At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit

STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XI

Two years had passed, and few changes had come with them. The old Squire, a rich man now through the generosity of Lord Rhyworth, declared that he was growing younger; he was so thoroughly happy that Dolores felt every time she saw him, she could have made a sacrifice twice as great for him. He thoroughly enjoyed his life, and began to take his favorite rides and walks. His was indeed a new existence.

Sir Karl had not returned to England. Scarsdale was still in the hands of the servants. Lola, whose letters interested him because they were always full of news about Deeping Hurst, heard from his often; but in none of his letters was there even the faintest allusion to his coming home. At Deeping Hurst itself there had been one event. Dolores had presented her husband with a little daughter, a tiny beautiful child whom she idolized; and Lord Rhyworth had been nearly beside himself with joy. After his long, loveless life to have a sweet wife and infant daughter—it seemed a marvel to him that Heaven had blessed him so. His loving fondness for his daughter was beyond conception; that there had been, was, or could be such a baby he refused to believe. Little Kathleen was not like Dolores; she had the Rhyworth face, dark eyes and hair, and a mouth like a rosebud. It was touching to see the old Squire with his little granddaughter—to him she was Dolores in her sweet helpless infancy over again.

The child thrived, and everything at Deeping Hurst seemed to promise uninterrupted prosperity and happiness. Lord Rhyworth, in his devoted love and affection for his little daughter, settled Deerpark Manor, with a handsome yearly income, upon her.

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, followed by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to go to bed for the rest of the day. Or at times I would have to walk the floor restless in this way until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I surely am glad I tried it for I feel like a different person now that I don't have those troubles."—ONELLA HOLMBERG, Box 53, Viking, Alta.

Let us like this establish the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking it. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from natural roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact. If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it.

The Squire was deeply affected by his old friend's death.

"Who would have believed that I should outlive him!" he said; and in his heart he knew that, but for the dead man's generosity and kindness, he would not have been alive.

They buried him in the old family vault, where all the Rhyworths for many generations had slept. When his will was read it was found that he left all that he could to his wife—Barbidge Grange, with an income of five thousand per annum, which at her death was to revert to his daughter Kathleen, together with a large sum of ready money and several valuable investments, which made her wealthy for life. To his beloved daughter he had already given Deerpark Manor, with two thousand per annum, the money to accumulate until she attained the age of twenty-one.

Deeping Hurst, with its revenues, went to the next of kin, Walter Irving, now Walter, Lord Rhyworth, who was in India, where he had held an office under the Government. A year at least must elapse before he could come home; so he wrote to Lady Rhyworth, asking her as a great favor to remain at Deeping Hurst until he returned to England.

Sickness and death had somewhat scared Lola. She did not care to go near Deeping Hurst, for the very thought of death was horrible to her. While the three months of rigorous mourning lasted, she wrote frequently to Lady Rhyworth, being always very careful to mention the fact that she had just heard from Sir Karl, but she made no attempt to visit her.

Only when the Deeping Hurst carriage had been seen in town did she venture near the place. Dolores was pleased to see her. She was young, and the long isolation had begun to tell upon her. It was cheering to see a bright face and to hear the sound of a laughing voice. Almost her first words to Lola were an invitation to the nursery to see baby Kathleen; and Miss de Ferras's first remark was—

"What a great pity, Lady Rhyworth, it was not a boy."

"Why a great pity?" asked the young mother, reproachfully. "Could anything be fairer or sweeter than my little Kathleen?"

"No, but a boy would have succeeded to his father's estates, and you need never have left Deeping Hurst."

"I would rather have my daughter," said Dolores, clasping the child to her breast, and Lola laughed.

"Sentiment is delightful, but a large income is better. Dolores, do you ever think about the future? It seems a strange fate to have married so well, and to have lost your husband so soon. Do you ever think of the future? You have the best part of your life before you."

"I have not thought of it," answered Dolores, in a clear, low voice; but her lovely face flushed and her lips trembled. "My only thoughts have been of my loss and my sorrow and my beautiful baby. I have had neither time nor inclination for anything else."

But Lola, looking steadfastly at her, repeated—

"The best part of your life lies before you. You are still very young; you are beautiful and wealthy; you have all the prestige without the burden of your husband's rank; and you have only one child. I say that your future will be more brilliant, if you choose to make it so, than even your past has been."

THE OLD MASTER.

Hung up against the snowy plaster a painting was on show, the product of a grand old master who died long, long ago. The village plate had gone and bought it in Naples or in Rome, and then triumphant-ly he brought it, to show the folks at home. And art fans came in hosts to view it, a rapid, ecstatic mob; and I alone remarked, "Beshrew it, it seems to me a daub. My soul, I fear, is much benighted, I am not wise or smart; I simply cannot get excited about a work of art. Those art fans see a thousand beauties, to me the thing looks flat; I would not give two bob-tailed coppers for such a smear as that." The art fans heard me sadly mutter, and cried, "Most blind of wights, your soul's a native-of-the gutter, while ours ascend the heights. You stand before that noble painting and say it is a smear; your sordid, boorish words are tainting the art world's atmosphere. Go to, and cease your idle spicing, the Goths and Vandals meet; to men of culture, sense and feeling this picture is a treat." Then came a sharp who judges pictures. His verdict is the law; he gave that Work his fiercest strictures, and called it coarse and raw. "Some kalsomner did this painting," he said, "when he was stewed," and all the art fans, nearly fainting, a heart-sick multitude, came from the hall, and when I met them I might have scooped and jeered; but not a word to peeve or fret them was muttered through my beard. I framed a josh but never said it, they looked so sad and sick; I think it greatly to my credit I threw no verbal brick.

It is not the policy of the manufacturers of Ivory soap to make extravagant claims in its behalf. They simply say that Ivory soap is a good, pure toilet soap and that it will cleanse the skin thoroughly without injuring the most delicate complexion.

Winning Strokes at Tennis

PRACTICAL ADVICE BY A FAMOUS PLAYER.

The beginner at tennis will discover that there is but little enjoyment to be obtained in playing the game unless the primary object is victory.

The principal stroke in tennis is undoubtedly the most used. In no other playing stroke is the ball so completely under your control as you made the return.

You are making it from your right, always the easiest side, and you will naturally try to return the ball to your opponent's left and as wide of him as possible. This compels him to adopt one of two courses: either to run round the ball in an endeavour to bring it to his right side, or to take the stroke on the blackhand, unquestionably the most difficult task in the game.

Keep Your Opponent Guessing.

If you have returned the ball well towards the base-line and given it speed, instead of being content merely to get it over the net, you have added greatly to your chances of gaining the point.

Another important stroke is the service. Here, again, speed on the ball means much. This stroke, moreover, will test your placing ability. An opponent must be kept guessing as to where your service will drop—whether to his right or left, and whether short or deep.

As in the forearm drive, placing wide to the left of an adversary improves your chances, while a ball dropped short over the net, and obliquely to it, gives the other fellow an opportunity to return. This is a difficult shot, but well worth cultivating. Vary both pace and direction, and remember that the ease or difficulty of the service rests with you alone.

The volley is regarded by many of the best players as the most attractive stroke in tennis. It is the one in which you can really "let yourself go" in an effort to kill any chance of the return of the ball.

The volley is generally taken near the net before the ball has bounced. Instantly, with a lightning glance, you note your opponent's position, then smash the ball down the centre line or to right or left, or crash it into your opponent's court with such force that on its bounce it soars away at top speed over his head.

In view of the strength with which you strike, the least change of direction leaves your opponent helpless. He has paid the price of his bad stroke and you have had your fun and gained a point.

You can also volley a ball rising quickly from the court provided you are standing square to it. Your range of shots is precisely the same as in the net volley, and their treatment is identical, except that you must play with a closer watch on the net if you wish to clear the obstacle. Endless scoring chances of this type are lost by players smashing the ball into their own side of the net.

The drop volley is a different stroke. The ball has come over close to the net, and somewhat to your disadvantage. You receive it on a rigid or slightly yielding racket held at such an angle that the ball bounces back to your opponent's court. The stroke is seldom a winner, but you have kept the ball in play.

MEMBERS OF LARGE DOPE RING SENTENCED.

PARIS, June 28. The appearance in a Paris police court of one of the largest dope rings exposed in recent years is reported by Paris "Herald." Among the members a paper says, is Count Henry De Baupre, whose wife is former Mrs. Ferris Thompson of Cincinnati. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three months imprisonment and a fine of four thousand francs. The "Herald" says that the leader of the gang, Count de Baupre, who operated from Marseilles, escaped but his Paris agent was sentenced to a prison term. Demanding maximum punishment for members of ring prosecuting attorney described them as a "gang of pleasure loving idlers and persons in high position of life who are doing their best to give France a bad name in the eyes of the world."

U.S. GOVT. TO LOOK AFTER BRITISH INTERESTS.

WASHINGTON, June 28. The United States Government has consented to take charge for the time being of British interests in Mexico, as a result of request that it do so transmitted through British Embassy here. Ambassador Warren, at Mexico has been instructed to this effect and directed to advise Mexican Government of British Government's request.

TORNADO'S VICTIMS.

PEORIA, Ill., June 28. Eight persons were killed and scores injured in a tornado which broke over Peoria and surrounding territory early this morning, according to available reports. The bodies of a woman and her baby were found in a field far from their home at Cleveland and as Morton two are reported killed and many injured.

