CHAPTER XV.

"Nothing can leave Blairwood except the title. Not one yard of the property is entailed. I have heard my father say so many times. Even in the absence of a will everything comes to me, if anything should happen to my dear father. Therefore, your theory is groundless," Elsie said, quietly. "As for your suspicions, Mr. Vallance, they are absurd! Now I will send my letter."

She stepped past him swiftly, and, without once looking behind, walked to the post office and dropped her letter into the box.

The rector was astonished by her outburst. He had scarcely seemed it possible in one whom he had hitherto considered so gentle and yielding. He had naturally expected quiet obedience, and instead, Miss Sterne was highly offended.

"Will you walk to the rectory with me?" he asked, almost deferentially. "I am sure that you have mistaken my attitude, Miss Sterne, and I am sorry that you should for one moment misunderstand me."

He had advanced to meet her, and she signified her assent by a haughty inclination of her head.

Not another word was spoken until they had reached the rectory, and then Mr. Vallance conducted her into his costly-furnished study.

"Be seated, Miss Sterne," the rector said, "and excuse the untidy appearance of the room."

But at that instant he was interrupted by a sharp rap on the door, and the entrance of Mrs. Groff, his housekeeper, a large, important woman of middle age, who intended to lead the rector to the altar in the near future.

She was a native of Blairwood, and during the brief period of Mr. Vallance's curacy, when he was first installed at Blairwood, he had been recommended to the care of Mrs. Groff, who "look in respectable lodgers." Mr. Groff was alive in those days, and earned a living by combining the offices of sexton and undertaker. A timid little man, his lot under the rule of his buxom wife was not a pleasant one, and it was a happy release when the grave claimed him for its own.

A few months prior to this event, Mr. Vallance had succeeded to the rectorship, but had not moved into the rectory, under the advice of Mrs. Groff. What could he do in that great, lonely house, with a parcel of servants? But when her husband had been comfortably buried a couple of weeks, she prevailed upon the young rector to assume his proper position, and she would undertake the management of his household affairs.

Mr. Vallance acquiesced, and for twenty years the lady had held sway.

"I was going to say, Mr. Vallance," Mrs. Groff now announced, pushing her head in at the study door, "that the policeman's given me strong horders—very strong orders—not to touch nothin' in the study till he's photographed it."

"Thank you, Mrs. Groff," the rector replied. "I will not forget."

"And he's comin' back with a detective and a reporter, to hear what you've got to say. I think they're goin' to the Park first, Miss Elsie," she added, and Elsie could not resist a shudder. Was the rector's version of the horrible story to be printed in the papers?

Mrs. Groff withdrew, and after taking two turns across the floor, Mr. Vallance cleared his throat with a preparatory little cough.

"Miss Sterne," he said, sadly, "your manner has pained and surprised me this morning. I had no idea that you regarded me otherwise than as your adviser—you best friend, now that your father is away."

"I believe that your intentions are thoroughly good," replied Elsie, quietly, "but I am a child no longer, Mr. Vallance, and your cruel accusation regarding Mr. Ernscliffe must be withdrawn. You must not utter that again. First there must be absolute proof, and I know that is impossible. Mr. Ernscliffe came from my cousin—"

"Your father's bitter enemy," interposed the rector, severely, "and when I learned this I believed at once, and I believe now, that Mr. Ernscliffe is the active agent in a plot to ruin you."

"Mr. Vallance, you mystify me," Elsie said. "How is it possible for Noel Campbell to ruin me? I am tired of these insinuations. I know that my father has some secret trouble, but Dr. Denver has assured me that it is a mere hallucination, probably caused by a touch of paralysis."

"Dr. Denver was not in Sir John's confidence," the rector replied, solemnly. "Then followed the loss of your papers, Miss Sterne," he went on, "your sealed packet and the will. Not a thing belonging to me was stolen. This unfortunate will was only witnessed by Markham and myself. Sir John would not permit the lawyers to know anything about it. He trusted me above all men. Do you now recognise the fine hand of Noel Campbell? No, no, it is not possible, and would to God I could tell you all! Poor Zeba was murdered because it was supposed that she had documents secreted in her cottage which would help to incriminate Sir John!"

Elsie began to be sorely puzzled, and again an atmosphere of doubt and misery seemed to be enveloping her.

"Mr. Vallance," she said, at length, "do you not think that it is the quintessence of unkindness to be continually alluding to some dreadful mystery that threatens to engulf me in trouble? I am sure that my father never desired it. You should either have told me the truth or said nothing. This is the very refinement of cruelty."

"Your own actions have caused it; your willfulness. I am not in possession of the whole truth. The proof has gone with the stolen papers; but I must think what is best to be done. I am perfectly unarmaged. I ought never to have undertaken this burden. My actions will depend entirely upon you."

"By whose invitation, Lady Helena?" Elsie demanded angrily.

"My dear, this is the first intimation I have had of his visit. Her ladyship replied, nervously. "I am sure that it will be wise to be civil to Lord Somerton. He pays you the high compliment of admiring you, and it is quite possible that he may be coming merely upon business connected with the estate. He and Sir John had many private consultations."

There was something so significant in the latter part of Lady Helena's speech that a momentary tremor of fear passed through Elsie's heart.

She made no reply, but, excusing herself, rose from the breakfast-table and retired to the privacy of her own rooms, to read Colin's letter.

Before opening it she kissed the handwriting that was already so dear to her, kissed it many times, and murmured:

The Chronicles of Pip

(By Harold Sutton, in Saturday Night)

"Yes—With the Accent on the 'No.' " "Suppose," said Pip, "that I were to tell you I was shortly going to make a lot of money. What would you say?"

Ignatius and Don John looked blankly at each other, and then gravely nodded their heads, as if the same thought had occurred to both. "I wouldn't say anything," said Don John, anxiously, "I'd simply call the nearest doctor!"

"Well, it's true, nevertheless," said Pip, firmly, "and this," he continued, pulling a manuscript out of the drawer and flourishing it aloft "is going to do it!"

"What is it?" queried Ignatius and Don John in one breath.

"It is the manuscript of a song which I have just composed, entitled, 'Yes! We Have No Spinach To-day!'"

"There was a dead silence. Finally Don John said with an effort, 'let me look at it.' Pip, unmoved at the reception his announcement had got, handed the manuscript over, and there was another silence while Don John perused it. Pip watched his face anxiously for any signs of approval or disapproval, but the immobility of Don John's countenance would have done credit to the Sphinx.

"Pip," he said at last, heavily, "who ever told you that you could write a popular song?"

"Why not?" demanded Pip, nettled. "Look at the people who write popular songs! Anybody could do it. It doesn't require any special brains."

"Obviously not," observed Don John, dryly, "but this song which you allege to have composed is simply atrocious."

"Atrocious is hardly the word," said Ignatius, who had been looking the manuscript over, "the makers of the English language could have had no idea that such a thing as this would ever be perpetrated, for they have left us no word adequate enough to describe it."

"What's the matter with it?" demanded Pip pugnaciously.

"Well in the first place," pointed out Don John, "it cannot be accused of being highly original."

"I suppose," said Pip with the suspicion of a sneer, "that you'll be saying next it's an imitation of 'Yes! We Have No Bananas, To-day!'"

"Some such thought was in my mind," confessed Don John.

"In some way, Elsie feared that it carried disgrace with it, perhaps criminality. Was it so dreadful that there was fear of its parting her from Colin? This was the most terrible thought of all. She did not doubt him, she could never do that; but it would be impossible to link anything that dared not be told in the light of day—anything that the whole world should not hear with his splendid fame."

On the third morning after the request she received a reply from her lover. It had been a long time coming, so long that she had grown nervous and hollow-eyed. His promises to write often still rang in her ears, and he had allowed four whole days to elapse between his departure from Blairwood and his first letter to her.

But when it came she flid it away, her heart throbbing tumultuously. She could not bear to break the seal while other eyes were upon her.

"You have scarcely eaten anything this morning, my dear," remarked Lady Helena. "In a little while we shall begin to look for Sir John's promised cablegram. How tiresome everybody is lately. Really, I cannot attend to all the nonsense that people write asking question about that wretched fire, and why it is that Sir John has taken this freak into his head."

"You have only two letters, Lady Helena," observed Elsie, absently.

"True, my dear, and one of those is from Lord Somerton. The dear man is coming to Blairwood Park—"

"By whose invitation, Lady Helena?" Elsie demanded angrily.

"My dear, this is the first intimation I have had of his visit. Her ladyship replied, nervously. "I am sure that it will be wise to be civil to Lord Somerton. He pays you the high compliment of admiring you, and it is quite possible that he may be coming merely upon business connected with the estate. He and Sir John had many private consultations."

MOTHER OF TWIN BOYS

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Her of Inflammation and Great Weakness

West St. John, N. B.—"I was in a general run-down condition following the birth of my twin boys. I had a great deal of inflammation, with pains and weakness. Finally my doctor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. He said that your medicine would be the only thing to build me up. I am sure he is right, for I am feeling much better and am gaining in weight, having gone down to ninety-three pounds. I was in bed for over a month, but am up again now. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to my friends and give you permission to use my letter."—Mrs. ELIZABETH A. RITCHIE, 22 Rodney St., West St. John, N. B.

There are many women who relieve their household duties almost unendurable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has so many uses, relieving these symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Ritchie's experience is but one of many.

Revive Talk of Raising Big Gun Ranges Despite Treaty.

New York, Oct. 18.—Renewal of the controversy as to whether the United States can raise the elevation of the guns of her battleships under the terms of the naval treaty appeared certain yesterday when a prominent member of the General Board of the Navy made a statement to the effect that the American fleet is inferior to the British fleet in four main essentials of successful combat.

Captain Frank Schofield, who was in charge of the planning division under Admiral Sims in London during the world war, declared that "our ships today are inferior to foreign ships, our battleship fleet inferior to the British battleship fleet."

This naval expert, who formerly commanded the Texas, enumerated the following points of inferiority, they cannot shoot so far, they are not so well protected against torpedoes, not as well protected against bombs, they don't burn all.

Captain Schofield, enlarging on these points of inferiority, declaring that of the 15 battleships of the United States 14 could be badly outclassed as to shooting range by the British

Mrs. Brown says Libby's Milk makes her "quick cake" rich

AS fine and rich a cake as you would care to taste—made quickly! Among the many delightful things that Mrs. W. N. Brown of Danville, Va., makes, this cake is a great favorite with her family and friends.

The thing about it that appeals especially is that it is so quick and easy to make and yet has all the richness of a more elaborate cake.

Mrs. Brown gets this special richness in just one way—by using Libby's Milk instead of ordinary milk. For Libby's is very rich in butter fat—there are 7 1/2 teaspoons in every 16 oz. can!

"The milk that good cooks use" Like Mrs. Brown, good cooks everywhere are using this milk. So many of them, in fact, that in certain localities nearly everyone calls it "the milk that good cooks use."

It isn't ordinary canned milk, of course, nor is it milk from ordinary cows.

There are, as you know, certain sections of this country which are famous for their dairy products, pasture lands where grass grows thick and green in watered valleys and wooded hills give grateful shade.

