ALL EYES ON CHINA

Outbreaks of Boxers Claim Attention of the Great Powers.

CRISIS CONFRONTS GREAT BRITAIN

While Her Land Troops Are 6000 Miles Away.

ALL OFF WITH JOE MARTIN.

Yukon Council Discussed Before Parliamentary Committee—Collects and Disburses Its Funds.

London, June 9, via Skagway, June 15.—The Chinese question which at the beginning of the week was a very small cloud upon the horizon now overshadows everything else in importance.

England is face to face with an international crisis at a time when her land forces are almost entirely absent a distance of 6000 miles.

All reports from China indicate that the Boxer movement is growing and the situation is daily becoming graver.

The destruction of a Russian chapel at Tieng Tingan provided that country with a pretext to land more troops. French agents in various towns where the Boxers are strong have been compelled to retire, which has provoked the French nation, and action is now being taken by them to secure redress.

There is no doubt left that the Chinese empress and most of the high government officials are actuated from sympathy with the Boxers, if not lending them aid and support. The Chinese government has entered a protest against the landing of so many foreign troops, to which none of the foreign ministers have as yet replied.

The American mission at Pie Tang Chow was destroyed yesterday, but the missionaries fled in safety to Pao Ting Fu, where they found refuge. The Tientsin railroad has been crippled by the Boxers and is no longer in operation.

All the newspapers comment upon the gravity of the situation, which most of them believe will result in the ultimate partition of the Chinese empire.

Martin Downed.

Victoria, B. C., June 10, via Skagway, June 15.—Joseph Martin will not build a railroad with the money of the people of British Columbia, nor will the opportunity be given to him to inflict any experimental legislation upon the province. The people have pronounced against him in no uncertain terms, and there is no possibility of his being returned again to power.

Admiralty Court.

Ottawa, June 10, via Skagway, June 15.—An admiralty court has been created for the Yukon.

Yukon Council Discussed.

Ottawa, June 9, via Skagway, June 15.—J. A. Smart, deputy in the office of the minister of the interior, was examined here today by the public accounts committee with reference to the revenues derived from the Yukon territory. He testified that the department practically has no supervision over the affairs of the Yukon council. The council sends the minutes of its meetings to Ottawa, but in the matter of collecting and expending revenues does about as it pleases, the only exception being in the case of liquor permits, which are issued by the department direct.

The money derived from this source is expended in the territory. During the last fiscal year this revenue amounted to over $100,000.

Apothecary Failure.

Ottawa, June 9, via Skagway, June 15.—An official report has been issued by the receiver for the Klondike and Columbia Gold Fields Co. The report states that the promoter of the company, J. Morris Colton, imposed upon the confidence of the directors whom he induced to entrust to him for investment the sum of $50,000. The mining interests which he claimed to own amount to nothing and the assets of the company are nil.

Yukon Railway.

Ottawa, June 9, via Skagway, June 15.—In the house of commons Sir Chas. Tupper urged the consideration of bills incorporating the Alaska-Yukon and Alaska, and the Northwestern railroads. Sir Charles' request was opposed by Mr. Blair, who insisted that no more charters should be granted to any railroads from the international boundary line. The matter was dropped.

YUKON COUNCIL

Transacted a Large Amount of Business Yesterday.

NEWSPAPER ORDINANCE IS PASSED.

Inquisitorial Law at Length Placed on the Statutes.

LICENSES AT WHITE HORSE.

Matter of Taxation Comes Up Again—Indigents and Insane Patients Discussed.

The following is the record of the most important business transacted by the Yukon council at its meeting held yesterday afternoon.

A communication was received from the comptroller stating that complaints had been made that hawkers are selling fruit, and infringing upon the rights of transient traders. The comptroller suggested that an amendment be made to the ordinance of the Northwest territories respecting peddlers. Referred to the legal adviser to prepare an ordinance to meet the case.

A communication was received from the acting license inspector asking for an opinion as to whether or not a license may be legally extended where the date of the extension would exceed 12 months from the date of the new tariff. Referred to the legal adviser.

A communication was presented from W. Germer asking for the building of a sidewalk on Third street. Referred to the commissioner.

A communication was received from the comptroller with respect to the care of lunatics, and their transportation to the outside, stating that no appropriation had been made for this service and recommending that such expenses be taken from the contingent appropriation. The communication made further inquiry as to whether payment should be made to the police for extras which had been supplied to lunatics.

It was resolved that the comptroller be instructed to make the payments referred to in his letter out of the contingent appropriation.

A communication was presented from the Dawson Water & Power Company in reply to the question as to what the company would charge for flushing out the sewers. Referred to the public works committee.