POSTAL STRIKE OVER.

TORONTO, Ont., June 28. The postal strike here was settled this p.m., according to Postmaster Lemon. The men returned to work around six o'clock. The terms of the settlement are not yet available.

NO CHANGE IN GOVT. ATTITUDE.

OTTAWA, June 28. No change in the attitude of the Government toward the striking postal workers is shown in the letter sent by acting Postmaster General Charles Stewart, to the strike executives in Toronto, it was officially stated here this morning. The letter was reported in a Toronto despatch to be more conciliatory than any yet received.

REDUCING STAFF.

GLACE BAY, June 28. In conjunction with the closing down of the Sydney steel plant for 3 months, it is reported that sweeping reductions are being made in the official and clerical staff of the Dominion Coal Company. The engineering and construction departments are those chiefly affected. As regards the construction department, a large amount of work, which has been in hand for the last couple of years, is about finished. Consequently the services of a number of officials and workers are not now needed in that department. The colliery staffs are not affected to any extent by the proposed reduction. The company gives as a reason for the change the existing depression in trade.

Prohibition in Saskatchewan

TO BE DECIDED BY PLEBISCITE.

REGINA, Sask., June 27 (A.P.)—The eyes of students of prohibition throughout the world are turned on Saskatchewan to see whether this province will follow Quebec, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia in turning to government sale as the best method of dealing with liquor. The question will be before the voters in a provincial plebiscite July 18. The province of Saskatchewan has been dry since 1916. A plebiscite in 1920 continued the dry regime by a vote of 56,949 to 55,259. Last year a petition for sale of liquor under provincial control was denied by the Saskatchewan government. When the province was made dry and when it was kept so, women voted, as they will in July. Quebec has never been dry, but adopted government sale to meet criticisms of the liquor traffic. Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia adopted government dispensaries after trying "bone-dry" prohibition.

British Emigrants

ASSURED OF HOMES AND EMPLOYMENT.

LONDON, June 16 (A.P.)—It is reported that the cabinet has approved an extended scheme of migration from the British Isles to Australia. For some time Senator Wilson, representing the Australian Commonwealth government, has been in consultation with the Overseas Settlement committee on details of the scheme, which includes provision for a loan to Australia of about government in the carrying out of development work as a preliminary to the acceptance of immigrants. The new scheme is based on plans for entire families to go out and settle in Australia, and arrangements will be made in advance to insure that an immediate home and employment be available.

Radical Changes Planned

FOR SWEDEN'S RAILROADS.

STOCKHOLM, (A.P.)—The socializing of all Swedish government railroads, and their operation as an independent business corporation, has been planned by the government socialization committee in a voluminous report just published, which is arousing nation-wide discussion.

The committee recommends that the roads continue to be owned by the government, which is to supply the working capital and to reserve the right of inspection, but that the actual business be continued in general as it is done by private corporations. Thus the wages and salaries of employees would no longer be dictated by the government, but would be agreed upon after bargaining by both sides. The workmen would, naturally, have the right to strike. The programme under the new scheme would be to conduct only such traffic as proves financially profitable, while at the same time only the covering of costs will be aimed at instead of high profits.

The administration of the railroads under the new plan is to be done partly by an assembly of 29 members, and partly by a board of seven directors. Nine members of the assembly are to be chosen by the government, eight by the Riksdag, six by the employees, and six by various outside corporations, which represent public interests. This assembly would elect the board of directors, which make all decisions regarding wages, and tariffs. The assembly is to have full charge of the investment of funds, distribution of profits, purchase or sale of railroad property, etc.

Drink for Long Life

Dr. Raymond Pearl, of Johns Hopkins University, in a report to the National Academy of Sciences at Washington, states that the moderate consumer of alcohol outlives the total abstainer.

Dr. Pearl has compiled tables as the outcome of years of study, showing the definite demarcation in favour of moderate drinkers over abstainers. He shows also that heavy drinkers are the poorest life risk.

The Landing of Field Marshal Earl Haig

The S.S. Caronia bringing Field Marshal Earl Haig arrived in port and dropped anchor in the stream at 7.30 a.m. yesterday. Two hours later, 9.30 a.m., the official landing of the distinguished soldier took place at the King's Wharf. An immense crowd thronged the waterfront and various points of vantage to witness the ceremony. The different Boy's Brigades under separate commanders with bands War Veterans, Scouts, Girl Guides and Mounted Police paraded to appointed stations shortly before 9 o'clock and lined the route to Government House via Cochran Street. Proceeding the landing, Colonel Nangle, President of the G.W.V.A., with Capt. Simpson went out to the Caronia, from which they were transferred with Earl and Lady Haig, Col. Talbot, D.S.O., M.C., A.D.C., and Captain Victor Gordon, High Commissioner, to H.M.S. Constance. From the warship the party came ashore in a cutter. As they neared the landing place a salute was fired from the Constance, a bugle call sounded and the guard of honour consisting of 100 veterans in full marching order which were stationed on the wharf came to attention. When the party reached terra firma, arms were presented and greetings were exchanged with a number of naval officers, following which the Field Marshal inspected the guard of honour. A feature of the guard was "Sailor" a Newfoundland dog in charge of Sergeant Maurice Taylor. "Sailor" behaved admirably, maintaining his dignity even when being patted on the head by the Earl. Following the inspection, the distinguished visitor met and shook hands with the Executive of the G.W.V.A., the Veterans' Week Committee, the Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe, his Lordship Chief Justice Horwood, Mr. A. E. Hickman, leader of the Opposition, Mayor Cook and City Councillors, the American Consul and Vice-Consul, the French Consul, members of the Executive Government, and other distinguished citizens. At the conclusion of the ceremony Colonel Nangle on behalf of the War Veterans presented Lady Haig with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, following which the party boarded the Governor's motor. As they drove off to Government House cheers were called for and given with a will. After the party had reached Government House the various units lining the route attended service at their respective churches.

The Sun May Save You Life!

OUR MEDICAL CORRESPONDENT ON HOW LIGHT HELPS THE DOCTOR.

In this country, and more especially in certain of our cities and manufacturing towns, the hours of bright sunshine are so limited during a large part of the year that we should know how to make the best of it while the spring and summer months permit.

It is only within recent years that the health-giving and curative value of sunlight has come to be generally understood, and the handicap under which the youthful inhabitants of the slums of our smoky and sunless cities labour in respect of growth and normal development realized. In the absence of a sufficiency of pure sunlight such diseases of nutrition as rickets and surgical tuberculosis flourish apace. For sunshine has a profound influence on nutrition.

Rays That Make us Grow.

It is, of course, the light and not the heat of the sun that has the effect. Some of the most striking effects upon the blood can be reproduced by an electric arc-lamp. The light stimulates, feeds the blood, modifies its chemistry, and works other wonders not yet fully understood.

For instance, there are in our blood many millions of tiny floating discs, which are called the blood platelets. These are quite different from the well-known red and white blood corpuscles. They are much smaller, and have not been much heard of outside physiological laboratories. It has been discovered quite recently, however, that if the number of these blood platelets becomes diminished, all kinds of ailments soon develop. The skin becomes blotchy, all kinds of inflammations appear, and illness gradually supervenes.

All this can be prevented by living in the sunlight and eating fresh foods like butter, milk, and eggs, which, of course, owe their virtues originally to the sun. Sunlight is in fact the equivalent of food, and can prevent or cure such a crippling and deforming disease as rickets even when the diet is such as otherwise invariably produces the disease. A measurable equivalence can be indicated between certain doses of sunlight and certain doses of cod-liver oil in their influence on nutrition.

It is the ultra-violet rays which are bundled up with sunlight that do all this. They also stimulate growth. The children of industrial England, or industrial Europe, removed to the sunlight of Australia or the Argentine, put on an extra two inches to their stature in the next generation.

Now one of the remarkable facts about these ultra-violet rays is that it is not actually necessary to apply them directly. If a volume of air is ultra-violet rayed, or if a piece of radium is suspended in it to produce the same effects on the air more immediately, the air itself appears to become curative.

The red and ultra-red, or heat-producing rays of the sun, on the other hand, cause emaciation and depression, and are likely to cause congestion of the lungs, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, and fever. In hot summers undue exposure to intense sunlight is injurious.

It is obvious, therefore, that in order to obtain the many advantages of sunlight care must at the same time be taken to obviate its possible disadvantages. The sun-cure cannot be practised without some knowledge and caution. People must all they have to do is to strip their children or convalescent patients and put them into the blaze of the sun so long as it shines. The rule is to proceed cautiously and by degrees. Begin by exposing the feet only, for only five minutes at a time, to the sunlight, say, three times on the first day; and so, by slow stages, beginning with the limbs, proceed until the whole body can, at the expiry of two weeks, be exposed for about three hours.

A WOMAN WHO IS GAME.

One of the people for whom I feel the very greatest respect whenever I meet her or see her on the street or in the woman who somehow in a bag, in spite of everything, to keep herself up.

You know the kind of woman I mean. She has an elderly father and mother whom she must help to support on her salary as a bookkeeper or teacher and help care for in her spare time; or she is married to a man who earns $30 or $35 a week and has five children to feed and clothe out of that.