Cows naturally produce their richest milk where nature and man combine to help them, as in these favored sections.

And you know, too, that certain kinds of cows give richer milk than others.

By placing our condenseries in the heart of these favored sections we get, for Libby's Milk, the finest milk in the land, milk from selected herds.

We add nothing to it; we simply evaporate more than half the moisture from it, making it double rich. Then we seal it in air-tight cans and sterilize it so you can get it fresh and pure no matter where you live.

Richer milk means richer cooking. Order a can of Libby's Milk from your grocer today. Try it in soups and sauces, in cakes, breadstuffs and desserts—in anything you've been making with other milk. See what new richness, what delightful flavor it gives to all your cooking. Like thousands of other women, you'll make Libby's your regular cooking milk when once you have seen what a difference it makes.

Write for free recipe folder. Many exceptionally fine recipes have been sent us by good cooks who use Libby's Milk. Some of them have been printed in a convenient folder, a copy of which we'll be glad to send you free. Write today.

Gobelins Tapestries Stolen from Versailles Palace—Passengers Rescued from San Gil—Coblentz is the Capital of Rhineland Republic.

WILL RECOGNIZE TREATY.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 22.—The leader of the Separatist movement at Aix informed newspaper correspondents to-day that the Separatists would recognize the Treaty of Versailles and assume their share of the capital of the new Republic.

THE RHINELAND REPUBLIC.

DUSSELDORF, Oct. 22.—Rhineland Separatists, having recently proclaimed a Republic in a Chapel, are now planning to take their regime throughout practically the entire zones occupied by France and Belgium, and were hoping to achieve this before night. Detailed reports of the movement lack confirmation, and some news items in Aix state that yesterday's Separatists relate to purely local matters, and are not likely to extend throughout Rhineland. Other reports attach more serious significance to the news.

DEMANDS IMPEACHMENT.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22.—A report charging Governor J. C. Davis with "initial neglect of duty, incompetency, corruption in office, and offenses involving moral turpitude" was submitted to-day to the House of the Oklahoma Legislature by its committee on investigation and impeachment. The report set out twenty-two specific charges.

SHIRLEY TAPESTRIES STOLEN.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Two great Gobelins Tapestries, each valued at a million francs, were stolen last night from the walls of Versailles Palace. The police found indications that the thieves entered by climbing a lightning rod to the window, which they broke to release the lock, after which they took the tapestries from their frames and descended in some manner to a waiting car in the garden below.

COLOMBIA SAILS.

GLoucester, Oct. 22.—The scho. Columbia, of the Gloucester fishing fleet, left here this afternoon for Halifax to compete in the International Fishermen's Trophy series with the Canadian schooner Bluenose.

COLOMBIA STRIKES ROCK.

GLoucester, Oct. 22.—The scho. Columbia, challenger for the International Fishermen's Trophy struck a rock outside Gloucester Har. to-day, while on her way to Halifax to meet the Canadian defender Bluenose, in the race series commencing Saturday. Capt. Ben Pine brought the vessel back to port. Injuries are not believed to be serious.

SAN GIL'S CREW SAFE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Late this afternoon reports by wireless state that the United Fruit steamer San Gil, which sent out urgent calls for help from a position south of Jamaica, has stranded on Providence Island reefs, and is pounding to pieces, but that her passengers and crew are well, and being taken off by the San Blas of the same line, and another steamer that reached the scene at noon.

MAY BE REFLAGGED.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 22.—The United Fruit Company's steamer San Gil went ashore on the Northern Coast of Providence Island, off Nicaragua at six o'clock this morning. The steamship San Blas went to her assistance and the passengers were taken off, despite most unfavorable weather conditions. It is believed the vessel can be refloated when the sea abates.

IMITATING THE SUPRAGETTES.

DUBLIN, Oct. 22.—At Sinn Fein headquarters, this morning, it was stated that eight thousand men were on hunger strike in various camps and prisons, in Ireland.

TASCHEREAU TRIUMPHS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—Four official Liberals, representatives of the Taschereau Government in Quebec, were elected in by-elections to-day in Abitibi, Yamaska, Brome and Richmond.

THE ZEY-PAPYRUS RACE.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Racing men of England, commenting on the Zey-Papyrus race, all say virtually the same thing, namely that it was foolish to send Papyrus to the United States to race under such conditions; that no horse could possibly do itself justice on a track quite different from those to which it had been accustomed; in such a short time after a rough trans-atlantic voyage; and the only lesson to be learned from the match is "don't do it again." The idea of a return race in England is strongly disapproved by these authorities and, according to the Daily Mail, several owners have declared that should such a contest be planned they will appeal to the Jockey Club to prevent it.

THE DUELLO.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The Duke Lanza de Gamastrea presented a free pass at the theatre of the Antoinette, manageress Cora Lapereire, and was asked for the Government tax. This provoked him, and when Jacques Richetta, poet and husband of Cora, tried to placate the Duke, he was called among other things a "blackguard." To this he responded with the formal slap on the ducal cheek. This morning, seeking recovery of his honor in traditional manner, the Duke retired from the fray with a sword thrust through his forearm and the poet was declared victor by the duellists' seconds.

Cabot and Cachelot Land About 70 Whales

Whaling Company Will Have Fair Returns on Outlay at End of the Season.

(Trade Review.) The whaling venture on the part of the whaling ships Cabot and Cachelot, although to date not as successful as anticipated is anything but a failure, and it is not unlikely that by re-try time, enough of the great mammals will have been captured to insure the shareholders of the company a decent dividend.

The headquarters for both vessels are at Beaverton in Green Bay. Handicapped at the outset by very stormy weather lasting for a considerable period, and by reason of this fact they had to cruise off the Funks to meet their quarry, the ships have done very well and have secured to date upwards of seventy fish.

We understand the Cachelot has secured a considerable number of fish, but the Cabot will prosecute the fishery till about the middle of November and no doubt will place a considerable number of fish to her credit.

OUTDOING THE CAT.

The way a cat watches a mouse hole has always been the symbol of concentrated vigilance. I think I know a form of vigilance which makes the cat's interest in the mouse hole seem wading and inattentive. I refer to society's vigilance to detect any sign of interest in some person of the other sex on the part of a husband or wife, other than the person who is supposed to be the sole subject of all his (or her) thoughts, the only person he (or she) should ever enjoy talking to, or playing games with, or dancing with, or sitting next to at the table.

Society Licks Its Chops.

And, to draw a smile from the cat again, how society does lick its chops when it thinks it sees some tiny sign of such an interest! "Haven't you noticed how much Ted Marshall plays golf with Mrs. James? He is on the links all the time since the James came to town. I should think his wife would upset something." "Mr. Hill certainly does like to dance with that pretty cousin of his. I don't blame him... but I wonder if Mrs. Hill likes it. I thought she spoke kind of sharply about his cousin being at the house all the time. I shouldn't be surprised if there was some feeling there." "Have you noticed the time Mrs. Bean spent in the dentist's chair since that new dentist came to town? Of course she may need a lot of work done all of a sudden but I must say..."

An Absorbing Love and Mystery Story

ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCE AT THE NICKEL.

"The Ragged Edge" was shown at the Nickel Theatre last night, and proved to be an absorbing love and mystery story with beautiful scenic effects. It was made into a photoplay by the Distinctive Pictures Corporation from Harold MacGrath's romance and brought to the fore Alfred Lunt and Miss Palmer, who gave splendid performances of "two young fools" who find happiness in a far-off land. Miss Palmer is the new screen Cinderella whose portrait in a fashion magazine last year led to her engagement by the Distinctive Company. The beauty which attracted attention to her is revealed in countless scenes. Lunt is the famous star of the legitimate stage who made his film debut in "Backbone."

Harmon Weight directed this picture. It is the story of a young American who flees from home because of a misdeed which preys on his conscience. He meets the girl in a distant land. She, too, has fled from her home because her father, a missionary, had denied her love and sympathy. The two marry. It is through the devotion of the young wife that the fugitive American is made to stand on his own feet. What his guilt was and how he is cleared from the mystery of the story and make of it absorbing screen entertainment.

Charlie Chaplin in his great two-act comedy, "Triple Trouble" was a riot of laughter from beginning to end.

Traffic on Canada's Inland Water Route

Over fourteen million bushels of grain were shipped to Montreal, via the Lachine Canal in September, according to records of the canal office. This figure is slightly above that for the same month last year, when the record grain rush was at its height, the respective totals being 14,317,423 bushels for September, 1923, against 14,018,955 for September, 1922. A more notable increase was registered in coal receipts, 67,776 tons being brought down the canal last month as compared with 26,359 tons in September, 1922, and satisfactory increases were also recorded in the amount of tonnage operated, the number of passengers and the total amount of cargo carried. Receipts of wheat exceeded those of a year ago by more than a million bushels, the respective totals being 1,150,984 against 545,490; rye 2,161,439 against 1,714,573; and flaxseed 26,963 against 24,660. No flour was shipped last month, while there were 84,000 sacks in September, 1923. Pulp shipments totalled 48,174 tons last month compared with 46,736 tons during the same period last year.

Right Rev. Dr. Mullock

On the Resources of Newfoundland.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

In my last communication endeavoring to enumerate the many great enterprises conceived in the mind of the great prelate, Dr. Mullock, I omitted (owing to lack of space) to refer to his remarks on the mineral resources of our country. The more I peruse the writings of the great patriot the more I am surprised at the wonderful grasp he held upon every subject concerning his adopted country. As has been truly said by one who knew him well: "he came to Newfoundland to shape the channel of its history, and sway the destinies of the country." This is not saying much of his extraordinary influence upon every social and religious movement of his epoch. His was a mind that could have ranked among the very first in any land or in any condition of civilization. In this yet unfashioned colony it stood first portentous. Having lived and thought much amid nations hoary with the greatness of the past, his judgment on men and measures were not those of experiment, but of experience. If a man could be too great for such an office as that of Bishop, no matter how primitive or how narrowed the scope and scope of his authority, then Dr. Mullock was too great a Bishop for Newfoundland. However, he accommodated himself to the circumstances, or rather accommodated the circumstances, or himself. He was not impressed by his surroundings, but they were by him, and they bear his impress to-day, and will bear it forever.

He had the special gift of concentration of all his powers and endowments upon a given purpose. That purpose again was focussed upon one only object, the change assigned to him, the flock he ruled, and the land he lived in and loved. There the firm grasp of his mind was stretched, there into all his energies converged. His life was outwardly full because it flowed from a full inward source. His work was rounded and complete because the eye that directed it was skilful and strong.

In speaking about the future of Newfoundland, I cannot help thinking that Dr. Mullock was endowed with prophetic vision, and peered into the future of his adopted country, describing it as it was, nearly a century in advance. He was of opinion that "if the Fisheries were fully developed, as they will at some future time when the population increases, and extends all along the shores and into the interior, this number will be doubled. The Gulf, and River of St. Lawrence depend altogether on Newfoundland—the possessor of this country holds the keys of the Gulf. The Labrador, which in time will become a country like Norway, will swell the continent of seamen. The fisheries then will not be confined to price would be a great source of wealth for centuries, perhaps as great as the silver is at present, but when we consider that only a small portion of the country has been hitherto explored, and only on the sea-coast, that whatever mining operations have been undertaken, have been only limited, and that it was only recently that any attention at all has been paid to mining, the sea being naturally considered by a maritime and fishing population as the only mine worth exploring—the mine richer, in reality, than all the silver mines of Mexico, producing millions for the last three centuries, and inexhaustible, we ought to rest satisfied with what has been done hereafter. It is to be regretted that the lead mine of La Manche was abandoned, and Mr. Crook, the superintendent of that mine 64 years ago, told Dr. Mullock that there was as much lead discovered as a thousand men could not remove in twenty years."