A communication was presented from Mrs. Shultz in which an offer was made to take charge of an insane woman during her transportation to the outside. Referred to the commissioner.

A report was presented from Mr. Clement on the application of the Yukon Telephone Syndicate, Ltd., for letters patent, in which he stated that he had examined the papers and found that the petitioners had complied with the provisions of the companies' ordinance. The clerk was instructed to notify Messrs. Tabor & Hulme, for the applicants, that letters patent would be prepared upon the fee being paid to the comptroller.

The municipal committee then presented the following reports:

The municipal committee to which was referred the respective petitions of Messrs. Holmes and Strait recommend that the commissioner and the chairman of the public works committee be authorized to make arrangements with the petitioners for the erection of scales, provided that these scales do not interfere with the public traffic, and provided that they be placed on a site subject to the approval of the commissioner and the chairman of the public works committee.

Moved by Mr. Clement, seconded by Mr. Girouard.

Resolved, That the above reports of the municipal committee be adopted.

The hospital committee then presented the following report:

The hospital committee, to which was referred the question of indigents, beg to recommend:

First—That the tender of Mr. J. A. Greene, undertaker, be accepted.

Second—That the consideration of the question of how to prevent patients who have money from obtaining admission to the hospitals as indigents, recommend that no action be taken on this matter until the present system of inquiry have further trial.

Moved by Mr. Girouard, seconded by Mr. Senkler

Resolved, That the above report of the hospital committee be adopted.

The finance committee then presented the following report:

The finance committee, to which was referred several questions, beg to submit:

First—Consideration was given in conjunction with the legal adviser to the question of providing for the collection of taxes, and it was arranged with the legal adviser to prepare an ordinance with this end in view, which should be submitted to council.

Second—In respect to the assistance to indigents the committee recommends that each individual case be submitted to the council, and in the absence of a quorum during the holidays, to the member or members thereof in town.

Moved by Mr. Girouard, seconded by Mr. Senkler.

Resolved, That the above report of the finance committee be adopted.

Moved by Mr. Justice Dugas, seconded by Mr. Girouard.

Resolved, That the ordinance respecting meetings of the Yukon council be now read a third time. The ordinance was accordingly read a third time, and the commissioner having put the question that this bill do now pass, it was resolved in the affirmative.

The council then resolved itself into a committee of the whole to consider an ordinance respecting newspapers, and after some time spent therein, Mr. Justice Dugas, chairman, reported the bill agreed to with certain amendments. The amendments were then read and agreed to.

Moved by Mr. Justice Dugas, seconded by Mr. Girouard.

Resolved, That the ordinance respecting newspapers be now read a third time.

The ordinance was accordingly read a third time and the commissioner having put the question that this bill do now pass, it was resolved in the affirmative.

Moved by Mr. Clement, seconded by Mr. Justice Dugas

Resolved, That the ordinance respecting the Dawson Electric Light & Power Company, Ltd., be now read a second time and committed to a committee of the whole council.

The ordinance was accordingly read a second time and committed to a committee of the whole council.

The council then adjourned.

IT'S ALL OFF.

Trade too Slack to Warrant Remaining in the Clothing Trade.

Two months ago Ward, Hough & Co., Front street, imported a clean new stock, consisting of $25,000 worth of clothing, furnishing goods, hats and shoes. They intended to remain in this line permanently, but trade has been so slack that they have concluded to drop this branch and to speedily dispose of the goods, price being no object, by July 1st. Everything must be disposed of. Stylish spring suits that sold for $35 have been marked down to $22.50; $25 suits will be sold for $14.50; all other suits in proportion. Underwear worth $3 per suit will sell at $1.50, and so on. Fine Fedora hats will go at $3.50 and $4, former price $5 and $6. Shoes that sold for $6 will go at $4.50. It is impossible to quote all the various lines and prices. Come and see for yourself. You will make money by buying some of these goods. Remember the name and number, Ward, Hough & Co., 111 Front street. Look for red sign.

FLORA ARRIVES

From White Horse With Eighty Passengers and Full Cargo of Freight.

FOUR STEAMERS AT HEAD OF LEBARGE

Canadian, Victorian, Yukoner and Gold Star.

WATER RISING VERY SLOWLY.

Yukoner's Passengers Transferred to Cisset—Ora Is Due Monday—Flora Sails Tomorrow.

After flirting with all the sand bars and flats between Whitehorse and Dawson and escaping capture from all of them, the saucy little steamer Flora, of the Klondike Corporation, Ltd., swept down the river and was tied up to her dock by 11 o'clock, having left Whitehorse at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, just 50 hours previous to her arrival here, the actual running time on the down trip being less than 45 hours.

