THE BIG DRUMMER

By E. V. Williams, in Rod and Gun.

Quit! Quit! Quit! Quit!

There was a slight rustle in the brush off to the left and all was still again.

The Mongrel was a good bird dog—he was sure—but right about here he most always got food; and this time was no exception to the rule. He stood with one foot uplifted testing the air with his nose. Many a better bred dog than he would make a far worse picture as he stood there at attention. His master, some yards away, gazed at him in admiration, and chuckled to himself: "Old Sport" and "big drummer" are matching wits again. My guess is "the drummer wins." Suiting the action to the word, he slipped the slide over the "safe" on his gun and sat down on a convenient stump.

The dog broke his pose and, casting a sidelong glance at his master, began a systematic forage up and down, across and back. At times he could bet that tantalizing "partridge smell" so strong that it seemed as if surely they must be right there, and then it would suddenly vanish. If the dog had but known, the "big drummer," from the lower branches of a small fir, had taken in his every movement for some ten minutes. Five other birds of the big fellow's particular covey, well taught by him, but with less real experience, were keeping well in the shelter of the undergrowth and giving the dog a merry chase. The drummer knew very well what the game was. Had he not rehearsed this very play himself time and time again! The last weeks of summer and all of September had been one constant practice, back and forth and across. The undergrowth hereabouts was well adapted to this sort of manoeuvring. Successive rows of blackberry and other vines made a veritable jungle of the top of the hill, and through this, like a series of tunnels, were the small trails. In places there was just room for a bird to run; a dog would never have been able to force himself through and this was the security the drummer had picked out for himself and his following when the guns had begun to bang on September first.

One place there was that the birds did not allow for. Leading right up in the very thicket of their bush house was a narrow lane of tall grass. This had been cut off from the ordinary observer's point of view by an old windfall, whose tangled branches completely hid the tall grass that filled a lane where at one time a narrow gauge railway had run to an old logging camp. Old Sport pushing through the tangle of branches stumbled on to the grass lane and in a minute's time he was following his nose straight for the cover where the partridge had sopped for a bit of rest, for truth to tell the old dog had given him a pretty smart chase. There were times when he was within three feet of the particular bird he was following, but the vines were so thick that the partridge could not have taken wing had he cared to, and knowing every foot of the ground he even sat still in certain places and studied the dog at a distance of four or five feet, while the dog fretted and whined as the sharp thorns of the bushes caught and even punctured his coat as he vainly endeavored to push his quarry.

But now—now it was different. The old dog was hot, mad, excited. Ordinarily he could keep his head with any of them, but instinctively he knew there was no chance for his master to shoot in such a place. He finished the grass lane with a rush and a bound that took him through the thin layer of vines at the end. Four grouse there were, within six feet of where he landed. There was a wild scattering and the birds ran in four directions down as many small lanes in the brush. Just for an instant the four-legged hunter was puzzled and he proceeded to chase down the most sizeable of the four trails. At the end of this trail was a ravine and at the edge of the ravine was the fir tree where the "big drummer" had watched proceedings for the last half hour.

Whir-rr-rr-rr! With a rush of wings the first bird left the covey and sailed away across to the further slope. A startled hunter jumped to his feet and gazed openmouth, forgetting the gun in his hands, as a possible double tore away to the left and right.

Two more there were that Sport could not start at once. When the fourth bird started he traveled a short twenty feet above the ravine, when the sixteen gauge thirty yards away broke the silence and the crumpled stone dead in mid-air and fell half way to the bottom of the gorge, falling in a bit of hollow between two trees trunks. The old dog heard the shot, saw the bird fall, but in the retrieving he was to get a surprise. He rushed forward only to find himself on the edge of an embankment some sixty feet high. For ten feet there was a straight drop and for the next twenty there was a possible foothold. About in the centre of this there were two feathers floating some few feet above the ground. The dog marked the place and skirted along the edge of the embankment, and the gully there formed old Sport tried to negotiate. A bit of the uncertain foothold gave away and he half rolled, half fell some ten or twelve feet to the bottom. With a burst of wing power that startled everything in the immediate vicinity, the "big drummer" burst from the tree—but the big tree was between the partridge and the hunter.

Six partridges the hunter had seen. The old dog regained his equilibrium and, scrambling through a bit of thicket, following his nose to the bird that had dropped between the logs. It was no easy task getting back up that hill. He could hear his master whistling for his return, and a few minutes later the sound of his smash about in the brush as he tried to break through to the edge of the ravine, and while the master tried to go to the dog from the top the dog tried in vain to regain the edge of the ravine from where he had picked up the partridge, but at last, with lolling tongue and heaving sides, he had to give it up, and glanced about for some other means of rejoining his two-legged companion.

Along the side of the ravine a few feet below where he stood was a half obliterated trail used by an occasional raccoon, fox or other night prowler. With the partridge gripped firmly in his jaws, the old dog made the trail and now he had comparatively easy going. Two or three times in the next hour he heard his master's whistle and knew by the sound that he must be traveling in the same direction above him. Another half hour passed and then came the sound of a shot, followed by another, and this threw him into a panic of anxiety. His master shooting and he not on the job! At every possible place that looked at all like a foothold he tried for the top of the bank, and at last made it. He broke from cover on to a godly sized wood road, and, joy of joy—the familiar track, in five minutes he was proudly offering his find to a master who was as pleased as himself, and how he did nose and muzzle about two other birds that his master brought forth. Yes, sir, he's actually got two partridges without his aid. It was unbelievable, but it was a fact. However, his master was the same gruff, kind pal he left an hour or so before, and that's all he wanted. He was soon ahead again, skirmishing about here, there and everywhere. Once he scared a rabbit out of a bunch of elders and the rabbit ran lickety split right across the trail in front of the shooter, who fired and tore a fine large hole in the trail two feet behind the aforementioned bunny.

And all this time the "old drummer" was marshalling his scattered company across the ravine. Four o'clock that afternoon found five of them near the end of an old broken down rail fence. This rail fence was an ideal place to the "old drummer's" idea of things. There were certain places where he could sit unobserved and watch both ways for two or three hundred yards a distance which he had proved by experience to be practically shot proof.