In London's Underworld

LATEST TRICKS OF THE CROOKS THAT HAUNT THE WORLD'S GREATEST CITY.

There is an amazing business done in the East End of London in making up raw material for sale in some of the expensive shops of the West End. Dirty-looking foreigners come in and offer ladies' costumes at prices that are absolutely ridiculous at the present value of silks and satins.

The explanation is cheap labor, long hours and stolen goods. It is all cleverly done, of course. No one could swear to a particular blouse or jumper being made of silk that was "lifted" from some City warehouse.

When a gang of crooks decide to break into a warehouse they keep a close eye on the changing of the policeman's beats, and drive up in a covered van just as the new man comes on duty. Breaking their way into the warehouse, usually from the back somewhere, they proceed to "open" up in the ordinary way, as though they were employees.

Two of the gang, with their coats of, carry the plunder out to the waiting van with bustling energy, the man outside drives off, and the two inside calmly put their cats on, slam the doors behind them, and go off up the street, giving the policeman of the corner a cheery "Good day" as they pass him!

Some of the methods adopted by crooks for stealing shoes and hats are very good.

A woman "shoplifter" will walk into the ladies' footwear department, try on an expensive pair of shoes, and while the assistant has gone off to make out the bill, coolly walk off leaving behind a pair of old shoes fit for nothing but the dust heap! She disappears in the crowd and although the frantic assistant rushes off to tell the house detective, it is rarely the culprit is found.

Hats are stolen in the same way; the woman just walks off with the new creation on her head while the bill is being made out.

Among the thousands of men driving taxicabs in London there are naturally a few black sheep, who will readily league themselves with criminals; and who will find carrying a burglar to a job and waiting in some back street while he does it, ten times more profitable than the hum-drum work of taking ordinary fares.

In time these men become known to the police. Their license is cancelled—and they take to roguery out and out. Frequently they get hold of a brother driver's badge and drive a burglar about at night, when the risk of being stopped is practically nil. They get a certain share of the spoil and act as "spotters" to give warning of the approach of the police.

In his book, "The Underworld of London," Mr. Sidney Theodore Pease covers every field of London crime. In it he deals with motor thieves.

One of the first lessons learnt by all motor thieves is that it is more profitable to steal cars not easily recognizable. It is laid down, the writer is informed, that it is not really safe to steal anything but Fords, which, of course, are as silks as peas in a pod.

Besides being difficult of recognition, the Ford possesses another virtue in the eye of the expert motor thief—it is cheap, and therefore commands a ready sale.

Crazy Endurance Contests

Spelling Our Sport.

Every now and again we are treated to an epidemic of what are best termed crazy endurance contests.

Such events as "pam races, six day cycling races, and many of the so-called Marathons which are organized from time to time are far removed from the real spirit of sportsmanship, and often do untold harm to their participants.

It is not my desire to decry the plucky efforts of the two M.P.'s whose recent walk with full pack is still fresh in our minds, although as events proved it would have been far better if such a gruelling test had been undertaken by men of much younger years.

Few of those people who were at the Stadium at the time when Dorando made his world-famous attempt to win the Marathon will forget what a pathetic figure this heroic competitor presented.

Although only a few yards from the actual winning post, Dorando took nearly ten minutes to struggle and stagger the remaining distance that would complete his triumph.

Thousands of people watched his pained, agonized face, expecting a tragedy to occur at every second, and then came the terrible sequel. Within a foot or two of actual victory he collapsed—eager friends went to his assistance, and Dorando lost the race!

I mention this incident to show what a devastating effect Marathon running must have on athletes not fully trained, or who are not physically fit for the ordeal. Dorando, if must be remembered, was a picked man, selected to represent his country.

Overstrain Makes Many Crooks.

Overstrain due to unwise sport is far more prevalent than many keen athletes are aware, and there are many promising young champions at the present moment who are under doctors' orders instead of winning fresh triumphs on the field.

Some years ago I knew a college athlete who, against the advice of his trainer, was persuaded to enter for a long distance cycling race.

Although he was a wonder over short distances his physique was all against anything in the nature of endurance tests. He won his race, but at the cost of his heart, and is now a broken invalid to whom the slightest exertion is likely to prove fatal.

Danger of "The Will to Win."

Competitors are apt to forget that their body gets fatigued and worn out long before the spirit is beaten. The will to win carries a man forward to that thin line of tape, and his desire to triumph overcomes physical exhaustion.

It is not till the race is over that a competitor realizes that he has taken far more out of himself than he should have done.

There is another side to the question which is constantly overlooked. Athletes who are continually taking part in endurance contests develop more muscle and lung power than they can use in civil life, and this abnormal development becomes an immediate danger the moment they settle down.

The Aim of All Athletes.

I am not, of course, running down all sporting contests; far from it. I refer only to the kind which make too great a tax upon the human system.

Everybody Praises Beecham's Pills after a fair trial. Those praise loudest who have used them longest. The great merit of Beecham's Pills has been proved all over the world. There is nothing but genuine everywhere for BEECHAM'S PILLS.

and result in leaving the unfortunate contestants physical wrecks.

The fundamental reason for athletes to improve the body, but I am sure that many people do not realize this fact sufficiently. Personally I should like to see all rowing and running races over four miles eliminated altogether, and even this distance requires that every competitor should have a thorough and careful training by an expert before attempting to take part.

Why Worry

Worrying is a purely mental process. Only those who can think in the abstract can worry, and as this is a human attribute it naturally follows that only man, of all the animal kingdom, worries. The real cure for worrying is work—mental work. The rest of our worries are in the mind and the mind is so constructed that we cannot carry a worry and another problem at the same time; the problem crowds the worry out. The problem need not of necessity be a business one nor yet a scientific or profound one; concentrating on a game of chess or of whist or on a good book will occupy the faculties to the exclusion of worry. If we would occasionally give attention to the worries of others we would soon have little time to concentrate on our own. So what have so many means of getting rid of our worries, why worry?

Sliced bananas, balls of cheese, chopped nuts and sliced white cherries make a tempting salad.

Clean Up and Save Money

We have indicated in part in previous issues what might be effected in St. John's by a live campaign, continuously carried on and systematically conducted to improve our surroundings, to make the city clean and healthy, less subject to the demon fire, and as beautiful as nature intended that it should be. In another column we publish an account of what has been accomplished by such a campaign in the city of Cincinnati. Written by the Superintendent of the Salvage Corps, it shows how great has been its effect not only upon the sanitary conditions, but also in the reduction of fire risks. As soon as the people realized the benefits that were resulting from the efforts of the Clean Up and Paint Up Committee, the resentment which they first showed soon gave place to active co-operation with the Committee, and in eight years a saving was effected to the city of $850,000 annually in fire insurance premiums alone, not to mention the general benefits derived by the public by living in healthier and more congenial surroundings.

We as a people are quick to respond to the sentimental side of any subject, but we have our practical side as well. We admire and love the natural beauty of our island home; we pride ourselves upon the striking view which the city presents as it is seen through the Narrows from the deck of an approaching ship, and the panoramic splendour of hills and forests in the midst of which St. John's is set. We require but a stimulus to arouse us into action, and we have it in the form of reduced insurance rates, lower taxes to maintain the Public Health Service and hospitals, not to mention the Penitentiary.

A careful study of the experiences of the people of Cincinnati will make it abundantly clear that what has been accomplished by them can also be accomplished by us. A moment's consideration will also convince us that such a clean up in St. John's is not only desirable but imperative.

Committed to Supreme Court

The preliminary enquiry into the death of Michael Fewer concluded yesterday evening when Anthony Hawco of Chapel's Cove, Harbor Main District was committed to the Supreme Court on a charge of murder. At yesterday's hearing the evidence of Dr. Wilson of the General Hospital and Dr. Anderson was submitted. Hawco who was not represented by Counsel called no witnesses nor did he make any statement.

Successful Salvage

HALEIGH'S GUNS BEING SHIPPED TO ENGLAND. Before the Digby leaves Halifax for this port en route to England, she will take on board the salvaged guns, anchor chains, etc., of the ill-fated workshop Halesigh. Messrs. Beasley Bros. of Halifax, which undertook the arduous task of salvage, carried out the work successfully, the total amount involved in the transaction being in the vicinity of $150,000.

Fishermen Pass Resolutions

ASK FOR BONUS ON FISH AND MINIMUM WAGE FOR LABOR.

A meeting of fishermen from the Northern schooners now in port was held at the Star Hall and the following resolutions were passed:— WHEREAS at the prices at present received by our fishermen for the results of their voyage it is impossible for them to support themselves and their families from the fishery; AND WHEREAS a similar condition prevails with regard to those engaged in common labour throughout the country because of the rate of wages paid to those so employed; RESOLVED that the meeting of fishermen and labourers asks the Government to grant to those engaged in the present year's fishery operations a bounty sufficient to keep them from being a charge on the Colony during the coming winter, as well as being a means of encouragement for them to remain at the industry; FURTHER RESOLVED that the Government be also requested to fix a minimum rate of wages for labouring work in Newfoundland sufficient to permit those so engaged to maintain themselves and their families.

The meeting was presided over by Capt. George Whiteley. Addresses dealing with the subject of the resolutions were given by Captains Moses Butt, Wm. C. Winsor, S. Warren, Jas. Gillett, Walter Carter, Sol. Abbott, James Winsor, Stewart Winsor and Jesse Winsor. The resolutions will be presented to the executive government to-day.

New Quarters for the East End Post Office

It is learned that the East End Post Office will shortly be removed from Duckworth Street and will be placed in the Mills Building. Additional conveniences will also be added and the office will be made up-to-date in every respect. This will fill a long felt want in the East End of the City, and will result in a considerable saving of time for business firms. Applications for letter boxes in the East End office have been unable to be filled owing to lack of space, and the quarters are altogether inadequate and cheerless for the painstaking and capable officials who work there.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Bazaar

A bazaar of unusual attractiveness will be opened by Lady Allardice tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Presbyterian Hall. In all there will be fourteen booths, comprising the following:—Dolls, stationery, fancy work, kitchen, fish pond, candy, Handkerchiefs, slippers, baby, lines, vegetables, pantry, aprons, and the art shop. A special feature will be the Japanese Tea Room, where the most dainty afternoon tea will be served. At 6 o'clock a turkey and ham tea will be served. The sale will be continued on Thursday afternoon.

