

Ontario Cannot Afford to Dismiss Sir Oliver Mowat ---Principal Grant.

The honest, quiet citizen has an imperative call to rally to the support of Sir Oliver Mowat by supporting those candidates who are pledged to support him. Sir Oliver Mowat has preserved the business credit of this Province, while other countries have shaken to the center. Sir Oliver Mowat has fought and won for Ontario 100,000 square miles of valuable territory of which her opponents sought to deprive her. Sir Oliver has kept Ontario out of debt—the only Province of which that can be said. Is it of no moral consequence that our young men should have had before them for all these years the example of a pure-minded, God-fearing, upright statesman at the head of Provincial affairs? Much can be done by the quiet elector, through quiet, unconvoluted and persuasive talk, to discourage all attempts to bedevil the community by the raising of false issues—that community in which all of us, whether Conservatives or Liberals, Jews or Gentiles, have to mingle in friendly business and general intercourse after the 26th of June. As Principal Grant puts it, "Ontario cannot afford to dismiss Sir Oliver Mowat."

Exit Muley.

Sudden Death of the Sultan of Morocco.

English Correspondents Believe He Was Murdered.

British Mine Owners Decide to Reduce Wages—Death of "Belle Bilton's" Boy.

Cycling on the English Channel. PARIS, June 11.—Geo. Pinkert, the cyclist, who has invented a water cycle, will try to ride on his new machine across the channel from Grimsby to Folkestone, on June 27.

Miners' Wages to be Cut. LONDON, June 11.—The English combination of mine owners have decided to make a general reduction of 10 per cent in the wages of the miners. The latter are organizing to resist the cut.

Death of Belle Bilton's Boy. LONDON, June 11.—The Hon. Francis William, younger son of the Earl of Clanparry and Belle Bilton (formerly a music hall singer and now Countess of Clanparry), died on Saturday evening at his father's family residence at Garbally, Ireland. He was 23 years old, and was the younger by an hour of twins.

The Cabbies' Complaint. LONDON, June 11.—Home Secretary Asquith, who was called on to arbitrate between the striking cabbies and their employers, announced his decision this evening. For the next six weeks, which are the height of the season, he fixed the minimum average daily hire of the best cabs at 12 shillings and 3 pence, and the maximum at 16 shillings. A permanent scale will be announced later. Some of the cabbies dissent.

Was Muley Murdered? TANGIER, June 11.—The Sultan of Morocco, Muley Hassan, is dead. No details of his death have yet been received, but the representatives of the foreign Governments are in consultation upon the subject. It is rumored that the Sultan's son, Maulia Abdul Aziz, has been proclaimed Sultan of Morocco.

There have been no disturbances, and no disorder is apprehended. The Sultan died while traveling between the capital and Rabat. TANGIER, June 11, 4 p.m.—The latest news received here this afternoon is to the effect that the Sultan died on June 7, and that his son, Abdul Aziz, was shortly afterwards proclaimed Sultan by the army and by the Ministers who accompanied the late Sultan on his journey.

LONDON, June 11.—A prominent banker of this city has received a dispatch from Tangier, dated this afternoon, saying the belief prevails that the Sultan of Morocco has been foully murdered. Muley Hassan was born in 1821, and succeeded to the sultanate on Sept. 25, 1873. The old Sultan's famous one-eyed son, the first born of his numerous children, is already regarded as a pretender, and it is feared he will take advantage of the first opportunity to incite the people to rise in his behalf. Warships have been ordered to Mazagan, Tangier and Rabat, all ports of Morocco, as the Spanish Government fears that the change of sovereigns may prove the signal for numerous outbreaks.

Earthquakes in Spain. MADRID, June 12.—An earthquake shook the district of Andalusia yesterday. In the towns of Granada and Almeria many houses were destroyed and several persons were killed.

The Woman on Top. LONDON, June 12.—In the senior class of mathematics at Cambridge a young woman named Johnson has won the honor of sixth wrangler for 1893, distancing all her male competitors.

The Americans in England. LONDON, June 12.—The reception given on board the United States cruiser Chicago at Gravesend yesterday was largely attended, and was a brilliant affair in spite of rainy weather. The spar deck of the ship was covered with a canopy and decorated with flags of all nations, those of the United States and Great Britain spanning the vessel amidships. A cold collation was served to the guests on the gun deck. The officers of the ship were in undress uniform, and the music was furnished by the ship's band. A committee of citizens of Gravesend received the guests on the pier and conveyed them to the cruiser on the steamer Collo. They were received on board the ship by Lieut. Porte, who acted as master of ceremonies. Rear-Admiral Erben and Capt. Mahan received Ambassador Bayard and his party at 4:10 o'clock, when a salute of nineteen guns was fired. Nearly 400 were present, among them being Prince Louis of Battenberg, Lord Brassey, Lord Charles Beresford, the Earl of Carlisle, the Earl of Denbigh, Lord George Hamilton, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Dean of Rochester, Admirals Derriman, Dent, Fanshawe, Fairfax, Sir R. Vasey-Hamilton, Dowell, McClintock, Bridge, Col. Comb Hornby and Dale, the Countess of Carnarvon, Mrs. Mackay, Hiram, Maxim, ex-Vice-President L. P. Morton, Thomas Nast, Henry Irving, the attaches of the various embassies and legations and Sir Julian Pauncefote.

WILD WEST WAYS IN CANADA!

Armed Tramps Shoot Down a G. T. R. Conductor.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 11.—Great excitement prevails in the city tonight over the shooting affair at Jordan station this afternoon. It appears that as Conductor Turner, of the Grand Trunk Railway, who runs the daily local freight between the Falls and Hamilton, was on his trip west this afternoon he spied a gang of tramps on his train in a box car. He ordered them out of the car, which they refused to do, one of the tramps firing three shots from a revolver, all of which took effect in Turner's head. The tramps then escaped to the woods. There was a boy with them.

The tramps were overtaken in a bush a short distance east of Jordan station and surrounded by 30 or 40 villagers armed with shotguns, rifles and pistols.

After the police from St. Catharines and Niagara Falls arrived on the scene the advance into the woods was made. One of the tramps opened fire on Officer Parnell of the St. Catharines force. The fire was returned, seven or eight shots being fired, and after a hot encounter the men were arrested who, it is said, shot Conductor Turner. Subsequently all of the five tramps and the boy were captured. The boy is said to have identified the man who shot Turner. The police brought all the prisoners to this city. The tramps are all young-looking men, apparently between 20 and 30 years of age. They were marched from the depot to the police station all chained together, followed by a crowd of citizens. They were all armed and rough-looking customers. Policeman Black, of St. Catharines force, has found the revolver that Turner was shot with.

Conductor Turner comes from Hamilton, where his family reside. The doctors report him very low. He was taken to the Hamilton hospital.

COMING TO TERMS.

HAMILTON, Pa., June 11.—The strike at Wentz & Co's. collieries has been settled by the operators conceding the demands of the employees. Both breakers will resume work tomorrow with the old hands and a full force.

The Iowa coal strike has been settled and the men go to work June 13.

COLUMBUS, O., June 11.—The conference of operators and miners reached an agreement this evening and the miners will go to work tomorrow.

THIS IS DIFFERENT.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 11.—The strikers have blown up three more railroad bridges in Alabama with dynamite.

The Grand Trunk Situation.

MONTREAL, Que., June 11.—There is no change in the Grand Trunk situation. The company have 600 tons of coal here from the Dominion Line, which is sufficient for the present. The men out of employment are going on their holidays in most cases.

The Franchise Bill

To be Laid Before Parliament on Thursday.

Defaulting Witnesses in the Turcotte Case to be Arrested.

Fortnight Questions That Government Supporters Fail to Answer—Inquiry Bailed by 28 Majority—The Sabbath Observance Bill Materially Amended.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, June 11.—In the House of Commons today Dr. Bergin introduced a bill to enable the hours of labor on canals to be regulated by order-in-council so that twelve hours should be the maximum day's work. As no notice had been given, the motion to introduce the bill was declared out of order.