It was fine sitting, there in the shade his crop fell to the bursting point with the tender spring cover leaves that he'd just gathered from a bit farther down the trail. He preened his feathers, sat all stuffed up for a moment or so, spread his fan tail and struck back and forth along an old rail that lay half hidden in the grass, then came to a stop in a very comfortable place at a corner of the fence. From here he could see two of his covey a few feet away on his right. A few yards down the fence was a fourth bird, busy at the clover he had left a few moments before, while away over to the left, out on the open hillside, was the foolish one of the flock. Evidently he was chasing grasshoppers, as he was on the run one-half his time, and the drummer watched him with disgust; and then with a

UNREST IN GERMANY

THE SITUATION HAS REACHED A CRITICAL STAGE.

New Republic Has Been Formed—The Greater Part of South Germany Will Not Submit to the Terrorism of the Dictators in Berlin.

LONDON, November 26.—The latest reports received in London from Germany indicate that the internal situation there has reached a critical stage. Although a proclamation was issued declaring that all political power is in the hands of the German Socialist Republic and the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council, opposition to such a government is growing outside Berlin.

A greater part of South Germany, including Wurttemberg, Baden and Bavaria, has declared it will not submit to the terrorism of the dictators in Berlin who have replaced the Kaiser and militarism.

FORMED A REPUBLIC.

An independent republic also has been formed in North Western Germany with Hamberg as the capital. Even in Prussia, according to the reports, feeling against the Berlin Soldiers' and Workmen's Council is gaining ground.

L. CORP. S. C. MARSHALL

Letters From His Officers Tell How He Met Death in Battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Marshall, Outram, whose son L. Corp. Stewart C. Marshall, was killed in action have received letters from his officers which we publish below:

In the Field (France), Sept. 14, 1918.

Mrs. Annie Marshall, Outram, Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, Canada

Dear Mrs. Marshall: Long before this letter reaches you, you will, no doubt, have received the sad news that your son, 252886 Lance Corporal S. C. Marshall, has been killed in action.

Your son, who came to France with the Battalion, has established a long record of faithful and devoted service in the attainment of that great object for which we are all working. During fighting of the 1st of July, 1917, he was slightly wounded, necessitating his spending some three weeks in hospital. Apart from this short period and a leave of fourteen days in the British Isles, he has been constantly with the Battalion, displaying those fine qualities which have made possible the high standard of efficiency in the Battalion winning the praise of our General Officers in the field and the admiration of our friends at home which has always characterized the Canadian Corps. I know that at times like these words are of very little use but I want you to know that we very sincerely appreciate this boy of yours. His Company or his Platoon Commander has, no doubt, written you regarding the circumstances surrounding his death. Briefly they are as follows. On the 2nd, instant, while advancing with his Company ("A Company") toward enemy positions, during the recent successful operations by the Canadian Corps, he was hit by a bullet through the head, causing instant death.

The sympathy of all the officers, N. C. O's and men of the Battalion is extended to you in your sorrow which, I trust, will be somewhat lightened by the knowledge of his commendable life, his heroic death, and cause for which the sacrifice was made.

Sincerely yours,
J. A. RAWLSTON,
Lt. Colonel,
Commanding 85th Canadian Infantry Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders

France,
Tuesday, P. M.
Sept. 10th, '18.

My Dear Mrs. Marshall, Words cannot express my sympathy for you in your sad bereavement, as very likely you have received that message of sorrow concerning the death in action of your dear boy Stewart and I wish at this time to extend to you and the members of your family my sincere sympathy.

On August (near the 14th day of the month) we boys from Annapolis County mourned the loss of our comrade Chester Brinton, and during the recent big advance in this part of France viz. on 2nd inst. our dear friend Stewart was called upon to give his young life in battle. Our casualties were heavy and we who were spared to come through it all deeply join you in sympathy.

The body of your son was gently placed in a grave and Divine Service held by our Chaplain Capt. Hunter.

It just seems that our best friends have been taken, for indeed it was always a joy to meet and greet Chester and Stewart, and you may rest assured they were two of our finest young men. We boys miss them greatly.

But mother is the one who will miss her boy and oh how much I wish he could have been spared to return to you. We never know what a day will bring forth.

I am copying the following message just for you, Mrs. Marshall. Amid your moments of sorrow your dear boy would delight in having you comforted by this message:

"A Boy's Last Letter To His Mother"
"Try if you can, not to weep for me too much. Think that even though I do not return, I am not dead. My body, the less important part of me suffers, wears out and dies, but not myself, the soul cannot die, because I come from God and must return to God."
"I was created for happiness and through the joy that underlies all suffering I must return to the Happiness eternal. If I have been a little time the prisoner of my body I am none the less eternal. My death is liberation—the beginning of the True Life—the return to the infinite. So do not weep for me."
"If you think of the immortal beauty of the ideas to which my soul willingly sacrificed my body you will not weep."
"If your Mother heart weeps let the tears flow. A mother's tears will always be sacred. May God keep account of them. They will be the stars of his crown."
"Be strong little Mother."
Most Sincerely Yours,

Medical Orderly,

THE LATE PTE REGINALD YOUNG

More Information Concerning the Death of Another Hero

Mrs. Alfred Young of Lower Granville has received the following letter, concerning the death of her son, Pte. Reginald Young, American Red Cross Aug. 6 1918
My Dear Mrs. Young: Allow me to sympathize in your sad loss of your son. It was for the cause of righteousness against all evil that he laid down his life for you and his friends. I recall how my own mother grieved over the death of one of her sons, so can really appreciate a mother's sorrow. But your boys in heaven would have you be glad and not sorry, without hope for those who rest with our Saviour. Your son is with Him, and He, our Saviour, wants to be close to you also in your time of troubles, and bring you to days and hours of joy. Men may seem to die, but He tells us we live eternally, so there is many a glad hope in these dreadful days. That eternal spirit and that loving soul you brought into this world will never perish nor be lost.

