Sir John French Reports Also That Severe Reverse Was Inflicted on the Enemy South of La Bassee Canal.

ONDON. Oct. 11.-The official press bureau tonight made public the following official comnunication from Field Marshal Sir John French, the British commander

"Further information shows that the German attack on our front, south of the La Bassee Canal, on the 8th, was made in great strength. The main German efforts were directed against the chalk pit north of Hill 70, and between Hulluch and the Hohenzollern redoubt.

"In the chalk pit attack the enemy assembled behind some woods which lie from 300 to 500 yards from our trenches. Between these woods and our line, the attack was mown down by a combined rifle machine gun and artillery fire, not a man getting to within forty yards of our trenches.

Reserves Not Required.

"Our reserves were not required at any part of the front. It is reported that we inflicted a very severe reverse on the enemy. Our casualties prove to be even less than the first low estimate.

"The report in the official German communication of the 9th that a strong British attack northeast of Vermelles failed with great loss is entirely faise. No attacks were made and no losses were incurred other than those described above.

"Yesterday eleven fights in the air took place, in nine of which our airmen were successful. One hostile aeroplane was driven to the ground inside the enemy's lines and was almost certainly destroyed. This morning another enemy machine was brought down in our lines. We lost one aeroplane."

Tangible Evidence Afforded of Recent Great Success in Champagne.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—German cannon, nortars, bomb throwers and aeroplanes captured in the recent battle in Champagne were placed on exhibition yesterday at the Hotel des Invalides. All day long vast crowds, eager to see the trophies of war, made their way to the Esplanade. The scent was set impressively in the grand court of honor, at the entrance to the tomb of Napoleon, with its hundreds of flags and cannon captured during the Napoleonic campaigns, and with the statue of the great general looking down on these latest additions

The German guns on exhibition included 41 field pieces, 20 large-bore mortars, 2 6-inch cannon, 5 large bomb throwers, 20 small cannon and 30 French guns. 30 French guns.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women, we believe, can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but, mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats. sugars and starches of what you have eaten into rich, ripe

Henry goes innocently, Dudley Mitten and Robin Carraway go with malice aforethought and lie themselves out of the scrape. Montagu Lovit-Lovit affords Mr. Hemming the best part he has had here as a flirtatious eldenly husband with a wife of severe virtue, and he gets room for considerable society clowning. Edward Naimby and Cecil Clovelly as two waiters are admirably funny, and a bevy of beautiful girls and a fine chorus, both male and female, complete the success of the show.

Then the singing is of quite a superior order. Over all this there is poured a kaleidoscopic costume sauce, which reaches a climax at a fancy dress ball at Covent Garden when the mannikins array themselves in all the colors of the rainbow and some others with an effect which is much more gorgeous than any sunshower on record.

How Even Your Heart and Nerves Get Periods of Rest

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

THE stuff that associates itself with life is an extraordinary converter of energy. It is a giant motor, through which ebbs and flows a ceaseless hubbub of motion, work and power. Be the expenditure what it is, the life stuff, called living tissue, gets as much as it gives forth and ever maintains a balance between the shifts. As long as life stuff remains what it is there will exist an equilibrium of energy of all sorts that flabbergasts the mortal mind of man. Motion, heat, magnetism, electricity, chemical not at present dreamed of in human philosophy, is the product of the living warp and woof. Like its counter- DR. HIRSHBERG part, the dynamo of life's fabric oscillates to and fro in phases or cycles Life may be brief, it may last long, yet the measured rhythm of its cycles alternate in repose and action, action and response, sleeping and waking, vigor and fatigue.

The infant and the adult, the egg and the embryo, spring and autumn, summer and winter, each cycle is contingent upon the other. Many less conspicuous phases are present in the living fabric, yet they escape your attention.

The infant and the adult, the egg and the electric current, powerful enough to light up giant electric lamps, can be sent through the human structure, if the electric oscillations exceed 30,000 or 40,000 each second, without causing any effect upon the muscles or nerves. How Your Heart Rests.