Capt. J. J. Campbell, master, and Capt. Martineau, pilot, on the Flora, were both seen on her arrival and from them was learned some reliable information regarding the condition of the upper lakes and rivers. From them it is learned that the steamers Canadian, Victorian, Yukoner and Gold Star are all resting their bulks on a bar at the upper end of Lake Lebarge, all four being in sight of each other. When the Flora passed that point day before yesterday in the afternoon, she was drawing 29 inches of water and Capt. Martineau says there was not room under her hull for an eel to crawl; but the water is slowly rising at that point.

In the 48 hours previous to the passing of Thirtymile by the Flora the water had raised two inches in that river; but from the mouth of Big Salmon on to Dawson the water is falling quite noticeably. The Pelly is said to be almost dry, something never before known in the history of the country at this season of the year.

The steamer Ora had crossed the Lebarge bar safely and was met by the Flora within three hours run of Whitehorse. She is expected to return to Dawson by Sunday or Monday.

The Sybil was met yesterday afternoon at Heisgate and was getting along splendidly. It is thought she will be able to go on direct to Whitehorse without delay.

The Yukoner's passengers were carried on to Whitehorse by the little steamer Cisset, two trips being required to effect the transfer. Captains Campbell and Martineau agree that there must be a material rise in the water on the Lebarge bar before the large steamers will be able to continue on the downward trip to this place. Major Wood, who was ordered from Tagish to this place to fill the positions formerly occupied by Major Perry, is one of the many passengers on the big steamer Canadian.

The Flora's officers say that the trains are running into Whitehorse regularly, giving to that "burg" the ap-

THE RESULT OF SECRECY.

The conviction of representation clerk Struthers of illegal practices in connection with his duties while an employee in the office of Assistant Gold Commissioner Bell is, apparently, to have no effect upon the methods pursued by that gentleman in conducting his office.

Mr. Bell, as has previously been stated in this paper, maintains that he is running his office "in the interests of the public and against the newspapers."

In pursuance of this very laudable purpose Mr. Bell has placed the seal of secrecy around his office to such an extent that the publication of such interesting matters as transfers and renewals of claims, mortgages filed, etc., is no longer possible.

In the light of developments brought out in the Struthers case the question arises with renewed force: Is Mr. Bell's policy attaining the end which he so stoutly maintains he desires to reach? We answer this question by asserting that Mr. Bell's policy is absolutely and incontestably opposed to the public interests, as well as being directed against the newspapers.

The one thing which above all others fosters and nourishes wrongdoing, whether of a public or private nature, is secrecy. Crime can flourish only in the dark. It cannot withstand the light of day. The fact was never more clearly exemplified than in the case of Struthers. There are, under the existing laws, two methods of representing a claim. One is by the payment of a certain specified amount of money and the other is by means of an affidavit setting forth the performance of a certain amount of labor, as required by law.

Had there been in force a regulation requiring the publication of the location and ownership of all claims represented and the method of representation adopted in each particular case, or had the newspapers been permitted to make such information public, there could have been no possibility of such frauds as were brought out in the Struthers case.

The whole success of Struthers' scheme lay in the secrecy surrounding the office. Had the representation clerk been compelled to furnish for publication the facts with reference to the business transacted at his window he would never have dared to undertake the manufacture of false representation papers. But Mr. Bell relieved him of any difficulty on that score and, as events have proven, Struthers was not slow to realize how the assistant commissioner's ideas could be made to inure to his own personal benefit.

We wonder if Mr. Bell's pro bono publico and anti-newspaper policy is as satisfactory to him now as it was some months ago.

Miss Helen Gould, who is making for herself as great a name as a philanthropist as her father, Jay Gould, gained as a financier, is to be honored by congress with a vote of thanks for her kindness to the soldiers during the war with Spain. The bill now pending in congress to that effect will undoubtedly pass both the houses without opposition. Miss Gould will be the third woman in the history of our government to receive such honor. The first woman who was awarded a vote of thanks by congress was Dolly Madison, for having saved the original draft of the Declaration of Independence and Gilbert Stuart's portrait of Washington at the time the White House was captured by the British army and burned in 1814. In 1878 a similar honor was conferred upon Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson of New York city in acknowledgment of her gift of Frank Carpenter's picture of President Lincoln and cabinet signing the emancipation proclamation.—Exchange.

The News' "hen editor" is on deck again with a brand new, although thoroughly characteristic, discovery. In last night's issue he made the startling announcement that eggs which are retailing at $1 per dozen are selling by the case at the rate of 25 cents per dozen. High profits are not an unusual thing in Dawson, but a difference of 300 per cent between local wholesale and retail prices is a little more than ordinarily happens even in the Klondike metropolis. The fact of the matter is that eggs are, or were yesterday, retailing at $1 per dozen and wholesaling at $25 per case of thirty dozen. The price given by the News' "hen editor" was only about 60 cents a dozen under the actual price, which is not at all bad for the News.

