UNIONISTS NEAR TO SHIPWRECK

Just Narrowly Missed Disaster—Marconi Matter Said to Have Caused Anti-Jew Sentiment in London

(Times Special Cable) London, April 19.—The Unionist party has once more narrowly missed an open schism. The tariff reformers have been working hard behind the scenes to recover their way, and have recently centred their campaign in demanding the withdrawal of the candidature of Hon. Sydney Peel for St. Alban's division. It is understood that a virtual ultimatum was presented to the Unionist leaders that Peel must go if the party were to keep together. Last night the local executive committee was officially informed that the party leaders had decided to withdraw Peel.

Peel is prominent Unionist free-trader. George Peel recently having issued a book in which he declares tariff reform to be most dangerous in its imperial, its domestic and its international aspect, and that he would do everything in his power to prevent the return of protection in any shape or on any pretence whatever. Lord Hugh Cecil last night openly denounced one section of the party, describing them as a danger and declaring that many Unionists will be inclined to say, if unity cannot be attained by tolerance and patience, they would rather get rid of tariff reform altogether and start the fortunes of the party afresh on a new basis. The special significance of the withdrawal lies in that fact that Peel was openly supported by the Cecil family, hitherto supreme in Unionist affairs.

POPE'S BROTHER AT HIS BEDSIDE

Affecting Scene as Pontiff Greets Him BOTH MEN IN TEARS

Pius X Continues to Improve and Doctors Decide That Only One Bulletin a Day Will Be Given Out

(Canadian Press) Rome, April 19.—Professor Marchisavia and Doctor Amici, the papal physicians, announced today that, owing to the continued improvement in the Pope's condition, only one bulletin a day would now be issued from the sick room. This morning's bulletin read as follows: "His Holiness passed a very tranquil night, with his temperature standing this morning at 97.1. His coughing spells and expectoration have further diminished and his general condition is stronger and better." For the first time since the beginning of the Pope's illness, Angel Angelo Sarto, his brother, was allowed to see him this morning. Professor Marchisavia, who had not permitted the meeting during the critical period of the Pope's indisposition, insisted that he be present, as he feared the emotion caused by the meeting of the brothers might have a bad effect on his patient. Angelo Sarto, who is still sturdy, erect and stalwart, despite his age, approached his brother's bedroom with trepidation. When the door was opened by Mrs. Bressani, the Pope's private secretary, emotion began to overcome the aged postman. He rushed toward the bed and tried to kneel in front of it, but the Pope prevented him by stretching out his hand and saying as his brother: "No, have a good place" and holding his brother in his arms the two venerable heads approached each other and both men were in tears. Angelo Sarto was able only to mutter between his sobs the Venetian diminutive of the Pope's name, saying "Dear Behi, dear Behi."

Norton Griffiths Scow Dashed Against Sea Wall in Strong Wind

Charles Johnson and Patrick Henderson Tossed Into Waters—Latter Helps Comrade But Seas Rob Him of Man He Tries to Save—Body Washed Ashore

Charles Johnson, a Swede, employed on one of the mid coasts belonging to the Norton Griffiths Dredging Company, lost his life this morning in the seething waters of the western channel at Negro Head breakwater, when the scow on which he was working was wrecked in a strong wind storm. Patrick Henderson, who also was on the scow at the time was saved after a heroic battle in the icy waters of the outer harbor. The scow which had been filled by the Norton Griffiths dredge Denver, which was being taken to sea by the Norton Griffiths tug Dunbar, in charge of Captain Irving, was emptied. There was a strong southerly wind blowing and the seas were running high. As the craft passed through the western channel and rounded the breakwater they met the full force of wind and sea and became unmanageable. When the tug lost control of the situation the scow was swept against the end of the break water and rapidly filled and sank. The two men on board were carried overboard and for a time were tossed about in the stormy waters of the channel. Henderson, who is a strong swimmer, went to the assistance of his comrade and succeeded in reaching him. For some time he was able to retain his hold, but finally the helpless body of his companion was torn from his grip and they parted. Henderson saw Johnson every helplessly away and then turned his efforts to saving himself.

Little Beauty Chats

By ELAHOE BBAOON

Two Novel Soaps

THE skin of the hands, in its color and quality, comes second in importance to that of the face, and while it does not fall heir to as many blemishes and defects as the latter, yet there is no denying that it is not always fair to see.

The housewife, especially, has trouble keeping her hands as soft and white as they should be. This is not at all surprising, as it is natural that the scrubbing of pots and kettles, the cutting up of vegetables, and all the other work of a kitchen, does much to disfigure the hands.