Sir Hilbert Tupper secured a first reading for a bill amending the Steamboat Inspection Act in an unimportant particular.

In reply to Mr. Laurier, Sir John Thompson said he would introduce the Franchise Bill on Thursday. The first order of the day was the attendance at the bar of the House of J. B. Prevost and O. E. Larose, defaulting witnesses in the Turcotte case. The sergeant-at-arms announced that these persons were not in attendance at the bar. Thereafter Sir John Thompson moved that Mr. Speaker do issue his warrant to the sergeant-at-arms to take these persons into custody and bring them to the bar of the House. This was agreed to.

There were a number of questions on the paper. Sir John Thompson told Mr. Langille that he had not promised a fast line of steamers for Quebec if a friend of the Government was elected in Quebec West. The Postmaster-General stated that F. D. Barwick was removed from the office of postoffice inspector at Toronto for neglect and detention of certain sums of money received by him. The money had since been made good.

Mr. Brodeur moved for a select committee to inquire into the irregularities in the civil service examinations at Montreal in November last. The member for Rivest recited the facts already known, and asked why when nearly 50 persons were personally seen by him to be prosecuted, and they were not the persons but the persons. Two of the scrutineers accepted his challenge to the committee, but they were not prosecuted. Was it, he asked, because Desilets, one of the guilty scrutineers, was the son of a prominent Three Rivers Conservative? The other scrutineer, Berteau, was a nephew of the Minister of Public Works in the Quebec Cabinet. The two students Wilson who were prosecuted were Liberals, and Mr. Brodeur wanted to know if this was an explanation of the Government, prosecuting them and them alone. The two scrutineers were students in the university which furnished nearly all the persons and consequently knew of the fraud. One Bourassa, an appointee of the Minister of Public Works, went to Wilson and asked Wilson to personate him, and said he was a friend of Mr. Oimmet, the Minister of Public Works, and would see Wilson protected if anything went wrong. He went farther, and showed Wilson a letter advising him to be personated in order to be promoted in the civil service, and that letter was declared by Bourassa to be signed by the Hon. J. A. Oimmet.

At this point Mr. Oimmet rose and protested against such an insinuation. He might have written to Bourassa, saying that if he desired promotion he should pass the examination, but he never advised personation.

Mr. Brodeur—Then Bourassa added forgery personation and was doubly guilty, yet, although the law compelled the Government to cancel the certificate six months ago, they had not prosecuted Bourassa or even dismissed him. Up to a week ago he was still in the employ of the Government in the Montreal postoffice.

Some considerable discussion followed. The Premier stated that instructions had been issued to prosecute all those concerned in the frauds against whom there was sufficient proof. Until that was done the motion to appoint a committee of inquiry should be deferred.

Mr. Laurier reminded the Premier that the motion called for an inquiry into the whole system as well as into these latest frauds. He thought there was a display of the cleven lock and that the Government should explain why Bourassa was not prosecuted.

Sir Adolphe Caron said that Bourassa had recently been dismissed.

Mr. Brodeur—Why was Wilson, who personated Bourassa, prosecuted, and Bourassa, who was still more guilty, not prosecuted?

Mr. Oimmet replied that this was a reasonable question to which he could not furnish the answer.

Mr. Oimmet warmly defended Bourassa, who was a young man incapable of breaking the law. He denounced Mr. Brodeur and the Opposition generally for making assertions on the floor against others. It was a practice too common among the Opposition.

Mr. Mulock said that the country would learn with surprise that the Minister of Public Works objected to revelations of fraud in regard to a candidate for the penitentiary, and rebuked Mr. Oimmet for trying to throw the cloak of nationality over the culprit.

The House divided on the motion, which was rejected by 40 yeas to 88 nays, a Government majority of 23.

In calling of the names, Mr. Rouleau, the assistant clerk, called out "Sir John Costigan." Mr. Costigan blushed and smiled, the House laughed and cheered, but the Prime Minister looked stern, and shot an angry glance at the unfortunate assistant.

It was evident that unwittingly a sore spot had been struck. After recess Mr. Charlton's bill for the better observance of the Sabbath was again considered in committee and amended by a sub-committee exempting church and Sunday school literature. The bill was reported and the Speaker put the motion for the third reading. There ensued a series of amendments, moved with the object of defeating the bill.

Mr. Mars first moved that the House go back into committee and strike out the words "prohibiting the circulation of Sunday newspapers." After debate the motion was adopted by 60 to 52. Sir John Thompson and Mr. Laurier both voted against the motion. The clause as finally adopted simply prohibits the "sale" of Sunday newspapers.

Various amendments—some frivolous, some absurd, some out of order and some serious—were moved, one after the other, but the bill survived, and was finally passed without further amendments.

Consideration of Mr. Coatsworth's bill to further provide against cruelty to animals or birds was concluded in committee.

An amendment by Mr. Tisdale to exempt the shooting of birds from traps from the operation of the act was left in abeyance, and the committee reported progress. The House then adjourned.

NOTES.

The French treaty will be introduced on Wednesday by Mr. Foster.

Mr. Thompson gives notice of an amendment to the criminal code making unauthorized carrying of railway passengers free an indictable offense on the part of conductors.

This Looks Better!

Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney Says Flood Reports Have Been Exaggerated.

And That the Greatest Damage is the Loss of This Season's Crop.

For Centra Come Accounts of Heavy Losses and Rivers Still Rising.

OTTAWA, June 11.—A few days ago Lord Aberdeen telegraphed to the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia alluding to the general feeling of concern and sympathy which had been evoked by the account of the devastating floods along the Fraser River, and asking to be informed as to any step which might be taken in the Province with a view of ascertaining the amount of the distress.

His Excellency received in reply to-day from Lieut.-Gov. Dewdney mentioning that the effects of the flood had been overestimated; that the greatest loss was in this season's crops; that no lives had been lost; that at the time of telegraphing there was little or no news of crops having been destroyed, and that the Lieutenant-Governor would wire his Excellency any further information that he might obtain.

A sandstorm on Sunday, June 3, cut a swath through towards Grand Prairie and Ducks, blocking the track.

A dispatch from Quesnell says the river has risen an inch an hour during the last 36 hours. About $18,000 additional damage has been done.

At Ashcroft the river has risen another three inches, and the settlers are now feeling the first effects of the flood on the high lands. Half the potato supply of the Province comes from here. The loss by the potato crop has been something enormous.

ON THE OTHER HAND.

MONTREAL, June 11.—The following is a Star special: "Vancouver, B. C.—Engineer Tracy came through from Ashcroft by handcar, steamer, rail, train and tramway Saturday night, being the first passenger from the east in a week. He reports that it was a cloudburst up the line which tore away the track and trestle work at Pennys and Gladwin."

Half a million of dollars' worth of Government bridges have been washed away on the Thompson, Bow and Columbian rivers.

There are washouts at Savona, Ashcroft, Lytton, and trouble at Kicking Horse Pass, and Heli Gate, which is 100 feet above low tide, is out of sight. The distress in many districts is very great.

A Maple Ridge item says the waters of the Fraser River have backed up against Lillooet River, and the latter river having no outlet has simply spread itself sideways, climbing the hills and rushing furiously through the valleys. In the history of the Province the Lillooet has never before overflowed its banks. So quietly did the water rise that farmers were awakened from their sleep by the floods trickling along the floor. Half of the stock, it is thought, has perished. The postmaster at Hammond says the river is commencing to give out its dead. A woman was found at Point Henry with two children strapped to her. The corpses had been a long time in the water.

THE WEATHER MORE FAVORABLE.

MONTREAL, June 11.—Latest advices from British Columbia state that the water has not subsided sufficiently for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to decide upon the exact amount of damage done. The weather is colder, which is favorable to the subsidence of the flood.

