Mr. MacPherson replied that he hoped such a contingency would not arise, but if it did, it would have to receive grave consideration.

'Just what's your face in bringin' it up now?' queried Hiram. 'I had a little altercation with a man yesterday. He said that I was a 'damned fanatic' and ought to be locked up. This is my revenge. He will read what I have written and be glad to see it will work on his imagination to such an extent that he will not sleep for a week.'"

THEIVING FROM TRAINS GOES UNCHECKED

Vienna, March 14.—Looking of freight trains, particularly of foodstuffs and wearing apparel, goes on unchecked throughout Austria. Unless conveyed, it is said, a shipment stands little chance of coming through intact. The robbers seem well organized and armed and often so numerous as to resist arrest. Gift cargoes from other European states seem the favorite plunder and, according to reports, much of the stolen goods has been found for sale in the open market.

A large consignment of this character from Sweden arrived this week and when the ways were arranged, parcels, containing flour, fats and other staples, were opened it was found that a portion of the fat and flour had been skillfully removed from each package and a sack of Austrian salt substituted to make up the requisite weight.

HOW ENGLISH TOWNS RELIEVE TAXPAYERS

Make Money in Various Kinds of Ventures to Help Ratepayer.

(Pearson's Weekly.)

Several towns in England make money for the purpose of helping the ratepayer. Doncaster, for example, has a race-course which brings in a handsome profit—probably a five-figure sum—each winter. Doncaster races, always popular "with the crowd," have been in existence since the sixteenth century.

From here comes an enormous sum for the town in their time. Plymouth corporation are the owners of an hotel, The Royal, and a theatre, which bring in a yearly revenue of over £2,000. Identically the same policy, which has been in the town's possession for over one hundred years, is one of the most popular in Liverpool do not directly benefit thereby, the city makes money out of its good investment.

The Valley Bridge at Scarborough is the property of the corporation, which was built by the corporation so long ago as the eleventh century. The mayor is churchwarden, and that capacity, up to a few years ago, he allotted the sittings, whence money was obtained.

Bristol owns a College of Domestic Subjects, including a Cookery School, and although no money is actually made out of the concern—the contrary the town contributes towards its maintenance—the citizens regard it as being in many ways a good investment.

The Valley Bridge at Scarborough is the property of the corporation, which was built by the corporation so long ago as the eleventh century. The mayor is churchwarden, and that capacity, up to a few years ago, he allotted the sittings, whence money was obtained.

The corporation of Halifax are the owners of a stone quarry, from which paving material is obtained for use in the town.

FLOODS CAUSE DAMAGE. As a result of heavy rains swollen streams are causing considerable damage to property in New Brunswick. The dam crushing power of Humphrey's woolen and lumber mills east of Moncton was carried away. E. D. Lockhart's dam in that vicinity is also broken. The bridge below the pasturized milk depot was submerged and a gang of men were set to work to dig ditches in order to divert the flow of water and relieve the pressure on the bridge. Lockhart's main dam remained intact and strong efforts were made to hold it. The bridge at the foot of McLean's hill, Lewisville, was also in danger but under the supervision of John Brown of Sunny Bree a ditch was dug in an effort to save the bridge. The water in the Scoudou river near Shediac is also high.

Ireland and Canada are Compared London, March 30.—In the home rule debate in the house of commons today many references were made to the dominions, particularly in regard to the statement of Mr. Asquith that he would give Ireland in effect the status of a dominion. Mr. Bonar Law, referring to this, pointed out that the empire depended upon the operation of the principle that the dominions decided their own destinies. Everyone recognized the connection of the dominions with the empire depended on this. If one of them were to choose, say tomorrow, "we will no longer remain a part of the British Empire," no attempt would be made to force them to a different decision. Anything like the freedom of the dominions in Ireland would mean a republic. Mr. Asquith had complained that poor communities were to be burdened with two parliaments, but precisely the same thing was seen in Canada, not only in the prosperous provinces, like Ontario and Quebec, but in the west also where the population was poor.

AMALGAMATING AND LEARN GOOD OF ADVERTISING

Change in Business Methods in England Noted in Trade Reports to Washington.

Washington, March 31.—Amalgamation of department stores in England is noted in official trade reports received here as the latest development of a tendency toward combination in each branch of England's national industries. Big stores, especially those in the more important cities, are combining through purchase or consolidation and already it has become apparent to some observers that the business soon will be concentrated in the control of a few big interests.

The American Chamber of Commerce in London reports that one of the largest department stores of that city recently absorbed three competitors and has branched out in South America through the opening of a large establishment in Buenos Aires.

The report said, this movement towards amalgamation is not expected to destroy competition, though it may tend to narrow its scope.

Ever Thought of Endowing your Home?

SUPPOSE that—having purchased a home and effected a mortgage on it—you should die suddenly!

Wouldn't your wife and family have a hard time meeting the interest on the mortgage and discharging the principal sum when due? Not so, however, if you were insured under an Imperial Endowment policy for the amount of the mortgage.

A small amount invested each year in such a policy will enable your heirs to pay the mortgage immediately after your death, even if it should occur next week.

On the other hand, if you should live until the policy matures you can then pay off the indebtedness yourself out of the proceeds of the Endowment.

Have you a mortgage on your home? Then let us show you how easily you can make sure of its repayment whether you live or die.

CITY COUNCIL

Matter of Lancaster Water Pressure—The Magistrate's Salary—Some Tenders Returned.

At the regular meeting yesterday afternoon the common council disposed of considerable routine, preparatory to taking up personally with the legislators in Fredericton several matters which vitally concern the city.

An account of the Union Foundry and Machine Shop to the amount of $250 for repairing the propeller of the ferry Governor Carleton was ordered paid.

The commissioner of public safety was authorized to erect an overhead track system and automatic scales in the public market, the cost of the work to exceed $1,000.

A bill relating to the Portland Rolling Mill Company, Limited, was ordered to be forwarded, as amended, to the legislature.

H. A. Powell, K.C., and W. H. Harrison appeared before the council with reference to a bill which will be presented to the provincial legislature, dealing with the rental and rental fees of vaults and other spaces under the city sidewalks, used by private firms or corporations. These gentlemen represented the Bank of Montreal and W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd., lessees of vaults, and requested that the council would waive the matter of a seven day notice to the legislature, so that the matter may go before the authorities without delay.

Mr. Jones brought in a resolution to the effect that the water assessment rates for the city of St. John be the same as last year, and that the assessment rates for the parishes of Lancaster and Simonds be the same as for the city of St. John. He recommended that Wednesday, October 13, be the day when all such rates be payable and that five per cent discount be allowed on all rates paid before that time. He informed the council that this is the first time that a water rate has been assessed in the parish of Simonds.

Councillor O'Brien of Lancaster said that there should be provision for rebate for the people of Lancaster as they have been frequently cut off from water supply. He urged that a pipe line be laid from Spruce Lake to Manchester's corner this year as the residents desired an improved water pressure. At a recent fire in Fairville the pressure was sufficient to send a stream only to the second story windows.

The rate was placed at one-fifth of one per cent on the value of the property.

In a letter from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company the council was informed that the suburban train service would be adapted to suit the needs of the public, if the city decides on adopting daylight saving. This was also referred to the committee for attention.

An open letter from R. J. Wilkins, regarding Soldiers' Day expenditures by the Polymorphous Club, was acknowledged and was decided to notify the writer that the city will adhere to its policy of paying only those bills which are itemized and certified, in connection with the celebration last August.

A letter from Hon. Robert J. Ritchie, city magistrate, regarding the fact that he has not received an advance in salary, was read.

Mayor Hayes said that an offer was made by the council to Magistrate Ritchie last year, so that he could retire on a pension, but that he had refused this offer.

Mr. Thornton suggested that this offer be made again.

On motion of Mr. Bullock the letter was referred to the committee for action.

Mayor Hayes and the city chamberlain were authorized to dispose of certain city debentures.

The mayor said he would like to see his term of office expired, to see something done with regard to the backwood Park playgrounds, and on motion of Mr. Bullock the commissioner of public works was asked to bring in a report as to conditions and the attitude of the Horticultural Association.

Mr. Jones said that some members of his staff had protested that the salaries they are receiving now are not in accord with the schedule presented to him some time ago and promised the board that he would have a report on the matter at the next meeting.

Recognition of the service of Martin Wilcox, who rescued a man from drowning at great personal risk to himself, in the evening of March 7 last, near berth No. 7, Sand Point, was brought up at the meeting, but though there was some discussion, action was deferred until more particulars regarding the occurrence are secured.

Complying with a request from the Canadian Bituminous Company, it was decided to return to the company four checks, of $1,000, which were forwarded with tenders for the paving work now under discussion, and the company informed that the tenders were not accepted. A similar course was pursued with the tenders from B. Money & Sons.

Permission was given the drug firm of Wasson's, to erect an electric sign at their store in Sydney street.

One of the biggest features in the men's furnishings line at the King Square Sales Company is the hat. Durand, the great price-cutter, reduced the prices on these so low, for this sale, that he felt for the bargain himself. The Sales King with the Hat Hat, now undergoing a change in heading, has made since taking charge of "The House of Bargains". The first one was a cap for $1.98, which he claims is easily worth $2.50. Ladies' Sunshine Stockings, regular value 88 cents, now 80 cents. Thus Bargains doth make buyers of us all. 4-1

GROCERY PRICES IN THREE CITIES OF THE DOMINION

The following comment on the market situation as regards foodstuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer last week: All market conditions this week continue to develop a firmer undertone. A number of commodities have registered advances while others show strong tendencies toward higher prices, particularly on tea, spices, coffee, shell nuts and molasses.

Montreal.
The market is dominated this week by a decidedly strong undertone and although no startling price changes have developed it is felt that the tendency on all lines is toward higher levels. Limes root beer has advanced to 80 per dozen and pressed hops are selling at 15 cents per pound. Clothes pins are higher and Quaker purified wheat. Borax is higher and Epsom salts show considerable advances. Canned goods are steady for several makes of cocoa and chocolates. Sugar is firm and no important change has been noted, although the undertone suggests advanced prices shortly. Canned goods are steady for the time being with higher tendencies. Cereals are very firm, but prices are unchanged. No material change has been effected in the market for package goods this week. Dried fruits are steady and coffee is firm and advances may shortly be expected. Almonds and walnuts are stiffening up very considerably, although no price changes have been effected. Cattle is steady under a somewhat limited demand. Corn syrup are very firm under recently advanced prices. Molasses is in a very strong position. Advances have been effected and the general opinion is that higher levels will be reached within the very near future. Beans and peas are steady with prices ruling unchanged. The shortage of feeds is more pronounced than ever and the situation is growing serious. Hay and grain are steady and but little movement has been manifested in the market during the week. Tons are unimproved so far as supplies are concerned and higher prices may be looked for. Coffee is firm and advances have been recorded on cocoa. Spices are firm with higher tendencies. Advanced prices are on potatoes, but the high quotations are only temporary and it is expected that easier prices will come as soon as the conditions of the roads improve. Fruits are steady under fairly active demand and no material changes have been effected during the past week.