Possibly, nay, probably, they could be kept free from stain and callousness, if one made a habit of donning rubber gloves before embarking on any beauty-destroying work, but it is only one wife out of ten that regards the rubber kitchen gloves with a friendly eye.

Since these helpful gloves are taboo in so many homes, the natural consequence is that hands are stained and calloused that would otherwise be white as a moonbeam and exquisitely soft. What is to be done about this? Surely you are not content to go through life with the figured hands? I need not wait for your reply, as of course, it is "NO" with a capital N.

What do you say to making a friend of an erasive soap, one that is warranted to remove all ugly stains in a trice? And this is not all it accomplishes. If your fingers are calloused and rough, all you need do is to rub this odd soap over the roughened places, when the flesh scales will disappear, while the layer of roughened skin will be considerably thinned.

Essential Soap.

White soft soap 1/4 pound
Olive oil 1/2 ounces
Powdered pumice-stone 2 ounces
Essence of violet 1/4 drachm

Heat the first two ingredients over a low flame, then stir in the pumice-stone and essence of violet. The compound should now be moulded in cakes and set on a plate to dry.

This dainty soft soap is effective as a stain remover and hand cleanser. I think you will like it, once you give it a trial.

GRAY HAIR TURNS ITS NATURAL COLOR AFTER APPLYING SAGE TEA

Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens Beautifully and Takes Off Dandruff

50 cents. Some druggists make their own, but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can possibly tell that you've asked your hair, so it does it so natu- rally and evenly, says a well-known down- town druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments, by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

White Mountain Refrigerators

The demand for high-grade refrigerators is making strong, rapid advance. Numerous cheaply constructed productions thrown on the market during the past few years have done more to promote the cause of true quality in refrigeration than thousands of volumes on the subject could hope to produce under different conditions.

In no other article of merchandise are there so many details of vital importance. In addition to the ordinary demands of excellence in durability, convenience and artistic design, the refrigerator of quality must be absolutely sanitary, easily cleaned, and must operate economically.

We are sole distributors of White Mountain Refrigerators and our complete line presents a practically unlimited selection in size, style and price.

WORK AT SAND POINT REFERRED TO AT BIBLE MEETING IN MONTREAL

Canadian Society Hears of Progress Being Made in East and West

Montreal, April 19.—At the seventh annual meeting of the Canadian Bible Society in the First Baptist church last night, it was shown that great strides had been made in the work of the propagation of the gospel since the foundation of the society in 1906. The east and the west alike gave evidence of progress.

The work of the auxiliary in the maritime provinces was referred to by Rev. A. F. Newcombe, of St. John. Particulars in St. John was the colportage work progressing, thanks to the efforts of a colporteur who had command of seventeen languages. There was no doubt that the advances of the colporteur were received with great pleasure by the immigrants and at St. John they had disposed of 20,000 copies of the scriptures in the last year. In Halifax they were somewhat hampered by lack of workers. It was a mistake to say that all the immigrants went through to the west for a large number remained in the maritime provinces to do construction work.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. N. W. Royles of Toronto; Vice-president, Rev. Professor Welch of Montreal and E. Cockburn of Bradford; treasurer, Eliza Rogers of Toronto; recording secretary, M. Donovan; general secretary, Rev. W. B. Cooper.

Her First Trip of Season From Louisburg — Lighting the St. Lawrence

Montreal, April 18.—The British-Danish steamer Sokoto, which sailed from Louisburg, N. S., at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 17th, is making good time to Montreal as she was reported ahead of Cape Route at 3 o'clock yesterday. She came through the Strait of Canso and Northumberland Strait and thereby avoiding the ice in Cabot Strait, which the Red-Headed leader Bruce reported to be as bad yesterday as on Thursday. The Sokoto should reach Quebec by Sunday afternoon and Montreal by Monday night.

Montreal, April 19.—Although some sparrows may yet have their heads in the snow, the navigation season had been almost as well lighted by tonight in full spring for some weeks.

Quebec, April 19.—The British steamer Knutsford, from Louisburg, with coal and provisions, arrived here yesterday afternoon, and will discharge here.

The Norwegian steamer Waconata, Captain Olsen left for Moncton yesterday.

LOCAL WRESTLING

A Letter From Chas. Allen on The Situation

Sporting Editor of Times:—Sir—I am leaving here today for Halifax where I expect to put on a couple of matches. My address will be "Carlton House," Halifax, N. S., and if any of these would-be wrestlers wants a match they can find me there. I would very much prefer Taylor, or the promoter is trying to give me a freeze out. I would like to meet him for fun or money. I have been getting a very raw deal here. In regard to the $50 which they are talking about, I did not know anything about it until it was withdrawn, and at that it was only $25 was put up. If these people really mean business I will hunt up Taylor myself and bring him here, if they make the side bet large enough, and wrestle him in public or private and show the public that I am no four-flusher and really mean business. These people, hating McDonald and Anderson, I could throw the whole lot of them in one night, as there is not a wrestler among them. I would like to hear from the promoters as soon as possible. Yours very truly, CHAS. ALLEN.

