SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Naval Policy, French Treaty, Grand Trunk Pacific and Hudson Bay Railway Are Mentioned.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The House of Commons was opened today without any special incident. There was a large crowd present and the House was filled to the utmost capacity. The following is the speech from the throne:

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons: In again meeting you at a season most convenient for the despatch of business, it is with great pleasure that I congratulate on the prosperous condition of the country. The present year which is now rapidly drawing to a close, has been a period of very steady and progressive growth. Immigration has poured into the new settlements of the north and of the west in a copious and well ordered stream, drawn from the best elements of the British Isles, the United States and continental Europe. Trade and commerce have made rapid advances in all directions. The revenue has almost completely galloped what it lost in the recent depression. Most remarkable has been the rapid recovery from the financial embarrassment which for a short time was the cause of anxiety amongst the business men. In nearly every branch of business there has been a revival of activity which gives assurance of continued progress and prosperity.

Two members of my government attended the Imperial conference called by His Majesty's government on the question of defence. A plan was adopted after consideration with the admiralty for the organization of a Canadian naval service on the lines of the resolution of the Canadian House of Commons of March 29, last. The papers will be immediately brought down and a bill introduced accordingly.

The new convention between His Majesty and the President of the French republic, respecting the commercial relations between France and French legislative chambers, you will be asked to confirm it.

The construction of the Transcontinental railway has made substantial progress during the year. The western division has been extended 66 miles beyond Edmonton, completing a total distance of 961 miles west of Winnipeg. Contracts have been let for 399 miles in the Mountain division, good progress was made on the work. The eastern division is now open for traffic from Winnipeg to Lake Superior Junction and thence by the Grand Trunk Pacific branch to the Lake itself.

The whole of the work between Winnipeg and Moncton is under contract. The board of engineers entrusted with the preparation of plans for the reconstruction of the Quebec bridge, has sufficiently advanced its work to permit of tenders being invited for the reconstruction.

The exploratory surveys for a railway from the western wheat fields to Hudson's Bay were pushed energetically during the whole of last summer. It is hoped that a report of the operations will be placed before you at an early date.

In order to improve the facilities already afforded the public by the government railways and to enhance their value as part of the great transcontinental transportation system of Canada, a bill will be submitted to you for the purpose of enabling the minister of railways, on the recommendation of the government railway managing board, and subject to the approval of parliament, to lease any line or lines connecting with the Intercolonial railway.

A measure will be submitted to you for the purpose of rendering more effective the present legislation respecting combinations which unduly enhance prices.

Bills will also be introduced respecting banks and banking, insurance, navigable waters, and other matters.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons: The accounts of the last year will be laid before you. The estimates for the coming fiscal year will be submitted for your approval at an early date.

Honorable gentlemen of the senate, I pray the Almighty Lord that he may guide and bless your deliberations and that they may bear fruit in a further increase of our country's prosperity and well being.

BAPTIST CONVENTION

The Greatest Convention in Western Canada Held in Moose Jaw.

Moose Jaw, Nov. 11.—The provincial Baptist convention was opened here today with the president, G. F. Stephens presiding. In his address, the president referred to the marvelous growth of the prairie population, and advocated greater liberality in church contributions. The address of the evening was given by Rev. D. W. Paterson on "Personality and Progress." There are about one hundred in attendance and many more are expected.

Nov. 12.—This morning's session of the second annual meeting of the Baptist convention opened with a largely augmented attendance. Rev. J. A. MacDonald, Winnipeg, delivered an address on "The Harmonious Life." It was an eloquent discourse, directed against the doctrine of a strenuous life, which the speaker thought may be carried to an extreme. There is need for a wise test as well as a wise work, he said. Worry is the rust that consumes the rage of character and we spend too much time and money in trying to get rid of it.

The nomination committee presented the following report recommending as officers for the year 1909-10, which on motion was adopted. President, J. E. McIntyre, Winnipeg; 1st vice president, Rev. G. H. Jones, Regina; 2nd vice president, Rev. E. Perry, D. Vancouver; 3rd vice president, Hon. G. H. V. Bulyea, Alberta; 4th vice president, Dr. C. W. Clark, Winnipeg. Appointments to the general board retiring 1910, Albert Turbull, Rev. C. B. Freeman, (retiring 1911) Mr. Joshua Frith, (retiring 1912) W. Marchant, Rev. F. W. Patterson, W. Findlay, Rev. J. C. Bowen, Rev. A. A. Shaw, Rev. M. A. MacLean, H. Hilton, R. Moffatt and J. Coulter White.