A TERRIBLE PLAGUE

Raging in China—Tens of Thousands Carried Off.

NEW YORK, June 22.—A letter to the Herald from Shanghai, dated May 10, says: The plague has long been raging in Canton and Peking, and it has carried off tens of thousands of victims in the last few weeks. It reached Hong Kong last week, the alarm became great and threw the foreign and native residents of the coast ports into a state of terror. The French steamer which left Shanghai for Europe on May 12 refused to call in Hong Kong for fear of passengers and since then all vessels have given it a wide berth.

The disease is of a bubonic character, with purplish black swellings in the glandular regions, in the groin, armpit, under the knees and in the neck, accompanied by terrific fever, the temperature going at a bound up to 105 and over 106. It is frightfully rapid in its course. Purging diarrhea at once sets in, and a state of delirium followed by coma is reached in three or four days; in bad cases death ensuing and the body turning black, putrid and swelled to thrice its size in the course of 12 to 24 hours. Six thousand fatal cases have occurred in the district of Canton. European residents in Canton and Hong Kong have escaped the ravages of the disease.

PLEAS FILES! Itching Files.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration and in most cases removes the tumors. At drugists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. ERASTUS WIMAN

Called Upon to Answer the Charge of Forgery—Beginning of the Trial—A Jury Secured.

New York, June 11.—The trial of Erastus Wiman began this morning in the Court of Oyer and Terminer before Judge Ingraham. Assistant District Attorney F. L. Wellman will conduct the case for the people, while Benjamin F. Tracey, Lawyer A. B. Bordman and James N. Greenfield, Q.C., of the Canadian bar, will be Mr. Wiman's counsel. Mr. Wiman looked very bright and cheerful as he took his seat by his counsel.

Mr. Wellman announced that Mr. Wiman would be put on trial only on one count, namely, for forgery in the second degree. The specific charge is that he forged the signature of E. W. Bullinger to a check for $5,000 drawn on Feb. 6, 1893, on the Chemical National Bank.

Ten years is the maximum of punishment that can be imposed on Mr. Wiman if he is found guilty of forgery in the second degree.

Among Mr. Wiman's friends who were present were Mr. John Withrow, ex-mayor of Toronto, and John Ross Robertson, editor of the Toronto Telegram.

NO MORE FITS.

Mrs. William Langley Was Subject to Them for Five Years—Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Never Yet Failed, Cured Her.

LONDON, June 11.—Mrs. Wm. Langley, of 21 Euclid avenue, South London, has for the past five years been subject to fits. She was treated by doctors in Lansing and Detroit, Mich., and by three different physicians in London. No one of them could cure her. About two months ago she began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since then she has no return of the fits. To-day she is perfectly cured. Her trouble was undoubtedly due to kidney disorder, a fact which the physicians who treated her never discovered and consequently their treatment was in vain.

Good Night's Work.

An Electric Street Railway Almost in Sight.

A Question of Change in Route Still Remains Unsettled.

Substantial Relief Voted to the British Columbia Flood Sufferers.

The L. R. E. O. P. A. Sat Upon—Whose Throat Was Cut?—Cheap Fares From 6:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Then 5c Straight—Aldermen Sit Until 1:40 a.m.—The Question to be Settled in One Week.

The aldermen voted and yawned and talked and yawned, and voted again, at last night's council meeting, and when the final motion was recorded it was 1 hour and 40 minutes past midnight. The electric street railway franchise was under discussion, and at the close of the session an electric road seemed nearer than it has ever been in London. Mayor Essery distinguished himself throughout by voting in the minority. There was some hesitation on both sides of the council before coming to a vote at the beginning of the session, not knowing the other's strength. Then the mayor unloaded a lot of figures on the aldermen and took their breath away almost by informing them what it might cost the city to supply paving material. But after the first vote was recorded things went smoothly—not rapidly, of course, but the aldermen had all night to do it in. Mr. Everett's chief objection to supplying the material for paving was that the company would be supplying the pavement for the public good, as they could very well do without it altogether themselves with electric power. The only point now left to be settled is the matter of some extensions on Hill, Egerton and Victoria streets. In conversation with Mr. Everett after the meeting the latter stated that a board meeting would be held at 10 a.m. to decide whether the company would agree to the amended route. Messrs. Hellmuth, Ivey, Smallman and Break were present at the meeting—Wm. Heaman being the only absent alderman.

AID FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS.
The question of relief for the sufferers by the Fraser River floods was first dealt with. "Five hundred dollars would be of more use now than $5,000 in a few weeks. It is a matter that all charitably disposed citizens would like to see dealt with by the council," said Ald. Judd, chairman of the finance committee.

Ald. Parnell moved that the communication of the L. R. E. O. P. A. be read. He then asked Ald. Judd where the funds were to come from.

Ald. Judd replied that $2,000 had been set aside for "incidentals" when the estimates were brought down.

Then J. W. Jones moved that $500 be "telegraphed to the sufferers at once." "He who gives quickly gives twice."

Ald. Pritchard seconded.

The motion carried, only three—James Fitzgerald, O'Meara and Taylor—voting nay.

Mr. J. W. Jones further said: "I would also move that the communication from the L. R. E. O. P. A. be put under the table to be used as a footpad for the city clerk. I did not think that there were people mean enough in the country to object to such an action." The letter was accordingly "filed" as hard as the council could possibly file it.

Then the question of appointing "receivers" at the gates of Victoria Park at the band concert to-night in aid of the sufferers came up.

Ald. Parnell moved that the finance committee perform the duty.

"I will second that providing they have a policeman with each alderman," said Ald. Garratt. The matter was ultimately left with the mayor and aldermen personally.

Mayor Essery stated that he had in his pocket a check for $250 from the firm of Robinson, Little & Co. in aid of the flood sufferers. He also, with Ald. Judd, volunteered to defend, free of charge, any alderman against whom the L. R. E. O. P. A. brought action.

THE STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE.

Ald. O'Meara wanted to know if the question was going to be definitely settled to-night. He advocated going into committee of the whole and reporting a week hence. The mayor thought that the matter should not be dealt with hurriedly. If both parties came to a satisfactory agreement a few days' delay would not matter. Personally, he wanted a copy of the agreement to read.

The first clause, dealing with the extensions, was read by Ald. Judd. The mayor came down from the chair and personally moved that the clause lie over until the terms as to agreement and cash fares were considered. He then read telegrams showing that Toronto had received $72,234.50 as percentage for 1893, and $28,291.25 so far during 1894, and Hamilton a mileage of $5,706.59 and percentage of $6,858.96 during 1893, and for the first quarter of 1894, mileage $1,443.20, percentage $1,412.27. The city engineer reported that the proposed extensions would require 16,000 feet of single and 16,000 feet of double track. Gravel would cost 25 cents a running foot for double track and 12½ cents for single track—total, $6,000. Two renewals would be required during the 31 years, estimated cost $12,000. To pave the double track with asphalt, $30,000; single tracks, $15,000; total, $45,000. Brick, $20,000, for double track; $10,000 for single; total, $30,000. A cedar block double track, $5,000; single track, $2,500. The life of asphalt was calculated at 25 years, brick, fifteen years, and cedar blocks, eight years. The city had laid on existing lines since 1886 $6,818.77 for gravel and repairs, not including $10,000 for block paving. The mayor averred that eight tickets for a quarter was not a cheap fare if the city had to furnish the material and do the work. Then the company wanted to use the bridges without paying a cent of the cost. The mayor said that the line to Springbank might be used to carry coal to Springbank and garbage to the coast. The tenor of his argument was that it would not pay to accept the offered terms for the privilege of riding of a cent cheaper than citizens can at the present time.

Ald. O'Meara seconded the mayor's motion and it was carried.