Happy can you be that you know he was laid to rest with honor and prayer by his commander in the American cemetery at Suresnes near Paris, and will there be respected by the Allied nations for all time. So many lose their dear ones in "No man's Land" but he, your boy, is safely buried and his grave properly marked by a large white cross. He has had the best of care and as good, if not better than the doctors could give him at home. The Red Cross ladies placed flowers on his grave, French people have planted flowers also. May God and the Holy Church comfort and guide you.

VICTORY LOAN 1918

A Big Success in Annapolis County The Amount in Each District

To the Victory Loan Committees, Workers, and Subscribers throughout the County of Annapolis:

The following statement of subscriptions to the Victory Loan from the districts, so far as heard from, are—

Middleton	$131,700
Lawrencetown	36,050
Bridgetown	156,100
Annapolis Royal	177,800
Granville	69,550
Clementsport	23,400
Bear River	39,550
Total	$625,250

Every district has done itself proud and maintained the tradition of our people. Everyone should be pleased. The Provincial Chairman, Mr. George S. Campbell, has requested me to convey the congratulations of the Provincial Executive to your committee and to everyone of the patriotic workers who were instrumental in enabling your district to reach its objective, entitled the districts to the honour flag presented by His Excellency the Governor General of Canada to all districts who reach their objective. The County has gone over the objective and is entitled to crowns.

On half of the County Committee I congratulate and thank your committee and all of your collectors and workers for the energetic manner in which you have carried on the campaign, notwithstanding the handicap of the epidemic and peace demonstrations within the limit.

It is a wonderful performance, over $1,000,000 in the last two years besides large subscriptions to Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other Patriotic and Philanthropic Order. If before the war anyone had said that Canada could borrow one and a quarter million dollars from our people in the county of Annapolis they would have been laughed at. National spirit and Patriotism can do much—can finance Canada. And the investment made by a large number of our people is of the soundest character, and the interest return large.

You have the satisfaction of knowing you did a duty well, your efforts being crowned with success.

I am Yours for the Victory Loan,
S. W. W. PICKUP
County Chairman.

BRITAIN GIVES SHARP NOTICE TO GERMANY

Must Treat the War Prisoners Better Who Are Being Relieved

London, Nov. 22.—(British Wireless Service) In any question of provisioning Germany, the British government will be obliged to take into account the condition under which British prisoners in Germany are being released, unless the cruel treatment which such prisoners are receiving is discontinued, the German government was warned in a wireless message today.

The message sent by the British government reads: "Information reaches his majesty's government of a shocking lack of organization in the release of British prisoners in German territory, and of their return march on foot miserably clothed, without food or transports with no escort or guides, to the Allied lines, with the result of lamentable suffering and heavy mortality."

"His majesty's government cannot tolerate continuation of this cruel treatment and must insist on adequate arrangements being made in all the above respects by the German authorities with whom the responsibility lies. Otherwise we shall be compelled to take this into account in any question of revictualing Germany or satisfying the requirements of the German population."

"His majesty's government are ready to lend all available assistance by forwarding food, clothing and transport to prisoners' camps where they are not otherwise forthcoming and are addressing allies' commanders in this sense. "Please acknowledge receipt."

MANY REACH PARIS

Since Sunday military or civil prisoners have been constantly brought to Paris by eastern railway trains. Nine hundred arrived on Sunday, 1,100 on Monday, 300 on Tuesday morning and many more today. Ten thousand are reported to be on the way. Among the military prisoners are French, English, Belgians, Americans and Italians. The civil prisoners are French or Belgians. They have had from all parts, some from the invaded departments, others from Alsace-Lorraine, Belgium, Wurttemberg and even Germany.

Some of these men say they were only given their liberty after going through minute formalities. Other availed themselves of the slackened vigilance of their wardens to escape from the camps in which they were interned or the places where they were working. Yet others were requested to go by their guards when the latter learned that the armistice was signed. They were dismissed with the word: "Now you are free; you can go as you like, and when you like." Many of these men are in extremely poor physical shape and in a state of extreme mental depression, one being able to see at a glance that they have suffered terribly from hunger.

AMERICAN FRONT

American Headquarters in France, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press)—American prisoners released by the Germans are making their way singly and in "pairs" across the line. The Germans apparently are unable to carry out the withdrawal plans agreed upon owing to the disturbed and disorganized conditions of transportation within that country.

The American army has established stations at various points where prisoners can be cared for as they arrive. Eventually they will be concentrated at Chaudency, Revigny, Chelles and Salessu.

Some say they were treated very harshly and brutally, while others say their captors were stern but not unduly harsh.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. Marie Boyd, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Some times there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

RETURNING SOLDIERS WANT LAND

Fifty Per Cent of the Men Have Signed Cards That They are Desirous of Taking Up Farming

Ottawa, November 26.—Over 105,000 members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force have expressed the definite wish to take up farming in Canada after the war. This figure was obtained by interviewing 230,000 members of the forces overseas and indicates that 43.9 per cent of these men wish to go on the land.

The actual number of men returning after the war would be much greater. If it should be, for example 345,000 on the assumption that the same proportions holds true, the number of men desiring to go on the land will be 157,000.

These facts and a great many details bearing on them have been compiled by the statistical division of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment from the cards issued by the national service council to members of the Canadian forces overseas and signed by them. The facts given represent the men's own statements of their intentions, and in most cases there can be on doubt of their sincerity as perusal will show.

The provinces in which they wish to settle are as follows:—

Table showing the number of returning soldiers wishing to settle in various provinces: Ontario (25,400), Alberta (23,072), British Columbia (15,145), Saskatchewan (15,108), Nova Scotia (3,523), Quebec (3,330), New Brunswick (2,831), Prince Edward Island (816), Manitoba (11,708), Provinces not stated (4,518).

Of these 105,000, the cards disclose that 78,000 or 74 per cent. have had previous agricultural experience. The number of men who have had three years' experience or more is 61,000 or 58 per cent., and the surprising number who have had twenty years' experience is over 11,000 or almost eleven per cent.

UNITED BAPTIST CONVENTION

Small Attendance But Best Financial Statement in Organization's History

The attendance at the United Baptist convention which met in Amherst last week was only about fifty. They were, however, bent on earnest business in the interest of the denomination and of the Kingdom of God.