She works exceedingly hard. One does not see how she can possibly have any margin of money or time or strength to use for anything that is not absolutely pressing. If she neglected her personal appearance and went about in shabby, untidy clothes, one would say: "Well, you can't blame her. What time or money has she left to spend on herself?"

The Crowning Achievement.

But she doesn't neglect herself. She does her duty by the rest and then crowns it by doing her duty by herself.

Somehow or other she manages to keep herself tidy and attractive. Her shoes are never run down at the heel or lacking in polish. Her nails are never neglected. Her hat may be cheap but it has that touch of smartness that the gifted woman can somehow achieve out of next to nothing and her sister can somehow miss with everything to do with. Her hair is always waved and done in the latest, or at least, the next to latest fashion.

She Always Knows the Latest.

Her suits and frocks and blouses are, perforce, very inexpensive, but they are not dowdy and she always manages to smarten them up with some of the latest accessories—the newest thing in scarfs or the latest thing in handbags or veils.

How she always knows what the latest thing is it would be very hard to tell, but she always does. She can hardly have much time to study the shops or the fashion magazines. I think it must be a sixth sense, perhaps a gift that some fairy godmother who knew this child was going to have a hard row to hoe, bestowed upon her at birth.

Hats Off To Her.

And then she has the gift of wearing her clothes properly. She stands well, she has a self-respecting manner and a certain air of being in the style which gives her distinction.

You know the woman I am describing. Not the individual of course, but the type, for you see her everywhere.

And if you feel about her the way I do you greatly admire the spirit that makes her what she is. She might use the other demands upon her as an excuse but she is too game to do that. She asks no special consideration. She is willing to be measured by the same standards by which women with half her leisure and opportunity are measured. And she stands up to them. Hats off to her I say.

SAILING TO-MORROW.—The American warships, Brooks and Hatsfield, will sail to-morrow afternoon after the Memorial Service. Owing to the fact that America's Independence Day falls on July 4th, it was decided that all three ships would leave. This morning, however, arrangements were made with the American Admiralty to allow the U.S.S. Lawrence to stop over.

Welcome To Our Guests

We extend to Field Marshal Earl Haig and his gracious lady a warm welcome to the shores of Newfoundland...

We can assure our distinguished guests that we are not unmindful of the graceful tribute which is paid to our Island Home by this visit...

We have ever associated with that spot on which the Commander-in-Chief will stand tomorrow, as he unveils the Memorial to our Dead...

Made historic by one of England's famous sailors, the spot will to-morrow be rendered sacred ground by the act of the Empire's most distinguished soldier...

This event will live long in our memories, and as our children and our children's children look at that group of statuary on the King's Beach...

July the First and Its Significance

As each successive July 1st comes round, our thoughts return with mixed emotions to the events which occurred on that memorable day in 1918 at Beaumont Hamel...

Time has dealt kindly with our grief, and while we have not forgotten, and, let us trust, will never forget, those who freely gave their all in order that Right should triumph...

may mourn our illustrious Dead, we would not deprive them of the fame which they achieved nor ourselves of the pride with which we recall their deeds.

To-day Forget Me Not is in the minds of everyone, but think you, this applies to the one day of the year only? Does it refer only to those who sleep beneath the waves or in a soldier's grave in foreign lands?

There are many of them who deserve our sympathy and help; the others but ask that by our treatment of these war-broken heroes we shall show our gratitude to the fallen.

To-day is the day of remembrance; to-morrow when the Memorial, erected by a grateful people to those who laid down their lives in the great struggle is unveiled, we shall doubtless be impressed with the beauty of its design and workmanship...

Hope Ever From the Sea

This morning the Customs Department received the following message from Cape Broyle: "The men adrift in Metagama's boat were picked up by schr. Blonness and transferred to schr. Glaxier which landed them at Cape Broyle this morning."

Caronia's Passengers

The following passengers landed at this port from the R. M. S. Caronia Field Marshal Earl Haig, Countess Haig, Col. Talbot Douglas, Alice Selmer, Thomas Secrett, Donald Simpson, Sir Edgar Bowring, Frederick Bewring, John E. Hope, Margerite Hope, Lady Reid, Mrs. Bennett, Marguerite Berthet, Jesse Baird, Katherine Ryan Edward R. Peel, Henry Thomson, Ashley T. McNab, Dorothy McNab, Captain Victor Gordon, Alice M. Caronia's Outward Passengers

Amongst the outward passengers sailing on R.M.S. Caronia yesterday were: Miss E. Howley, Miss K. Howley, Miss D. White, Mrs. V. E. Legge, Miss M. Kelloway, Mrs. K. R. Hayward, Sister Bernard McEvoy, Sister Francis O'Toole, W. F. Kirkman, J. M. Barbour, and four third class.

Struck by Motor Car

A young lad named Barnes was knocked down by a motor car driven by a man named Anthony Evans, on LeMarchant Road yesterday afternoon, and suffered a deep gash in the face which required several stitches to close. Dr. Roberts attended to the young lad's injuries. An examination showed that he had no bodily injuries.

WELCOME TO EARL AND COUNTESS HAIG

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG.

COUNTESS HAIG.

FIELD MARSHAL EARL DOUGLAS HAIG, K.T., G.C.B., COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE BRITISH FORCES.

We have in our city to-day a man whose name within the course of a few years became a household word throughout the Empire, and the very whisper of which in the line was sufficient to inspire new courage in the hearts of the millions of weary, mud-soaked soldiers under his command in the struggle against the enemy on the Western Front.

Born of an ancient Scottish family in Fife, on the 19th of June, 1861, Douglas Haig adopted the Army as his profession, and in 1885 joined the 7th Hussars. In the Sudan, in 1898, at Albara and Khartoum, the services which he rendered were recognized by honourable mention in despatches, and promotion to the rank of Brevet Major.

He served with distinction throughout the South African War, and was generally recognized as one of the most capable cavalry officers of the day.

For several years following the Boer War, Colonel Haig served in various capacities in the Indian Army. Promoted to the rank of Major General in 1904, and Lieut.-General six years later, he was made a General in the early days of the Great War, as a reward for distinguished service.

The various steps by which he attained to his present position have invariably been due to merit, and when the former Commander-in-Chief, Lord French, resigned in 1915, the choice of a successor was General Haig, a selection which at once met with the united approval of the Army, and of the general public, not only in Britain and her dependencies, but in the allied countries as well.

It is impossible to describe the mountain of work or the weight of responsibility which the Commander-in-Chief accepted with his appointment. Faced by a fighting machine, second to none in numbers and training, and possessed of every kind, and even unknown appliances for the carrying on of modern warfare; at grips with a remorseless enemy, stung to frenzy at being felled of its prey at a moment when an easy victory seemed assured, Sir Douglas Haig found himself with a totally inadequate supply of troops whose training had been completed in the shortest possible time, deficient in artillery, and with the whole organization required by an army in the field still in the making.

One thing however he had in full measure: the cheerfulness and courage with which he undertook his duties found counterpart in the indomitable spirit shown by his men and their readiness to undergo any hardships and face any odds in the performance of theirs.

His worries may have been lessened, but none the less his responsibilities increased as in the course of time the army under his command, grew from a handful to a force more than ten times that of the great Duke of Wellington, one hundred years before.

Of the part played in the greatest struggle in history by Field Marshal Earl Haig, it is unnecessary to make mention, as the story has already been told by many writers; but even in such a brief account as this, to omit a reference to his outstanding act of devotion, would be to show an utter lack of appreciation of his character and his singleness of purpose. At the supreme moment of his distinguished career, and at a time when the many of the earlier difficulties had disappeared and everything gave promise that victory would crown his efforts in the near future, he readily concurred in, and, in fact, was one of the first to suggest, the plan of a united allied command under Generalissimo Foch. Such an action was unique. It was a test seldom applied to anyone, in a similar position, and the superb qualities of the man instantly were revealed in his willing sacrifice of personal ambition to further the cause of Britain and her Allies.

Field Marshal Lord Haig is and will ever remain the outstanding figure among many brilliant men who took part in the Great War, and a grateful country has not been backward in showing him, by the many honors which it has bestowed, that he is a man whom it delights to honor.

Newfoundland, in a less practical manner, perhaps, but with no less devotion and enthusiasm, welcomes the great Commander-in-Chief, and offers him those tributes which are his by right of the gallant and distinguished service which he has rendered, not alone to Great Britain and the Empire, but to the world at large.

LADY HAIG.

The wife of the Commander-in-Chief by accompanying him on his visit to Newfoundland, has given a personal touch to the occasion, and the kind consideration which prompted the act appeals strongly to the sentiment of our citizens. The daughter of the third Lord Vivian, Lady Haig, formerly the Hon. Dorothy Vivian, was in 1905 Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Alexandra. During that time, her first meeting with Major-General Haig took place on the occasion of his visit to Windsor Castle, as the guest of the late King Edward. The gallant soldier who had always been regarded by his friends as a confirmed bachelor, weakened in his resolutions in a short time, and it is said that within the course of a few days he summoned up sufficient courage to confess himself defeated, proposed, and was accepted. Within a month they were married, and their lives since then have been a complete refutation of the old saying that to marry in haste is to repent at leisure. They have four children, a son, George Alexander Eugent, Viscount Dawick, and three daughters.