Ald. J. W. Jones agreed with the proposed fare of eight for 25 cents. "But," said he, "on the ground of equity the company, to save all legislation, all trouble between the road master and the engineer, and all trouble between the Board of Works and the Street Railway Company, as in years past, we will save all that trouble and annoyance by the company putting in their own material and their own roadbed." After stating that an electric road would probably kill business in the outskirts, Mr. Jones said: "After the first five years they should give an annual rental. This franchise in this city is worth something. What that something is I am prepared to say, but the present railway company is not."

Ald. Judd, after explaining that the company, by reason of their present charter and by reason of their option on any offer that might be brought before the council, were not in the same position as an outside company would be. "What can we get for this franchise?" asked Ald. Judd. "Get the best offer we can and then accept it. We need an electric railway in the city of London first, so that property on the outskirts and inside of the city can get the benefit of a rise in price. We need it because this year if any year at all we must give work to London's hundreds of unemployed workmen." Mr. Judd spoke strongly in favor of the offer.

Ald. O'Meara challenged Ald. Judd to show that the present offer was any better than the offer accepted by the council of nineteen years ago, and in some respects not so good.

Ald. T. Jones and J. Garratt moved that the time wherein eight tickets for a quarter could be bought be extended from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The mayor moved an amendment of universal cheap fares at eight tickets for a quarter.

Several aldermen asked what the cash fare would then be? Five cents or what? The mayor left that question to be answered by the company.

Ald. William C. Coe made a speech that was applauded from the benches. He first wanted to move that no fares be charged at all. Then he admitted that the present company had the city "where the hair was short," but neglected to explain this statement. "If we can't get a better offer, gentlemen, for heaven's sake let us accept it and be done with it."

Ald. Pritchard spoke in a similar strain and characterized the offer as broad and liberal, as well as equitable.

Ald. Parnell reviewed the history of the question during the past three years. He seemed to consider the offer of eight tickets for a quarter all day long a fair offer, and thought that the offer that had gone by the board went to show that the present offer was about all that the franchise was worth. Toronto did its own paving and charged a 5-cent fare. The citizens of London, he said, would much prefer the benefit of cheap fares where their pockets would feel the benefit than that the benefit should go into the city treasury, where they would never see it.

Mr. Parnell spoke of the benefit of the transient labor as well as the benefit that would arise from the increased permanent staff.

Ald. T. Jones amended his motion to read "8 o'clock" instead of "8:30."

Ald. Pritchard referred to the aldermen's cry of "idle workmen" to a great extent as claptrap. What was in the interests of the city was in the interests of the workmen. He thought the offer of cheap fares decidedly the best so far. The company would not wear out the pavement between the tracks. It would be the general public.

Mr. Everett said that the company had gone to the utmost limit that was consistent with business prudence in making the proposition before the council. They had taken into consideration the question of furnishing material for an electric railway. They thought that the city of London ought to treat them as favorably as the city of Detroit, namely, to furnish a roadbed for the use of the citizens and not for the railway company, as it was well known that an electric railway could be operated much more satisfactorily without any pavement than with it. Mr. Everett thought it a fair compromise for the company to offer to do the labor if the city furnished the material. "We are ready and willing," said Mr. Everett, "to stand on that proposal, but I don't think the gentlemen associated with me would in any way consider making any greater concessions to the city, and I really do not think that it would be fair or reasonable to demand any more."

In answer to a question Mr. Everett said they proposed to give eight tickets for a quarter for twelve hours (6 a.m. to 6 p.m.), and then charge a cash fare of 5 cents.

Ald. J. W. Jones asked if the company would furnish their own material if the charge was made six tickets for 25 cents with a cheap workmen's ticket in the morning and evening.

The members of the company retired to the mayor's chamber, and on their return Mr. Everett said: "Without any disrespect to the City Council or to the public of London, who are our patrons, I would state that this is the third proposal that we have laid before the city, and we can see no reason, since the first two were rejected, to alter the present proposal as amended on Friday night."

J. W. Jones said he would never vote to give the franchise to any company who would not supply its own material.

Ald. Pritchard said that as the company in view of the advent of electricity would not use horse-power, then it was not fair to expect them to do the paving.

Ald. Scarrow said that he was perfectly willing to accept the offer of cheap fares providing the company furnished the material and do the paving.

THE TORY "RECORD AND PLATFORM."

"Hundreds of settlers who went into Algoma in years past have been driven out and compelled to seek homes elsewhere because of the illiberal, greedy and blundering policy of Mr. Mowat's Government."—Opposition "Record and Platform."

It may with confidence be said that the policy of the Government towards the northern districts has been broad and liberal. There are no parts of the Dominion in which greater advance in population or more solid progress has been made than in Algoma and the Free Grant territory generally. The answer to the charge is best given in the figures of the Government census for the years 1871, 1881 and 1891. Taking the districts of Muskoka, Parry Sound, Nipissing and Algoma, their growth in population during the twenty years is shown as follows:

|                  | 1871. | 1881.  | 1891.  |
|------------------|-------|--------|--------|
| Muskoka.....     | 5,133 | 14,301 | 17,631 |
| Parry Sound..... | 1,756 | 12,413 | 19,167 |
| Nipissing.....   | 1,791 | 2,099  | 31,163 |
| Algoma.....      | 7,018 | 24,014 | 41,856 |

Totals.....16,728 63,208 91,837

It is claimed in the "Record and Platform" that the growth of the northern districts is due to the opening up of the Canadian Pacific Railway; but while it is doubtless true that the railway has promoted settlement, it will be observed that in the ten years 1871-81 the population increased by 37,580, while in the ten years 1881-91 it increased by 38,529. It is not true, then, that the growth of settlement in the northern districts is wholly due to the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Even in Nipissing, where the greatest increase is noticeable, the mining industry is entitled to a large share of the credit.

Had the "Record and Platform" seen fit to draw attention to the effects of the "illiberal, greedy and blundering policy" of the Dominion Government as illustrated by its fruits in the older districts of the Province, it would find a vastly larger number of men ready to give in their assent. Look at the hundreds and thousands "driven out and compelled to seek homes elsewhere," as shown by the Government enumerations of 1881 and 1891 in the following counties, in the best agricultural portions of this fine Province:

| COUNTIES.           | 1881.  | 1891.  |
|---------------------|--------|--------|
| Norfolk.....        | 33,527 | 30,292 |
| Haldimand.....      | 24,980 | 23,410 |
| Welland.....        | 31,771 | 30,631 |
| Huron.....          | 76,526 | 66,781 |
| Brace.....          | 65,215 | 64,913 |
| Midland.....        | 92,081 | 92,344 |
| Oxford.....         | 59,159 | 49,849 |
| Perth.....          | 53,393 | 51,716 |
| Wellington.....     | 64,432 | 60,371 |
| Peel.....           | 26,175 | 14,871 |
| Ontario.....        | 48,812 | 45,355 |
| Durham.....         | 36,305 | 32,427 |
| Northumberland..... | 41,123 | 38,035 |
| Prince Edward.....  | 21,444 | 18,889 |

Totals.....667,006 619,304

At the ordinary rate of natural increase the population of those fourteen counties in 1881 should have grown by 100,000 in the ten years; but instead the population is seen to have decreased by nearly 38,000.

The Ontario Government has done its duty by the settlers of the northern districts, and the "Record and Platform" party cannot gainsay what the figures of the Dominion census show. If they would inquire how the fourteen counties in the older portions of the Province came to fare so badly, they may find it in the operations of a tariff policy under which for every $100 of produce exported from the country, the farmers get back only $90 after the tariff tax is paid.

—Sir John Carling has left Mr. Hyman's seat in Parliament to canvas for the Toronto city solicitor in London. Having accepted a stolen seat, he should at least attend to the Parliamentary duties called for by its occupancy.

TORONTO'S DESIRES AND AIMS.

