SCHOOL EDICT WAS REMOVED

Compulsory Vaccination Regulation Rescinded by the School Board.

Assistants in Central Kindergarten Receive Remuneration.

The most important subject of discussion at the special meeting of the school board last evening was the question of compulsory vaccination in the schools.

When the smallpox was prevalent here about a year ago, the School Board, upon the advice of the Medical Health Officer, passed a resolution to the effect that all children should be vaccinated before being allowed to go to school. At that time a number of the scholars were kept at home by their parents, who would not have them vaccinated, thinking that their children could return to school after the small-pox scare was over. Some of these children have been refused admittance to the school, at the opening of this term, the principals being forced to turn them away on account of this resolution, passed by the Board a year ago.

Trustees Benson, Paxton, Cornish, Heyward, McCurvie and Bray (chairman) were the members who were present at the meeting last evening, and Mr. Cornish was the one who brought up the matter. He said:—

"As you all know, we have now compulsory vaccination in our schools. I myself think that the small-pox scare is now over, and I see no use in keeping some of the scholars from going to school for the reason that they are not vaccinated. There are a number of scholars out for this reason, and I would move that the resolution passed by this Board a year ago be rescinded, and that all the children in the city be allowed to go to school, whether they are vaccinated or not."

Mr. Paxton asked if the Board can do this, and act, as it were, over the head of the M. H. O.

Mr. Cornish—We can surely rescind a motion we have previously passed. Dr. Bray was not in favor of the motion made by Mr. Cornish.

"I do not question the fact," said he, "that the small-pox may break out in Chatham this winter. It is almost assured that it will. I would be the last one in favor of withdrawing our former resolution."

Mr. McCurvie—I am myself a believer in vaccination, but other people are also entitled to their own opinions. I think that if this resolution is not rescinded it will hurt our schools. When the smallpox scare was on, some of the scholars were not able to be vaccinated and were given certificates by the doctors and allowed to go to school. These certificates have run out and the pupils are not healthy and will have to be vaccinated or sent from school. Miss Aylesworth, of the McKeeough school, Kindergarten, has turned a number from her school because they were not vaccinated. She has visited the homes of 16 families and the reason given by the parents that they did not send their children to the kindergarten, was that they would not have them vaccinated so young, and they intend to keep them home until they are old enough to enter one of the higher classes. This keeps her school very small.

Mr. Heyward—I second Mr. Cornish's motion to rescind the by-law. I, myself, believe in vaccination, but I think the time for enforcing it is past.

Dr. Bray—I have hesitation to express my opinion in the matter. Because, as the newspapers say, you may think that the doctors are always looking out for themselves. Nevertheless, I do not think it is fair to those children who have to be vaccinated the forced vaccination to allow other children to go to school now, who are not vaccinated.

Mr. Cornish—There is far more injustice done the other way by sending sick children to school than by sending healthy children to school. I am just as strong and healthy as other children who submitted to the vaccination.

Mr. Benson—If the Mayor issues a general proclamation that everyone shall be vaccinated, can we work against it?

Mr. Heyward—The Mayor has no influence over the school board in their actions.

The motion was then put and carried unanimously, the chairman not voting. The principals of the different schools will be notified of this action on the part of the Board, and every child in the city will be allowed to attend school.

The matter of a new cinder path at the Central school was left with the managers of that school with power to act.

Dr. Bray asked if non-resident pupils in the kindergarten schools should pay fees.

It was decided to let them attend school gratis.

The action of the managers of McKeeough school in promoting the teachers and appointing Miss Farquharson to one of the lower rooms until the end of the year then came up for approval.

After considerable argumentative discussion, their action was endorsed by the Board.

It was decided to allow the teachers in the city to go to Detroit on Friday 26, to visit the Detroit public schools.

UNION DESTINY

Newfoundland Cannot Remain Separated From the Dominion Says London Paper.

London, Sept. 13.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting this morning on the errand of Sir Robert Bond, premier of Newfoundland, in Washington, says there is no reason to doubt that he will succeed in arranging reciprocity between Newfoundland and the United States.

"Sir Robert evidently believes that such a treaty would be preferable to absorption by Canada," says the paper. "We doubt whether he is right, and we believe that union with Canada is Newfoundland's ultimate destiny. The experiment which Sir Robert is making, at any rate, is one that will be watched with equal interest and alarm."

AUSTRALIANS START HOME

Premier Barton and Party Given Hearty Send Off on Departing from Ottawa.

Government Employees at Sorol Dismissed Because They Belong to a Labor Union.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Sir Edmund Barton, Prime Minister of Australia, and party left for the Pacific Coast to-day on the final part of their journey through Canada, home. They left at 2:45 p. m., and were given a hearty send-off, about one hundred persons being at the station. John Coates, president of the Board of Trade, who formerly lived in Australia, voiced the pleasure of the citizens at the visit of the distinguished party, and in reply Mr. Barton delivered an eloquent speech, snappy and bright with patriotic sentiment. His remarks were most felicitous. He emphasized the common aims of the two colonies, and their common responsibility in assisting in maintaining the Empire. He referred with pleasure to the rapid completion of the Pacific cable, and said it would bind more closely Canada with Australia. Sir John Forster also spoke and at the conclusion the party were given lusty three cheers. Among those at the station were Mayor Cook and members of the City Council, Sir Wm. Mulock and Hon. R. W. Scott.

The report from Montreal that public works employees had been dismissed at Sorol for belonging to a labor union was stated to be quite true at the Department of Public Works to-day. The carpenters were dismissed, a press representative was informed, because the Federal Trades and Labor Council was essentially an American organization, controlled entirely by Americans, who sought to impose conditions on the Canadian Government. The latter would not stand for any such treatment at the hands of an American body, and fired the men, who maintained their connection with the Trades and Labor Council. For the Minister of Public Works, true at the Department, and his views could not be obtained, but as far as was known at the department, the action of the foreman was according to the instructions given him.

FED OPIUM TO DOGS

Deer Lodge, Montana, Sept. 12.—"Tom" O'Brien, who escaped from the state penitentiary about three weeks ago, presented himself at the prison doors to-day and surrendered.

O'Brien's case is unique. His object in escaping was that he might be able to make a connection with the alleged crime for which he was sent to prison. Pursued by officers, the fugitive furnished letter after letter to the Butte Miner, in which he set forth his case, pleading for public sympathy.

O'Brien is a graduated veterinary surgeon, and was a "trustee" at the penitentiary. Before he escaped he gave the prison bound opium, and then mounting a race horse belonging to the warden, made a flying rush past the guards.

LONG WALK

Elderly Woman Journeyed 125 Miles Afoot in Search of her Dead Nephew.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Crogan, a woman over 64 years old, has just reached this city after a walk of over 125 miles, from East Mackinaw City. She wished to visit friends here and decided to walk the entire distance. She came down the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad, following the track to Walton, and then back on the Traverse City branch, making over 30 miles extra. She was just six days on the trip.