Lady Haig's activities during the war are well known, and it is sufficient to say that in the work of administering to the wounded and distressed, which was so nobly carried out by the women of Britain, she ably maintained her position as the wife of the Commander-in-Chief.

Yesterday's Commemoration Services

AT THE CITY CHURCHES.

AT THE ANGLICAN CATHEDRAL.

The Memorial Service in the Cathedral was most impressive. A few moments before the appointed hour, Field-Marshal Earl Haig arrived with his Excellency the Governor and suite, and sharp at 11 the Procession entered at the west door, preceded by the Cross bearer, and with the Union Jack carried in the midst, Choir, Clergy, Canons and the Cathedral Chapter followed by the Chaplain (Rev. J. Brinton) and the Bishop slowly wended their way to the Chancel as the Dead March in Saul was played and at its close the flag was placed upon the altar. Canon Jones preached from Joshua XXIV, verse 17: "This stone shall be a witness against us. . . . Lest ye deny your God." In times of difficulty, we all fly to God; in peace the tendency is to go along without God. Our victory in the war might be regarded as a memorial stone, the memory and contemplation of which should prevent us from denying or forgetting our God. At the close of the sermon the C.L.B. Band played God Save the King, and the Bishop gave the Benediction. A naval contingent, the C. of N. members of the Royal Nfld. Regiment, the C.L.B. and the Girl Guides attended this service, and it is probable that the Cathedral was more thronged than at any service since its opening.

AT THE R. C. CATHEDRAL.

A large congregation including the Gaget Corps, members of the band and Old Comrades, Veterans of the Regiments and naval reserve, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts and detachments from the British French and American ships in port attended High Mass (Coram Pontifice) at the R. C. Cathedral. His Grace Archbishop Roche was High Priest with Rev. P. Kennedy and Rev. P. Ryan as deacons of honor. Rev. Dr. Carter and Father McGottigan as deacons of Mass. The Catholic members of the Earl Haig Guard of Honor under Lt. W. Graef were stationed within the Sanctuary, and during the elevation presented arms. A drum roll at the consecration instead of the usual bell added a military touch to the service. It being the feast of St. Peter and Paul the High Altar was beautifully decorated. The Gospel read was taken from Luke XV. 1:10. The choir singing was good and worthy of special mention was the rendition of "Adoro te devote" by Miss Mary Ryan. The preacher, Rev. P. Kennedy took his text from the Apocalypse of St. John, Chap. XVI, verse XIII. The sermon a masterpiece of oratory was very touching in its tender reference to the dead. At the conclusion of the Mass the Guard of Honor presented arms whilst bugler Tilley of the C.C.C. sounded the last post. After which Mr. Hutton, organist rendered Ruydards Kiplings Recessional.

GOWER ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

Gower Street being the Conference Church the pulpit in the morning was occupied by the President, Rev. Ezra Broughton, whose sermon was based on the words, "Neither did Asher drive out Aecho," taken from Judges 1:31. The preacher dealt with the evil that comes from failure to live up to our duties and responsibilities. The service was attended by Veterans, M. G. C. A. Old Comrades, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, and there was a very large congregation. Miss M. Hutehings rendered a delightful solo—"The Lord is My Shepherd." The Dead March in Saul was played by the Organist, Miss Tait, at the conclusion of the service.

AT THE KIRK.

The Commemoration Service at the Presbyterian Church was attended by a very large congregation. The pulpit was occupied by Rev. R. J. Power who preached a powerful sermon appropriate to the occasion his theme being "Righteousness Exalted a Nation." The music by the choir under Organist Chesman was particularly good. At the rendition of the Dead March in Saul the congregation rose and stood in honor of the men who fell in the Great War. A second wreath to the memory of the men of the Highlanders was placed by Lt. Col. W. H. Herder. A number of war veterans and naval men with the Highland Brigade attended the service.

AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The Commemoration Service at the Queen's Road Congregational Church yesterday morning was conducted by Rev. D. L. Nichol the pastor, and was largely attended. A number of returned soldiers were present, besides a squad of Boy Scouts, in charge of Scout Master Hicks who occupied seats in front of the Rostrom. The sermon was a very impressive one. The rev. gentleman spoke simply and briefly, touching on the real lessons taught by Commemoration Day, and the ideals to which it pointed. At the close of the sermon the Org-

Miss Jessie Barnes rendered the Dead March in Saul, while the Congregation stood with bowed heads.

PRO MEMORIA (By Malcolm Parsons.) Sons of the men who made Great Britain Great, Cradled on rugged Isle, and Vikings all, They lifted high the banner of our land And fared them forth to die, at duty's call. They little recked of what the years might bring To each, in wealth or power, in love or fame, They trod the broken road,—passed the "Divide"—And writ on history's page, a noble name. Honor their memory, ye who know their deeds, A greater love than this no man hath known Than that they died that You and I might live. Go! Cut their record clear upon the stone.

The Newfoundland Fencibles. The above is the first monument ever erected to a military force raised in Newfoundland for active service. They numbered one hundred and thirty and were enlisted in 1775 to aid in the defence of Quebec against the attacks of the revolted colonies to the South. The monument stands in Toronto as a lasting testimony to the common sentiment which united and still unites the two dependencies. This is the last day to get your Grand Stand Tickets for Haig Sports.—June 30, 11.

TO-NIGHT'S PRELIMINARIES AT ST. GEORGE'S FIELD.

Owing to the large list of entries in the various events for the big sports day, the committee have decided to run off preliminaries at St. George's Field at 7 o'clock this evening. The following are the events—100, 200 yards, throwing javelin, throwing the hammer, setting shot, high jump, throwing the discus, Newfoundland tug of war, Boy Scouts' Relay. Five crews will participate in the tug-of-war, while eight teams will try conclusions in the Boy Scouts' Relay Race. Competitors entered for the above events are requested to be on the field 7 o'clock sharp.

BIG SPORTS DAY TO-MORROW.

The big sports day, in honor of the visit of Field Marshal Earl Haig takes place at St. George's Field to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 9:30 sharp. All preparations for the successful conducting of the big meet, and the making of the day a real enjoyable one, is now complete, and all that is required is a fine day. A record attendance is forecast. The programme includes sprints, weight-throwing, jumping, tug-of-war, International Relay Race, 10 mile walk, 2 Mile Road Race, display by the Girl Guides, and last, but not least, a number of shows off the warships will be seen in some very good spirits. An interesting feature in connection with the sports, will be the appearance of a number of reputed athletes from the British warship Constance and V.S.R. Lawrence, to compete against the locals. With this in view, the various events promise to be very keenly contested and many of the local records will no doubt be swept by the hands, Earl Haig and Staff are attending. His Excellency the Governor will also be present with leading citizens. Unique programmes have been provided. A feature will be the presence of the massed bands which will render special items during the afternoon.

Earl Haig at G.W.V.A. Headquarters

This morning at 11 o'clock Earl Haig accompanied by Col. Talbot A.D.C. and Capt. A. Donald Simpson met the G. W. V. A. at headquarters, first inspecting a guard of naval and military men representing Newfoundland, who were lined up near the entrance to the building. Following the inspection, the distinguished visitor and party were shown through the different offices by Tom Sec. Capt. G. Whitty. Accompanied by Col. Nangle, Earl Haig next paid a visit to the graves of the Veterans in the Church of England, Mount Carmel, General Protestant, Salvation Army and Belvedere Cemeteries where wreaths were placed on the graves. A drive was then taken to Quidi Vidi and Earl Haig saw the fishing fleet come in and chatted with some of the fishermen amongst whom was an ex-Service man who was captured by the Germans at Cambrai.

Proceedings of the Diocesan Synod

SATURDAY, June 28th.

Pursuant to adjournment, the Synod re-assembled at 2.30 p.m. Prayers were read by the President and the House proceeded to business.

Rev. G. Elliott submitted names for a special committee in connection with the obtaining of data and to formulate some form of insurance scheme upon the plan known as the "mutual" plan and to report at the next session, as follows:—Rev. Canon Jeeves, Rev. A. B. Stirling, Rev. G. Elliott, J. G. Hodder, W. W. Blackall, B.A., D.C., L. C. B. Dicks, with power to add to their number. On being seconded the House agreed.

Rev. Canon Bolt having previously given notice moved that the Executive Committee be given power to consolidate the Constitution and Rules of the Synod. On motion it was agreed.

Rev. Canon Bolt presented the report of the Special Committee appointed at the last session to draft a reply in answer to the kind resolution of greeting from the Methodist Conference, and moved that it be received. On being seconded the report was unanimously adopted, and the Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to convey our greetings to the Conference. The Secretary consented to this and the resolution follows:—

DIOCESAN SYNOD OF Nfld.

We, the Bishop, Clergy and Lay Representatives of the Church of England in Newfoundland in Synod conveyed, gladly and gratefully acknowledge the kind message of greeting from the members of the Methodist Conference, now in session.

We particularly welcome your reference to the historical associations, which carry us back to the time of John Wesley, and to the days before the separation, created by the unfortunate circumstances of that time, which we all to-day regret.

We acknowledge with deep thankfulness to God the noble part you have taken in the work of the Kingdom, and it is a comforting sign of our time, that there are not lacking evidences on all sides of a growing desire on the part of Christian people to repair the breaches of the past. This desire must become greater in proportion to an increase of deepened spirituality and devotion to our Divine Lord.