A Word From "Bert" Tait in Boston

We are in receipt of an interesting communication from Major R. H. Tait who left here recently to reside in Boston. While he misses his old association and his many friends, he is quickly becoming climatized in his new surroundings, and it would not be a surprise if we heard of his progress with the puck in the Boston Arena during the coming hockey season. An old Oxonian, he was highly gratified with the great victory of the Oxford University debaters in their discussion of the Ruhr Question with representatives of Harvard, whom they defeated on the standing vote of the American audience by 150 to 50. Football as played by American teams does not impress him generally but already it would seem he has been infected with the baseball fever. Mr. Gibb, who left here about Sept. 15th, has already established himself in Boston in the general commission business under the name of the Newfoundland Commission Agencies. He has taken an office in Room 16, 120 Milk Street, Boston, is handling several agencies as well as transacting business for several Newfoundland firms.

Bert has met many Newfoundlanders in Boston, both resident and transient. Among the latter last week were Mr. James Ayre and his bride, who were on their wedding tour. He desires to be remembered to his many friends who, we are certain, will be glad to hear of his progress in the land of Uncle Sam.

Premises Enlarged

Owing to the big increase in the coal trade, the firm of Messrs. A. E. Hickman and Co., Ltd., have been compelled to enlarge their water-side premises. With the addition of two large stores, recently built, they are now in a better position to meet the demands of the trade.

Work on the Memorial Started

HIS EXCELLENCY FIRES THE FIRST SHOT.

At 1:15 p.m. to-day His Excellency Sir Wm. Aldrich set off the first blast for the excavation in connection with the foundation for the National War Memorial. For a couple of days past Messrs. Pearce and Churchill, contractors, have had a number of men at work fencing the site and yesterday a hole for the first blast was drilled. To-day the King's Beach and the area surrounding the site were lined with people anxious to witness "the official" turning of the first sod. Promptly at 1 p.m. His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Lady Allardice and Major Wilberforce Bell arrived on the scene. The viceregal party were met by the members of the National War Memorial Finalization Committee consisting of R. G. Rendell, O.B.E., Chairman, P.E. Outbridge, Capt. G. Whitty, Lt.-Col. T. Nabbe, his Worship Mayor Cook, and Capt. A. B. Baird, President of the G.W.V.A.

After the Chairman had extended a welcome to His Excellency and the contractors for the excavation were formally presented, he requested His Excellency to set fire to the fuse for the first blast. The Governor, before doing so, gave a brief address in which he referred to the appropriation of the site in that it was near where Sir Humphrey Gilbert made his first landing and laid the foundations of the great Colonial Empire.

After a match had been applied to the fuse, His Excellency and party viewed the explosion from the steps of the Mechanics Hall. The charge of dynamite was well covered by boughs and chains so that the effect of the blast was not apparent. An examination afterwards showed results in a good lot of shattered rock. The Mount Cashel Band under Capt. A. Bulfinch was present and rendered music appropriate to the occasion. The foundations of the memorial only will be placed this fall. The Monument will be erected early next summer and on July 1st it will be unveiled by Field-Marshal Earl Haig. The Memorial will cost about $50,000 and it is understood that this amount is now in hand.

Magistrate's Court.

A drunk and disorderly given in charge by his boarding mistress was given another chance, and ordered to sign bonds for his future good behavior. A laborer of the East End was summoned for the non-support of his thirteen-year-old son. The court decided to have the boy sent to Mount Cashel, meanwhile the father was ordered to give bonds to pay $30 each per month for his son's support. A few civil cases were disposed of.

Annual Celebration

A meeting of St. Bon's Central Council takes place in the Aula Maxima on Sunday next to finalize arrangements for the annual celebration which takes place in November this year. At a previous meeting a committee was appointed to make the necessary preparations, a full report of which will be announced in due course. Other years the annual celebration is held on the 14th of July, but it has been thought advisable by the members to substitute the date this year to November.

Glass in the Street

With reference to a comment in the S.P.C.A. Officer's report referring to glass which was strewn on the corner of Duckworth St. and King's Beach, Mr. R. Mercer wishes to say that the glass came from the broken window and in order to clear it from the vicinity where several children were playing, he swept it into the drain. He was careful to see that it did not go into the streets to endanger horses, and was annoyed that he should be accused of such carelessness.

Feildian Club Dance

No trouble is being spared by those in charge of the Feildian dance, which takes place on Wednesday evening, to make it the success of the season. The proceeds will go towards the fund to provide a recreation ground for the colleges, and as the committee have a popular programme of dances which includes various specialties, a large crowd is expected. Spencer Club is attending to the catering and the Prince's Orchestra is furnishing the music. The decorations and the additional electric light fittings which were arranged for Mr. Edgar Bowring's dance last week have been very kindly lent to the club by him for the occasion.

Burglars at Work

Night marauders appear to be on the increase in the city. This time the police department has been informed of an unoccupied house, belonging to Mr. K. Prowse, being burglarized on LeMarchant Road. The intruders had no difficulty in gaining access to the premises, and without being disturbed they ransacked the building from cellar to attic. Several articles are known to be missing.

Blue Puttee To-Day

Hot Chocolate and Coffee with whipped cream; also Tea, served with Sandwiches and Homemade Cake.—Oct 23.

Bally Haly Dance

LAST NIGHT'S AFFAIR BRILLIANT SUCCESS. The final Club dance for the season took place at Bally Haly last night, and was a wonderful success. The rooms were specially decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and dog berries, and presented a very brilliant appearance in crimson and gold; this, together with the lights, which were covered by red shades, lent a charming effect. The novelties were very pretty and multi-colored hats and balloons, etc. made the whole affair go with a great swing. The music was supplied by the Prince's Orchestra and was "poppy" to the last. The success of the final dance is due to Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Hartnett and their capable helpers, who had charge of all the arrangements.

Obituary.

MRS. MARY O'LEARY.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Mary O'Leary, relict of the late Richard O'Leary of Torbay Road, reached the city yesterday. Mrs. O'Leary left here about five years ago to reside with her daughter, Mrs. Russell Kee in Boston. On October 13th Mrs. O'Leary in company with her daughter and children were going for a motor drive. The deceased while waiting for the car accidentally slipped on the sidewalk, and being a very heavy woman the fall broke her hip-bone. She was rushed to the hospital, but notwithstanding all that science and tender care could do, she developed pneumonia and died on Friday, Oct. 19th. Mrs. O'Leary was well and favorably known on Torbay Road, where she resided for a number of years. A kindly, generous heart was hers, and she was known as what is the best tribute can be paid to the dead, "a good neighbour." Her husband predeceased her some years. She leaves three sons and one daughter, two in Boston and one, John O'Leary, the well-known farmer on Torbay Road. The sympathy of all friends and neighbours in the East End is warmly tendered to the surviving relatives on the sad death of their dear mother, in which the Telegram joins. May she rest in peace.—W.J.C.

Evening Worship Cancelled

Wants Reform in Parking Signs

A request has been made to Chief of Police Pierre Belanger by the Montreal Motorists' League that prominent signs be placed on the sides of the streets showing parking limits and regulations such as "No Parking Here," "Parking Limits 30 Minutes," T. C. Kirby, the secretary-treasurer of the League, pointed out to the chief that these signs are badly needed and will prevent a lot of misunderstandings at present existing. Motorists, he said, do not willingly break the civic laws by parking too near fire hydrants and corners or in prohibited places and need these permanent reminders, but the officials of the League urge that it must be clearly understood that these signs are to be solely controlled by the Chief of Police and that shop-keepers and others will not be allowed to place no parking signs in front of their premises without the official consent of the Chief. The entire matter is receiving the consideration of the traffic department at police headquarters.—Montreal Star, Oct. 16.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR RHEUMATISM. MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR HEAD-ACHE.

Cheap? Why, Certainly, But, They're Cheap too Often. Made to sell. Not to wear.

THE SHOE AND LEATHER MANUFACTURERS of Newfoundland urge upon the attention of the public the fact that job lots of Women's Boots have been imported into this country accompanied by invoices certifying their first cost as 75c. per pair. It is well for the purchaser to know that the PRODUCTION OF A WOMAN'S BOOT OF FIRST CLASS MATERIAL AND AT THAT PRICE IS AN UTTER IMPOSSIBILITY. Such Women's Boots, invoiced at 75c. per pair would pay 39c. duty. Add freight at 10c. per pair and the total landed cost is $1.24. Now note this further fact. The Duty on materials imported for the local manufacture of Women's Boots figures out at the rate of 60c. per pair. The labor cost of such boots in local factories is at the rate of 70c. per pair.

That is, the duty and the labor costs in connection with the local manufacture of Women's Boots, and exclusive of the cost of the imported materials, represents $1.30 per pair. Yet, the total landed cost of the imported article, of foreign manufacture is $1.24 per pair. What is the explanation? Not the cost of Local Labour, because boot and shoe workers in local factories are paid rather less than men engaged in similar work in foreign factories. Material, then? Let's see.

THE LOCAL MANUFACTURER BACKS HIS GOODS WITH A GUARANTEE THAT THEY ARE PRODUCED BY SKILLED WORKERS FROM THE VERY BEST MATERIAL PROCURABLE.

But, the imported article here dealt with is admittedly not of such first class materials. Foreign circulars to which we have referred and from which we have quoted, show that such imported boots and shoes are for the most part of inferior material, indeed are manufactured solely to turn this inferior material to account, to prevent it from becoming utter waste in foreign factories by inducing Newfoundland purchasers to waste their money on it. All portions of a hide are not of equal value when that hide is converted into leather. Take the case of a side of Sole Leather. From the side is cut several distinct portions and qualities known as Bends, Shoulders, Neck and Bellies. Though taken from the same side, one pair of boot soles may be worth 52c., while another pair is worth only 12c. Obviously, the 12c. soles cannot be used in first class boots. They are, really, not fit for use in any boots that have to be subjected to real wear and tear. But, they are used in much of the cheap foreign stuff imported here and sold in competition with first class local products. The soles used by the local manufacturers are value for 52c. per pair; the soles used by foreign manufacturers for making up cheap grade stuff are 40c. per pair cheaper as to price and in actual use are not worth making up into boots and shoes at all. All the other materials entering into the cheap foreign stuff championed by some of the local retail trade in preference to superior local goods are similarly employed with an eye to cheapness of production rather than durability of wear. Moral—Shun it as the very plague itself.

Returns From Special Duty

SQUID ABUNDANT AT BAR HAVEN. Sergeant Keefe, who has been on special duty in Placencia Bay in connection with the loss of a quantity of pit props, which were being loaded at Sandy Harbor and La Plante, returned to the city yesterday. In the course of loading the steamer, quite a lot of pit props went adrift and it was to avoid having them stolen that the services of the police were requisitioned. At many places Sergeant Keefe states the fishermen are doing well with hook and line and the boats average from a half to one and a half qts. of fish daily. At Bar Haven the prospects are good but squid is so abundant that the cut up bait is taken off the hook before the cod reaches it.

Britain's Offer is Blow to U.S. Goods

LARGE AMERICAN INTERESTS AFRAID OF PREFERENCE PLAN. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(Associated Press).—Terminating the commitment of the British Government to a broader policy of Imperial preference, "Britain's reply to the Furdue-McCumber plan" the World yesterday predicted that the decision announced to the Imperial Conference in London Tuesday will be viewed seriously by producers in the United States. The British Government offered to admit duty free, dried, preserved and canned fruits from the Dominions and to increase the tariff preference on sugar and tobacco.

