Bomb Gave Royal Wedding

Sixteen Persons Killed and Many Wounded

Wire in Way Saves King and Queen

Procession Returning to Palace After Day of Unrivaled Pageantry is Interrupted by Anarchistic Attempt on Lives of Newly Wed Couple—Scene of Horror is Created.

THROWN IN A BOUQUET FROM UPPER WINDOW

Madrid, May 31.—The public rejoicings over the marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Victoria had a terribly dramatic sequel at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, as a bomb thrown from an upper window exploded with deadly effect near the coach occupied by the king and queen. Provisionally, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria escaped by an electric wire deflecting the bomb, but at least 16 persons, most of them being of the pergonal and military escort, and others, spectators, were killed. Many others were injured.

An official statement indicates a possibility that two bombs were thrown, one exploding in the air by striking a telegraph wire, and the other falling so close to the royal carriage that a groom at the head of the wheel horses was killed, as also were the wheel horses.

The killed: Captain Barros, commanding part of the king's escort; Lieutenant Prerendrat; Six soldiers; The Marquis of Colosa and her daughter; Don Antonio Calvo and his niece, aged 7 years; Jose Sola, 70 years of age; Luis Fontana.

One royal groom, who was leading a horse drawing the coach carrying the king and queen.

Several of those killed were standing on the balcony of the house from which the bomb was thrown. The explosion occurred just as the royal couple were about to enter the palace. The route of the cortege had been diverted from Arsenal-street to Mayor-street, owing to the popular desire to witness the procession and to pass through the esplanade leading to the palace, when an explosion shook the buildings in the vicinity, stunning a large number of people and throwing the cortege into inextricable confusion.

Crowd Slow to Realize.
The royal coach was brought to a sudden stop by the shock, officers and members of the escort falling to the ground about the querry and carriage that had been killed. The screams of the terrified multitude mingled with the groans of the dying.

It was immediately seen that the royal coach was intact except as it had been damaged by flying splinters. King Alfonso immediately alighted and assisted Queen Victoria to enter the carriage. They then entered another coach and were driven swiftly to the palace.

All this happened so quickly that people away from the immediate scene were not aware of the tragedy that had been enacted, and continued to acclaim their sovereigns. Soon, however, there appeared the empty royal coaches, with two horses missing and the others spattered with blood, several of them bleeding from wounds. The grooms and drivers looked deathly pale in their spangled uniforms. Then came a boy shouting that a bomb had been thrown at the king. The appearance of the king and queen in the immediate vicinity of the scene of the explosion, and the fact that the sovereigns had been spared.

In the meantime the scene of the tragedy presented a horrible spectacle, with dead men and horses lying about, literally torn to pieces. Intense excitement prevailed, the mob invading the streets, while the forces of the guards sought to maintain order and block the approaching streets.

The bodies were wrapped up in blankets and removed on litters while the wounded were carried to hospitals. Evidently, however, being in the upper stories of the buildings nearest were spattered with it.

Miscellaneous Captured.
The place from which the bomb was thrown is a boarding house. The chamber from which the missile was hurled was taken May 22 by a man named Escalon, giving the name of Moral. When the police surrounded the house the man attempted to flee but was captured. Another man escaped over the roofs of houses.

One of the injured proved to be a son-in-law of Premier Morera's private secretary.

According to an official statement it is not known whether one or more bombs were thrown. The statement continues that it is impossible to ascertain at present the author of the outrage, tho it is known that a Catalonian named Manuel Duran took an apartment in the house from which the bomb was thrown May 22, paying in advance with a 500 peseta bill. He was well dressed, of elegant appearance and showed a fondness for flowers.

Concealed in Bouquet.
The bomb, which was concealed in a bouquet, was of palished steel half a centimeter thick. It was thrown from a third floor window. The house, according to some reports, belongs to the queen mother, having been bequeathed to her by a philanthropist, and being the only house she owns in Madrid. The house is opposite the Church of the Sacrament and the captain-general's residence.

The royal procession had come to a temporary halt in the royal carriage exactly opposite the house when the bomb was thrown.