The tissues of the nerve and the heart muscle are popularly supposed to be incapable of fatigue, but the truth is that they have a tired feeling no less pronounced than Dusty Rhodes or Lasy Luke.

The speed is much slower for movements of the heart muscle. Therefore, it is visible to the eye. Not only is the heart muscle weary after each contraction, but it is so dead tired that it has what physiologists call a "re-fraction" period of section and rest fatigue.

Lasy Luke.

The phase of action and rest, fatigue and recuperation are happily so swift in the heart and the nerve tissues that recovery from either takes place before the other begins.

Rest for Your Nerves.

About a dozen little whiplike fillips come each second from the nerves to the muscles. The moment any one of these dozen impulses has passage over any given part of a nerve fibre, is but one ten-thousandth of a second. At best, then, a nerve cord is only actively engaged in work for 12 ten-thousandths of a second, every second. This, you must admit, is not being very busy. The nerve has 9988 chances of rest to 12 of work.

Even though you shock the nerve lood times a second with an electric battery, it still has ample rest time left.

Nature, however, protects itself. If

A Lesson in How Not to Be Admired By WINIFRED BLACK

"You saved the child's life, madam," the physician said gravely.

The mother, evidently forgetting her disapproval of Mrs. Underwood's appearance, began to cry hysterically, and tried to embrace her. But Lillian, obeying the physician's orders, was already at the door of our apartment.

"Out of any immediate danger, the doctor says. The nurse came an hour ago, but the child had two more of those awful things, and I was able to help her. The mother is no good at all, one of those emotional women whose idea of taking care of her baby is to shriek over it."

I felt a foolish little thrill of house-wifely pride. A few minutes before her appearance I had gone into the litchen and made frosh coffee, anticipating her return. Whatever is the intention there should be something certain to be said about the intentions of the government, for nothing can be settled in the way of further publicly owned radial extension or the distribution of power until it has been made clear that the government has a plan in its fieed for getting the necessary power to distribute and operate with.

The German takes everything with a bald literalism which some people believe has led him to suppose that when we sing "Rule, Britannia!" we are indulging the hope of sinking the ships of every other nation but our own. The German means "Germany over all!" when he says it, and, moreover, he thinks we are fools for not sinking the navies of other countries when we are able to do so. This bloodthirsty and covetous policy has resulted as we all know.

It will take generations, in Australan opinion, to undo the evil inspirations of this policy of hatred, but we trust that with the disillusionment of defeat the Germans will unlearn the esson of desperation and ignorance as fast as they learned it. Of the defeat that awaits Germany, Australia is as ertain as the rest of the British Empire, for the very good reason that Australia is prepared to fight till victory is achieved.

The Argument Against Free Wheat

The Calgary News-Telegram states the case of those who do not think it would be an advantage for our The problem presented was that of wheat to get into the American market and states it very well as follows:

> What does a country like the United States, which has 375,000,-000 bushels of wheat to export-more than all Canada has producea—want with the surplus of 170,000,000 bushels which we have

As a matter of fact, one of the causes which have reduced prices in Canada is that very American export surplus of 275,000,000 bushels. If it were not for the expected competition of that imnense surplus, which the wheat of Canada must meet at Liverpool, Canadian wheat would probably be up from 20c to 30c over present quotations.

Of course, Minneapolis millers desire a small proportion of Can-adian hard wheat to bring their flour up to a certain standard; but the amount thus used would be but a small part of Canada's export surplus. And let it be remembered that, while there is apparently a duty of 10c a bushel on all Canadian wheat which enters into the United States, on every barrel of flour containing Canadian which is exported, the American Government rebates that 10c duty to the American miller. So that all Canadian wheat which enters into the manufacture of export American flour goes into the United States practically free.