The Will

There comes a time in the life of every man when he must leave his worldly possessions to the care of another. In anticipation of this, therefore, the first obligation resting on an individual who is possessed of property is the making of a will, and this should be done before the capacities become impaired by time or the ravages of disease.

THE FORTH SWIM.

Annual Falls, But Facer Succeeds—Wonderful Performance.

A well known East of Scotland swimmer, W. E. Barrie, Portobello, swam the Firth of Forth recently, between Burntisland and Leith, a distance in a straight line of over five miles.

Barrie, when setting out, had no intention of accomplishing the feat, his object being to accompany a prominent Leith swimmer, William Annal, of the Rosebery Club, in his attempt to swim the Forth.

As events turned out, Annal had to give up owing to the cold, while Barrie was able to keep on. Unfortunately Barrie did not enter the water at Burntisland Harbor, which was the other man's starting point, but proceeded a distance of about 800 or 400 yards in a boat before taking to the water. In doing this he was acting on the instructions of Mr. McNeill, who was Annal's coach.

Both swimmers covered half the distance before Annal gave up, unable to resist the effects of the low temperature of the water.

Final Spurt.
Barrie, who was in better form, decided to keep on, and Mr. Sutherland, secretary of the Eastern Counties Amateur Swimming Association, in a motor boat, attended him; Annal going ashore by another boat.

From this point Barrie had no nourishment given to him and, unlike the other swimmer, he had no special preparation for the task.

He wore only the ordinary bathing costume. He had not taken the precaution of ensuring his body with grease to keep out the cold, and he was unrefreshed with exertion.

He did not, on the remainder of the journey experience any particular difficulty until he came within 500 yards of Leith. There he got into a current, which was retarding his progress seriously; but by a final spurt he reached the pier and landed in the presence of about 1,000 spectators.

Barrie was over three hours in the water, and covered a distance of about nine miles.

This is the first occasion, so far as is known, upon which the Firth has been swum. The late Capt. Welch, who on one occasion swam from Inchkeith to the Portobello, expressed the opinion that the task now accomplished was impossible.

FANS RAZZ STRIBLING AFTER BOUT.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—7,000 fans gave the razz to Young Stribling, Macon, Ga., who claims the world's lightweight championship, at the end of his ten-round, no-decision bout with Tommy Burns, of Detroit, last night.

Had Burns not taken three rounds to wear off stage fright he might have beaten Stribling, according to the majority opinion of sports writers at the ringside. Burns held Stribling even in the fourth and fifth rounds and took the sixth. Stribling came back to win the seventh and eighth and lost the last two with Burns the aggressor throughout.

Harry Mayberry, of Duluth, Minn., beat Phil O'Dowd, of Columbus, Ohio, Carl Meter, of Cincinnati, lost to Johnny Mello, of Detroit.

CANADIAN FEATHERWEIGHT RETAINS HIS TITLE.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Curley Wilshur, of Toronto, successfully defended his newly won title of Canadian featherweight champion here last night, when he completely outfought and outclassed Joey Fox, of England, in a ten round bout. Fox showed up well in the opening rounds, but Wilshur started the third with a body attack which carried him to victory by a wide margin.

Jack Russell, of Buffalo, was no match for the clever Alex Burle, of ROCKY KANSAS DEFEATED.

New York, Oct. 12.—Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, junior lightweight champion, won the decision over Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, in fifteen rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

Bernstein hit, and Kansas hit back, but forced the fighting in the first four rounds, slugging hard but wild, mostly with his right. Bernstein boxed him and scaped damage. From the fourth to the eighth they mixed it evenly but with such a lack of interest as to elicit prolonged jeers from 11,000 fans. From then on Bernstein forced the fighting.

IRISH TEAM WHICH DEFEATED ENGLAND.

London, Oct. 21.—The Irish team which met the English team in the International Football match at Belfast on October 20, and who won by a score of 2 goals to 1, was comprised of the following players:—Fayburn, Kennedy, Arsenal; Irvine, Dundee; Smith, Cardiff; Emerson, Burnley; McKinney, Bradford City; Irvine, Everton; Gillespie, Sheffield United; Tomer, Arsenal.

HUTCHINSON WON WESTERN OPEN GOLF TITLE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 18.—"Jock" Hutchinson, of Chicago, won the western open golf championship yesterday with a score of 281 for the 72-hole tournament for the title, played over the links of the Colonial Country Club here.

Hutchinson made the final round today in 67, the course record he established here two years ago in exhibition play, and which he equalled yesterday. Par for the course is 71. His total score for the 72 holes of the tournament play was 281.

Joe Kirkwood, of New York; Leo Dipeal, Washington professional; Bobby Cruikshank, the wee Scot from Westfield, N.J., and Walter Hagen, of New York, tied for the runner-up position with cards of 287.

Fawnette in Her Egyptian Dance

WAKES A BIG HIT.
The popular Star was again the scene of packed audiences last evening, and everyone was more than pleased with the show, being such as to please the most ardent critic. The Egyptian dance by Fawnette was a novelty in every way, whilst Mr. Teorri was again pleasing in his numbers.

For Wednesday there is a complete change of program, for which Fawnette and Teorri will give an exhibition in walking. Last night's performance is being repeated this evening, and all who can should make an effort to attend. For Wednesday night the feature picture is a Universal Special entitled, Broad Daylight, featuring Lois Wilson, Jack Mulhall and Ralph Lewis, and is a story from the Dark Room of the Underworld, further particulars of which will be furnished in this paper to-morrow.

To-Morrow's Auction

At noon to-morrow, Wednesday, on the premises, Messrs. Dowden and Edwards will sell by auction the splendid residence, Victoria, King's Bridge Road, built by the late Hon. John Browning. Victoria is one of the most attractive city residences. Situated in the centre of charming grounds with fruit, flowers and vegetable gardens as well as lawns, garage and stables the house is one that all would like to possess and occupy. It is easily one of the best properties in the city, and the chance of buying such a place is not likely to offer again for some time.

KORSEBACK RIDER SUFFERS BROKEN LEG.
While Mr. Gus. Wall, the eighteen year old son of Mr. Wall, the Wheelwright, was driving horseback over Carter's Hill this morning at 8.30, the animal suddenly stopped and threw the driver from his seat to the ground. The horse in falling, rolled over on the prostrate form of the lad, and he lay helpless on the ground, and broke his left leg above the knee. Willing persons, who were eye-witnesses of the accident, rushed to his aid and, upon being picked up, he was tenderly carried into a nearby house. Later the injured lad was removed to his home in George St., where a doctor was called and set the broken limb.

A Good Fall Fishery

Reports from the Northward indicate that the fall fishery will be exceptionally good in many places. At Twilligate, Fog and Change Islands, hook and line are getting from one to two quintals daily. At Bonavista the prospects are also good and fishermen are doing well on trawls. In many cases they make two visits a day to the grounds. Unfortunately the season for making is getting late and the fish may have to be held in salt bulk. The weather for fishing has been exceptionally fine, and the only drawback is that bait is not plentiful. As it is, quite a number of fishermen have had a voyage under sail for next spring.

The Week

(Dunn's Review.)

Good points in the business situation are plainly discernible, but the irregularity of conditions is still marked. Reports covering many diversified trades throughout the country show various favorable features, yet conflicting phases appear in most dispatches and signs of hesitation are not absent. While confidence in the prevailing sentiment, caution in placing forward contracts is sharply defined, with a tendency in different quarters to defer important commitments because of existing uncer-tainities. Doubts about the future of some prices and wide fluctuations in certain commodities have a restrictive influence on operations, and there has been no general departure from the policy of limiting purchases mainly to actually-known requirements. A natural stimulus to demand has come with the advancing season, but expected gains in Autumn business have not developed fully and price easing has occurred in some markets that recently showed strength. The effects of the record production of the first half of this year are seen now in scattered accumulations of goods, and increased competition for orders results in concessions from prices previously named by some sellers. Re- adjustment of output to meet the change from the noteworthy commercial expansion of last Spring is in progress in some industries, yet labor is still actively employed and the large consumption of merchandise indicates that the public buying power is well sustained.

Large Corn Crop Forecast.

The Government issued a report this week that showed reduction in indicated crops of the principal cereals. The October estimate for corn is fully 54,000,000 bushels below the September forecast, wheat shows a loss of about 7,500,000 bushels, and the prospective oats production a decrease of more than 9,000,000 bushels. Yet this season's corn crop, if this week's official estimate is fulfilled, will exceed 9,021,000,000 bushels, making it the fourth largest harvest of that grain on record. In contrast, the wheat yield--Winter and Spring wheat combined--promises to be only about 781,700,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1917. Despite the smaller production, the price of wheat for December delivery is only a few cents above that of a year ago, whereas the price of corn, notwithstanding the big crop, is about 10c. higher than it was at this time last year.

Iron and Steel Survey.

Conditions in the iron and steel industry are rather quiet, as compared with the record activity of the early part of the year. Production has been on a decreasing scale for the last three months, and a falling off in orders has been especially noticeable during recent weeks, according to special reports received by Dunn's

Review. While there has been considerable buying of steel rails, manufacturers in this branch have practically completed deliveries on this year's business, and orders now being placed call for delivery after January 21, 1924. Trade in structural iron and steel has diminished with the approach of Winter, and demand for bars, plates and shapes is only fair. Smaller products, however, such as cast iron pipe, wire nails and builders' heavy hardware, appear to be moving in good volume. Pig iron business has become exceedingly quiet, with buyers showing caution in making purchases. Although a number of furnaces have blown out, production still appears to be in excess of consumption, and prices are weak.

Owing to lack of raw material, coupled with a shortage of skilled labor, earlier in the year, tin plate production has not kept pace with consumption, and mills still have large unfiled orders on hand. As a consequence, tin plate is in a strong position, with premium prices obtainable for early deliveries. In some other branches the price tendency has been downward for several months past.

Welsh Goldfield

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IN POPULAR ANGLING DISTRICT.

Much attention has been aroused by the announcement that an important gold discovery in the Cofli Valley, Carmarthenshire, a resort of anglers, between Llandilo and Lampeter. The gold is stated to be in alluvial form, and two samples taken have been found to contain 4.95 dwts. and 15 dwts. of gold respectively per cubic yard. The cost of working is put at only 8d. per cubic yard. In some places gold was found two feet below the surface. A prospecting company has taken 3,000 on lease, and mining machinery and boring plant will be in operation at the end of this year. Mr. Tasman Davies, consulting mining engineer, of Mitre-chambers, London, who made the discovery, remarked in an interview that it was marvellous to think that for generations farmers had been ploughing over the land, little dreaming there was gold in it, probably to the value of millions of pounds. The people from whom the leases were obtained were staggered when told that gold had been found, Mr. Davies stated. "There will be employment for hundreds of men," he added.