Those who most truly love and serve Our Lord Jesus Christ are they who most earnestly long that our unhappy division should cease, and who fervently pray for the coming of that day, when we, and all who call themselves Christians, by the guidance of the Holy Spirit, may be obedient to the prayer of the Great Head of the Church, that "all may be one."

WILLIAM NEWFOUNDLAND, President.

GEO. H. BOLT, Clerical Secretary.

Synod Hall, St. John's, June 18, 1924.
Rev. Canon Bayly gave notice that he would on to-morrow move the following resolution:—
"That it is a recommendation to the Board of Directors of the Church of England College

1. That the boarders fees be reduced;
2. That any profits accruing from Boarding fees at Fell Hall be reserved to assist in the continuance of the Education of boys who desire to be trained for the Sacred Ministry."

The House having discussed for some time the question of the Synod expressing its approval of the establishment of a proposed Junior University College in conjunction with the Normal School, through the Carnegie Foundation, supported by Government Funds, it was moved by Mr. A. B. Martin, lay delegate for Hear's Content, and seconded by Rev. A. E. Butler that the question of the Junior University College in connection with the Normal School be referred to the Executive Committee and the Diocesan Standing Committee on Education and that they be given full power to deal with the matter on behalf of the Synod. The House concurred.

Dr. Blackall moved the following resolution of which he had given notice yesterday, viz:—

The Synod is of opinion that in order to make the Diocesan Budget a success, the appointment of a Field Missionary, organizing Secretary to spend the whole of his time in the field, is a necessity and urges upon the Executive Committee the extreme importance of such an appointment at the earliest possible date.

The Synod suggests that an effort should be made to obtain the funds required for such an appointment for one year by some special means rather than that they should be taking from the Synod moneys.

It further recommends that to begin with the appointment be made for one year. On being seconded the House unanimously agreed.

Dr. Blackall moved the following resolution of which he had previously given notice, that "The Synod is deeply grateful to the Lay Readers of the Diocese for the liberal services rendered by them during the past two years and prays that God may bless their work and give to them happiness and that copies be sent to them by the Secretary-Treasurer."

The motion being seconded the House agreed by acclamation.

His Lordship the Bishop nominated the following to act as a "Mission of Help" Committee in accordance with the resolution of Rev. E. A. Tulk, passed at yesterday's session:—His Lordship the Bishop, Rev. E. A. Tulk, R. D. Canon Bolt, Rev. Canon Jeeves, Rev. E. J. R. Nichols, Rev. A. B. Stirling, J. B. Elliott, with power to add to their number.

His Lordship the Bishop intimated that he had appointed the following as his nominee to serve on the Diocesan Board of Religious Education appointed yesterday—Lady Horwood, Rev. Canon Field, Dr. W. W. Blackall, Mr. H. S. Hayward.

His Lordship the Bishop nominated the following to serve on the Diocesan Board of Missions:—Rev. Canon Smart, Rev. W. R. J. Higgin, Rev. J. B. Elliott, with power to add to their number.

Rev. Canon Bayly moved his resolution in relation to boarding fees at Fell Hall of which he had given notice previously in this session, which on being seconded was approved.

Rev. F. P. Law asked leave to withdraw his bill to amend Chapter XVI of the Constitution and Rules, His Lordship the Bishop having given him his assurance that the principles for which he was contending would receive the fullest consideration by the Executive Committee. The House agreed.

His Lordship the Bishop assented to the following bills which have been passed at the present session of the Synod.

A bill to create a Budget Fund; a bill to amend Chapter XVII of the Constitution and Rules (Home and Foreign Mission Fund.)

The following notes of thanks were duly proposed and seconded and carried by acclamation of the House.

To His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardyce for their kindness in entertaining the members of the Synod and their lady friends to the Garden Party held at Government House on Friday.

To His Lordship the Bishop for the courteous, kindly, patient and impartial manner in which he had presided at the sessions of the Synod.

To the Hosts and Hostesses who had so kindly entertained the clergy while in the city.

To the Girl's Friendly Society for the use of their rooms.

To the daily press for the space which they had so very kindly devoted to the doings of the Synod, and for the paper supplied to the House for the use of members.

To the official reporter for the excellent reports he had prepared of the work of the Synod.

To the Clerical and Lay Secretaries for the able manner in which they had discharged their very onerous duties. On motion proposed and seconded

June 28, 21

It was agreed that the House take recess for 15 minutes to allow the minutes of this session to be written up in order that they may be approved and signed.

On resuming the minutes of the session were read by the Secretary and approved and signed by his Lordship.

The session closed by the singing of the Doxology and the Blessing of the Bishop.

Abie's Irish Rose To-Night

FOR NAVAL VISITORS AND G.W.V.A. MEMBERS.

The cast which produced Abie's Irish Rose with such successful results have offered their services to reproduce this excellent Comedy at the Casino Theatre to-night for our Naval visitors and G.W.V.A. members. The show will commence at 9 o'clock and a cordial invitation is extended to all naval visitors and G.W.V.A. members. There will be no admission fee. Dr. Howlett, Mr. Hutton and talented class are to be congratulated on the splendid spirit they have shown in the production of Abie's Irish Rose.

Riding for a Fall

London Daily Mail: The country does not understand what the Liberals want, and at present does not believe that they know themselves. They asked it for votes to keep the Socialists out, and the first purpose for which they used those votes was to put the Socialists in. The consequence has been the practical disappearance of Liberalism as a factor in the recent by-elections. In the Abbey division it could secure only 221 votes out of 22,800 cast and in the Kevingrove division only 1,372 out of 28,000. The Liberal Party has capable leaders in such men as Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Lord Grey and Sir John Simon. It has also an influential Press. But if it continues to subordinate itself to a party which it has denounced as a menace to liberty it will fade away, as it is at present doing.

Thrills on Alpine Peaks

THE POPE ON HIS MOUNTAINEERING ADVENTURES.

The Pope, as most people are no doubt aware, is a mountaineer of distinction; but the true nature of the remarkable and adventurous climbs which he has carried out in the Alps has just been disclosed by the publication of a book, "Climbs on Alpine Peaks" (Fisher Unwin), in which his Holiness relates some of his exploits. On one occasion the Pope and his party had to spend two night out on the mountains. The occasion was the ascent of Monte Rosa, in the Alps, from the Italian side. On the journey up the mountain-side one of the party lost his axe. He was afterwards obliged to use his hands on the cold rocks and the snow, with the result that his gloves were soon torn to pieces and his hands were so frostbitten that it was many months before he was cured.

Frozen Wine and Eggs.
After reaching the summit the climbers were forced to spend the night on a projecting rock, and the Pope declares:—

"The spot where we were was not, indeed, one of the most comfortable. . . . On the other hand, it was perfectly safe for anyone who was reasonably sure of himself, though it was extremely small. Anyone sitting down found his feet dangling in space; we had, however, every facility for stamping them, provided we were careful not to lose our balance. . . . The cold was intense; without being able to reckon the exact degree, I may mention that our coffee was frozen hard, and our wine and our eggs resembled it, in that they were neither respectively drinkable nor eatable."

Before the party succeeded in reaching safety they had to spend the following night also on the mountain-side. The Pope, in this connection, declares that whole nights have been passed with impunity on the very summit of the Matterhorn, and even on Mont Blanc.

It was in the course of this expedition that the Pope visited the gold-mines at Pestarena, which are worked by British Capital.

A Striking Tribute.

"It is noteworthy," the author remarks, "how the English, with their practical ability and characteristic courage, contrive to employ profitably considerable capital in the most inhospitable parts of Italy. . . . I say considerable capital, not only on account of the importance of the works and the number of men employed, but also (to the praise of the English, be it said) because of the liberality with which they ensure the safety of our workmen."

The Pope, by the way, when a small boy, first heard the English language spoken on the Alps, and the party consisted of a Church of England clergyman and his family. He was immediately fascinated with the sound of the strange language. He had just been reading Milton's "Paradise Lost" in an Italian version, and soon made up his mind to learn the English language in order to read the great masterpiece of literature in the original.

Complaint That Attacks Climbers.
The author also describes his conquest of the Matterhorn and Mont Blanc, and adds that mountaineering is not a breakneck pursuit, but merely a question of prudence and of a little courage, of love of Nature and her most secret beauties.

Perhaps the most frequent complaint which mountaineers experience is frostbite, and the Pope gives the principal points of the treatment, which, he says, is alternate massage with snow and compresses of spirits of camphor, followed by bandaging with cotton-wool and india-rubber. Another form of treatment which is often adopted by doctors in Alpine centres, and which is usually successful, was seen by the Pope to effect a complete cure in the case of a friend, though it was applied after two days' delay and though the patient's condition was very serious. This treatment consists of continual compresses of spirits of camphor, as well as vaseline and baths of cold salt water.

British Historians Coming

London, June 10 (A.P.)—The Senate of the University of London has appointed three representatives to the Anglo-American conference of professors of history to be held in December at Richmond, Va. They are Professors A. F. Pollard, R. W. Seton-Watson and Hubert Hall.