The Toronto Mail is out strongly in favor of the election of Mr. Meredith in London. Of course it is. If Mr. Meredith were elected here, Toronto would have five, instead of four, members in the Legislature. Why is it that this Toronto newspaper so persistently misrepresents the ADVERTISER's views on this point? Let it fairly and honestly state that as an officer drawing $13,500 a year, pledged to devote his first energies to our rival city, Mr. Meredith holds a position absolutely unlike that of any other candidate in the present campaign.

Would Toronto accept the city solicitor, or the city clerk, or the city treasurer of London for any one of its divisions? No; Toronto holds on to all its seats, and attempts to get as many of its residents into outside constituencies as possible. But no other city has ever been asked to do what London is now requested to do: to accept the paid officer of a rival city as an "independent" member. It cannot be. "No man can serve two masters."

INSPECTION OF CHARITIES.

All institutions in receipt of aid under the Charity Aid Act of Ontario are subject to inspection from time to time by the inspector of prisons, who is authorized to make all proper inquiries as to maintenance, management and affairs thereof, and to particularly satisfy himself by the examination of registers and other means to the correctness of returns made under the act and to report to the Government.

The annual return for each institution is made by its officers according to forms prepared by the Government. They are verified under oath, and any person who willfully makes or is a party to procuring to be made a false return is liable to a penalty of $1,000.

In the strict sense there is only one sectarian institution in the Province, the Nicholl's Hospital at Peterborough, which by its charter has been established "for the benefit of the Protestant population of the said town." All others, whether under Protestant or Roman Catholic management, admit patients and inmates without distinction of church, race, creed or color.

Factories, Houses, Taxes.

Interesting Comparison Between the Two Candidates.

Which Does Most for This Western Capital City?

How Mr. Hobbs' Firm Came To Go Into Manufacturing.

The London Free Press, by its latest efforts, practically confesses that it has no hope of securing the election of a Toronto city officer as member for the city of London. No sooner has our contemporary apologized for spreading a gross libel against a prominent supporter of the Ontario Government than it begins to misrepresent another. It knows that it cannot meet the objection to the selection of Mr. Meredith, an official of Toronto, in receipt of an income of $13,500 a year as the special advocate of our rival city, therefore it begins to belittle and to attempt to bring into contempt the standing of the London citizen candidate, to whose devotion to the interests of London it has a special aversion.

Mr. Thea S. Hobbs, the London citizen candidate, and his brother, Wm. R., have built up the Hobbs Wholesale Hardware Company from small beginnings till it has reached formidable proportions, bringing trade and employment to London mechanics and workmen generally from every part of Canada. It is not generally known that while the firm pays over $52,000 a year in wages, or $1,000 a week to its own workmen, it every year buys between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of the products of London's factories and sells them to its customers in every part of the Dominion. To enable it to do so it has sought no civic or other special advantages, though it has had to meet the fiercest competition from Toronto, Montreal and other trade centers.

A few years since, though not exactly in their line, Messrs. Hobbs entered into the business of manufacturing. They saw the extensive factory of John Elliott & Sons—in old days a busy hive of industry—standing idle and likely to remain so. It occurred to the Messrs. Hobbs that by dint of energetic action they could establish a new line of manufacture in London. They found in the books of the London City Council a standing offer of tax exemption for a term of years on any new manufactory started within the city limits. The Hobbs Hardware Company took advantage of that offer, as any other business man could do though it was open for them to follow Mr. Meredith's example and start their factory in the rival city of Toronto. They could have received exemption from taxation there as well as in London. The idle Elliott factory was exempted from taxation for ten years. The City Council was glad to see it set going once more. So were the idle mechanics. So were the retail merchants, who know what it is to have idle factories around them. This has been very gratifying to citizens generally. Not so to the newspaper advocate of the Toronto candidate for London. Instead of rejoicing that the factory is now running full time, and often compelled to work overtime to keep up with orders; instead of honestly pointing out that the number of workmen employed is much greater than that stipulated by the City Council; instead of honestly stating that Mr. Hobbs' firm enjoys exactly the same exemption privileges as other city manufacturers do, the Free Press sneers at Mr. Hobbs as a rich man who is dodging the payment of his legitimate taxes.

It would spoil our contemporary's attack if it were to acknowledge that the Hobbs Company merely accepted the terms offered by the civic representatives, just as many other firms whose members are Conservatives and Liberals, had done before it. If a city offers an advantage to anyone who will start a factory, he is a poor specimen of a man and a poor specimen of a newspaper that will first uphold the principle of exemption and then traduce the man who enters into the arrangement desired by the taxpayers.

In this connection it is pertinent to remark that though the offer of tax exemption to all new factories started in London has been on the bylaw book of the City Council for many years, the Toronto candidate has never taken any steps to put his money into London industries. It has been open to him to do as the Messrs. Hobbs have done—bring a new industry to London to provide work for her mechanics and workmen. He could have brought it from Toronto or from a place farther away, as the Messrs. Hobbs have done, and every friend of the London citizen candidate would have rejoiced at the enterprise. It will certainly do the candidate of our rival city no good to have an attack made upon Mr. Hobbs because he operates a factory on these conditions. The workers of London know who are their friends in this campaign.

But it is asserted by the Free Press that Mr. Meredith pays taxes on property in London. Mr. Meredith undoubtedly shares with his family the rents derived from two houses and two stores in this city, and he takes good care to spend all that he obtains to build up Toronto. But that he, and not the tenants of the property pay the taxes, in the sense that the Messrs. Hobbs pay taxes on their warehouses, it is absurd to contend. The landlord does not pay the taxes. There is not a tenant in London who is so stupid as to believe that. Mr. Meredith no more pays taxes on the property that he owns in this city than do the absentee landlords of Europe pay the taxes on the small farms of their retainers.

If this is all the set-off that our contemporary can put up in favor of its Toronto candidate, then is it barren of resources.

THE METHODISTS.

Further Proceedings of the London Conference.

Ordination Services—Conclusions of the Property Committee Presented and Indorsed.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.] RIDGEWAYS, June 11.—Yesterday's services were of special interest. The different pulpits of the town were filled by conference delegates. The Erie Street Methodist Church was literally packed and hundreds could not gain admission. Rev. Dr. Griffin preached the ordination sermon. It was indeed a masterly effort; the truth presented, and the beauty, clearness and force of its utterance was a delight to the conference and its friends.

W. B. Creighton, B.A., B.D., and J. A. Ayeat were ordained. An open session of the Sunday school was held in the afternoon, when addresses were delivered by Rev. C. W. Brown, B.D., D. M. Kennedy and J. Holmes. In the evening the church was again crowded, people driving in from the surrounding country. The Rev. Dr. Hannon, of St. Thomas preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon. At the close the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, conducted by the ex-president.

MONDAY MORNING'S SESSION. The usual conference prayer meeting was held from 8:30 to 9:15, led by Rev. W. J. Ford, L.L.B. The president took the chair and the conference resumed business.

The church property committee presented the following report:

1. That the trustees of Thedford be granted permission to sell lot 10 on the west side of King street, proceeds to be applied to church purposes.

2. That the trustees of Sylvan Church be allowed to sell their recently acquired cemetery and with the proceeds purchase land for similar purposes, but more conveniently situated.

3. That permission be granted the trustees of Petrolia Church to sell 50 feet south side of parsonage property; also that the trustees of Fairview Church, Adelaide circuit, be empowered to sell said church, proceeds of sale to be applied to repairing Bethel and Shiloh churches.

4. That the conference treasurer be requested to pay towards the reduction of the Luwood Church debt the sum of $150, providing a further sum of $100 be raised by the superintendent of the circuit.

5. That permission be granted the trustees of Sheddin parsonage to sell the old parsonage in view of purchasing a new one.

6. That the trustee board of Houghton Center Methodist Church grant permission to sell the old church, proceeds of same to be applied to the building fund of the new church.

7. That Maple Grove Church on Comber circuit have permission to move their church two miles west and sell the present lot, proceeds to be applied to church improvement.