The missile fell to the right of the royal carriage, between the hindmost pair of horses and the front pair of wheels.

The explosion killed two horses and a groom. The Duke of Sotomayor, who was riding on the right hand side of the carriage, was slightly wounded,

NO TRACE OF PFEIFEL OF AMSTERDAM

Man Whose Name Figures in Charter as Controlling North Atlantic Trading Company Can't Be Found—Offices Are Saved.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)
London, May 31.—The Tribune's representative has visited Amsterdam to enquire into the North Atlantic Trading Company.

He found that "Albert Pfeifel, merchant of Amsterdam," the name given in the charter as holding 233 shares, is not in the Amsterdam directory, and is not known among the merchants nor to the British consul, nor to the police.

His name is not to be found in the archives bureau of civil registration. The office of the company is given as 22 Damrak, a room above the Boders-hotel, the proprietor of which informed and four of the soldiers who lined the route followed by the cartage were killed. The Duke of Cornachoules immediately pushed open the carriage and helped out the king and then the queen, who showed signs of the greatest emotion. Both, however, behaved with the utmost courage. They entered another carriage and the procession was resumed. On their arrival at the royal palace it was noticed that the king and queen both were in tears. They were quickly surrounded by foreign princes, each anxious to show sympathy and offer congratulations on the miraculous escape.

The indignation of the people over the outrage was great. Some French detectives were almost lynched merely because they had a foreign appearance. After the outrage a visitors' book was made at the palace. It was signed during the afternoon by the foreign princes, envoys, diplomats, and royal standard-bearers. The Duke of Sotomayor has posted an address to the people stigmatizing the attempt on the lives of the sovereigns as a foul outrage.

A Brilliant Spectacle.
At an early hour this morning the esplanade fronting the Royal Palace was occupied by regiments of the Royal Guards in full gala uniforms, with glittering breastplates and helmets. They formed squares in the palace grounds, the crowds eager to gain points of vantage. The massive outlines of the palace, not the least across the boundary, were without decorations, save the royal standard floating above. Detachments of Halberdiers, with quaint cockades, stood with weapons crossed at the prince's gate, leading to the palace. The route of the cortege hurried preparations were going on. Troops lined both sides of the streets in solid ranks for miles. The Pardo Palace was one of striking brilliancy. All the buildings were

CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS NOT YET A SETTLED FACT

Hon. Mr. Whitney Has Heard Only Unofficial Rumors as Yet—May Go to England.

The Ontario government's new railway act comes into effect today, but it appears to be unlikely that an announcement will be made as to the postponement of the new railway and municipal board.

"Possibly," was the premier's reply last night to a question as to whether such announcement would be made. The use of that single word being Mr. Whitney's favorite means of sidetracking queries, the answer could not be taken as significant. Later he intimated, however, that final selections had been made as yet, and since his cabinet, or the bulk of it, is away on the Northern Ontario trip, it looks like a wait of a day or so at least before curiosity is satisfied.

Mr. Whitney was asked about Hon. Mr. Haana's remark that the premier was considering taking a trip to Great Britain. He replied that he hadn't made up his mind on the point as it was impossible to tell what might happen in connection with his official duties before the summer was over. He declined to discuss the trip further.

As to the suggested conference of provincial authorities with the federal government, Mr. Whitney said there was a good deal of unofficial rumor about such a conference taking place next autumn, but beyond that he knew nothing.

TO INVESTIGATE MINISTER.
Rev. A. E. Henderson Asks for Committee to Clear Away Charges.

Rev. A. E. Henderson requested at yesterday's meeting of the Central District of Toronto Methodist Conference that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges made against him in connection with the roller-bearing enterprise that bore his name, and which went into liquidation with heavy loss to many shareholders.

The committee will report to the annual meeting of the Toronto Conference, which takes place on June 18.

The churches in Central District showed gratifying progress, the increase in missionary funds being upwards of $12,000 and in the church membership of 672 net. Church improvements and property extensions amounted to $25,000.