At this evening's platform meeting the Rev. J. G. Brown, D.D., and Rev. W. E. Stackhouse delivered addresses the principal feature being taken up by the Rev. C. Jackson gave a synopsis of the report of the corresponding secretary, showing that the Women's Society had raised last year for missionary purposes $4,940, made up of $3,200 for home and $1,740 for foreign missions.

Rev. A. G. Hagstrom, secretary of the Swedish General Conference of the United States, detailed the work among the Swedish immigrants in both Canada and the United States. He said there were from 75 to 100 thousand Swedes in this country, and the number is constantly increasing. Economic troubles at home were driving them abroad. There were maintaining organizations which kept in touch with them from the day of their arrival.

J. G. Brown, D.D., lately returned from India, spoke of the great awakening in India. The desire for a national flag and a free self-government was sweeping over the entire country and breaking down caste and creed. He emphasized the beneficence of the British rule in India and said it was absolutely the best form of government ever devised. But the people aroused wished to make themselves a separate nation, and would do it whether there was opposition or not. Lord Morley's reform scheme came in for a good deal of praise and approbation as a wise measure. The missionaries are doing much to elevate and assist the Indians into the higher levels into which they are climbing.

SATURDAY
 The session on home missions, education and the budget furnished the programme of the Baptist convention on Saturday. The entire morning was occupied by reports from the mission field by representatives of each of the western provinces; also German and Scandinavian churches, followed by a report of the general board of home missions.

After a protracted session, during which several changes were made in the constitution, the convention approved a resolution that this organization shall in future be known as "The Baptist Union of Western Canada."

The convention sermon was preached in the Baptist church this morning by Rev. J. N. McLean, before a crowded congregation, and tonight an eloquent address on the laymen's missionary movement was delivered by Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, D.D., followed by a conference.

All the city pulpits, with the exception of the Anglican, were opened today by visiting delegates, and large congregations attended each service.

During the decade from 1898 to 1908 Canada led the world, with the exception of Argentina in comparative increase in trade, during the preceding decade from 1897 to 1907, Canada ranks third in respect to trade growth, with Argentina first and Japan second. Japan now ranks third. This is a most interesting fact brought out in the annual report of the trade and commerce department.

The two new Chicago fireboats are 120 feet long and of 12½ feet beam, and their fire fighting battery as well as the means resorted to by which they can anchor solidly anywhere in the river instead of having to fight a fire alongside a dock is as revolutionary and interesting as the power plant.

HALLEY'S COMET.

It May Come Blazing in Splendor or Comparatively Insignificant.

The biggest free show that this generation will have been will soon be given. Its arena will be high up in the sky, where everybody may see it, and there will be no need of crowding. It will be a one star show, the return of Halley's comet. The last time it was seen by the people on earth was in 1835, and it is now in the last stages of a journey of 6,800,000 miles, which had to be made to play this return date.

Again, notwithstanding the advance of science, fear will mingle with wonder at its apparition. A thrill of apprehension will be felt by millions who see its fiery head plowing through the stars and its sword shaped tail brandished over the earth, as if monitoring of unknown and unavowable evil.

Gradually approaching the sun, it will make its perihelion passage at a distance of about 60,000 miles from the solar globe on the 13th of next April. Its greatest brightness is expected to occur after the perihelion passage, when it will draw nearer the earth and be visible in both the evening and the morning sky. But at that time it will be south of the celestial equator and consequently better seen from the southern hemisphere.

Just what its appearance will be no one can predict. It is the Proteus of space, it may blaze with amazing splendor, or it may be a mere twinkling star in an avatar of the conquering sword of the prophet of Mecca, or it may be relatively insignificant. But in any event it will fix the attention of mankind and for astronomers will be the most interesting phenomenon seen in the sky for many decades.

