57TH YEAR. NO. 22757 | THE LONDON ADVERTISER, LONDON, ONTARIO, THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 8, 1920. 96 COLUMNS | PRICE THREE CENTS.

LONDON MEMBER MAY SUCCEED HON. N. W. ROWELL IN CABINET; FIVE VACANCIES NOW EXIST

Hume Cronyn, M. P., Regarded As Most Likely Choice For Presidency of Privy Council—Hon. Arthur Meighen Likely To Be Sworn In on Saturday As Prime Minister.

Ottawa, July 8.—By Canadian Press.—Ottawa this morning is in a flutter of excitement over the change in dynasty on Parliament Hill. Sir Robert Borden is to resign office on Saturday morning, and it is altogether probable that Hon. Arthur Meighen, who has been summoned by the governor-general to form a new ministry, will be sworn at the same time. It is thought that the new prime minister will be in a position to announce a complete list of his new cabinet then. Several meetings are being held by the various ministers concerned this morning. There are now five vacancies in the cabinet—external affairs, by the resignation of the premier; interior, by the promotion of Mr. Meighen; public works, unfilled since Mr. Carvell resigned; the presidency of the privy council, vacant by the resignation of Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, and the department of customs by the outgoing of Hon. Martin Burrell.

It is doubtful if Mr. Rowell's portfolio is to be filled, but if so, Mr. Hume Cronyn of London, Ont., is regarded as having the best chance. For the New Brunswick representation the names most mentioned are S. E. Elkin, M.P., and R. W. Wigmore, of St. John, and for the Nova Scotia vacancy, F. B. McCurdy of Colchester.

The British Columbia successor of Mr. Burrell will likely be Mr. H. H. Stevens or Mr. Grant.

LIBERAL UNIONISTS LIKELY TO SUPPORT PREMIER MEIGHEN

Toronto, July 8.—Ontario Liberals who joined the Union Government are disposed to follow the Meighen banner, according to reports published in the Star today. Two of them—Hume Cronyn of London and Dr. R. J. Manion of Fort William—are mentioned as cabinet possibilities, and the others intimated that they will give the Meighen Government "at least independent support."

"My position is the same as that of Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell," said John Harold of Brant, when spoken to over the long-distance telephone today. "I intend to give the Government independent support."

Mr. H. M. Mowat, K.C., M.P. for Parkdale, eulogized the premier-designate, and thought it was unlikely that the appointment of Mr. Meighen would not be agreeable to all those who made up the National Liberal and Conservative party in Parliament.

Hon. Wm. Charlton, M.P. for Norfolk, a veteran in public life, replied: "I have nothing to say just now. The new Government hasn't got into harness yet."

Governor Cox Cordially Welcomes Manitoba Executive To State

Sandusky, Ohio, July 8.—A letter from Governor James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president, to Sir James Aikens, lieutenant-governor of the province of Manitoba, principal speaker at yesterday's session of the Ohio State Bar Association at Cedar Point, was read to the convention by President Bennett. The letter dated July 5, read as follows:

"I cannot express to you my regrets that circumstances prevent my greeting you in person, and speaking the welcome of our people in this commonwealth.

"I have long preached the doctrine of a better understanding between the English-speaking governmentalities of the United States and Canada. In the affairs of civilization and more intimately of humane welfare, our division is only governmental. In Ohio you will find a cordial feeling for you and your countrymen, and an understanding of how you have suffered during the stress of war. Let us hope, as our soldiers fought side by side, so shall the two great powers of this hemisphere support in union and harmony the ideals which will guarantee a better and a happier world.

"I am, with great respect, most cordially yours,

(Signed) "JAMES M. COX, Governor of Ohio."

HUNDREDS RETURN TO WORK ON CHIPPAWA CANAL UNDERTAKING

Full Force Expected To Be On Hand by Monday Morning.

MEN ARE DISSATISFIED

A. F. of L. Organizer Declares Hydro Terms Are Accepted Under Protest.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 8.—A sigh of relief went up from the workers on the hydro when they were notified that the work would resume today. There was a large force of men on the job at 7 a.m. today, and everything on the big ditch is going along smoothly. About 800 men turned out, and it is expected that a full force will be at work by Monday, by which time it is expected that everything will be in working order. Two hundred laborers came on the job today, and other parties will arrive this week. Both sides appear satisfied with the terms of the agreement. The federation intend issuing a statement on the situation this afternoon.

SIGN UNDER PROTEST.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 8.—A fairly large number of hydro-electric workers on the Chippawa-Queenston canal, who have been on strike for some weeks for the 8-hour day, returned to work this morning under protest. J. Fleet general organizer of the American Federation of Labor in Ontario, when questioned relative to the workers' return, said:

"The men decided last night by a narrow majority to return to work today. They accept the terms of the Hydro Commission under protest. There are some fourteen conditions in the settlement, and several of them are unsatisfactory. The two outstanding things which are displeasing to the men are the refusal of the Hydro Commission to concede the 8-hour day and an increase in wages. There are different conditions affecting the various trades, and a statement will be prepared later outlining the situation from the men's point of view. In the meantime you can say the workers are not satisfied, and they are merely going back to work pending further negotiations with a view to an amicable settlement of the differences. They hope the Hydro Commission will ultimately give them better working conditions."

4,000,000 Workers Affected by U. S. Strikes In 1919

Washington, D. C., July 8.—Strikes and lockouts in the United States in 1919 totalled 3,374 and affected more than 4,000,000 workers, according to a review issued by the department of labor. Approximately one-half of the strikes occurred in five states—New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

CZECHO-SLOVAK VETS. ON WAY TO HOMES

Quebec, July 8.—Two thousand Czecho-Slovak soldiers, a part of the army being transported home from Siberia, and who have been quartered for a month past at Valcartier camp, left for Hamburg today on the steamer Tsaritye. Seven thousand more soldiers will be shipped as accommodations become available.

Loses One Eye As Result Of Vicious Attack

John Pullen Set Upon by Gang Near Camlachie.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Camlachie, July 8.—John Pullen, who has been occupying a house on D. T. Wellington's farm and attempting to conduct a form of religious service in a tent near the lake, was assaulted by a gang of men last night. He was viciously kicked and had the sight of one eye destroyed. By great effort he crawled to a neighbor, who called medical aid. He was taken to Sarnia Hospital.

JUSTICE DEPT. TO BE PROBED BY COMMITTEE

Londoner Is Appointed Member of a Commission of Five.

E. A. Pocock of this city, received official notification today that he had been appointed a member of a committee of five which is to investigate and reorganize the Department of Justice in Ontario. The other members of the commission are: W. D. Gregory, K.C., chairman; Dr. Horace Brittain and Norman Somerville, of Toronto, and Albert Hellyer. The duties of the commission will be manifold. It will inquire into and report on the best method of selecting, appointing and remunerating sheriffs, local masters, local registrars of the supreme court, surrogate court registrars, crown attorneys, clerks of peace, county court clerks, registrars of deeds, master of titles, police magistrates, justices of the peace, issuers of marriage licenses, jailers and turnkeys.

They will also report on the advisability of consolidating any of the offices with the qualifications necessary, remunerations necessary, and whether they should come under the superannuation act. They will be asked to investigate the advisability of extending the operations of lands, title act throughout the province.

The committee has been appointed to represent the different political groups. On it are members of the Labor party, the Conservatives, Liberals, U. F. O., and the soldiers. Mr. Pocock will represent labor.

Although it is not known how long the work of reorganizing will take it is thought that perhaps as much as two years will be occupied.

Several local lawyers, when interviewed expressed satisfaction that the work is to be undertaken. One prominent member of the profession stated that the need of such a move has been felt for a long time, as no change in the system has been made since Confederation, and many of the customs are sadly out of date.

MAYOR CHURCH FLAYS DRURY GOVERNMENT ON RADIAL BLOCKADE

Toronto's Chief Magistrate Calls For Special Legislature Meeting

TO DISCUSS QUESTION

Says Too Much At Stake To Have Whole Scheme Delayed.

Toronto, July 8. — Representatives from practically every one of the 198 hydro municipalities in Ontario assembled in the city hall shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the blockade of hydro radials by the Drury Government, and decided on what course of action would be followed.

Among the speakers were J. W. Lyon of Guelph, one of the pioneers in the hydro-electric movement; Mayor Church and T. J. Hannigan. Sir Adam Beck was expected to be present during the afternoon.

Mayor Church urged that the M. P. P.'s be requested to have a special meeting of the Legislature convened to discuss the whole matter. He advised against sending a deputation to see the premier, humbly to beg for "mercy" for hydro radials. "If the Government wants to assassinate the hydro radial project let the responsibility rest with them," he said.

"The Drury Government should resign and a special meeting of the Legislature be called on the radial question," he continued. "The municipalities are not going to stand for any contract breaking by a minority government that I doubt have even a majority in the Legislature.

$100,000,000 at Stake.

"The municipalities have investments of over $100,000,000 in light and power and radials, and it is their money which is at stake. In my opinion the Drury

Warns Mayor To Ban Importation Of 'Ridgia Boards'

Humorous Letter Is Received At City Hall From Toledo.

Ouija boards that scream so that they entirely disrupt business are on their way to London, and will soon be demoralizing conditions here unless Mayor Little takes steps to prevent such a calamity. This is the awful warning which the mayor has received in a letter from Toledo, Ohio. He has not yet called a special meeting of the council to deal with the matter.

Usually the Ouija board is a quiet, little affair that pushes itself about among the letters of the alphabet, spelling out messages from departed spirits. But, judging from the letters there have been recent developments on this pattern.

The communication bearing the ominous news is addressed to "His Worship of London, Canada," and asks: "Will you kindly see that less confusion is caused by people having such things known to us as Ridgia boards, of which has caused a dreadful war in our cities and towns by our people having them in their houses and also automobiles and motor-sicles? In all our cities we have been pested with such things as human voices coming through them right into our ears day and night. These people have nothing else to do only pest us with noise right in our ears, which will prove fatal to our health at least it might as it has been known to do so.

"Whatever kind of concerns these Ridgia Boards are they are something that has not been invented in either the United States or in Canada. They were brought in here. They seem to be alright with their own class of people, but not among our class of people."

REFUSES INCREASE OF FARES AT NIAGARA

Albany, N. Y., July 7.—The New York Court of appeals, in a decision handed down tonight, held that the International Railway Company cannot secure permission from the public service commission to increase its rate of fare in Niagara Falls.

SELECTION OF MEIGHEN IS TACIT ADMISSION THAT GOVERNMENT HAS NO CHANCE OF WINNING ELECTION

Dr. Michael Clark Declares That New Party Is Bound To Be More Pronouncedly Tory Than Ever—Morning Albertan Says Western Member As Government Leader Will Get But Few Supporters There—Opinions Differ As To What Course He May Adopt.

Calgary, Alta., July 8.—Dr. Michael Clark, member for Red Deer, made the following statement in an interview with the Canadian Press last night on the appointment of Mr. Meighen as Geovernment leader:

"The selection of Mr. Meighen as premier is a tacit admission by the Government that it has no hope of winning the next election. It is a further announcement to the country that by whatever name the new party chooses to call itself, it is more pronouncedly Tory than ever before. Mr. Meighen was a Tory as a young man, and has become more Tory as he became older.

"As a member of the National Progressive party I would say that the selection is admirable. Every man of progressive mind will be glad to see Mr. Meighen equally successful in the Dominion. This is said, of course, without any wish to disparage his undoubted parliamentary ability or his great capacity for hard work."

FOSTER'S DOUBLE.

Toronto, July 8.—The Star today says, in part:

"Mr. Meighen has been described as the young parliamentary double of Hon. George E. Foster. He has the same ready tongue, the same caustic style, the same subtlety in reconciling the irreconcilable and explaining the inexplicable. Those who remember him in Opposition say they were always confident he would eventually win a prominent place in public life.

"In 1914, soon after the war broke out, a hardened party man was discussing the political situation. 'If an accident happened to Sir Robert Borden,' he said, 'and Parliament were sitting, the party would want Meighen as leader.'

"An opponent once said of him: 'Borden is very proud of that boy; you can see it when he is listening to him.'

"Full many a time and oft in days gone by it was prophesied that eventually he would become prime minister, and for once prophecy has proved no fickle mistress.

"The rapid rise of Mr. Meighen shows more than anything else how desirable it is that men with an aptitude for public life should enter Parliament when young. In conclusion, it might be added that Mr. Meighen is not a reformer, but an advocate, whose devotion of progressive causes is a matter of calculation rather than of conviction."

LOGICAL SUCCESSOR.

Montreal, July 8.—Le Canada says it is logical that the successor of Sir Robert Borden should be Hon. Arthur Meighen. Unionism was born of his astuteness. He has provided the means by which it has lived and subsisted. Mr. Meighen is the damned soul of Unionism, and today is reaping a sad recompense, that is to say, a lamentable succession without a future.

IS WELL QUALIFIED.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—The Standard says:

"The choice of the party will unquestionably be most cordially indorsed by the vast majority of the people of the country. Mr. Meighen possesses, perhaps more peculiarly than the others, those qualifications which are most essential to the successful carrying out of the onerous duties pertaining to the office of first minister. He enjoyed the confidence and regard of his late leader, and this confidence was shared by his colleagues as events in the House have now proved."

CALGARY PAPER DISAPPROVES.

Calgary, July 8.—The Morning Albertan this morning says:

"Mr. Meighen is a Tory. That is the worst that can be said of him. But at a time when there should be no place in public life for any but forward-looking men with progressive ideas it is a serious blemish. He is competent and hard-working, but even though he is a westerner, his selection as leader will set no heather on fire in this part of Western Canada. With Meighen as leader the Government will not get a handful of supporters from the prairie in the next election."

CANADA'S YOUNGEST PREMIER.

Brantford, July 8.—The Expositor says:

"Mr. Meighen, who is only 46 years of age, is the youngest premier Canada has had, at least since Confederation. It will not be possible, however, for the Liberal leader, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, to accuse him, as Walpole did Pitt, of the atrocious crime of being a young man, seeing that both were born in the same year, 1874. Mr. Meighen, however, landed on this planet about six months earlier than did his chief opponent."

The Expositor further says that Mr. Rowell took the right step and is entitled to an honorable discharge.

LAURIER'S PREDICTION TRUE.

Montreal, July 8.—Georges Pelletier, writing in Le Devoir, recalls a prediction made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier about the new prime minister. Mr. Meighen had just made his maiden speech in 1900 at the age of 32, and had discussed the Grand Trunk Pacific measure. Meeting Mr. Pelletier shortly afterward, Sir Wilfrid said to him: "Watch that young man. He will go far or I am mistaken."

SLIDING SCALE OF SERVICE CHARGES TO BE PROPOSED

May Be Solution of the City Gas Problem.

Because the Government will not consider increasing gas prices at the present time, a meeting of the special gas committee of the city council will likely be called Friday afternoon to confer with representatives of the City Gas Company on some other plan for settling the present difficulties.

No official confirmation could be obtained of a report that the company had received word from Attorney-General W. E. Raney, that prices could not be increased, but Ald. Cameron Wilson, chairman of the special committee, said he believed it to be well founded.

He thinks that the conference will consider a plan whereby a sliding scale of service charges will be instituted in place of the proposed fixed service charge of 85 cents a month or an increase in prices. The fixed service charge was objected to because it was claimed to be unfair to the small consumer. Ald. Wilson thinks that a sliding scale would overcome this difficulty. A service charge of 40 cents a thousand cubic feet might be made. This would be tantamount to increasing the price by that amount, but might not require the sanction of the Government before being put in effect.

Ald. E. R. Seabrook views the situation as even more serious than the street railway troubles. He also expressed the doubt that the Government would consider an increase in price and believe that in the event of a service charge being made that an injunction might be issued to prevent it. In that case the City Gas Company might refuse to operate and a most complicated situation might arise.

INTER-CHURCH MOVE MAY BE ABANDONED

The Financial Campaign Falls Short by $100,000,000.

New York, July 8.—The future of the inter-church world movement, the co-operating agency of thirty Protestant denominations, was up for decision here today before the general committee of the organization composed of 200 clerical and lay delegates from all parts of the country.

Failure of the movement's campaign to come within $100,000,000 of the $336,777,572 fund sought for denominational work, coupled with the recent withdrawal of the Northern Presbyterian and Northern Baptist denominations from the movement, has caused some leaders to favor abandonment of the project altogether.

MAGISTRATE BRANDS STORY AS A CANARD

Denies Moving Appointment of Inspector Birrell As Chief.

"It is outrageous. There is absolutely no truth in it at all," said Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon today to The Advertiser regarding the statement published in Toronto papers this morning, that he and Judge Talbot Macbeth, as members of the London police commission, moved at a recent meeting that Inspector Robert Birrell be appointed chief of police, and that Mayor E. S. Little was the only member opposing the appointment.

"There was no mention of a successor to Chief Williams made at the meeting," continued the magistrate, "nor did the late chief recommend any successor to us. The story is without foundation, and places the police commission in an embarrassing position."

The commission may meet again this afternoon, need for concerted action in appointing a new chief being almost imperative. Should the reported deadlock remain, the probability of an outsider receiving the appointment would loom up as the only solution.

Mayor Little corroborated the statement of Magistrate Graydon that nothing concerning the appointment of a new chief of police was considered at the meeting of the police commission.

"I did not see the report that I blocked an appointment being made, and I have no idea where anybody would get such an idea," said the mayor. "Only the resignation of Chief Williams was accepted at the meeting, and nothing was said about an appointment to the vacancy. I have made no remarks about the meeting to anyone, and I do not think that any of the other members of the commission have done so."

SUBWAY PLANS COMING SOON

May Arrive in the City From Montreal This Evening.

Grand Trunk plans for subways at Rectory and Waterloo streets may arrive in the city tonight. They will be sent to the city hall immediately on their arrival, and in conjunction with plans prepared by the city engineer will be used in the campaign for reducing the danger at level crossings.