Toronto.
The trend of practically all Toronto markets continues to show tendencies for higher prices. Many commodities advanced to new levels and information gathered from all sources in the trade does not show any indications of lower prices prevailing for some time. Red-patch sugar has advanced 25 cents per hundred which brings all sugars on an equal price basis. Supplies of granulated sugar have greatly improved and wholesaler are now in a position to fill all orders. Corn syrup stand firm at advanced prices. Molasses is also ruling at firm figures. The tea market continues in an unsettled condition. The British market is strong with advances registered on many grades. Spot stocks are not large and new purchases that are arriving are costing more. Corn flakes have declined 30 cents per case.

Cereals stand firm at unchanged prices. There is no change indicated in the situation of the rice market; indications from primary markets all show a firmness with a possibility for higher prices. No new developments have appeared in the spice market, which rules firm. The Canadian government has prohibited the import from the United States of canned chicken, chicken gumbo and multi-grain soups in view of the fact that poultry is not an inspected product by the United States bureau of animal industry. Jams, paper bags, Liquid Veneer, chocolate, cocoa, package tea and Chocolate have all advanced. Shell-

CHARLOTTE STREET SERVICE.
Rev. G. D. Hudson of the Victoria street Baptist church was the speaker at the special service in the Charlotte street church last night when he preached eloquently from the text in St. Luke, chapter 9, "I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest." Mr. Hudson held up Lard and shortening in evidence for emulation of the courage and will power of the man who spoke these words to Christ and illustrated his remarks from his own experiences while an officer in the Salvation Army. Rev. J. H. Jenner, the pastor, conducted the service and there was a large attendance. Mrs. James Patterson sang a solo very pleasingly.

REV. DR. PRINGLE ADDRESSES THE CANADIAN CLUB

There were a large number of Canadian Club members at the luncheon last evening in Bond's restaurant, when the guest of honor was the Rev. (L.-Col.) John Pringle, D.D., who had served for four years with the C. E. F. in France.

The Rev. Dr. Pringle was born in Prince Edward Island and is a member of the Presbyterian church in Canada. After the chairman, Sir Douglas Hasen, introduced the speaker in a few well chosen remarks, Dr. Pringle was warmly greeted. He said that he had been speaking all over Canada, beginning in Nova Scotia in August and speaking in every province with the exception of Prince Edward Island.

The doctor also spoke of the returned men and said he had met many of them as well as the public take too much notice of the small percentage that cause unrest. The vast majority came back to make Canada a better nation. The period spent in the army had made him a much better citizen in every way. He spoke strongly against the efforts for an additional gratuity.

Dr. Pringle then related several incidents that occurred back of the lines in France and told many amusing as well as pathetic anecdotes. He paid a high compliment to the British army and said that Britain had never had an army in all history to compare with the men in the late war. He praised the regular army which did such good work in the retreat from Mons.

THE SEVEN SEAS CHAPTER MEETS

The Seven Seas Chapter of the I. O. E. E. met last evening at the residence of Miss Marion Flagler in Princess street, with the regent, Mrs. Ray Haley, presiding. Three new members were elected, as follows: Miss Elsie McDiarmid, Miss Irene McQuade and Miss Grace Robertson. Two others were nominated as new members. Reports of the various committees were all very satisfactory. The committee in charge of the furnishing of the room in the Protestant Orphanage in West St. John, reported that the furniture had been bought and laid on the floor. Further needs of the room were spoken of and the chapter will supply them from time to time. Arrangements were made for holding a rummage sale and Miss Dorothy Jones was appointed convenor of the committee to take charge. The chapter decided to give an entertainment for the cadets of the Somerset and made preliminary plans for holding the entertainment at the home of one of the members.

ARE WE AS BAD AS THIS?

It would seem to be about time that the government of Canada took cognizance of a weekly mis-named Statesman, and published in the city of Toronto. In its issue of March 27 it prints an article in which, discussing England's course in regard to Ireland, it says:

Chamber of Commerce sent for Mr. A. R. Morrison, commissioner of recreation of Winnipeg, to address the members. "He said that proper recreation and amusement after working hours will do more than any other agency to cure the social unrest of the period. In dealing with what Winnipeg has done in this regard, Mr. Morrison pointed out that that city now has twenty-six playgrounds and twenty indoor recreation centres, and he claimed that the results have been eminently satisfactory. The Big Brother movement has proved invaluable for boys, recreation is provided for everyone, and fathers are educated to take part in the sports and games with their children. He claimed that by this means the problem of dealing with gangsters has been largely solved. Duttons for children who pass efficiency tests are donated by the city."

"The New Bull of Europe may find, as the Prussian Bull discovered, that the old saying is true, that he who speaks to the sword shall perish by the sword. What is England's position in the world today? Not only is she unable to pay back the capital on the loans obtained from the United States, but worse still, she is unable to pay the accruing interest. There is but a step between England and the precipice. She may yet be saved for greater things than to be the successor to Prussianism in Europe if the English democracy succeeds in gaining control of the government. She will fall amidst the plaudits of the whole world if, after the Great War, she has no better solution to offer of the Irish problem than the methods of her soldiers at Armistice."

"The same issue contains a long article on 'Recognition of the Irish Republic' by one W. J. M. A. Maloney, in which the letter denounces England in all the usual and tenses and charges that 'British propagandists have been sent into all nations to exalt the virtues of England, to defame the citizens of the Irish Republic and to libel their cause,' and that 'The British parliament, in its attempt to decide the world and to tempt with concessions the Irish to compromise their claim to complete sovereignty, has continued the mummery of legislation for Ireland; while a British army has occupied Ireland, seeking by force to suppress the Republic and to terrorize its citizens.' This writer asserts also that 'Unless the authority of British bayonets and tanks be considered government of the de facto government of the Irish Republic is also the de facto government.'

Another writer charges Canadian editors with being hostile to Ireland, and with having become 'the casting apogees for militarism and coercion in Ireland.' Again he says: 'Canadian editors as the servile underlings of Downing street scavenge the weary apogees of Toryism for propaganda matter against Ireland.'

Another article deals with 'A Controlled Press,' and asserts that the press of Canada is so controlled that editors dare not express their own convictions, although as a fact they 'have no real convictions and no passionate beliefs.' If the editors in question were disposed to retort in kind they might mildly enquire whose funds provide the Statesman with its convictions, but perhaps it would be more charitable to assume that it is the journal of high-souled patriots who make no charge when they go forth to implore all and sundry in this and other lands to renounce the world, the flesh and the Englishman. And yet, in a British country, such utterances as those quoted might, as has been observed, receive the thoughtful consideration of the government. The Water publications are milk and honey compared with the Statesman.

THE HEALTH ACT.

Those who are not yet familiar in a broad way with the working of the public health act should read carefully the speech of Hon. Dr. Roberts reported in this issue of the Times. Dr. Roberts goes fully into the matter and makes a very clear presentation of the case. It is most desirable that every citizen should be familiar with the law and its operation, and the benefits resulting to the whole community from individual and municipal co-operation with the department. There is yet a great deal of work to do, and it will be done all the more quickly and successfully if the people generally can catch some of the enthusiasm of the minister of health. It is much better for them to catch that than to contract an infectious disease, and much more to the general advantage. Dr. Roberts outlines some of the new work to be done, along the lines of nursing and hospital service, but the work already in hand calls for more general and hearty co-operation. New Brunswick, in its public health law, occupies a unique position and is the envy of other provinces and states in that regard, but it is not enough to have a beneficial measure on the statute book. Only when it has produced the best possible results can the people feel that their duty in relation to it has been fully performed. Whatever party may be in power hereafter the health law will be administered with a view to increasing its effectiveness and greater benefit to the people.

LOOK AT WINNIPEG.

Mayor Hayes would like to see something done about Rockwood Park playground before he quits office. The matter has been brought up time and again, and money granted, without getting anywhere. His worship's desire is also the desire of the citizens. All that is necessary is to convert inaction into action and the thing is done. The delay has lasted far too long. St. John should be ashamed of her playground record. The city of London, Ontario, is to improve its playground system. The

BROUGHT TO BOOK.

Rev. Thomas Marshall, in behalf of the Alliance, writes to the Standard, calling that paper to account for its attack on prohibition. Mr. Marshall especially objects to certain headlines in the Standard which reflect very strongly upon the inspectors under the prohibition act. He says in conclusion: "The headlines to the inspectors' accounts is not fair-minded journalism and the editorial cut scarcely by any stretch of imagination be called wise journalism."

THE DISCOVERY OF COAL.

"Plenty of stones like that where I live," said an Indian as he watched a blacksmith at work in the Hudson Bay Company shops at Fort Victoria in Feb. The Indian was watching the work in which a coal fire was used. The blacksmith, who knew the importance of such a discovery, made a bargain with the redskin to bring him some of what he had found, hardly expecting that the savage would keep his promise to do so. The Indian went away, and for a long time he failed to return. Hope was almost at the vanishing point when he appeared one day with a canoe loaded with fine coal which he gave over, with all the information desired concerning the location of the mine, for a bottle of rum. A prospecting party was at once fitted out and went north. Upon its return a favorable report was made on the coal mine found and the company decided at once to make a further investigation of the pit and also to mine some for its own use and for sale. This was not until 1883 that work in earnest began and in that year more than 2,000 tons were taken from the vein. This find was in the Nanaimo district, and the mining was carried on until 1911. The output was sold largely in San Francisco for $88 a ton. The price at the pit mouth was $11. The difference in price was due to the small cargoes that could be carried and the length of time required to get the coal to the United States city. This was the beginning of a British Columbia industry that has grown to that period to enormous proportions, and to give millions each year to the Dominion.

THE UNTRUTH.

You say the dead come back to talk with us. To carry on the tasks they used to do. To cheer all hearts of their old loved ones. To teach us what is good and right and true. These must be lies, else surely there would sound Some phantom bugle o'er each plot of land Where lies our hero dead. From each green mound A soul would leap in righteous wrath, to stand. To fight again for that they thought was theirs. When in the sodden fields of France they fell. And died content to know their work was done. Their lives were not in vain—and all was well. If spirits come to men, these dead would speak. In ones to ring from gutter to the sky. At which all traitor hearts would shrink—grow weak. With nameless terror urging them to flee. And some who dwell in honored place, and trust To fancied greatness, would be struck and thrown From their high seats into the lowly mire. With blinding truths their faiths have never known. The ghostly army sweeping from the coast. Where dawn suns shine to that where-abouts they set. Would fight the vicious foes that vilely boast. Of new, strange gods; who say we should forget. The Flag that we have down, of honored name—Should tear it from the staff and in its place Upraise a crimson banner red with shame. A badge of infamy—a world's disgrace! What would they do to those who hold Whose rapid endless prating fills the days. With empty words; who talk and never mean. Of futile, foolish means and selfish ways—Those who would quench the torch of Freedom's fire. Our brave men carried high until they died. Who tossed the hard-won laurels in the mire. Who from the first, their sacred trust denied? The dead come not, and 'tis 'tis, 'tis true. In these black days they would have much to do. —Harry Varley, in N. Y. Times.