Mrs. Crogan came especially to see John Hodges, her nephew, but found he had been dead several months. She will walk back by way of the Pere Marquette road.

WOMAN'S PART IN TAX FRAUDS

New Mystery Turns Up in Chicago's Latest Municipal Scandal.

Luke Wheeler, Tax-Fixer, Aided by Rich Clients, Has Fled to Canada, It is Believed.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—There are several fresh developments and complications in Chicago's tax fraud scandal.

That much-wanted conspirator Luke Wheeler is in Canada, and that the authorities here have more or less definite information about his whereabouts is conceded by the state's attorney's office.

It is believed that Attorney Miles J. Devine followed the fugitive across the border and that he is at present engaged in persuading his client to return and surrender. Port Arthur, Ont., on the north shore of Lake Superior is said to be Wheeler's headquarters. Port Arthur is the terminus of a steamship line said to be owned and operated by one of the corporations whose name has been mentioned in connection with the tax frauds.

In case Devine fails in his errand of persuasion the state's attorney will be confronted by many difficulties in the way of bringing Wheeler back to Illinois. Unlimited money, it is said, will be placed at the fugitive's disposal by interested parties, that he may successfully contest extradition proceedings in the event that he is arrested.

Wheeler's flight is believed to have been influenced by the clients in whose behalf he operated his tax-fixing system. A mysterious young woman who visited the state's attorney yesterday in company with Detective Frank Tyrrell, is one of the fugitive's friends, and was seen with him on the south side the night before he left Chicago. State's Attorney Devine expects to obtain through her further information concerning Wheeler's actions during the last few weeks of his stay in Chicago.

The Canadian authorities have been telegraphed to hold Wheeler until extradition papers can be taken out, and it is feared the fugitive will leave Port Arthur before he can be arrested.

Chief Clerk Becker, of Treasurer Raymond's office, said yesterday that the Masonic temple building should be reached for sale Monday afternoon or early Tuesday. The association of the agents for the property from Henry L. Gloom who bid it in 1900 on a tax sale. He paid it for the unpaid balance of the $50,537, amounting to $6,238. In redeeming the property the agents for the association were compelled to pay $13,400. Chief Clerk Becker, of the county treasurer's office, has been informed that Wheeler was seen last Thursday in Escanaba, Mich.

VIOLENT SPEECH

Excited Harangue by a Former Boer General in the Cape Assembly.

London, Sept. 12.—A Brussels despatch says that though a large crowd awaited the arrival of Botha, De Wet and Delarey at Amsterdam, they were received by the public with distinctly quiet in character. Even at a pre-arranged ceremony at the railway station little enthusiasm was manifested.

A Cape Town correspondent says that the speech by ex-Treasurer General Meriam, in the Assembly, supporting a motion introduced by him, condemning the agitation for the suspension of the Cape Colony constitution, was unusually violent. It bristled with minatory references to events which led to American independence. Meriam declared the suspensionists' council would have been a kindergarten of young Bullen. He said Lord Milner had outraged Cape Colony by his threats of martial law, and charged him with conspiring to destroy the liberties of the colony.

A Vienna correspondent draws attention to alleged Pan-Germany intrigues to prevent the reconciliation of the Boers with British rule. He says the Pan-Germans, one of whose chief objects is the destruction of British naval and commercial supremacy, think that the continuance of Boer resentment will be an excellent means of embarrassing Great Britain. It is believed, adds the correspondent, that if an eventual Boer revolt were successful the revived Boer states would find they had drifted into informal dependence of Germany, which would be very profitable to the latter.

Park St. League will open its season's work next Monday evening with a social reception given by the young people. All young men and women of the congregation are invited, and especially students who are strangers in the city. A choice program will be rendered and a very enjoyable evening is promised.

There will be an emergent meeting of Typographical Union, No. 460, for the purpose of transacting very important business on Monday evening next.

The steamer City of Chatham will make three round trips from Chatham to Detroit each week, commencing with Monday next. See advt.

CANADIAN GIRL

It Took the Kincardine Maiden to win her Husband a box of Good Cigars.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Eighty days ago Karl A. Winters wagered a box of cigars with a friend that he would be married within 90 days. Time passed, and there was no wedding. Now news has been received in Chicago, that Winters has won both a bride and the cigars, with ten days to spare. But it took an elopement to do it. The bride was Miss Maude Hadley, who for some time has made her home with her sister, Mrs. F. W. Beaver, 3622 Ellis avenue. She is from Kincardine, Ontario. Winters travels for the R. G. Gunning Company and is said to be the son of a wealthy Louisville citizen. The couple eloped on Sunday night, and were married in Toledo, Ohio, on Monday. They had known each other for a year, but the marriage was a surprise to their friends.

Denver, Col., Sept. 12.—The Colorado Eastern railroad has awakened to find itself famous. From time to time the road has come into life for a time. These awakenings have been when the romance writers of railroad news have sold the road to some eastern line for a right-of-way into Denver.

Its latest awakening has been due to the same cause; that the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific, and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific have bought the road for an entrance into Denver for $5,000,000. Harassed to such a team, it has achieved fame.

Meanwhile the engineer and fireman and brakeman are drowsily running one train each way a day, except Sunday, over the 17 miles of parallel streaks of rail. Now and then the lone section man puts in a new tie, drives a spike here and there, and sometimes as often as twice a year puts in a new rail. The train, composed of a coach, freight car and a locomotive, moves serenely along, and from time to time a passenger climbs aboard.

The Colorado Eastern as a railroad is useless. As the owner of terminals it is one of the best pieces of railroad property west of the Missouri river. It owns a right-of-way down to within a half block of the Union depot, although its terminals is in Elyria, two of three miles farther out. It is for its terminals that the road has now awakened, and, perhaps, it will be bought by a big road.

The one train on the Colorado Eastern leaves at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and reaches Seranton at 10:15 o'clock. The three members of the crew rest the engine there and start back at 10:45, reaching Elyria at 12:30. Of course, this is if the schedule is maintained. The engineer has no mules to make, no transcontinental connections to work with. Therefore, the train bumps over the track, hauled by a narrow-gauge engine that the Rio Grande bought years and years ago, turned over to the Colorado Eastern to save storage room in its locomotive graveyard.

The Colorado Eastern's expenses are $25 and its earnings $1 a day. The Colorado Eastern was built in 1885 to Seranton, where an immense deposit of coal was opened, but the proved a failure, and the railroad rotted, mainly. It cost more than $1,000,000 to build. How much its right-of-way and terminals cost nobody knows. To-day the right-of-way and terminals are worth from $500,000 to $800,000, according to a conservative estimate. It is not even known who owns the property.