The president, Rev. Charles R. Freeman, of Charlottetown, called the meeting to order and explained the unusual circumstances under which the convention met. The veteran preacher, Rev. D. W. Crandall, conducted the devotions.

The president named the following nominating committee:—Revs. J. W. Manning, W. B. Bezanson, L. E. Ackland, E. H. Cochrane, A. H. Whitman, B. D. Knott, M. L. Gregg and J. P. Gordon.

The first report presented was that on the state of the denomination. This report reviewed the contributions of the churches for denominational work for the period 1912 to 1917, showing a gain in the giving of 335 of the churches in the convention and a less in that of 204 of the churches. The total increased giving was $11,643.05.

Reviewing the work of the year just closed, the report showed 582 churches, 62,466 members, 2,249 additions by baptism. Contributions for all purposes about $500,000.

The report noted the inadequacy of pastors' salaries and dwelt at length upon social conditions amid which the churches do their work. It urged that a class of women workers be trained especially for social service in rural communities.

The discussion which followed this report plainly revealed an awakening consciousness of the importance of dealing with social conditions among our people.

J. Wesley Dimock presented the report on the finance of the denomination, showing total contributions for the work of the denomination of $96,195.46, an advance of $11,864, twelve over the giving of last year.

Only $3,986.77 of this amount was from legacies; $30,944.76 came from the W. M. A. societies, and $5,604.46 from mission bands.

This is the best showing ever made in the history of the convention.

Rev. E. S. Mason reported for the Home Mission board, showing work done on fifty-seven Home Mission fields in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, at an expenditure of nearly $12,000. The Home Mission churches gave $4,025 to denominational schemes. Twenty-five more men are needed for the work on Home Mission fields.

At evening session of the Baptist convention Rev. J. B. Ganong laid on the table the report on home missions in New Brunswick accompanying it with a statement work in New Brunswick. Twenty of the conditions of home mission pastors are now needed in New Brunswick. Strong cultured pastors are being placed on the home mission fields. New Brunswick is now ready to come into the convention in home mission work.

Rev. David Hutchinson, D. D. emphasized the desire of the churches in New Brunswick to reunite with the convention in home mission work. Rev. R. J. Colpitts spoke of the necessity of carefully working out the details of the union in home mission work.

Upon resolutions of Dr. H. T. DeWolfe the home mission board of the convention will work out with the home mission board of New Brunswick. The details of the Union and such other matters as may be necessary in the interests of the work.

Dr. G. B. Cutten gave notice of motion to amend the constitution of the convention to provide for the appointment of a home mission board for the entire convention.

The nomination committee reported through their secretary, Rev. B. D. Knott reaffirming the appointments of the convention of last year with necessary changes.

The report on obituaries, prepared by Rev. F. H. Beals, was read by Dr. H. T. DeWolfe. This report made suitable reference to the late Revs. Robert Mutch, Stephen Langille A. H. Chipman, D. D., Henry Hart, John Clark, Amos Weaver, Peter S. MacGregor, J. S. McFadden, W. F. Armstrong, D. D., F. G. Harrington, Litt. D., Prof. R. V. Jones, Ph. D., Rev. Thomas Trotter, D. D., LL. D., Inspector Colin W. Roscoe and Prof. Ernest Haycock. A number of wives and widows of ministers were mentioned and a long list of soldiers who died in the service of their country.

The convention orders the appointment of a committee to gather the names of all members and adherents of churches within the constituency of the convention who have fallen in the war and to suitably preserve them.

Rev. C. W. Rose presented the report on Western missions and on also that of the army and navy board. Dr. Cutten reported for the board of governors of Acadia University. The trust funds have been increased by $49,100, made up as follows: The donation of Senator Curry for the increase of salaries to professors $3,500 and $2,000, from other contributors for the same purpose: $500 legacy of W. Albert Smith of up loss reported last year on standard ideal bonds, $1,000 from the estate of the late Charles E. Young, of Pilmouth for manual training, $500 legacy of W. Albert Smith of Middle Sackville, for Harrison Wentworth Fawcett memorial scholarship, $2,000 Clifford J. Shand to increase his annuity fund $100, from the Pierian society of Acadia Ladies' seminary, and $3,000 from the current account of the Pazant fund placed to the capital account. The total assets of the board amount to $1,010,945.57, this being the first time they reached $1,000,000. The registration of the college was 155 the Seminary 354, the Academy 180. The report dealt with the general affairs of the schools at Wolfville, the present attendance seminary and academy is the largest in their history.

The Crown Prince Writes To His Pa

The following was taken from a newspaper published in France and sent to Nevada relatives by a Nevada doughboy, who is now fighting in France:

"On the Run Somewhere in France, Everywhere in France, All the time."

"Dear Papa:

"I am writing on der run, as der brave and glorious soldiers under my command have not seen der Rhine for so long dat dey have started back dat vay, and of course I am going mit dem. O, pap, dere has been some offed dings happend her in France. First I started in my big offensive, which was to crush de fool Americans but dey know so little about military tactics dat dey vill not be crushed just like I vant 'em. I sent my men in der fight in big vaves, and ven dey got to de Americans dey all said 'Boo' as loud as dey could holler. Vell, according to vat you have always told me, de American should turned and run like blazes. But vat do you think? Dem fool Americans don't know anything about war and instead of running de odder vay, dey came right toward us. Some of dem vas singing about 'Ve won't come back till it's over, over dere', or some odder foolish song, and some of dem wear laffing like fools. Dey are so ignorant. But dey are offel reckless mit dere guns, and ven dey come toward us it vas dat my men took a notion they wanted to go back to de dear old Rhine. Ve don't like de little dirty Marabe river anyway. And, oh, pap, dem Americans use such offel language. Dey know nothing about culture, and say such offel dings right before us. And dey talk blasphemy, too. Vat you tink dey said right in front of my face? One big husky from a place dey call Missouri, he said,—oh, papa, I hate to tell you vat an offel ting he said—but I can't help it; he said, 'To hell mit der kaiser!' Did you ever hear anything so offel? I didn't tink anybody would say such an offel ting. It made me so made. I wouldn't stand and hear such offel ting, so I turned around and run mit de odder boys. Vas I right? Vat? And, oh, papa, you know dem breast-plates vat you sent us—can you end some to put on our backs? You know ve are going de odder vay now, and breast-plates are no good, for de cowardly Americans are shooting us right in der back. Some of our boys took off der breastplates and put 'em behind but de fool Americans are playing 'De Star-Spangled Banner' mit machine guns on dem plates. Can't you help us? You remember in your speech you said nothing could stand before the brave German soldiers? Oh, papa I don't believe dese ignorant Americans ever read your speech, for dey run after us just like ve vast a lot of rabbits. Vat you tink of, dot? Can't you send dem some of your speeches right away? Dey don't know how terrible ve are. Can't you move my army back to Belgium vere ve von all our glory? My men can vip all de vimmen and children vot dem Belgium can bring us. But dese Americans are so rough and ignorant. We can't make 'em understand dat ve are the greatest soldiers on earth, and ven ve try to sing 'Deutschland Uber Allies' dey laff like a lot of monkeys. But ve are getting de best of de Americans. Ve can outrun dem. Papa, if ve are not best fighters on earth, ve are sure de best runners. Nobody can keep up mit us vn ve tink of de dear old Rhine, and my army never did tink so much of der dear old river. Let me know right away vot to do by return post office."

