in France received a distinguished service order with two mentioned three times in despatches.

Delicious Mayonnaise Without Eggs

THE mayonnaise makes the salad-A and Carnation makes the mayonnaise — without eggs — the smoothest, creamiest, most delicious dressing you ever tasted. So easy to make-so economical too. Try it—the recipe is given below. And write for the free Carnation Recipe Book.

Carnation is just pure milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. It is sold by your grocer in tall (16 oz.) cans and in cases of 48 cans.

> NO-EGG CARNATION COOKED SALAD DRESSING: 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons flour, ¾ teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ cup water, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ¼ cup Carnation Milk. Mix dry ingredients and add to melted butter or substitute. Add milk diluted with water and cook in double boiler until it thickens. Add vinegar slowly, then cool. This recipe makes % cup salad dressing.

STOCK MARKET OPINIONS

Jones, Easton, McCallum—The past week has been a very satisfactory one from the standpoint of the owners of securities. We have successfully passed through a reactionary period, and the recessions were recovered, and at the close of the week were fairly well maintained. Our business situation shows increasing evidence of improvement. We still recommend the purchase of stocks.

Someone was coming. Eagerly he looked to see who it was. Who do you think it was? It was Farmer Brown's Boy. Yes, sir, it was Farmer Brown's Boy. He had a big, shiny pail in each hand. He had come to the Old Pasture for his share of those delicious herries.

Peter turned to look at Buzztail. Buzztail had coiled and his head was raised as he stared straight ahead of him without winking. He knew some one was coming. "Oh!" thought Peter, "I wonder what will happen now! I do hope Buzztail will warn Farmer Brown's Boy in time."

Buzztail did. He always does give warning if he has a chance. Farmer Brown's Boy stopped short. "Hello!" he exclaimed aloud. "There must be a Rattlesnake in the path just ahead." He put his pails down on the ground.

Would do. No, siree, he didn't wait. He got out of that bramble-tangle as fast as his legs could take him. Farmer Brown's Boy did nothing. He simply stood still. After this, Jim Hall went to live in the incorrigible cell. He lived there three years. The cell was of iron, the floor, the walls, the roof. He never left his cell. He never saw the sky nor the sunshine. Day was a twilight and night was a black silence. He was in an iron tomb. buried alive. He saw no human face, spoke to no human thing. When his food was shoved in to him, he growled like a wild animal. He hated all, things. For days and nights he bellowed his rage at the universe. For weeks and months he never made a sound, in the black silence eating his very soul. He was a man and the staircase and downstairs and the staircase and downstairs are found in the staircase and downstairs.

Judge Scott surveyed them triumphantly.

Sound of his weakness, as though, forsooth, he were failing the gods in the service he owed them. Because of this made heroic efforts to arise, and at last he stood on his four legs, tottering and swaying back and forth. "The Blessed Wolf!" chorused the stairway. From below, as firon out an abyss of blackness, came up a gurgling sound, as air bubbling water. Sometimes this gurgle became sibilant, almost a whistle. But this, too, quickly died down and ceased. Then naught came what he did. "Just as I contended right along. No mere dog could have done what he did. "He's a wolf."

"A Blessed Wolf," agreed the judge's wife.

"Yes, Blessed Wolf," arrended the judge's wife.

They are their own favorite topic of conversation. They boast of their possessions, their achievements. They lay down the law on every subject, and speak as if a waiting world were listening breathlessly for their opinion. Self-conceit is a quality that bores us to tears in others.

Poise is merely the proper appreciation of ourselves. We know that we are extraordinarily good-looking and brilliant and talment of the contesting as the grocery trade, so why not speak of it? BRITISH COLUMBIA RACE SEASON BEING EXTENDED

Canadian Press Desp. tch. which is absorbing nearly $7,000,000 is wagers in the province this year, promises to take a still larger slice out of British Columbia's pocketbook next year, with the possibility of the present racing season of ten weeks being extended to twelve weeks, declares the Victoria Times. It continues:

"Among the members of the legislature growing concern is felt over the conomic problem produced by the race track in this province. Before the fall season is over it is expected the whole position of racing will be debated. Some members, it is believed, would support legislation which would abolish racing altogether.

The year's betting figures out at $25 for every man, woman and child in British Columbia, the Times points out

French Frocks of Hand-Drawn Voile

REPORTED BY THE BREATH OF THE AVENUE.

The hand-drawn dress often varies its costume slip to change its color scheme. A lavender dress may be worn over a flesh slip, a green dress over a beige slip, which, showing through the hand-drawn work, links the frock to the wearer's tan shoes and stockings.

"Fall hats are worn with the sheerest of summer frocks. A light dress with a darker hat of the same general color carries out the ombre (shaded) effects in costumes, started at the Paris races. A lavender dress chooses a purple hat, a pale green dress appears with a shutter green velvet hat.'

The Newest Form In Stationery

REPORTED BY THE BREATH OF THE AVENUE

"Smart stationery is distinguished by simplicity of style and heavy quality of paper -novel and exotic whims of style are barred from the most expensive paper shown in the New York shops. White, ivory white and creamy white predominate. Next come gray, light buff and a soft gray blue.

"The newest writing paper of the better quality is deckle edged, and to a great extent the new stationery appears in the form of single sheets. These sheets are folded two or three times, according to the size of the envelope, after the letter has been written."