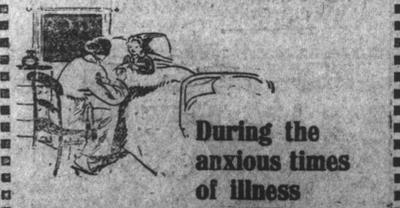

Canadian Activities at Wembley

London, Oct. 19. (By Mail to Canadian Press.)--Great activity is now associated with the construction of pavilions of the Overseas Dominions for the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley next year. On the Canadian site it is definitely stated that all the exterior work will be finished by the end of October, and that work on the interior appointments will be well under way by the middle of November. Such rapid work is quite essential; for, when the exhibits begin to arrive, it is not intended that they shall be allowed to remain in waiting for an indefinite time pending arrangements for their reception and placement. Everything will be in readiness down to the last detail, and thus Canada's adoption of electrical aids and devices, and the installation of the most modern life-saving machinery is well justified. There will be three pavilions on Canada's site. The largest and central pavilion is that of the Canadian Government, in which will be housed exhibits and records of everything pertaining to Canada's horticultural, agricultural, industrial, sporting, mineral, historical, educational and social life. The size of this building is 415 x 280 x 75 feet. To the west of this main structure will be a smaller, but harmonizing, pavilion erected by the Canadian National Railways, and having a frontage of 110 feet, with a depth of 90 feet. Here, in this artistic building, the vast resources of the C.N.R. will be arranged and displayed in an attractive manner, and models of the equipment, as well as samples of the products served by the National system, will afford visitors an idea of Canada's boundless enterprises and possibilities. Included in this pavilion will be a cinematograph, operated by the C.N.R., depicting Canadian life and resources, associated with which will be a programme of lectures. The third building, covering some six thousand square feet of floor space is being erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway, to the east of the main pavilion. It has a simple entrance, two stories deep recessed with painted coffered ceiling, richly coloured and grilles of Canadian wood, approached by a broad flight of flanked on either side by a lion moose and buffalo. This entrance the centre of a facade enriched decorated panels and columns strong colour scheme of this building is emphasized at night time by unique lighting effect. On either side of the entrance, columns are grouped to form settings for decorative panels; similar features are present on each return. Above the ground floor is a capable of seating three hundred persons, where lectures will be delivered, illustrated with films of the case of the Canadian Pacific. The interior decoration has been conceived as a rich background which will be displayed with showing the world-wide activities of the Canadian Pacific--rail, ships, hotels, colonization, telegraph express services, etc.

A new Ford story is told in exchange which says that Joe tells about a tin roof of a store that was torn off and replaced to a compact bundle by a man. Having a sense of humor, the man wraps a few strands of halter around the ruin and shipped it. Henry Ford, in due time came a communication saying: "It will cost $45.50 to have your car repaired. REDEDUCED INSURANCE PREMIUMS.

By J. J. CONWAY, Supt. Cincinnati Salvage Corps.

Records of the Cincinnati Salvage Corps, covering the period from 1913 inclusive, show that during the first sixteen years of its existence, the concrete work was made a campaign of fire prevention progress. In 1903, the concrete work was made a campaign of fire prevention progress. In 1903, the concrete work was made a campaign of fire prevention progress.

As a separate bureau for fire prevention work was established in the Cincinnati Fire Department and their work since has been most thorough and effective.

What the People got Through the Campaign.

Now we come to the place to see what real benefits the public derived from its co-operation in this work. As we have said before, fire insurance rates were continually being increased up to 1916, at which time, the Dean Schedule was put into operation, using the 60 brick table building and the 80 brick table contents. In 1916, we dropped to 80 table building and 70 table contents, making a reduction of 15 per cent on buildings and 13 per cent on contents. In 1914, we dropped to 45 table on buildings and 60 table on contents. In 1917, another reduction was made of 6 per cent on buildings and 7 per cent on contents. The total reduction from 1916 to date was 31 per cent on buildings and 32 per cent on contents on that class of risks which was written under schedule.

In 1917, the fire department, under the management of a highly efficient commissioner, Mr. George E. Rendigs, has enforced the building code and in some cases has even interpreted it as retroactive and compelled corrections, the benefits of which cannot be measured. During 1918, he condemned and ordered raised 330 buildings; 400 in 1917, and 478 in 1918; making a total of 807 buildings condemned and ordered raised in those three years.

As the result of all this co-operation our number of fires was 685 less in the city for 1918 than in 1917—the smallest number of fires in the past ten years.

Population and Area Increases.

The population of our city at the beginning of the period 1911, was 226,908 with an area of 23.73 square miles. At the end of the period, the population was 346,897, and the area had grown to 42.50 square miles. In the second period, 1905 to 1918 inclusive, the population had grown from 245,897 to 418,022 and the area from 42.50 to 73 square miles.

Thus it will be seen that while the public at large assisted us in reducing the fire waste by about 20 per cent, they were compensated for their efforts by a reduction in insurance rates of 31 per cent on buildings and 32 per cent on contents. This means a real saving of over $850,000 a year to the insuring public who are the taxpayers of our city.

public schools are to be highly commended for the able assistance they have given. The schools have adopted and are now using as a text book "Safeguarding the Home Against Fire" for copies of which we are indebted to the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The Bureau of Fire Prevention of the Cincinnati Fire Department has been most earnest and never tiring in its efforts to bring about better conditions.

897 Buildings Razed.

The Building department, under the management of a highly efficient commissioner, Mr. George E. Rendigs, has enforced the building code and in some cases has even interpreted it as retroactive and compelled corrections, the benefits of which cannot be measured. During 1918, he condemned and ordered raised 330 buildings; 400 in 1917, and 478 in 1918; making a total of 807 buildings condemned and ordered raised in those three years.

As the result of all this co-operation our number of fires was 685 less in the city for 1918 than in 1917—the smallest number of fires in the past ten years.

Population and Area Increases. The population of our city at the beginning of the period 1911, was 226,908 with an area of 23.73 square miles. At the end of the period, the population was 346,897, and the area had grown to 42.50 square miles.

Thus it will be seen that while the public at large assisted us in reducing the fire waste by about 20 per cent, they were compensated for their efforts by a reduction in insurance rates of 31 per cent on buildings and 32 per cent on contents.

Bull Dog Kills Woman

Animal Attacks Mother and Daughter and Former Diet of Wounded.

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 16.—Mrs. Angus Campbell, 45, is dead and her daughter, Annie, lies at death's door as a result of an attack on the two women by a savage bull dog at their home at Dominion this morning.

Mrs. Campbell was so badly bitten that she died a few minutes later, while the daughter is also frightfully wounded by the teeth and claws of the infuriated animal. The dog was later shot by the police.

The dog was a family pet and was well liked up to two years ago, when it attacked and bit two persons in the town of Dominion. Rather than destroy the animal, the Campbell's kept it shut up in a room in the house. Several weeks ago it was decided to do away with the bull dog and poison was administered. Instead of causing death, the poison only seemed to irritate it more.

At noon to-day the dog got loose in some way and attacked Mrs. Campbell, who was in the kitchen. Her daughter heard her scream and came to her rescue. The dog grabbed her by the hand, and thus encumbered she ran out of doors, where neighbors rushed in and made the dog release its grip by the use of hot water.

The dog immediately rushed in again and gave Miss Campbell eight frightful gashes between the hip and ankle. The dog then escaped into the house. Neighbors closed the doors and called the police, who shot the dog through a hole in the kitchen door.

When the rescue party entered the house and went upstairs, where Mrs. Campbell had taken refuge, they found that she had succumbed to wounds, shock and loss of blood. Miss Annie is in hospital in a serious condition.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Campbell is survived by two sons, Hector and Malcolm, both at home, and two daughters—Ellen, in the United States and Mrs. Bob MacPherson, of New Waterford.

To Look for Oil in Newfoundland

Efforts to Be Made to Develop Petroleum Areas on the West Coast.

Washington, Oct. 13.—A serious effort will be made in the spring of 1924 to develop the oil fields lying along the west coast of Newfoundland, according to a report forwarded to the Department of Commerce by Consul General Gussulalis. These fields compose two distinct areas, one at Parsons Pond, with an adjacent smaller field east of Parsons Pond, and south of White Bay. This area totals some 200,000 acres, about 75,000 of which have been taken up by developing companies.

The second area is situated north of Hawke Bay and comprises about 25,000 acres. An oil expert with experience in American fields has sailed from here in the interest of a syndicate headed by George W. Bouras and C. A. Furt of London, England, and D. H. Eaton of Toronto. A survey will also be made of the property owned by Sir Mortimer Davis, head of the Imperial Tobacco Company, Limited, London, England. The Bouras property includes the area at Hawke Bay and some 50,500 acres at Parsons Pond.

Sir Mortimer Davis's interests are 6,800 acres south of the Bears holdings and 12,800 acres south of White Bay. The Newfoundland Company also owns a large tract of territory in the vicinity. The property is about twenty miles north in a general direction of the site of the Armstrong-Whitworth Co. at Humbermouth.

Address TO MISS A. M. CONWAY, R. G. TEACHER, CALVERT.

Dear Teacher, We, your devoted pupils, whom you have worked so hard for, and in whom you have taken such a deep interest, are sincerely sorry that you have decided to give up teaching and go away from us.

Since you came amongst us we have grown up from tiny tots under your wise, and we should say, motherly guidance.

We can truthfully say that some of us, in fact all of us, have caused you unnecessary trouble and worry for which we now all feel sincerely sorry.

Dear Teacher, It is only to-day we recognize how hard it is to part with you. We have heard for some time of your intention of giving up teaching, but we feel sure if you intended to still teach, you would not leave your little friends of Calvert.

We can assure you that wherever you go you will not be forgotten by your devoted pupils, and we will always I hope, bear in mind the wise and good teaching and example you worked so hard to instill into us.

Dear Teacher, Please accept this little present as a small token of the love and regard we hold for you, and in wishing you good-bye we can assure you we do so with sincere sorrow, but your future we feel assured will be bright and happy, as it deserves to be, but no more so than your devoted pupils of Calvert wish it to be.

YOUR PUPILS. Council's Watch-House Burned

Last night, shortly after nine o'clock a watch house, situated at the junction of Circular Road and Belvedere Street, was destroyed by fire. The blaze originated from a lighted cigarette which the watchman threw amongst some waste, used for packing water pipes. The Central fire apparatus responded to a still alarm, but the fire had gained so much headway that their services were unavailing. The structure, which measured 19 x 12 ft., was owned by the Municipal Council.

DUREN IS PROVISIONAL CAPITAL OF RHINELAND REPUBLIC.

PARIS, Oct. 22. The movement initiated in the Rhineland on Sunday for a republic is spreading but only slowly, according to the latest despatches and generally speaking among small towns. The news, however, is too full of repetitions and often contradictory and false to give impression that the Rhineland has answered the call made to it with anything like unanimity. The executive committee of the Free Rhineland Party has assumed the leadership of the revolution and installed headquarters at Duren. BOARD OF TRADE DISCUSSES BETTER PROTECTION FOR PASSENGERS ON BOARD SHIPS.

LONDON, Oct. 23.

The Board of Trade has under consideration the question of substitution of rafts for lifeboats on ocean going vessels on the theory that rafts would not occupy so much space as lifeboats and that consequently more could be carried. Experiments for the protection of passengers on board ships were recently carried out and the means of affording protection to passengers, especially women and children in case of disaster were discussed, one suggestion being that makintoshes should be stored on each raft to be easily accessible in event of hasty departure from the vessel.