The returns of Halley's comet have recently been traced back to the year 240 B. C., but it has probably been revolving in its elliptical orbit very much longer than that.

Life Rings on Mountains. A remarkable example of the way in which a mountain may afford on a small scale an image of the earth's crust, is seen in the range of the Sierra Nevada mountains arranged in successively higher circles has been found by Dr. P. Lowrey in the San Francisco peaks. These, which are ancient volcanoes, rise out of a plateau having a mean elevation of 7,000 feet above sea level. The peaks are encircled with zones of vegetation, which run almost like contour lines round them. Between 6,500 and 8,500 feet the yellow pine is the dominant tree. From 8,500 to 10,300 feet the Douglas fir, the silver fir, the conifer and the aspen share the available ground. Between 10,300 and 11,500 feet the Engelmann spruce and the fir take place and possession and ascend to the tree limit.—Youth's Companion.

Long Lived Birds. The Duchess of Bedford in "British Birds" gives some remarkable instances of longevity among birds in her own collection. A Barbary dove which has been in the duchess's possession for fifteen years was left her by an old woman who also owned it for fifteen years and who always said it was an old bird when it was given to her. A Chinese goose has been in the possession of the family for fifty-seven years. A pair of ducks which the duchess bought twenty years ago, when it was an adult bird, still survives. The bird was taken from the nest in 1822 and died in 1900. "It was chained by the leg to a small hut," says the duchess, "and lived forty-eight years under these miserable conditions."

The Era of Preventive Medicine. The era of preventive medicine has barely dawned. Statesmen are beginning to open their eyes to the vast importance of conserving the health of the nation in order to insure its civic integrity and permanence. The industrial world is not only no longer unwillingly yielding to wise laws designed to safeguard the health of the laboring classes, but is actually initiating its own welfare measures for improving the physical welfare, and therefore indirectly the educational authorities are beginning to focus their attention upon the bodily health of the child, for without this all efforts at mental training are worse than useless.—Philadelphia Record.

Mind Over Matter.

"Much may be done," said the Acute Observer, "by an authoritative voice. Now, if a man says to a dog, 'Come here!' with a note of absolute authority in his voice, the dog comes immediately."

"Yes," said the Traveler, "I've noticed it. And it is especially marked in Oriental peoples. Why, when I was in Khulandshahro, I heard a man say, with that authoritative note in his tone, 'Oh, King, live forever' and immediately the King lived forever."—Success Magazine.

The Conservative Party.

That the Conservative party needs the re-organization of the party...

"It can do the Conservative party no harm to consider the position in which it finds itself. It is strong in parliament, and has the confidence of at least half of the Canadian people."

"It may as well be said bluntly that within the Conservative party there is a feeling that the parliamentary organization is carrying too much dead timber."

"The country, however, cannot be influenced solely by criticism and denunciation. There is room for something of the spirit of Roosevelt in dealing with the affairs of Canada."

"The struggle to restore the lands of the west to the western people should continue. There should be no cessation of the fight to punish western land thieves, to extirpate the whole breed of exploiters, and to make the public interest the supreme consideration in government."

"Notice has been given that a Rhodes scholar from Saskatchewan will be chosen next year. That it is already promised to a brilliant young Moose Jaw scholar must have been incorrect."

Our Growing Debt.

The public accounts of the Dominion of Canada which have just been made public show that during the year 1908-9 the country paid out $130,000,000 and realized a revenue of $85,000,000...

Exp. in excess of revenue $45,817,190 Owing to some re-arrangement of assets the actual increase in the debt for the year was $45,969,419...

but of this, ten million dollars was due to a change in regard to the Canadian Pacific land grant...

It has been noted that the government claims a surplus of the year's transactions. It does this by setting the current expenditure of $84,064,232 and setting against it the revenue of $85,000,404.

NORTH ESSEX CONSERVATIVE

After Twenty Years Support of Liberals, Riding Returns Oliver Wilcox as Member.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 11.—After 13 years of Liberal representation in the House of Commons, North Essex goes Conservative, Oliver J. Wilcox, a farmer of South Woodstock, defeating W. J. McKee, lumberman, by 75 majority.

We are pleased to note the active membership propaganda being conducted in the three prairie provinces. In Saskatchewan especially is an effort being made to place the work of the Grain Growers' Association upon a firm footing.