8. That permission be given to Dorchester Station circuit to sell the old church property, proceeds of sale to be applied to trust funds of the new church. Also that the permission be granted to sell the Gore Church, Westminster circuit, proceeds of same to be applied to paying the debt of the trust and the balance be divided between North Street, Littlewood and Delaware appointments. Also that the recommendation of Dundas Street Center Church, re connexional fire insurance for church properties be referred to General Conference.

9. That permission be given the Port Lambton board of trustees to exchange the church now occupied for the church formerly occupied by the late M. E. body.

The report was received and adopted. Rev. Dr. Griffin addressed the conference at great length regarding the superannuation and general conference funds, of which he has the management. Conference adjourned to meet at 2 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Conference reassembled at 2 p.m. After the usual devotional exercises the committee on conference relations recommended that Rev. James Gundry be superannuated for one year. Adopted.

The conference then divided into electoral colleges, lay and ministerial, for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the General Conference. At the time of adjournment the election was not completed.

The conference missionary meeting will be held this evening. Conference adjourned to meet at the close of the missionary meeting to finish the election.

amendment of cheap fares all day long was lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. O'Meara, J. W. Jones and Mayor Essery—3.

Nays—Ald. Taylor, John Heaman, Pritchard, T. Jones, Coo, Carrothers, Scarrow, Garratt, T. Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—15.

Ald. Scarrow then moved that eight tickets be given for a quarter, and that 5 cents be a single fare. Lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. O'Meara, John Jones, Scarrow, Garratt, Mayor Essery—5.

Nays—Ald. Taylor, John Heaman, Pritchard, T. Jones, Coo, Carrothers, J. Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—13.

Ald. T. Jones' amendment to extend the time of cheap fares from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. was negatived by the following tie:

Yeas—Ald. Taylor, O'Meara, J. W. Jones, T. Jones, Coo, Carrothers, Garratt, Scarrow, Mayor Essery—9.

Nays—Ald. John Heaman, Pritchard, James Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—9.

Then the question of adopting the clause came up. The clause reads as follows:

"4. Cash fares, 5 cents each, with transfers. Eight tickets for 25 cents—good between the hours of 6:20 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.—with transfers. Children between 5 and 12 years of age, cash fare 3 cents each, or two tickets for 5 cents, with transfers."

The clause was adopted amid the smiles of the street railway men present on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. Taylor, John Heaman, Pritchard, James Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—10.

Nays—Ald. O'Meara, J. W. Jones, Thos. Jones, Coo, Carrothers, Scarrow, Garratt, Essery—8.

The clause dealing with the matter of pavement was next touched on. The city, according to the offer, must furnish the material and the company will lay it.

Ald. J. W. Jones moved that the company furnish its own material.

Ald. Pritchard moved the adoption of the clause.

Mr. Jones' motion was lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. O'Meara, J. W. Jones, Thos. Jones, Carrothers, Scarrow, Garratt and Mayor Essery—7.

Nays—Ald. Taylor, John Heaman, Pritchard, Coo, J. Fitzgerald, Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—11.

Ald. Parnell moved an amendment making the city sole arbitrator in the matter of when pavement shall be laid and also what material should be used. Lost.

Thos. Jones then moved in amendment that the company in the heart of the city prepare the foundation of their roadbed for asphalt paving. Lost.

Ald. J. W. Jones then moved that the company be requested in the construction of the roadbed to take proper care in the matter of return current and its effect on the water and gas pipes.

At the mayor's suggestion Mr. Jones included a proviso in his motion, making the company responsible for an electrolytic action on water or gas pipes. Carried.

The clause was then adopted as amended by the above clause, Mayor Essery voted nay.

Then the question of bridges was introduced when the clause of York street was mentioned by Ald. Parnell. To bring matters to a head, the mayor moved instead of using York street bridge the company build one for their own use. Ald. Scarrow seconded, and Ald. O'Meara introduced the motion.

Ald. Pritchard twitted the mayor about having favored the offer on Friday night and then making every effort to balk the proposition from going through. He for one could not understand it.

Then both men went into personalities. The mayor said that he had not gone to Ald. Pritchard to try to slip the thing through as Ald. Pritchard had been to him that morning. But Ald. Pritchard went out rather hurriedly.

Ald. Pritchard—I want to see you as a friend and I left when I was insulted.

Mayor Essery—You went after you got your dose. You never was a friend of mine. You cut my throat when you could.

Ald. Pritchard—I deny that. You tried to cut my throat four months ago and tried to secure my defeat, but you did not succeed.

After this little refresher and awakener to some of the members, who were drowsy at this time (midnight), the question was put and lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. O'Meara, J. W. Jones, Carrothers, Scarrow and Mayor Essery—5.

Nays—Ald. Coo, T. Jones, J. Heaman, Pritchard, Taylor, J. Fitzgerald, F. J. Fitzgerald, Nutkins, Dreaney, Judd, Shaw and Parnell—12.

Numerous amendments were offered to the route traversed, but the only ones that went through were Ald. Carrothers—"On Hill, from Wellington to Adelaide and Adelaide to Hamilton road"; Mayor Essery—"From Hamilton road to Dundas, on Egerton," and Ald. Scarrow—"From Richmond, on Victoria, to Colborne and thence to Oxford."

Ald. Parnell introduced a motion practically binding the company not to claim a monetary interest at the expiration of 31 years in any pavement that may be put down towards the end of the life of the franchise. It passed.

There was a long early morning discussion on the removal of snow from the streets. The company's offer asked that the cost be borne between the city and the company. Ald. J. W. Jones moved that the company at their own expense clear the streets from walk to walk. Carried.

A clause making the working day ten hours was added on motion of Ald. Parnell. "Home labor as far as practical" will be required to be employed at the suggestion of Ald. Nutkins. There was no opposition to either of the two last motions.

Ald. Parnell then moved that the basis of agreement be presented to the city solicitor to submit to the council on Monday night next. Carried.

Ald. J. W. Jones then moved that the question of routes to be traversed be reconsidered. Carried. This last item is therefore the only important difference to be settled at the next meeting.

THE OTTAWA CONSERVATIVES. (Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, June 11.—In attempting to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds the Conservatives of this city have come to grief. They nominated for the Legislature Taylor McVeity, of P. P. A. complexion, and ex-Mayor Durocher, a French Catholic. McVeity immediately accepted, but now Durocher says he will not run with such a mate as McVeity. The managers think it would be best to run only one candidate and that a French Catholic, so their newspaper announces this morning that McVeity's nomination was not legal. He is to be thrown over on the understanding that Conservatives with one candidate can vote for A. E. McIntyre, the Independent Opposition, each voter having two votes.

At Middlesex, on Wednesday, 15th inst., Warden Calvert, of Middlesex, and Mr. A. P. McDougall, of Ekfrid, will address the electors. At these meetings, which begin at 8 p.m., representatives of the other two candidates are requested to appear and present their views.

MR. PARDO AND THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE. (Chatham Banner.)

A committee of three gentlemen, representing the Royal Templars of Temperance, had a conference with Mr. T. L. Pardo, the Patron nominee, this afternoon. They submitted to him the questions appended, and to each of these Mr. Pardo gave an answer which the deputation considered eminently satisfactory:

1. Are you in favor of the enactment of a prohibitory law for the Province of Ontario at the earliest possible moment, after the question of jurisdiction has been settled, such prohibition to be the full extent of the power which the Province is declared to possess?

2. Will you, if elected to the Legislature, do all in your power to support the leader of the Ontario Government in carrying out the pledge he has given to promote a prohibitory law, if he should be returned to power?

3. If another Government should take the place of the present one, will you insist upon such Government's introducing a prohibitory law, such as is mentioned in question No. 2? And will you support the immediate enactment of such a measure?

4. Will you, if elected, do all you can to prevent the transference of the control of the liquor traffic and responsibility for the enforcement of laws relating to it, from the Provincial Government to any local body?

INIMICAL TO EQUAL RIGHTS.