Dawson has been confronted by a meat famine for several days. Six beeves which some fortunate speculator brought down in his scow as a side issue were sold for $3600, and these only sufficed to keep the market supplied for a short time. We would rejoice to see some of the immense quantities of beef brought to light which the News assured us during the winter would be dumped into the river this spring. Somebody must have all that meat in cold storage.

Kruger denies that he ran away with the Transvaal government's money when he left Pretoria. Oom Paul has been so long accustomed to consider everything pertaining to the said government in the light of personal property that there is small wonder he denies the base insinuation.

Why the Months Are So Named.
The word "month" is descended from the Saxons, and simply means the time when it "mooneth." "January" is from the Italin word "Janus," who was god of the sun and year. "February" is from the Latin word "Februarius," and means the month of expiation, because the Roman festival of purification occurred in Februarius. "March" is from Mars, the "god of war," and was the first month in the Roman calendar. The Jews began their year at the same time, and "July" was "Quintilius," or fifth month after March, and its name was changed to July in honor of Julius Caesar. "August" was "Sextilis," or sixth month after March. In honor of Emperor Augustus its name was changed to August. Septem, octo, novem, decem—seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth—give names to September, October, November and December.—Mary E. M. Richardson, in Woman's Home Companion.

POPULAR OPINION.

A Chechako's Comments.

Editor Daily Nugget:
Excuse me for presuming to utilize your paper as a medium through which to express my thoughts, as I am a total stranger in your city, and, having no friend to whom I can talk confidently, give views and venture opinions on what I have seen since my arrival, therefore, I will write them down and you can publish or consign to the waste basket as your good judgment may dictate.

I arrived in a small boat on last Sunday, having made the trip from Bennett alone and in 12 days. And now that I am here I know not what to do with myself.

By standing around on the street and keeping my ears open I have heard a great many things which to me are great surprises. Like all persons on the outside, I entertained the idea that the only thing necessary here to start oneself on the high road to fame and fortune is to secure a claim or an opportunity to work a claim for an interest, and that the fortune is bound to come. However, since my arrival I have heard that sometimes men who even own claims manage them so as to come out behind, and the class I hear called laymen are all coming out behind this year, or nearly all. These reports have somewhat cooled my ardor in regard to working some other man's claim is concerned. On the contrary, I think it will be better for me to be the other man, get a claim and let it out on lays.

One thing I find here that I am not pleased with is the custom of using gold dust as a medium of exchange, but perhaps it is for the reason that I was "worked" shortly after my arrival that I do not admire the custom. Within an hour after I landed I entered a restaurant and had a square meal, the first for two weeks. As I had heard that prices were higher here than on the outside, I was not surprised when I was given a check for $1.50; but I was surprised when, on presenting a $20 bill in payment the cashier at the desk weighed out $18.50 in gold dust which he gave to me, with the pet remark, "There's your change." As I supposed then that it was the custom of the place to pay out good money and take change in gold dust, I took it and said nothing; but having no gold sack I put it in an envelope and lost the most of it. Four days of observation has led me to conclude that the cashier heard me say that was my first meal in Dawson and that he played me for a fish and landed me very easily. I have since bought a gold sack, but pray every night that I will not have occasion for its use.

I have been most agreeably surprised to find in Dawson both men and women who dress with as much taste and care as do people of any city on the outside; when, to tell the truth, I did not expect to see any "biled" shirts or flowered bonnets in the country.

Having for many years been engaged in the work of teaching, I am naturally solicitous for the welfare of the youth; and seeing a number of both boys and girls on the streets at all hours of the day, I made inquiry regarding the length of the vacation. Imagine my surprise when I was informed that the entire year is a vacation here; that there is no provision made for the education of the youth of the country. When it is considered the vast amount of money paid into the exchequer of the government in proportion to the small number of inhabitants in the district, the fact that there is no provision made for the education of the growing children must surely appear to all progressive people in the light of little less than criminal neglect.

From the standpoint of law and order I cannot refrain from complimenting the peace officers on the conditions I find in Dawson. Here are a rough and rugged people emigrated from all parts of the world, but they appear, in the main, to be as lawabiding and peaceful as any aggregation with which I have ever come in contact.

One thing I have observed, however, that puts a blight on all the good features of this modern city, and that is the portion of the city where degraded women herald their infamy in the broad open daylight without reproach or rebuke from the source that could suppress the evil by simply saying the word. Aside from this open insult to every respectable man and woman in Dawson, I find nothing here that is not in keeping with other and older cities in the west insofar as law, order and respectability are concerned.

thrifty to the last degree of New England thriftiness, kept silent until some one said:

"What do you think about it, Beulah?"