ERN SENT TO BOTTOM FIVE OF CREW DROWNED

Run Down During Fog in St. Clair River by Big Steel Freighter—Capt. Sullivan's Narrow Escape—End of a Hoodoo Voyage.

Monday night, her second engineer, Fern Wilson, was swept overboard and drowned during a gale.

This was to have been the last trip of the Ernie, which was one of the old-time wooden steamers. After her stormy trip across Lake Erie, when the second engineer was lost, the owner, Thomas Conlon of Thorold, Ont., decided to send her to the boneyard.

The Ernie was 411 tons capacity, 174 feet length, 26 feet beam, and built in 1867.

The steamer John B. Cowie is a steel steamer of 4731 tons capacity. She is owned by Cowie Transportation Co. and is 420 feet in length, 50 feet beam and 24 feet in depth.

The Ernie's crew were drowned. The dead are: Patrick W. Quinn, chief engineer, Port Dalhousie, Ont.; William Hill, fireman, St. Catharines, Ont.; Mrs. Mary Reed, cook, Spanish River, Ont.; Unknown woman, taken on at Buffalo, said to be a passenger; Those saved are: Capt. Peter Sullivan of St. Catharines, Ont.; George Patterson, Port Dalhousie; James Dagen, Windsor; Ben Hill, Windsor; George Fansher, Groversville, N.Y.; Arthur Groveshook, Windsor; Mrs. Reed's 13-year-old son; Thomas Lyles, Groversville, N.Y.

The Ernie was struck amidships and cut in two by the big steamer, sinking almost immediately in deep water.

The Ernie had the large Danforth in tow, as the Danforth's crew saved most of those rescued from the Ernie. The cause of the accident is due to a blizz passing signals to the right, but just then the third boat, upbound, in trying to avoid the other boat, the Cowie was forced off her course, and crashed into the Ernie.

Captain Sullivan was rescued from the pilot house of the wrecked boat, in which he drifted down the river, by two Marine City fishermen.

The captain says it was foggy just before daybreak when the collision occurred. He did not see the other steamer until too late.

He was knocked out of the pilot house by the force of the collision, and went into the river and upbound, but when he came up he was sent on to what proved to be the gaff of the pilot house, to which he clung, and floated down the river.

The captain at that time was ignorant of how many were drowned, and did not know what steamer had struck his boat.

But a piece of wood with the name "Cowie" placed on it was found amongst the wreckage.

The body of one woman, attired in a nightdress, was found a mile below Marine City by an Indian of Walpole Island. As the body was not dressed, there was no means of identification. The wreckage picked up at Marine City the captain and two of the crew recovered $400 belonging to the captain and a watch belonging to a member of the crew.

The Ernie seems to have been pursued by a hoodoo the past few days. Coming across Lake Erie, from Buffalo, on Monday night, her second engineer,

SIFTON MAKES HIS DEFENCE AND SAYS THE SETTLER HAS BEEN FAVORED

Authority Vested in Minister of Interior Was Agreed to by House—Assumes Responsibility for Grazing Leases.

Ottawa, May 31.—(Special.)—Mr. Lake (Qu'Appelle) resumed the debate to-day on the land policy of the government. The minister of the interior, did not deny that he had mutilated public records. The reports which he had suppressed, warned him respecting bogus homesteading, yet, after destroying this evidence, he had the audacity to express surprise when the same intelligence came to him from members of the house.

Mr. Sifton (Brandon) said that the attacks upon the interior department, largely related to events that occurred during his administration. The position had been accommodated with mountains of information. From these they had exhorted certain individuals who had been discussed years ago which had been discussed years ago and forgotten. Mr. Borden had claimed that the minister of the interior had changed the law in order to rest himself in despotic authority. Every amendment made in the direction of concentrating authority in the hands of parliament without division. When the speaker assumed charge of the department nobody had introduced legislation that the house had passed.

Charges were made that land had been sold very cheaply to many persons. The speaker had always favored bona fide settlers, who had selected worthless lands and could not port their families. His policy had been to increase settlement. A good honest man was worth more to the country than a few additional cents per acre.