ANOTHER PAPER

FIRE IS TOLD OF

North End Cigar Shop Had Little Blaze

THE McFARLANE CASE

Police Witnesses Heard and Prosecution Has Only One More to Call—Adjournment Because he is Out of City

The preliminary hearing in the case of William P. McFarlane, suspected of arson, was resumed in the police court this morning. The evidence brought to light the fact that another slight fire, which took place in a cigar store in Main street, was discovered soon after the defendant left the store in which the fire took place.

The first witness today was Anne Tower. He said: "I saw the prisoner in Mrs. O'Neill's bar when the bartender gave the alarm of fire and I saw the prisoner hurry out of the saloon and up the street." To Mr. Conlon the witness said the prisoner was not running, but was hurrying so fast as to attract the witness' attention.

Deputy Chief Jenkins said: "My attention was called to a fire in the St. John Sign Co's office. I went to the scene of the fire and picked up the paper that had been burning on the counter. The paper was produced in court. Lying near the paper was this burned match. I afterwards searched the prisoner in the guard room and found, among other things, this match."

To Mr. Conlon, the witness said he had compared the burned match with that found on the prisoner and noted they were entirely different.

W. Walker Clark, chief of police, testified that he made the arrest in consequence of a description received from Deputy Chief Jenkins and Policeman Ross. He corroborated Deputy Sheriff Clifford's testimony as to the fire in the court house. "I found this burned match near one of the fire and three six unburned matches lying on the edge of the desk."

The chief said he had a conversation with the prisoner in the guard room after the arrest. He made this entry in a book which he usually carries for the purpose: "April 14.—I came on the prisoner, William McFarlane, on Main street, in front of M. Gordon's shop, No. 641. I said, 'which way were you?' No answer. 'Where do you live?' Answer, 'North End.' 'When did you come from King Square?' Answer, 'I was not near King Square.' 'You were in Sign Company's office on Union street this afternoon?' 'I was not there.'"

McFarlane then said, "I guess you've got the wrong man." "I said, 'Have you any matches?' Answer, 'No, I haven't any.' I said, 'You smell of burned paper.' Answer, 'I am smoking a new pipe, you are all wrong. I guess I'll go home.' I said, 'No, you will go with me.' I said to him, 'Did you use all the matches?' No answer. I then arrested him."

Cross-examined by Mr. Conlon, the witness said that the notes made were the conversation in full, in his own plain place between the prisoner and himself.

Another Paper Blaze

Aubrey S. Brown said he kept a cigar store at 601 Main street. He knew the prisoner for years and he had been in his (witness') store several times. "The morning last August after the defendant had gone out I discovered some paper blazing in the office in the back of the store in two places." Since then the defendant had been in the store but the witness said the defendant never got in the back store. The reason he did this was because he had friends in the back store, in fact a few days later hearing of the fire in O'Neill's bar-room.

J. B. M. Baxter, who is conducting the prosecution, said there was only one more witness to be heard and he was soot in town. The magistrate adjourned the case until arrangements could be made to have this witness in court.

THE STAGE AND ITS PEOPLE; MANY WELL REMEMBERED HERE

THREE WELL KNOWN HERE ARE PLAYING IN DIVORCONS

Grace George Wins Praise—Lytell In The West—Jessie Bonstelle In New York—Vernona Jarbeau, Well Remembered Here, Goes Under Operation

Three players well known in St. John, Grace George, who appeared here in "Just To Get Married," and Wm. Courtleigh and Harry Danton are in the cast of the revival of "Divorcons" in New York. Miss George is being highly complimented upon her work. An exchange says: "It is a tribute to her ability that she gives so good an account of herself in a role whose success depends on a spontaneous spirit of playful humor and the true finesse of a delicate interpretive power. The version is excellent, even though Miss Mayo has occasionally substituted a more palpable brand of wit for the subtle humor of the original. Miss George, without here, has occasionally substituted a more palpable brand of wit for the subtle humor of the original. Miss George, without here, has occasionally substituted a more palpable brand of wit for the subtle humor of the original. Miss George, without here, has occasionally substituted a more palpable brand of wit for the subtle humor of the original."

Madame Jarbeau played in St. John some years ago and with her company was a noted comedian, Gus Pley.