"July 20 times, 'Crown Prince Willie.'"

Married in Bridgetown

WEIR—SHORTLIFFE
A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. E. C. Young, Court Street, at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, when William Edgar Weir, of Digby, was united in marriage to Hattie Maude, daughter of Mr. A. A. Shortliffe, also of Digby. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. S. Richardson, pastor of the Bridgetown Baptist Church. The bride was attired in a tailor-made navy blue serge suit with silver grey velvet hat and carried a bridal bouquet of chrysanthemums and ferns. She was attended by Miss Evelyn Parry, who wore white cashmere with pink trimmings.

After the ceremony the happy couple was conveyed by auto to the Elm House, Lawrencetown, leaving via D. A. R. express Thursday morning en route to St. John, where they will in future reside.

Bridgetown's Hotel
Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Langley, after many years of successful management of the St. James Hotel, will retire from the hotel business Dec. 10th. This well and favourably known hotel has been leased to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. MacPherson, proprietors of the Elm House, Lawrencetown, who are already well known by the travelling public. The new proprietors will continue to give the public good service at both the Elm House and St. James. They intend to patronize the home merchants of Bridgetown for all supplies for the St. James and hope to have the public support in every way. Their sample rooms will be kept ready at all times to accommodate commercial travellers, and Bridgetown people will always be able to obtain a room free of charge for holding patriotic committee meetings, or for the purpose of attending to other matters of public interest.

A good hotel is of great importance to any town and we feel sure that Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson will have the loyal support of our citizens as well as the general travelling public. We wish them every success.

Local Happenings

St. John, N. B., is to have an aeroplane factory.

The Salvation Army drive for overseas work is started about the middle of January.

The Centrelea Red Cross will meet at Mrs. Wallace Bruce's on Friday, Nov. 29th.

The next campaign to be launched in the Province, is the Navy League drive Dec 9th to 14th.

During the last two issues the Middleton Outlook has been reduced to one half its former size.

A meeting of the Annapolis Deanery was held in St. Luke's Parish Annapolis, Monday and Tuesday.

Middleton Outlook: While cranking his car on Saturday Charles Vye broke his wrist. Dr. Kirkpatrick set the limb.

The Dominion Government has postponed until Sunday, Dec 1, the day of national thanksgiving to celebrate the conclusion of hostilities.

The W. M. A. S. of the Baptist church will meet at the Parsonage on Tuesday evening, Dec. 3rd, at 7.30 p. m. P. E. Foster, Secty.

A regular subscriber writes us from Kenndale, Washington Territory: "The MONITOR is all right I could not get along without your paper. It is like a letter from home."

A memorial service for the late Private Orrin Lantz will be held in Centrelea Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The preacher will be Rev. M. S. Richardson.

We wish to call special attention to Friday evening's entertainment in the Primrose Theatre, advertised in another column. It is the duty of every resident of Bridgetown to be present.

One of our grocermen had an order for groceries last week from Morganville and a hardware merchant had an order from Sydney, C. B., both writers referring to the ads. in the MONITOR.

A number of our merchants have Christmas ads. in this issue. Others will follow next week. Those who want extra space should arrange for it at once, as our columns will likely be crowded.

A full attendance is requested at Autumn Leaf Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., Bridgetown, next Monday evening, as business of importance will be transacted. A social hour will be held at the close.

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held last Wednesday evening, at which the usual routine of business was transacted, bills passed, etc. Messrs. A. F. Little and W. D. Lockett were appointed auditors.

A well attended meeting of the Long Lake Sporting Club was held in Mr. F. E. Bath's office Saturday evening at which by-laws were passed and other important matters transacted. The third Monday evening in January was selected for the annual meeting of this organization.

Small advertisements for our classified column will not be inserted unless accompanied by cash in advance. Fifty cents for first insertion and 15c. for each continuation. The time half a dozen bills are sent to a 50 cent advertiser and a receipt (if he should remit) there is very little profit left for the printer.

As will be seen by our advertising columns the firm of Tupper & Chute has been dissolved and both will in future be in business for themselves. Mr. Chute carries on the ice cream and grocery business, and Mr. Tupper continues the music and sewing machine business in which he has been engaged for several years. We wish them both continued success.

The Provincial "Sheep Protection Act" will come into force for the ensuing year. A tax of one dollar for dogs and five dollars for bitches will be levied on all dogs in the county. Assessors are required to make a return of the owners of dogs in each Ward, and the tax will be collected with the County Rates. The money will form a fund for the payment of owners whose sheep are destroyed by dogs.

A Bracelet and a Digby Chicken.

[From the Courier.]

A remarkable incident happened in Digby recently in which a silver bracelet and an egg producer, played the principal parts. Miss Daisy Soules, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Soules, received a silver bracelet from her father who is overseas, and one day recently while she was at Mrs. Charlton Mullen's the bracelet was lost somewhere in the yard, and could not be found. A few days ago Mrs. Mullen, who in keeping with the requests of the Poed Controller, to eat less meat and more chicken, killed one of her prime birds for dinner, and in having it dressed in preparation for roasting, she found a hard substance in the bird's gizzard, and removing it, found the lost bracelet. This may seem like a fish story, but the information we received is from a most reliable source.