Respecting the insinuation that protractors, who filed claims for mineral rights were juggled by officers prompting others to forge applications and date them back, the ex-minister pointed out that such a procedure was possible only as it was possible for a person to alter and suppress the records in the registry office at Ottawa or Toronto.

Takes the Responsibility.
In reference to the grazing leases, Mr. Sifton declared, "I take the entire responsibility for these leases." Fiction, naturally arose between grain growers and stock raisers. It arose in the Northwest, in Australia and in the north States. He dealt with this problem, in about the same way as did the State of Montana.

Referring to Mr. Burrow's timber berths, Mr. Sifton denied that any improper favors had been extended to his brother-in-law.

Career Comparison.
He placed his record, without fear, alongside of the Conservative administration. When he became minister, he said, he had millions of acres locked up from settlement. Every available acre of fertile land was railway company reserve. Thirty million acres had been earned by railways, and yet there were only 29,000 white people in the whole Northwest. The C. P. R. had never paid a dividend, and its stock was down to 50 cents. The homestead law had been mismanaged absurdly.

His critics were men who had been in Canada for the lifetime of a Pullman car. No farmer, no settler in that country could be found to say that he had not vastly improved the homestead regulations.

Mr. Sifton intimated that he might soon retire from public life.

Hon. George E. Foster complimented Mr. Sifton's presentation, and contrasted his clear, strong speech with the floundering by Mr. Oliver. No doubt the government supporters would be rejoiced to see the minister and speaker exchanged places. He had reason to believe that such an exchange in the near future was not impossible.

The opposition did not seek to "discontinue" on page 4.

WAGONAH SMASHES LOCK SHIPS SAVED BY MIRACLE

Suction of Rush of Water in Lachine Canal Raises Submerged Stopgate.

Motreal, May 31.—(Special.)—The steamer Wagonah, grain carrier, broke thru lock No. 2 on Lachine Canal, near Montreal Harbor, this afternoon. A terrible disaster was prevented by the unexpected raising of a stop gate that was lying at the bottom. When the regular gates gave way the rush of water was so great that the suction raised the stop gate, which was kept on the bottom to be raised only in case repairs are needed to the regular gates. If this had not occurred all craft in the vicinity would have been dashed to pieces.

credit" the department; on the contrary, they desired to purify and strengthen it.

It was true the Conservative government had alienated 30,000,000 acres, but in return, he had the C. P. R. and other great lines of transportation. What had this government to show for the two million acres that it had alienated.

In Search of Graft. It was the duty of the opposition to be on the lookout for graft. No honest official would resist investigation, or be too swift in resenting criticism.

It is believed that graft would be found in the coal leases. They were rapidly settling in the hands of a few men. They were going to the speculator and not to the settler.

Mr. Tull (Ed. Asst.) moved the adjournment of the debate.

HANES WAS IN COBALT.

Other Prospects Who Identify Him as Having Present Several Days.

In the Cobalt case yesterday Frederick J. McGregor was the first material witness. When McGregor first made the acquaintance of Hanes he was in the company of Mr. Grover, prospecting for minerals in Cobalt in October and remaining there until December. He said he met Hanes near Kerr Lake about the end of November.

Miss Beatrice Turner, daughter of the boarding-house lady where Hanes roomed on Oxford-street, gave evidence at the afternoon court. She remembered Hanes being away on two occasions in 1904, once in November and again in December.

Joseph A. Harmon, an expert, now employed as superintendent with the Rothchild Mining Cobalt Co., gave evidence that Grover, whom he had known for 14 years, introduced Hanes to him and asked that he might sleep in his (Harmon's) tent for two or three nights, which was granted.

Mr. Wallbridge of Shelton & Wallbridge gave evidence touching the sale of Hanes' properties to Harrgrave.

Mr. Cochrane, he said, seemed to take it as a personal matter against Mr. Harrgrave.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane will be in court this morning and Mr. Johnston stated that he might put the minister of mines in the witness box.

TORONTO'S BUILDING BOOM FIGURES FROM CITY HALL

Remarkable Increase Shown—Health Statistics Are Very Satisfactory—Hall Notes.