Why, bless your heart, he said last night, "I rode all over this country on horseback before a single rail was laid. I've been shot at in Indiana, and white people, too, for that matter, and I have been grown up folks as much as I, if not more, than the children. One of the features of their repertoire is a production of the maximum of fun by the minimum of labor or effort. A half dozen off-hand strokes of the crayon, in the hands of this clever artist, produce an effect that makes people of two continents laugh every day."

The play "Mutt and Jeff," is a musical comedy of unusual strength, requiring the services of more than a half a hundred artists, including a chorus of stanningly pretty girls. It is coming to the Opera House next month. It is distinctly a laughing show. In addition to Roger Gray and Sherry De Witt, the cast includes: Tommie Kelso, Arthur Alton, Henry A. Morry, Marshall Vincent, Dave Miller, Charles Newton, William Kead, Arline Bolling, Lillian Goldsmith, Anita Arline, Alice Gairland and Frankie Stewart. Among the musical numbers are "I Love You," "For Instance," "When I'm Out," "When I Dream of You," "Just a Little Smile," "Tale of the Mermaid," "Spanish Moon" and "Sweet Land of Dreams," in which pretty girls assist in the chorus.

It is announced that Lillian Russell, who, while on the stage, is Mrs. Alexander P. Moore, wife of a Pittsburgh publisher, will retire, perhaps only temporarily, to her home in Pittsburgh. Miss Russell has been on an extended beauty lecture tour, headlined as How to Live to be One Hundred Years Old. The cancelling of further engagements was done in a message received by Miss Russell's agents in New York from Mr. Moore.

The wedding of Harold G. Ellis, son of the late Alfred Ellis, who holds a responsible position with J. M. Robinson & Sons of this city, to Miss Ella Marjorie Scarr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Scarr of Montreal, took place on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Johnston in the American Presbyterian church. Miss Kathleen Fortier and Miss Freda Scarr were the bridesmaids, and Harold Conyne groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will return to St. John to reside after their wedding trip.

FAIRLY WELL KNOWN; THOS. E. SHEA IS "BIG TIME" MAN

Like Wise, Bonstelle, Farnum and Others We Knew, He Has Climbed the Ladder to Success

Few actors, if any, are more favorably known in St. John than Thomas E. Shea, whose annual visits to this city were usually looked for by amusement lovers.

THOMAS E. SHEA

of ten years ago. Mr. Shea, since his last appearance here, has been kindly treated by Dame Fortune and through hard work has risen to an enviable position in his chosen profession. Like Jessie Bonstelle, Tom Wise, Daphne Farnum and others equally well known here, he has been playing "the big time" which in every day lingo means the higher priced theatres. Among the characters which he has played are Richelieu, Othello, Napoleon, Ajax in a Soldier of the Cross, the title role in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Medias in "The Ball," etc. It is therefore of special interest to note Mr. Shea's appearance at the Opera House next week when he will no doubt receive a loyal welcome by his many friends in this city.

MIMIC DUEL FOR MOVIES IS TURNED TO A TRAGEDY

Wm. Dato Accidentally Killed in Acting Before Camera—Florence Turner to go to London For Summer—New Uses For The Motion Pictures

A mimic duel fought by two actors for a motion picture firm in Hoboken this week became a tragedy when one of the victims was killed. The victim was William Dato, eighteen years old, of No. 501 Madison street, and the man who unwittingly slew him in Samuel Lonsetto, the same age, of No. 615 Madison street, Hoboken.

Lonsetto's pistol snapped twice, and then, the third time, to the consternation of everybody, a spot of flame came from the barrel. Dato reeled and fell. He died in St. Mary's Hospital.

Lonsetto stood rigid for a moment, staring at the little group about his fallen friend, and then fled, sobbing. Detectives were vainly searching for him that night.

Richard Rowan has left the Vitagraph Company, with which he has been for the last two years, and is soon to start for the Pacific coast, where he is to play leads with a new company now forming.

Al. W. Filson, one of the character actors with the Selig Pacific Coast forces, is an example of the fascinating high play work sometimes held for stage people. Mr. Filson, who is fairly well advanced in years, does not have to work for a living. He just loves the picture game, that's all. He owns one of the finest orange groves in southern California, holds control of four producing oil wells, and has fattened his purse through deals in fancy real estate. Mr. Filson left the stage to go into business, and he was successful in a large way. But the lure of moving pictures proved irresistible to him, and he has yielded to his hobby heart.

The little frock which hit California orange groves last winter cost him about $10,000. Beverly Dwyer, one of the leading play-acts with the Esmeray Company, made her first appearance in pictures only a trifle more than a year ago, yet she has climbed pretty close to the top. She is one of the few prominent motion-picture actresses who began playing before the camera without any previous stage experience.