THE GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS.

Ever since confederation the Dominion of Canada has been coming to the rescue of the private owners of railways. Why should it not now come to its own rescue as a railway owner to the extent that is actually necessary? Those Liberals who are denouncing public ownership are wasting time. This country will not dispose of its railways, and would a Liberal government seek to do so. The thing to do is to face the situation and pursue such a policy as will ensure the strictest economy in administration and management, not starving the service in any direction. Transportation is one of the greatest needs of Canada, with its vast spaces, and will continue to be a great need for years to come. The showing made by the railway department for the past year is rather gloomy one, but there is no reason to assume that it must always be so. In any event, government ownership has come to stay.

Hon. Dr. Roberts in his speech in the legislature yesterday urged that a delegation of members go to Ottawa to urge the proper development of this national port. Will the city itself send a delegation? It is certainly most desirable. As to the general development of the city of St. John, Dr. Roberts outlines plans that are perhaps in advance of the time, but are none the less worthy of careful consideration.

A farmer member of the Ontario legislature said last week: "If any class legislation comes from this side of the house, it will be for the class that consumes ninety or ninety-five per cent of the people of the province, and not for the other five or ten, as it has been in the past." Another speaker, a Liberal, gave the farmers credit for being shrewd business men. "Take the hobbles off them, and they can travel as fast as any one," he observed.

More than three times as much money is involved in building contracts in Montreal for the first quarter of this year as for the like period last year. High cost does not deter the builders in that city.

British Columbia will spend about $8,000,000 on roads in the next three to five years. Nova Scotia will spend $13,000,000 in five years. New Brunswick must look to its road policy or fall behind.

If the Commercial Club can get better building laws for St. John it will accomplish a long-needed reform. The attempt has been made many times, but failed.

THE TEACHER.

The teacher's is the noblest stunt a mortal can pursue; and yet today we see her hunt for something else to do. She loves her high, uplifting trade, and quits it with a sigh, but she can't live on what she's paid, and can't afford to live. For years she studies night and day, to qualify to teach; and we behold her on her way, and say she is a peach. We hand her nosogays when they're cheap, and call her Buttercup, and say the blessed schoolmarm keeps our bulwarks right side up. Without her this enlightened age would sadly be bereft; she guards the priceless heritage our well known fathers left. We hand her taffy with tightwads, every time. And so she's going from the school to seek some other trade, to carve her way with some new tool, a corkcreeper or a spade. She cannot thrive on nosogays sweet, or flourish on hot air, for she must have a primum to eat, and decent rags to wear.

THE HERMIT OF ISPAHAN.

(By Malcolm La Prade in N. Y. Evening Post.) There dwelt an aged hermit in a humble hut of clay Upon the road that leads to Ispahan. He sat beneath a juniper before his door all day Incessantly perusing the Koran. And travelers who chanced to pass that way, by caravan, Would stop to watch the hermit while he read; But no one ever heard him speak a word to any man Or saw him raise his venerable head. And some there were who came to him in search of sage advice, Of judgment in a quarrel or dispute; They laid before him offerings of frankincense and spice. But staid the aged hermit's lips were mute. At length there came three learned scribes, of great repute and fame; Who questioned him and quizzed him long. And then departed o'er the sands, no wiser than they came. For the word the holy man would speak. So they declared he did but wait till he should comprehend The hidden meaning of the Sacred Page. To raise his voice, and with the word of Allah put an end To all the lies and evils of the age. And soon the hermit's reverence had for a week, His wisdom was a byword in the land. And men erected monuments to him in every town. While poets sang his praise on every hand. At last the Caliph came in state, with all his court array, And summoned architects from far and wide. They built a temple round the little hut of clay. And left the hermit sitting there inside. Then Dervishes from many lands approached the temple wall. And there they pitched their tents, and all began To prophesy the future and expound to one and all The doctrine of the silent holy man. So now, when anyone arrived in search of counsel wise, Or one who wished his destiny foretold, He always found a Dervish standing ready to advise— And take a little offering of gold. And still within the temple sat the hermit with his book. The Caliph set his Dervishes to wait. And hear whatever dying word the holy man might say. And make it known throughout the Caliphate. And as they watched, he raised his eyes and gazed about the place, Observed the kneeling multitude outside. And then a cyclic smile o'erspread his countenance. He chuckled, closed the Sacred Book, and died. The Dervishes were quite upset; those ever, not for long— The hermit's chuckle hadn't reached the door, So out they went and prophesied before the waiting throng. As volubly as they had done before. They all declared the hermit just before his spirit fled. Had spoken, and the future had foretold. Each gave a different account of what it was he'd said— But they all accepted offerings of gold.

WANTS PENSIONS RAISED.

The resolution moved by Capt. J. C. Hamden (Southwest) that the Dominion Government requesting a revision of the Pensions Act, passed by the Ontario legislature with no more discussion than the speech of the mover. Hamden reviewed the present amounts paid to soldiers. For a totally disabled man—blind—the pension was $60 a month, counting the bonus. For a man with an arm or leg gone, the pension was $45 or $30 a month. Widows of fallen soldiers got $48 a month. These sums, declared Capt. Hamden, were not adequate. He said, and the widowed mother of a married soldier should also be looked after. At present she got nothing. He also thought that the widows of soldiers who died after marrying from war disability should get pensions. The resolution follows: "This House is of the opinion that representations should at once be made by the Government of this Province to the Dominion Government requesting a revision of the Pensions Act and an investigation into the operations and procedure of the Board of Pensions Commissioners, so as to grant much-needed increases in the pensions scale and to secure a more sympathetic attitude on the part of the Pension Commissioners to the just claims of the returned men."

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

(Halifax Chronicle) The most thorough survey of teachers' salaries in one city that has been recently published is just to hand from Detroit. It is based upon local data as well as upon official publications of various American bodies and various city reports. Graphs are used on almost every page. The increased cost of living from December, 1918, to November, 1919, is shown in the following statement: P. C. Detroit 98.56
Buffalo 93.43
New York 88.69
Cleveland 86.43
Philadelphia 85.41
Chicago 83.89
Boston 82.2
United States 82.2
Statistics are given to show the greatly increased wage schedules of various municipalities, and the relatively small increases to teachers. The result of the Detroit board of education, Jan. 12, 1920, of a new schedule, based upon the survey. Women grade teachers receive a minimum of $1,500 with a maximum of $2,000, counting the bonus. High school principals have a minimum of $3,000 and a maximum of $5,000, and an increase of $100. Comparison with the 1914 schedule, there is a general increase of 92.4 per cent.

RECENT WEDDINGS

A very pretty wedding of interest to many throughout the province was solemnized in St. Luke's church yesterday afternoon when the rector of the church, Rev. W. F. McKim, united in marriage Dorothy Daye, of St. John, and Frank A. Grimmer, youngest son of the late G. Durrell Grimmer and Mrs. Grimmer, of St. Andrews, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. The church was decorated with ferns, roses, carnations and jonquils and was a very beautiful setting for the ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of tulle brocade with a rest of blue embroidered in gold. She wore a pretty blue hat and seal furs, the gift of Opheleia roses and carried a lovely bouquet of Opheleia roses and sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Allison Daye, accompanied her as bridesmaid and wore a most becoming gown of navy blue serge, with corsage bouquet of roses and an old rose picture hat. The groomsmen were G. Sherman Dearborn, Reginald Daye and Freeman W. Haman acted as ushers. The service was fully choral with the surplus choir in attendance, and during the signing of the register the choir sang with much sweetness of expression, "O Perfect Love."

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grimmer left for a honeymoon trip to New York and on their return they will reside at St. Andrews. The best wishes of a host of friends are extended to them for their future happiness.

The presents which they received were very beautiful. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. G. Durrell Grimmer, mother of the groom, Mrs. Stuart Grimmer and two daughters of St. Andrews, and Miss Daye, of Bridgetown (N. S.).

The groom rendered notable war service. He was awarded the military medal and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

Andover, March 30 (Special)—The marriage of Stelton Allen of Presque Isle (Me.) and Miss Grace Adams of Lewick, Victoria county, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Craig in Perth, in the presence of a number of the friends of the contracting parties.

Murdered to Avenge Killing

Other Dead Man Identified—Tailor's Label on Coat in Room of Tragedy Gives Clue in Strange Crime.

The Times some days ago reported the murder of Dr. Vincent J. Campisi in New York and the death of another man in the same room of the tenement where the murder was committed.

Identification of the second man, who was found stabbed to death, convinced detectives that the young physician had been a victim of mistaken identity in a vendetta which started last June in Elizabeth, N. J., when Mrs. Nicolò Gallo, a widow, was shot to death by Salvatore Campese.

The man found dead in the room with Dr. Campisi was identified as Lorenzo Sarrullo, 29 years old, a stone mason's helper. Up to a week ago he lived at 237 Fourth street, Elizabeth, a few blocks from the liquor saloon owned by Mrs. Gallo at 533 Fourth avenue. Detective Sergeants DiGiulia and Van Gilloze of the Herbert street station, Brooklyn, who, with Detectives Martin and Searies of the Elizabeth police, brought about the identification of Sarrullo, said that they expected to arrest the murderer of Dr. Campisi early.

The identity of Sarrullo was revealed through a linen label on the inside pocket of a coat believed to have belonged to the murderer of the physician. The label showed that the coat was made by Harry Harris, a tailor of 586 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth. For days Detective Sergeants DiGiulia and Van Gilloze and the two Elizabeth detectives have been searching Elizabeth for the man they think was hired to slay Dr. Campisi in the belief that he was related to the slayer of Mrs. Gallo. That the physician was slain in the mistaken belief that he was related to Salvatore Campese, who escaped after shooting Mrs. Gallo in her saloon, was indicated by a statement of Samuel Campisi, brother of the slain physician.

"I am the only brother of Dr. Campisi," he said, "and I have been informed that somebody in Elizabeth said that Salvatore Campese was a brother of Dr. Campisi. We had no relatives living in Elizabeth, and I feel confident that neither my brother nor any other member of our family ever was in Elizabeth. If they murdered my brother because of the killing of Mrs. Gallo, they mistook him for some other man."

The detectives meanwhile are confident that the man who killed the physician was not the slayer of Sarrullo.

Murder of Mrs. Gallo.