Decision to build subways at these points was the most important decision of the special committee which considered the matter of level crossing protection. These two streets seem to carry most of the north and south traffic, and it was felt that ample protection at these points would succeed in diverting still more traffic in that direction. The estimates prepared by the railroad and city engineers will enable the committee to see how far the city can go in carrying out such a plan.

MARRIAGE AND MISSION QUESTIONS DISCUSSED AT LAMBETH MEETING

MIKE'S BEHAVIOR IS SUCH, WOMAN WANTS TO GET RID OF HIM

Champion Stowaway Is Causing His Benefactors Trouble.

MAY BE SENT BACK

Youthful Traveler Was Adopted by Wealthy New York Woman.

New York, July 8.—Michael Gilhooley, christened "the champion stowaway" by immigration officials here, is again in trouble and may be sent back to Belgium.

Representatives of Mrs. Marion C. Curry, who adopted him and furnished a bond to support him after his fifth unsuccessful attempt to enter the country, telephoned to Ellis Island today to inquire how she could be relieved of her ward and have him sent back to Europe.

Gilhooley, the 14-year-old orphaned son of an Irish father and a Belgium mother, found himself without a home during the third year of the war. He wandered aimlessly over Northern France and Belgium seeking shelter and nourishment in camps of the various allied armies. Finally he fell in with the United States military units, who took care of him.

After the armistice was signed and the soldiers started homeward Gilhooley became lonesome. He made his way to a base port and concealed himself aboard a transport, only to be discovered and turned over to immigration authorities on his arrival here. He was sent back, broken-hearted, but not discouraged.

Adopts Youthful Stowaway.

He tried again, but met with little success and soon because a human shuttlecock on the high seas.

Gilhooley's various rebuffs at the hands of the immigration authorities won him wide notoriety and considerable sympathy. Mrs. Curry was among those who was attracted by the boy's story, and she finally induced Ellis Island officials to release him in her care. She first took him to live with her in the Hotel Vanderbilt, and later sent him to an exclusive private school. Reports received at Ellis Island showed that the boy had made excellent progress in his studies, but apparently his deportment outside was not as good.

Mrs. Curry was informed that the government cannot now deport the boy, but that if she wants to get rid of him she must pay his traveling expenses to Europe. She did not indicate what action she would take.

Preparations For Such a Move Now Under Way.

London, July 7.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin dated Wednesday, says preparations are proceeding for a revolution in Brunswick. The extreme radicals, the dispatch stated are working feverishly on plans for a general strike at the week-end and a new revolutionary committee is said to have arranged for a big mass meeting within a day or two to consider the question of drastic action.

AMENDMENT TO STATUTE GIVES COUNCIL CONTROL OF CHIEF'S APPOINTMENT

Important Legislation Will Have an Important Bearing On Local Situation—Appointment Must Be Acceptable To Council or Salary Can Be Reduced.

Amendments to existing statutes adopted at the recent session of the Legislature may play a very important part in the appointment of a chief of police in London. According to Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. P. for London, who took an active interest in putting through the new legislation, the final decision as to who shall succeed W. T. T. Williams rests with the city council, if that body wishes to exercise its authority

GIVES COUNCIL CONTROL.

The revised statutes give the council complete control of the salary to be paid to the chief. Should an appointment be made which is not satisfactory to the council, the salary for the position could be reduced to one dollar a year. Dr. Stevenson states that the amendment was made with the object of giving the people more direct control of appointments, and limiting the somewhat arbitrary powers previously in the hands of the police commissioners.

Other amendments with this in view make the police commission an elective body in the future, instead of an appointive one. A bill to this effect was given its third reading at the last session.

MUST BE ELECTED.

It provides that the board of commissioners shall consist of three members, of whom the head of the council shall, ex-officio, be one. The other two shall be elected at the same time and place, and in the same manner as the head of the council, and the elected members shall hold office for one year and until their successors are elected and the new board is organized.

In case of a vacancy occurring the council will have power to appoint a successor, who shall hold office during the remainder of the term for which his predecessor was elected. The salary of any of the commissioners, other than the head of the council, will be fixed by the council, and no member of the council, except the head thereof, shall at any time be a member of the board.

GERMANY LIKELY TO BE ALLOWED SIX MONTHS FOR DISARMAMENT

Spa, July 8.—(By Associated Press).—A compromise with Germany on the time to be allowed her for disarmament, fixing the period at six months, looked to be the probable outcome today of conferences among the Allied delegates here. The Germans had asked for fifteen months in which to disarm.

The official communique on the morning's meeting read:

"The conference met this morning without the Germans to receive the report of the military representatives of the allies on their views with regard to the reply to the German proposals for disarmament, in material and effectives. The special reports of the military, naval and aerial experts on the relative figures of the Germans and the allies also were considered. The reply will be communicated to the German delegation at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon."

Quebec, July 8.—Marie Anne Houde Gagnon, under sentence of death here for the murder by cruelty and neglect of her stepdaughter, this morning gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl, in the jail infirmary. The father, Telesphore Gagnon, is serving a life sentence in St. Vincent De Paul penitentiary for complicity in the murder of his daughter. The boy weighed nine and the girl seven pounds.

GILES R. TAGGART TO BE U. S. CONSUL IN CITY OF LONDON

Direct Result of Activity of the Board of Trade.

Official notification has been received by the local Chamber of Commerce from Norman H. Davis, acting secretary of state at Washington, that Giles R. Taggart has been appointed United States consul in this city. Mr. Taggart is expected to arrive in London in the near future.

The appointment is due directly to an agitation started by the board of trade before the war, and which was taken up by the Chamber of Commerce on its reorganization. In April of last year, Nathaniel R. Stewart, American consul-general-at-large, visited London to investigate the matter. He reported favorably to Washington.

Although there has always been a great need for such an official here, the city has had no American consul for several years. The last man to hold that post was Col. Culver, an extremely popular official. When the United States began a period of retrenchment years ago, Col. Culver was refused and the office in this city was abolished.

Since that time there have been consuls at points of entry only. The nearest to London were at Windsor, Hamilton and Niagara Falls. As London is the centre of a heavily-populated district and a great distributing point for imported goods, a great deal of inconvenience was caused because of the distance of the nearest consul.

Mr. Taggart has held similar offices in Western Canada. He will be an officer in career, giving his whole time to the work.

"RENT ANGEL OF THE BRONX" SENTENCED TO AUBURN PRISON

Defrauded Tenants Out of $2,197 Intrusted To Her.

New York, July 8.—Characterized by the court as "a scheming, cold-blooded calculating thief," Mrs. Alice J. Cavanaugh, formerly of the mayor's committee on rent profiteering, and known as the "rent angel of the Bronx," today was sentenced to five to ten years in Auburn State Prison for defrauding tenants of $2,197 intrusted to her care pending litigation.

Mrs. Cavanaugh was convicted of grand larceny in the first degree July 6 after a jury had deliberated less than thirty minutes. Judge Louis D. Gibbs pronounced sentence today.

WOMEN COARSENED BY POLITICAL ACTIVITY; SUFFRAGE CONDEMNED

Miss Annie Bock of Los Angeles Calls for Defeat of Ratification Resolution.

ADMITS HER ERROR

Declares Men Should Be Left To Handle Governmental Affairs.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 8.—Miss Anna Bock of Los Angeles, formerly equal suffrage leader, in a letter to W. K. Anderson, representative in the Lower House of the Tennessee legislature, urges him not to support ratification of the suffrage amendment. Suffrage, she says, "coarsens and cheapens women." She expresses regret at her former activity in the cause, saying that since suffrage has been granted there has been an appalling increase in immorality, divorce and murder, in California. Woman suffrage has made cowards and puppets of men. It has coarsened and cheapened women. Were the men to vote on woman suffrage in California today it would not carry.

"Suffragists asked suffrage that they might put only good men in office; now they clamor for a 50-50 show for all offices.

"I shall do penance forever for the part I played in bringing suffrage in California.

"Please urge your colleagues not to do what will bring regret and disaster, but to stand for that 90 per cent of women who do not want suffrage, but are glad to trust all politics and governmental offices to their loved husbands, fathers, sons and brothers."

Springbank Park Scene of Many Church Picnics on Wednesday Afternoon

Inclement Weather Is Only Bad Feature of Half-Holiday—Children Not To Have Fun Spoiled, So Visit Zoo.

The threatened showers at Springbank all day and the rain of the forenoon did much to break up the crowds of merrymakers who had planned to make Springbank the mecca of their pleasures on Wednesday. Several of the city churches which had planned for the best picnics in their histories were a little disappointed, as the inclement weather cut the crowds into half what what they would have been had Old Sol smiled.

The majority of the Baptist churches chartered cars and journeyed to Springbank, but the Baptists alone were not allowed to claim Springbank for their own. New St. James' picnickers and the Sunday school children of St. George's Anglican Church claimed spots Extensive programs of races had been planned and baseball matches were to have been held, but in many cases these were called off. What races were held were run off in a hurried fashion between showers, but they were nevertheless enjoyed by the hosts of kiddies who refused to let their pleasures be alloyed by mere dark clouds and raindrops.

This year the zoo at Springbank has proved a great source of amusement for the kiddies. It was hardly possible to get a peep at the cub bears yesterday, which arrived early in the season at Springbank. The children, with sticks and goodies of one sort and another, induced the cubs to perform antics which made even those laugh who were a little disappointed with the weatherman. Walking around the inclosure in real teddy bear fashion and staging Willard-Dempsey stunts, the children, as well as adult visitors, were much amused by the bears.

ST. GEORGE'S ANGLICAN.

In the case of St. George's Anglican Church picnic, it was found necessary to cancel one of the cars that had been chartered. Those who attended spent a very enjoyable time in the city's popular playground, the boys playing baseball, while the girls found equal pleasure in the swings, teeters and less strenuous games. Owing to the small attendance, the committee in charge decided not to carry out the schedule of races.

Full justice was done by the kiddies and their adult friends, however, to the luncheon provided by the ladies of the church. The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of Mrs. (Canon) G. B. Sage, Miss Platt, Miss Gibson, Mrs. J. Dean, Canon Sage, A. Nevin and F. A. Andrews.

LUCAN UNION PICNIC.

One of the largest picnics at the city park yesterday was the Union outing of the Holy Trinity, Methodist and the Presbyterian Churches of Lucan. Over 300 attended one of the finest and happiest outings that they have experienced. This is the first year the churches have held their picnic in conjunction with one another. Foot races were run off in the afternoon.

After the races were over a baseball game between the married men and the single men was played. W. Gibson, the old stand-by of the Irish Nine, and W. Dignan were the batteries for the winning team. After the ball game a tug-of-war for the men was participated in. M. Culbert and C. Ryan were the captains and after seven minutes of heavy pulling the referee brought the contest to a close with both sides the winners. The premier event followed the men's tug-of-war, namely the ladies' tug-of-war. Mrs. W. Rollins and Mrs. Dr. Orme chose teams and after some severe pulling Mrs. Rollins' sextet succeeded in pulling their opposing team across the border. The following are the names of the winning ladies' team: Mesdames W. Rollins (captain), J. J. Hodgins, H. McFalls, E. McLean, E. Coleman and Miss Laura Deacon.

After the close of the sports the merry picnickers adjourned to the pavilian, where they indulged in a very satisfying lunch, prepared by the ladies of each church.

ADELAIDE STREET BAPTIST.

The showery weather did not hamper the sports of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church, and few stayed at home. Edward Noel kept up the spirits of the party by organizing all sorts of games and running off the races. Nothing was lacking in the way of good things to eat, the ladies of the church proving themselves excellent cooks. The ice cream wagon also lingered in the vicinity of the picnic, and it would hardly be fair to publish the number of pints consumed by this party of picnickers.

Those winning in the various events were:

Girls, under 5—Dorothy Wilkinson, D. [illegible], Helen Brown.

[illegible] under 5—Jack Gower, Norman [illegible].

[illegible] over 5—Margerey Wilkinson, I. [illegible] Turney.

Rev. G. Leichliter's team defeated the D. H. Gillies' team in baseball by a score of 11--4.

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN.

The picknickers of Knox Presbyterian Church, South London, picked the prettiest spot in the park overlooking the river. There were plenty of lunch tables on this spot, too, and swings and teeters. The Knoxites were wise in doing this, as anyone walking through Springbank Park yesterday might have seen some funny things. Seat and table grabbers were on the alert and would sometimes be in the act of carrying off a table or a seat to their own quarters, when it would be reclaimed and with much ado. The races of this picnic party were not interfered with by rain and ball games were the order of the afternoon. Rev. T. A. Symington, pastor of the church, was active in superintending the races, but some of the ball players claimed that he had forgotten how to play baseball. A real old-fashioned lunch was provided by the ladies of the party.

Those capturing prizes for races were:

Girls' race, 8 years and under—Lilian Milner, Dorothy Brooks, Barbara Colbert.

Boys' race, 8 year and under—Ronald McCallum, Campbell Gordon, Walter Blaiklie.

Baby show—Mrs. Colbert, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. McInnes, Mrs. Taylor.

EMPRESS AVENUE CHURCH.

Another jolly picnic was that of the Empress Avenue Methodist Church. The party left early in the afternoon for Springbank, and on arrival there a baseball game was played between the Gideon Band and the Francis Closs Class. The latter won by the score of 11 to 9. The game was called off in the fifth inning owing to a shower.

A program of races followed the ball game, and afterwards a real picnic tea was held.

Those winning the races were:

Girls, 6 and under—L. Graham, R. Cowan, H. Bowie.

Girls, 6 to 9—S. Brennen, R. Rossiter, L. Bathurst.

Girls, 9 to 12—I. Graham, D. Turner, M. Brennen.

Girls, 12 to 15—M. Rossiter, E. Berry, F. Nobbs.

Boys, 6 and under—G. Harley, J. Robinson, K. Rossiter.

Boys, 6 to 9—W. Less, R. Less, D. Smith.

WORTLEY ROAD.

Rainy weather held no fear for the members of the Wortley Road Baptist Church on the occasion of their annual picnic held Wednesday, for in defiance of the showers that fell throughout the morning and threatened during the afternoon, a large crowd sojourned to the park, armed with a huge tent. Although the tent was not called upon to give shelter to the sporting crowd of young people, it provided an ideal eating place at supper time.

The day was happily spent in various sports. Much fun was provided by a game of baseball played both by the boys and the girls with girl pitchers doing the hurling for either side. As far as could be ascertained the game ended in a tie.

The following were the winners in the races:

Girls' race, under 8—Alfa Wood, Jean Webber, Nita Janes.

Boys under 8—J. Hockney, G. Watson, Neil McKechnie.

Girls, 10 years—M. Burridge, D. Hockney, M. Janes.

Y. W. C. A. PICNIC.

Forty members of the Young Woman's Christian Association dwellers in the Wellington Y. W. C. A. residence, held their annual picnic at the park during the early evening. The outing played a dual purpose, for it also formed a farewell party to Miss M. Weeks and Miss N. Stagg, who are leaving that institution in the near future.

At a bountiful and daintily prepared luncheon, spread on tables sheltered by a roof, the young women made merry. After they had eaten, everyone joined in a riotous game of baseball, which was featured by much heavy hitting, including several home-runs. After the score had run to 40 or 50 the official scorer lost count, so no one knows in whose favor the game ended.

At the conclusion of the game the party went to the amusement park, where dancing and other recreation wound up a totally happy evening.

SEVERAL THOUSAND ENJOY OUTINGS AT PORT STANLEY DESPITE THREATENING SKY

Number of Churches Hold Annual Picnics—Most of the Sports Finished Before J. Pluvius Has His Innings.

Although it dampened the Port Stanley landscape considerably, rain could not dampen the enthusiasm of several thousand picnickers who thoroughly enjoyed themselves at the lakeside Wednesday afternoon. While threatening clouds covered the sky throughout the whole day, there were only occasional slight showers until the late afternoon, when a steady drizzle of rain drove most of the merrymakers to cover. Most of the races and games were successfully finished before the showers came.

Londoners formed the main body of the picnic forces. Cronyn Memorial Anglican Church sent a deputation of 600, the largest in its history, and the Talbot Street Baptist Church taking down a contingent which was almost as large. St. David's Anglican Church contributed a large quota, and the City Mission was well represented. The Mahomet Sanctum, No. 14, of the Orientals, from St. Thomas, completed the number of large picnics. Many hundreds of private picnic parties were held in all parts of the grounds.

In spite of numerous difficulties in addition to the weather, St. David's Church held a most successful outing. The arrangements were in charge of the rector, Rev. W. Charles, and an excellent program of races was run off. Scholars of the church school and other members of the parish thoroughly enjoyed themselves at the bountiful picnic luncheons which were served on the heights at noon and at 5 o'clock.

CRONYN MEMORIAL.

The whole program of Memorcial Church races was completed before the rain, with the exception of the baseball game. The arrangements were in charge of a committee composed of the rector, Rev. G. Q. Warner, H. J. Childs and Edwin Smith. The starters for the races were Victor Jackson, R. Treleaven, J. Godfrey, R. Carter and J. Haslett. The announcer was Thomas Treleaven. Judges for various racing events were A. J. Mitchell, Harry Hayman, T. B. McCormick, Charles Clarke, Robert Orr, T. Clift, F. J. Lapthorne, A. J. Slatter, George Brice, George Sanborn, Bert Robinson and Bert Penny.

The winners of the baby show were Babies Smith and Birch. The judges for this event were Doctors H. H. Black, F. R. Clegg, C. H. Reason, E. Seaborn and A. J. Trip.

MAHOMET SANCTORIUM.

The Mahomet Sanctorium, No. 14, the Oriental branch of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, St. Thomas, and twenty members of the Orientals from the London branch, held their first picnic. An excellent sport program was arranged, which kept the Orientals busy from the time that they arrived at the lakeside until they adjourned to the dance hall at 9 o'clock to dance away the few remaining hours. This branch of the I.fl O. O. F. was organized at the first of this year. Nothing was left undone by the committees in charge of the events. Even the rain did not deter the costumer picnickers from staging the complete list of sport events. Mayor Frank Brinkman of St. Thomas was present and helped by either assisting in the races or by rooting for his fellow Mahomets.