Arthur Powelson, photographer with Theodore Roosevelt when he was shot during the present campaign last fall in Milwaukee, and who was one of the party that conducted the expedition to the latter's home at Oyster Bay, L.I., has joined the forces of the Universal Company.

On the much discussed subject of the "moral movies," the character actor of the New York Sun has the following to say: "Youthful wrongdoers (carefully fallen by their attorneys, no doubt) have been in the habit of excusing their offences against the law by saying:—'It was the movies. I saw a fellow in the moving picture film doing that, so I went and did it.' Hence the 'moral' campaign last fall in the 'moral' had appeared upon the scene one of the most familiar headlines was 'Dime Novels Led Boy Astray' or something of that effect. But it is only recently that we have seen the classics attacked. A young resident of Mount Vernon accused of matricide was defended by Augustus Carney, and another member of the same company, Arthur Mackley, are in the same company. It speaks well for his being a success, and they were certainly living up to their reputation yesterday in the Esmeray comedy, 'The Housekeeper of Orleans,' which they supplied after roar of laughter. To see Carney as the 'new housekeeper' in female guise, and Mackley as the love-making, well it would be a shame to spoil it with a description, without seeing the fun. Ed Griffin and the orchestra were heard to advantage.

When "Alkali Ike," the character portrayed with such cleverness by Augustus Carney, and another member of the same company, Arthur Mackley, are in the same company. It speaks well for his being a success, and they were certainly living up to their reputation yesterday in the Esmeray comedy, 'The Housekeeper of Orleans,' which they supplied after roar of laughter. To see Carney as the 'new housekeeper' in female guise, and Mackley as the love-making, well it would be a shame to spoil it with a description, without seeing the fun. Ed Griffin and the orchestra were heard to advantage.

For every dollar expended by Mount Allison only forty cents is received from students' fees. The endowment fund is not sufficient to make up the difference. Hence the present movement. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars dollars is required and must be raised during the two weeks campaign beginning next Monday. The subscriptions are payable semi-annually for a period of three years. Each city and town is in the hands of a local committee acting in conjunction with the general committee, and for each place an amount is set as a goal towards which it must work. One of the most striking features of the campaign is the promptness and willingness with which prominent business men have volunteered to serve on committees and to give several days of their time to soliciting contributions. In St. John, Moncton, Amherst, Charlottetown, Halifax, Sydney, Sackville and elsewhere, some of the most influential and widely known of the business and professional men are leaders of the committees and have gathered around them other business men.

correcting ventilating faults in many of the older houses, and those that fail to comply with the departmental requirements by July 1 will be closed until the repairs are made. The Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sunday School work in Philadelphia is preparing to introduce moving picture machines in Sunday schools throughout the country by an arrangement with the Edison Company. A demonstration of the kinesiograph, invented by Mr. Edison for use in Sunday schools, was made recently in the Wakefield Presbyterian church, Germantown. Charles Ordish of Spokane has made a proposition to a moving picture film company to capture wild mountain lions in the hills and forests of western Montana, using only dogs and a larriat to accomplish the feat. Ordish says he can furnish about a thousand feet of film with a thrill every inch of the way. And he has a record for taking mountain lions alive that makes his proposition look good to the enterprising picture man. His specialty is taking the beasts without injury to them, to the dogs or to himself. His equipment consists of two well-trained Alpeide dogs, and a quantity of strong rope.

A ROMANCE OF RIDEAU HALL

Since meeting in Canada as part of the suite of the governor-general, Miss Polly, lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Cornwall, and Captain T. H. Rivers Bulkley, one of the aides to the duke, have become engaged to be married. This picture was taken on the grounds of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, last winter, and has just been published.

Sleepless Nights Tell of Exhausted Nerves

Sleeplessness may arise from a variety of causes, but it is most common to persons who are nervous or whose nerves are temporarily deranged. Complete insomnia quickly ends in death.

So long as the nerves and brain are excited or irritated sleep is impossible. When your interest is so little taken up with other things that you begin to yawn you recognize this as a sign that you are ready for sleep. Fatigue is upon you, and you are ready to dismiss all other matters and seek the restoration of Nature.

Persistent sleeplessness comes as a warning that your nerves are out of tune. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does not produce sleep by deadening the nerves, but it does remove the symptom naturally by restoring the nervous system to health and strength. Continued sleeplessness means a tremendous loss to body and mind, for during the sleeping hours Nature makes good the vitality consumed in the day's work.