On the night of June 14, 1919, Mrs. Gallo was behind the bar in her saloon when Salvatore Campese entered and demanded that she leave the place immediately and marry him. Her husband had died about six months before, and her father-in-law, Nicolò Gallo, was assisting her in the saloon.

Mrs. Gallo had complained to her father-in-law that Campese was annoying her with his attentions, that he had threatened to kill her if she did not marry him. Her father-in-law told her to ignore Campese. As Campese entered the saloon with a pistol in his hand, Gallo walked toward him to take the pistol from him. Before he could do so, Campese shot Gallo in the body.

Mrs. Gallo and shot her through the heart. The murderer fled.

Mrs. Gallo was a leader in charitable movements among her countrymen, and since her death, the Elizabeth police say, Italians have been heard to say that they would "get" Campese or some member of his family for the killing of Mrs. Gallo.

When the detectives appeared in Elizabeth with the coat found in the room in which Dr. Campisi and Sarrullo were slain, Captain O'Leary immediately concluded that the murders had something to do with the killing of Mrs. Gallo. Harris, the tailor, was questioned. He said he had made the coat for a man who gave his name as J. Falcone, and that he had been frequently in the company of Giacomo Falcone. Some of their companions, the police were told, frequently had said that Salvatore Campese or some of his relatives "would suffer" for the killing of Mrs. Gallo.

Police Theory on Killing.

The police theory was that Dr. Campisi was trapped in the Lorimer street room by Sarrullo and the other man for whom they are now searching. The detectives believe that when the physician entered the room he found Sarrullo lying on the bed. Sarrullo, the theory runs, had concealed beneath him a stiletto with which he intended to stab the physician as the latter leaned over him. In his haste, it is believed, he missed his mark, and stabbed the physician in the arm.

A struggle followed in which, the police believe, the third man in the room attacked Dr. Campisi from behind, stabbing him twice in the right side. In the battle between the three, it is the theory that before receiving the final death blow the physician stabbed Sarrullo with the latter's own weapon.

It was learned last night that Detective Sergeants DiGiulia and Van Gilloze had with them last night while searching in Elizabeth for the slayer of Dr. Campisi, the stiletto with which the physician is believed to have been killed, in the hope that somebody would identify it.

Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, acting chief medical examiner, dispelled the impression that Sarrullo had been strangled. He said, after an autopsy, that Sarrullo died of two stab wounds in the right lung.

More than 10,000 members of Italian societies in Brooklyn, of which Dr. Campisi was the official physician, are expected by the police to aid in the hunt.

ZENANA WOMEN.

Dr. Carter, who is over here in connection with the Zenana Bible and Medical Mission, reminded people the other day of facts that are only too apt to be forgotten. In a population of 315,000,000 people, he said, there are over 40,000,000 women kept in seclusion. Tens of thousands of women didn't know the war was on. Millions have seen nothing beyond the bit of blue sky above the house where they live.

LEGISLATURE IMPRESSED BY
HON. DR. ROBERTS' REPORT OF WORK OF HEALTH DEPT.

Needs of Extension Pointed Out—Lauds
Work of Victorian Order—A Fine Record of Achievement—Other Matters Before House

Fredericton, N. B., March 30.—When it is remembered that the New Brunswick Health Act was proclaimed only eighteen months ago, the efficiency of the organization which has been built up and the vast amount of work which has been performed in the interests of better health since then, as reviewed by Hon. Dr. Roberts, minister of public health, in his speech in the budget debate today, impressed those who heard him as little less than amazing.

Mr. Michael, of Madawaska, followed and in a telling speech addressed the lauders he has of one of the clearest debaters in the province. Armed with facts and figures, he readily met criticisms offered by opposition members and as readily disposed of them. He made an excellent point in his reply to Mr. Smith, of Carleton, who had criticized the nature of the permanent roads now being constructed, by showing that in 1917 Mr. Smith had advocated the issue of fifteen year bonds to cover the cost of gravel roads, ditching and drainage.

With respect to education, he said that the system in this province, as in every province in the Dominion, is a failure. It was modelled on the United States plan which had been based on the German system and the result was that it had uncovered the weakness of Germany's educational ideals.

He also suggested that the citizens of St. John could best advance the interests of the province by aiding in the development of the entire province. Mr. Michael appealed for immediate action for the harnessing of Grand Falls for power purposes and suggested that granted lands should be redeemed by crown.

Mr. Peck, of Albert, adjourned the debate by united effort, the speaker suggested a survey of the province, with a report on the farms available for settlers and the commercial and industrial opportunities which exist here as the first step in a campaign to double the population of New Brunswick in the next decade.

The close relationship between the interests of the port of St. John and the province, was shown by the minister, and he urged a support of the entire provincial population in making St. John a great metropolis and equipping it to meet the requirements of the ings. The present act did not vest power in a presiding justice. Hon. Mr. Hume introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the legitimation of illegitimate children. Hon. Dr. Roberts then took up the work of the public health department, reminding the House that the Public Health Act was passed the year before this spring and only proclaimed some eighteen months ago. At the same time the great influenza epidemic, during which the work of the department of health was of vast benefit and undoubtedly saved the lives of hundreds of New Brunswickers who might otherwise have succumbed.

The speaker said that the service being dispensed under our Public Health Act, is unlike that of any public health organization in the world, because more comprehensive. It differs from all other services being dispensed, where, usually, there is but one, and, in this respect, we are the recipients of congratulations from almost every health organization in Canada and the United States. He said Dr. Roberts, that medical inspection should be left with the bureau inasmuch as there are no other health officers in the province, and that the department of health should be left with the bureau inasmuch as there are no other health officers in the province, and that the department of health should be left with the bureau inasmuch as there are no other health officers in the province.

John), but which we expect, in a few weeks, will be distributed generally throughout the province, so that those unable to purchase may have their physician fill out an affidavit to this effect. This costs the province comparatively but little in the general retail price.

Water Supply. Have made a large number of examinations of water supply, directing other sources in some cases, and where this was impracticable, ordered that the water be boiled.

Typhoid. The department has investigated very many cases, ascertained their origin, and let them be built, if in cities or towns, where slum houses are today, first tearing these down—two objects which have been attained, first getting clear of slum districts, and secondly, the furnishing of good and proper housing.

Regarding Small-pox. (a) Arriving at a practical elimination and which is now being carried out. (b) 25,000 school children vaccinated, through the service of medical inspectors in schools. (c) 5,000 other citizens, vaccinated because of occurrences of small-pox, in various centres.

General Sanitation. This service has been introduced, and this year will have the promise of every county throughout this province, inspected this spring and summer. The record of data, which this first annual inspection will furnish, will be of wonderful value for future correction work.

Vital Statistics. Were introduced January 1, of this year. Thus far, for first two months, January and February, there has been reported 80 per cent. of all districts under the act, which, of itself, is very praiseworthy. During February, the reports when figured out, equalled a rate of 40,000 births per year, about 2,000 marriages and 4,000 to 5,000 deaths per year.

Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria. Have controlled these everywhere throughout the province. Have laid in a store of 200,000 units of diphtheria, which is, at present, at laboratory, General Public Hospital (St. John).

Important to Remember. One of the principal criticisms offered regarding the work in New Brunswick, Dr. Roberts said, is that the work we are doing may be of practical value in cities and towns, but in the rural districts, of which our province is largely made up, it is neither practical or necessary. In reply to this he made a few observations:

(a) Death rate, from all causes, often higher in rural districts than in urban communities. (b) The paucity of settlement renders united local action impossible, without authoritative interference and assistance. (c) Well recognized fact that certain specific diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid and summer diarrhoeas of children, are more fatal relatively in the country than in cities.

(d) Because of the relative infrequency of medical men, and difficulty of obtaining their services, sanitation is the more needful.

town and adjacent country, and require to be under common control. Concentration and vigor of town influence have valuable results in rural districts attached to them. Large towns, in general, have a lower death rate and are healthier than rural districts, due to better health administration. By town and rural connection, conflicting interests are modified and smoothed away.

"The province is divided, financially, into counties, with one exception. If more than one board in county financial confusion and constant dispute as regards the upkeep of boards would result. Small locally boards are notorious for inefficiency and unprogressiveness."

The cost of boards, Dr. Roberts said, largely consists of salaries: (1) Precisely what the act intends. (2) It eliminates all job work, so far as possible. (3) "Job work" was one of the most objectionable features of the former act, most extravagant and inefficient. Frequently $10 was paid for affixing a placard to a house.

(4) Physicians were often called upon to do work that laymen could do equally well—(distinguishing placarding and supervision). "We are looking forward," said the minister, "with a good deal of interest to the addition of the International Red Cross, through its New Brunswick branch. Large amounts of money have been set apart, both in Canada and the United States, to use in co-operation with regular organizations of health departments, and we as a department in New Brunswick, appreciate much the co-operation of so valuable and able an ally."

In conclusion Dr. Roberts quoted the concluding paragraph of Dr. John Dill Small's local board report regarding the public health department of Chicago upon the state of the future, pointing out that the statement of the future will be possessed of positive health ideals and emphasizing the benefits of clean wholesome living.

The debate was continued by Mr. Sutton and Mr. Michael, and was adjourned on motion of Mr. Peck at 10:45 p.m.

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS

He States That They Relieved His Son of Bed Wetting and Himself of Bladder Trouble—Ask Your Neighbor
About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thirviere, Office, Bonaventure Co., Que., March 30.—(Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Clement Roy, of this place. "I am glad to be able to state," Mr. Roy says, "that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy pure and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or diseased kidneys. The natural way to treat such troubles is to strengthen or help the kidneys. Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's trouble. The satisfaction he got is voiced by his statement. If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for kidney ills.

SUBSIDIES AND CAMPAIGN FUNDS

here is need for plain speaking on part of public and press regarding information to the House of Commons by a minister of the crown that government has in contemplation a plan of granting subsidies for shipbuilding. The Ottawa Citizen, published under the shadow of Parliament Hill, deals with the matter in a remarkably frank editorial. It understands, it says,

HYDRO REQUIRES LARGE AMOUNT TO DO ITS WORK

Expenditures, Excluding Radial Purchases, to Total Nearly $27,000,000

$26,000,000 for Radials—G. T. Clarkson Says Province Should Fully Support System's Projects.

(Toronto Globe) without counting on the radials, in the next two years will be about $26,000,000 or $27,000,000, according to the report of G. T. Clarkson, auditor of the Provincial Hydro, which was tabled in the legislature yesterday.

The estimates yet to be expended on various development work follow: Chipewyan works, $1,500,000; Nipigon works, $2,000,000 to $4,000,000; Rideau system and others, $400,000 to be spent in the next two years as in recent years on work outside those mentioned, $1,000,000.