DR. STEVENSON FAILS TO SETTLE STRIKE

Interviews Builders' Exchange Members Re Hodcarriers' Situation.

Despite the fact that Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M.P.P. for London, met local members of the Builders' Exchange here Wednesday afternoon in an endeavor to bring about a settlement of the hodcarriers' and laborers' strike here, the situation remains unchanged. The strikers demand 70 cents per hour, with an eight-hour day and a 44-hour week.

Representatives of the union also met the Builders Wednesday afternoon for the fourth time since the strike, and upon reporting back to members of the union at a special meeting the men decided to stand firm in their demands. Of the 180 men who went on strike, but 80 are out of work, 100 having obtained employment. Six contractors have signed an agreement with the men in this city and this fact has proven a source of employment for some of the strikers. The others offer 55 cents per hour minimum with no eight-hour day recognized, which the strikers refuse to accept.

Ask Your Neighbor

It has been said that there is now hardly a city, town or village in this country wherein some woman does not reside who has found health in that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, if you are suffering from some ailment, and hardly know what to do for it, and have tried other remedies without help, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If she herself has never had the need for it, undoubtedly she knows others who were just in your condition and who have been restored to health by its use.

SPECIAL CLASSES FOR NURSES IN TRAINING MAY BE ORGANIZED

Question To Be Considered by Industrial Advisory Committee.

FIRST AID WORK ALSO

Efforts To Be Made To Encourage Self-Improvement.

Special classes for nurses in training may be organized by the Technical School in co-operation with the various hospital authorities. This would include instruction in invalid cooking, dietetics, chemistry of foods, disinfectants and cleaning materials. The matter will be considered by the industrial advisory committee on the suggestion of Dr. J. C. Miller, assistant director of technical education for the province.

There is also a possibility that classes in home nursing and first aid may be instituted.

Another step which may be taken to make the school still more efficient is an arrangement whereby the names and addresses of all pupils fourteen years of age or over who drop out of either the public and separate schools or the collegiate institute will be transferred by a systematic and continuous method to the principal of the evening classes, so that he may use such as a "preference" list when developing the evening class enrollment.

Self-Improvement.

"The importance of inducing our young people to continue their self-improvement in relation to their vocations during their youth cannot be overemphasized," Dr. Miller states in his report to the local board of education. "It cannot be done without the active and constructive effort of parents, employers and more mature employees, and to be effective such effort must be continuous and persistent. Real objectives must be placed before the young people to almost the same extent as before mature people, before long continued effort can be expected of them."

Another suggestion of the inspector is that senior or second year classes be organized for students who have completed one winter's course, and desire to take more a[dvan]ced instruction. London should hav[e] a group of these second year cou[rs]es, he states.

Made Suggestions.

F. P. Gavin, provincial organizer, who inspected the day classes at the technical school, also made a number of suggestions, which will be considered by the advisory committee. Among these are that additions should be made to the library and map supply; that the department of mathematics should be strengthened; that staff meetings should be held periodically to discuss progress of pupils, internal organization and correlation of the different subjects, and that some system of keeping records of work done, especially in shop work, should be developed.

The inspector states that with Principal Hone in charge of the internal affairs of the school, Principal Beal will be able to give some of his organizing energy to the closer connecting up of the school with the industries of the city. Part time classes for apprentices and helpers in some of the trades would seem to be the next step forward. The probability that the commercial classes, now finding a home in the technical building, will be there for some time, makes it necessary to provide for a large student body sooner than had been contemplated. There is no adequate provision in the present building for physical training or for a gathering of the whole school in general assembly. A gymnasium and an assembly hall are invaluable features in the education of adolescents, and the advisory committee should look forward to the early completion of the building, Inspector Gavin states.

CONSIDER BUILDING OF NEW GYMNASIUM

The need of some provision for the physical activities of the young people of Askin Street Methodist Church has led to the appointment of a committee, representing various departments in the church work, who will consider the advisability of providing an adequate gymnasium and will report back to the church boards.

It has been suggested that the present frame gymnasium building on Teresa street, be removed and the basement of the present school building extended back and roofed over with cement above the ground level. Then, if it was desired to enlarge the Sunday school at a later date the cement covering would form the ground floor of the extended school.

During the winter the young men of the church have been using the basement of the Sunday school for their sports, and so many have been in attendance that the need of better provision, which has been felt for a long time, has been much emphasized. The committee which has been appointed will consider the plan from all aspects, and upon their report will probably depend whether or not the scheme will go ahead in the near future.

REV. R. E. CHARLES GOING TO BAY CITY

ABERDEEN SCHOOL HOLDS THE RECORD

Thrift is being practiced consistently by the juvenile section of the city's population at least. London school children are depositing an average of 22 cents a month in the penny bank, according to the latest statement of that institution. There is now a deposit monthly of more than $2,000 compared to about $800 in 1918. Aberdeen School holds the record for the largest deposits with an average of 61 cents.

LONDONERS GOING ON TOUR OF INSPECTION

Trip To Be Made in Interests of Deep Waterway Project.

In the interest of the deep waterway project of the St. Lawrence River, an excursion will be run by lake and rail from Windsor to Montreal, on July 24 to 29 inclusive. The train running under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the Border Cities will leave Windsor by G. T. R. at midnight, July 24. The party will take the boat at Toronto at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Proceeding by lake and river, it will arrive in Montreal at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The return trip will be made entirely by rail. Leaving Montreal at 11 p.m. Wednesday, the party will arrive in Windsor at 2:45 Thursday. During the trip on the river an inspection will be made of that part of the river requiring deepening in order that ocean-going vessels might make their way to the lakes.

It is expected that several members of the local Chamber of Commerce will join the party from the Border Cities and Chatham, as applications are being received by Secretary Gordon Philip.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

AN EXCELLENT SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

As an ex-member of the C. E. F., and in reference to the future disposal of the German guns that have come to our city during the past few days, I would like to suggest that one of them be placed, when the city council so feels disposed to act in the matter, on the "V" of Trafalgar street and the Hamilton road. There are many ex-members of the C. E. F. out in that district, and I am sure that one and all of us would feel proud to see one of the Hun guns on the above spot.

Thanking you for space for this letter, as a constant reader of The Advertiser for the past 20 years, I remain, yours truly, F. H. FREELAND,
Ex-Sergt., R.C.R. and C.E.F.
136 Price street, London.

WORK ON SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM WILL BE RUSHED

Expenditure Will Involve More Than Half a Million Dollars.

While actual building operations are not in progress at Ealing and South Colborne Street schools, preparations are well under way. The contractors who successfully tendered for these two buildings are now engaged in signing up sub-contracts and in obtaining supplies. As soon as these are available work will be started.

The whole public school building program may be in full swing by the end of the month, and plans for a new collegiate may be well under way by that time. Tenders for additions to Wortley Road and Victoria schools are expected by July 15, and if any of these prove acceptable the whole building program will then be started.

Most progress so far has been made in building a school for the northeast section of the city. A building purchased from the Red Cross has been moved to school property on Quebec street, and preparations for transforming it into a four-roomed school are making rapid strides.

Commencement of work on Wortley Road and Victoria schools will see building operations in progress in five different parts of the city. It is not likely that any of the work will be completed in time for the fall term, but efforts will be made to carry on the building in such a way that the present accommodation will not be interfered with while the additions to the school are being finished.

DISMISSES CHARGE OF SELLING CONES

Court Holds Storekeeper Did Best To Make Sale Legal.

Mary Siskind, 457 Simcoe street, was charged in police court today with unlawfully selling ice cream cones on a Sunday. She was discharged by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon after hearing the evidence. Sergt. Thomas Noonan testified that he saw Fred Wonch leave Gootson's grocery store on Ottaway avenue last Sunday and take three ice cream cones to a nearby auto. He accosted him, and Wonch stated that Mrs. Siskind sold him the cones for 15 cents. Her husband informed the sergeant later that he gave Wonch the ice cream.

Wonch, on the stand, swore that Siskind sold him the cones and not his wife, cautioning him to eat them within the store. He did not pay him, but left the money on the counter and went outside to call friends in from the auto when accosted by Sergeant Noonan.

"Why did you tell the constable that you gave Wonch the cones?" asked Magistrate Graydon.

"I said I would rather give him the cones than have him eat them on the street" replied Siskind, who is a respected south end Jewish resident.

"That is against your creed," remarked the court. "However, as your wife did not sell them, and apparently you did your best to make the sale a legal one, I will dismiss the case." Siskind left the courtroom profuse in his thanks for the verdict.

Michael Noxell of Ealing was fined $3 for allowing his horse to stray on a public street Saturday.

"There is continual complaint about this thing," said Magistrate Graydon.

Convicted on a charge of assaulting his wife, Stella Saunders, recently, Charles J. Saunders was allowed his freedom on suspended sentence.

Breaches of city bylaws cost G. Hughes and Peter Dimitroff $2 each.

AEROPLANE TO SEARCH FOR MISSING YOUTHS ALONG LAKE ONTARIO

Rochester, N. Y., July 7.—Search along the shore of Lake Ontario by members of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity has failed to reveal traces of Douglas S. Wolters, 21, and Brooks Gillies, 20, both of Rochester, missing on Lake Ontario. The young men set sail Saturday afternoon from this port for Presque Isle Bay and the Thousand Islands. They had a combination sail and gasoline launch. A boat of this description was picked up by a Canadian steamer and brought to Port Dalhousie, Ont., on Monday and the boys are believed to have been lost in the storm of Saturday afternoon. It is planned to use an aeroplane in the hunt for traces of the youths.

CALL FOR TRADING IN WHEAT ON JULY 15

Chicago, July 7.—An advisory committee composed of representatives of all wheat interests accepted the report of the committee representing the leading grain exchanges, calling for the reopening of trade in wheat futures July 15. The report provides that there shall be no trading in deliveries beyond March or this side of December.

The advisory committee also discussed the transportation situation as it affects the marketing of wheat. It was decided that the exchange committee composed of two representatives from each of the eight grain exchanges, should become a permanent organization to take up any problems that may result from the reopening of trading after a three-years' suspension.

OPPOSITION AT SARNIA TO NEW WATERWORKS

Sarnia, July 8.—Opposition to the new waterworks bylaws is developing and efforts are being made to organize it effectively. Opponents of the bylaw claim that since the price of material is three times what it was in 1914, and the question of wages very unsettled, the present George street system should be retained for at least one year or until the price of labor and material becomes nearer normal.

LONDON GIRL WAS NEARLY DROWNED

Miss Maude Lawrence, who was the victim of a near drowning accident at Ipperwash Beach Saturday morning, is still suffering from shock at her home, 368 King street. Miss Lawrence with her little nephew [w]ent out in a rowboat about a mil[e] from the beach to purchase fish. On nearing the nets she changed her position in the boat, and while doing so overbalanced and tumbled into the water.

A. E. Cowley, who summers at Ipperwash Beach, who was also going for fish, witnessed the accident and hurried to the boat. He was just in time to save Miss Lawrence from drowning, as she was already becoming numb, having held onto the side of the boat for some minutes.

LLOYD GEORGE GOVT. DEFEATED IN LORDS

London July 7.—The Government suffered a defeat in the House of Lords tonight when Baron Middleton's resolution, strongly urging retrenchment in national expenditure, was adopted by a vote of 95 to 23. The resolution also demanded that the Government appoint commissioners empowered to wind up existing departments for special war services, and reduce to a normal level other inflated establishments.

COLLEGIATE PUPILS REQUIRE MORE ROOM

Plans For Increased Accommodation To Be Discussed On Friday.

Plans for providing increased collegiate accommodation next autumn will be advanced by Principal W. H. T. Mooney at a meeting of No. 3 committee of the board of education Friday afternoon. When the commercial schools were taken over and double shifts were instituted at the Lord Roberts school so as to accommodate both public school and collegiate pupils, only a part of the collegiate pupils were cared for. Examinations were coming on and provision was made only for those who intended to write.

With the opening of the fall term, however, it will be necessary to provide room for all the students, and as there is every reason to expect the usual increase in attendance, the problem promises to be a difficult one to solve. Trustee Mrs. Tanner has advanced a plan to make it unnecessary for Lord Roberts public school pupils to come at 8 o'clock in the morning, as they did during the latter part of the spring term. Her suggestion is that the high school students come an hour later than they did this spring and attend classes on Saturday, thus making up the lost time. This proposal will be considered with others by the committee.

Another matter for consideration is the appointment of an additional teacher in English. The extra work in this subject has been taught by a substitute teacher for some time.

CLEARING NEW SITE FOR STOCK JUDGING AT FAIR GROUNDS

Many Improvements Are Under Way For This Year's Big Show.

Although no buildings will be erected on the property west of the Western Fair grounds, and recently purchased by the fair board this year, the property will be cleared, inclosed and used for stock judging grounds during the coming fair, Secretary A. M. Hunt stated today. Contracts for several minor improvements have been let.

The dairy and the process buildings are to be painted. A wire and iron fence is to be erected along Egerton street from Campbell to Dundas street. A high-board fence has replaced the picket fence along the eastern course of the race track. Additional ladies' lavatories are to be erected. With the help of the city engineer a large amount of filling in has been accomplished, and much of the low ground in the main part of the park has been raised to a higher level.

Over 400 billboard and posters advertising the fair were forwarded to railroad stations in the district today. Letters have been sent to all the live stock breeders in the habit of exhibiting here, informing them that as catalogues listing all the live stock entries are to be published this year all entries must be in by September 1.

SCHOOL INSURANCE WILL BE INCREASED

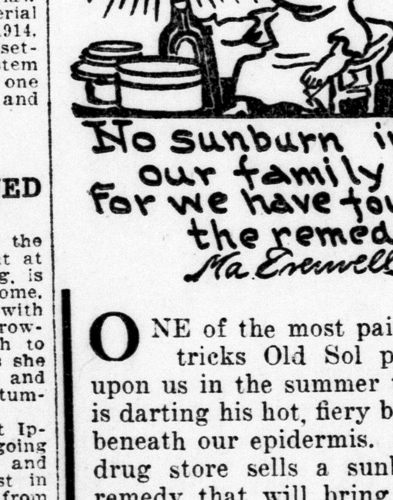

Architect To Prepare Estimates of Present Value of Buildings.

Increase of ten to fifteen per cent in the insurance on public schools will be considered by No. 2 committee of the board of education at its next meeting. The secretary of the board has been asked to submit a list of the insurance carried now on school buildings, and also of the insurance companies concerned. The architect will then be asked to prepare an estimate of the present value of the buildings, and the insurance will be adjusted in accordance with this. The changes may mean the placing of thousands of dollars more insurance, although the increase in premiums will not be too great for the board to finance with its present budget, it is expected.

Destruction of the collegiate by fire this spring, and damage by lightning to Rectory street school last Friday, have been the two main factors in bringing the need for revision of this kind before the board. "We have had two warnings already, and we want to be ready for the next one," said Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of No. 2 committee, today.

Insurance on the collegiate was only $70,000, while the value of the building was estimated at $150,000. Mr. Smith points out that the newer schools are not in such great need of increased insurance as they are fireproof to a great extent. He advocates an insurance of about 50 per cent of the value on buildings of this nature, while on the older buildings he thinks the insurance should be increased to at least 80 per cent of their present value.

Present insurance policies expire within a short time, and it will be a comparatively easy matter for the board to revise the whole list.

LITTLE GAME OF AFRICAN GOLF WAS SPOILED BY POLICE

George Chandler Only One of Party To Escape Fine.

A group of colored gentlemen, residents of East London, were so busily engaged rolling the dice on Glenwood avenue Sunday afternoon that they failed to note the approach of Constables Middaugh and Tomlin, and as a result of the oversight eight of them threw $2 in the police court "pot" today. George Chandler, the only one charged, pleaded not guilty, and after providing a minstrel comedy for the court, was allowed to go without a fine.

"I have not shot a crap for 18 months," he declared, "because I am buying a home, and want to save my pennies. It sounds funny, 'cause I used to gamble. You postpone the case, and I will produce substantial evidence that I was a mile away. I will pay a $25 fine if I was within a mile of the place. Your Honor, Sergeant Birrell, you know that I was fined three or four times, and never said a word. I don't care for $2. I have been a good boy ever since, and haven't shot craps. Honest, that's a fact."

The constables swore that they watched the crap game and took the names of all they knew. Constable Middaugh said that Chandler was present. When the police swooped down on the game he was absent. Sam Harris, according to them, directed the game from a chair, with feet astride the dice, which were confiscated.

"Are there no churches out that way?" inquired Magistrate Graydon.

Those who paid for their fun today were William Harwood, William Booker, Fred Lewis, Harry Lewis, Thomas Navin, Roy Anderson, John Anderson, and Sam Harris. Their ages ranged from 19 to 55 years.

TCHITCHERIN MAY GO TO ENGLAND TO CARRY ON TRADE PARLEYS

Copenhagen, July 7.—A rumor is current in diplomatic circles today that Mr. Tchitcherin, the Bolshevik foreign minister, will go to London to resume negotiations for the reopening of trade between Russia and the allied countries, for which it is considered that M. Krassin, the Bolsheviki minister of trade and commerce, lacks the necessary political and diplomatic ability. M. Litvinoff, according to the report, will act as the Soviet foreign minister in the absence of Tchitcherin.

MOB LYNCHES NEGRO BLAMED FOR ATTACK UPON A WHITE GIRL

Durham, N. C., July 7.—Taken from the county jail at Roxboro by a mob of more than 200 masked men, a few hours after he had been arrested on a charge of attacking a 13-year-old white girl, Ed Roach, 27, a negro, was lynched early today in a churchyard three miles from the jail. Roach was hanged to a limb of a high tree, a chain being used instead of a rope. As his body swung upward, it was riddled with bullets.

MINERS DEMAND THAT GOVT. GRANT ADVANCE OF TWO SHILLINGS

London, July 7.—A conference of delegates representing 900,000 miners assembled at Leamington today, adopted a resolution demanding that the Government concede an advance in wages of two shillings daily and immediately reduce the recent addition of 14 shillings per ton to the price of domestic coal.