Mayor Coatsworth has returned from Ottawa less jubilant than on former returns. He says that propositions have been made as to joint action in building the Tongue-street bridge by city and highways and two of them the city might fairly accept.

The mayor's idea for a greater and better Toronto, at a cost of five millions, is regarded as a sort of a pipe dream around the hall, but, nevertheless, it is productive of some good suggestions.

There is a good advertisement for Toronto in the comparative statement of building permits from Jan. 31 to May 31, 1905-1906, which is as follows:

WHAT WILL MAKE TORONTO.

The World pointed out two months ago that Toronto had more banking capital centred here than has Montreal, and a contemporary yesterday confirmed this by a table of the details.

What Toronto wants next to capital is cheap power, light and heat. Nothing will give this but municipal ownership of the power and light lines in conjunction with a provincial system for the distribution of power from the Falls.

Toronto ought also to insist on the price of gas being still further reduced. Toronto need not count on cheap labor, but she can do a lot to help labor to get cheap homes, and in this way ameliorate the situation.

PUNISHING BY PLEDGING. Widespread interest has been evoked in England and Scotland over the recent departure made by William Jefferson Peltard, police judge of St. Louis, in compelling prisoners charged with drunkenness to sign the pledge and to keep it, under penalty of the enforcement of a fine or commitment to the workhouse.

The chairman of the district council of Redditch, who also sits as a magistrate, says that he has put Judge Peltard's pledge of total abstinence into operation, and other magistrates seem inclined to favor it.

ANGLO-CONGOLESE AGREEMENT. Looking back upon the course of events which led to the British occupation of Egypt and what has since happened, the conviction can scarcely be resisted that there is a Providence that shaped the end.

AN AMERICAN VIEW OF IT

J. J. HILL: "A GOOD BIG SLICE FOR YOU, SONNY."—Duluth (Min.) News Tribune.

Interest in the scene of the romantic expedition led by the great Napoleon; these present a series to which history affords no parallel.

When the Anglo-French agreement was ratified and approved by the European powers interested under the capitulations, there remained one unsettled dispute. It related to certain territory on the Upper Nile leased to the Congo Leopold of Belgium by the Anglo-King Leopold of Belgium in May, 1894.

Following upon this came the complete rout of the Mahdists by Lord Kitchener, and the Fashoda crisis when Britain and France were placed for a brief period in acute antagonism.

The difficulty has now been terminated under an agreement recently signed by Sir Edward Grey, the imperial minister for foreign affairs, and Baron Von Etchvelde.

the position of a weaker country by according exceptionally generous terms. The Egyptian government will guarantee the interest on the capital sum required for the construction of a railway from the Nile near Lado to the Congo frontier, which on the determination of the lease will be wholly under the jurisdiction of the Sudanese government and the depot on the Nile terminus is to remain in possession of the railway company.

This agreement concludes the strange eventful history of Egypt and the Egyptian Sudan, and Sir Edward Grey has been rightly congratulated on the conclusion of an agreement which substitutes for a singularly ambiguous and inconvenient arrangement one which appears to possess all the elements of finality.

Evidence is steadily accumulating that the startling charges made by Up-ton Sinclair in his novel, "The Jungle," in connection with the methods in use by the Chicago meat-packing houses, have a substantial basis of fact.

So remarkable has been the outburst of public sentiment that four of the principal Chicago houses have issued an official statement, declaring they were in favor of any inspection or regulation that would improve the meat-packing industry.

Prominence is given by the British newspapers to the revelations which have been and are being made, and there is every prospect that a scare over the American canned meats may be created among the British public.

Canada must not be allowed to suffer in this way, and a campaign of education should be forthwith instituted and prosecuted to a finish.

During and after Colonel Younghusband's expedition to Tibet, it was freely stated by the opponents of Lord Curzon's forward policy that the consequences would be disastrous to British India and Tibet.

From them it appears that the total volume of trade for the nine months ending Dec. 31, 1905, exceeds by over $170,000 that for the whole twelve months ending on March 31 of that year.