"Well, I must say that it depends," said Beulah. "Now when a woman gets married, an' her husband gets drafted into the army, and he gets killed, and she gets a pension of $12 a month as long as she lives, it pays to get married. That's what I think."—Youth's Companion.

CHICAGO PAPER'S ROMANCE

In Which the Klondike and a Woman Figure.

May Have Some Resemblance to Truth but Sounds Largely of Fiction—Undertakers Have Grown Rich.

A Chicago paper recently perpetrated upon its readers the following: "There have many stories come out of the Klondike country of the people who have made fortunes there. Some have been of moving, some of packing, some of gambling, some of salooning, some of feeling the hungry and so on, but none of undertaking, so far as I have heard, and I know of a man and his wife who have got rich by burying people." Thus spoke a Seattle man who had been at Dawson since the beginning. "It was really the wife who did it," he continued, "and her story is interesting. Her husband, whom she greatly admires and affectionately calls 'Jim,' was a worker in an undertaking establishment, and when the rush began toward the gold diggings she hustled him out and came along to take care of him. At Skagway some friend gave her a lean and lank little Eskimo dog, broken to harness, and apparently broken to health. At least he could scarcely drag himself around, but his new owner cuddled him up carefully, and by the time she was ready to go on the road the dog was able to pull a fair sled load. "So she and her husband and the dog, which she had named 'Jim' as a compliment to her liege lord, started on their long, hard journey. They got along quite well or better than many others on the trail, and when the first halting place was reached the woman's will manifested itself still more. She was in advance with the dog and the sled, her husband watching the remainder of the goods some distance back. The halting place looked her over a minute, took a squint at her measly little dog and frankly told her that he would be darned if a lone woman like that would have to pay to go through his gate, and he sent her along free of cost. Smiling and thankful she passed on and unloaded a mile or so farther on and came back to her husband after another load. Telling him to stay right there till she had brought everything through free she finished the job and Jim came sauntering through the gate unscathed of toll. "Arrived at the spot, they did not know just what to do at first, never thinking of the undertaking business, which they had run away from. But one day a man died on the creek where they were, and there wasn't anybody in particular to bury him. This was the little woman's chance, and she hustled Jim out after the job. He got it, of course, and in a short time he had his carpenter's tools out and was at work building a coffin. He turned out a very good one, got everything ready in true professional style, and the funeral was a great success. Jim got $250 for his efforts, and Jim's wife knew what their mission was in the Klondike. "Other funerals followed, and Jim got them and took in $200 or $300 for each one. Now and then a man would die who wished his body sent outside, and for this kind Jim got $800. In the winter it was impossible to take bodies out, and Mrs. Jim arranged a cold corner of their cabin, where she had the waiting boxes piled up, with a portiere drawn over them to make them more ornamental, and there they remained until spring. "Grave digging was hard work in the winter, and it required two or three days of thawing and digging to get a grave sufficiently deep for its purpose. A little incident will show what kind of a business woman Mrs. Jim was when it was necessary. One winter night word came to Jim's cabin to come six or seven miles over the mountains to look after a man who had died. Jim was not at home, but Mrs. Jim was, and without a word she hitched her little dog to his sled, took her lantern and started over the snow and the mountains, entirely alone in the darkness of an arctic winter. She arrived at the place without mishap and the live man waiting with the dead one for Jim thought it was a ghost when he saw Jim's wife at his cabin door. He offered to do anything he could for her, but she said there was nothing he could do except to help her put the load on her sled, and back she came to her home, leading the way with her lantern for the dog and the dead man to follow. "When the springtime came again Mrs. Jim went down to Seattle, where she laid in a full supply of funeral fixings, except coffins, which are all homemade, and she and Jim have a first-class place and have made a comfortable fortune, besides owning several claims on which they have not yet realized."

Dewey Got no Tea.

Mrs. Dewey smiled a little, nodded a little, looked about a good deal and was not recognized by half the house, which whispered feverishly over her identity during the rest of the Beethoven, says the Philadelphia North American.

And when the music was over there was tea in the foyer above—served by the Red Cross girls at 25 cents a cup, and drank, so far as I could see, by nobody but Mrs. Dewey. The admiral had a cup given him, and wanted it, I think, very much, but he had to have a great many people introduced to him, to every one of whom he gave a cordial hand and one of those kindly, half-spoken sentences of his.

"Admiral, I want to present my daughter."

And down went the admiral's cup on the tea table and out came the admiral's hand.