Proposals for a five-day week and to give the executive committee of the Miners' Federation power to call a strike without a ballot of the members were defeated.

For the present there is no threat of a strike, but the action taken was intended to strengthen the policy of forcing the Government into nationalizing the coal mines.

U. S. HARVESTERS GET $7 PER DAY

Washington, D. C., July 8.—A land army of 100,000 farmhands recruited and organized by the department of agriculture, is moving northward across the western wheat belt, harvesting the United States grain crop in better time than in many years, according to reports today to the department.

"For the first time in years farmers have not been handicapped through labor shortages," Director Taylor of the farm bureau said. A wage of $7 for a 10-hour day is being paid to the harvesters.

JAPAN SUGAR SHIPMENT ON THE WAY TO AMERICA

DISCUSS ONLY ROUTINE.

Quebec, July 7.—(By Canadian Press).—According to a statement given out following the meeting of the provincial cabinet here today, only routine matters were discussed. This was possibly due to the absence of the Hon. J. E. Perrault; at any rate, another meeting has been called for tomorrow morning, at which it is anticipated that the long-expected resignation of Sir Lomer Gouin as premier will take place, and his successor be selected.

MAJOR ROBINSON MAY GO TO GUELPH

Mentioned For Vacancy Created by Resignation of Capt. Menish.

J. Cunliffe, secretary of the local branch of the G. W. V. A., has received word from W. E. Turley, provincial secretary of the G. W. V. A. at Toronto, that the investigation into the charges of the walk-out of the eighteen nurses at Speedwell Military Hospital at Guelph is being conducted by C. H. Brickland, M. P. P., of Toronto.

It was announced in Ottawa Wednesday that the investigation would not be conducted, but with official word from headquarters, Mr. Cunliffe stated, is sufficient to warrant that the charges will be probed to the limit.

The eighteen nurses quit work on June 25 because of work they were told to do in the diet kitchen, which they claim they had no right to do.

The hospital is for returned soldiers who are convalescing from wounds, and the conditions caused from the walk-out of the nurses were serious. Several nurses from the city volunteered to go to the hospital, and their services were much appreciated by the officials.

Another stir occurred on Wednesday morning when Capt. J. S. Menish, assistant director's representative, and one of the leading officials at the institution, gave notice of his resignation from the staff, and gave up his duties at noon. Capt. Menish had been connected with the hospital since August 27, 1917, when he took over the position as adjutant under Lieut.-Col. T. G. Delamere. He carried on in this capacity until October last, when he succeeded Lieut.-Col. Delamere, who resigned, as assistant director's representative. Capt. Menish served in France with the 4th C. M. R. in the third divisioin.

No successor has so far been named to fill the position vacated by Capt. Menish, but from what can be learned Major Robinson of the Byron Sanatorium will in all probability be asked to take the position.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN HAMILTON MAY BE TIED UP BY STRIKE

Hamilton, July 8.—Unless a settlement is effected by the Canadian construction contractors, Hamilton branch, with the hoisting engineers within a week, there may be a general tie-up of the building trades in Hamilton. Word has come from the international headquarters of the bricklayers and stone masons that they must stand by the defensive agreement entered into in 1913. This agreement calls for the engineers, bricklayers, stone masons, carpenters and joiners standing by each other for defensive purposes.

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIM TO HAVE PENETRATED DEFENCES OF POLES

Soviet Forces Engage Army of Gen. Wrangel.

London, July 8.—Russian Bolshevik forces have smashed their way forward on the southern flank of the Polish front, and Soviet military authorities claim success in a series of battles near Staro-Konstantinov, towards which town they are driving the Poles, according to a Bolshevik official statement received here by wireless.

Soviet forces have reached Litatchev, 24 miles east of Proskirov, and have occupied Mohilev-Podolsk in their drive along the Dniester River.

Heavy fighting is going on between the Bolshevik and forces commanded by Gen. Wrangel, on the southern front, the struggle being particularly intense in the region of Oriekhov, says the statement.

LABOR DELEGATION SCORES BLOCKADE OF RUSSIA AS CRIMINAL

British Representatives Issue Report Predicting Disaster If Blockade Remains.

London, July 7.—The British Labor delegation which recently returned from Russia has issued an interim report. It declares there is urgent need for immediate peace with Russia and that persistence in the policy of blockade and intervention is madness and criminal folly which can only end in European disaster.

Emphasizing Russia's economic and transport difficulties and the absorption of her efforts in military activities, the report says:

"Ringed from the world by a blockade of all-powerful nations, attacked by enemies from without and menaced by fear of counter-revolution from within, is it wonderful that a revolutionary government which has maintained any kind of order and discipline amongst its people, has rallied to its support practically the whole Russian nation?"

WILSON WILL CALL MEETING OF LEAGUE ASSEMBLY IN NOV.

London, July 8.—President Wilson has accepted the invitation of the league of nations to call a meeting of the assembly of the league early in November, it was announced in the House of Commons today by Cecil B. Harmsworth, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs.

NORTH WELLINGTON BALL

Wingham, July 7.—In the North Wellington Baseball League Wingham and Teeswater met today on the Wingham diamond, and after a hard struggle on a wet field the home team was victorious by a score of 16 to 10. When Wingham went to bat in the sixth inning the score stood 8 to 1 in Teeswater's favor. A drizzling rain made good ball impossible, though both teams showed good form all through.

GOES TO TORONTO.

Vancouver, B. C., July 7.—Hon. E. A. Henry, D.D., for the past ten years pastor of Chalmers Church here, has accepted a call to Deer Park Presbyterian Church, Toronto. He will leave here in August.

MAYOR CHURCH

Government is the weakest we have had since Confederation. The cabinet has no power to suspend hydro radial acts or contracts validated by the Legislature."

The mayor proposed that meetings be called in every municipality using hydro power to demonstrate to the local member the feeling of the people on the radial question.

"The Drury Government have done nothing but block the progress of the hydro since they have been in office," he declared. "It is time the municipalities wake up or the whole hydro will be a scrap heap. Rural Ontario has been depopulated by half a million during the last few years owing to the lack of such conveniences as proper radial lines. If the cabinet had taken the view they now do on the hydro not one would have been returned in the by-elections."

At this afternoon's meeting of the hydro municipalities, the following committee was proposed to urge on the provincial government acquiescence in the purchase of the radials: Mayor T. L. Church, Con. MacGuire, Commissioner George Wright of Toronto; F. H. Richardson, Pickering; Mayor Stacey, Oshawa; T. S. Holgate, Bowmanville; Mayor Lovelace and W. B. Burgoyne, St. Catharines; Controller O'Heir and George Halcrow, M.P.P., Hamilton; Mayor McBride, M.P.P., Brantford; L. B. Dug, Welland; Mayor Westoby, Guelph; Mayor Mercer, Galt, and J. W. Lyon.

A motion was offered to the effect that representing 250 municipalities, which have proved the hydro's efficiency they reaffirm their confidence in Sir Adam Beck and staff, who have already invested $20,000,000 of municipal money. The commission has already spent $250,000 investigating railway undertakings, and is in a better position to decide on such matters than any commission appointed by the Government, which has by its memorandum shown hostility but lightly veiled.

Another resolution urges that Sir Adam Beck become a candidate for the Legislature in Northeast Toronto, so that public ownership may be represented.

The meeting did not open till 2 p.m., and President Lyon ann[ou]nced that Sir Adam Beck would be pre[sent] later in the afternoon.

RUSSIAN TRADE WITH U. S. NOT EXPECTED TO SHOW GREAT INCREASE

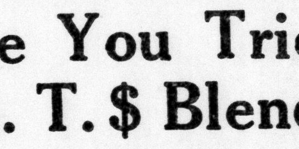

Washington, D. C., July 8.—Decreased production and impaired credits in Soviet Russia will, officials here believe, make impossible any material increase in commerce, notwithstanding removal by the United States state department of restrictions on trade. The department's action was taken independently, but followed extensive exchanges between the United States, Great Britain and France.

WESTERN ONTARIO TO BE REPRESENTED

Windsor, July 8.—Women as well as men will vote during the sessions of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tidewater congress, to be held in Detroit July 22-24, it was announced today. It will be required, however, that they be citizens of the United States and that they are registered as delegates to the session, which will probe fully into the big undertaking.

Attendance of 1,500 voting delegates is expected. Detroit will furnish in the neighborhood of 600, while every board of commerce in the State of Michigan and many from Western Ontario will be well represented.

HAMONIC MAY REACH SARNIA AT MIDNIGHT

Went Aground Near Harbor Beach During Dense Fog Yesterday.

CARRIED 360 PASSENGERS

Many Alarmist Stories Current At Border Points Last Night.

SARNIA, July 7.—With passengers aboard from Toronto, and many places in Western Ontario, as well as many from various parts of the United States, it was reported late this afternoon that driven out of her course by heavy winds during dense fog, the steamer Hamonic of the Northern Navigation Company, went aground on a reef five miles north of Harbor Beach this afternoon. Two hundred and fifty passengers were aboard at the time, but no loss of life or serious damage to the steamer resulted from the grounding.

Rush Tugs to Scene.

A message from Captain Wing of the grounded steamer to officials of the Northern Navigation Company here stated that he thought it would be possible for the boat to be launched without any assistance. The tugs, Manistique and Columbia from this port, and the coast guard from Harbor Beach have gone to his assistance.

Many wild rumors were current of the Hamonic being in a sinking condition, but a wireless report from the boat, received at the Northern Navigation headquarters tonight, stated that the boat would likely dock here about midnight, as she had been moved off the sand ledge, and that there was absolutely no truth in any reports that were in circulation to the contrary.

HELP FROM DETROIT.

WINDSOR, July 7.—Coast guards and tugs left Detroit late this afternoon to go to the rescue of the steamer Hamonic of the Northern Navigation Company, which with 360 passengers aboard, went aground this afternoon seven miles from Harbor Beach, with fair weather and light winds prevailing.

No anxiety for the safety of the passengers and crew was entertained until shortly after the rescuers left, when dark cloud banks on the western horizon were taken as an evil omen. The ship was bound down the Lakes to Detroit from Duluth.

Detroit Passengers.

The Hamonic went aground in a dense fog that prevailed over the lakes, and first reports were that she had collided with a downbound freighter. No attempts have been made so far, as is shown by wireless messages, to disembark the passengers.

Two-thirds of the passengers, it was stated at the offices of the Northern Navigation Company, Detroit, were from that city. The vessel is stranded at a point near Woods and Spares settlement, but no names were available owing to the fact that the list is in possession of the purser on board.

The Hamonic is a boat of 5,625 tons; length, 369 feet, 50-foot beam, and 23-foot depth. She was built in Collingwood in 1909. The headquarters of the owners are in Sarnia.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT LIBERAL RALLY IS EXPECTED TODAY

La Pointe, McCoig, Graham and Kennedy To Address Monster Assembly.

CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN

Essex Liberals Lead in Preparation For Early Federal Election.

WINDSOR, July 7.—Liberal forces in Essex County are commencing to campaign in early anticipation of a federal election. Delegates and members from the rank and file of Liberalism throughout the county are expected to gather in a record crowd at Stony Point tomorrow, when a special train, which will leave Windsor at noon, and include in its route all important centres in the county, will convey the big crowd expected.

Prominent among speakers will be W. C. Kennedy, M.P., for North Essex; Hon. George P. Graham, Liberal candidate for South Essex, and former member of the Laurier Cabinet, and Ernest LaPointe, K.C., M.P., for Quebec East.

Arrangements were finally completed tonight for the big rally at Stony Point, at which it is expected full 5,000 people will attend. Archie McCoig, M.P., Chatham, today accepted an invitation to be one of the principal speakers at the convention.

WILL NOT RESIGN NOR SERVE UNDER HARTLEY DEWART

J. W. Curry, K.C., M.P.P., Declares in Interview At Windsor.

WINDSOR, July 7.—Reiterating his refusal to longer sit in the Provincial Legislature at Toronto under the leadership of Hartley Dewart and giving emphatic denial to reports he would resign following the demands by members of the Liberal executive in the Queen City, J. Walter Curry, K.C., M.L.A. for Southeast Toronto, who is in the city in connection with a case in progress in the Windsor police court, said today, he would sit in Parliament next session under the guidance of Major J. C. Tolmie, M.L.A., for North Essex.

Not Under Dewart.

"All I can say in regard to the situation of the Liberal party in Ontario at the present time is that I have no intention of resigning and neither have I any intention of doing anything else than sticking in the House as a Liberal, but I will not serve any longer under the leadership of Mr. Dewart," Curry declared.

"I will be there next session, but I will be among a group of Liberals who will sit independently under the leadership of Major Tolmie, your local member."

Efforts to secure an official statement from Major Tolmie regarding the threatened split have proved futile. He is thought to be summering at Southampton, but could not be located there.

INGERSOLL DISSATISFIED AT HYDRO MINIMUM RATE

Action of Provincial Commission Alleged to Benefit the Big Users.

INGERSOLL, July 7.—Some dissatisfaction is being expressed locally in connection with the minimum rate of 75 cents recently fixed for Ingersoll by the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission. The rate went into effect for the first time with the issuance of bills due the present month. Formerly there were many users of power who had a minimum bill below 75 cents. Rates for Ingersoll were recently reduced, and the big power consumers have benefited especially while smaller ones in many instances because of the charge in the minimum charge are having increased bills. The local commission has passed a resolution that Superintendent Hall take the matter up with the provincial commission.

LIQUOR TIED IN SACKS; SAFETY FIRST SCHEME?

WINDSOR, July 7.—Edgar H. Kellenar, riverfront resident, is charged with holding liquor for illegal sale. Provincial License Inspectors Connor and Sykes visited the Kellenar home recently, following the arrival of 25 cases of whiskey via express, and found 20 cases and some odd bottle tied up in sacks.

The defence claimed the liquor had been handled in this manner for purposes of concealment in case of attempted theft. Magistrate Miers reserved decision.

OTTAWA, July 7.—Owing to the scarcity of coal the plant of the Canada Cement Company at Hull may close this evening and may not reopen until belated shipments of fuel arrive. Several hundred employees will be thrown out of work.

NO MAN EVER MADE A MILLION EXCEPT BY ANOTHER'S SWEAT

Declared Hon. Peter Smith At Belmont Milk Producers' Picnic—Warns Farmers To Keep Line Fences Up —Keep Prepared.

[By Staff Reporter.]

BELMONT, July 7.—Hon. Peter Smith, M.L.A., provincial treasurer, who was the principal speaker at the big picnic on the fair grounds here today under the joint auspices of the Belmont Milk Producers' Association and Yarmouth Agricultural Society, replied with spirit to the criticisms of the Ontario Government by the Toronto Globe and other papers, because of the Government's slow and steady policy in regard to hydro radial development.

"It is our duty to take an independent stand on hydro and hydro radials," said Mr. Smith. "The buying of roads is a matter for careful consideration. There is no immediate rush in the matter and we are not going to be stampeded by any body of men. We are not going to have any particular body of men tell us what we are to do and are not to do."

$5,000,000 a Year.

Hon. Mr. Smith also pointed out that the Ontario Government is spending five millions a year building highways, 1,800 miles of roads. It was an open question whether it was a good plan to parallel these highways built for automobile traffic by hydro radials. With an automobile highway from Hamilton to Toronto, for instance, and a Dominion-owned road in the Grand Trunk line was it necessarily wise to build a provincial-owned electric road? This was a matter that should be considered carefully, thought Mr. Smith.

Other speakers were Peter Cameron, M.L.A., West Elgin; Malcolm McVicar, M.L.A., East Elgin, and J. H. Freeborn, M.L.A., East Middlesex. Louis Craig presided.

Great Changes.

Hon. Mr. Smith, in opening his address, referred to the great changes which have taken place in the mental attitude of the rural communities on public questions. The agricultural classes had awakened to a truer conception of their own interest and the general welfare of the country. Mr. Smith paid a glowing tribute to Premier Drury as one of the greatest men in the province, and probably the best prime minister Ontario ever had. All the farmers were asking for, he said, was a square deal. They were not asking for special privileges for themselves. And everybody seemed well satisfied and thought that the U. F. O. victory was the best thing that ever happened to Ontario.

They were just ordinary fellows, the cabinet ministers of Ontario, but they were brimming over with common sense and they were not afraid to take a chance. He believed that a federal election might be sprung upon the people at any time, and he urged the farmers to be prepared for it.

Keep Prepared.

"Keep your line fences up; keep prepared," he said. "Let Middlesex and Elgin counties return five U.F.O. members to the Federal House as they did to the Provincial House.

The provincial treasurer spoke at some length upon the work of his own department and referred especially to the increases in the succession duties. These had been increased according to three classifications. They were not very heavy for the man who left his property to his direct heirs, a little heavier if it was left to collateral heirs, and still heavier if left to strangers.

The succession duties did not trouble the poor man, and the rich man should have no kick coming if he is permitted to keep his wealth unmolested as long as he lives. When he dies part of it ought to be used to ease the poor man's burden.

Sweat of Someone Else.

"No man ever made a million dollars except by the sweat of some one else," said Hon. Mr. Smith. Last year the succession duties amounted to $3,600,000. The new taxes will raise it is estimated, at least $5,000,000 in revenue. The corporation taxes on banks and insurance companies have been increased and from the banks a million in revenue is expected, and from the fire and life insurance companies three-quarters of a million.

The race track taxes only apply on seven mile tracks and one half-mile track in the province. Last Woodbine races in seven days there was bet on the races $2,948,000. If people were ready to risk so much money betting the race track proprietors could not very well complain about paying a tax of $7,500 a day. It was expected that the revenue from the race tracks would be $980,000. Referring to other amusement taxes and the moving picture, Mr. Smith said that pictures made for children could not be expected to interest adults, and that people had no business letting their children attend picture shows at night. Some of the social uplifters and moral reformers were prone to carry just a little too far.

Woman Censor.

A woman had been added to the board of censorship by the Government, but peoples' tastes and opinions differed. For instance, one picture that was indorsed by the Women's Institutes and by the National Council of Women had been strongly opposed by the citizens of a certain city, who had asked that it be withdrawn from circulation.