WALL STREET CLOSES WEAK AFTER EARLY FIRMNESS

Penna. Loan Again Enters the Gossip to Account for Decline—Locals Irregular.

World Office, Thursday Evening, May 31. Wall street was firmer early today, and local investors took occasion to test the home market in a more bullish fashion.

The experiment was not pushed very far and a good deal of manoeuvring was necessary to give the appearance of strength without having to take forcible steps.

There was nothing in the day's news to justify the morning's price, but the 4 per cent. loan was maintained at the 4 per cent. level, and local money channels were still reported tight.

Spasmodic movements here and there in the market were about the only feature today. With a slight advance in the dealings in Sao Paulo, Mackay common was given a start.

Some heavy selling of Twin City common was reported in the New York market, where the price was dropped to 116. No reason was assigned for the supposed liquidation.

As the day advanced, however, the 4 per cent. loan was maintained at the 4 per cent. level, and local money channels were still reported tight.

PACKING HOUSE ATROCITIES BROUGHT TO LIGHT BY NOVEL

Alleged Trade Secrets of Revolting Nature of Chicago Meat Canners Laid Bare.

New York, May 31.—Upton Sinclair, whose novel, "The Jungle," related incidents concerning the Chicago stockyards which caused President Roosevelt to send two commissioners to disprove, as he believes, the facts alleged, but who, instead, has been justified by the official examinations, has made the following statement:

"The American people now have before them one of the greatest opportunities of their lives; one of the criminal trusts, their enemies—and the very worst of them has been caught with the goods.

"It is bad enough to levy an unjust tax upon the cold supply of the whole community, compelling the poor to freeze in winter, or to buy such a tax upon transportation or upon oil; but, worst of all, is to deprive the people of their food supply, for food is the chief of their necessities. That is the beef trust.

"It oppresses the people in many ways. It collects rebates and it charges the shipper for ice which it never uses. It drives the small butcher out of business; it has ruined the stock-raising industry in whole states. It has raised the price of every man's breakfast five cents per pound in the last five years. And all this is had enough, but when the public has paid for the food it gets poison instead.

Sold Poison for Thirty Years. "It has been getting it for 30 years. The beef trust magnates were so used to selling it that they never dreamed that anyone would care.

"The President Roosevelt sent two of his personal friends to investigate. They heard about it, and they set to work to clean up, as I have positive knowledge, direct from the men who did the cleaning. But you cannot clean thirty years of filth in ten days. You cannot change the habits of a lifetime.

"The President's commission were honest men, and they went everywhere working diligently and faithfully, and they got absolute, positive and irrefutable evidence that the American people were being deliberately and systematically fed upon poison.

Meat Poisoned Instead of Smoked. "Dead and diseased animals were being used. Every portion of the animal was being used—the skins, the necks, the ears. Old meats were being doctored over—having come back rejected from every corner of the civilized world. Meats which were fuscally labeled were dyed with chemicals. Meats which should have been smoked were painted instead to save the trouble. All this the commission found, and it stated it to the president.

"A bill had been introduced to reform conditions. The packers had their lobby all ready in one day, and they had caused one thousand telegrams to be sent to the president from all over the country. Then suddenly they learned of what was in the report, and their opposition collapsed. Every power they could muster was set at the task of keeping it back; every power which they could command is being used to prevent it from passing.

The Beginning of It. "Upton Sinclair was inspired to his investigation by the first exposure of the criminal and revolting methods in vogue in the beef packing industry made in 1899, in an affidavit of Thomas F. Dolan, for some time 'killing superintendent' of the Armour plant in Chicago.

Mr. Sinclair said that the Dolan affidavit was the first disclosure of the true conditions of affairs in the packing industry ever made to the public, and that the facts there alleged had appeared to him as justifying an investigation and even fuller exposure if they could be verified. The investigation that not only had Mr. Sinclair proved the truth in his exposure, but that he had not told all, but merely that which came under his personal observation in the department of which he was superintendent.