Careful observation is said to have discovered that many men who object to woman suffrage, belong to two classes—those who bully their wives, and those who are henpecked. Men who find themselves equally mated, with intelligent and reasonable women, have not the slightest hesitation about placing their wives on an equal footing politically with the men.

(Moose Jaw News) One feels like invoking the powers above that the university authorities may be endured with wisdom. Surely if any body of men in our midst require direction they do. Handicapped at the very outset by the university site having been made a political question, by reason of which local animosity became engendered and will not soon be allayed, they have made the mistake of arousing opposition in the very quarters they should naturally look to find co-operation, the Collegiate Institute boards.

We heartily commend to all our readers the claims of the farmers' organizations for support and membership.

BLACKMAILED BY A WOMAN

Treasurer of Big Four Railway Stole Over Half a Million to Silence a Blackmailer.

New York, Nov. 8.—C. L. Warriner, until a week ago local treasurer at Cincinnati of the Big Four railroad, one of the Vanderbilt lines, stole $643,000 from that company before he was suspected of being a thief by his superiors in the railroad service.

Announcement to this effect was made this evening from the office of Albert H. Harris, vice president of the Big Four, whose headquarters are in the Grand Central station. This is the brief and formal statement handed out by Mr. Harris to day.

The amount of defalcation of C. L. Warriner, local treasurer of the Big Four at Cincinnati, has been ascertained to be $643,000. Warriner has turned over to the company property valued at more than $100,000 and there will be received from the American Surety Company on his bonds $50,000, leaving the net amount of shortage something less than $500,000.

He has been arrested and is now held to await the action of the grand jury at Cincinnati.

The method which Warriner used was to cover his defalcations in the form of "cases in transit." At the end of each month there are considerable sums of money on their way to the local treasurer from the station agents and others which have not been received by him. It was by including in this item the moneys that he had in fact stolen that Warriner was able to conceal his defalcation. "His coolness was astonishing," said Mr. Harris. "He told us that a woman had been blackmailing him for years. This woman, he said, found out through Cook, whose record in Chicago is being told by the papers, that there was something wrong in his office. Then she swooped down on him. No harpy of mythology could have enjoyed her prey better than this woman did, judging by the statement of Warriner. He said he realized about a year ago that he never could pull out. Then he became desperate and took money by wholesale.

Edmund A. Mackenzie, business man of New York, has written to the local police of this city asking by what law or section of the constitution of the United States government the local police ordered him to lower the British flag, which he had hoisted in honor of King Edward's birthday, last Tuesday. The incident has caused widespread comment, not at all complimentary to the police officials. Mackenzie ordered the flag displayed at the staff on the staff, on his premises just over the city line in Fanwood. The flag had been flying but a few minutes, when it was seen by the driver of a laundry wagon. This man notified the police of the fact and patrolmen were despatched to Mackenzie's home with orders to have the flag hauled down. When the policemen got there the flag had been lowered and stowed away. Mr. Mackenzie says he is not an American citizen, but is accustomed to observe all American holidays, and especially the fourth of July, on which day he says he has always raised the American flag at the mast head on his premises. The enquiry of Mr. Mackenzie has been referred to the attorney general at Washington for an opinion.

TERRIBLE DISASTER IN ILLINOIS MINE

Nearly Four Hundred Miners Meet Terrible Deaths in Coal Mine—No Chance of Escape from the Flames.

Spring Valley, Ill., Nov. 14.—There are over four hundred miners dead in a mine at Cherry, a mining village on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, seven miles north of this city. 444 miners were lowered to their work Saturday, and only 24 are known to have escaped. The fire originated in a stable in the second level, or in the mule barns, and was discovered by Miner James Heney, who gave the alarm. But little notice was taken of the warning until 3 p.m. when a general alarm was given. Then it was too late and the biggest mine disaster in the state went on record. A band of twelve rescuers volunteered to go down and they too lost their lives, bringing the sum total of lives lost to 472.