Henry T. Rogers, president of the pack board, is president of the company. He is credited with being the principal owner. As a result of the recent agitation some old stories have been brought out. The oldest is how Jay Gould went over the road once to buy it, the engineer ran fast, per his instructions, and Gould sat on the floor of the flat car with his hat down over his ears and came back in a carriage.

Windsor, Sept. 12.—Customs Officer John Turk spied a young man named W. Saunders crossing over to Windsor last night with a new pair of shoes on, which, it is alleged, he was smuggling. Saunders was called into the office and in default of paying the duty, was forced to leave the footwear at the office and proceed homewards in his bare feet.

Singular, Rusty, Little Railroad in Colorado That is a Jonah.

BORDEN IN THE WEST.

Mr. Borden and his associates are meeting with a most enthusiastic reception throughout the West, points out the Brantford Courier.

At Victoria the Conservative leader was tendered an ovation, and the people of Vancouver last night were equally fervent in their welcome.

Mr. Borden, during his trip, is making clear and concise speeches. He frankly tells his hearers that he is on a tour of an educational nature to himself, but at the same time he refers to public questions in such a way as to show that he possesses a keen grasp of the manner in which they concern particular localities.

For instance, when in Victoria, he took up the subject of Oriental immigration and pointed out that the Chinese in British Columbia were not permanent immigrants because they did not bring their families. In addition the rates at which they worked did not afford a fair living wage to the whites in competition on the same lines. Surely they could not expect the laboring man of British Columbia to attain to the status of citizenship if he did not get a fair wage. He thought these things should weigh with the authorities at Ottawa. He thought on this question the views of the Liberals of the West, or the Conservatives of the West but the people of the West should prevail. As far as able he would give effect to the views of the people of the Province as a whole on this question.

It may be taken for granted that Mr. Borden during this trip will not alone secure the advantage of coming into personal contact with Western needs, but that he will also earn the respect and the confidence of the people in that region.

CANADA FOREVER

Every Canadian must rejoice at the abundant crops in the Northwest, which are now almost garnered in the best of condition. The yield this year will eclipse any record of the past by millions of bushels, and prices are likely to keep up to a profitable point. With such conditions and a continued influx of settlers there does not appear to be any likelihood of a recurrence of hard times in this country for years to come.

The Province of Ontario is also blessed with abundant crops. Already there are indications of a decline in the demand for labor, skilled and common, in Great Britain, as a result of the close of the war. Nothing else could have been expected. The great army which the close of the war released from military duty are now looking for peaceful means of earning a living, and that there will be a glut in the labor market is inevitable until trade with South Africa has assumed the magnitude which it will eventually do, but which cannot come before the Boers are re-established on their farms, and the mining and other industries get under way. South Africa will also suffer stagnation for a time, owing to the unsettled conditions following the war.

In this portion of the British Empire, however, the prospect is bright for a continuance of the happiness and progress now apparent on every hand. Canadians, one and all, may assert with justification that this is the finest country in the world, with plenty of room for millions of people.—St. Thomas Times.

AMBITIOUS GIRLS.

"Are there any young women or girls in our schools who are planning to stay at home when their school days are over?" asked a conservative woman, who occupies an important post in a private school in Baltimore. "In my day, and I am not so very old, only the girl who was obliged to earn her living, in part or in whole, planned for a career in the business or professional world. Now there seems to be a perfect craze among girls and women to develop so slowly as to cause little if any disturbance during the whole period of childhood. It may then produce irregularity of the stomach and bowels, dyspepsia, constipation, and marked tendency to consumption before manifesting itself in much cutaneous eruption or glandular swelling. It is best to be sure that you are quite free from it, and for its complete eradication you can rely on Hood's Sarsaparilla. The best of all medicines for all humors."

Few are entirely free from it. It may develop so slowly as to cause little if any disturbance during the whole period of childhood. men to do something, and it is not uncommon for a girl in our school, with rich parents, to announce that after graduation, she is going to study for such and such a position, and fill it, too. And usually she keeps her word. I believe in a girl fitting herself for self-support, in case she should ever be called upon to do so, but until it is necessary, I do not think that she should enter into competition with those who are wage earners from a necessity, not choice. Of course, where a woman has exceptional talents that almost amount to genius, it is different, for the world would be the loser were she to keep her talents hidden. But the majority of these girls I am referring to have only mediocre ability, and I do not think that they should continue to swell the ranks of the wage-earning, self-supporting women. Home duties, society and philanthropy, offer a wide enough field for their endeavors."

SAM SMALL'S CASE.

Buffalo News. When Rev. Samuel W. Small fell from grace in Vermont the other day the physicians in attendance upon him declared their willingness to certify that his condition was due to an "overdose of medicine." This might have been done with some degree of fairness, as the unfortunate temperance orator is a nervous man and, being overworked, resorted to stimulants to sustain him for further efforts in the crusade against the sale of intoxicating beverages. But Mr. Small was too honest to consent to be advised in this respect by his physicians. He would not make misrepresentations about his weakness, and he told the truth.

There is always hope for an honest, truthful man. The greatest apostle of temperance this country has ever seen—the famous John B. Gough—overcame the drink habit, though he fell, as Mr. Small has fallen several times after he had taken the pledge and became a temperance orator. Rev. Sam Jones, who had practiced in fighting evil instincts, says in his quaint way that it takes many years to "get the dog out of a man," and illustrates the necessity for constant endeavor and constant watchfulness. Let Sam Small take heart, buckle on his armor and get the dog by the throat. Endeavor is a word greatly used by temperance people.

The News presents the case in its proper light, commends the St. Thomas Times. What the world needs is more charity. "How often shall my brother sin against me and I forgive him? Until seven times?" All the Christian world knows the reply our Saviour gave to that query: "I say unto you not until seven times, but until seventy times seven." It is not reported that Sam Small sinned even seven times, yet a great many people calling themselves Christians, would now shut the door of mercy and sympathy and the church and the temperance hall against him, with the result of—what? Driving him to utter destruction and ruin. Sam Small is a man of noble and generous impulses, and it would seem to be the duty of Christians to gather round him at this time and rescue him from the pit into which he has fallen. He is suffering intense remorse and the exhibition of a spirit of a forgiving and sympathetic spirit, would be like a draught of cool water to a desert wanderer. The Pharisaical spirit is one of the greatest obstacles to the church of to-day. One can meet with people in his daily life who would kick a man out of the church because he used tobacco, or went to the theatre, or attended a fashionable ball, or played a game of cards. Others are more narrow and would not allow a man to go to heaven at all if he did not go their way. Indeed the strictness of so many people in the churches keeps plenty of well-meaning people from joining them. It is gratifying to know that no man or sect holds a key which will lock the gate of heaven against any other man or sect. From this knowledge Sam Small may take comfort, brace himself again, and go on endeavoring to do good. His case is not by any means hopeless, and while the world scoffs and he suffers, it is to be hoped that he will not let this false step undo him. Meanwhile it may be appropriate to say especially to church people, "let him that is without sin cast the first stone" at Sam Small.