Germans go to England for Instruction in Music

Cologne, June 8 (A.P.)—Germans make player pianos in large numbers, but mostly for export, and admit they do not know how to play them successfully. In the hope of creating a home market, certain interested persons have arranged for an English expert on these instruments to give a series of concerts in the bigger cities. Music teachers are correspondingly dismayed.

Going Back to Eden!

PEOPLE WHO WANT TO LEAD PRIMITIVE LIVES.

A curious family was discovered on the outskirts of the Mississippi Jungle the other day. It was composed of a real-life "Tarzan," his wife and their baby girl.

The man had lived alone in the woods until he was over forty, when he found the woman who became his wife caught in a bear trap. This modern Adam and Eve continued their queer life together for years. They lived on roots, wild fruit, and game. Their adventures included fights with wild beasts. They were only driven back to civilization for a time by heavy floods which made their jungle home uninhabitable.

Living in a Cave.

Several couples, of late, have tried to live an absolutely simple life. As an experiment, a married couple went to live on a deserted island off the coast of Scotland.

They purposely deprived themselves of all civilized implements and their home was a cave. The experiment was a failure and each was glad to get back to powder puffs and pipes.

Another married couple achieved fame in America by going into the woods to live just like Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden. They selected a piece of virgin wilderness, into which they plunged without clothes, although they made wearing apparel from tree bark and skins. Their food was composed of fish and small game which they caught with primitive snares. The experiment failed, however, through the couple's quarrelling, and ended in the divorce courts.

Cases of single men leading primitive lives are fairly common. Perhaps the most romantic of these "wild" men is a British descendant of one of the Bounty mutineers. He divides his time between several lonely Pacific islets and shuns all human society. Some of these islets are many miles apart, and, as he has no boat, it is believed that he swims every bit of the way when "nitting."

There is at least one case of a white woman renouncing civilization. This was an English girl who emigrated to Australia and took a situation as cook on a farm in the bush. There she met her future husband. He was a full-blooded aborigine belonging to one of the most primitive races in the world. The couple married and went to live in the bush, where the woman has become aboriginal in everything but colour. She declares herself perfectly happy.

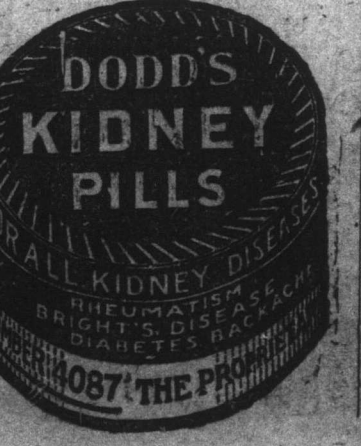

From time to time a queer sect of "Adamites" has appeared which holds that salvation lies in shunning civilization and living just as Adam did.

Lord Mayor of London on Church Assets

"While people in London were talking of pulling down some of their fine old City churches, they in Harrow were working hard to build up a church which was already beautiful," said Sir Louis Newton, Lord Mayor of London, recently.

"A good church was a good asset to a community. It was a witness for God; it was a challenge to the faithful in every succeeding generation that they should maintain and adorn the fabric and seek to extend the beneficent influence which emanated from it. It was a remonstrance to the careless that they should no longer ignore the fundamental fact of life—the eternal existence of God."

Methodist Conference

SATURDAY, June 29th.

The report of the Sustentation Fund (Home Missions) showed receipts by districts of balance $1,000: St. John's, $607; Carbonear, $235; Bonavista, $152; Wesleyville, $138; Twillingate, $234; Grand Falls, $152; Burn's, $145. A total of $1,673.00.

The expenditure to supply deficits, the salaries of Home Missionaries was:

Pouch Cove ..... $154.00
Clarks Beach ..... 39.00
Harbour Grace ..... 290.00
Victoria ..... 162.00
Freshwater ..... 390.00
Western Bay ..... 40.00
Lower Island Cove ..... 46.00
Old Perlican ..... 340.00
Hants Harbour ..... 34.00
Fortune ..... 117.00

$1,673.00

Rev. Dr. W. H. Heertz conducted the devotional service. He took as his subject the "Person and Work of the Holy Spirit." A very fine attendance testified to the deep impression made by the speaker in his two previous addresses. A beautiful illustration from the life of the great sculptor Canova showed how the doctrine of the Holy Spirit fitted all the other doctrines of Christianity.

Another illustration from the handling of artillery, showed the need of the fire of the Spirit of God. Once more an illustration from Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress emphasized the need of communion. Under the spell of the measured words, each one distinctly pronounced by individual syllables, the reporter momentarily forgot his duty. The things said were so simple that a special view of the Holy Spirit was made clear by the story of the goldsmith who told his customers that he could tell when the silver was pure when it reflected his face. So would men be purified by the fire of the Holy Spirit only when they reflected the face of God. Men, especially Ministers, need to meditate upon the vision of the sixth Chapter of Isaiah. Men who have seen the vision and whose lips are touched, are the only men who can say I will go. Here am I send me.

The Conference was carried to the very foot of the throne of God as they sang to the tune Lyngham:—

Come, Holy Spirit heavenly Dove,
With all thy quickning powers,
Come shed abroad the Savior's love
And that shall kindle ours.

A lively discussion took place of Missionary matters. An objective of $30,000 was finally adopted, with no restrictions on Missions such as had caused the discussion.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
A letter was ordered to be sent to their Excellencies thanking them for the delightful entertainment of Friday afternoon.

The Educational Committee reported a decrease of about $100 and total receipts of about $900. This is a poor showing, when it is remembered that Newfoundland has and always must have a very large number of probationers.

The report of the General Conference Commission was read. The bureau of publicity was especially interesting. It provides a telegraphic "fimsy" daily for the Canadian Press and articles for clipping weekly to all dailies in Canada and quarterly for 700 weeklies.

The name of Harry Coole of Bonavista was added to the number of candidates for the Ministry. He is a B.A. of Mt. Allison and has had a year at the Boston School of Theology.

Rev. Sidney Bennett read the Pastoral Address. As it will appear in full on Thursday no further comment is needed here. One striking sentence will illustrate its vigor and invite perusal of the whole document. "The magnificent victory achieved at the polls by noble courage and righteous determination has been definitely defeated by the corrupt efforts of legislators."

CONFERENCE SUNDAY.
At Gower Street.
The pulpit in the morning was occupied by the President, Rev. Ears Broughton.

In the evening the preacher was Rev. Millson, representing the Social Service and Moral Reform Department of the Church. He is a dynamic force in the pulpit, and his sermon last night was very effectively delivered.

ed. "Be not confronted to this world, but be ye transformed," from Roman 12:2, was the text. By simple and effective illustration the preacher showed what was meant by conforming and transforming, and emphasized the need of the transforming power of Jesus Christ in the human soul.

At Cochrane Street.
The Love Feast at 10 a.m. was led by Rev. W. H. Doitchon. One of those present was remarking that the little he had been able to accomplish when a brother who is one of the pillars of Cochrane Street rose and testified that 51 years ago under the preaching of the last speaker he had been led to a decision to live the Christian life.

Dr. Liddy's sermon in the morning was especially suitable to the Sunday of Commemoration. The text was so odd that every one was to attention at once and as several good-church workers had never heard of it, it may be as well to remind the whole public that Genesis 4-23 reads:—"And Lamech said unto his wives, Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice; ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my speech; for I have slain a man for wounding me and a young man who hurt me." Here was the spirit of Militarism and the context showed that the arts and industries were only appreciated as they assisted in war. In the same generation as was Lamech, namely sixth from the family of Adam, was Enoch who walked with God and was not for God took him. These two policies are in the world to-day. The interest roused at the start of this convincing address was never lost. Captain Ayre's troop of scouts were on church parade at this service.

In the afternoon the President and Secretary of Conference directed the union service, Gower and Cochrane Street Schools. Gower Street school some 300 strong marched from one church to the other. Mr. Strothard exhibited another aspect of his versatility and told a football story, and a kind act and several other stories so as to hold the attention of the most restless. The group of stories illustrated the "laws of service to our Heavenly King as on that day they were commemorating the services given to the empire.

At night old fashioned Methodists were carried back to the days of the fathers. The oldest person in the building (he is 83) was the preacher and for any lack of vigor of language, or gesture or convincing appeal he might have been a David going out to his first battle. It was a wonderful exhibition of vitality. It was a heart warming demonstration of unquenchable fire. It was a note of distinct spirituality. It was as one who had climbed to the topmast truck of a ship caught in a dense surface fog seeing the harbour headlands over the fog and directing those on deck how to shape the course. The text was the one word "Inasmuch" from Matthew 25.

The special feature of the day included a solo by Miss Pike in the anthem, "Lord I have loved the habitation of thy dwelling." Mr. Wylie's solo "Crossing the Bar," and Mr. Hatcher and Miss Pike in "Hark, Hark my Soul." "I heard the voice of Jesus say" was the other anthem. In the afternoon Miss Milley read beautifully a Missionary piece about the result of faithfulness in a small duty.