TORONTO, June 11.—The Congregational Union of Ontario and Quebec this morning had a lengthy discussion on the P. P. A. After a number of motions had been moved and voted down the union, by a vote of three to one, expressed regret at the formation of such an organization, as conflicting with the principles of religious liberty and equal rights.

NORTH HASTINGS LIBERALS.

BELLEVILLE, June 11.—The Reform Association at their meeting this afternoon accepted Mr. Biggar's candidature.

At a meeting in Hon. Mr. Hardy's constituency Mr. Fullerton, a leading life-long Conservative, has declared his intention of supporting the Government candidate and of voting Liberal for the first time.

The Ottawa Citizen this morning says that the candidate was legally chosen at the Conservative convention on Friday night, and that he was Major Durocher. It goes on to say that while McVeity was declared nominated on a vote of 73, he should have had 76 to carry, as there was 150 delegates. Mr. Durocher had 76.

Mr. Pardo, the Patron-Liberal candidate for West Kent, who has been very ill, is now able to be out.

Mr. John Dryden will speak in Lincoln on the 20th, in North Westwont on the 21st, and in West Middlesex on the 22nd.

Landslides at L'Assomption.

MONTREAL, June 11.—A landslide occurred at L'Assomption at Lachigan River on Saturday evening. It started opposite the Providence Convent and extended almost to the postoffice, a distance of a quarter of a mile. The hill over 100 feet high moved away at once, carrying away a quantity of rocks and debris and filling up a portion of the river. There is still a space for navigation.

Two other slides occurred later on L'Assomption River, but the damage was slight. The river has been undermining the banks for years.

OUR STORE.

Big as it is, had its spaciousness taxed on Saturday. From early morning till late at night upstairs and downstairs departments were fairly alive with patrons. By the way, our upstairs departments—Millinery and Mantles—are quite as accessible as those on the ground floor. The elevator, without an effort on your part, takes you right up and brings you right down. It was running all day Saturday as it never ran before, making trips almost every moment. Old people were delighted, and were spontaneous in their expressions of gratitude for the many conveniences of our stores. Truly it is a pleasure to know that our efforts to please are being so fully appreciated, as was attested last Saturday by the pleased expressions on the faces of the long lines of purchasers at our counters.

YOUR STORE.

We purpose sparing no pains to the end that our store shall be the people's store—A place where the masses may not only expect to get, but will get the maximum of value for the minimum of price. We desire that our stores shall contain as many people every day as last Saturday. We will do our very best to encourage them to trade with us, by courtesy, by uprightness and by attending to the little things that go to make a great store. Our announcements are never intended to mislead. It is not our desire to attract anyone to our store and then not to do or to have just exactly as we state.

N. B.—Our boys' blouses at 35c, and men's dress shirts at 50c are creating much comment. They are excellent value.

"Turn to the Right."

"Well," he said, coming back from the door, to which he had conducted them, "what have you to tell me, my friend? She is not with you?"

"She is with Mademoiselle de la Vire at Meudon," I answered smiling. "And for the rest, she is well and in better spirits."

"She sent me some message?" he asked.

"I shook my head. "She did not know I should see you," I answered.

"But she—she has spoken of me lately?" he continued, his face falling.

"I do not think she has named your name for a fortnight," I answered, laughing.

"There's for you! Why, man," I continued, adopting a different tone, and laying my hand on his shoulder in a manner which reassured him at least as to my sincerity.

"Are you so young a lover as to be ignorant that a woman says least of that of which she thinks most? Pluck up courage! Unless I am mistaken, you have little to be afraid of except the past. Only have patience."

"You think so?" he said gratefully.

"I assured him that I had no doubt of it; and on that he fell into a reverie, and I to watching him. Alas for the littleness of our nature! He had received me with open arms, yet at sight of the happiness which looked upon the pettiest feeling which can harbor in a man's breast. I looked at him with eyes of envy, bitterly comparing my lot with that which fate had reserved for him. He had fortune, good looks, and success on his side, great relations and high hopes; I stood in instant jeopardy, my future dark, and every path which presented itself to me a path of sorrow. I knew not which to adopt. He was young, and I past my prime; he in favor, and I a fugitive.

To such reflections he put an end in a way which made me blush for my churlishness. For, suddenly awaking out of his pleasant dream, he asked me about myself and my fortunes, inquiring eagerly how I came to be in St. Cloud, and listening to the story of my adventures with a generous anxiety which endeared him to me more and more. When I had done—and by that time Simon had joined us, and was waiting at the lower end of the room—he pronounced that I must see the king.

"There is nothing else for it," he said.

"I have come to see him," I answered.

"Mon Dieu, yes!" he continued, rising from his seat and looking at me with a face of concern. "No one else can help you."

I nodded.

"Turenne has 4,000 men here. You can do nothing against so many?"

"Nothing," I said. The question is, Will the king protect me?"

"It is he or no one," M. d'Agon answered warmly. "You cannot see him to-night; he has a Council. To-morrow at daybreak you may. You must lie here to-night, and I will wait my fellows to watch, and I think you will be safe. I will away now and see if my uncle will help. Can you think of anyone else who would speak for you?"

I considered, and was about to answer in the negative, when Simon, who had listened with a scorned face, suggested M. de Crillon.

"Yes, if he would," M. d'Agon exclaimed, looking at the lad with approbation. "He has weight with the king."

"I think he might," I replied slowly.

"I had a curious encounter with him last night," and with that I told M. d'Agon of the duel I fought at the inn.

"Good!" he said, his eyes sparkling. "I wish I had been there to see. At any rate we will try him. Crillon fears no one, not even the king."

So it was settled. For that night I was to keep close in my friend's lodging, showing not even my nose at the window.

When he had gone on his errand, and I found myself alone in the room, I am fain to confess that I fell very low in my spirits. M. d'Agon's traveling equipment lay about the apartment, but failed to give any but an untidy air to its surroundings. The light was beginning to wane, the stars shone outside, the ringing of bells and the distant muttering of guns, with the tumult of sound which rose from the crowded street, seemed to toll of joyous life and freedom, and all the hopes and ambitions from which I was cut off.

Having no other employment, I watched the street, and keeping myself well retired from the window, saw knots of gay riders pass this way and that through the crowd, their corselets shining and their voices high. Monks and ladies, a cardinal and an ambassador, passed under my eyes—these and an endless procession of townsmen and beggars, soldiers and courtiers, Gascons, Normans and Picards. Never had I seen such a sight or so many people gathered together. It seemed as if half Paris had come out to make submission, so that while my gorge rose against my own imprisonment, the sight gradually diverted my mind from my private distresses, by bidding me find compensation for them in the speedy and glorious triumph of the cause.

Even when the light failed the pageant did not cease, but, torches and drums springing into life, turned night into day. From every side came sounds of revelry or strife. The crowd continued to perambulate the streets until a late hour, with cries of "Vive le Roi!" and "Vive Navarre!" while now and again the passage of a great noble with his suite called forth a fresh outburst of enthusiasm. Nothing seemed more certain, more inevitable, more clearly predestinated than that 24 hours must see the fall of Paris.

Yet Paris did not fall.

When M. d'Agon returned a little before midnight, he found me still sitting in the dark looking from the window. I heard him call roughly for lights, and appeared by the sound of his voice that something was wrong. I rose to meet him. He stood silent awhile, twirling his small mustaches, and then broke into a passionate tirade, from which I was not slow to gather that M. de Rambouillet declined to serve me.

"Well," I said, feeling for the young man's distress and embarrassment, "perhaps he is right."

"He says that word respecting you came this evening," my friend answered, his cheeks red with shame, "and that to countenance you after that would only be to court certain humiliation. I did not let him off too easily, I assure you." M. d'Agon continued, turning away to evade my gaze.

"But I got no satisfaction. He said you had his good-will, and that to help you he would risk something, but that to do so under these circumstances would be only to injure himself."