Late tonight government rescue men and state mine inspectors, taking their lives in their hands, unsealed the shaft of the burning mine, and penetrated to the 380 foot or first level of the mine. The fire had been smothered. The smoldering ruins of frame work in the main shaft, the dense pall of smoke, and other havoc wrought by the flames were the only evidences of the fire which raged so fiercely on Saturday and part of today, and which blotted out a greater city to many a poor, struggling little town of Cherry.

No bodies were discovered; no search was made for them. The fire party that descended into the mine was satisfied that the measures taken to check the flames had proved effectual. The men quickly returned to the surface.

Early tomorrow morning the main shaft of the Cherry mine will be opened up to the 500 foot level. Venturesome men will go below in these different levels, and into the branch workings that extend like the burrowing of a mole far into the earth in many directions. These rescuing parties in all probability, will come upon the bodies of miners who met their death in their living tomb. The work of bringing out the dead will then begin, and the harrowing scenes which have been witnessed at the mouth of the shaft, and all through the little town today will pale into insignificance.

MANY BLUNDERS

The story of the disaster is plain enough now, and with the telling of the story is made patent the fact that someone blundered—someone had blundered not once or twice, but many times, else there might have been a different tale to tell. There was a blunder when the hay which caused the fire was sent down the mine. There was a blunder when the burning hay was dumped down the shaft. There was a blunder when the signal was given to reverse the great ventilating fan. There was a blunder when the signal to hoist the cage, to have heroes who ventured into the burning mine was not obeyed. There was a blunder when the water supply gave out and water had to be transported quite a distance before it could be poured into the burning shaft.

INQUEST OPENED

Coroner A. G. Mahm, of the Bureau county, held an inquest over the bodies this far recovered, in the city hall at Cherry.

Engineer Cawley, was the principal witness. He testified that after the cage had arrived at the 380 foot level he received a number of signals in quick succession. First came a signal to lower, then to stop, then to lower again, then to stop, so that he was at a loss to know what to do, and finally of his own volition realized that something was wrong, and raised the cage. The verdict will be rendered later.

Three hundred and thirty-eight men dead and missing is the terrible toll exacted in the catastrophe which struck the Cherry mines on Saturday last. There seems no doubt as to the manner in which the catastrophe occurred. The mine is built on two levels one opening at the top vein, at 380 feet, the other to the third vein at 500 feet. In the top vein the workings are like the branches of a tree almost. Four drifts are opened north, south, east and west, and from each of the drifts similar drifts are opened, something like the lines of a fork running into each other, so widespread are they.

In the lower level the circular or mining plan is followed. Four drifts are also opened, and then at a distance of about 100 feet from the center the workings start in a circle, each man working from the end of the drift towards his neighbor, there being two men to a drift originally. Thus the process goes on, gradually widening the circle thus formed. The main and air shafts both descend to the lower level, and a wide gallery runs from one end to the other of the 380 foot level.

A car containing six bales of hay was on this gallery en route to the stables where the mine mules were housed, and Alex. Rosenjack, a young man who works at the cage in the main shaft, got too close to the hay and it ignited from his lamp. Immediately the hay dived up and just as quickly was almost everyone in the vicinity panic stricken. The driver started to run the car towards the air shaft, with the intention of dumping galleries of the mine, with the exception of the main gallery is steel, but in the galleries and shafts, it is of very heavy wooden beams said to be eight by eight.

Once there were thoroughly airtight, it seemed that all the water in the country would not extinguish the flames. Finally, after two tremendous splashes of water had been hurled down the shaft, it was decided that the only way to extinguish the flames was to smother them, and preparations were made to seal up the entrance to the shaft. Once this became apparent to the crowd panicking broke loose, and men, women and children rushed to the shafts determined to make one last effort to save those who were down in the mine. To smother the flames seemed to them to mean that the men would be smothered, and time after time, the women especially, had to be hurried back from the shaft to prevent them from hurling themselves into it. Virtually crazed by grief, screaming, cursing and imploring, they gave the rescuers and fire fighters a fierce battle before they were driven back.

Those familiar with the mine knew that here and there through the galleries and drifts were trap doors, which might be closed, and that the men, therefore, might have a fighting chance of escape if the shafts were sealed up and the fire smothered. Finally this was done and the crowd prepared to wait until morning. Some went home, but the greater number remained at the shaft, notwithstanding that rain was falling and blowing cold and keen. Those who went home furnished one of the most pitiful sights of the whole town, all the more apparent to one who realized the import of the catastrophe. Everyone of them lighted a lamp and placed it close to the front window or in the door way, sheltered in some way from the wind.