Messrs. Cameron, McVicar and Freeborn spoke briefly, Mr. Cameron reiterating Mr. Smith's personal tribute to Premier Drury. Ontario has a cabinet upon which every dependence can be placed, said Mr. McVicar, and the premier was one of the most honorable men ever in the Government of Ontario.

Baseball Games.

Three baseball matches were played, Belmont defeating Crampton by a score of 7 to 2, and Delaware defeating Harrietsville by 3 to 2. Two closely-matched teams of girl baseball players presented a lively game with many clever plays. They represented girls' clubs in Belmont and Delaware.

W. J. Evans of Detroit, a former Canadian League player, umpired the baseball matches.

The following were the line-ups for the opening game:

Belmont—N. Taylor, c.; A. Betterly, p.; L. Demary, J. Jenkins, D. McMillan, S. Pullen, C. Procunier, J. Campbell and Fred Taylor.

Crampton—C. McIntyre, T. Jolliffee, G. Campbell, c.; N. Armstrong, N. Pratt, W. Christie, p.; L. George and F. Pratt.

A three-base hit by Pullen which brought in two runs was the feature of this five-inning game.

While the baseball was in progress, the automobiles were ordered back to give more room to the players, and Louis Craig was caught between two cars and had his leg crushed. Dr. Beattie of Belmont, who was on the grounds, was called, but Mr. Craig was not seriously injured, and was able to preside over the program of addresses.

The horse races resulted as follows:

SCOTSMEN MAKE MERRY AT ANNUAL PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Piping Contests, Dancing and Other Events Keenly Contested At Springbank.

Headed by one of the largest pipe bands ever assembled in this city, more than 100 Scotsmen, men and women members of the Edinburgh Castle Camp Daughters of Scotland, No. 109, and Camp Flower o' Dunblane, No. 166, Sons of Scotland, invaded Springbank Park on the occasion of their annual picnic held Wednesday. The day was spent in sports, music and dancing contests. In spite of the inclement weather it was proclaimed by the officials as one of the most successful in the history of the societies.

The band, composed almost entirely of members of the two societies, accompanied the picnic crowd on the trip to the park, and throughout the journey the songs of the pipes drowned the noises of the grinding car. Before the program of sports was started several selections were played to the delight of every member of the crowd.

It was probably the most picturesque picnic held in the park this year, for intermingled with the more sombre dresses were the colorful tartans representing sixteen different clans.

Pipe Contests.

Without doubt the most enjoyable events in the opinion of those present were the dancing and the piping contests. The highland fling and the Shean Trews were both contested keenly, as there was a large entry in each of these dances. Ivy Baldwin won a silver medal presented by The London Advertiser as the best in the highland fling. A medal presented as the second prize by P. J. Watt, was won by Violet Gilmore. The third and fourth prizes were won by L. Gilmore and Veryl Nicholson, respectively.

In the Shean Trews a silver medal, presented by the Free Press, was awarded to Marion Stark. The second prize, a medal donated by P. J. Watt, was won by D. Mitchell. M. McKellar and Violet Gilmore were third and fourth.

The piping of 15-year-old M. McKellar who won a silver and gold medals given by Mayor E. S. Little for the best juvenile piper, enthralled every Scotchman gathered there. A second medal, presented by P. J. Watt, was won by Roy Baldwin.

Baby Show.

Beautiful silver cups were presented to all babies present, but owing to the chilliness of the weather only four cups were claimed. Before the conclusion of the long program of sports, which lasted well into the evening, a dainty luncheon was served by the Daughters of Scotland.

AUTOMOTIVE ANNUAL PICNIC IS BIG AFFAIR; FEATURES ARE MANY

Three Hundred Attend — Salesroom Closed in Celebration of Holiday Event.

Sports, and still more sports, running from the sublime to the ridiculous, featured the second annual picnic of the Automotive Retailers' Association of this city held in Springbank Park on Wednesday. The 300 employers, employees and friends who gathered in the open space before the pavilion, where the sports were held, proclaimed the outing as probably the most successful picnic of the day.

Practically every retail automobile salesroom in the city closed in celebration of the event. Hundreds of automobiles carried the members of the associations and their guests to the park during the early hours of the afternoon, when a most complete program of sports held the interest of everyone until the festive board sent out an irresistible call.

The sport program contained many events, ranging from the flat races and relay race to the standing board jump. A relay race between the different sales companies in the city evoked much enthusiasm. The race, which consisted of four lays, was won by the team representing the London Overland Sales. The Terry Garage was second, while a team from the Universal Motor Sales finished third.

Blindfold Boxing.

The comedy of the day was provided by boxing in barrles, wrestling on horseback, and blindfold boxing, not to mention the fat men's race. The boxing in barrels, open to all, was won by S. Scilli, who easily disposed of all comers in the first round of each fight. The members' boxing in barrels was won by F. McLachlin, who came through some exceedingly hard fights without a scratch, notwithstanding the fact he gave away considerable weight. Mounted on a sturdy charger named Irwin, a wrestler by the name of Knight overthrew all opponents, while Guest and Everett took second honors.

After the sports had come to a conclusion the crowds had an enjoyable box luncheon.

The following were the winners of the sport events:

Wordy Battle Breaks Out in Dry Camp Again

TORONTO, July 7.—In reply to a circular letter issued a month ago by Dr. A. S. Grant, secretary of the Ontario referendum committee, criticizing the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance for having made an appeal for subscriptions to the amount of $150,000 in connection with the referendum campaign, and characterizing this as absurd, Rev. Ben Spence, secretary of the alliance, stated today that the referendum committee was not representative of the temperance forces of Ontario and had practically ceased to exist last November. Mr. Spence charges that friendly approaches by the alliance had been rejected and agreements had been broken by the committee.

WHO IS BOOMING WHITE?

The boom that is now under way for Sir Thomas White as successor to Sir Robert Borden in the leadership of the Government is a clear indication, indeed, of the people who are in control of the new "National Liberal and Conservative Party." Sir Thomas White was the special nominee of the powerful interests of the country when the Borden cabinet was formed in 1911, and he was put there as the special representative of the protected interests. That he did his part to their entire satisfaction can scarcely be doubted, and they are clamoring today that he be given the highest post, and, moreover, that he—or, perhaps, more properly, they—have a free hand in the formation of the new cabinet.

There will be none to gainsay the sheer ability of Sir Thomas White. From the first he was a dominant parliamentary figure, and there is little doubt that had he been willing to take over the leadership of the Government last December the rival claims of Hon. Arthur Meighen would scarcely have stood against him. He announced then that he was through with public life, and would give his time henceforth to his own affairs. There would be few to question that, having served in the Government in a most strenuous post during all the war years, he was entitled to step down and out. What is curious is that today, in the face of all these protestations, and with a situation no more critical than six months ago, there should tend to be a change of front and the possibility of Sir Thomas White returning. What are the powerful influences that have been brought to bear? The public at large may draw their own conclusions, but there can be no doubt that every highly-protected interest in Canada is working day and night these days for his return to Ottawa and to power.

The tariff clauses in the platform of the new party show clearly that it is the intention to make as little change as possible in the tariff, and to keep the flag of high protection flying from the mast. It might be difficult for Hon. Arthur Meighen, adroit as he is, to hold that standard aloft, and still pose as a western representative. Possibly it is the belief of the powers behind that White will be more capable of turning the trick.

The developments of the last week have served one good purpose, at least, in clearing the issues of the next election. It will be the tariff that will separate the parties, however much the Tories may try to becloud the issue, as undoubtedly they will. That will be good fighting ground for Liberals, and for the newer political elements that are appearing in the federal field. Privilege has had a long day in this country, but the forces that oppose unequal division of things are steadily rising, and not even the genius of a White or the adroitness of a Meighen will be able to stave off the reckoning that the Canadian people have been preparing now for many a day.

ROTARIANS AND WORLD PROBLEMS.

Mr. W. R. Yendall, at the Rotary Club, in making his report of the Rotary convention at Atlantic City, referred with approval, which his audience indorsed, to a law passed in one of the states requiring industrial disputes to be submitted for adjudication to the law courts. He pointed out and commended the part Rotarians had taken, and might yet take, in the settlement of the world-wide industrial questions.

At page 230 of "Industry and Humanity," by Mackenzie King, we find the following:

> "Until industrial controversy and international controversy become as justifiable as property controversy, the world's peace will be at the mercy of Force, from whatever quarter it may arise.
>
> "It is from just such small beginnings as are afforded by opportunities of conference and the methods of procedure mentioned, that there will gradually be evolved a system of justice as applicable to human rights in industry, as existing legal justice is to property rights and matters of contract. Here and there, through agencies already at work, principles are beginning to be formulated. As the system is extended and enlarged by experience, general principles, with their necessary qualifications, will become clearer and more widely accepted. The sanction of government in one form or another will be secured. Principles will then become established, and their application will be made more and more general.
>
> "The prejudice of Labor against legal methods in the settlement of disputes will vanish, as the principles revealed in the settlement of industrial differences by conciliation, investigation and arbitration accord with the law of Peace, Work and Health. In other words, Labor's prejudices will disappear as the emphasis in principles cited is placed upon human as contrasted with material considerations. Were resort to these agencies to become general, such emphasis would be inevitable. Out of the principles thus established, it should be possible to construct for industry a code of governing rules and regulations which would lay the foundations for permanent industrial peace. To attain an end so considerable, there are the strongest of reasons why employers and employees should seek to avail themselves voluntarily of methods of judicial procedure in the settlement of industrial controversies whenever occasion permits, and why the state should exert its supreme authority to compel such a reference whenever industrial controversy threatens the public interest."

Mackenzie King's work, "Industry and Humanity," could be called a textbook. It requires to be studied, not merely read. His years of close study and personal contact and experience are set down in the book. He writes with a master-hand on the subjects of industry and humanity, and if, as Mr. Yendall intimated, Rotary Clubs aid in solving these questions, the desired end will be sooner attained.

AGRICULTURAL UNIONS.

Agricultural unions were almost negligible in Great Britain before the war. They have exerted considerable influence in the Low Countries and in Denmark for several years. In the parliaments of those countries they are represented usually by the Catholic party, although the unions are not exclusively Catholic. Comparatively, the membership is much larger than in England. Holland, alone, has an agricultural union with about thirty thousand members. Farm workers in these countries inhabit the outskirts of the larger industrial cities or live in the smaller towns. Daily they hear labor questions discussed, and come into continual contact with the laborers and artisans of the towns and cities. The effect of this was evident when the agricultural unions of Denmark supported the Socialists recently in their republican agitation.

The German and the British governments show the greatest contrast in their attitude towards the agricultural unions. The German Union of Agricultural Workers numbers nearly half a million members. In September of last year, it was the seventh largest workers' union in Germany and numbered 400,000. Now it is one of the three strongest workers' organizations in that country, of which the other two are the Metal Workers' and the Amalgamated Factory Workers' Unions. Not openly, but by covertly countenancing the policy of the great landowners, the German Government has encouraged the replacing of this huge body of organized land workers by a silent land army controlled by the landowners. It is the last stand of the old order against the new. The fight promises to be bitter. It cannot fail to interest us.

Pomeranian landowners are dismissing the laborers, who are rapidly joining the agricultural unions, and filling their places with disbanded Baltic troops. Many of the wealthy landowners were army officers.

Bavarian landowners have carried out a similar policy very completely. There, a feudal militia, as in mediaeval time, has its being in the twentieth century. The purpose apparently is not an armed revolt, nor a coup against the republic—the arming of rural Germany is intended as a counter weapon against the general strike, and is to work, in conjunction with the more terrible weapon of hunger, against the striker in the city. Unemployment is now on the increase in Germany. It is frankly admitted that the town worker is unarmed. But unemployment crises lead to food raids into the country by starving workers. The Government, in time of crisis, may be induced to increase the requisitioning of food from the country. None the less, the great landowners are determined to keep up the illicit free trade in foodstuffs, now grown to great proportions and bringing most remunerative prices. They are determined to keep it up at any cost and threaten, in case they are inconvenienced again by transport strikes or general strikes, that at the end of a certain period—say four days—they will call a hunger blockade against the cities and refuse to deliver food until the strike is broken.

So, the cry of the German landowners will be: "Call forth my household servants! Call forth my farm servants! Let them arm themselves!"—when there is danger of pillage from the stubborn city worker, or requisitioning by the Government.

The policy of the British Government towards agricultural unions is quite different. This spring, British farmers complained that they could not get help, that the pay which laborers were demanding was too high. The farm workers said that the pay was too low. The Government, when it fixed the price of certain farm products, increased the minimum wage for farm laborers—through the Agricultural Wage Boards, in consultation with the farm workers' unions—to $10.50 a week in some localities and $11.65 a week in other localities. In addition to this, the employer is required to pay overtime rates if the farm laborer or farm servant works over 48 hours a week in the winter time or 50 hours a week in the summer time.

From the European countries around the Mediterranean Sea comes the cry of the small peasant proprietor and of the agricultural workers, living in and about the towns, for the expropriation of land. The peasant wants more land. The landless city worker wants uncultivated fields alloted to him. Rural strikes and industrial strikes occur together, giving the whole movement the character of a political revolt. Particularly is this true of Italy and Spain.

Portugal has already yielded to the demand for land. A bill now before the Portuguese Parliament will enable the Government to acquire land for division among would-be farmers "when at least twenty farmers who do not own land demand it"; and to partition uncultivated land among co-operative groups of householders living adjacent.

Greece has gone further. The Grecian Government has passed an act under which landowners may keep only one-third of their estates. The remaining two-thirds is to be divided among the peasants. The portion retained may not exceed 225 acres. The dispossessed landowner is to be indemnified at peace-time values for the land he gives up and the newcomers must be members of the farmers' unions.

Szecho-Slovakia has followed suit in expropriating large tracts of land, indemnifying the owners and re-alloting the farms among the peasants.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A multiplicity of ballots to select a candidate is not necessarily a sign of divided aim. It took a good many ballots to name Wilson in 1912.

If the Canadian people had the choice of the next premier in their hands they would do it by the ballot-box and through a general election.

It would be interesting to know who the people were with whom Hon. N. W. Rowell had to confer before making up his mind whether or not he would remain in the new federal party. Apparently he is the rubber stamp for some strong Toronto interests.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

A Detective Story by J. S. Fletcher.

"All right," he said, "I'll go along with you."

And relighting his pipe he followed the little cortege through the streets, still deserted and quiet, and as he walked behind he reflected on the unobtrusive fashion in which murder could stalk about. Here was the work of murder, no doubt, and it was quietly carried along a principal London thoroughfare, without fuss or noise, by officials to whom the dealing with it was all a matter of pastime. Surely,

"My opinion," said a voice at Spargo's elbow, "my opinion is that it was done elsewhere. Not there! He was put there. That's what I say." Spargo turned and saw that the porter was at his side. He, too, was accompanying the body.

"Oh," said Spargo. "You think——"

"I think that he was struck down elsewhere and carried there," said the porter. "In somebody's chambers, maybe. I've known of some queer games in our bit of London! Well—he never came in at my lodge last night—I'll stand to that. And who is he, I should like to know? From what I see of him, not the sort to be about our place."

"That's what we shall hear presently," said Spargo. "They're going to search him."

But Spargo was presently made aware that the searchers had found nothing. The police surgeon said that the dead man had, without doubt, been struck down from behind by a terrible blow which had fractured the skull and caused death almost instantaneously. In Driscoll's opinion, the murder had been committed for the sake of plunder. For there was nothing whatever on the body. It was reasonable to suppose that a man who is well dressed would possess a watch and chain, and have money in his pockets; and possibly rings on his fingers. But there was nothing valuable to be found; in fact, there was nothing at all to be found that could lead to identification—no letters, no papers, nothing. The only clue to possible identity lay in the fact that a soft cap of grey cloth appeared to have been newly purchased at a fashionable shop in the west end.

Spargo went home; there seemed to be nothing to stop for. He ate his food and he went to bed, only to do poor things in the way of sleeping. He was not the sort to be impressed by horrors, but he recognized at last that the morning's event had destroyed his chance of rest; he accordingly rose, took a cold bath, drank a cup of coffee and went out. He was not sure of any particular idea when he strolled away from Bloomsbury, but it did not surprise him when, half an hour later he found that he had walked down to the police station near which the unknown man's body lay in the mortuary. And there he met Driscoll, just going off duty. Driscoll grinned at sight of him.

"You're in luck," he said. "'Tisn't five minutes since they found a bit of grey writing-paper crumpled up in the poor man's waistcoat pocket—it had slipped into a crack. Come in and you'll see it."

Spargo went into the inspector's office. In another minute he found himself staring at the scrap of paper. There was nothing on it but an address, scrawled in pencil—Ronald Breton, Barrister, King's Bench Walk, Temple, London.

His First Brief.

Spargo looked up at the inspector with a quick jerk of his head. "I know this man," he said.

The inspector showed new interest.

"What, Mr. Breton?" he asked.

"Yes. I'm on the Watchman, you know, sub-editor. I took an article from him the other day—article on 'Ideal Sites for Campers-Out.' He came to the office about it. So this was in the dead man's pocket?"

"Found a hole in his pocket, I understand. I wasn't present myself. It's not much, but it may afford some clue to identity.

Spargo picked up the scrap of grey paper and looked closely at it. It seemed to him to be the sort of paper that is found in hotels and in clubs; it had been torn roughly from the sheet.

"What," he asked meditatively, "what will you do about getting this man identified?"

The inspector shrugged his shoulders.

"Oh, usual thing, I suppose. There'll be publicity, you know. I suppose you'll be doing a special account yourself, for your paper, eh? Then there'll be the others. And we shall put out the usual notice. Somebody will come forward to identify—sure to. And——"

A man came into the office—a stolid-faced, quiet-mannered, soberly attired person, who might have been a respectable tradesman out for a stroll, and who gave the inspector a sidelong nod as he approached his desk, at the same time extending his hand toward the scrap of paper which Spargo had just laid down.