Raleigh Council.

The above council met on Sept. 1st, 1902, with all members present. The court of revision on the Towl drain was first taken up. The clerk reported having received only one appeal, that being from the Towl drain. The property was assessed too high and that of Geo. Towl too low. Both parties were heard in evidence, after which, on motion, $5 was deducted from M. Doyle and placed on Geo. Towl's account and the court of revision closed. Council met.

The minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. COMMUNICATIONS. Applications for collector of rates were received from W. A. Chrysler and Martin A. Drew at a salary of $125 each. J. J. Bradley submitted the following in reference to the pump house: "Gentlemen—Whereas the petitioner, owner of lot one in the front concession of Raleigh, containing fifty acres of land, has suffered large damages for the past four years from the neglect of the council in not running and keeping their pump in order. The pump is out of repair and my land is flooded and the commission, Mr. Chas. Crow, refuses to fix said pump. If you will look at the by-law governing the same you will see that it is the duty of your council to keep the water four feet from the surface of the land. The water was allowed to come in through the bank and if something is not done I will be ruined as far as raising crops on my lot is concerned."

A petition was received from Joseph Symon and others to deepen and enlarge the Doane drain and Gilhula branch. A petition was received from C. McGulgan to repair the Miller drain to its original cuttings.

A notice was received from A. Cockfield that Mrs. Stone had placed her fence out on E. Buxton's place. N. Buxton, adjoining his lot, which was a great inconvenience to him and wanted same moved back to its proper place.

The following persons addressed the council: Thos. Brady in reference to his road work for the Riley farm and stated that the overseer notified him to do his work on Centre road, near Shum's place, but he wanted to do same in front of his own place where he considered it was needed the most. No action.

Jno. Stringer stated that through the kindness of the council he had had prosecuted R. Richardson for allowing his horses to pasture on the townline instead of impounding the horses. He lost the case and waited the council to pay the costs $4.15, as he acted in good faith. No action.

J. W. Shaw wanted the ditch along the second concession deepened to give him an outlet for his place and was willing to help in the work. S. L. Wellwood, J. C. Bell and M. A. Drew asked for a grant of not less than fifty dollars to assist the Raleigh Agricultural Society.

W. Theobald complained that the Merlin drain in Merlin on the towline was partly filled up with garbage, filth, etc., which was creating a nuisance, and endangering public health and wanted the same looked after at once.

REPORTS. From H. Jenner that he had examined the statute labor performed by M. Hickey and would recommend he be allowed four years and that W. F. Dillon be allowed five years.—Adopted.

From A. J. Dolson that he had a sewer pipe placed in Backus drain con. 5 at a cost of $57.35. Also that he had a new bridge built over the Chumuck drain at the 18 and 19 side road at a cost of $64.07.—Reports adopted.

The committee appointed to bridge over H. P. drain at 3rd con. reported having examined the site and interviewed a solicitor who advised the repealing of the bylaw instructing the commissioner to cut down the trees etc. on the 3rd con. road as said bylaw was misleading and to take no action as to building the bridge.—Report adopted.

The clerk reported that he had received a complaint from W. Theobald re the nuisance in Merlin drain and that he notified the M. H. O. to fully investigate the grievance and report to the council.

J. C. Bell M. H. O. reported he had investigated the matter and found garbage, refuse, rotten eggs, decay-

In the sewing room of a new house whose mistress has been able to plan it exactly to her liking is a set of wooden shelves, separated into compartments of varying sizes, which is pointed out to visitors as "the piece bag." Into these convenient receptacles go all the odds and ends of undertakings that are usually made up into bulky rolls and sent into bags or occasionally packed all together in a large basket. Either of the latter plans makes the pieces difficult of access and necessitates frequent handling, the piece bag method being a great improvement, if it is possible to accomplish it.

JOSEPH KIDDY, BACHELOR

By PHIL M. CONGER

Copyright, 1901, by A. S. Richardson

I had gone over to Paris from London for a few weeks. At home, in London, I was an ardent, conservative and retiring as any old bachelor of forty-five you could find. I knew very few people, belonged to only one club, and seldom went to the theater or had company at my rooms. When I was in Paris, I usually gave myself a little more license. On this occasion I had so far departed from my home programme as to pick up an acquaintance before I had been in the French capital a week. In a cafe where I had dined several times I encountered a middle aged gentleman of my own nationality and soon became quite friendly with him. Had he been of any other nationality I should have been less ready to make his acquaintance. He had come over from Liverpool, he said, on business for a well known firm, and his cards showed that he was a solicitor.

We attended the theater twice in company, and then Mr. Graham, as he called himself, asked me to accompany him to the rooms of a friend to a little dinner. I was astonished at myself promising, as little dinners with people who would probably drink a bottle or two apiece and bring out cards afterward were quite out of my line. I was ready at the hour appointed, and when we reached his friend's house I found him a young man and a capital entertainer. I am a man who laughs perhaps but once a year, and then only with conservatism, but this fellow soon broke down my natural reserve and got me to laughing very heartily. He was full of pleasant and witty anecdotes, and the dinner was all that could be asked. When the table had been cleared and the cards brought out, I did not utter a protest. To my consternation, I had flattered out and become both companionable and genial. As I roused with laughter I wondered what my landlady would say if she could hear, and as I slipped my leg and roared again I realized that I was guilty of a misdemeanor that would expel me from my London club instantly. There were forty members of that club, and I had been with it ten years and had never heard a laugh. In our club we never played a game and never went beyond, but when the three of us sat down to poker at a dollar ante and $5 limit it seemed all right to me. In other words, years and years of strict probity rolled off as a blanket, and I felt myself going to ruin. I fully realized it, but did not care. In my utter abandon I continued to laugh and make merry.

I had never played twenty games of poker in my life, but I went right at it as if I had never patted a Sunday school scholar on the head or sent tracts to sailors. I am a very economical man and scrutinize my bills very carefully, but on this occasion I found myself saying that I did not care if I lost even a whole pound. The old saying of a fool too full held good in this case. I knew afterward that the dinner was a put up job to skin me at cards, but the two sharpers failed in their purpose. I have no doubt they resorted to all sorts of tricks with the cards; but, do what they might, the hands ran in my favor, and I raked in the pots.

It was a no less personage than myself who by and by suggested that the limit be removed. The others promptly assented, and the result was that after two hours' play I had them dead broke. As their plan to skin me had failed, they resorted to other tactics. One of them must have poured knockout drops in a glass of wine offered me; for I no longer drank it than I felt my senses leaving me. As near as I could ever figure it, twenty-four hours elapsed before I woke up and found myself in a hospital. That was not the worst of it, however. I could remember nothing. I could not recall my name, nativity, hotel or anything connected with myself. I had not the remotest idea where I lived or what had occurred.