"The Commission is indebted to its bankers in $1,000,000—repayment of which is guaranteed by the Ontario Power Company. Sales of power are expected to provide the means for repayment of this debt, but in the event that they shall not do so the province may require to advance a sufficient sum to meet the whole or some part of it.

that members of parliament "are to be lobbied by an agent of shipbuilding syndicates in Canada to get support for a government subsidy scheme." And it adds: "Doubtless the members who support the subsidy have the prospect of reward by donations to their election expenses. The national treasury has yielded about $60,000,000 in the last two sessions to shipbuilding contractors. How much of it is coming back to members who get their election expenses paid from political campaign funds?"

"Political history in Canada, as Mr. B. Bennett said in the house, is branded with this degrading trail of special funds, paid out from the public treasury in the form of subsidies to special interests, and part of the plunder shared among members of the old campaign fund parties, to pay their election expenses in parliament."

"The whole thing is bad—bad for the member, bad for parliament, bad for the public, bad for the country. Instead of providing additional facilities for when each municipal commission first commences operating, the province has to this point invested about $26,000,000 in reduction of these advances. Based on estimates of the commission and its engineers, upward of $20,000,000 will be required from the province in cash within the next two years to complete works in course of construction and meet maturing liabilities, while a further $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 may require to be provided by the sale or issue of bonds of the commission—guaranteed by the province—for the purpose of Hydro-electric railway lines, with present abnormal costs, it is stated that the commission may find it to be against the interests of the municipalities to proceed to rapidly with construction work on such Hydro-electric railway lines, as to do otherwise may impose serious burdens for the future. In that event the sale or issue of the $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 of bonds mentioned may be effected gradually and as conditions warrant. In any event, however, the total amount now in contemplation to be provided on the credit of the province (subsidies) is upward of $50,000,000, or an amount in excess of one-half of the present debt of the province. With such expenditures made, upward of $100,000,000 will stand invested in Hydro-electric enterprises and the Central Ontario System, and of this amount approximately $65,000,000 will be represented by underlayings the exact costs of construction and operation of which are still matters for the future to determine.

SICK HEADACHES For Last 10 Years

Headaches affect all ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for good.

What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all description than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

One Great Essential to a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves. Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, contented, being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung?

It is any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. F. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N. S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flashes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

EGGS CHEAPER
 News which will be of interest to large numbers of people was received this morning, when it was learned that the price of eggs has dropped considerably. No information could be gotten as to the cause of such a marked increase, but it is thought that the supply is far greater than the demand, and this is apparent from the quantities of eggs now on sale in the city market.

A market dealer said today that wholesale prices this morning were $1.25 a dozen, but in at least one case sixty-five cents was paid, Saturday morning. The price of eggs is also reported on the decline, the price now being from 65 to 68 cents.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.
 At the monthly meeting of the New Brunswick Historical Society on Tuesday evening D. H. Waterbury read a very interesting paper on the streets and houses in St. John in old times. A resolution to print it was adopted.

The matter of maritime representation on the historical sites and monuments board was taken up and discussed. The original members were Sir Frederick Williams-Willoughby, Venerable Archdeacon Raymond and W. C. Miller, dominion architect. The first was unable to accept, the second's health precluded him from taking an active part in the work of the board. It was deemed necessary that any appointment made by the government should be that of a man thoroughly conversant with maritime province history, as the erection of monuments required expert knowledge. It was finally resolved to recommend Prof. W. F. Ganong, LL. D., who is now our foremost historian.

The Nova Scotia society has recommended Major J. Finlay Edwards.

IMPORTANT SPORT MEETING

Mr. Covey Calling Delegates From All Clubs in the Maritime Provinces.

A. L. Covey, president of the maritime province branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, in conversation with a Times reporter this morning said he intends to call a meeting at Sackville or Truro about the middle of April. Delegates from every known organized club in the three provinces will be asked to attend this meeting and it will rest with the decision of these representatives just what policy will be carried out during the coming season. He said he figures Sackville or Truro would be the most central places and when letters are sent out they will be asked to choose which town they prefer. The majority will decide where the meeting will be held.

With regard to the standing of athletes in the provinces, Mr. Covey said it is the intention to be absolutely fair with everyone. He said that there have been violations this winter by some organizing clubs and by teams not representing organized clubs. The whole matter, he said, will be threshed out at this meeting and whatever stand is taken will be rigidly enforced.

Regarding reinstating athletes, he said that there seemed to be a feeling among many of the officials that all should be given a clean sheet with an understanding that if they shied by the rules all would be well, but if not they would be debared from amateur ranks for life. He said that this would be one of the most important matters to come before the meeting.

CITY ELECTION

Mr. Schofield's Papers Filed; Also Three for Commissionerships.

Four sets of nomination papers have already been received by the common clerk for the city elections, one for mayor and three for commissioners. The papers of E. Allan Schofield have been filed as candidate for mayor and those of Commissioners Fisher and Thornton and R. J. Logan for the commissionerships. The last mentioned was filed this morning.

Several returned soldiers have asked for their status in the coming election and it has been pointed out that one section of the elections act provided that returned soldiers whose names are not on the voters' list are eligible to cast a ballot by producing at the polling booth their discharge papers and proof of residence in the city. This section is in force one year after the signing of the peace treaty, the date of which is officially given as Jan. 10, 1920.

DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAM COTTER

After a brief illness, Mrs. Honoria Cotter, widow of William Cotter, passed peacefully away this morning. She was well known in the city and was well known to a great many of the older people of the city, who will regret to hear of her death. She leaves to mourn one daughter, Mrs. Fred J. Power, of 10 Wentworth street; one son, Richard Cotter, of the city market, and three brothers—Thomas Corkey, of California; Daniel Corkey, of Vermont; and David Corkey, of Boston. Another brother, Joshua Corkey, an aged and respected resident of the North End, died about Feb. 1. Several grandchildren and great-grandchildren also survive Mrs. Cotter. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, 10 Wentworth street.

GAIN MOUNTS INTO MILLIONS

The St. John bank clearings in March climbed to $15,039,463, a gain of more than $4,500,000 over March of last year. The figures for March, 1919, were $10,570,256; in 1918, $9,169,416.

Clearings in other cities this month were: Quebec, $27,098,974; Ottawa, $40,941,647; Montreal, $568,452,098.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning, a case against Kenneth Morris and Cornelius Flynn, charged with breaking and entering the barn of G. Selig, Main street, and stealing nine bags of oats, valued at $87.35, was resumed. Mr. Selig said that his barn in Young's alley, was broken open on a Sunday morning and he found that out of eleven bags of oats only nine were taken, valued at $47.35.

Maurice Selig, son of the former witness, gave corroborative evidence. Frank McHugh, 114 Somerset street, said that about 2.45 Sunday morning two policemen awakened him and he went down and found that his sloven had been moved. There were oats scattered on the bottom of the wagon which were not there when he left it on Saturday afternoon.

Policeman Keirstead corroborated the evidence given at a former hearing by Policemen Garrett and McFarland. He said there were oats strewn around John Kelly's barn yard. The case was postponed until this afternoon.

As a result of the former case, John Kelly, Somerset street, was charged with receiving stolen goods. He pleaded not guilty, saying that he knew nothing about the case and did not know the oats were there until shown them by the policeman.

Maurice Selig in giving evidence said that Mr. Kelly called him and his father into the house and said he did not know how the oats came there, but as they were there he would be willing to settle with them for the oats. The witness said he would have to see the policemen, and in consequence of the conversation he had with the police he told Mr. Kelly he could not settle as the police would not permit this. G. Selig gave evidence and the case was postponed until this afternoon.

William Casneak, an Austrian, who has been arrested on three successive days on charge of vagrancy, was again before the court. He was sent below, but was later seen in King street east with a bundle on his back, apparently preparing to leave the city.

One man charged with drunkenness was remanded to jail.

Ambrose Ryan Has Ankle Injured — Woman's Face Injured.

While being taken to the Isolation Hospital on Sunday night, Ryan was quite badly injured. While the ambulance was in Padlock street the horse became unmanageable and started down the hill. With respect to the appointment of public directors, Mr. Taylor said that they were recommended by the Carrier Commission to take the place of reference to the Public Utilities Commission. The company, he said, did not object to the public directors, except that they did not regard the plan as workable or as desirable as oversight by the Utilities Commission, was knowledge. He felt that one of the public directors should be a member of the public in the form of increased rates.

FRANCE REFUSES GERMAN REQUEST

Berlin, March 31.—All eyes today are centred upon the crisis in the Ruhr region. The general strike movement, however, has broken out only at a few places, such as Bochum and Eberfeld, so far as the early reports showed.

The Vossische Zeitung reports the passage of numerous workmen's troops through the forests of Westphalia north to reinforce the troops already at the front, while some others who had been disbanded, are trying to make their way home again.

Whether the Ruhr mining and industrial district near Gertrude's border is to witness a Red Easter appeared today to be wholly contingent upon the pacifying abilities of the Prussian minister of the interior. His task is to mollify the labor elements and otherwise nullify the effects of the methods adopted in the Ruhr by General von Watter, commander of the government forces.

New Attack on West

The Hague, March 31.—(German)—The army of rebellious German workmen besieging the fortress of Wesel in Rhineland Prussia, has received reinforcements and made new attacks, according to despatches to the Nieuwe Courant of Rotterdam. The town of Hamm, in Westphalia, and several other places are reported to have been plundered.

At Essen he advises that a general strike has been proclaimed and carried out in full force. The postal and telegraph stations are closed, as are also most of the offices and shops. The tramway service is still intact.

Some of the employers have agreed to supply their workers for time lost during the strike. The Krupp works, however, has refused to do this. The employers have all expressed a willingness to pay workmen who have joined the Red army. In case any employer is unable to pay the men, the town government will bear the expense.

Berlin, March 31.—Government troops in the Ruhr region have been pushed forward, the time limit fixed in the ultimatum from the government to the workers there having been reached, says a despatch to the Abendblatt.

Confidence in the government's declarations has been voted by the Prussian assembly, which has voted its approval of steps taken in the recent past by the cabinet.

Removal of the Erhardt naval brigade, which formed part in the Rappist revolt of March 13, from Doerbitz, has been prevented because of opposition from railwaymen in the Altona district.

POWER COMPANY'S BILL UP AT FREDERICTON TODAY

Mr. Taylor Objects to Conciliation Committee's Finding—After Considerable Discussion it is Decided to Hold Private Session.

Fredricton, N. B., March 31.—The corporations committee met this morning at eleven o'clock and took up the bill introduced by the N. B. Power Company.

Fred R. Taylor, counsel for the company, was heard in support of the bill, chiefly on the matter of the rate base. He argued for the adoption of $3,100,000 as the rate base, both on the grounds that the owners of the company should be permitted to benefit by the increased values of land and material at present prices, and also because senior securities had been issued at that amount and the purchasers should be protected.

Mr. Baxter said that when the public undertook to regulate public utility rates they assumed the obligation of protecting the investors against loss of investment, but on the other hand when the public undertook to guarantee a company's return on investment, the right of the company to profits was thereby limited as the speculative element was removed.