Methodist District Meeting.

The second Quarterly District Meeting of the Methodist Churches opened yesterday afternoon in the Granville Ferry Methodist Church.

Missionary matters were considered at the opening session.

Last night Rev. W. I. Croft of Digby, gave an address on chances adopted by the General Conference.

This morning's session will be devoted to the consideration of questions of local and general interests.

Lawrencetown's Lights

The Middleton Outlook says: Lawrencetown has once again assumed an old time appearance of brightly lighted streets, stores and residences.

The new lights seem to be perfection and Engineer Nichol is to be congratulated on his perseverance in the face of most discouraging situations.

Influenza Notes
The influenza total in New Brunswick is placed at 1,000 deaths and it was epidemic all over that Province. It was the most severe malady ever experienced there.

The influenza in Truro is growing worse and the schools, normal college and theatres are again closed. When the ban was lifted there were only 9 houses placarded, but ten days later there were 24 yellow placards demanded. There is quite an ill feeling existing in the town.

The epidemic of Spanish influenza, which for a few weeks was so severe at Wedgeport, has been practically overcome and the ban is to be lifted this week-end. The stores are again opened this week in the evenings, the first time since the epidemic started, the church will open on Sunday and the schools on Monday morning.

Hard Coal $10,000 a Ton in Ottawa.

The Ottawa Citizen says the increase of $1.05 per ton in the cost of anthracite coal mined in the United States after November 1, which was authorized by the United States Fuel Control Board because of the increased cost of labor, has not yet affected the retail price of coal in Ottawa. A number of Ottawa dealers, however, stated that it will affect the retail price here before long.

At present anthracite coal is selling at $10.00 per ton in Ottawa, and the increase will likely bring the retail price up to $11.90 per ton.

Fire Loss of $30,000 in Charlottetown

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 21—A four story building owned by Grant and Kennedy, International Harvester Company agents and dealers in automobiles and carriages, was badly gutted by fire tonight. Their stock was almost all destroyed. The loss will be about $30,000. The fire is still burning but is under control.

BRITISH FLAGS ON GERMAN SHIPS

GERMANY'S HIGH SEAS FLEET NOW AT BRITISH BASE

Nine Battleships, Five Battle Cruisers, Seven Light Cruisers and Fifty Destroyers of the Teutonic Navy Surrendered to Our Grand Fleet and Were Escorted to Firth of Forth

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The British Grand Fleet, accompanied by an American battle squadron and French cruisers, steamed out at three o'clock this morning from its Scottish base to accept the surrender of the German battleships, battle cruisers and destroyers. Wireless despatch this noon reports that it got into touch with German ships this morning and that the surrender is being carried out, according to plan.

The point of the rendezvous for the Allied and German forces was between thirty and forty miles east of May Island, opposite the Firth of Forth.

FRANCE AND UNITED STATES REPRESENTED

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany's high seas fleet, after its surrender to the Allied navies, was brought to the Firth of Forth today. The British Grand Fleet and five American battleships and three French warships, in two long columns, escorted the seventy-one German vessels to their anchorage.

SUNK BY MINE

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The German fleet surrendered to the British today. It became known this evening, consisted of nine battleships, five battle cruisers, seven light cruisers and fifty destroyers. One German destroyer while on its way across the North Sea with the other ships of the German High Seas Fleet, struck a mine. The destroyer was badly damaged and sank.

The surrendered German fleet will be taken to the Scapaflow tomorrow.

The Scapaflow is in the middle of the Orkney islands off the northeast coast of Scotland. It is a small inland sea with an area of fifty square miles. It contains many small islands and has numerous good harbors and roadstead. There is good anchorage in the Scapaflow for a great number of large vessels. Before the war it was the headquarters of the British Home Fleet during the naval training season.

MORE U-BOATS SURRENDER

HARWICK, England, Nov. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Another flotilla of German U-boats surrendered today to a British squadron. There were nineteen submarines in all, the twentieth which should have come today broke down on the way.

KING GEORGE REVIEWS GRAND FLEET

ROSYTH, Nov. 21.—Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's (Limited)—King George and Queen Mary entertained the British, French and American Admirals today on board Admiral Beatty's flagship. They witnessed the departure of the fast destroyers which formed the vanguard of some two hundred fighting ships to which the German war vessels will surrender. King George reviewed the entire Grand Fleet and was received everywhere with tremendous enthusiasm.

GERMANY NEAR DISASTER

Only Three Days and Hun Army Was Gone

[By Arthur S. Draper.]

The military authorities now publicly reveal how near disaster Germany was when the armistice was signed. It is estimated that only three days separated the enemy from complete collapse. Foch had prepared another great attack east of the Meuse which would have been the coup de grace. Even without this, after three more days of fighting, the German army would have broken in two.

The Franco-British wedge in the last day had made such progress that not only some seventy divisions of Prince Rupprecht's command were compelled to retreat but the sixty-third division of the German Crown Prince had also to plunge through the same gap, measuring about eight miles between Holland and the Allied line north of Rotheil.

The quick removal of even one of these armies thru this gap was an impossible task. The confusion was so great behind the German lines that the enemy armistice delegation pleaded to be allowed time to remove some of the congestion before beginning evacuation.

Despite the extra days allowed the German communications are in a great muddle and the withdrawal may still cause the Allies trouble. Revolutionary councils have been instituted in the German army and some elements even talk of further resistance. The view of either side may terminate the armistice in 48 hours and allied demobilization cannot begin for some time.

The German retreat is being carried out by defeated and demoralized troops while revolution is wracking their country and it discipline cracks it is difficult to tell what may happen. Foch has already been compelled to call the German high command's attention to the acts of violence against inhabitants and has threatened, if these acts do not cease within a very short period, that the allied high command will be obliged to take steps to end them.

Full discipline is being maintained in the British army.