I was told that I had been picked up in the street. Graham and his friend had robbed me, dressed me in an old suit of clothes and carried me out upon the street. They had shaved off my whiskers, trimmed off my heavy eyebrows and otherwise disguised me, and one of them had gone to my hotel and robbed me of my money. I was then taken to a hospital, where I was treated by a doctor who was a friend of the two sharpers. When the hospital doctors found that my memory was gone, they did not press me to talk, but sought to encourage me by saying that things would soon come right.

I do not believe that a man standing defenseless before a crouching lion feels the terror I did when I found that I had been wiped out of existence. For want of a name they called me "No. 14" in the hospital, and I never heard it without a gasp and a shudder. In a way, the old suit of clothes and empty pockets suggested that I was a poor man, yet when they came to see that I was one who had bathed daily and had taken proper care of my nails and teeth they were puzzled. My speech proved me to be English, but that was no great point gained. There are hundreds of Englishmen to be met in Paris, and how were they to hunt out my record without a name and with a very bad personal description?

It was two weeks before I was well enough to leave the hospital, and then came the question of where I should go and what I should do. I was penniless and among strangers. Influenced somewhat by sympathy, no doubt, but more by professional interest, the head surgeon took me to his own home to see if time or accident would not bring back my memory. I, who had an income of £7,000 per year, a valet at my rooms in London and was looked upon as a gentleman of leisure, became the doctor's "man." I blacked his shoes, brushed his coat and hat, ran errands and bought meat and vegetables for the family table. There was not an hour of the day that I was not working my brain over the mystery, but try as hard as I would I could not go back further than the hospital. When I woke up, there my life began anew.

During the six months I was with the doctor various suggestions were made and followed. I took long walks to see if I could identify streets and squares and buildings, and I mingled with crowds in hopes that I might see a face I could recall. A map of London was shown me, and the doctor called off the names of hundreds of streets. It was all in vain, however. The book was closed, and I couldn't open it. There would come moments when I could almost grasp the past, but as my heart began to thump and my brain to whirl, memory would slip away again.

At the end of six months and while we seemed as far from the solution as ever I started out one morning to get a pair of the doctor's boots re-soled. Just as I was turning into a small street to visit a cobbler, I came face to face with a member of my London club—a man with whom I was well acquainted. My whiskers and eyebrows had grown again and I looked like my old self. He at once put out his hand and said:

"Why, old boy, you've been dead for months and months, and yet I find you in Paris very much alive!"

I looked at the man in open mouthed astonishment for a minute and then went down in a heap. I was taken to his hotel instead of a hospital, and after a time was restored to consciousness, and the very first words I uttered were a shout:

"Write down—write it down! My name is Joseph Kiddy, bachelor, of London!"

Everything came back to me with a rush, and for a time I was so excited that I acted like a lunatic. At home I was supposed to be dead, and my lawyers had searched in vain for traces of me. As I got out, Paris looked as of old to me. Every little incident came back, and the French doctor who had been so kind to me was one of the heartiest in his congratulations. I sought the aid of the police to hunt down Graham and his friend, but nothing ever came of it. They had moved on to find other victims.

The Sense of Touch.
The sense of touch is the simplest but at the same time one of the most important special senses of the human organism. It is possessed by nearly all portions of the general surface of the body, but finds its highest development in the hands.

The true skin contains multitudes of nerve filaments arranged in rows of papillae about one-hundredth of an inch in length. It is estimated that there are 20,000 of these papillae in a square inch of the palmar surface of the hand. The cuticle is absolutely essential to the sensation of touch, for when the true skin is laid bare by a burn or blister the only feeling that it experiences from contact is one of pain, not that of touch. The cuticle shields the nerve filament from direct contact with external objects. Touch is most delicate at the tips of the fingers, and the hand is one of the most important organs.

Buffon declares that with fingers twice as numerous and twice as long as ours we would become proportionately wiser. Galen, however, taught that man is the wisest of animals, not because he possesses the hand, but because he is the wisest and understands its use the hand has been given to him, for his mind, not his hand, has taught him the arts.

Why She Lost Interest in Him.
They were watching the balloon go up and he was telling her about the various crank aeronauts, including those couples who for the sake of notoriety are married in balloons and sail away. "I don't think I'd like to get married in a balloon," she said softly. "No," he assented thoughtfully; "there's too much risk in it. It's plain going out of one's way to find frills." And after that she seemed to be less interested in him.

Worse.
"So Smith acted as judge?"
"At a church raffle? Foolish man!"
"No, no—not at a church raffle; at a baby show."
"Idiot!"—Baltimore Herald.

GOOD LIVING

Quite often results in bad health, because what is termed "good living" is usually the gratification of the palate without reference to the nutrition of the body. When the good liver is a business man and rises from a full meal to plunge at once into work requiring mental effort the result is almost sure to be disastrous, because digestion draws upon the same nervous forces which are employed in thought. In time the stomach becomes diseased, the processes of digestion and nutrition are imperfectly performed, a physical breakdown. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It eliminates the effete poisonous matter which originates in the system as a consequence of imperfect digestion. It gives sound health to the whole body.

"I wish to say to the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. E. B. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctor for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1897, I had Dr. Pierce's medicine; worse could not but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in the last month."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 25 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. D. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Composer.
Hoax—I thought you said that man was a musician?
Hoax—Nonsense!
"You certainly told me he wrote melodies."
"I told you he was a composer of heirs. He sells soothing syrup."

A Marrying Man.
"Are you a marrying man?" was asked of a somber looking gentleman at a recent reception.
"Yes, sir," was the prompt reply; "I'm a clergyman."

A Cheerful Proposal.
A Scottish headie one day led the manse housemaid to the churchyard and, pointing with his finger, stammered:
"My folk lie there, Jenny. Wad ye like to lie there too?"
It was his way of popping the question.

Try This—Drop a Penny.

Have you ever noticed the interest that money attracts even if it is only a single cent? The next time that you see a copper coin dropped in a street car just observe. Every eye in the car will turn to the spot where it dropped, and there will be manifesting a real general concern over its recovery. Two or three heads are likely to come in contact over the point of its disappearance, and then their owners will draw suddenly back and try to appear unconcerned, but in another second they are again leaning forward.

The man who dropped the cent is usually the first who appears to have brushed memory of the trivial occurrence aside, but just as soon as the coin has turned from him his own are sure to go back to the floor in the hope that the truant coin will be seen.

When he has gone, there is a renewed interest among the passengers, for the stage of "indifference keepers" has arrived, and those near the spot of disappearance become quite diligent until they are aware they make a center of attraction. But interest in that little cent is not lost while there is a passenger left, and when the car is empty the conductor takes his turn and resurrects the cent.