Mr. Taylor said when the rate base was first fixed they could have claimed return on a reproduction value of $4,600,000. They were not asking for, but to the original cost as fixed by the supreme court they felt they were entitled to the increased value of the property, also $300,000 for working capital, and $114,000 for the value of the stock of the Eastern Electric Company.

With respect to the appointment of public directors, Mr. Taylor said that they were recommended by the Carrier Commission to take the place of reference to the Public Utilities Commission. The company, he said, did not object to the public directors, except that they did not regard the plan as workable or as desirable as oversight by the Utilities Commission, was knowledge. He felt that one of the public directors should be a member of the public in the form of increased rates.

Mr. Baxter said that the need of the public, to promote harmony and confidence, was knowledge. He felt that one of the public directors should be a member of the public in the form of increased rates.

Mr. Potts said the foundations for the rails were paid for by the company and should be paid for by the company. Mr. Baxter said that adequate foundation for the tracks and the removal of the rails were necessary to the operation of the road and should be a proper charge which the company should bear.

Premier Foster remarked that, apart from the question of how it was paid for, it was convenient to the company to be relieved of the responsibility of snow removal.

Mayor Hayes addressed the committee. He said that when the matter was referred to the supreme court last year he had understood that the court was to refer the matter to the company or to reach an agreement with the company before again coming to the legislature. He understood the company received a similar letter. He had consulted with L. R. Ross, president of the company, and they had agreed, without binding themselves to accept the finding, to submit the matters at issue with the exception of the rate base, to a citizens' committee.

The mayor said that the city was anxious to be on good terms with the company and to cooperate with them in conceding a rate base of $2,600,000, fixing the rate of return at eight per cent, and allowing a value of $600,000 for the common stock. They would fight any further concession in the rate base.

The chairman suggested the city and the company should make another effort to reach an agreement. The mayor agreed to accept any ruling by the chairman, but Mr. Taylor declared that while the mayor and the president of the company might reach an agreement, he feared that there were other members of the common council who would not consent to such an agreement.

Mr. Baxter suggested reference to a sub-committee of members of the house, practical business men, who should try to agree on terms acceptable to both interests.

L. R. Ross, president of the N. B. Power Company, said he did not think it would be possible for him to reach an agreement on the matters of the rate base, the base rate and the matter of taxes. He felt that it would be necessary to leave the decisions on these subjects to the legislature.

After some further discussion it was decided to consider the matter in private session of the committee.

A. E. Frame Brings Home Word of Veterans' Delegation at Ottawa.

A. E. Frame, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, returned to the city today from Ottawa, where he was in attendance at meetings of a committee of the Great War Veterans' Association on the question of re-establishment and he said the assurance was from that a definite answer favorable or unfavorable would be given at the present session of the house, that it would not be allowed to drag indefinitely.

The positive assurance was given, Mr. Frame said, that on the question of pensions, one of the matters dealt with at the veterans' convention last week, that the increase would be given. There would also be re-education in the allotment. A committee has been appointed from parliament to meet with a committee of the Great War Veterans' Association on the question of re-establishment and they will take up not only this and pensions, but the cost of living, vocational training, immigration and other matters.

The association's committee will consist of the newly elected president, R. B. Maxwell of Winnipeg; the secretary, Mr. MacNeil, who was such an excellent showing in presenting the returned men's case last year, and H. Woods of Calgary, who was chief spokesman at the recent conference in pleading for relief of the "commercial disability" under which he contends the returned soldier was suffering because of his absence.

CARMAN AND SASSOON. (E. Middleton in Toronto Globe).

Toronto admirers and friends of Bliss Carman are bringing to Convocation Hall on March 31 an other than Siegfried Sassoon, English poet.

Carman is the rhapsodist, singing the perpetual excellence of nature and the eternal divinity of love and beauty. Sassoon is the indignant realist, pouring white-hot scorn upon the folly of men-measuring against the majesty of Death the intolerable hates and fury of those who die.

Sassoon returned to England from Flanders blazing with anger at the usual quality of war, yet thrilled with the unconquerable bravery of men. He painted in moving verse, marked by the power of rhythm and word-selection, some of the scenes of the fight. He unveiled some of the emotions of the soldier in action.

It was not pleasant poetry, but the truth of it was so convincing that it recognized the power of the poet. Take this single stanza of apostrophe to the bayonet as a sample of the terrible side of his art:

Sweet sister, grant your soldier this: That in good fury he may feel The body where he sets his heel. Quail from your downward darting kiss. Here are a few lines showing the poet's great power of description:

Dim, gradual thinning of the shapeless gloom. Shudders to drizzling daybreak that reds Diabolical men, whom stamp their sodden boots. And turn dully, stunk faces to the sky. Haggard and hopeless.

And here is the splendor underlying it all: The light of the earth absolves our eyes. Till beauty shines in all that we can see. War is our scourge; yet war has made us wise. And fighting for our freedom we are free.

Horror of wounds and anger at the foe. And loss of these desires! all these We are the happy legion, for we know Time's but a golden wind that shakes the grass.

Today Sassoon stands with Robert Nichols, Wilfred Wilson Gibson and John Massey as one of the "Georgians" who are the spiritual and literary voices of the new time.

Yet he is not so far from Carman after all. To the Canadian poet, man is a creature "clothed in a fragile veil of sense, with fortitude for girls," and his task is "to better the world with beauty wherever the way may lead." That line might well be accepted by Sassoon as his poetic credo. Even in the bleak atmosphere of the battle-line there is beauty and heroism is the ultimate beauty of the human soul.

One may be sure that Bliss Carman, sitting in his Adirondack chair, fighting an insupportable malady, and John Massey, the work of Siegfried Sassoon for his sincerity, his fearless power, his exaltation and even its fury.

Sassoon hates the things that Carman hates, and always hated. Sassoon loves the spiritualities of life, the mental thrill coming of keen sense-impressions. These have been the inspiration also of Carman. Both men have an ear for rhythm, and know its elusive power to intensify a thought well-poised. Both men have a passion for the "just word" and for technical finish.

It is fitting, therefore, that the Arts and Letters Club, and the Players' Club should bring the brilliant English poet to Toronto on this occasion.

STUTZ MOTOR AT NEW HIGH LEVEL

New York, March 31.—The further advance of twenty-one points for Stutz Motor at the new high of 891 was the outstanding feature of the early dealings in today's stock market. Other shares dominated by professional investors also were substantially higher.

The rise of Stutz, which embraced 4 and 7/8 points respectively soon after the opening, attracted less attention was yesterday's final quotations. Adams Express and American Express at gains of five and twenty-five points featured the Noon Report.

Bull pools were in absolute control of the market during the morning extending their operations in almost every direction, except among rails, which were heavy.

Selected issues in the motor, oil, steel, equipment and shipping divisions continued to lead, subject to occasional setbacks on realizing sales.

The rise of Stutz, which embraced Wells Fargo and United States Express was accompanied by rumors of prospective stock dividends. Less attention was paid to the irregular foreign exchange market and the opening rate of 8 per cent for call money was in keeping with general expectations.

ferred $1,000,000 and 2nd preferred, $300,000—and the then value of the common stock as established by the public utilities commission. Future issues of stocks to be paid for at the net amount realized from their sale as added to the rate base plus ten per cent. of such amount; all bonds of the company then outstanding to be assumed by the city.

COMMON STOCK—City bill, section 16. After hearing the arguments of both sides, we suggest giving a low value to the 200,000 shares of common stock already issued. We do this with a view of getting the co-operation of the interested parties and thereby ensuring a better service in all departments, which we consider is in the best interest of both the city and company.

CONCLUSION We would say that the fact that we were not asked for a copy of the report of the committee, but that the amount of the rate base made it difficult to satisfactorily deal with other sections of the bill, is a strong reason for our conclusions. Without any desire to prejudice the case, but only as a justification for our decisions, we feel we should state that from facts before us we came to think that the rate base should be $2,600,000 and the rate of return thereon eight per cent. per annum, and we based our recommendations on these figures.

London, March 30—Replying to a question in the house of commons, Mr. Bonsor, Law officer, has informed that the British government has no information regarding the intentions of the Canadian government to demobilize the Canadian naval organization or as to the dockyards at Esplanade and Halifax before the ratification of the treaty.

"Complexion Secrets Of an Actress". In a recently issued volume bearing the name of the author, a list of the various uses of grease paints, rouge and the like had ruined my complexion. My skin was covered with wrinkles, and I was punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of macerated cream, and I bought a box of it. This cream was so good that I began to use it, and in a few days my complexion began to go wrong. I got an ounce of macerated wax at the nearest drug store, spread it on the wax layer of the cream, washed it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, gradually absorbed the wax, and my complexion began to improve. I began using a solution of powdered salicylic acid, one ounce dissolved in a half pint of water, and washed my face with this every day for a while, and soon relieved the condition most wonderfully.

Word has been received from Halifax that an army of 70,000 men is to be moved across Canada within the next few weeks. The men are Czech-Slovak troops who have been stationed in Asia, and it is said that they are being sent to their homes in Europe by way of the Dominion to avoid traveling through Bolshevick territory and neutral countries. The Halifax report says that the entire body is to be handled by the Canadian Pacific railroad and that the men are to be placed on vessels, presumably at Halifax. The Canadian and British military authorities are not to have charge of the men.

The plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of physicians in this delinquent, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is used in ever increasing quantities. ALLOWANCES FOR MOTHERS

(Rev. Peter Bryce)

One thing in which all religions agree is that one of the main functions of government should be the normal development of childhood. In the past, we have tended to stress our property rights more than the rights of the child. But now public sentiment will demand this latter attitude on the part of the government for it has become evident that the normal family life is the only foundation of the state, and that the mother is the one best guardian of the child. But, contrary to this, we have allowed the separation of mother and child by institutional care because the mother cannot fulfil the dual obligations of guardian and bread-winner. For years we have permitted, nay forced, the widow to be separated from her children, or to "take along" in any other way possible. The care of the fatherless child must be looked after in some other way than by charity or outdoor relief. The very best and most immediate action is required for the sake of the widow and her children. All true reform must begin with the child and consider the home. Private enterprise has failed to meet adequately the problem of the widow and her dependent children. Too many well meaning people consider their duty done when they have furnished the widow with their moth-eaten garments and a basket at Christmas. They fear the danger of "pauperizing," as they call it, too strongly to give reasonably. More people pauperize, by this very fear of pauperizing, than by any over-generosity.

The basis of any legislation to meet this need should be a conviction of the home need for every child, and so should be given to the children of the insane and prisoners, and in cases of permanent desertion as well. Improper upbringing is only too frequently the result of a lack of funds in the home, and a stressing of the negative, rather than the positive, duty of the state. In each and every case, the child should be the ultimate thought. In fact, aid might even be extended to the father on the death of the mother, if he were unable to pay for adequate help; or extended to some other guardian if the mother were an unfit person to have custody of the child. However this might be, the legislation should be very flexible, leaving discretion to the administration. Every family must be considered separately and enough money be granted to give adequate home care, for the United States has had difficulty in the inadequacy of the allowance.