If the United States' crop were short, American buyers could af-ford to pay higher than Canadian prices. But, as any large quantities of Canadian wheat purchased by United States', elevators must naturally be held for export. how could these buyers pay high-er prices for the Canadian article when they would be up against the exports of Canadian buyers in the Liverpool market when they ultimately reached Liverpool? Comparisons of Winnipeg and Minneapolis prices offer no solution of the present wheat problem. Liverpool is the world's and the surplus of both the American and Canadian farmer must find an outlet there. And if transportation charges are on the same pasis American and Canadian wheat gets to Liverpool on exactly similar conditions. Therefore, if an American buyer pays for Can-adian wheat more than his Canadian competitor, he is under a severe handicap at Liverpool.

The difference in price may possibly be explained by an American advantage in ocean transportation and by an absence of the same export manipulation which, as has been pointed out in The News-Telegram, is responsible for a difference of some 22c (taking transportation charges into consideration) between Calgary and Liverpool quotations. That's the most likely cause. But, if so, does that not further multiply the reasons why the Canadian farmer should have a purchase and a transportation preference from the British Government, if only to overcome the American advantage in ocean transportation and the foreign export manipulation which is reducing profits at this end and increasing cost in Bri-

It is unreasonable to suppose that transportation facilities carrying Canada's wheat should be on a par with those of the United States, since the British Government commandeered so many of the larger ships making Canadian ports. But surely it is not too much to ask the same government that commandeered these ships and requisitioned other ships to carry Australia's meat from Melbeurne to England to provide the same surely and the same statement of the same stat bourne to England to provide the

The News-Telegram certainly does not reflect public opinion in the west. In opposing free wheat it occupies a position almost unique. Even The Moose Jaw News, most faithful of Conservative journals, declares it is time to view the wheat question from a non-partisan standpoint and do what best for the farmer and therefore best for the country at large. The News says:

The representation made by the Manitoba Grain Growers' Associa-tion that wheat be placed on the free list is bound to bring to the front a subject of much import-ance to the West. It could hardly be expected that action would taken merely on the request of this body, important tho it may There are other farmers' organizations, some of which have an even larger membership than the Manitoba body. Furthermore there is an even larger number of farmers who are unidentified with any organization. These also should be heard.

Free wheat and its effect upon Canadian industrial interests should be made the subject of thoro and immediate investigation. The farmers should be asked to state their case, also the millers. Expert opinion of great value could easily be obtained from the Grain Commission. The subject is less a political than an economic one. The country must get the most out of everything it has to sell-To argue this at length were use-

The Winnipeg Free Press urges Sir Robert Borden to "summon parliament without delay and secure its consent to legislation which will open the American market for the free entrance of Canadian wheat."

The Regina Prairie Farm and Home s no less insistent upon the government getting free access for our wheat to the American market, but if that cannot be done agrees with The Calgary News-Telegram that the imperial government should give the Canadian farmer some preference in the British market either by purchase or transportation. And this we believe is a sound position. If for imperial reasons the Canadian farmer is restrained from selling wherever he can ind a customer then for imperial rea sons he should be guaranteed a good price within the empire.

In spite of some carping we think there is every disposition to credit the government with good work in the matter of securing ocean tonnage for Canadian grain at Montreal. No doubt Hon. Mr. Rogers and his committee are doing everything that can be done, but there is little they can do except make strong representations to the imperial government. How much space there is at Montreal available for Canadian wheat we do not pretend to say, but it seems to be generally admitted that the freight and insurance charges are more from Montreal to Liverpool than from New York to Liverpool. This fact may partly explain why so much of our wheat is going to tidewater this year by way of Buffalo

At any rate, the Canadian shipper does not get his wheat carried to England any cheaper than his American competitor; he does not get that advantage over the United States farmer which the Australian drover got over his Argentine competitor.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The attack on the foreign office and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, promises to prove a flash in the pan and to carry Messrs, T. Flanagan and D. Bohan enthe country with it as little as did the attack on Earl Kitchener. Sir Edward Grey is the most popular civilian in the country. The weaknesses of the British diplomatic service are no new discovery. The diplomatic staff is largely composed of the old-school aristocracy, who are unequal to dealing with the shifting and complicated problems and elusive politicians such as they encountered in the Balkans. The general disposition is to credit Sir Edward Grey with doing as well as possible with the lieutenants at his disposal.