THERE'S A REASON

For setting forth our claim as up-to-date and live druggists. We have been quick to adopt all the most approved modern methods for the safe and accurate filling of prescriptions. This is an important advantage to those who favor us with their trade. Our stock of pure drugs, perfumes and toilet goods is unsurpassed.

ITS SPECIAL WORK.
Paine's Celery Compound is especially recommended for purifying the blood and bracing up the weakened nerves. If you suffer from Blood impurities or find your system out of gear, we strongly advise the use of Paine's Celery Compound. We have always the genuine "Paine's" in stock.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS

THE MYSTERIOUS TUMBLER

A Simple Trick That May Be Performed by Any Boy or Girl.

The boy or girl who can perform a clever feat in magic or make a neat experiment in physics is always considered an acquisition to a company and is popular accordingly. Besides, the performance of the feat or the making of the experiment is sure to give the boy himself a good deal of pleasure.

Here is a little experiment that is mysterious enough to those that witness it to seem like magic, and yet it is simply an illustration of a well known principle of natural philosophy. All you need to make the experiment is a marble top table, such as may be found in any parlor or sitting room; a glass tumbler and a piece of candle.

You first put under the two legs at one end of the table thin wedges of wood or paper, to give the table a very slight incline in the direction of the other end. If you wish to make the feat all the more mysterious, you should put the wedges under the legs when the company is not looking.

Now take a plain glass tumbler and moisten the rim carefully so that the water will stick to it or at least enough to make a thin coating of moisture. Place the tumbler, rim down, on the end of the table where the wedges are, and it will not move, for the incline, if you have not made the wedges too thick, will not be great enough to make the tumbler move by gravity.

But you are going to make the tumbler move of itself so that it will seem to do so by some magical power. To do this light the piece of candle and hold it near the tumbler for a few moments. The heat from the candle will cause the air in the tumbler to expand, and this expansion will have the effect of raising the tumbler just a little from the smooth marble. The air cannot escape, however, because the water around the rim of the tumbler keeps it in.

Then the tumbler will begin to move slowly along the marble top, for the slight elevation it makes it now rest on a thin layer of moisture, and it slides down the incline by the force of gravity.

A Two Story Nest.
A very curious bird's nest is preserved at Salem, in Massachusetts, in which state the novelty was found. The story of the nest is very interesting. The cow bunting of that section never builds a nest, but the female bird lays her eggs in the nests of those birds which feed their young on insects. In the case in question a cow bunting laid an egg in the nest of a sparrow, in which the sparrow returned, she saw that an intruder had been there. She remembered that she had one egg and no more, and there before her were two. What was to be done? She consulted with her mate, and finally they hit upon a plan of action. They built a bridge of straw and hair directly over the two eggs, making a second story in the home and thus raising the two eggs below out of the reach of the warmth of her body. In the upper apartment she laid four eggs and raised her brood. When the sparrows left the nest, it was taken down, with the two eggs still in it, and preserved as a curiosity.

A Miniature Oak Tree.
If an acorn be suspended by a piece of thread within half an inch of the surface of some water contained in a hyacinth glass and so permitted to remain without being disturbed, it will in a few months burst and throw a root down into the water and shoot upward its straight and tapering stem, with beautiful little green leaves.

A young oak tree growing in this way is a very interesting object. A chestnut may be treated in the same manner. The water must be changed sufficiently often to afford these trees the necessary quantity of nourishment from the matter contained in it.

The Brave Robins.
The most singular instance that I have known of a robin's fearlessness was the kind of military instinct which some years ago led a pair to make their nest at the back of a target at Aldershot. It was in the shooting range of the Fourth battalion of the Sixtieth rifles, and the colonel of the regiment told me of it at the time. The little pair paid not the least attention to the shots thundering on the target just at the back of their nest. The soldiers were careful not to meddle with them, and the young brood hatched and were brought up in safety.—Cornhill.

Seven lads, whose ages ranged from nine to fifteen, appeared before Judge Houston to answer to a charge of breaking windows in the Payne school property. L. E. Tillson caught the boys breaking the windows two months ago, but they all gave aliases with the exception of one lad, Judge Houston was unable to try the case as none of the parents or guardians of any of the lads appeared. The Judge was surprised that none of the parents took enough interest in their children to attend court. The case was adjourned for a week to enable the Children's Aid Society to be notified so that they could send their officer to look after the children's interests. Judge Houston said that he couldn't very well call Mr. Tillson the guardian of the lads.

Mr. Tillson—If I were I would thrash them.
The Judge—I have no doubt, then, that it would be a good thing for the boys if you were their guardian.
The case was adjourned till next Saturday as all the boys said they went to school. The Court suggested that the boys had probably thought that there was school in the Payne school property and that was why they were around there.CON. S. RALEIGH.

Tommy Brown entertained a number of his friends last Thursday evening, on which date he completed another year to his age. While driving to the party Roy Jordan's horse became frightened at some unknown object in the road and suddenly shied, throwing the occupants in the ditch. Miss Innes, who was also of the unlucky party, was badly bruised around the head, while the driver escaped without any injury and quickly stopped the horse, which ran into the fence. The buggy was also damaged, the top being smashed and the shafts broken. Percy's condition is now much improved, although it will be some time before he shall have fully recovered.

Mrs. H. LeVasseur, formerly of this city, now of Dover, is recovering from a serious illness.

Henry White and Mr. Reed, Cleveland, who have been visiting in the city, returned home yesterday.

R. S. Rankin, of Baldoon, and Jno. Doyle, of Mitchell's Bay, are calling on their Chatham friends to-day.

Misses May and Alice Summers, who have been visiting in Chatham and Detroit, have returned back to London.

SIDDALS CAPTURED

After learning that R. S. Dunlop's grocery store had been burglarized, and having heard that Officers Deszals was in the city, Officers Deszals and Dodson decided that it was worth while to make a search for Siddals, who was wanted on several charges.

The young fellow, was found at the residence of his father, Selkirk St. Siddals, when arrested, knew nothing. He was not chased by any of the Windsor police nor had he been with Woods, Signer, and Tremblay. Fred Woods, W. H. Cunnans and the Creamery were broken into. Siddals apparently had no idea that his comrades had peached. When arraigned he pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by Judge Houston. Officer Groves saw Siddals the night the Creamery was broken into, as the young man was coming out. P. C. Groves chased Siddals, but the lad was too fast for the big officer. Siddals was remanded till Monday for trial.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

William Templeton was convicted of stealing Bill Bates' watch and was released on suspended sentence. In releasing the prisoner, Judge Houston cautioned him to stop drinking and said that if he would relapse into the county from the cost of the trial within six months that he, the Judge, would give a light sentence.