"Your daughter? Ah! certainly. I can see the—"

"Here, dear! I want to introduce you to the admiral!"

And there would be another slip between the cup and the lip. In the end he got no tea at all—for, just as he turned from the very last introduction and, fished out the bit of lemon from the cup and lifted this long deferred delight, Mrs. Dewey said:

"Well, I suppose we'd better be getting away now."

And away they went. Only a Red Cross girl at the end of the table, with whom the admiral stopped to speak, said:

"I'd like, admiral, to give you another cup of tea."

A unique event has been celebrated at Buenos Ayres. A shipmaster has made 100 round voyages between Italy and the river Plata without doing any damage to his own or any other ship.

City of Crime.

The Italian city of Ardena, situated about 40 miles from Rome, is known as the City of Crime. Ever since the sixteenth century every criminal who has escaped from prison or done his time has emigrated to Ardena, and today practically every inhabitant is a criminal or the child of criminals. Every family takes the law into its own hands, and it is reported not a day passes without many murders being committed in the streets. The Italian authorities have now come to look upon Ardena as hopeless, and remark that it is far better that criminals should kill criminals than that innocent persons should be their victims. It is said that on one occasion, when 23 murders had been committed in that city in one day, the fact was reported in one of the Italian papers in the following terms: "Since our last issue (24 hours) there have been 23 sudden deaths in Ardena." And no further notice of the murders was taken or expected.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Peaches and Blubber.

Canadians are very touchy on the subject of climate, as Rudyard Kipling discovered when he somewhat thoughtlessly dubbed the dominion Our Lady of the Snows. When Arthur Stringer, the young Canadian poet and author, first went to Oxford, he carried with him letters from Prof. Goldwin Smith, of Toronto, to Prof. York Powell, the distinguished historian of Christ Church, says the Philadelphia Post.

The old Oxford don, like one or two other Englishmen, had very vague ideas about Canada, and somewhat surprised the young stranger by inquiring if he got along nicely on English roast-mutton after living so long on frozen seal meat. The young poet gravely protested that he perhaps missed his whale blubber a little, but the next day cabled home, and in less than a week the finest basket of autumn peaches ever grown in Ontario, carefully packed in sawdust, was on its way to Oxford. A short time afterward the young author was again dining with the regius professor at Oxford, and that gentleman produced at the meal a fruit dish loaded with tremendous peaches.

"Most extraordinary," said the old professor, "but these peaches were sent to me today, and I'm blest if I know who sent them. From the south of France, I suspect, so I saved a few of them for you, Stringer—they will be such a novelty, you know!"

The Canadian very quietly took a steamship company's bill of lading from his pocket and handed it to the professor. The professor gazed at the bill, and then at the fruit, then at the poet.

"I had some whale blubber, too, professor," said that young man, "but I simply had to eat that. These other things were grown on my uncle's farm near Kent county, Ont., you know. He has 200 bushels of them every year, and he sent me over a basket of little ones, along with the whale blubber."

Refuses to Accept It.

J. Eads How, of St. Louis, who has refused to accept a million dollars inherited from his relatives because he has not earned it by his own labors, has given $2000 to be expended "for the public welfare." This represents the interest on a sum How keeps in bank to enable him to prosecute his work of relieving distress among the poorer classes. It is "unearned increment," he says, and therefore he refuses to use it himself.

As a matter of fact, it is very seldom that he spends any money on his own account. He left his mansion in Lindell boulevard to live among the poorest classes in St. Louis. He conducts the mission home at Ninth and Washington streets. One room and a kitchen constitute his home. He conducts the mission home at Ninth and Washington streets. How is a nephew of the late James B. Eads, who built the bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis. He was educated at an eastern college, and while traveling afterward in Europe conceived the idea of devoting his life to the poor.

A million dollars is his if he wants it, but he does not choose to be among the family heirs. His only condition in giving the $2000 is that the poor shall profit by it. A committee appointed by a public mass meeting will arrange a plan for its distribution. It is proposed to secure similar donations from men who incline to the ideas entertained by How.

SPORTS COMMITTEE MEETS.

Canoe Race Will Extend Across the River and Back.

Tug-of-War Will Be Held on a Platform—Medal Will Be Presented to Winner—Indians to Take Part.

The sports committee of the Fourth of July celebration held a meeting last evening in the rooms of the Board of Trade. Dr. Wilcoxon was in the chair. It was decided by the committee that the canoe race should take place on a course covering the distance between two buoys, one on this side of the river and the other on the opposite side. Putting a 56 pound weight was added to the sports.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Langley, McCarty and Olsen was appointed to arrange for a pony race.