The Song of the 29th Division

SUNG AT THE CRESCENT BY ROBERT SHIELDS.

Mr. Robert Shields, the English Baritone, has a decided hit last evening by his masterful rendition of "The Song of the 29th Division." This number is dedicated to men of the 29th Division, of which the Royal Newfoundland Regiment formed a part, and we advise all who had sons or relatives connected with this division to hear the song. Mr. Shields was perfectly "at home" in this selection as it suited his fine baritone voice and was sung with marked expression. His other number was also splendidly delivered.

One of the greatest screen plays ever witnessed in the Crescent is "Rich Men's Wives." Aside from the dramatic side of the story, the production is unquestionably a beauty show. The story has to do with the swagger set of modern society and shows it up in its true light. It's truly great picture enacted by a wonderful cast of great artists, and contains a theme that will live forever. Such pictures as "Rich Men's Wives" are few and far between.

The Crescent has another big Amateur Contest in store for its patrons on Friday night, which promises to be equally as good if not better than any previous one. Watch for Friday's big contest.

Then Pandemonium Reigns

Stories about laughable mistakes made in court by witnesses are common enough, but few are so supremely funny as that told by Mr. Justice Risby Swift one day recently.

It concerned a full-witted country yokel who had been subpoenaed to give evidence in regard to a motor smash up.

The point in dispute was whether or not it was a collision, but the word collision was too much for the witness, who was obviously puzzled by it.

"When two things come unexpectedly together, that is a collision," explained counsel, and on seeing a sudden gleam of intelligence shoot across the man's face remarked:

"Tell the court what a collision is, so we may all be sure that you understand."

"Twins," was the prompt reply, given obviously in all good faith—and pandemonium broke loose.

Wanted—An Economic Policy

London Morning Post: We live in a fierce world of competition. What a tariff accomplishes is to offer industries some protection against the fierce and nipping blasts of that competition, and to allow themselves at least their own soil in which to grow securely.

A tariff is what a wall is to a garden; but the wall is not the only thing necessary; the soil inside must be skillfully tilled by industrious gardeners.

But at least this may be said, that unless such a wall is built there can be no security for any industry in this country under the conditions now prevailing in the world.

"My Friend the Devil"

Shows a Fierce Battle Between Good and Evil Spirits.

Since the world began the Devil has been used to contrast good and evil. Many the paintings, some that could not be bought at any price today, have shown the Devil in all his devilishness. Our literature is full of the work of the Devil and therefore it is not strange that his satanic majesty has been written into stage plays.

With the advent of motion pictures, it is not strange that we see the Old Boy prancing around doing what evil he can. Yet it must be said for the pictures that the Devil is always beaten when the last flicker of the story appears on the screen. Therefore it can be said by the upholders of motion pictures that they are not the invention of the evil spirit.

All this is called to mind by the new Fox special photoplay, "My Friend the Devil," which is at the Majestic Theatre.

In this the crafty old fellow gets into full swing from almost the beginning of this powerful, dramatic story.

The story opens with a good little boy, a good loving mother and a brutal step-father. One day while the step-father is abusing the mother, the boy prays that the lightning will strike his step-father. Instead it is the mother and not the brutal husband that is killed. The lad turns into an unbeliever and so he grows up, becomes a famous surgeon, marries, and though he is of a kindly spirit, he disobeys a higher being brings him many sorrows.

Something like twenty years after his wife's death his daughter is to be married. He is happy. He goes to her room to get her birth certificate. Those who are watching the workings of Satan can see him grinning sardonically as the great surgeon goes into the room, for he finds letters which show that his wife had been unfaithful to him. He drives his pretty daughter out into the storm—the daughter dressed in her wedding garments. When she is brought back her reason has fled. The only words she utters are:

"I want my Daddy."

Four doctors are unable to help her. Her father refuses to go to her. Suddenly the spirit of good, in the form of the shadowy figure of the doctor's mother, appears and leads the doctor into the daughter's room. The father works feverishly over the girl. But the great science which he believed was the master of life and death does not bring the girl back to reason. Death walks into the room, and as the girl's heart beats slowly decrease, the figure of death draws nearer the bedside and is hovering over the girl, ready to take her to another kingdom.

In desperation the father calls on God to give him power to save the girl. The struggle between good and evil is short lived. Soon the girl opens her eyes and murmurs:

"Daddy! I knew you would come."

And the father cries:

"I believe."

By this time Satan and Death have gone to other spheres, having waged a fierce but losing battle.

This climax is said to be one of the most stirring that has been given to the motion picture world.

SUCCESS.
Here is the road to fame
And fortune's golden smile:
Honor too strong for shame,
Patience to walk the while,
Courage to bear the pain,
Pluck when the hill is steep,
Faith when your strength seems vain,
Never is victory cheap.

Here is the price of worth
And conquest's shining goal:
Hands for the tasks of earth,
And ever a sturdy soul,
Willing to bear the load,
Sowing before you reap,
Daring to blaze the road—
Never is victory cheap.

Here is what glory asks,
Here is what life requires:
Grace at the common tasks,
Patience that never tires,
Men who will slowly climb
Mountainous pathways steep,
Willing to bide their time,
Never is victory cheap.

Pointed Pars
The man who has his price isn't worth it.

Few married men repent at leisure. They haven't the leisure.

Many women avoid hearing scandal but not listening when they speak.

Push by all means. But sometimes people lose more by crowding than waiting their turn.

Always let a woman have her own way—especially if you don't want her to go that way!

It seems that some men join clubs because they have no homes. Others, because they have.

Many men are sorry for what they've done—but more are sorry for what they've omitted to do.

Some people imagine they are being sympathetic when really they are only being inquisitive.

Most women have two opinions of a secret: Either it is not worth keeping—or else it is too good to keep.

Girls may under-dress now, but they certainly look better than in the days when they upholstered themselves.

Many men never deny their wives a single wish. It's when the wives want to realize the wishes that things happen.

OF THE NEWFOUNDLAND QUARTERLY.

Mae Edwards Players

The above players opened the second week of their engagement last night before a large audience, the play being "Her Dangerous Path." Only six persons appeared in the cast, but the six of them did some splendid acting and played their parts in a manner which won rounds of applause from the audience. The play is different from that usually seen, and is the story of an actress who goes wrong and what money can bring—a good time. After she is rescued from her first misfortune and a gentleman invites her to marry her instead of what the world can give she goes back to her old life, and in doing so practices the grossest kind of deception towards her loyal lover. In the last moment, just before the marriage vows are taken, he hears the gossip of friends and comes back to her, and she in her misery and terror confesses her faults and asks for another chance, but while he is willing to condone the wrong done, he is not willing to forgive her deceit. Both the man with whom she trafficked her soul and the man who gave her his love leave her. She tries to take life but fails, not having the courage and then she goes forth to plunge in sin and iniquity with nothing left her, not even as she says, her soul. The leading part was taken by Miss Edwards as Laura Murdoch, an actress, and opposite her played Jack Corbin, as William Brocton, a N.Y. business man who sought the friendship and intimacy of theatrical girls and invested his money in "shows." Mr. Mr. Newcomb played the part of the one who offered love to Laura; Miss Riggs played the part of Annie the maid. Mr. Murray took the part of the advance agent of the Stock Companies, and Miss Fischer, that of a show girl. The bill will be presented again to-night and on Wednesday night "The Man Between."

On the Wrong Track

SYMPATHY IS SOOTHING, BUT THE "CHEERFUL IDIOT" ADDS TO THE WORLD'S WOES.

There are times when Jones—the name will do—makes my angry passions rise. I know it's wrong, of course, but I can't help it. He's always saying things that, somehow or other, get on my nerves.

Put on his defence, I expect he would claim that he was a cheerful soul, of the type which always sees the silver lining to the cloud. To that I should retort that his cheerfulness irritates. It rubs an already troubled and annoyed fellow being very much the wrong way.

In nine cases out of ten sympathy is required rather than cheerfulness. Sympathy soothes, Jones' cheerfulness irritates. He always says the wrong thing at the wrong time.

The other week I lost a favourite dog, naturally, I was upset. Most people would have expressed regret; but Jones remarked with great cheerfulness that I could soon get another pup! That cheered me not at all.

As Bad as "I-Told-You-So"

A gate left open let cows into my garden, and the brutes walked all over my bulbs. Smith was awfully sympathetic; he knows I'm a bulb enthusiast. Jones, however, told me I ought to get a spring fixed to the gate, so that it would close automatically. Good advice, but it merely made me wild.

"Why my little daughter got appendicitis it was the sympathy of various friends that helped me through an anxious time. Jones very kindly told me that it was just as well for a child to have it, because one couldn't get appendicitis twice!

I left in the train a parcel of groceries my wife had asked me to get for her. Smith was sympathetic, and asked if his wife could do anything. But Jones cheerfully remarked that very likely somebody would find it who needed the stuff more than I did!

I dare not, of course, ask poor old "X," who let his wife a little while ago, what Jones said to him, but it wouldn't surprise me in the least if his cheerful comment was: "Buck up, old man! There are thousands of other women in the world who would jump at the chance of marrying you!"

Are you like Jones? If so, make a change. You are in the same class as those supremely irritating folk who delight in applying the "I-told-you-so" salt to the wounds of their friends.

Why Those Prettier Teeth?

They use a new way of teeth cleaning
Dainty people—millions of them—now combat the film

Wherever dainty people gather you see glistening teeth today. Cloudy teeth are rarer. Note what attraction those whiter teeth add to men and women.

Learn the way to get them. Accept this ten-day test. Millions now enjoy the benefits. Bring them to your home.

Film hides their beauty
It is film that keeps teeth cloudy—that vicious film you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats which hide the luster of the teeth. Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Under old methods, very few escaped troubles caused by film.

New discoveries made
Dental science has now discovered two effective ways to fight film, and has simply proved them out. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Protect the Enamel
Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Now use a film combuster which contains harsh grit.

Way Rolled Like Sea Waves

Survivor Tells Experience in Japanese Disaster.

A survivor of the firm of Scott building contractors, Edinburgh, has just arrived from Japan, and a graphic tale of the great earthquake as he saw it.

The Japan, en route to Scotland, Australia, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor went up into the hills in the morning. They strolled around the hills and were returning to the concrete roadway by the hotel when the earth trembled, shook and like the waves of the sea, Great chasms yawned in the earth. Peasants' figures appeared on the hills. Houses crashed like structures. The shrieks of the and the rampant terror suggest the day of judgment.

At 4 hours, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor saw the concrete roadway clad on wheels, but luckily, they were on heavy walking boots, which them in good stead, when they to escape.

When finally they realized that to sit there any longer was useless, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor tried to traverse the winding tracks over the mountain. After weary hours of climbing and stumbling they eventually arrived at a spot where they obtained some food for a ride in a motor, and later a train to their port of embarkation for safety.

Matter for Thought

Everybody knows that there has been a slump in the theatrical profession. Even the landladies tell of it. It is shown in a good story told by Miss Daphne Pollard the other day.