CAVED IN

The well being dug at the Wm. Gray & Son's yards, for the large reservoir to be 16 feet deep and 40 feet in diameter, caved in last night and nearly took a large work building in with it. The cause of the cave in was the excessive rains of yesterday and last night. J. McGuire & Sons, of Toronto, are putting the reservoir in in connection with the fire protection system.

STORE ENTERED

Grocery Establishment of R. S. Dunlop Broken into Last Night.

When R. S. Dunlop the Queen St. grocer, arrived at his store this morning at the usual time—about 6:30—he found that there was something wrong, and that something was that the store had been burglarized. The glass in one of the front doors had been broken, and the glass lay scattered on the floor, the gum machines was on the floor, broken, and all the coppers were with gum scattered here and there.

The cash register was opened, and secret box was secret no longer, having been removed by fairly well-skilled hands—and the contents—a lot of new silver quarters—removed.

A box of cigars, many loose ones, chewing and smoking tobacco, gums, Dr. Chase's pills were among the other "breakers" which the books and papers were thoroughly ransacked.

A few dollars in coppers are also gone.

Mr. Dunlop's store was burglarized once before, the miscreants were caught the next day, sentenced the next, and the following Monday were in penitentiary. This time it is thought to be the work of Siddals, (who has since been arrested), or some of his gang.

FINAL CALL

Spirit of Mrs. J. S. Kitchen Summoned ere Daybreak This Morning.

Mrs. J. B. Kitchen passed away this morning at 4 o'clock, at the Public General Hospital. Her husband and daughter, and her sister, Mrs. J. P. Downie, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Mrs. Arthur Rolis, Detroit, were with her when death came. Five years ago the family moved to Lovmoor, Virginia, and for the past two years Mrs. Kitchen has suffered from cancer. She was brought to Chatham last May for treatment, and later was taken to Detroit for the X-ray treatment. This proved of no avail, and Mrs. Kitchen was brought back to her old home that she might spend, among old friends the few days, that God, in His goodness, might see fit to allot. Surrounded by those dear to her in her younger days, and lovingly attended by her daughter, Mrs. Cleave, Mrs. Kitchen passed the last days of her life in happiness and contentment.

She suffered much but none heard her complain and she endured all the pain with a calm spirit of resignation that wrung the hearts of those who loved her, yet were forced to watch her slowly slipping away from them.

The late Mrs. J. B. Kitchen was the eldest daughter of the late Captain Glenenden, clerk of the "Division Court" in this city. She came of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in this city. She was born and lived here until five years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen moved to Lovmoor, West Virginia. Mr. Kitchen is also well-known here. He and his brother conducted a private bank here for several years, and he was afterwards in partnership with Geo. Heyward in the grocery business.

Besides the husband and daughter, Mrs. Cleave, five sisters and one brother survive. The sisters are—Mrs. Arthur Rolis, Detroit; Mrs. Grinnell, Manistique, Mich.; Mrs. Sheriff, this city; Mrs. J. P. Downie, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and Mrs. Dr. Boushey, San Francisco, Cal. The Glenenden age, of Montreal, Mich., is a brother.

The funeral will take place Sunday at 3 o'clock, from the residence of G. O. Scott, Park avenue.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS

The Police Commissioners met this morning and decided to advertise for tenders for the improvements to the police station. The alterations will be made in accordance with the specifications prepared by the city engineer. It was decided to advertise for tenders to be in by September 22nd. Judge Houston reported that the wall of the police station had cracked at the back. It was decided to put in an iron rod to prevent damage to the cement floors in the cells.

An account for $2 for a City Directory was ordered paid.

Chairman M. Houston, Judge Bell, Police Court Clerk Merritt, and Chief Holmes, were present.

Making Them All One.

An elderly minister is fond of telling of a "break" he once made at a double wedding of two sisters. It was arranged that the two couples should be married with one ceremony, the two brides responding at the same time and the two bridegrooms doing the same. There had not been any previous rehearsal, as the minister had not done in the case of two men and two wives, and he could not think of any way of making "man" and "wife" plural in the sentence. In his desperation and confusion he lifted his hands and said solemnly:

"And now I pronounce you, one and all, husband and wife!"

Soap

We have a laundry Soap that we would like you to try, not only for our own benefit, but for yours as well. This Soap does its work without having to boil your clothes. Now you may laugh at the idea but it is true. We know it to be a fact as a great many people have already tried it, and all without one exception state that what we claim for the Soap is a real fact. Now admitting that it will do the work, see what you would save. Not requiring boiling water, see what you save in fuel, also in soap, as you know that soap will go twice as fast in hot water as it does in cold. Then again, you do away with that wash day smell through the house, and not having to dip your hands in and out of hot water, they do not get that awful red color, also rough.

THE CHATHAM FAIR

The directors of the West Kent Agricultural Association this fall are looking forward to the most successful exhibition in the history of the association. For the last three years the exhibitions have shown steady and very marked improvement, and so successful have they been from the financial standpoint that all back interest has been paid up, all prize claims promptly paid, and the floating liability reduced $1400.00. Under these very encouraging conditions the directors felt justified in making some very necessary improvements to the buildings on the grounds, so that when the public visit the exhibition this year on October 7th, 8th and 9th they will be agreeably surprised at the handsome appearance presented by the buildings. The main building and all the smaller buildings have been repainted and generally renewed, the stock sheds are being thoroughly overhauled, and the track is being put in excellent condition.

The entries are already beginning to pour in, and to facilitate the work of the secretary it is hoped and expected that all entries will be made as early as possible. The spaces in the main building are being rapidly taken up, because, owing to the immense crowds that have visited the fair during the past three years merchants and manufacturers have fully realized the advertising value of good displays.

Intense interest is being taken this year in the trials of speed. About $1200 in purses and prizes is offered for competition, so that the public may expect very interesting and exciting events.

This exhibition is the "County Fair" and is the best advertisement our county can have of its great prosperity, and for this reason, if for no other, should be supported and encouraged by every resident in Kent. Let every body turn out this year on Oct. 7th, 8th, and 9th, and make the best fair in Western Ontario a huge success.

CHATHAM FIRM

In its account of the large exhibition here last week the St. John, N. B., Daily Sun says of the exhibit of a Chatham firm:—

The Carriage Hall is one of the most attractive features for exhibition visitors, and has been very generally patronized. Chief among the exhibitors in this building is Wm. Gray & Sons Co., Ltd., manufacturers of fine carriages. This firm have a splendid display, and W. J. Henning, provincial manager, and assistants have been kept on the jump since the show opened.

The Gray Company manufacture the best line of goods on the Canadian market, and Manager Henning is well versed in all the business done. In fact, he is greatly pleased.