When you are subject to sleeplessness you can usually find other symptoms of nervous exhaustion present, such as headache, indigestion, nervousness and irritability, loss of memory and difficulty in concentrating the mind. These warnings are not to be lightly overlooked, for they tell of approaching prostration or paralysis. There is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the exhausted nervous system. In a few days the nerves are so

Misery of Sleeplessness

Mr. Dennis Mackin, Maxton, Sask., writes: "I have just finished using the sixth box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I must say that when I commenced using it my nerves were so bad that I could scarcely get any sleep. I would lie in bed nearly all night without sleep, and one who has this trouble knows the misery of sleepless nights. The Nerve Food helped me from the start, and has built up my nervous system wonderfully. I now enjoy good, sound sleep, and instead of feeling tired in the morning I am strong and healthy and well fitted for my daily work."

Could Not Rest or Sleep

Mr. F. A. Krutz, Schwartz, Que., writes: "For about one year before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was a complete nervous wreck. Could not rest or sleep, was irritable and easily excited, and had indigestion and dreadful headaches. My nerves were continually on edge, and I feared prostration or paralysis. "After the first three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I felt greatly improved, and six boxes made me entirely well and strong. There is no treatment in the world above Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the nervous system."

Drig bte or Aeroplane? A question which has been widely discussed of recent years is that of the comparative merits of the dirigible and the aeroplane.

Every airship triumph or disaster opens afresh the floodgates of debate, but so far no nation has considered the conclusions arrived at sufficiently convincing to make it decided to rely upon one type entirely.

Lord Wolsey had a brother, the late Frederick York Wolsey, who "resided" in Australia as a sheep farmer.

Three of the prettiest persons in society—all of whom are Americans—are expected interesting intervals within the next few weeks.

London and the Bible The question whether or not London is a pagan is exciting considerable discussion.

The two universities of Oxford and Cambridge, together with the king's printers alone have the privilege of printing the Bible in English, and since Mr. Frowde's incumbency of the publishership, the Oxford University Press has published some 25,000,000 copies of the Scriptures.

Mr. Frowde's information goes to combat the view that Christianity—or, more strictly speaking, the reading of the Bible—is declining.

Inquiry at the British and Foreign Bible Society shows that that organization has, since 1804, issued more than 227,000,000 copies of the Scriptures, of which 36,000,000 were in English, and the rest in practically all the languages of the world.

pend his last cent in getting back there from England. At this time, all his belongings were in a grain-sack slung on his back, and when just at his wife's end as to how to get back to Maple Creek, where his partner and their little "bunch" of stock, a tramp whom he obliged with a "chew" opened his eyes to the possibilities of beating his way on freight trains.

Later he tried his luck on the trucks of a passenger train, but did not enjoy the experience, and finally landed at Maple Creek, "in the rather curious position," to use his own words, "of being penniless only sixty miles from my own ranch."

Now Stock fell in with one of the many partners with whom he has roughed it in the course of his wandering, in the person of a regular "cochey," who combined pit-an-tuning with photography.

tramp that Stock worked, for one day, as a waiter in a cheap restaurant, where the cook was a Chinese, he was promptly discharged after falling down with a tray full of dishes, the while his companion tried his hand at carpentering in another part of the town.

Where the Robber Lost Next Stock tried the logging-camps of British Columbia, and had some lively adventures there but was taken ill after a few weeks, with mountain sickness and, being ordered a sea-trip, went from Vancouver to San Francisco by boat, arriving at the Golden Gate on the anniversary of the great earthquake, when the city was a "forest of scaffolding and steam cranes."

Back to Vancouver then went the future novelist of the South Seas, and there decided to return to his ranch via Honolulu, Fiji, New Zealand and Australia.

But still political life is such a hard, cruel and unscrupulous trade that both of these men might have anticipated that they were giving a handle to unscrupulous enemies for a damaging attack on their honor.

"After some futile attempts," he said, "I obtained passage to Sydney as a steward and spent a week in an S.S. jacket that had once been white and had brass buttons, scrubbing floors, drying pyramids of greasy dishes, and sleeping with ten others in a 'glory hole' where the cock-roaches played hide and seek.

What Stock actually did, after getting rid of his tiny capital, was to live from hand to mouth, sleeping in the open and reading the "wand ad" until one day the idea occurred to him of offering to take the photographs for the pictures he had taken on his wanderings.

Finally, it was he who is now inspiring another great and revolutionary campaign ada, sold out his interests there, and returned to Queensland, there to invest in a farm which turned out an absolute and entire flop.

In the fulness of time, he unloaded it, however, and set off in quest of another. In the end he discovered "the farm of his dreams" but the owner declined to sell until he had played the Englishman at tennis and discovered that he was the kind of player they wanted badly in those parts.

So now Ralph Stock divides his time between raising pineapples and turning out novels and short stories.