An invitation was extended to the tug of war teams who contemplate a contest on Gold Run to pull the event off in Dawson on the Fourth.

It was decided to present a medal to the winner of the largest number of points.

The first prize for the tug of war will be not less than $250. This latter event will take place on a platform 135 feet long, four feet high, and four feet wide. It was decided to ask the Indians at Moosehide to take part in a canoe race. A committee to have charge of the day's sports was appointed as follows: Messrs. Fletcher, McCarty, Slavin, Fox and Shepherd.

The following were added to the sports committee: Messrs. Clayton, Tozier, Condon, Sale and Bottsford. The sports committee will meet again next Thursday, and the executive committee will meet on Monday night.

Territorial Court.

After being on trial for two days in the territorial court the case of the Queen vs. Stjepovich, charged with stealing a quantity of hay, was continued until next Tuesday.

Today the court was hearing arguments on motions, and no cases were on hearing.

FLORA ARRIVES.

pearance of a metropolitan point. Considerable building is going on there and the new town has that air of rush and progress found only in the far northwest.

Regarding the amount of freight and number of people at Bennett destined for Dawson and on down the river, the Flora's officers can not speak authoritatively, although they say it is reported that the freight now at Bennett is estimated at 6000 tons.

The following is the Flora's list of passengers brought in today: J. Roslyn, J. J. Dasset, Mrs. N. C. Hallock, P. G. McCherry, P. I. G. McCherry, W. L. Jones, C. H. Irvin, P. Brown, R. J. Jones, J. Achenalett, Johnson Jones, I. P. Todd, Mrs. E. J. Fitzpatrick and two children, Peter Sleep, Mrs. W. F. Brown, W. J. Baker, Mrs. F. Thompson, W. M. Liggett, Mrs. Liggett, J. E. Peterson, Y. A. Peterson, J. B. Blicker, J. C. Nickel, C. H. Carry, J. M. Cowin, D. D. Jewell, F. R. Wilkins, H. Blake, Dr. J. D. Cooper, F. Joslyn, Mrs. Joslyn, Mrs. C. Hennsdog, P. Diagle, N. K. Harp, Mrs. N. K. Harp, S. E. Daily, J. W. Meeknows, Mrs. Meeknows, P. Barth, O. W. Ashley, L. Heilent, H. G. Wilson, A. W. Johnson, W. Braid, E. E. Wier, E. E. Neill, C. Sherman, and 30 second-class.

The Flora will leave at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with all available passenger accommodation sold.

Coming Home.

A telegraphic message received by Mr. R. M. Lindsay, acting manager of the A. E. Co., announces that General Manager L. R. Fulda, was to leave San Francisco for Dawson on the 13th, day before yesterday. He is expected to reach here within the next ten days or two weeks. Since leaving, Mr. Fulda has visited the principal cities in the United States and Canada and has spent a number of weeks in London and Paris.

William at It Again.

Emperor William II. has again succeeded with a little match in kindling a great European flame. A new half penny paper has been recently started in London, to be known as the Daily Express. C. Arthur Pearson, the founder thereof, has already made a considerable fortune in magazines. The new venture starts with five magnificent Hoe presses, run by electricity, linotype machines, and, in short, a complete outfit of the very latest and best American machinery. Mr. Pearson has made his modest beginning with 750,000 copies daily, except Sunday, when he does not publish. Foreign news is to be made a specialty, and to insure its lively treatment the bulk of the staff has been imported from the United States. Now, what does Emperor William do on the eve of the first appearance of the Daily Express but dispatch its editor a sample of his famous brand of congratulatory telegram:

"I offer my good wishes," he wrote, "for the success of the Daily Express, which, as I understand, proposes to foster that most excellent of missions—the promotion of international good will."

Innocent enough to all appearances this, yet immediately there has arisen throughout Europe a hubbub of the first dimensions. The French newspapers have led the way with characteristic impetuosity. The least violent simply dub the whole story a lie, and a remarkably clever dodge on the part of the new journal to make a sensational beginning. Others admit the kaiser's present Anglomania, but imply that Wilhelm's friendships, though demonstrative, are of corresponding flightiness. Still another ends a long editorial with the calm words: "For us Wilhelm is even worse now than before, since he has become more than ever the friend of our enemy—England." The Viennese papers are less inclined to a final pronouncement, but agree that the incident is "very significant." Italy takes a business view of the situation, as a brilliant piece of journalism on the part of the Daily Express. Incidentally it might be implied that an emperor should have a little more dignity, and not be played for gratis advertising in such a palpable way by the clever Englishmen.

No End of Season.