For the administration of the pensions there should be a strong central body, which would utilize existing bodies without duplication.

Quoting from the report of the Ontario committee on mothers' allowances, Mr. Bryce endorsed the following recommendations as an outline for provincial action:

There should be a provincial commission. A provincial commission, to be appointed by the lieutenant-governor-in-council, to combine with the work for neglected and dependent children the administration of mothers' allowances, and to be known as the "Children's Aid Commission of Ontario."

The commission to consist of seven public-spirited citizens interested in child welfare work, to serve without salary, at least three of whom shall be women.

The commission to be provided with adequate finance to maintain an executive secretary and a supervising staff of trained workers of the highest quality.

The commission to have the fullest supervising powers and final decision in all matters affecting allowances. To have full power to grant, condition, amend, and discontinue allowances after local committees shall have dealt with same.

The commission to have power to make any regulations for carrying out the intent of the act.

Local committees: County committees to receive and pass upon applications for allowance, amendments thereto, and discontinue them. (Municipalities separated from their counties, such as Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, London, etc., etc., to be considered counties for purposes of the act.)

County committee to consist of one representative appointed by the council of the county, the commissioner of the juvenile court, if any, or the county judge, and the officially recognized agents of the local Children's Aid Societies concerned, the commission to have power to appoint a member in place of the county judge or the official agents.

County committee to meet at least monthly and to report promptly to the commission such information as shall be required by regulation.

Need for county committees: Obviously the province and the county should be represented in passing upon applications for allowances because they are providing the funds. The county would be represented by an appointed member on the county committee. The commissioner of the juvenile court and the official agent of the Children's Aid Society can be looked upon as partially representing the province, the commissioner because of his provincial appointment and salary, and the agent because his salary is partly paid by the province, and because he would be under the direction and supervision of the commission. On the other hand, these two persons have definitely localized knowledge and interest.

The commission or judge would supervise the judicial mind and the knowledge of procedure, the agent should supply the investigation of home conditions and the technical knowledge of scientific relief work, and the county representative would present the point of view of the ordinary citizen.

A provision that the commission may appoint a person in place of the agent or Judge is necessary because there is not always a satisfactory agent available, nor is the judge always the person best able to give the necessary time and ability to this work.

Cost: Province to pay from provincial funds cost of central administration and supervision which are worse than none at all.

In closing, Mr. Bryce told of one case, recently experienced in his church work, in which a widow had died, worn out simply by the sheer exhaustion of an unequal struggle to provide for her fatherless family. It was not the will of God, he stated, that our civilization, our society, should permit, nay compel, the widow to drudge, even to the death, as the only alternative to separation from and institutional care, for her children.

vision and half the amount of all allowances. Remaining half of the allowances to be charged against the municipalities of the province in proportion to population. Division of cost between province and municipality: We believe that the financial burden should be divided about equally between the province and the municipalities for the following reasons:

1. Too great financial responsibility on the municipality would weaken central supervision and control, and would make very difficult the maintenance of uniform or satisfactory standards in all municipalities. In the backward communities the legislation would be a dead letter; in others it would be inadequately administered.

2. Too great financial responsibility on the province would weaken local interest and would involve a heavier expenditure by the province, to provide satisfactory allowances, than the province could stand. The result would be inadequate allowances which are worse than none at all. In closing, Mr. Bryce told of one case, recently experienced in his church work, in which a widow had died, worn out simply by the sheer exhaustion of an unequal struggle to provide for her fatherless family. AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this out at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

ASK SHOWDOWN ON RACETRACKS AND GAMBLING

strong Resolution is Fathered by Member for South Essex

No Legislation as Yet—Claims Betting at Racetracks Only "Commercialized Vice."

Ottawa, March 31.—Dr. J. W. Brien, member for South Essex, will ask parliament to declare that, in the opinion of this House, race-track gambling as conducted in Canada in connection with running races is nothing short of legalized, organized and commercialized vice that it tends to lower the moral standard of the nation; that it is humiliating to the people of Canada that it will ultimately defeat the very purpose for which it is advocated, viz., the propagation and development of the thoroughbred horse; that it offers easy access to our country of undesirables, with whom the present immigration staff cannot contend; and that in every city where it is carried on it interferes with business, it depletes bank accounts, causes social chaos in general, and, therefore, should be prohibited.

To Have Showdown. It is known that Dr. Brien has behind him a number of members who are determined to have a showdown as to government policy on the question of racing and race-track gambling. The above resolution is the first step in this process. It is understood that the government would bring down legislation as soon as the Rutherford report was received, but so far no indication as to government intentions has been given to those inquiring. It is recognized that on the other side are powerful financial interests, as well as members, who sincerely see no good reason to prevent race-track gambling under certain restrictions. The government had intended legislation, but there is some divergence of opinion there as among the members.

Government Regulation. Dr. Brien, who is utterly opposed to race-track gambling, says that if whole-

Dear Mary,— Since writing you last, I have secured a position with the New Brunswick Telephone Company as an Operator.

I am going to tell you about some of the things we do here.

In the first place, we employ a large number of girls. They like their work and that is a big advantage for them. They are contented and happy.

We are taking on new girls all the time and right now we are looking for a lot. We want them whether they know anything about our business or not, and we will undertake to teach them something useful, and give them a job worth while.

The work is interesting and agreeable, and is the kind that makes you feel as though you had accomplished something when the day is done.

We have a lot of things that some places are just beginning to put in. I know we are one of the first Companies here to give our employes a life Insurance Policy. Each of us get an Anniversary Bonus at the termination of each year's employment.

Did you ever hear of the beautiful Rest Room we have here, all furnished in wicker furniture with pretty cretonne curtains in the windows. There are books to read and—of course—a Matron to look after us if we are ill.

I could write you a lot more, but come in and see the Chief Operator of the New Brunswick Telephone Company at 22 Prince Wm. St. She can tell you more about the good chances we have. There are a lot of them, and they pay good money.

Your friend, ALICE.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 30.—Robert F. Stroud of Juneau, Alaska, will be the first man legally hanged in Kansas in almost fifty years unless President Wilson saves him by exercise of executive clemency.

The last legal hanging in this state took place in 1870 and the death penalty was abolished in Kansas in 1907; but Stroud was tried and convicted in federal courts for a murder committed in the federal penitentiary here and sentenced under federal law to be hanged. Another unusual feature of the case is the fact that he would have escaped with life imprisonment if he had not insisted upon a third trial, which resulted in a death sentence. If it is carried out he will be the first man to be executed in Leavenworth prison. Stroud was serving a twelve year sentence in the penitentiary for the killing of a man in Alaska in a quarrel over a dance hall girl when in 1916 he attacked Andrew E. Turner, a prison guard, and stabbed him to death with a dagger which he had made from a pocket knife, and carried in a concealed pocket in his coat. Stroud asserted subsequently that Turner had called him a

For this killing Stroud had three trials. In the first he was found guilty of murder and sentenced to death, but the court of appeals remanded the case on the ground that the trial judge had failed to inform the jury of its privilege in bringing in a "qualified verdict" limiting his punishment to life imprisonment. In the second trial the jury availed itself of this legal provision and sentenced him for life. Stroud's lawyers felt that they had gained a victory, but at the prisoner's insistence the case was again appealed, and at his third trial Stroud was once more found guilty and sentenced to death. The case was carried to the United States Supreme Court which affirmed the sentence. Stroud has been aided by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stroud, who came from Alaska in an effort to save his life. She appealed to President Wilson to commute the death sentence.

THE CURTAIN OF BLINDNESS

Writer Tells What It Means to Be Stone Blind — Did Not Deter Him From Carrying On — An Optimist.

(Toronto Mail and Empire).
In the Saturday Evening Post of March 18 is an extremely interesting article entitled "What It is Like to be Blind." The author is Amesley Burrows, formerly of Kingston, and for some years past a newspaper correspondent and contributor to American magazines. Mr. Burrows has been blind for two years. He had trouble with his eyes from boyhood, and seems to believe that his affliction was partly inherited and due to the habit of both his parents, who were monoculars, thus probably weakening their eyes. At the age of eleven he had his first pair of spectacles. When they broke he bought himself a new pair as he might buy a pair of gloves. In those days, Mr. Burrows says, oculists and optometrists were almost unknown. When he was twenty-one he went to an oculist, who told him that he would probably be blind in twenty years, and as he remarks, "Those eyes lasted just two years longer than the doctor promised."

The Curtain of Blindness.

The disaster came upon him not without warning. Gradually falling sight caused him to give up the newspaper work in which he had won success. Then one day when he was sitting in a canoe with a typewriter before him he became aware of something green and thick edging out from below my left eyelid.
There was no unsteadiness, no pain. It took two hours for this green curtain to fall, and afterwards the green color seemed to fade out and grey to take its place. Mr. Burrows never saw out of this eye again. But he says it is astonishing how little difference the loss of one eye can make, and for some years he was not greatly inconvenienced. Then the remaining eye gave symptoms of tarsis, and slowly the world began to fade away from him. A white collar on white cloth, or a black hat on a black air became invisible. Steps looked like a mere silhouette. It was two years before the final blow fell, two years in which Mr. Burrows pluckily and successfully continued to make a name as an author.

The Operation That Failed.

In 1916 he heard that in Asia a surgeon had discovered a new operation, which might restore in a month the sight that had been failing for a lifetime. Three American surgeons had gone to see the operations and had come home equipped, as they believed, to achieve like results. Mr. Burrows thereupon went to Chicago and was operated upon. For three weeks he lay with swathed eyes dreaming of the delights that were again to be his. Then one morning the surgeon told him very quietly that the operation had been a failure, and that henceforth he was a blind man. He writes: "I don't want to talk, or write about the next twenty-four hours. I don't like to think about them. I kept quiet. I asked no symptoms from anybody and nobody offered me any. It wouldn't have helped." But Mr. Burrows did not take his tragedy lying down. He determined that life still held sweetness for him, that he still could do work, that there were hundreds of blind useful people and that he would be one of the company. Later the doctor said that there was still some hope that his sight would be at least partly regained, but as it happened this hope has not been realized.

The Cheerful Blind.

After leaving the hospital, Mr. Burrows went to the State Institute for the Blind to learn how other blind men lived and to fit himself for the life in darkness that was to be his fate. He found the inmates remarkably cheerful and eager to help each other, and it amazed him to find how some of them had adapted themselves to the situation.
It almost appeared that they hardly missed their eyes, so strangely developed had become their other senses, especially the sense of touch, and it was not long before Mr. Burrows was amusing others by what he could do. With the assistance of two inexperienced negroes he set up tents in Florida. Two of them, he writes, were of complicated design. He did almost none of the work, but directed everything, touched everything and explained what was to be done with it.