TOTAL OF BRITISH KILLED IN WAR 658,065

Aggregate of Casualties Among Empire's Forces On All Fronts Over Three Million

British casualties during the war, including all the theatres of activities totalled 2,049,991. This also was announced by Mr. MacPherson. Of this number the officers killed, wounded or missing aggregate 142,634 and the men 2,907,357. The total losses in the fighting on the Franco-Belgian front were 2,719,652.

The total British wounded in the war was more than two millions, the Parliamentary Secretary's figures showing the aggregate to be 2,052,122.

Minard's Liniment cures Diphtheria

After Effects of Influenza.

(Issued by the Department of the Public Health, Nova Scotia)

We may now feel assured that the epidemic stage of the influenza visitation has passed, although it is to be expected that some of the communities which have thus far escaped will yet experience its ravages. On the whole, we have been fortunate in Nova Scotia, the number of deaths having been less proportionately than in many other places.

Certain consequences of previous epidemic should be borne in mind, as it is not unlikely that similar sequelae will result from the epidemic we have just passed through. Of particular importance is the effect which influenza is prone to have in re-activating a tubercular infection which may perhaps have been non-progressive for a very long time. Any one who has suffered from tuberculosis and who has been a victim of influenza should be very carefully on guard. It would be a wise precaution for every such person to report at frequent intervals for a physical examination by his physician.

Very considerable depression of the general health is commonly experienced by those who have been attacked by influenza. This may persist for several weeks. The poison formed by the germs of the disease appears to affect the heart and the nervous system especially. If care be not taken to avoid too early a return to the usual activities, serious permanent results may follow. The convalescent from influenza should, without going to unnecessary extremes, exercise due caution in the amount of work undertaken, should be particularly careful to secure plenty of rest in bed, and should take an abundance of nourishing food. All unnecessary excitement should be avoided. If there is sleeplessness, indigestion or a continuance of weakness and lack of energy, a physician should be consulted. While it would be manifestly wrong for anyone to over estimate the possibility of evil results following upon influenza, the prudent man or woman will attend promptly to any symptoms which may suggest that the heart, lungs or nervous system have not fully recovered from the influenza attack.

Much To Answer For

A prominent physician gives this advice as a preventative of influenza: "Keep your house warm and your windows open." This may be correct; in fact, it seems to have considerable common sense, but it is in direct violation of the fuel controller's request to keep cool and save fuel. Another authority says we are suffering from this epidemic because of a scarcity of sugar due to food regulations, and still another says it is due to war time diet. Surely the fuel controller and the food controller have much to answer for.

10,000 of Them to Sail From England in a Few Days

An Ottawa despatch says: It is expected that some 10,000 soldiers will sail within a few days from England for Canada. They will constitute the first problem in transportation with which the sub-committee of the several railway ways appointed by the railway war board will have to deal.

The committee consists of Mr. Butler, representing the Grand Trunk and F. Maughan, representing the C. N.R.

Another Paper Ceases Publication.

Announcement of temporary cessation of publication is made by Le Moniteur Acadien, Shediac, in its issue of Oct. 25th. War conditions, resulting in the increased cost of newsprint, an increase in wages and difficulty in securing workmen made it an impossibility to continue the paper. The editor expresses the wish soon to take up again the mission undertaken by the founders of Moniteur in 1867 and carried out faithfully by their successors for fifty years.

Boston Papers Advanced

On and after Nov. 15 retail price of daily Herald, Traveler, Post and evening Globe will be advanced to 2 cents, and on and after Nov. 17 retail price of Sunday Post, Sunday Herald and Sunday Globe will be 6 cents per copy in Boston and vicinity, and 7 cents elsewhere. Advances caused by abnormal price of newsprint paper and everything entering into production of newspapers.

Wilson Signs Bill For Prohibition

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Wilson today signed the emergency agricultural appropriation bill, with its legislative rider providing for national prohibition from next July 1 until the American army is demobilized.

Early Pullets for Winter Eggs

When we take into consideration that the average egg production on the Canadian farm is 75 or 80 eggs per hen and when well managed flocks average 120 to 180 eggs and individual hens even go higher than 300 eggs in the 12 months, it looks as though improvement might be made in the class of stock many keep. In the first place, purebred stock is best. They should be from a good laying strain—They should be from healthy parentage and for winter eggs production, pullets only and early pullets should be kept. In an experiment conducted at one of the Branch Experimental Farms where four different ages of birds were in competition for winter egg production, it was found that early pullets produced eggs at an average cost of 16.7 cts. late pullets 28.2 cts; two-year old hens 95.1 cts; three-year old hens 88.76 per dozen. Figures somewhat similar to these could be procured in larger quantities. The early pullet is the only bird that should be kept for winter egg production and it is the winter eggs that pay. A dozen of eggs at Christmas is worth two or three dozen in May or June. Early pullets mean early eggs and early chicks in the spring which of course means early pullets in the fall. As a rule, the pullets that lay earliest are the best layers so that every pullet that lays before Christmas should be marked. They are your best layers. If you are killing off year old hens, do not kill hens that moult late in the fall. They are your best layers and with your best layers should always be mated male birds from good layers. The male is more than half the flock. A male from a good laying strain and especially from a good laying mother will do more to build up the laying quality of the flock than any other one thing. Don't use them for breeding purposes, cockerels whose pedigree you know nothing about. Better pay a good price and get a good bird.

Waiting

Twelve-year-old Tommie was helping his uncle gather tomatoes from the garden. He started to work energetically, but by the time his basket was half filled he grew tired and put it down on the ground. For several minutes he stood still without doing anything. "Well, Tommie," said his uncle, "I'm afraid you are not a very good worker. You must work faster than this or I'll have to fire you!" he added, laughing. After a few minutes he looked up again. Tommie was still standing in the same place, watching him intently. "What's the matter, Tommie?" his uncle asked. "I'm waiting to be fired," said Tommie.

BREEDING SHETLAND PONIES IN CANADA

Edith of Transy and her foal, and a foal she is nursing besides.

Youthful visitors—the two children on the left belong to Mr. Percy Cowans, of Montreal, who takes an active interest in the Victory Loan Campaign.