At Wesley.
At the morning service of Wesley Church, Rev. J. W. Winsor delivered a very forceful and inspiring sermon which was based on the text, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." In beginning the preacher showed that one of the greatest desires of human nature is for an easy life. Jesus was appealed to by the same desire as seen in the recorded temptations. To have catered to that desire would have diverted Him from the true path of duty. Christ came, the preacher declared, not to make life easy but to make men great. Unto Christ goodness was never a negative. It was not enough to be good; one must be good for something. Greatness was not Matthew's ceasing to be a tax gatherer; but a man of mighty living force for righteousness. So in the case of Paul, J. B. Gough, Moody and others. The purpose to make men great is a divine purpose, and Christ manifested Himself on behalf of man's best interests, and in attaining our best Christ had no sympathy with ease and slothfulness. Man must encounter obstacles, meet the dominating reverse forces and conquer. Christ helps men to face their circumstances and to become victorious. He does not withhold men from duty. Jesus' idea was to take the field and save humanity. If the Kingdom of our Lord is to be consummated we need to be thoroughly devoted to His cause at all costs and sacrifice. The call is for men of faith, men who will transform the seemingly impossible with opportunity for service.

The evening service was one of Thanksgiving. During the past year under the auspices of the Trustee Board, a drive was undertaken to liquidate the full amount of indebtedness of the Church. This was successfully accomplished and at last night's service the documents representing a debt of $10,500 were destroyed by seven representatives of the Trustee Board and the Pastor. The preacher for the occasion was Rev. Dr. Liddy, of Sackville, N.B., who took for his text St. John, 19-17, "And Jesus bearing his cross went forth." The subject of the discourse was "The task of the Christian Church," which the speaker outlined as follows: 1. To understand the message of Jesus of Nazareth; 2. To develop and protect child life; 3. To emphasize the importance of ideals and sentiments; 4. To combat materialism, practical and theoretical. Dr. Liddy is an attractive speaker, and his sermon was inspiring and uplifting.

The Man in the Moon
OLDEST SUPERSTITION IN THE WORLD.

We all feel very wise nowadays as we relate tales of its lonely old male inhabitant to the young. Our wisdom, based as it is upon maps and photographs and scientific theories, is, however, of very recent origin. The moon, for generations, was the greatest mystery of mankind—greater even than the sun. When Galileo, in 1609, first turned his telescope upon the moon, he created throughout Europe a much greater sensation than did Columbus when he discovered America.

Till then the scientific men had believed in Aristotle's theory, that the moon is a perfectly smooth and round body, its markings being the continents of the world, reflected, as in a mirror.

Everyone else explained away the mysterious marks with myths. There is nothing more remarkable in history than the strange resemblances which exist between the explanations given by different races.

Eternal Isolation.
Almost all of them interpreted the marks as men, they all seemed to regard him as one who, on account of a crime, was condemned to eternal isolation on the moon. He was, indeed, a horrible example to young and old alike.

In European countries the story generally had a so-called Biblical significance. In England, it was Moses who found a man gathering sticks on the Sabbath, and expelled him to the moon. The reference seems to be a passage in the fifth chapter of Numbers, but the resemblance is only slight.

A Peasant's Punishment.
In France, the man in the moon is none other than Judas Iscariot, and the wood a load which he must carry always as a punishment.

The earliest English record appears in the writings of a St. Albans monk. It is a slight variation of the usual theme:—

A rustic in the moon,
Whose burden weighs him down,
This changeless truth reveals,
He profits not who steals.

The German version dealt with a peasant who was reprimanded by an angel for gathering faggots on a Sunday. He replied, "Sunday, on earth, or Monday, in heaven, it is all the same to me." For this he was sent to an eternal moon-day in heaven.

Origin of Jack and Jill.
An unique version is the Scandinavian. It attracted the attention of the late Rev. Baring-Gould, who traced it to its origin. In Norway, not

McDonald, president of the Montreal Harbor Commission. They were met at Lachine by Emile Deoust, Dr. Milton Hervey, and general manager T. W. Harris of this port. Motoring to the Fitz-Carlton for luncheon, the party then proceeded to an inspection of the harbor. Later they were entertained at dinner at the residence of Dr. McDonald. Premier W. L. Mackenzie King being present. The U.S. members of the party left later on the "Washingtonian."

Matter of Time.
"The problem before our countries," said Mr. Hoover, "is not whether this waterway shall be constructed. That is inevitable. It is whether it shall be done to-day or fifty years hence. The population around the Great Lakes basin is now 42,000,000 and it will be doubled. This project has such manifest advantages for them that Montreal and New York might well make up their minds that some day they will see a 35-foot channel to the Great Lakes. Canadian Government engineers have so far contributed more to the solution of the problems involved than have their conferees in the United States."

"The scheme involves the whole lake system, and the changes to be made in handling water, whether for power or transportation, the handling and adjusting of the Chicago drainage problem and the prevention of the lowering of the lake levels."

Commission Personnel.
The members of the commission are Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, chairman; William C. Breed, attorney at law, New York City, former president, New York Merchants Association; James P. Goodrich, Winchester, Ind., former governor of Indiana; James E. Davidson, Bay City, Mich., vice-president, American Shipbuilding Co., Bay City; Charles L. Allen, Worcester, Mass.; James E. Howard, Chicago, former president, American Farm Bureau Federation; James D. Noonan, American Federation of Labor; Stephen B. Davis, Washington, D.C., Counsel and Chas. P. U.S. SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HERBERT HOOVER, PREDICTS 35-FOOT CANAL.
The pressure of the constantly increasing population around the Great Lakes ensures the eventual attainment of the St. Lawrence waterway and power project no matter what opposition may develop in Montreal and New York. This is the opinion of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce for the United States and chairman of the U.S. St. Lawrence Commission, as expressed during his tour to Montreal in the steamer "Elle-Hugh Allan." With the commission were the U.S. advisory engineers and several engineers of the Canadian Government, together with Dr. W. L.

Important Facts About Buick.

In 1923 Buick sold 218,236 motor cars for which the public paid $302,752,360, not including U.S. tax or freight.

Since the introduction of its 1924 models, Buick has broken all production records, including its own, for the manufacture of fine motor cars.

The Buick Motor Company is now well on its way to the manufacture of its two-millionth motor car—a record unapproached by any other manufacturer of fine automobiles.

Buick has held first choice of space at the National Automobile shows for six consecutive years—an honor awarded to the manufacturer member of the N.A.C.C. with the largest volume of business.

Do you realize that Buick and practically all other fine car makers in America and Europe include four-wheel brakes as standard equipment? To-day Four-Wheel brakes are as essential to safety as lights and a horn.

After using four-wheel brakes you will never go back to a car without them.

Why does Buick use four-wheel brakes on all models? Because they provide the greatest safety for the owner and his family.

California to Ask Rulers of Spain

TO CROSS ATLANTIC.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—(A.P.)—Plans have been made for an international pilgrimage to one of the cradles of civilization on the Pacific Coast of the United States, the spot near Monterey, Cal., where Father Junipero Serra, the first Spanish padre, landed and established the first mission in California, in 1770.

The celebration, to be centered in the restored chapel of Carmel Mission, will begin October 12 and last a week. Those to whom special invitations will be issued will include the king and queen of Spain, the Spanish ambassador at Washington, the president of Mexico, and a number of other noted Spaniards and Mexicans.

The ancient Spanish mission overlooks the Pacific ocean. The body of Father Serra is buried beside the altar in the chapel, but during the observance the coffin will be removed, in the course of a memorial service, and placed in a beautiful sarcophagus, which is being completed by Jo Mora, the sculptor. In his studio at Pebble Beach, Cal. The sarcophagus will be unveiled at an elaborate ceremony on October 12, the Sunday that will mark the centennial of the peasant.

Thousands are expected to gather for the celebration. In addition to the religious services, there will be music, dances and entertainments, typical of the period represented. The fiestas, fandangoes, barbecues and mission plays that characterized the Spanish occupation of California will be reproduced faithfully.

Father Serra is credited not only with founding a spiritual heritage for his people in the new land, and with administering to many of their peculiar needs, but also with planting the first fax in western America. During the observance the flags of Spain, Mexico and the United States will fly together over the historic custom house of Monterey. A prevailing note will be the costumes of the old mission days, a period that survives to-day in the geographical names and type of architecture of California.

Laura Bride Powers, an art critic, is announced as the originator of the pilgrimage and pageant. The details were first made public from San Carlos church in Monterey by Father Ramon M. Mastres.

Daughter of British Premier

WINS PRAISE FROM SOCIETY.

LONDON, June 23.—(A.P.)—Isabel MacDonald, the premier's daughter, is winning commendation from society people for the way she has met the whirligig of royal ceremonies and stately hospitalities. Her simplicity and modesty have brought her through, says one commentator; she models herself on no one and is just Isabel.

She is said to be developing into quite a society beauty too, but at the same time maintains the freshness and directness of the quiet Scottish girl, and is without the artificial mannerism of many of London's society girls.

AT HOME.

The road seems long to-day, but at the end They wait to welcome me: There, when I've turned the bend, And a smile I'll see. And none shall turn away in scornful pride— Only by strangers is man's best dealt.

Others have laughed because my pace is slow. But when I reach the gate They shall run up as though they do not know.

That I'm not great; Strangers may jeer, but soon a little shall about with glee and snuggle in my lap.

Shabby my garments now and sadly soiled.

But what is dress? She knows it is for her that I have toiled.

And her carous Will fall as softly on my cheek to-night.

As though I wore soft linen, spotless white.

Richer you are perhaps in gold and fame.

Prize men you pass; But when the night comes down you cannot claim.