Heretofore the work of mining has been practically suspended during the summer, but this season will differ from its predecessors in that the work will be carried along on many of the creeks and especially on hillside and bench claims during the entire summer when it is only reasonable that more progress will be made than during the same period of time in the winter months, for the reason that the present season is more favorable to work, a laborer being able to accomplish fully one-third more now than in the same length of time when darkness prevailed and when the mercury was 50 degrees below zero. No trouble will be experienced from frozen dumps during the summer, and the amounts of gold taken from many claims during the four summer months than in the six months of winter work. It is said that more than one-half the claims in the district will be worked this summer, and the work of cleaning up will be continuous from now until the advent of freezing weather.

A Royalty Gathering Trip.

Captain Starnes returned yesterday from a trip to the Forks and near creeks on a royalty collecting mission. While at the Forks he held a short session of court, disposing of two cases. It is unfortunate that a man of the captain's affable disposition should be sent out to collect royalty, as under any other circumstances the miners would be pleased to receive a call from him. But the appearance of Joseph Chamberlain himself would not be hailed with any large sized degree of delight if he was to appear in the role of a collector of royalty.

"Fliz" is All Right.

Considerable consternation prevailed at the Nugget office for a while today owing to the fact that Mr. E. J. Fitzpatrick of the staff has not been seen by his associates since early this morning. Just as the matter of "Fliz's" disappearance was to be turned over to the police, a list of the Flora's incoming passengers came into the office, when it was seen that among the names appeared those of Mrs. E. J. Fitzpatrick, son and daughter. If the derelict member of the staff does not report by Monday, his seat will be declared vacant.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

The finale of the Matheson case so far as the police court is concerned with one of the brothers, Samuel, came up this morning, the evidence in the case having been heard yesterday. Magistrate Primrose's order was that, if Matheson, be required to pay forthwith to the complainant, who was a laborer in Matheson's employ, the sum of $480, and in default of such payment to be confined in jail for a period of two months. John Matheson was not present in court, nor has he been during the trial of the case; therefore, action concerning him was deferred until proof of the service of the summons upon him is obtained. In stating yesterday that 22 complaints were filed against Matheson Bros. the reporter erred, as the case in which judgment was given this morning was the only one, it having been entered as a test case. The remainder will, if not settled out of court, probably be entered at once. Attorney Howden, for Matheson, gave notice this morning of appeal to the higher court, which appeal will be granted.

Came Too Early.

One evidence of the eternal unfitness of things was that three weeks ago and before any of the people had got away on steamers for either up or down the river, a beverage was on sale in the city that caused all parakers thereof to woo nature's sweet restorer on the sidewalks. At that time the sale of such beverage was inopportune, as the crowds that daily thronged the sidewalks needed all the room there was to be had, and the sleeper was then a most decided obstructionist.

Now there are changed conditions; the space on the sidewalks is not so much in demand as it was then, and signs of "to let for purposes of slumber" would not be incongruous with existing conditions. But there is no demand for the space, the brand of slumber beverage having all been exhausted before there was an opportunity for it to "spread" itself as it could now do. There has not been a sleeper in police court for two weeks, and this is conclusive evidence that the brand formerly referred to, was received and sold out of season. Had it been held until the present time, its effects would have been duly appreciated.

A Narrow Escape.

About 8 o'clock last night a yell of "man overboard" brought all the street promenades down to the water front. Several thousand "rubber necks" were soon busy with suggestions as to the best means of extricating from the river a man whose entire anatomy save and excepting, his head was buried beneath the turbid waters of the Yukon.

A friend in a canoe was making desperate efforts to reach the endangered man but the latter made no apparent effort to save himself and most of the crowd on the bank pronounced him a "dead one." Another boat shot out from the bank with two men in it, both of whom pulled excitedly toward the spot.

It was a race between the boat and the canoe, both of which, however, reached the place together. As they came up the man suddenly stood up in the water and about five feet of him became visible to the naked eye. He was on a sand bar in about 12 inches of water. The crowd gave a grunt of disappointment and dispersed.

Each Gets Wrong Baby.

The Jones and Smith families swapped babies the other morning by mistake, thereby causing great excitement at the Union station, St. Louis, and driving two mothers nearly frantic. Henry Jones' family of eight arrived from Springfield, Ill., and on the same train came Alfred Smith's nine children. The families became friendly en route, and at the Union station a baby belonging to each was left in care of the elder children. Smith was going out on a Frisco train and Jones on an Iron Mountain train. Each picked up the other's child and boarded his respective train.

When the discovery was made there was a wild scramble to exchange the youngsters. Each father seized the alien child and rushed on a hunt for his own. Jones and Smith met midway, threw the babies at one another and madly rushed back to their trains, which were on the point of pulling out. The mothers were in a faint when the babies were restored.