This was the atmosphere into which Lloyd George entered. How can I describe this great moment in this remarkable man's life? He looked pale and thin, but composed; his courage is iron, though he is a sensitive man.

The whole Marconi campaign then was inspired to destroy Lloyd George and to stop his chance of making further attacks on the landed aristocracy.

There were moments of poignant drama in the appearance of these two brilliant leaders in the witness box. Each revealed something of the strain that has been put upon him.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitates and throbs, skips and sometimes seems to almost stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through this unnatural action of the heart.

American-Italian Light Weight Gets An Unexpected Setback

Frank Picato, an American-Italian light-weight, who went to Australia last October on his own hook, for the express purpose of getting on a match with English Mahagan for the championship of Kangaroo land, was going along splendidly until he bumped into a haymaker from the British welter-weight champion, Johnny Summers, last month.

The defeat of the Frenchman was the signal for tougher game for Picato and he was matched with Johnny Summers for the welter-weight title, the weight being 147 pounds in that country. Picato's best weight is about 140.

THIS IS NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Editor Times:— Sir,—I got so worked up over the letters of our two friends who are advocating working men's homes that I dream of it in my sleep.

I thought I was a Gipsy and lived at the Gipsy Settlement, and had a house on the land with a string to it, so I could not sell it to a speculator. I sat on my verandah happy as a king, and thought of all the good things the rich men were going to give us poor laborers. "On paper," I was greatly pleased. A voice from the roadside broke in on me. "How are you, Mister Workman?" I looked at the man who spoke, and noticed he was dressed in dollar bills. I invited the man in, thinking I could get some of the patches to pay off my mortgage, but he refused. I asked him where he lived and he said up in the moon, where the workmen had ideal homes like our two friends write about. He promised to give the plans free of charge to our friends as his donation.

He told me Gipsies seldom ever settled with them till the Gipsy moth came and they had now large settlements. He said that it was not accomplished by letters but had a more solid movement behind it and had strong opposition against their settlement. The man moved along without leaving any of his dress behind him. A few minutes later another man came along with some farm implements on his shoulder. I asked him where he had come from, and he told me he attended a meeting of the Get Rich Quick Club, where he showed them how to make roads and to beautify the workingman's home with trees, flowers, and shrubs. I asked him if the Gipsy moth bothered him, and he said: "No, I never give them a chance to settle, as I have not a bush or shrub on my own place." I thought perhaps he would lend me a hand to hoe his some potatoes but he was in a hurry and left.

Another visitor came along, who smiled strongly of fertilizer, and he joyfully told me of a great scheme he had for the workingman, the province to buy fertilizer as they cost, and sell it to the farmer. Product to be placed in cold storage until prices got high in the spring. This would be of great benefit to the working man, as it would keep him busy trying to make both ends meet. We were interrupted by a noble-looking man whom I took to be a Russian grand duke. He told me to come along with him over to the city hall. He had a warrant for me for working my way about the city. I went with him to city hall and he showed me two doors. One was for the rich man to go up to the assessors and give them a jolly about how property on Germain, King, Charlotte and other fashionable streets had gone down in value, where some houses that cost thirty thousand dollars to build were assessed on ten thousand, and houses in Elm, Brussels and other streets where working people live, houses that cost no more than nine hundred dollars to build, are assessed on two thousand.

After pointing to a few people who were assessed on incomes not sufficient to fill their automobiles and keep them in repair and showing me all the great plans by advancing imported labor, he opened the other door and I walked in and dropped into space. The job awakened me and I knew it was a dream.

MARRIED IN THE MAKING

Have you ever noticed that half the trouble of the young housewife are of her own seeking? She will take the nice little bit of cold roast beef or mutton, heat it, mix it, stew it, spend as much as two hours in turning it into a tough, colorless, over-salted or over-peppered dish. She is anxious all the time she is cooking it, most anxious of all, as the husband, upon whom she has wasted all her endeavors, tries to make light of the failure, and bites his tongue in an attempt to express the wish that she had left the meat cold, and merely set it on a plate, with a sprig or two of parsley as a garnish, and a bottle of H. P. Sauce as a relish.

But young housewives are learning wisdom, hundreds and thousands of them. H. P. Sauce sells in bigger and bigger quantities every week. Cold meat is coming back to its honored place in the homey little family—and not only so, but the housewives have discovered that when the joint can no longer be served cold, H. P. takes all the responsibility of flavoring off the shoulders of the inexperienced cook. H. P. is a rich, thick sauce, not hot, but piquant and fruity flavored; it is made of the choicest tropical fruits and spices and pure malt vinegar.

When you must hash, or mince, or stew, just see for yourself what a difference is wrought to the dish by the addition of a teaspoonful of this delicious sauce, but be sure it is H. P.