It was in 1912 that Mr. T. B. Macaulay, President of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, first imported Shetland ponies to Canada, but long before this date he had made a careful and very close study of the breeding of these ponies. It was, therefore, very natural that during Mr. Macaulay's visit to the north of Scotland he looked for and secured the best possible pedigreed ponies. On his beautiful estate, which is situated on the Heights at Hudson, Quebec, near Montreal, there are today some of the most famous pure bred Shetland ponies in existence. The Canadian Pacific Railway passes through part of the estate and passengers to Point Fortuue and Ottawa have very often wondered to whom the little jet black ponies belong. It is a sight well worth seeing. Ponies of all types can be seen—from the tiny twelve or eighteen inch foal to the father of the herd, Silver Star of Transy, champion of all Scotland, who stands but thirty-six inches in height. Possessed of a long mane and tail Star looks the part. He is jet black and although ten years old is in prime condition. Then there is Edith of Transy, another prize winner, and a fine type of genuine Shetland pony.

Champion Silver Star of Transy, the head of the herd.

Another pony that all visitors see is old Dorothea. She is just thirty years old, but you can't tell her age by just looking at her, for she looks just as well as the three year olds. She is one of the most famous Shetlands in the world, with a concentration of the best blood in Shetland. Prince of Thule, the strain which Dr. Douglas, author of "The Shetland Pony," says is the source of the best riding blood in the breed. Dorothea is believed to be the only Shetland pony living to-day which is practically pure bred to Prince of Thule on both sides. The ponies in the herd are black, chestnut and white, and black and white. Ponies suited especially for the use of children are bred, while experiments are being conducted to produce a new breed of pony by cross-

The Wonderful Island

(From the Halifax Acadian Recorder) The wonderful Island Republic of Cuba is fortunate in having as its representative here in the Atlantic Port of Canada Mr. Stables, whose high culture, keen intelligence and enthusiastic patriotism, as well as business alertness, so well fit him for the work in hand. And Cuba is a wonderful pearl of the Sea indeed. Her area is 48,000 square miles, or about exactly that of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick taken together, while her population is three and one half times that of the two Canadian Provinces, being nearly three and one quarter millions. And her population is far from congested. The State of New York, slightly smaller in area contains nearly twelve million people, Switzerland with one-third the area supports a slightly greater population. Roumania but slightly larger has more than twice the number of people, so that it will be seen that Cuba is capable of supporting three or four times her present number. Her resources are great and far from being fully developed. Almost the entire area consists of good agricultural land while the mountain districts are girted with much mineral wealth. The growth in population and wealth since the old days of Spanish tyranny has been amazing, and it is quite probable that the total trade of the island last year came to over $700,000,000, the export of sugar in particular assuming enormous proportions. This magnificent island has reaped a Napoleon vs. Wilhelm.

(From the Montreal Star) In the despair of past Waterloo days the great Napoleon wrote to the future King George IV. Your Royal Highness: A victim to the factions which distract my country and to the omnia of the greatest powers in Europe I have terminated my political career, I come, like Themistocles, to throw myself upon the hospitality of the British people. I put myself under the protection of their laws which I claim from Your Royal Highness as the most powerful, the most constant and the most generous of my enemies. It is Wilhelm's turn now, but the pen that wrote the royal signature to the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk can never again so dignified an appeal. Minard's Liniment cures Distemper

Three brothers, Maynard, Avery and John were not at home, who will learn with a saddened heart of the death of their much loved sister and brother. She also leaves her husband and small children. How heavy is the loss of such loved ones, both laid to rest with in a week. They were much loved by all who knew them. Much sympathy is extended to all sorrowing ones who must look to God for comfort in this their great hour of sorrow. Remember "We'll never say good bye in Heaven." These two faithful ones are resting from their labour, not dead, only sleeping in Jesus. We shall meet them in a better home in Heaven, never to part again. He giveth His loved ones rest. A Thanksgiving service was held in the Baptist church, Sunday evening conducted by the pastor, Rev. I. Brindley. Miss Alice M. Troop is still at home, her school in Melvern Square being closed on account of whooping cough and influenza. We are sorry to report Mrs. E. R. Wade and Mr. Frank R. Troop on the sick list. Mr. Norman Wade and family have moved in the west end of his father's, (Mr. John W. Wade's) house. His house, which he vacated, is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Mack. The many friends of Mrs. Arnold Eaton, will deeply sympathize with her in the sad news received last week, when her only brother was officially reported killed in action on Oct. 12th. Pte. Leslie R. Smith was a son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Norman Smith, of Yarmouth. Before going overseas he was employed with Wm. Thomson & Co., of St. John, where many friends regret to learn of his death. Private Smith enlisted in England with the Motor Transport Corps and after serving over two years in that branch of the service, he was transferred to the infantry. He was in France only a short time when he was gassed. For nearly a year he was in hospital in England and had been back in the trenches only a month when he was killed. He is survived by two sisters Mrs. Kenneth Allen, of Orange, New Jersey, and Mrs. V. Arnold Eaton, of this place. The sorrow is deepened at this stage of the war, for some were being formed for his home coming.

ROUND HILL

Glad to report both Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Wagstaff fully recovered from their recent heavy colds. Fortunately it did not develop into the real "Flu". Miss Kate Sanders is coming home for a few months to regain her health after a severe attack of Flu, followed by pneumonia contracted while on duty in the infectious ward at the Montreal Victoria General. Continued good news comes from Sergeant Reg. C. Whitman, encouraging to his wife, parents and friends. Since peace is in sight we are hoping to see all our men in hospitals overseas returned to their homes. Miss Margaret Spurr, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Spurr, is studying for a nurse's diploma, in the First New England Baptist Hospital, near Boston. We wish this clever young girl ever success.

Mrs. E. E. Sanders has word from her son who has been for the past year in Alberta that he is regaining strength slowly but surely under the care of his doctor and brother-in-law, David Battit, who took entire care of Leonard all through his illness with unselfish devotion. So few people now, care to face Spanish Influenza. Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Simmons, is with the troops for Siberia waiting to be on their way. His draft is at New Westminster near Vancouver, so Mrs. Simmons states He left here a boy, some ten or twelve years ago and says he now stands six feet four inches in stocking feet, and weighs 225 lbs. Has lost some flesh since training.