The Gray factory is located at Chatham, Ontario, and has the largest capacity in Canada. This firm manufacture all styles of carriages, and are favorably known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This firm have on exhibit some 35 jobs, carriages and sleighs, vehicles of all styles, but all of modern build and finish.

This firm has been doing business in the Maritime Provinces but a few years, but their sales have rapidly increased. The business so far this season has exceeded that of last year by over $30,000.

Another matter that is important to interested in carriages is that this firm use the Dunlop rubber tire, which they will fit to any sort of a vehicle.

In finish, style and general appearance the output of the Gray factory discounts any on the market. No detail is skimped over, but every part is carefully looked after and artistically finished. For instance, in the upholstery the leather used is all one piece and the buttons are fastened with steel staples. All the bodies are made of whitewood, are screwed and plugged and only waterproof glue is used.

To cater to the local or provincial trade in its entirety this well known house are putting on the market a specially constructed pump called the St. John River pump. It is the best of its kind on the market to-day.

In this connection it might be remarked that the Gray concern give careful attention to sleigh runners, and for the St. John River sleigh claim that it is the best suited gear offered on the local market.

Their various lines of light carriages and sleighs cannot be excelled. Besides being fitted with the most up-to-date tire the Dowsley roller bearing spring head and Dowsley axle in its most up-to-date form are used. The firm manufacture but one price goods, the best. None are better. Their business proves that, and an inspection of their exhibit is conclusive.

International Bible Lesson for To-morrow—Loving and Obeying God.—Deut. 30, 11-20.

Golden Text—"For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments."

Solomon says, "Fear God, and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

At 120 years of age Moses knew and felt Israel's danger. Their duty to God was well known; His reasonable requirements and commands, to be followed by blessing, appealed to every conscience, but without God's love in His people obedience and His laws was impracticable and disobedience certain. God's law generates conviction in the sinful heart, but God's love receives and generates love, and obedience to His laws. Man cannot, not spiritual, and must be born again or he cannot see the Kingdom of God; cannot love and obey. Life and good, death and evil, are set before them—and, also,—their sad and lamentable record of disobedience and idolatry, their rejection of Jesus Christ and the consequences, is an object lesson for all time, to all men. If God spared not the natural branches, neither will He spare us. Without God's love in us we are without God and without hope; Christ in us is the hope of glory, and Jesus says, "Without me ye can do nothing."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SATCHEL - OF THE - SATELLITE

Tag seems to be a game that Chatham dogs know nothing about.

I'll bet that my friend Tobey is following the man who cooks.

I often wonder if a wife-beater wouldn't make a good carpet beater.

Roy Tobey wrote to the Satellite, and he put down what he had to say, in "black and white."

You can talk about your chickens laying eggs, but our Mayor has got them all beat. He laid a corner stone.

The contractors for the Sixth street pavement impress everyone with the fact that they are men who know their business.

Talking about airs, some people like a change of air, others are fond of a musical air, but for my part I dogs on millions.

If Mr. Tobey takes it into his head to paint any of the European capitals he won't do it in red. I'll bet black and white'll be his color.

In Hamilton they have started a dog catcher to work. The news that a large sausage factory is being erected in the Ambitious Barge may be looked for any day.

"There," said the grave-digger after he had finished excavating a hole for the reception of the body of a minister, "There is an opening for a good man."

I object to the Banner minus News putting our ad. on the 8th page, with our consent. Our contract calls for preferred editorial space, and we must have it.

Here, my friend Roy Tobey has been in Europe nearly four weeks and I haven't yet heard that he has sold a suit of New Method clothing to the Emperor of Germany.

Speaking of the frightening of Stanley avenue, Mayor George Sulman has been told that he only took back in the name of the King what was taken in the name of the Lord, fifty years ago.

Here is a specimen of the English language in which foreigners learning the same would be sure to fall down if he heard it spoken—"In justice to Mr. Smith I should say I did an injustice to him."

The library corner stone layers were so anxious to get a copy of this G. H. J. in the tin box that they put the paper in the tin box before the stone was laid. The result was that the derriek broke. I don't think anybody will say now that this Great Home Journal doesn't carry weight.

There is one thing about Mayor Sulman. He is never missed from a council meeting. It is perhaps a remarkable fact, but it is true, that Mayor Sulman has never been absent from a meeting of the council during his year and a half term of office. If he is faithful in such a little thing, he must be faithful in many things.

My friend Roy Tobey writes the Satellite from the Hotel St. Peterburg, gay Paris under date of August 29 as follows—"We have been in Paris a week and it is a very beautiful city. The parks and buildings are magnificent. Any coins dated before 1893 are bad. Well, I have two old francs (50 cents each)."

"We spent the day in Versailles, and were in the house where the treaty of peace was signed between Germany and France. We also saw the automobile in which Mr. and Mrs. Fair were killed. It is a dark red, and is badly wrecked on the left side. This is a bad country for tipping. You pay three francs for your lunch, the waiter expects one for a tip. Went to grand opera last evening (Lohengrin). They had an orchestra of 150 pieces, very fine. We are following the man from Cooks, which is a good plan for those who do not speak French."

A DISGUSTED EDITOR.

Press tickets were as scarce as hens' teeth at the Bothwell races. When the Quill becomes a meet in that town again for seven issues for nothing beef steak will be only a penny per pound. We paid fifty cents to see what we boomed gratis.—Florence Quill.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Even our excessive modesty will not permit us to refrain from reproducing the Banner's opinion of us. That paper calls us "That noble and exemplary Journal The 'Planet'." We know that truth, and we cannot truthfully respond and say the same about our unfortunate contemporary.

How to Know Delft.

The first and most prominent earmark of delft china is that of color. Everybody knows that delft is blue, but it must not be too blue. The genuine article is as hard as porcelain, and its natural color is a pure white. The only thing that should be blue is the figure or design, and the production of this deep indigo tint is one of Holland's cherished secrets.

The trademark which is best known on the delft plate consists of an oddly shaped U surmounting an F. What this mark really signifies is long since forgotten, says the House Furnishing Review.

Another test of delft is its ring. You do not need to eat off a delft plate with a pair of ice tongs to hear the true porcelain ring. Strike it with your fingers while admiring the Dutch characteristics of the design.

No machine ever made a delft decoration, and the modern article is most readily distinguished by its uniformity of design.

Keep Them Looking Fresh.

There are three things in every home which should never be permitted to show signs of a former use. One of these is the dining room table, one the bedroom and one the bathroom. Each of them should always suggest having just been made ready for some one's convenience.

This is especially true of a bathroom. Everything in it should shine like the crystal and silver of a dinner table, and be as fresh as scouring can make it.

Shelves and cabinets are almost essential for small bathrooms. In no other way can necessary articles, medicine and toilet bottles be hidden away.

Any bathroom which allows them to remain visible week in and week out is the bathroom of the careless housekeeper.

No sainthood without service.
