HENRY LYMAN, Secy. STEAM NAVIGATION ACROSS THE ATLANTIC ABOUT

STEAM NAVIGATION ACROSS THE ATLANTIC ABOUT TO BE CONSUMMERD.—The prospect of the speedy communicement of steam navigation between England and America seems now certain. Besides the boat constructing here on a newly invented American improvement, we perceive by a London paper of Feb. 25th, that the one there is in progress of completion. The paper says:

"There was not a private dry dock in London of sufficient capacity to receive the frame of the Steam Ship, building for the British and American Steam Navigation Company. Mesers. Curling & Young obtained permission from the Corporation of the City, to construct a coffer dam extending into the river Thames, and in that way their dock is enlarged sufficiently to receive the ship. The architects thought it most desirable to build the ship, cansidering her great dimensions, 1800 tons, in a dry dock, so that by being floated, the risk of launaching is altogether avoided. And I understand that it is the intention of the company to pursue this safe and prudent plan in future, as they are well aware that many ships of great bushes receive an injury and a strain in launching, from which they never fully recover. The Steam Ship. Attarta, Captain Campbell, has just suited for India, by way of the Cape of Good Hope, and abundant evidence of the practicability edsteam navigation upon an extended scale, will soon be furnished to the public."

FROM HONDURAS.—By the Osage, Balize (Honduras) paper has been received to the 25th of February. They speak very discouragingly of the state and prospects of the mahogany trade, the last cargoes shipped to London and Liverpool having sold at prices far below the expectations of the parties interested.

The cholera had receively prevailed at Omoa; but by the last accounts it had nearly subsided.

The Asticch from New York, arrived at Balize Feb. 25th; the sohr. Epperanza, from Baltimore and Omoa, Feb. 15.

MONTREAL, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 184

We understand that the Report of Royal Commissioners upon the many com tions which occupied their attention durag their sojourn in the Province, is in the hand of some individuals in this city. We have public upon the result of enquiries, conducte GIRÁRD, I.S. DAVIGNOS, JOHN HALL, and JOHN ASDERSON.

The following is the expedient resorted to, as given in the New Yerk Express:

"The banks here shall provide one million, and the United States Bank amother million in and the United States Bank amother million in and the United States Bank another million is specie, which shall be in readiness to go to Europe whenever required; and that the United States Bank draw post notes, payable in Europe at six or nine months—which post notes will take the place of species, as they who wish to remit will cheerfully purchase them. This, it is believed, will meet any demand there may be for specie to send abrost; and the banks thus protected will feel secure in extending all possible aid to their costomers. Something of this sort is absolutely necessary at this time to give oon. Including the salaries of the Judges, and the total control of the secure is attendant upon the admission of post notes are expected to anster the one of the concession upon the less than seven. This concession upon the cordance with the views which were brount less than seven. This concession apon the dition to its me cil to be remodelled—to continue in the exercise of many of the powers already conbest notes would scarcely sell in Wall Street at 3½ We cent. discount per month. The Journal of Commerce concludes some sensible observations on the subject in these words:—

"Money fluctuations always go to extremes. If property is too high and money too chesp at one extremes, property is too low and money too dear at the other.—More mischief is done than the case requires. We know very well that a continuation of gredit is not payment, and that nothing but ectual payment can get us out of deta and fully restore us to healthfulness. But paralised as we are by alarms which have no good foundation, and which cannot long endure, we think it not only wise, but indispensible, to resort to those measures, if within our reach, which will remove these, fours. The measures adopted are precisely fitted to meet the emergency, and in an honerable way and upon the soundest principles of finance, to bring about a better state of things. Such an improvement will be manifest abundantly to day, for we think with Mr. King, that "the sloud will, may, has passed away."