WRECK AT VANCOUVER

Out of a Score of Passengers Fourteen Are Killed and Others Badly Injured.

Vancouver, Nov. 16.—A runaway car of lumber early this morning crashed into a crowded inter-urban car of the British Columbia Electric railway, killing fourteen and injuring nine passengers, two fatally.

The passenger car left the Vancouver depot at 5.50. Just ahead was an electric freight train consisting of a locomotive, box car and freight car loaded with heavy timbers, which were fifty or sixty feet long and two feet thick.

Three miles out at the head of the grade, which the freight car had just ascended, the coupling of the lumber car broke, and it started back towards the city.

By this time the passenger car was a quarter of a mile behind, and just leaving the Lake View station, a short distance beyond the city limits. When the lumber car dashed into view its speed must have been tremendous, for Motorman Thoburn did not have time to move. When the impact occurred the heavy timber on the car slid forward as if they had been on greased slides, and ripped the passenger car level with the floor.

None of the passengers missed being crushed between the woodwork and flying timbers. Not a silver was left standing of the passenger car, and practically all the passengers were killed or injured, some who escaped death in the first crash were undoubtedly killed when the massive timbers fell on them at the edge of the track.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

Engineer Presents an Interesting Report—Nelson Harbor Open for Seven Months.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—The most interesting feature of the annual report of the minister of railways issued today for the people of Canada west, is the remarks made by M. J. Butler, deputy minister of the Hudson's Bay railway surveys. After referring to a general survey of the work done by the surveying parties in 1908, under Mr. John Armstrong, the deputy minister makes the following reference to Mr. Armstrong's reports.

It appears that two routes have been found, one to Fort Churchill, and the other having its terminal on the Bay at Port Nelson, on the river Nelson. He sets down the length of the Churchill route from the Pas at 465 miles, of which about 320 miles have been surveyed, the cost at $11,000,585. The length of the Port Nelson route is 397 miles, and the estimated cost, $8,876,350, to which, in both cases the cost of terminals have to be added.

He considers that the probable cost of either road would be seven or eight million dollars. This estimate, however, as he explains, is based upon incomplete surveys, and exploratory reports. The unit prices used in Mr. Armstrong's report are considered too low. He (Armstrong) observes that while the Churchill harbor seems to be the best natural harbor on the west coast of the bay, much excavation, probably in rock work, would be required to obtain the necessary depth for a commercial port.

As for the river Churchill itself, he states that it is full of rapids and falls, and not of much use as a transport route, though offering great facilities for the development of power for the electrification of a railway if desired.

Port Nelson harbor is described as requiring improvements by dredging a channel for a distance of about ten miles; but this would probably be easy. Comparing the two harbors by the light of the information obtained by the records of the Hudson's Bay kept between the year 1824 and 1894, in respect to Fort Churchill, which was completed and published by the Geographical Department in 1897, and information in respect to the records of York Factory (about twenty miles from Port Nelson) kept between 1828 and 1879, published by that department in 1879-80 it appears that the average length of the open season at York Factory, six months, and at Port Churchill is five months; at Port Nelson seven months.

The harbor at Port Nelson is said never to freeze over, though ice drifts up and down it with the tides. Further surveys, however, are necessary to determine the relative value of the two harbors as terminals for a railway.

Mr. Armstrong has directed attention to the possibility of construction at some future time of a canal between the Bay, up Nelson river to Lake Winnipeg, and in this connection furnishes some interesting information. The Nelson river is described as about 400 miles in length, extending from Lake Winnipeg. It discharges an immense volume of water, deriving the same from the summit of the Rocky Mountains, through the north and south Saskatchewan rivers and draining all the waters of the province of Manitoba, and an immense area of North Dakota, Minnesota and western Ontario.

From Lake Winnipeg where these waters are gathered to the Hudson's Bay the fall is set down at 716 feet. Though not likely to come within the scope of practical consideration for many years, the possibility of the building of such a canal at some future time exists, and it is undoubtedly wise to hold it in view of the selection of a terminal for any Hudson's Bay railway.