"I'll go along to King's Bench Walk and see Mr. Breton," he observed, looking at his watch. "It's just about ten—I daresay he'll be there now."

"I'm going there, too," remarked Spargo, but as if speaking to himself. "Yes, I'll go there."

The newcomer glanced at Spargo and then at the inspector. The inspector nodded at Spargo.

"Journalist," he said. "Mr. Spargo of the Watchman. Mr. Spargo was there when the body was found. And he knows Mr. Breton. Then he nodded from Spargo to the stolid-faced person. "This is Detective Sergeant Bathbury from the Yard," he said to Spargo. "He's come to take charge of this case."

"Oh," said Spargo blankly. "I see—what," he went on, with sudden abruptness, "what shall you do about Breton?"

"Get him to come and look at the body," replied Rathbury. "He may know the man and he mayen't. Anyway, his name and address are here, aren't they?"

Come along," said Spargo. "I'll walk there with you."

Spargo remained in a species of brown study all the way along Tudor street; his companion also maintained silence as a fashion which showed that he was by nature and custom a man of few words.

It was not until the two were climbing the old balustrated staircase of the house in King's Bench Walk in which Ronald Breton's chambers were somewhere situated that Spargo spoke.

"Do you think that old chap was killed for what he may have had on him?" he asked suddenly, turning on the detective.

"I should like to know what he had on him before I answered that question, Mr. Spargo," replied Rathbury, with a smile.

"Yes," said Spargo dreamily. "I suppose so. He might have had—nothing on him, eh?"

The detective laughed, and pointed to a board on which names were printed.

"We don't know anything yet, sir," he observed, "except that Mr. Breton is on the fourth floor. By which I conclude that it isn't long since he was eating his dinner."

"Oh, he's young—he's quite young," said Spargo. "I should say he's about four-and-twenty. I've met him only——"

At that moment the unmistakable sounds of girlish laughter came down the staircase. Two girls seemed to be laughing—presently masculine laughter mingled with the lighter feminine.

"Seems to be studying law in very pleasant fashion up here, anyway," said Rathbury. "Mr. Breton's chambers, too. And the door's open."

The outer oak door of Ronald Breton's chambers stood thrown wide; the inner one was well ajar; through the opening thus made Spargo and the detective obtained a full view of the interior of Mr. Ronald Breton's rooms. There, against a background of law books, bundles of papers tied up with pink tape, and black-framed pictures of famous legal notabilities, they saw a pretty, vivacious-eyed girl, who, perched on a chair, wigged and gowned, and haranguing an imaginary judge and jury, to the amusement of a young man who had his back to the door, and of another girl who leaned confidentially against his shoulder.

"I put it to you, gentlemen of the jury—I put it to you with confidence, feeling that you must be, must necessarily be, some, perhaps brothers, perhaps husbands, and fathers, can you, on your consciences do my client the great wrong, the irreparable injury, the—the——"

"Think of some more adjectives!" exclaimed the young man. "Hot and strong 'uns—pile 'em up! That's what they like—the—hullo"

This exclamation arose from the fact that at this point of the proceedings the detective rapped at the inner door and then put his head around its edge. Whereupon the young lady who was orating from the chair jumped hastily down; the other young lady withdrew from the young man's protecting arm; there was a feminine giggle and a feminine swishing of skirts, and a hasty bolt into an inner room, and Mr. Ronald Breton came forward, blushing a little, to greet the interrupter.

"Come in, come in!" he exclaimed hastily. "I——"

Poetry and Jest

THE POPPY VICTORIOUS.

(Lucy Masterman in London Sphere.)

Out on the plains the ruined towns lie scattered,
The little towns, the quiet familiar places.
The little villages, steeple and tavern and all,
Heave their shoulder of stone amid many shattered,
Turn to the heedless clouds their sightless faces;
Like beggars that once were soldiers swaggered tall;
Like women, once lovely, now ragged, that dumbly stand
Holding out unheeded a beggar's hand.

But over it all, like an easy forgetful laughter,
The poppy flaunts and tosses her flaming head.
Lifts her black throat, and flutters her scarlet wings;
Scatters a million seeds to bloom again after;
Leans over trenches and gulfs and graves of the dead;
Curtseys and dances over unspeakable things.
"Forget it, forget," say the Poppy, "all finished and over.
See, I make ruins gay, and abysses I cover."

The loss is ended, the long frustration and sorrow
Will be ended soon when the mourners soon shall die.
The old grief, the old memories, dying, dying,
With shining blossoms I cover them on the morrow.
The ruins and dead sink smothered and blurred, and I
Cry out there was neither tears nor horror nor mourning.
Forget the rain and the mire and the dying in vane.
"Forget it, forget," says the Poppy;—"and bring it again."

UP-TO-DATE TOMMY.

[London Tit-Bits.]

Kind old lady (who has just given Tommy some sweets)—"And now what do you say, my little man?"

Tommy—"Got any more?"

WHEN.

[Edwin Markham.]

When I wait for your face,
In some garden apart,
Little songs of your grace
Carol into my heart.

When I hear the loved sound
Of your feet that delay,
I am lifted and crowned
On the peaks of the day.

WORTH WATCHING.

"I dunno whether that feller is engaged in some shady occupation or not. But——"

"Well?"

"There's something mighty suspicious about the way he minds his own business."

THE URSULINE.

[By Margaret Hilda Wise in Canadian Magazine.]

She was a beauty then. Her grey, deep eyes
Brimmed with her laughter, for she knew no care,
And her soft, happy sighs
Were wrought of dancing feet and flying hours
Spent under starry skies.
She was aglow with youth, like springtime flowers.
Graceful and supple as the willow wand.
Sometimes, from back of some wild-loosened hair,
Laughing, she threw a kiss with her slim hand.

Picture her now in that cool, cloistered place.
She is a beauty still, and in her face
Shines the fair spirit of self-sacrifice;
And that sweet, courtly grace
Befits her well: Look in her shining eyes.
In them there lurks new laughter, close to tears,
Like changing April skies—
As if in yielding up youth's precious years
She found instead a nobler paradise.

SOME VOICE!

"Professor Screech has a wonderfully natural voice."

"Yeah, he sang 'Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep' so natural last evening that twenty people left the room seasick."

PASSIONATE AUTHORESS TO HER LOVE.

[New York Tribune.]

Don't live with me, but be my love—
That is the union I approve;
Consider I have my career
(And you have yours, my dearest dear).

Lodge where you choose; of course, you know
I shall not quit my studio;
And there, I must in frankness say,
I cannot have you in the way.

To sit across the board from you
Each morn and eve would never do.
Don't ever ask of me, I beg,
To brew your tea, or poach your egg.

But if some time you're degage,
Just ring me up, old thing, and say
What's on your mind; and we might go
To dinner or to see a show.

I for myself shall also claim
The privilege to do the same;
And you might care to go with me
If you should have the evening free.

I loathe your friends, and can divine
That you must naturally loathe mine;
We each shall in our circle move;
Don't live with me, but be my love.

Two souls that harmonize—dear me,
How very stupid that must be!
As for two hearts that beat as one,
I hate aortic unison!

My scheme, though it means sacrifice,
Appeals to me as rather nice.
We'll part if it should boresome prove—
Don't live with me; just be my love.

EXPLANATION.

Wifey (at ball game)—And now what's all the roaring about?

Hubby (up in the air)—Why, the big stiff whiffed!

Wifey—Nice language, I must say!

Hubby—I beg your pardon, my dear. I meant to say that the distinguished gentleman with the bat turned up his nose at the pitcher's offerings.

THE LOST LAGOON.

[E. Pauline Johnson.]

It is dusk on the Lost Lagoon,
And we two dreaming the dusk away,
Beneath the drift of a twilight grey,
Beneath the drowse of an ending day,
And the curve of a golden moon.

It is dark in the Lost Lagoon,
And gone are the depths of haunting blue,
The grouping gulls, and the old canoe,
The singing firs, and the dusk and—you,
And gone is the golden moon.

O, lure of the Lost Lagoon,
I dream tonight that my paddle blurs
The purple shade where the seaweed stirs;
I hear the call of the singing firs
In the hush of the golden moon.

Up to Her Old Tricks.

Skeptical Widower—Mary, is it really you?

Spirit of Dead Wife—Yes, dear; you don't doubt me, do you?

(Whereupon the excited man puts his lighted cigarette in his pocket where the matches are. A strong sulphurous smell invades the room. Violent heat, in the region of his pocket.)

Widower—It's you, all right, Mary, but you've got your hand in the wrong pocket. My money's in my overcoat. —Yale Record.

COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes that its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully-soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

CATARRHOZONE

Just Breathe It

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor. Large outfit lasts two months, costs $1.00, small size 50c, trial size 25c, at dealers everywhere.

When the baby woke grandpa up on this particular occasion the poor old man thought the world had come to an end.

GIRLS! USE LEMONS FOR SUNBURN, TAN

Try it! Make this lemon lotion to whiten your tanned or freckled skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion whitener, at very, very small cost.

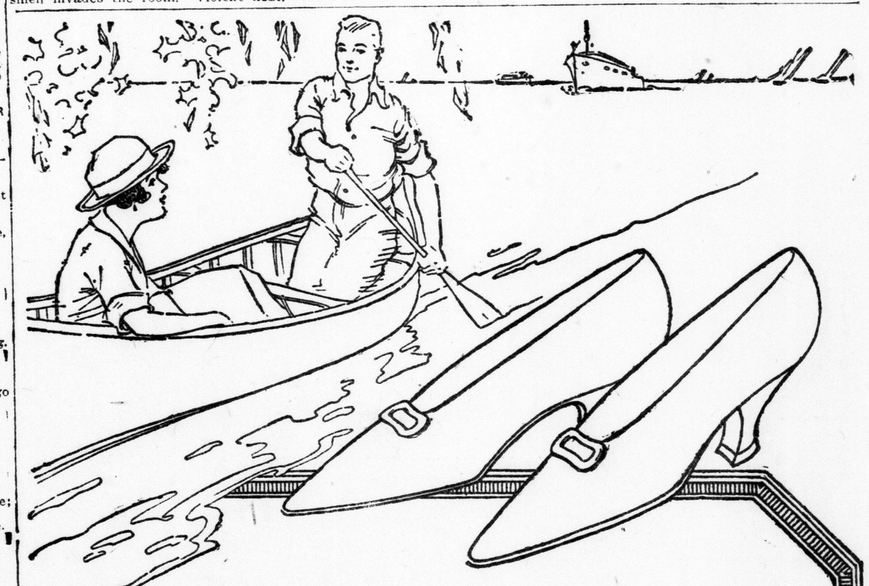

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands and see how quickly the freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

RELAXATION.

Few women know how to rest. Really to rest we must know how to relax, that is to release all the muscles of the body from tension. In the middle of every woman's busy day there should be a time for rest—if she knows how to relax, it need not be long.

A woman should not wait until she is utterly tired out before she lies down; it is much more difficult then to relax, and recuperation takes much longer. She should have a time each day when she can shut herself away from responsibility for at least a few minutes, let down her hair, take off her corsets and shoes, and stretch herself upon her bed or couch with no restriction upon any part of her body anywhere, but especially with freedom for her breathing and circulation from head to foot. To let the bed really hold up all her body is to rest. Once a woman knows that feeling of not carrying a bit of her own weight, she has learned to relax, and five minutes of such release from nerve strain is worth more to her than an hour of pretended rest. A short nap is, of course, better still, for it is complete rest, and the woman who has learned to relax soon learns how to sleep quickly and easily, and to wake refreshed.

A good deal of our fatigue is due not to overwork in any real sense. Many of us work less than we ought, but to bad habits of work, and bad habits of rest, so that we are worth just about half of what we might be to ourselves and to others.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

"My own experience and development deepens every day my conviction that our moral progress may be measured by the degree in which we sympathize with individual suffering and individual joy."—George Eliot.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL FUND.

Dear Cynthia Grey.—Again I have to thank you and your correspondents for a contribution to our Children's Hospital fund. This is the fourth time, and the $25 you send will be a material help. It is wonderful how the ten-cent pieces, packed up by an occasional quarter, runs up into hundreds of dollars. The Advertiser Mail-Box has been one if our best friends, and we will not forget it. Sincerely yours,

L. K. CAMPBELL,
Treasurer Hospital Fund.

A Story of Wrens.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have just read Garnet's letter about the wren. How I love the wren. I felt as if she and I were old friends. I love the birds and flowers. You should see my roses. They are grand. I love to give them to my friends. I wanted to tell Garnet about my wrens. Some years ago two came and built their nest in our gatepost. There was a hole in the post. He would get on the fence or post and how lovely he would sing. Next summer they came again to the same place. I think it was the third summer something killed the female and destroyed the nest. Her male came back twice after, but only sang one day on the post, then went away. This summer he has returned to the same place, but not alone. He has another little wife with him. He sings all day long. I am not able to get out much, for I have neuritis and am not sorry the birds are here. We live in a pretty place in summer, so much woods to be seen.

I have lots of little chicks and ducks to care for, so I don't get lonely. We two old folks are alone now, and this is our forty-fourth wedding day. Well, Miss Grey, if I may I will send in a few hints for sick chickens. Give them an aspirin tablet. They may need two or more, but I did it with perfect results. I make six good loaves of light bread with a quarter of a yeast cake. Make yeast at noon next morning, set sponge after breakfast, mix down and it will be light for the pans in a short time. A nice way to fix liver: Soak it through, but not too long. Then run it through your food chopper (largest plate). Put salt, pepper and a little butter to one cup of sweet milk. Put in one egg. Stir all together. Then put it in the fryer with some fat of any kind. It's fine. Guess if I don't stop I will get the G. B., so with best wishes I am still TIRED.

Ans.—Thank you for writing us the story of your little wrens, Tired. So sorry about the loss of the first little mate and the tiny home. We are glad, too, you wrote to us on your wedding anniversary. Let me say on behalf of the Mail-Box we wish you many beautiful years of health and happiness together. Thank you for the useful hints.

Veranda Chats.

Is it hot in London today? It's just lovely and cool where I'm sitting. Come and sit in the shade and help me watch these three wee girlies. I've a dear, dimpled baby, six months old, that's saying things at her hands and knees, because they won't work as she wants them to.

I'm inclosing two pieces that have been asked for "A Woman's Question" and "Hello Central, Give Me Heaven." I wonder if the reader who asked for the poem, "No Sects In Heaven," some time ago has received it? If not, I'll copy it for her if she will let me know.

Next time you burn yourself. Just rub a piece of soap over it and see how quickly you get relief. Just moisten the bar and draw it over the burn. As my girlies all have hazel eyes I'll sign myself,

MOTHER OF 6 HAZEL EYES.

Ans.—What a pretty letter about your little girls. We love being introduced to them. Thank you for the poems inclosed.

As this is my first letter to your page I must try and not stay too long for this time, as you may let me in again if I don't. I am a young girl, always lived in the city until late years, now I am on the dear old farm and love it. I am very fond of horses, and love to be in the woods with wild flowers. I am 16 years of age, and at times in the winter months I am a very lonely little girl, and love writing; so if there are any young folks that would like to write me I will be so pleased to write to them. I am very dark, have dark hair and eyes, but I am English. I am leaving my name and address with Miss Grey. Hoping to hear from someone soon. LONESOME ALONE.

I've often thought of writing you. We have taken The Advertiser for years, but I feel more acquainted with you since you called next door. I feel I know you well enough to come to you for help. Can any of the Boxites tell me why suckers come on a fern. It's a maiden-hair fern, and great long stems grow on it, but no leaves. I've been told they will kill the plant. I gave it castor oil. I'll watch the Mail-Box for the answer. Have you another stocking-foot pattern left for me? Inclosed find 10 cents for C. H. fund.

FLOUNCING MAPLE.

Ans.—Am glad to welcome you to the Mail-Box for the reason you mention, because I have a deep liking for your lovely home-spot. Hope somebody can advise you about your fern. Glad to mail the pattern, and thanks for the contribution to the fund.

I wrote to you a long time ago, but did not see my letter in print, so thought I would try again. Would you please send me the S. F. P.? Inclosed find a dime for the children's hospital. Could you also tell me what to use to kill lice on a rosebush? We have a crimson rambler nearly reaching the eaves of our white cottage, and it is just loaded with flowers, but the horrid green lice spoil them. We have tried several sprays, but they seem to spoil the leaves.

Ans.—Pattern mailed, and thank you for contribution. Get nicotine and make a spray of one tablespoonful to a gallon of water for your rosebushes. How lovely the roses must be at such a height, and so profuse in bloom.

It is over a year since I have written to you, owing to illness. However, I am very pleased to be able to write again. Could you or any of your family tell me the best time to plant a grape vine, that has been buried for transplanting. I have one ready and would like to know the best time.

I will inclose you a few stocking-foot patterns. TIERRAH TENRUB.

Ans.—Thank you for your patterns, Tierrah Tenrub. If your vine has not started growth you can transplant it at any time. Otherwise it should be transplanted in the spring or fall. Hope you won't wait a year before coming again.

MISS BLANCHE MILLS TELLS OF THRILLING ESCAPE FROM TURKS

London Girl To Arrive Home Shortly After Year in Armenia.

The many friends of Miss Blanche Mills, niece of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Way, Elmwood avenue, will be glad to welcome her home to the city at the end of this month, after she has spent over a year in reconstruction work in Armenia. Miss Mills, who sailed from New York a year ago last February with a party of two hundred and fifty doctors, nurses and teachers sent out by the United States Government, had signed up for but a year's service in Armenia. So pressing was the need there, however, at the end of the year, that she decided to remain longer, only leaving the country when the whole commission was compelled to evacuate, the 1st of May, on account of the invasion of the Turks and Bolsheviks.

Her description of their flight from Armenia is graphic and interesting. It appears in a letter dated May 15 and written on board the steamship Huntsville in the Aegean Sea.

The Escape.

"We are on our way to Egypt. Things have happened within the past two weeks with such kaleidoscopic swiftness that I cannot realize it. On the 1st of May an Armenian officer brought us the order from our high commissioner, Col. Haskell, to evacuate at once and to leave everything behind. At first we begged to stay, but being in the army, we could only obey. So we packed our souvenirs and left them with a responsible Armenian officer to send on later, if possible. But I fear it is good-bye, souvenirs!