"There is still Crillon," I said, with as much cheerfulness as I could assume. "Pray Heaven he be there early! Did M. de Rambouillet say anything else?"

"That your only chance was to fly as quickly and secretly as possible."

"He thought my situation desperate, then?"

My friend nodded; and scarcely less depressed on my account than on his own, evinced so much feeling that it was all I could do to comfort him; which I succeeded in doing only when I diverted the conversation to Madame de Brühl. We passed the short night together, sharing the same room and the same bed, and talking more than we slept, of madame and mademoiselle, the castle on the hill, and the camp in the woods, of all old days in fine, but little of the future. Soon after dawn Simon, who lay on a pallet across the threshold, roused me from a fitful sleep into which I had just fallen, and a few minutes later I stood up dressed and armed, ready to try the last chance left to me.

M. d'Agon had dressed stage for stage with me, and I had kept silence. But when he took up his cap, and showed clearly that he had it in his mind to go with me, I understood him. "No," I said, "you can do me little good, and may do yourself much harm."

"You shall not go without one friend," he cried fiercely.

"Tut, tut!" I said. "I shall have Simon."

But Simon, when I turned to speak to him, was gone. Few men are at their bravest in the early hours of the day, and it did not surprise me that the lad's courage had failed him. The defection only strengthened, however, the resolution I had formed that I would not injure M. d'Agon, though it was sometime before I could persuade him that I was in earnest, and would go alone or not at all. In the end he had to content himself with lending me his back and breast, which I gladly put on, thinking it likely enough that I might be set upon before I reached the castle. And then, the time being about seven, I parted from him with many embraces and kindly words, and went into the street with my sword under my cloak.

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN.—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Nutri- & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. ### THE CIGARETTE TABOOED.

A National Association Formed That Will Prove Very Popular.

CHICAGO, June 11.—At a large gathering of the enemies of vice, and particularly of cigarettes, in this city yesterday afternoon steps were taken for an organized fight against the papery weed. As a result of the meeting the National Cigarette Association was formed, which is planned for a world-wide institution.

This organization is formed under the auspices of the National Missionary Evangelical Association, and steps will at once be taken to spread the new society all over the country. The officers of the association for the first year are: President, Mrs. E. V. Waite; vice-president, M. L. P. Cutting; secretary, Mrs. M. P. Patterson; national organizer and lecturer, Mrs. M. E. D. Gilmore.

AN EVENT IN OTTAWA.

Baby Flora's Case Causes Much Talk and Surprise.

THE MOTHER MAKES A POSITIVE DECLARATION.

The following case, while it is in many ways wonderful and remarkable, does not furnish the quality of news that the gossip mongers and sensational readers look for.

The event is recorded for the special benefit of mothers who have babies to care for.

Baby Flora is now 6 months old, and belongs to a well-to-do family universally respected in the gay capital. For many weeks the child was not expected to live; medicine seemed to aggravate the case, and made the little one weaker.

The anxious mother was informed one day that possibly Flora's diet had much to do with her sickness; the lady who made this suggestion at the same time recommended a trial of Lactated Food, which she had used herself with grand results for her babies.

A change in baby Flora's diet was immediately made, and in a few days a happy change was observed. The eyes became brighter, the weak stomach could retain and digest some nourishment, and sweet sleep seemed to give new strength. All medicines were discarded, and the Lactated Food was regularly used. In five weeks time baby Flora was a happy, healthy child, bright and cheerful, and a joy to every member of the family.

To-day, Flora's mother declares positively that Lactated Food saved her baby's life; she is enthusiastic in its praise, and recommends it to all her friends who have babies.

Mothers who have weak, frail and sickly babies, should derive comfort and hope after reading of little Flora's case. Lactated Food certainly "Saves Babies' Lives."

Dividend for Fall Stockholders. CHICAGO, June 11.—A 10 per cent dividend on stock of the World's Columbian Exposition was distributed Saturday, representing about $800,000. Of this amount between $600,000 and $700,000 went to individual holders of stock and the remainder to the city of Chicago. A final dividend of 2 per cent may also be declared. There are a large number of claims pending against the exposition, and also some claims in favor of the exposition against concessionaires and others.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

Gives Instant Relief.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when due to it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or Irritation in any part of the rectum, are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

cepted a position with H. T. Johnson, grocer, Ridgeway.—Mr. O. J. Stevenson, of the London Collegiate Institute, obtained the degree of M. A. at the recent Toronto University examinations. The institute made a splendid showing.—J. D. McIlwain and family, of Harvey, Ill., formerly of London, were in town today on their way to Buffalo to live, where Mr. McIlwain has secured a more responsible position at Depeu, managing the car department of the N. Y. C. It is three years nearly since he left this city.—The Pastime Pleasure Club provided a very enjoyable concert for a large crowd in the East End Hall last night. The programme opened with an instrumental by Messrs. Watt and Burness, the other participants being Miss McLean, Messrs. N.
McKeough, S. Drennan, A. Birmingham,
J. O'Neil and T. Robinson in songs;
Messrs. Williamson and Howlett, musical the whole concluding with "The Doctor's Troubles," by Mr. S. Drennan. Mr. Allan McLaughlin presided. The receipts go to the Pastime Baseball Club.—No. 1 committee of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon considered a request from Treasurer Pope, who wanted a change in the method of paying the teachers. A change will be recommended to the board. Applicants for positions on the staff of kindergarten directors and assistants from Misses Tyrrell, A. M.

Matthews and Edith Wilcox were laid over for future reference. The principal of Park street school asked the privilege of teaching senior third in his school and it was granted. Mrs. Booth was added to the list of substitute teachers. The application of Miss M. Gray to be brought under the rule of the board, which grants an additional $12.50 to each teacher who has served the board two years prior to going to the Normal School, was referred to the inspector for full particulars. Tenders for printing the examination papers for the public schools will be asked for, and the awarding of the contract was left with Messrs. Alexander and Jeffery.It was decided to ask for tenders for paper, etc., for use at the examinations. Present:
Messrs. Alexander (chairman), Jeffery,
Murphy, Griffin, Sanders, Dr. Campbell and Craig.

Band Concert To-Night.

The band concert to be given in Victoria

Mission to Lepers.

The monthly meeting of the London branch of the Mission to Lepers was held in Somerset Hall yesterday (June 11) afternoon, the president, Mrs. Robertson, in the chair. The meeting was opened with Scripture reading and prayer by Miss Gourley. An instructive address was given by Miss Yeates, showing how the Mission to Lepers has carried on its work in the East since its foundation in 1874.
Miss Much rendered the solo "The Children's Home," with deep feeling. Letters from the mission stations were read by Miss Nellie Morris, and a magazine article, giving a short account of the work done at the leper asylums during 1893, was read by Mrs. Ryart.

Dominion Day Celebration.

manhood suffrage voters in cities.

Ontario Labor Legislation.

Mr. A. W. Wright, secretary of the order of the Knights of Labor, Philadelphia, formerly of Toronto, and a well-known conservative campaign speaker, says: "While there is a good deal of legislation which we labor cranks think should be enacted, I am free to say that Ontario has not much to learn from any State in the Union in this respect, and is immeasurably in advance of most of them."

THE QUESTIONS THAT TELL.

"1. Is there a city constituency in Canada that sends to Parliament or to the Legislature the paid agent of another city?""2. Is it right that London should select as its representative an officer of the city of Toronto?""3. Is Mr. Meredith, city solicitor of Toronto, having solemnly declared that in future the interests of that city would be his first consideration, in a position to be an independent representative of London?""4. Would Hamilton, Ottawa or Kingston go to Toronto for a representative in either the House of Commons or the Legislature?""5. Why should the progressive city of London alone advertise that it has no one within its bounds fit to represent it in the Legislature, and has to accept the candidature of a paid officer of Toronto?"T. C. THORNHILL, optician, jeweler, watchmaker and engraver, general repairing. A call solicited. 402 Talbot street