An actor who, from motives of economy, had been compelled to postpone his holidays until October, enquired of one of them how much were her apartments.

"From thirty shillings up," he was told.

"Madam, I am an actor," said the enquirer, thinking to get a reduction in the terms.

"Oh, are you?" snorted the landlady. "In that case it's thirty shillings down."

Market News

(Trade Review.)

Codfish—The activity noted in the local market for codfish last week continues in progressive ratio, and during the past week quite a number of craft laden with Labrador and shore-cured fish arrived in port, so that on the wharves some of the old-time scenes in the handling of the staple are being re-enacted. Labrador still retains its price, viz., $4.00 per qt. and shore fish is undergoing a cull, the prices prevailing being about $6.00 for merchantable and $6.50 for Madeira, though something better than $6.00 has been paid during the week for choice parcels of well cured large and medium merchantable. There is much activity in the stores on the different mercantile premises, where large numbers of laborers are engaged at the fish in the bulk or packing it in readiness for shipment to market. The fish market is steady and has a tendency to remain so for some time to come. Shipments mostly by steam are being made to Greece, Italy, Spain and Oporto in Portugal, and the following vessels sailed during the week:—S.S. Thyra, 9,885 qts. from St. John's to Alicante, various shippers; Herbert Mac, Renouf for West Indies, 1,060 qts. haddock, 60 brs. salmon, 30 cases salmon, 25 brs. sound W. Webb & Son; Max Horton, Bait, Hr. for Seville, 4,560 Lazo & Co.; Little Princess, St. Anthony, 6,090 for Seville, Lazo & Co.; Eva, Little Bay, for Malaga, 4,600 qts. Jaa. Strong, Ltd.; Bessie Lake, Fortune, for Halifax, 1,000 qts., shipped by Geo. E. Dixon; Haabet, Marystown for Oporto, 3,532 qts., shipped by Jas. Baird, Ltd.; Araminta, Grand Bank for Oporto, 2,774 qts. shipped by Lake & Lake. It is gratifying to know that the large stocks of fish held in Oporto are being rapidly consumed, and are now cut down to less than 20,000 qts. The Oporto report for the week was:—Yd. stock, 19,429; Consumption, 10,127. In addition to the shipments noted above there were exported by the S.S. Mons for Spain, 18,474 qts., and for Italy, 18,452 qts., a total of 31,926 qts., while the Yankton and Silvia also took large codfish shipments.

Cod Liver Oil—Continued reports from scientists and experts all confirm the wonderful properties of this oil. There are many enquiries, but when it comes down to business there is very little doing, as Norway continues to undersell us. The export tax charged by our Government comes in for severe criticism. While this industry is receiving such splendid advertisement from scientists everything should be done to push the business, but while the Government, optimistic this tax they are preventing all the good that might result. Very few people are engaged in the business this year, as in many cases they find it easier to confine their efforts to the manufacture of common oil, for which the price at present is approximately $145 per ton.

Common Cod Oil—The tone of the local market is very unsettled. A good demand last week has been followed by a period of uncertainty. Some of these paying top prices last week are sellers this week at much lower prices. Telegrams from foreign markets express the opinion that we have seen highest prices, and that we are likely to see a decided drop in prices every day. It is reported that considerable shipments of cod oil have reached Boston from Iceland, and this has caused the decline.

Flour—The first flour to be brought under October contract came to hand this week by S.S. Silvia and Manoa, and the market remains steady with a fairly good demand for the best brands. The export demand for flour is extremely large and large exporting concerns like the Oglivie Flour Milling Co. find themselves completely sold out on October and November delivery. Very heavy importations of flour have been a feature of this week's business, and in this respect it would appear as if the S.S. Manoa had made a record in the cargo of this goods which she brought from Montreal. She discharged altogether 21,185 barrels and 220 sacks, while the Silvia also brought a considerable quantity. Ample stocks to tide the country over the remainder of the fall and the winter months will be imported. The quotations in the local market for the best brands vary from $7.90 to $8.40 per barrel, wholesale.

Pork—As we stated last week the keen demand in Europe for pork tends to keep the market firm, and up to this writing there is no easement in the situation. No very large stocks are held in the city, and it looks as if prices will soon take a sharp upward turn. During the week the price advanced by 50 cents per barrel, and dealers affirm that pork will be high in price during the remainder of the fall. The Silvia from New York landed 190 barrels, and the Manoa from Montreal 450, in all 640 barrels. The prices this week were: Fat Back, $22.50; S.C. Clear, $22.50; Bacon Pork, $21.25; Ham Butt, $22.75; and Spare Ribs, $23.50.

Beef—The shortage in the stocks of beef to which we referred last week was relieved by imports per Silvia, Yankton and Manoa. The first named ship landed 833 brs., the Yankton 460 brs., and the Manoa 80 brs., a total of 1,403 brs. There is a good demand for the article at present, and prices in the local market are similar to those quoted last week, viz., Bos Flank, $26.50; Family Spoil, $22.00; Boneless, $22.50. Some large shipments of beef will arrive during the next few weeks in anticipation of a considerably accelerated demand.

Sugar—The sugar market remains as it was last week and shows little change. The imports for the week were 4,005 cwt. by S.S. Silvia from New York. American refined holds the same figures as last week, viz.: $3.25 and $3.50, and the quotations in the local market are, granulated, barrels and 100 lb. sacks, $10.15; 50 lb. sacks, $10.30; Confectioners' grade, 48 1-lb. cartons, $10.95.

Salmon—Trade in this article is very slack and the demand, either local or foreign, is of a negligible quantity. Some small parcels were exported during the week, but no orders that would appreciably affect the market have been received, though a fair demand is looked for in the near future.

Lobsters—The bottom seems to have dropped out of the market in this commodity of late. Very little goods have been received in the city the past few weeks, and hardly any orders have been received from abroad, though some enquiries were answered a few days ago from one or two European centres. Up to the present no trade has resulted, stocks are now held in the city awaiting developments. There has been quite a slump in the local market of late, and goods that were quoted in the early part of the season at $25 and $26 the case, have now dropped to $20, with a possibility of reaching a lower figure in the not distant future. One or two small shipments were recently made. The market in this class of goods is the slowest recorded for some time.

Hay—During recent weeks small shipments of new Canadian hay, mostly from Prince Edward Island, have been coming to hand, and some 2,000 bales were received during the week by various steamers, most of which will be shipped to inland centres to feed the horses working in connection with mills and various construction enterprises. Not much is being bought in the local market, and as far as can be gleaned the figure quoted is roughly $35.00 per ton of 2,240 lbs.

Oats—The market in oats gives promise of some activity soon, and considerable importations are now in evidence. Some 1,760 bushels came to hand by S.S. Silvia, 4,489 by Manoa, and 975 by the Yankton, a total of 7,224 bushels. The prices quoted in the local market are: Black Oats, sacks (4 bushels), $3.70; White Oats, $3.60; Mixed, $3.55.

Hardware, Tinware, etc.—By the Digby from Liverpool recently there arrived large shipments of tinware, hardware and kindred goods, the market in which is fairly active with a tendency to advance in price. Indeed already in certain lines figures have sloped upwards, especially in ingot tin which took a rise of 15 per cent.; in fact all metal and tin goods either have slightly advanced or will go higher in the future, and this includes lead and solder. The upward tendency is caused in great measure by the disaster in Japan. Not alone has it in great measure eliminated Japanese competition in these lines, but the Japanese are now and will be for some time, themselves heavy purchasers, and this will tend to stiffen the market and keep prices up for possibly a lengthy period.

Lost Sidewalk Privilege

John Morgan keeps a grocery store in Pittsburg. The only instrument upon which he plays is his cash register, and he thinks it makes better music than the Pittsburgh Orchestra. He has had trouble and the trouble was caused by the big policeman who walks or rather swaggers, past his store once every hour.

In that jaunty, careless manner affected by policemen, this copper would sometimes step into the store, and as he said "Good morning, Mr. Morgan," or "Good evening, Mr. Morgan," he would, dutifully transfer a generous handful of raisins, cakes, candy or whatever happened handy, to his capacious pocket. This made Mr. Morgan tired. He paid taxes to feed the police, and he calculated ruefully that the value of what the big policeman helped himself to in the course of a year would more than pay his school tax. After thinking carefully over the matter, he concluded to stop the policeman's liberality to himself.

Selecting a measure of fine apples, he dosed a few with cayenne pepper, cleverly concealing the cuts in the skin, and placed them in a tempting position just outside the door. Ten minutes later the policeman came sauntering carelessly by. As he neared the door his eye caught sight of the apples. Mr. Morgan was busy attending a customer in the rear, but glanced up as the officer called out, "Good morning Mr. Morgan," and took two or three of the dosed apples.

Morgan chuckled to himself for an hour. He thought he had stopped the leak all right. A little later he was startled by a rough voice calling to him from the front of the store. It was the copper.

"Look here, Morgan, how many times have I told you not to block the sidewalk with your blasted baskets and boxes. Now, if I find these things out here when I come back I'll make an information against you and make it cost you $25."

Morgan had stopped the leak but had sacrificed his sidewalk privileges. —Grocery World.

MINARD'S LINIMENT

MORNING WALK.

The doc had given warning that I need exercise; I took a walk this morning, believing it was wise. I said, "A dally ramble will soon reduce my weight; and so I'll jope and gambol a o m e fourteen miles or eight." I walked beside the river and watched it twist and wind, and then a farmer's driver assailed me from behind. It knocked me through some fences and filled me with a fright; when I regained my senses the car was out of sight. I gathered up my bonnet, my ribs and shoulder-blades, and, muttering "Doggone it," toiled on through glens and glades. An honest watchdog shooed me around a field of corn, a large roan bull pursued me and plied his starboard horn. I saw an albatross travel, a distant, floating specklet; it dropped a sack of gravel that landed on my neck. A sportsman tried to wing me while shooting at a crow, and bees came up to sting me upon my nose and brow. And so I cried, "It's shocking! If I get home alive no man will see me walking six miles or even five! Let learned physicians chatter; at their advice I'll scoot; I'll keep on getting fatter before I'll walk it off."

Another chapter in the tragedy of the Russian revolution came to light when the largest cargo of nobility to reach New York in one "shipment"—11 Princes, 12 Baronesses, 3 Barons and 2 Counts—arrived in the steerage with their combined capital amounting to 36 roubles, less than enough to send a postcard from Russia.

Food and Cancer

Westminster Gazette: Sir Frederick Treves suggests that the increase in cancer in recent years has been coincident with the introduction of prepared foods. It should not require an elaborate inquiry to discover if there is any correlation between these two facts. But this at least may be said at once. There is a growing tendency to strain disease to food or to incomplete elimination of food elements, and treatment founded on these lines frequently proves successful. Dr. Copeman's suggestive points in the same direction. But we cannot expect that any of these suggestions will prove of the slightest value unless they are carefully weighed and considered. And the difficulty of considering new suggestions is that the research already begun is most gravely impeded for lack of funds. In such circumstances it is difficult to feel that the Ministry of Health are acting responsibly in leaving the hospitals to struggle along with the help of public subscriptions. The case is too grave and too urgent for such shiftlessness.