"The officer told us that the Bolsheviks and Turks would soon be in the town, and we could do nothing; our flour had given out and the people were clamoring for bread, and having bread riots already; the trains would run only a week longer and then our supplies would be cut off.

"We closed up our work and turned over $1,000,000 worth of property and supplies to a responsible Armenian. (My heart aches for them—the Turks on the south and the Bolsheviks on the north are going to wipe out the Armenians entirely, I fear).

Train Held Up.

"We left Erisan on a special train on Tuesday morning, but a few miles out the Tartars held us up with an armored car, which pointed its guns at us. They took our engine and would not let us go until our officers had signed over to them all our flour and foodstuffs. At first Col. Tilford refused. Then they threatened to keep the 80 women on board as hostages and so he had to give in and let them have everything. Then they let us go on.

"We reached Batume on Thursday and were safe once more. Then on to Constantinople, and from there 57 of us were taken to 'Halki,' one of the Princess' islands in the Dardanelles.

"The next day I heard of this transport going to Egypt and I hustled and got my passport and papers fixed up and got two trunks sent home in bond to San Francisco and went on board this ship. There are twelve of us, two colonels, five Red Cross nurses and five relief workers. We expect to reach Alexandria tomorrow, then to Cairo, from there to Jerusalem, Damascus, then to Rome, Paris, Geneva, London, New York, Montreal, Toronto and then London, my old home town, reaching there about the end of the last week in July."

Work Among Orphans.

Miss Mills' work has been chiefly among the Armenian orphans, whom she has grown to love very dearly. In one week alone she gathered up 600 of these little bundles of rags from the streets and put them in homes where they shortly began to look human again. In one of her earlier letters she says:

"For several mornings now the major and I have got up early and visited the soup kitchens and orphanages before breakfast. We found the orphan corps drilling at 7 o'clock and the major gave them a good running exercise. My, I am proud of my twelve orphanages and 2,000 orphans, all so clean and nice and dressed in white 'godan.'

"We decided to stay three months longer in Armenia because there is such need of workers there, and so few coming to our relief. We are just putting in a crop of 1,000 acres of wheat, rice, potatoes, beans, cabbage, etc. I want to see it finished. In fact, it seemed cruel for us to leave, as in June the crops will be harvested and I'll feel the people will have food and seed for the future."

THE THREE TRAMPS.
Part Eleven.

Sammy the Spaniel was acting peculiarly. Ever since the day before when he had rescued the little boy from drowning he had not seemed like the same dog at all. He had made out he was very tired and so Herbie and Freddie had stayed near the home of the little boy to rest for a time. It was not such a disagreeable thing to do either, for the little boy and his friends brought lots of good things for the dogs to eat. Herbie and Freddie did not like children. Herbie had once had his tail pulled by a bad little boy, and Freddie had had a tin can tied to his tail by another little boy, so they had learned to keep their distance from the little folks. However, Sammy had no such scruples. He liked children and he did not care who knew he did.

That night he confessed to Freddie and Herbie. He hadn't really been a tramp dog all his life. Once he had had a nice home and a nice little boy to love him, but his master had moved into an apartment house where they would not let them keep a dog, so Sammy had been sent to the country. Sammy did not like it in the country. They did not make a fuss over him there and there were no children to play with, so he had become a wandering dog.

Herbie and Freddie knew what would happen next. The next morning they found that Sammy had disappeared, and after waiting for him for some time they decided he was not going to come back. They started off without him. All this time Sammy was hiding in the bushes nearby to see what they would do. When he saw they weren't angry with him, he was glad, for he had learned to like the other two tramp dogs and hated to part with them. As soon as the two wandering dogs were out of sight Sammy started toward the home of the little boy.

"I knew the little dog would come to us, mother," said the little boy when he spied Tommy. "I'm so glad we saved this breakfast for him." So Sammy had found a home and all his heart desired. How he wished Freddie and Herbie could find such happiness too.

The Control of Diarrhea.

Diseases of which diarrhoea is the prominent symptom are the chief cause of the excessively high death rate among babies, and most of these diarrhoaeal diseases are preventable.

Diarrhoea is of three types: (1) From simple mechanical irritation of the bowels by such things as raw fruit, which should never be fed to a child under 4 years, grape skins, cucumbers, peanuts and the like. Parents and ignorant or irresponsible guardians are to blame for these mistakes. 2) Diarrhoea from excessive fermentation in the bowel, attributable either to an excessive quantity of sugar (or even starch as in some alleged infant foods) in the diet, or to the introduction with the milk of an excesive number of bacteria due to uncleanliness in the handling or marketing of the milk or to lack of proper refrigeration of the milk before it is fed to the baby. If too much sugar is present, as in condensed milk feeding and other cloying, if fattening, canned substitutes for a child's birthright, of course, some of the sugar remains undigested and passes on into the larger intestine, where it undergoes fermentation, with the production of irritating acids and diarrhoea. (3) Diarrhoea caused by infection of the wall of the intestine with some specific germ, such as the dysentery bacillus, the gas bacillus or the streptococcus—and in this type the distinguishing sign is the presence of blood or pus or both in the bowel discharges.

Mechanical Diarrhoea — Don't "try" knicknacks on the baby. Don't offer the baby tastes or samples of things you know are not in his daily ration. Treatment consists of limiting the child's diet to barley water for twelve hours, giving plenty of water, keeping the child at rest in bed, administering a single dose of castor oil, and calling the doctor if the trouble persists more than twelve hours.

Fermentative Diarrhoea—Don't let Tom, Dick and Harry supervise the choice of the baby's diet. If the baby is worth keeping he is worth feeding intelligently. Merely because some substitute for fresh milk properly modified, seems to "agree" for the time being is a darn poor excuse for inflicting it on a baby. Many of these "agreeable" things are responsible for scurvy, rickets, anaemia and malnutrition, not to mention diarrhoea and "cholera infantum." Determining the proper diet for an artificially-fed baby is not a matter of luck; it is a matter of science, and parents who fail to seek medical advice and supervision in this vital matter are false to their trust. Fermentative diarrhoea sometimes supervenes upon an acute rhinitis ("cold," as it is usually called), or bronchitis. These feverish illnesses temporarily impair digestion, so that more food remains to ferment in the bowel, unless the baby's diet is reduced considerably during the illness. Overheating from too much clothing in hot weather is a frequent factor of impaired digestion and consequent fermentative diarrhoea. Bad milk, meaning unclean or unrefrigerated milk in hot weather, is a very important cause of the same trouble. Characteristic of fermentative diarrhoea are the sour acid stools, often greenish and containing much mucus ("slime"), and the irritation of the skin of the buttocks from the acid stools. In severe cases the child becomes very weak—the familiar "cholera infantum."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Bowlegged.

I am 17 years old and very bowlegged, and I want to have my legs straightened. A friend told me to bind my knees tightly with a towel at night, but this did no god. Another friend tells me she knows a little girl who had her legs operated on and the result was excellent. Should I have such an operation done?—P. M. C.

Ans.—Operation is the only remedy for bowlegs, except in infants. An orthopedic sugeon could tell you whether operation is advisable.

Mumps Not Carried.

Can a person who has never had mumps, but who has been exposed to a school child coming down with mumps carry the disease to a third person I am a teacher and this question worries me.—R. M. S.

Ans.—Probably not unless she happens to be coming down with mumps herself.

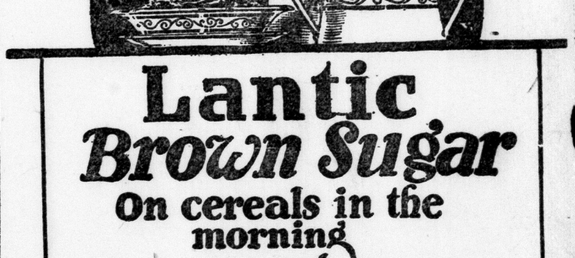

Swimming to Grow Graceful.

I am 26 years old, 64 inches tall and weigh only 115 pounds. While learning to swim I lost two pounds, and people tell me I should stop swimming. Please give me your opinion.—Mrs. A. S.

Ans.—Keep on swimming. You will probably regain the loss and add weight when your physical development is bettered by the training. This was the general rule among young men in the army camps.

SHAG'S TIGERS WIN AND LOSE IN DOUBLE BILL WITH VEHICLES

Morrisette Pitched Hams To Victory.

BEAVERS BEAT WOLVES

Brantford Takes Two From Aces.

FLINT, July 7.—Flint Vehics won the last of the double-header with Hamilton Tigers here tonight, when Harry Fisher, the pennant winning pitcher for the Saginaw Aces of last year, struck out six Shagmen and only allowed them seven hits, three of these being bunched in the sixth, when the tiger captain had mighty big hopes of evening the tally, as his bases were full, but Corcoran, who made a homer in the first game, flew out to Anderson and settled the chance. Fisher showed fine form and is likely to do some great work for the losing Vehics in the next two weeks.

In the first game Wild Bill Morrisette was on the hill against Landry. Morrisette struck out 11, against Landry's 2. Corcoran's homer was the feature of the game, together with the Hamilton pitcher's wonderful hurling. To date Morrisette has struck out more than an average of nine men per game. London plays here Thursday and Friday. Hayes and Bodecker will pitch for Flint. The score:

Manufacturers Track Meet Revival a Sure Success

Saturday's Marathon Is Main Event of Full Program of Track Events—Enthusiasm Rampant.

London's second big track event of the year will be staged Saturday at Queen's Park, and there is every indication that the revival of the Manufacturers' Athletic Meet will meet with the success it deserves.

Before the war put an end to track athletics, the manufacturers' meet was growing each year and attracting more and better entries. With the success of the big university track meet still fresh in the mind of sportsmen, and as a criterion, there can be little doubt but that Saturday's events will see the meet put back on a permanent basis.

Secretary Allen announced the entries to the various competitions, the largest number been received for the modified marathon of 12 miles. This is the main event and considerable interest is attached to this road race, which takes the contestants through the streets of this city, as the route requires three trips around with a three-lap finish in front of the grandstand at Queen's Park.

Medals For Also-Rans.

Medals for the first three runners to finish, as well as a huge silver trophy for the winner, awarded by the London Free Press, in addition to prizes for the lap leaders at various points on Dundas street, and fourth and fifth prizes, and another for the first local boy to finish in the race have been secured.

The London Free Press Trophy was won in 1914 and 1915 by James Dellow of Toronto, and the condition under which the cup was given may find Dellow the permanent holder of it, and he undoubtedly will be a favorite. He is running in good form again this year, having already won two similar races this season.

Thus far there are thirteen entries for the 12-mile grind, as follows: Norman General, Brantford; M. Richardson, Hamilton; Adolph LaPlante, Hamilton; C. Wyckoff, Belleville; James Dellow, Toronto; C. White, Toronto; G. Cannon, London; M. McLean, London; J. A. Kennedy, London; Bert Mills, London; Fred Douglas, Brantford; G. F. Mills, London; A. W. Hall, Stratford.

Charles Ledoux

CHARLES LEDOUX of France

Charles Ledoux, bantamweight champ of Europe, has arrived in Montreal, fresh from his victory over young Jim Higgins, the British hope for the honors. Young Higgins, a north of England lad, came into the title of Great Britain in that weight by having it practically handed to him. It was realized by the British fans that he was stil verging too near youth to attempt a crack at Ledoux, holder of the continental honors. However, promoters made the offerings so tempting that the youngster was pitted against the veteran Frenchman. He made a game fight of it for eleven rounds, fighting with the freshness of youth and up to a point with the cool head of a veteran. The clever Frenchman had the youth measured and timed his coup for the eleventh, after he had taken a lot of punishment from the youngster.

What is feared most by the British fight public is that this defeat may stop Higgins from reaching the championship throne—a seat he is legitimately entitled to and intended for, once he has had his proper schooling.

BEAVERS WIN.

BAY CITY, July 7.—After handing Bay City a four-run lead in the first inning, Kitchener stepped out and won the last game of the series, 6 to 5, Bornhoeft allowing the Wolves but four hits and holding them hitless after the fourth. Summers started well for Bay City, but went to pieces in the third, walking three men in a row and forcing in two runs. Hauser, who relieved him in the fifth, was hit hard, but kept the blows scattered. The score:

ST. MARYS WINS

ST. MARYS, July 7.—In an intermediate game of lacrosse here this afternoon, St. Marys defeated Stratford 30 to 2. Rain interfered and made the grounds slippery, preventing good lacrosse. Allen Kinder of Preston was referee.

STRATFORD TO PLAY.

STRATFORD, July 7.—An interesting football game is scheduled for Friday night here, when the Woodstock Seniors play a W. F. A. fixture. If Stratford wins they will still have a chance for the district. A loss, however, will put them out.

Custer Errors Lose Them Last Game 8-5

Carmen Hit More Frequently Than Usual, But Support Is Good At All Times—Tecs Get Four in First Frame.

BATTLE CREEK, July 7.—London took the last game of the series from the Custers by the score of 8 to 5 in today's set-to. Poor pitching, heavy hitting and numerous errors by the locals were the cause of the downfall. Carmen, the diminutive portsider of the Tecumsehs, although hit more freely than usual, was at no time in great danger, owing to the fast fielding of his team-mates. Crichlow was the chief robber in keeping down the Custers' count, as he gathered in a couple of long drives that should have been home runs, according to Hoyle and the speed of most centre fielders. "Crich" got his old knee bent, though, and pulled them in, and no doubt saved the game for the invaders at the same time.

The Tecumsehs started the scoring early in the game, as they garnered four runs in the first inning from several passes by Winters and a few errors and hits. The locals tried a comeback, but were unsuccessful, as they only managed to squeeze across two of the needed tallies.

Winters weakened again in the fourth and seventh frames, allowing the visitors two counters in each stanza. The pitching could not be entirely blamed for the runs of the Tecumsehs, as the fielding was wretched to say the least, six errors being made behind the hard-working slab artist.

Calbert, Kuhn and Briger were the chief swatsmiths of the day, with two hits apiece. Kennedy was the only one of the visitors who failed to make a hit.

Kennedy was again hit by a pitched ball, which makes three times in four games.

KENT COUNTY BALL

BLENHEIM, July 7.—Blenheim won from Ridgetown in the Kent County League game here this afternoon in one of the best and most interesting games played this season in the league. As a result of this game Blenheim has taken second place in the league. The visitors led off with two runs in the first innings, but the locals took three in the second and had them for the rest of the game. A large crowd witnessed the game. William Roseborough and McFadden for the locals, and Campbell for Ridgetown, were the heavy hitters. Ridgetown made some costly errors.

SOX LET MATTHEWS GO

BRANTFORD, July 7.—It was announced here that Matthews, the southpaw hurler secured from Baltimore under optional agreement, would be turned back to the Baltimore Club. With the arrival of Richardson of Syracuse, and Dixie Walker the Brantford team has a surfeit of pitching talent. Matthews won the majority of his games with the Red Sox, but was inclined to be wild.

LEAFS WIN ONLY GAME IN INTERNATIONAL 5--3

TORONTO, July 7.—In a game marked by disputes between Umpire Moran and the players, particularly the Leafs, Toronto today defeated Jersey City by 5 to 3.

When Blackburne slid home in the sixth inning he spiked Catcher Hyde, and the latter retired from the game. The score:

WINGHAM BEATS TEESWATER

Wingham, July 8.—Wingham Wednesday defeated Teeswater 16 to 10 in a rather loose game of baseball. Rain fell all during the game and made good play impossible. Wingham made a sensational rally in the fifth and sixth innings, and scored 12 runs. At the end of the fourth inning Teeswater led 8 to 1. Teeswater displayed very poor sportsmanship when they left the field at the beginning of the sixth. They wanted new balls, although a ball could not be kept dry. The incident gave Teeswater a black mark inasmuch as Wingham got new balls and scored 8 runs in the next inning. Wingham now leads Group 3 of the North Wellington League.

STAGE BIG FIGHT AT CONEY ISLAND LATEST

New York, July 8.—Coney Island, New York's playground, was added today to the list of possible battlegrounds for the prospective Dempsey-Carpentier heavyweight championship boxing match when the managers of the two pugilists met here to discuss terms for a bout.

An unnamed promoter is said to have authorized Charles J. Harvey, former secretary of the boxing commission, to offer $500,000 for the privilege of staging the championship contest at the famous amusement park.

Thanksgiving Day was the date discussed at the conference.

CREWS OF RACING YACHTS MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME

New York, July 8.—The crews of the Resolute and Shamrock IV, who soon are to compete for the America's Cup, met for the first time last night on the Brooklyn drydock during an entertainment given in their honor by the 5,000 employees of the Morse Drydock and Repair Company. The sailors mingled with the vast crowd of employees, smoking their pipes and exchanging stories.

Sir Thomas Lipton, who did not appear at the entertainment, was hailed in an address by one of the dock executives as the "King of Sports."

TWO TORONTO FOURS ARE LEFT IN FINALS OF O. B. A. TOURNEY

Sir John Willison of Canadas and Hutchinson of Beaches—Rain Delays.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, July 7.—The trophy finals in the Ontario Bowling Association tournament here will be played tomorrow afternoon between Sir John Willison's Canada rink and A. E. Hutchinson's Balmy Beach rink. In the semi-finals this afternoon Willison defeated A. M. Ecclestone, St. Catharines, and A. E. Hutchinson of Balmy Beach got the decision over J. U. Conners, Long Branch rink. Both semi-final games were started this morning in the rain with the score: Willison, 3; Ecclestone, 0; Connor, 5, and Hutchinson 1.

Rain fell all morning and held back the tournament seriously. It had been planned to pay the trophy finals this afternoon, but they will be played tomorrow afternoon at 2. It is possible the association final will also be played tomorrow afternoon.

The doubles commenced tonight after dinner. There are over 80 entries.