The Armour made all sorts of denials of Dolan's sworn statements, and tried in every way to get him out of the country, or to have him deny his own statements, and even paid him $5000 thru an agent for an affidavit denying his statements, but Dolan simply signed the document, and accepted the money, under his lawyer's advice, to further expose the methods of this one house of the beef trust.

Some of the conditions which existed some eight or ten years ago, and Mr. Sinclair and the two special commissioners of the department of commerce, Messrs. Neill and Reynolds, found that conditions are as bad as, or worse than, when Dolan was an employee of the Armour.

Some of the statements by "Tom" Dolan, the "killing superintendent," and Mr. Sinclair, the author and investigator, are given below to show the truth as it really was, and to stand in the way of the earning of dollars by the packers in the great beef combine.

Disclosures Made in 1899. "Tom Dolan said: "Whenever a beef got past the yard inspectors with a case of lumpy jaw 'killing beef,' I was authorized by Mr. Pierce to take its head off, thus removing the evidences of lumpy jaw, and after casting the smitten portion into the tank where refuse goes, to send the rest of the carcass on its way to market.

"In cases where tuberculosis became evident to the men who were skinning the cattle, it was their duty, on instructions from Mr. Pierce, communicated to them thru me, to remove the tubercles and cast them into a trap-door provided for that purpose.

"In other words, the order went out to dispose of all evidences of disease themselves to the naked eye. I have seen hundreds and thousands of cattle pass inspection that should have been consigned to the destroying tanks. I have witnessed men tearing off with their naked hands large tubercles growing along the ribs, intestines, lungs and vital parts of the slaughtered steers.

"I have seen as much as forty pounds of flesh afflicted with the principle of lumpy jaw, and in order that the rest of the animal might be utilized in trade.

"The slaughter houses of Chicago are conducted on the principle that once once good is always good. I lived there seven weeks, and saw with my own eyes how business is conducted.

"In Armour's, where spotted hams are treated in a cellar by a man who pumps a fluid into them with a foot pump, the stench of the decaying meat is unbearable, but I was laughed at because I could not stand it.

"Tuberculosis in hogs is so common as to excite no remark. Hogs dead from cholera or smothered to death in transit are shipped to Chicago, and there turned into hog grease. Some of this product is shipped to France and used in making a fancy sardine oil."

"Tom" Dolan said: "One of the most important regulations of the bureau of animal industry is that no cows or calves are to be used on the market, but it has no more weight with the packers than so much chaff. Out of the slaughter of 2000 cows, or a day's killing, perhaps one-half are with calf. The inspectors cannot help but see these conditions. They are of such frequent occurrence that it is impossible to avoid seeing them."

"My instructions were from Mr. Pierce to dispose of the calves by hiding them until night, or until the inspectors left off duty. The little calves were then brought from all over the packing house and skinned by boys. They received two cents for removing each calf. The boys would then cast each into the kid glove manufacturers. This occurs every night at Mr. Armour's concern in Chicago, or after each killing of cows."

Unsalable Calves Make Potted Chicken. "No chickens are used in the Armour plant for potted chicken. The flesh of unsalable calves is far more profitable, and is used almost exclusively for that purpose. Not a shred of chicken meat enters the can.

"Thousands of pounds of chemicals are used to dye meat and to retard decomposition.

"Old cows, so nearly dead that they have to be carted, are used for the canned meat beef. Fifty per cent, of the meat is with calf. Soup and beef extracts are made from the liquid drained from this boiled meat."

"Tom" Dolan said: "One Meat Not Canned. "Cattle that are unfit for dog meat are boiled down the nutriment is extracted for soups and beef extracts, and the dry, unwholesome pulp, fortified with a mass of gelatinous substance, is jammed into a can with a flaming label around it. Meat that can be used for anything else is never canned, simply because there is a better price to be obtained for it when it is fresh.

GOVERNMENT HASN'T FUNDS FOR SCHOOL AMMUNITION

So Inspector Hughes is Informed — G. A. Smith for Jameson Ave. Principal.