The possibility of ships utilizing this grand waterway for the transport of goods from the head of Manitoba Lake to the great sea at the north, and so on to the ocean, is an alluring one, and with other developments of the western river waters centering in Lake Winnipeg, may some day form one of the engineering features of the progress of Canada's inland provinces.

Grain Corners.
Chicago, Nov. 11.—Corners in grain and food stuffs on the board of trade of Chicago will soon be a thing of the past. The board of directors of the board of trade has officially declared against future corners in the wheat pit, the oats pit and the corn pit. It has gone on record against corners in grain, and who, with everything in their own hands, run the prices up to the highest notch with great profit to themselves, and very often with ruin for the other party to the trade.

Mrs. Annie Seeley had John W. Eastwood, a city millman, charged with assault in the police court on Monday. The case was simply the outcome of a previous one, where the ruling was given in favor of the defendant in the case. On the former occasion the plaintiff threatened to get even, and this threat was used against the plaintiff in yesterday's hearing. Mrs. Seeley claimed that Eastwood hit her several times with a bottle, and called as witness a Mr. McKay. Mr. McKay gave evidence against the woman by stating that she started the fight by hitting Eastwood in the face. Two witnesses were called in support of Eastwood, and stated practically the same thing, and that Eastwood did not hit the woman at all, but rather she did all the fighting. Eastwood ran into the stable and locked the door. The magistrate said Mrs. Seeley brought the assault on herself, as could be plainly seen, and he would dismiss the case with costs against her, amounting to $4.50.

Bedford Insane.

London, Nov. 9.—Edward William Bedford, the Canadian who was arrested here last month charged on his own confession with the murder of Ethel Kinrade at Hamilton has now admitted that there was no truth in his former statement. This was the opinion of the police, the detectives on the case having informed the magistrate that it was known the prisoner had given a wrong name and that his statement, other wise was incorrect. On being brought up in the Bow street police court today, however, he was again remanded in order to allow the police to make more complete investigation.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—The provincial police have completed their investigation into the career of William Bedford, the man who confessed in London, Eng., to the murder of Ethel Kinrade, and a report has been sent to the Dominion government authorities for transmission to the British home office. Bedford's real name is John W. Corry, a reporter inspector of the Bow street police, and on the day of the Hamilton murder he was employed in a large retail establishment in Toronto from eight in the morning until 5.30 in the evening. He continued in the employ of this establishment until March 28 when he was discharged. Subsequently he went to Muskoka for some weeks and on returning engaged as cook for a number of members of the Baptist church on Toronto Island.

Inspector Greer's investigation confirms the theory that the man is mentally unbalanced. On two occasions while in Toronto he wandered aimlessly away and at one time was found on Yonge street wading in a half-starved condition and removed to St. Michael's hospital. Corry, it is learned, took much interest in following the newspaper reports of the Kinrade inquest.

A Valuable Asset.

Vancouver, Nov. 16.—Selling for thousands of dollars per acre, where five years ago figures were in the hundreds, three quarters of a million dollars worth of property was disposed of today at the government auction of Point Grey lands, adjoining the western limits of the city. Another million dollars worth is expected to go tomorrow, and another half million the day following, according to an estimate tonight by Trives and Leath, the vendors for the government. A great portion of the government lands today went to Winnipeg people, and residents of Saskatchewan and Alberta, who made their purchases through brokers. Five years ago prices ranging from two to five hundred dollars per acre were paid. Today a single acre sold as high as $5,250. The government has still 1300 acres in the district, which is estimated to be worth more than enough to pay off the total bonded indebtedness of the province of British Columbia.

John Funk, a Rosthern farmer, was thrown from his buggy last week and severely injured. Two other occupants of the rig escaped unhurt.

WHY NOT TRY THESE GOODS

For your stock? We have met many farmers and stockmen who were "doctors" until they tried them. For horses, run-down and out-of-tune digestion or spirits, or if the hair is losing its gloss and the animal looks a poor part of its former self we strongly advise the use of International Stock Foods.

Our salespeople can cite instances in any numbers of people in this locality using these goods and securing phenomenal results. Details.