MUSIC IN SAND London Scientist Discovers Sweet Bird like Notes Are Produced

Cecil Curus Wilson, of the English Geographical Society has just succeeded in proving a theory which he has been investigating for some years and which was derided as nonsensical and impossible when he first proposed it, that music can be produced artificially from grains of sand. He discovered that sand, coarse and angular in grain, and dirty or mixed with other matter, gave out either a harsh grating sound or no sound at all, and that clean sand of a uniform size, rounded and polished, yielded musical notes. He has demonstrated his theory several times recently in the rooms of the London society. He put into a small container some sifted sand, the particles of which were approximately of the same size and shape, and which, on being struck with a wooden plunger, emitted sweet, birdlike notes, but when he mixed a small quantity of ground rice powder with the sand and again used the plunger no sound came forth. He explained that the common sands of the sea, when unsifted, do not emit musical notes because they are seldom sifted by the action of the waves and wind so as to make them of uniform kind and free from all foreign matter.—San Francisco Chronicle.

ARMORED AIRSHIP FOR FRENCH NAVY

(Continued from page 12.) proud to have an opportunity of fighting side by side with French soldiers. Should the installation of a colored army in Algeria be realized, it is calculated that it will permit France to recall its some now doing service in Morocco, and thus augment the home forces, which, under present circumstances, would be extremely beneficial as regards the strengthening of frontier garrisons. Officers for this proposed army could be furnished by the present colonial army, which thus presents the only possible and rational solution of employing to advantage the large number of officers who are yearly forced into retirement by discharge on completion of military service with their companies. The formation of a colored army in Algeria would not necessarily oblige the administration to purchase or reserve a corresponding number of discharged men, as those soldiers would become "regulars," and would be given "leave" for three months every two years. The Budget and Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies have approved the proposed transfer of the Luxembourg Museum to the buildings of the former seminary of Saint-Sulpice at a cost of nearly $200,000. Accommodation will thus be available for three times the number of pictures at present shown to the public. The statues of the museum will be placed in the central courtyard of the old chapel and gardens, and comfortable reading and writing rooms, furnished with the chief reviews, will be provided for the public. The feature of the museum at Saint-Sulpice will be the Salle Anglaise, where the fine collection of Luxembourg by Edmund Davis will be displayed. Mr. Davis had hoped to have completed this collection by the end of this month, but it will probably not be until June or later that the pictures will be assembled in Paris. Mrs. Julia Aubary, aged seventy-five years, went to a bank in the Boulevard Haussmann and cashed a check for $500. When she returned to her flat she was attacked on the staircase by a man wearing a long grey overcoat and a bowler hat. He struck her violently on the neck and then threw a handful of pepper in her eyes. She fainted, and her assistant found her handbag containing the $500 and disappeared. Later the handbag was found empty in an alley in the vicinity.

EQUAL DISTRIBUTION OF THE CANAL TOLLS IS SUGGESTED

Washington, D. C., April 19.—A proposition to fix tolls for ships passing through the Panama Canal so that all ships will bear a proportionate cost of the expenses of the canal, without favoring United States coastwise vessels, has been advanced in the senate by Senator Newland, of Nevada, in a resolution offered by him. Under the present law the president is called upon to make a schedule of tolls for the ships which pass through the canal, and Senator Newland's resolution looks toward the enactment of another law which will necessitate the equal distribution of the toll burden.

It Takes 100 Plump Spanish Grapes to Make A Single Wineglass of WILSON'S INVALIDS' PORT. The temperate use of wine promotes digestion. Dr. JONATHAN FERRELL. IT TAKES much more besides. IT TAKES infinite patience for the examination and selection of the choicest Cima de Douro grapes at vintage time. IT TAKES expert knowledge and chemical skill of a high order for the conversion of the rich juice yielded by these picked grapes into Port Wine of a quality to suit the critical taste of the testing connoisseur. IT TAKES the experience of a vintner whose lifetime has been spent in this work to know when the Wine has attained its perfection of rich, delicate flavor and aroma and delightfully clear, ruby color. IT TAKES fine discrimination and exquisite skill in the intricate art of blending to combine that powerful tonic and febrifuge—Cinchona Bark—with the perfect Wine, so that the pungent tonic taste is effectually covered. IT TAKES finally, the master mind that guides all these processes—the proprietor himself—to personally judge of quality, purity and excellence before the tonic is placed upon the market. Thus, you are assured that every bottle of Wilson's Invalids' Port Wine you open is of the same uniform high quality and excellence, and that you are getting a wine that is not only rigidly prepared to a professional prescription, but one that is held in high esteem by the Profession as a reliable, rational tonic and febrifuge in specified cases.