Messrs, T. Flanagan and D. Bohan engaged in a novel golf match yesterday morning over the 4-hole course in Rose-dale field, the latter winning on the fifth hole. They kicked the ball around in about 6 or 7 per hole, pretty fair hooking, the golf standard being 3 or 4. The contestants won a hole each and halved two, necessitating extra play. P. J. The NEW MARKET AT SIMPSON'S

Eight weeks ago, when we opened our new market, we felt confident of its success. No expense was spared on the equipment; the staff was cho en for their ability and for the service that could be rendered our customers; the meats, whether fresh, salted or cooked, the fish, fresh or salted, the vegetables, fruit and flowers, were all required to com up. to the only standard that is the standard for foodstuffs-namely, the best.

The response has been indeed gratifying. Discriminating housewives were quick to appreciate the perfect sanitation and the service that our Market affords. The Market is gratifying to customers, not only on account of the service and produce secured here, but because of its appeal to the eye.

The gleaming white of marble and tile, the spotless glass and shining nickel of which it is built, please in themselves, and because of the absolute cleanliness they argue. The Fish Counter, with the glistening beauties of sea and lake displayed on beds of ice, their russet-gold brothers who have passed through the smoke-house and are stacked on spotless platters of white enamel; the Poultry Counter, with its array of plump ducks and chickens, neatly dressed, and strings of game from the north country, in all the glory of their lovely feathers; the fresh meats, rosy beef and delicate lamb, on the counters and in the glass-fronted refrigeratorsall combine to make a wholesome and satisfying

Turning to the centre counter, another pleasure meets the eye. This counter is both refrigerated and illuminated, and displays to the best advantage a most appetizing array of cooked and smoked meats and salads. Platter after platter of pink and white ham, of tongue, of jellied hocks, of sausage rolls crisp and brown, of Galician sausage, sliced bacon (a surprising number of different kinds), all garnished with red or green peppers and parsley, and all looking most tempting.

Then the huge white bowls of really delicious salad, rimmed about with lettuce. This salad is most carefully sent out in little waxed paper cartons, and it's possible to buy an extra supply of the creamy mayonnaise, and that, with a head of fresh lettuce ordered at the same time, results in a salad at home as dainty and fresh as though prepared in your own kitchen. Chickens cooked to a turn, and stuffed with delicious dressing, are also here to tempt you.

Another temptation lies in the flowers and potted plants — healthy ferns and sturdy palms—and the boxes of bulbs — hyacinth, jonquil, tulip — that look as though they had got here by mistake and really belonged with the vegetables, but each one holding its promise of brilliant bloom for the winter window or the spring garden.

Then all the kindly fruits of the earth, in their due seasons—the shining apples, the oranges and grape fruit, cabbages—both white and red—and others that look like big green roses. Boxes of pinky-brown potatoes, of gleaming onions, stacks of fresh lettuce and parsley, and sage and savory, carrots and beets—Oh! it's a REAL Market!

Everyone says it's a pleasure to shop in the Market, and it IS a pleasant place. The elaborate system of ventilation that we installed, that insures a complete change of the air in the department, has been a telling factor. There is no unpleasant, stuffy smell, no accumulation of stale odors. Nothing worse than the "fragrance" of fresh onions, which seems to be most prominent among other scents of sage and savory, of roses, of clean, fresh meat, and bacon.

The number of direct telephone lines to this department — Adelaide 6100 — insures prompt attention to those who prefer to telephone their order to us, trusting us to fill them as carefully as if they had chosen each item themselves. The enormous number of telephone orders we receive is the best answer to any question as to the quality of this branch of the service we give. Much appreciated, too, is the fact that on Thursday and Friday nights, from 5.30 to 10 o'clock, customers may telephone us to fill their week-end orders.

If you are not already a customer of ours, we invite you to inspect our Market, and we will show you everything, "behind the scenes" as well as in front