This was two months after his release from hospital, and some blind men say it is a record. He used to walk about the woods, and if he got lost would shout and regain his direction by the answering shouts. Mr. Burrows remained in his Florida camp for four months. He writes: "I could not see the grass or the foliage or the clouds, but I could make a picture in my mind almost as good as the realities and there were the sounds of the air and the water and trees to make them true."

A Message of Hope.

He experienced remarkable optical de-lusions and feared that they might be heralds of insanity, but was reassured on this point and found that the experience was common with the blind. After leaving Florida he began the study of printing for the blind, and continued his studies in the city of New York. Much of the work seen at the museum is the result of the consummation of his years of struggle when the highest per-

Greek, and Canadian would be Canadian, a wonderful ideal would be before us from examples of this kind.

Black and Red Periods.

Two distinct periods are shown in the collection, black figures on a red ground, and red figures on a black ground. One vase of Mycenaean period has red animal figures in a conventional design. A quaint almond-shaped vase of the 2nd century B. C. attracts the attention. An amphora of archaic Attic type, about 500 B. C., has on one side Heracles fighting the Triton, and on the other Hermes leading a horse to a race.
Another beautiful exhibit depicts "The Marriage of Zeus and Hera." The subject portrayed is a very rare and important one; unfortunately the thin profile of Hera has been obliterated, it should appear just beyond and parallel to the face of Zeus, which is also partially destroyed, but part of her nuptial veil is there which she is holding out with her fingers. Attendant deities are Dionysus, Apollo with his lyre, Hermes with his caduceus and Artemis with face hidden by a horse, holding the nuptial torches. A drawing of a similar scene appears in the British museum.

Had Religious Significance.

The work shows extraordinary vitality and refinement and proves conclusively that the ancient Greeks were people of great culture. To them pottery was a vital thing and had religious significance. Harmony of proportion, fine craftsmanship, beautiful sense of rhythm and movement is shown in every line, skill and invention in design and extraordinary freshness in brush work—scarcely done but yesterday—is observed. A whole study of the work shows that the Greeks drew their inspiration largely from nature, but these are not natural forms, but nature translated into fine patterns. Geometrical patterns, too, are among them. The collection comprises hundreds of types.
Practical as well.

Besides being an eminently artistic people, the ancient Greeks were practical. Each particular piece of pottery was designed for a specific purpose. One shape is for carrying water, another for wine or pouring oil. One was used for storing food for burial of the dead.
Thickness in design was a fundamental of development was reached during the fifth century after the great wars with the Persians. Of significance, therefore, is this gift and probable kindling of enthusiasm among Canadians to portray the glories and deeds of our heroes of the great war.

War Inspires Art.

It is a well-known fact that much of the great art of history followed war.
The great Acropolis was restored after the old city of Athens had been razed to the ground by the Persians. A new vision came to the people and they built the magnificent temple which has attracted the world ever since.
Pottery, architecture, pottery—all other arts have been proved vital in the intellectual and social development of the nation. The plasticity of clay, its hardening qualities under intense heat, and its affinity to glazes, has made pottery a very valuable art. This is proven by the extraordinary vitality and freshness of the examples seen in this collection.
Altogether the collection is very representative of Greek ceramics and will prove a marvelous inspiration to art students. A number of carved hand mirrors are also to be seen.
Just as triumphal arches of ancient Rome tell of victory, and the Gothic cathedrals of the religious fervor of the medieval ages, so Greek art tells us of the joys, triumphs and sorrows of the people. Perchance Canadian sculpture of the future may do the same.

TORONTO ART IS ENRICHED

Sigmund Samuel Presents
Royal Ontario Museum
With Valuable Collection of Greek Sculpture.

(Toronto Telegram).
"For our souls have found that holy ground
Is ever where beauty calls."
Echoing all through the early ages the above refrain reached the hearts of the ancient Greeks, finding expression in the representation of objects of nature or fancy in solid form. Therefore, the gift of Sigmund Samuel to the Royal Ontario Museum of a priceless collection of Greek sculpture has not only made Toronto suddenly rich, but has placed it foremost among cities on this continent in a wealth of knowledge of the ancient art. The formal presentation of the collection takes place tomorrow.

The Greeks were an imaginative race as shown by their mythical stories and legends. Life through their eyes was seen in everything. The very woods were peopled with elves and gnomes, the silver streamlets with nymphs and fauns, the grim grey rocks, the sands; Neptune ruled the waves, flowers were little children. All this—the whole of the universe—was hither to capture and mould into lifelike form. No matter how crude or humble an attempt might be, still the result was an expression of life as they saw it.

Make Pottery Canadian Industry.

The Canadian mind has an innate appreciation of pottery. It is to them a very important art. Canada has clay deposits that have not been touched from a commercial point of view. During the last few years much discussion has taken place regarding making ceramics a national industry.
This collection, therefore, of which the most notable exhibit is a fine collection of pottery of about the 6th century, B. C., would have an important and refining influence upon it. While Greek shapes would be essentially

News Notes About Prominent Baptists (Maritime Baptist)

Rev. Gordon B. Keirstead is meeting with success in his ministry with the Alexander avenue church, New York. A few months ago more than twenty were received into the membership of the church by baptism. At least one hundred more will be baptized on Easter Sunday. Brother Keirstead expects to spend the month of July at his home in St. John.

The special services at Germain street, in which Pastor Poole has been assisted during the last week by Dr. Green of Moncton, have awakened much interest. Last Sunday thirteen men were baptized, five of whom were heads of families.

Rev. W. H. Johnson has every reason to believe that his ministry is being appreciated by the church in the Hampton field. He had entertained any doubts on that subject they would have been removed by the recent action of each church in voting a substantial increase to the present salary. He has just finished his first year of service on the field, which the churches hope will be the first of many.

We regret to report that Rev. James Dunlop has been lost to the work here in the east. The brethren in the west, where his worth is better known, telegraphed him that the church at Prince Rupert was awaiting his coming and so forwarded him money for transportation. Under the circumstances he felt that he was under obligation to respond to the appeal, and last week he left St. John on his long trip to Prince Rupert. A few weeks ago we mentioned that Rev. H. E. Allaby was enjoying a holiday, and was spending a week or two

BLAMES DEFICIT ON PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

D. D. Mackenzie Speaks of C. N. R. Deficit—$20,000,000 for Shipbuilding—Criticism of Contracts.

Ottawa, March 31—In criticism of the statement of the minister of railways, Hon. Dr. Reid, in the house yesterday, D. D. Mackenzie said that it proved the weakness of public ownership of railways. It showed a deficit of $47,000,000. A stern threat of united action against any large estimates for eastern works was made today by western members when Hon. Dr. Reid said that the Hudson Bay railway would not be gone ahead with this year, because of the need for economy. "Very well," was the reply from the west, "we will block any estimates for eastern works on the same grounds."

Bills to amend the trust companies act and the loan companies act were introduced by Sir Henry Drayton and given first reading.

I. E. Fiedlow asked if it was the intention of the government, in view of the deplorable conditions in Ireland, to make representations to the supreme council of the League of Nations, similar to those made by it on behalf of the Armenians. Sir George Foster replied with an emphatic "No."

RATS KILLED OLD WOMAN.

London, Eng., March 31—Priscilla Brown, an aged recluse, who had lived alone for twenty-five years, was found dead in bed, with peculiar wounds about the body and arms. It was found the place was infested with rats and the physicians said it was evident the woman had been attacked by the rodents while still alive.

80,000,000 SILVER COINS.

Paris, France, March 31—During 1918 the French Mint coined 820,000,000 franc pieces, 46,111,525 one-franc pieces and 24,298,729 fifty-centime pieces. In spite of this, small change is exceedingly difficult to obtain.

GREATER ST. JOHN

To the Editor of The Times:
 Sir—When I was a boy brought up on the Long Reach it used to be a common saying when the winter passed and the long days of spring and summer came, "Let us make hay while the sun shines." This naturally meant to get busy while the long days lasted and do the most while the sun shone bright. This applies in all walks of life and the advent of the long days and bright sunlight is a call to rise early on the job and get busy with the pressing needs of the day.

we could devote to practical reconstruction. Take up the first instalment of the solution, a bridge over Courtenay Bay to the vast section on the east side. Once you put in practice real ideas the people will look out for themselves. They are tired of living and waiting on hot air ideas which have been the stumbling block in carrying on the affairs of our city. Once you start to bridge the chasm by practical methods the people will prepare to cross with you.

Let us not be delayed on the matter of finance. St. John is wealthy and can afford to step out in the money world with pride. No cost is too great to put St. John where she belongs, in the forefront of the great commercial cities on this side of the Atlantic and at the same time make her a model city in which to live.

With ample space to have one of the greatest living centres in Canada within ten minutes of the heart of our city by an up-to-date street railway service an unprecedented transformation of the old Loyalist city into a Greater St. John will be one of spectacular amazement. We must not get excited over these wonderful changes from the old order of things to new and more progressive policy of the times; but, all together up and doing, rub the mist from our eyes that we may take in a clearer vision of what must transpire in order to create that for which we are deserving. Dust the cobwebs from our thinking portions. In other words, all pull together in the right direction of twentieth century progress and we will create a lively time and paint our old town on the map.

nor can I reveal the names of the players in active service are included. Mr. Heyler, in a recent statement, said that no charges had been made either by or against Lee Magee. All right, I have written Mr. Heyler along the lines already mentioned. While a great deal more could be said, it would not be good policy to do so just now. Let it go at that, and we'll all wait further developments.

Neils Shine. Jacksonville, Fla., March 31.—The evolution of Bernie Neils, a western Canadian leaguer, into a two-sided batter was the feature of yesterday's workout of the Dodgers. The practice period lasted only half an hour, old Jupiter Fluvius breaking it up with a heavy shower.

Neils looked good on both sides of the plate. First Manager Robinson had him hitting left-handed pitching on the right side and the kid qualified at both the long swing and bunting. Then the manager had the rookie turn around and hit left-handed against the right-handed pitchers. He was about eighty percent on the south side. Robinson predicted that in about a week Neils would be fifty-fifty on either side of the plate.

The shortage of houses makes the question of shelter a matter for urgent public consideration.

Renting vacant rooms is highly profitable, but it is a duty as well.

THE BARRIER OF RACE has often served as the background of a poignant story. In most cases, love has been unable to break down the taboo and the exceptional cases rarely reach public notice. In the latest Goldwyn photoplay, "The Flame," this delicate problem is handled with subtlety and power. The screen drama stars, Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen; and although the heroine is a lady of the English nobility, she believes that the hero whom she loves is a native Egyptian. As Sheikh Essad, Lou Tellegen wears the native Egyptian turban and dress, but he is a British officer who acts as a spy with the desert peoples.