Whate'er your class, A truer welcome from your own you shall wait.

Than that which mine shall give me at my gate.

Marquesans Perish Because They Ignore Rules of Health

Honolulu, June 3 (A.P.)—The rapid depopulation of the Marquesans, those romance-hued islands to the south, was explained here recently at a Pan-Pacific club luncheon by H. M. Hubbard, of Paris, who has traveled extensively in the South Seas.

In 1824 the population of the group was 20,000 Marquesans, but in 1857 this had dropped to 12,000 and in 1877 the number had fallen to 6,000. In 1911, when last actual statistics were compiled, the population was 3,117. At present there are only between 1,000 and 1,200 people in the islands, of whom not more than 500 are Marquesans, Mr. Hubbard declared.

The reason for the decrease, the speaker said, was in the Marquesans' apparent lack of care for their health, their fear of foreign doctors, and their reliance upon "kahunas" or native medicine men. The natives insist upon sleeping with their heads wrapped up, regardless of whether other parts of their body are exposed. A native with consumption wraps himself up with his wife and a child or two, thus spreading his disease.

Swedes Find New Process

TO DERIVE OIL FROM SHALE.

STOCKHOLM, June 20.—(A.P.)—A total of 245,000,000 tons of fuel oil can be derived from Sweden's deposits of bituminous shale, according to estimates of engineers published in connection with the announcement that production of shale oil is about to begin on a large scale at Kinnekulle.

Since Sweden is entirely dependent on imports for her coal and petroleum, for many years attention has been directed to the economic importance of finding some way of producing fuel from her vast deposits of alum shale.

A highly satisfactory solution has been reached by two Swedish engineers and the considerable quantities of oil which they have already produced has been tested practically by the Swedish navy on oil-burning vessels and by various industrial establishments. The results show that shale oil can compete successfully with all except the more refined grades of petroleum oil.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES.

June 28th.—Abroad betimes, and to the office where little work to be done and everywhere the greatest scarcity of news such as I have seldom seen it for so many days together. Mr. Pryn tells me how the boat that was lost from the Metagama is now found but no sign of the men that were in her and are like, I think, to be drowned, albeit some small hope that a passing boat did rescue them. To Water Street, where meetings Povey, to fall into discourse of divers matters and learn from him how there is another suspension from the Customs and is an old employee that was there these many years past. My wife mighty anxious to be abroad early to-morrow and naught will do her but that she must see my Lord Haig, his landing, which I must promise that I shall arrange for her.

June 29th (Lord's Day).—Up very betimes and to the King's Wharf, where a large crowd, and great parade of soldiers and brigades to see the landing of my Lord Haig from the Caronia. Everything done mighty punctual, and is the first time of my seeing any public affair thus conducted. My lord do seem very quiet and did not appear to me to dislike his appearance in the public eye. He very like his portraits and indeed the very essence of a soldier, and is says my wife, the finest man that ever she looked upon, which is indeed the poorest compliment to me and I did tell her so. Lady Haig also like her portraits, and is indeed mighty handsome. Anon, with my wife, to the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, and the greatest crowd there, more than ever before. My Lord Haig and the Governor there with their ladies, and many officers of the Navy, among other Captain Campbell of the Constance, that is son-in-law to Sir J. Outerbridge. Canon Jeeves makes a brief sermon, very fine, and the service mighty impressive. Talking awhile to-day with Mr. Russell that is Minister of Works he tells me how he has every hope of a big victory for Mr. Bennett and himself in Harbour Grace.

Courtesy Appreciated

The Captain and Agents of the Cunard liner Caronia wish to express their appreciation of the courtesies extended to them by Messrs. H. V. Hutchings, S. LeMessurier, O'Neill and Funderburk, the Customs officials, who facilitated the prompt dispatch of the ship yesterday morning by going aboard and arranging matters in connection with her clearance.

Lloyd Extracts Tooth—Its the Giant's Vow

All the dentists in the world never got as many laughs out of pulling a tooth as Harold Lloyd does in "Why Worry", his latest contribution to the screen, which may well proclaim the best farce they have seen on the silvernet or on the stage, for that matter.

John Assen, the eight foot nine giant who plays with Lloyd in this picture, is the comedian's tooth pulling victim, and there is a laugh in this sequence for every foot of the giant's great body.

You will have to see this episode in "Why Worry" to appreciate how funny it is, for in the five pre-views of the Lloyd picture on the Pacific Coast, audiences were convulsed by it.

It is doubtful if the average human being could stand the severest test to which Assen was put while losing a troublesome molar, yet it was a minor event for this great bulk of humanity who weighs close to 500 pounds.

This sequence is a high light of "Why Worry" for it establishes the giant as Lloyd's friend and makes him an important factor in the revolutionary scenes which follow.

"Why Worry" is Lloyd's biggest production. It is his best. An entire South American town was reconstructed for the picture, and more than a thousand extras were employed in the big battle scenes. It is a Pathe comedy and will be shown Wednesday at the Nickel Theatre.

Caronia Here and Gone

The R. M. S. Caronia, Capt. E. J. Diggle, R.D., R.N.R., arrived from Liverpool via Belfast at 7.30 yesterday morning after a passage of 4 1/2 days. Fine weather was met with throughout the trip. On arrival the ship anchored in the stream, following which the Furness Withy tug "Hugh D." proceeded alongside and transferred her passengers for this port to the shore. The Caronia is a steel twin screw of 19,877 gross and 10,305 net. Her dimensions are 550 feet long, 72.2 feet beam and 49.2 feet beam. She was built in 1905 by Messrs. J. Brown and Company, Clydebank and is owned by the Cunard S. S. Company. The ship had on board 221 cabin and 319 third class passengers, of which 52 cabin and 20 third class passengers were landed here. The Caronia continued the voyage from here for Montreal at 10.30 a.m.

Big Haig Week Attractions

TENOR VOCALIST WILL SING NATIONAL ANTHEMS FEATURING "RULE BRITANNIA."

The patriotic citizens and visitors to St. John's will admit that the Majestic management have answered the patriotic spirit of all when the splendid bills which will be offered during this very important week will be reviewed, one of the principal attractions will be the singing of Mr. Ben Reddin, Boston's popular Tenor vocalist will appear twice each night and on each occasion sing the British, French and American National Anthems. Mr. Reddin has specially prepared "The Star Spangled Banner" "The Marseillaise" and "Rule Britannia" the last mentioned will be specially featured in a manner which will evoke favorable comment. Tonight's attraction is a very appropriate one and patrons will be particularly pleased with the programme. Which will be repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday. Special attention will be given by the ushers and attendants to visitors in the city. The feature photoplay is a strong subject, entitled "Innocence in Ruth," in which the delightful Viola Dana is starred. The programme is an exceptionally good one and is in keeping with festivities that will mark the visit of Earl and Countess Haig to Newfoundland.

Sachem From Liverpool

At Star Movie To-Day

Welsh-Pearson's Funniest and Rummest of All English Comedies. "TAKE ME BACK TO BRIGHTON" "Tiddle-Idley-Ighty." With Betty Balfour and Hugh E. Wright. CHEERIO! It's the story of a Squis, the prettiest flower girl in London; Sam 'Opkins, the funniest blighter in blighty, and P. C. Chas. Lee, the copper from Piccadilly Circus. These two blokes and a gal win the famous Calcutta Sweepstake, £20,000.

VOILA! 'Ere they are in Paris, imagine that rummy chappy, Sam 'Opkins on the boulevard where the pretty gals wink an eye and say: "Kiss mama, kiss papa, oo la la Meisic 'Okins." PIP-PIP It's the rummiest, cheeriest, funniest English comedy that ever came over from England. Surpasses "Me and My Gal," "Better Ole," and all others. "Tiddle-Idley-Ighty, two blokes and a gal from Blighty became two cents and a lily—good-bye Blighty. In London, England, people stood in line six nights in succession to see this wonderful comedy. Come early and avoid the crowds.

YOUR GIRL

Will take a real interest and make a success of the fine art of cooking if you provide her with the necessary equipment at home. Just because her grandmother used an old-fashioned coal stove is no reason why the young generation should be burdened down with it. If your kitchen is equipped with a "SMOOTHTOP" VULCAN GAS RANGE, fitted with a Modern Heat Regulator, perfect results are certain.

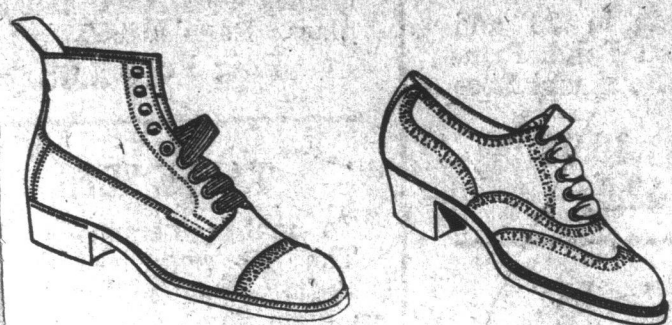

Try this recipe for NUT BREAD: 4 cups flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup English walnuts, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add the chopped nuts. Add milk and well beaten eggs. Put in two buttered pans and let stand 20 minutes. Set your oven heat regulator at 375 degrees and bake for 20 minutes.