G. A. Smith, assistant master of Jameson-avenue Collegiate Institute, was recommended by the management committee of the board of education yesterday, to succeed Senior Principal L. E. Embree, as principal.

Senior Principal Embree suggested that since the board had placed him in charge of a school which was said to be badly in need of reorganization, and which he was loyally willing to undertake, yet it would involve much more attention, worry, and considerable expense, he asked the committee to reconsider the salary question. On a motion by Jas. Simpson it was decided to increase the extra grant to Mr. Embree from $250 to $500.

In passing the accounts, an item of $16.50 for ammunition for cadet practice brought to light the fact that the government was not looking after that particular department, as expected. Inspector Hughes had written the government, and received reply that there were no funds for that purpose.

Principal Embree was authorized to visit the collegiate institutes and obtain information regarding the qualification of candidates for promotion.

The senior principal estimated that in September the attendance in the three collegiates will be 1600. The total seating capacity is only 1390. With the retirement of Mr. Chase and the return of Messrs. Manley and Strath, he recommended two regular teachers in place of the two occasional now employed, to fill up the complement of teachers for the three schools, and for the additional accommodation, five or six additional teachers.

The resignations of three kindergarten directresses were accepted as follows: Miss E. M. Harrison, of Manning-ave school; Miss L. M. Welch, Shirley-street school, and Miss M. I. Saunders, Gladstone-avenue school.

Miss M. M. Peters will be transferred from Louise-street school as directress of Shirley-street kindergarten; Carrie L. Pearce from Duke-street to Manning-avenue; Miss E. M. Jewett, assistant in Clinton-street, will be promoted to the position of directress in Gladstone-avenue; Miss M. Q. O'Brien, assistant in Winchester, to Duke-street as directress; Miss M. Macquodale, assistant kindergarten, will be transferred from Perth-ave to Brock-ave; Miss A. Williams, from Ryerson to Perth-avenue; Miss N. Withers, from Duke-street to Winchester; Miss M. Stauder, from Louise to Duke-street.

The following were appointed to the staff of assistant kindergarten: Miss M. D. Hendry, to Clinton-street school; Miss A. Drew, to Kew Beach; Miss Edith Jones, to Ryerson; Miss M. McEwan, to Fern-avenue; Miss Frankie Williams was appointed teacher of domestic science in Winchester-street school.

Leave of absence during June was granted to Miss F. Roger and Miss Grace Williams.

watched it returned to the post where it started. "This trick was the great joke of the stockyard. The steam blinded the inspector that he could not see what became of the condemned carcass, and as it was returned to a room into which only inspected and approved beef was supposed to be, no further difficulty was encountered."

Fooling the Inspectors. "Mr. Sinclair said: "The Chicago newspapers that suppose the packers became incensed over the story I told of a man falling into a vat of boiling lard. The lard was used as if nothing had happened, after his body had been pulled out in fragments. The commissioners discovered the truth of this a few days after they began their investigation.

"The widow was paid $2500 to keep her mouth shut and was sent away."

"The Chicago editors became still angrier over the story of finding human fingers in canned goods. That such finds have been made can be vouched for by Charles Dexter Allen of Ryker Heights, Brooklyn and Henry Walker of No. 35 Grand View-avenue, Port Jervis.

"I collected a mass of advertisements of chemicals for use in packing houses and sent them to the president. They were the most convincing evidence of the business and audacity of the packers in doctoring their meats."

ELECTRICIANS MAY STRIKE. Agreement Has Expired—Will Meet Employers To-Day.

There are rumors of trouble between the journeymen electrical workers of this city and the bosses. At 12 o'clock last night the contract signed two years ago came to an end, and this afternoon the men will meet to help between masters and men. A gentleman closely in touch with the local situation said last night that the men might rub along for a few days in the hope that the bosses would accept the demands, which are, briefly, a minimum scale of 35 cents an hour instead of 27 1/2 cents an hour as at present. F. S. Baker, the architect in charge of the Traders' Bank stated last night that the electrical work on the big building was well advanced, that everything was progressing satisfactorily, and that he knew nothing concerning a threatened strike this morning among the electrical workers.