There was a sensational episode on the green this afternoon, when a soldier bowler, Trooper W. Hart, who was playing with Davisville Hospital rink, suddenly, in the excitement of the game, recovered his speech. He was gassed in the war two years ago, while fighting with an Imperial unit, and came to Davisville Hospital almost speechless. He could only speak with a bad stammer. He suddenly found himself fluently talking this afternoon.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., July 8.—Weather conditions were just about ideal this morning for the O. B. A. tournament. This morning play in the doubles commenced. The singles will be played tomorrow.

A. M. Ecclestone, St. Catharines, defeated J. A. Connor, Long Branch, in sensational fashion this morning in the Association fifth round. At the second last end both rinks were tied. Connor laid a shot on top of the jack, and it looked like a safe point for Long Branch. Ecclestone, with his last bowl came down with a perfect shot, driving out one of his own front bowls. Then Connor shot a bowl, putting it out and counting four for St. Catharines. At the last end Eccleston by a marvelous shot, trailed the jack when Connor was lying three out, and got the shot himself. He won 16 to 11.

VOLTAGE CAPTURES FASIG AT CLEVELAND

2:18 Trot and 2:14 Pace Were Postponed Until Today.

NORTH RANDALL, Cleveland, Ohio, July 7.—Voltage, owned by J. D. Welsh, Kansas City, Mo., and driven by Fred Egan, Memphis, Tenn., won the Fasig sweepstakes, a purse of $2,000, the feature event of today's grand circuit racing. The Prince Volo colt took the event from five great juvenile trotters in straight heats. Worthy Etawah went lame while scoring and was withdrawn.

Voltage led from the start in the first heat and had enough in reserve to withstand Great Britton's belated stretch sprint. Natalie the Great and Day Star, coupled in the betting and heavy favorites, were never prominent in the first heat.

Egan laid back with Voltage in the second heat, letting Day Star set the pace to the stretch, where Voltage passed him and in a fierce drive won by a length, with Great Britton almost overtaking Day Star for second place. The time, 2:11¾, for this mile, was remarkable, considering the heavy track, which was due to continued rains.

The 2:18 class trot and 2:14 class pace had to be postponed until tomorrow. The program will not be completed until Saturday.

BABE RUTH SLIGHTLY HURT AS HE RUNS CAR IN DITCH

Philadelphia, July 7.—"Babe" Ruth, champion home run hitter, of the New York American League baseball team, was slightly injured in an automobile accident near Wawa, Pa., early today.

The New York team played in Washington yesterday, and Ruth, his wife and three other New York players were motoring to New York. Their team was not scheduled to play today.

Ruth was at the wheel of his big touring car. In rounding a sharp curve near Wawa, the car overturned. $

The occupants were thrown out in a lonely section at 2 a.m. Making their way to a farmhouse, they had their injuries dressed and were brought to Philadelphia in another motor car. Later they took a train for New York.

The Ruth car was badly smashed. It was hauled to a garage in Media, Pa., not far from the scene of the accident.

"Sell it for what you can got for it," Ruth is said to have told the proprietor, "I'm through with it."

NEW HAY PLENTIFUL AND PRICE IS DOWN FIVE DOLLARS A TON

Raspberries Offered in Small Lots At Forty-Five Cents.

The largest Thursday market of the year was held today. Many price changes were recorded. Red and black currants were added to the fruit list.

Hay was the feature this morning. Many of the farmers are now bringing in their old hay to make way for the new, which is expected to be a bumper crop. Prices ranged from $30 to $35 a ton. Several loads of new hay were offered at $25 to $28 a ton.

Strawberries were not very plentiful. The wholesale price jumped from 16c and 18c a box to 20c and 22c a box. The retail quotation is from 24c to 26c a box. Many of the berries are now of inferior grade and are very small.

Raspberries were offered in small quantities. Prices were high, but those sold were of the superior quality, and brought 43c a box wholesale and 45c retail.

Red and black currants were plentiful. Red ones wholesaled at 15c a box, and sold retail at 18c a box. Black ones brought 18c a box wholesale and 20c retail. Currants are in good demand.

Several baskets of cherries were offered. The price by the quart was 20c. Those in boxes took a drop of 5c. They now sell at 15c. The officials of the market stated that it takes two of the regular boxes to make an imperial quart.

Old potatoes were lower and sold wholesale from $5 to $5.50 a bag. New ones are coming in, and the sale of old ones is expected to be over in a couple of weeks' time.

The price of carrots dropped 15c a dozen. On Tuesday and Wednesday they sold from 50c to 75c a dozen. Today they were plentiful at 50c to 60c.

Shelled peas were down 10c and sold at from 40c to 50c a quart.

Butter and eggs are firm and in good demand.

Hogs and fat sows remain unchanged in price from Wednesday. Both are in good demand.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, July 8.—July oats opened 1c lower at $1 20; October ½c to ⅜c down at 92⅝@92¾c, and December 1c lower at 85⅛c.

Barley opened ½c lower at $1 23½.

October flax opened 3c down at $3 75.

Chicago, July 8.—Opening: Corn—September, $1 58; December, $1 43¼.

Oats—September, 79½c; December, 76⅝c.

Chicago, July 8.—Heavy liquidation on the part of holders led to a sharp break today in the price of corn. The pressure to sell was attributed to the good crop outlook for all grain, as well as to liberal receipts and to predictions of a heavy further movement before railroad facilities are devoted to wheat. Little power to rally was shown by corn. Opening quotations, which varied from ⅜c to 3¼c down, were followed by moderate further losses and then by a slight reaction.

Oats reflected the weakness of corn. After opening ¼c to ⅜c to 1c lower, the market continued to descend.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, July 8.—Trading on the Toronto stock exchange this morning embraced a greater number of issues, but with the exception of Canada Bread, which made one of its periodical spurts, the list showed no marked changes. Canada Bread opened at 25, a fractional gain over last night's close. Heavy buying ensued, and the price was run up 3 points. Profit-taking brought about a slight recession just before noon. Quebec Railway moved between 36 and 35, while liquidation in General Electric resulted in the loss of a large fraction. Mackay and Steamships preferred were firm. Atlantic Sugar preferred gained 3½ points at 159½. In the investment issues, Bank of Hamilton continued its precipitate decline, closing at noon at 174⅞. This represents a break of 17⅛ points since the recent high of 192.

In the unlisted section, Abitibi recovered a point lost in yesterday afternoon's trading. Brompton was about steady.

CARD CATALOGUE WORKED OUT ON DICTIONARY PLAN

Simple System Solves What Ordinarily Would Be a Big Job.

Those who use the card catalogue at the public library and its branches to find titles or authors of books often remark on the fact that a very large number of the cards are printed and not type-written and wonder how the library secures these printed cards which are so complete in all their information about even the most unusual books. They are told that these are secured from the library of congress at Washington and represent one of the fine co-operative enterprises of that great library.

The library of congress receives, by statute, a copy of every book that is published in the United States. By purchase it secures everything of any value that is published in Great Britain and other European countries and in Canada and other countries in this hemisphere. As soon as a book is received at the library of congress expert cataloguers prepare a card for it, which is then printed in quantities and sold by the library of congress at as low a price as the blank cards sold by wholesale stationers and the amount of time saved to libraries in their cataloguing departments is immense, the whole time required for typing the cards being eliminated save for placing on the printed card the special number that designates its place in the individual library.

Merely Sends Numbers.

The process of ordering these cards is of some interest. Instead of sending a long list of authors and titles the public library in most cases merely sends numbers, each number corresponding to the title of a book and these numbers being secured from the issues of the United States catalogue. For British publications that are not reprinted in the United States a small slip is filled out with the author, title, place and date of publication. For each book an average of four or five cards are received, though the number is sometimes much greater, depending upon the number of special subjects that are dealt with.

The card catalogue of all public libraries today is worked out on the dictionary plan. Charles Dickens' Nicholas Nickelby may be found in two ways, in the drawer labeled "N," under Nicholas Nickelby and in the drawer "D" under Dickens. In addition to author and title cards of this kind there are also subject cards.

How It Works.

"Under the subject heading, "French Revolution," for example, will be found in alphabetical order, cards for all the books that are in the library dealing with that subject. If in a book apparently dealing with quite another subject there were found material that bbre distinctly on the French Revolution a card would be made for this too and inserted under that subject heading. The result of this is that as the catalogue grows, readers are being brought to more and more material dealing with the subjects in which they are interested. There are, for example, thirty individual cards under the heading, "French Revolution" in the London Public Library at the present time, some of these referring to sets of two and three volumes.

The method of classification and cataloguing at the Western University Library is exactly the same as in the public library, so that the students who in public and high school become acquainted with the methods in use find themselves right at home in using the catalogue at the university. The youngsters who use the children's room at the public library lose no time in investigating the mysteries of the catalogue there, and learn its possibilities for locating the books they want in an amazingly short time.

BEWARE OF TENDER GUMS

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

GERMAN PLAN FOR REDUCING ARMY IS NOT SATISFACTORY

Berlin Asks Progressive Cutting Down For Fifteen Months —Danger of Rupture Believed Removed, Though German Says Crisis Not Passed.

SPA, Belgium, July 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German plan for progressive demobilization to 100,000 men in fifteen months was presented to the representatives of the allied governments here this afternoon, and was declared unsatisfactory to the Allies, the Associated Press is informed by a prominent member of the conference. It will be examined seriously, however, and acted upon after the experts report tomorrow.

The impression in allied circles tonight is far more favorable than yesterday, the presentation of the German plan opening the way for discussion and removing the danger of a rupture. Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister, gave it as his opinion that the crisis had not yet been passed. The only moment when there was any bitterness shown at this afternoon's session was when Premier Lloyd George said rather impatiently: "You only have to make a law to reduce your army, and execute it."

Unable To Enforce.

To this Simons replied: "I wish to remind the honorable gentleman that there are parts of the British Empire in which there are laws concerning the keeping of arms by subjects which the British Empire is unable to enforce."

The allied demand is for immediate destruction of 12,000 cannon, which the allied commissioners in Germany have under guard, together with 50,000 machine guns. Germany desires to destroy the guns at the rate of 1,000 a month. The Allies hold that this is not sufficiently rapid, and express fear that the machine guns will fall into the hands of insurrectionists.

The military experts of both Germany and the Allies began an examination of the German plan immediately after adjournment of the conference at 7 o'clock this evening. Immediately after the conference Premier Millerand declared to the correspondent it was most essential that there be complete accord between the Allies, and that Germany had found that accord existed. The first evidence of this, the French premier said, was when the Allies declined to discuss disarmament in the absence of responsible German authorities.

Asked To Fix Date.

"Then when asked to fix a date for disarmament," said M. Millerand, "they found the Allies united and consented to present a plan for demobilization on a definite date. This made it possible for the conference to go on."

The French premier added that he had a good impression of the progress of the conference. The Danzig question, he said, would no doubt be discussed with Germany, as Germany was no longer concerned with it. Speaking of the coming financial conference in Brussels under the auspices of the league of nations, M. Millerand said it would take place on the date originally fixed.

VON SEECHT'S NOTE.

SPA, July 7.—The official communique issued after the session of the conference today says that General Von Seecht, German chief of staff, submitted a detailed note on Germany's position regarding war material and asked for a delay of fifteen months to comply with the treaty requirements.

Premier Lloyd George, in behalf of the Allies, declared this impossible since it was known that thousands of guns, machine guns and rifles were in the hands of the German population and a million men were under arms under various pretexts.

The communique says that the experts would meet tonight to verify General Von Seecht's figures, and that the Allies would announce their final decision tomorrow.

The German minister of defence, Herr Gessler, during a recess of the conference said to the German newspapermen:

"If we are compelled to disarm, then it must be done. But we will not be responsible for internal order in Germany."

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN SUCCEEDS SIR ROBERT BORDEN AS PREMIER; ROWELL AND BURRELL QUIT POSTS

White Had No Desire For Brief Job, So Meighen Got It.

FULL OF DISSENSIONS

Resignation Should Mean An Election, But Not With Present Regime.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 7.—Canada has a new premier and the reconstituted Conservative party a new head. Sir Robert Borden has retired at the age of 66, and Hon. Arthur Meighen has succeeded him at the age of 45. The selection was made after Sir Thomas White, ex-minister of finance, had declined to take the position, even in the face of strong pressure from the premier and from the majority of the cabinet. Sir Thomas has no stomach for such a job, and realizes that at best it will be but temporary in any case. He left the privy council office with a happy smile at all, and the cheeriness of his face and manner was in marked contrast to the sombre and grim expression worn by the man who had accepted.

Hon. Arthur Meighen is premier and leader. But he is premier in a cabinet, the majority of which was opposed to his selection, and several of whom will resign as a consequence of his appointment. He is leader, but of a party badly shattered, and full of dissensions, a motley aggregation hanging together for purposes only of self-preservation, and with but little support in the country. He is a young man full of energy, but the task ahead of him is the heaviest which he has yet tackled.

If There Are Defections.

If there are defections in his cabinet—and there are almost certain to be—he will be faced with the necessity of holding by-elections for the purpose of electing new ministers, and there are few safe seats for his followers in the country. If he desires to reconstruct, and then go to the people, he will come back, if he does come back, not as premier, but as leader of an Opposition group. There is little wonder, under the circumstances, that Sir Thomas White politely declined such a very doubtful and transitory honor.

There were comings and goings round the privy council all day and all evening. Motors drove through the rain to the east block and deposited their burdens of anxious individuals. Instructions were given to the secret service men to keep newspapermen out of the privy council corridor, so that the comings and goings might be concealed. Ministers came and went with gloomy faces. The new premier went back and forth with deep and sombre expression. Cabinet ministers caucused apart in whispers. In fact the whole business had something of the appearance of a death chamber scene. Only one cheery face was seen, and that was of the man who had rejected the job, though it was handed to him as it were in a silver salver.

Caused Great Bitterness.

The fact that he was offered it first has caused great bitterness in the camp of the new premier's partisans. They blame the cabinet ministers for "not playing the game." There are dark whispers of summary decapitations, when the new premier gets his stride. With the resignation of Sir Robert, all of the cabinet automatically resigns. With this government, that doesn't mean an election, though this government has absolutely no mandate from the people. Those whom the new premier desires to keep will be reinstated by means of the "double shuffle." Some, it is said, will not be reinstated at all. That is if the irate partisans of Mr. Meighen have their way. The trouble, however, would appear to be that there may be so many voluntary resignations that Premier Meighen will not be able to afford to lose any more. At this time of writing no official statement has been given out, but it is expected that the announcement of the appointment of Mr. Meighen will be accompanied by notice that certain of his colleagues have retired.

Is Youngest Man.

The new premier is the youngest man who has ever held the reins of power in the federal field. He is a hard worker, an able debater, and has become known in the country because of his part in sponsoring Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk legislation, the closure act, the Government's nefarious war-time election measures and other legislative tid-bits. He is a lawyer, and a bachelor of arts in mathematics. He is a Presbyterian by faith, and a straight Conservative and protectionist by political leanings.

BORDEN WILL HAND IN HIS RESIGNATION ON SATURDAY NEXT

OTTAWA, July 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—The resignation of Sir Robert Borden as prime minister will take effect on Saturday. He will be succeeded by Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior, who has undertaken the formation of a new administration. Official announcement to this effect was issued from Government House at 11 o'clock tonight. The announcement reads:

"The formal resignation of Sir Robert Borden will be tendered to His Excellency the Governor-General on Saturday next, the tenth instant, and will be accepted by his excellency with great regret. His excellency has intrusted to Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior, the formation of a new administration, and Mr. Meighen has undertaken that duty."

Two Retirements.

There are to be two retirements from the cabinet. Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the privy council, is retiring to private practice; Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of customs, is to become librarian of Parliament. The two retirements, it is said, are not due to the change of leadership. Mr. Burrell has for some time expressed a desire to return to private life. Mr. Rowell's resignation is based on the point that a new party being created, and an administration formed to represent that party, he is entitled to ask "an honorable discharge."

The position which Mr. Rowell takes is outlined in the following official statement, also issued tonight:

Rowell's Position.

"About four months ago Mr. Rowell announced to the prime minister that at the close of the recent session he would retire from the Government. This announcement was communicated to caucus on Thursday last, but at the urgent and insistent request of the Liberal-Unionists in Parliament, and of the entire caucus, Mr. Rowell promised to consult with his friends in Ontario and communicate his decision to the prime minister as soon as possible. Mr. Rowell has informed the prime minister that, after such consultation, and after having given further and full consideration to the subject, he finds himself unable to reach any conclusion other than that communicated to Sir Robert Borden some four months ago and given to caucus on Thursday last. That conclusion was as follows:

"That when a decision should be reached that the work of Union Government as such was finished, and that a new departure should be made by the creation of a new party and the formation of an administration to represent that party, he might fairly ask an honorable discharge. Mr. Rowell, will, therefore, retire from the Government when the prime minister's resignation takes effect."

"Undivided Support."

So far as the remaining members of the cabinet are concerned, it was said on good authority tonight, they will give their "undivided support" to the new prime minister. In the formation of his cabinet, therefore, Mr. Meighen will have but two retirements to meet—those of Mr. Rowell and Mr. Burrill, with the addition, of course, of that of Sir Robert, whose resignation will leave the Maritime Provinces without a representative in the cabinet.

Mr. Meighen himself possibly will assume the portfolio of president of the privy council relinquished by Mr. Rowell. In that event it is likely that the department of the interior, over which he now presides, would be merged with that of immigration and colonization.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Burrill, it is thought, is likely to be filled by the appointment either of F. R. Green, member for Kootenay West, or of H. H. Stevens, Vancouver Centre. As a representative from Nova Scotia, the name of F. B. McCurdy of Halifax has been suggested. Should either of these latter appointments be made, a by-election would be necessary. Although all members of the cabinet technically resign when Sir Robert hands in his formal resignation, they will not require to be re-elected on accepting office in the new administration.

Meighen Is Silent.

Interviewed by the Canadian Press tonight, Hon. Arthur Meighen declined to make any statement at the present moment. This, he pointed out, would not be altogether in place until Saturday. The news spread like wildfire locally, and the coming premier was besieged with congratulations.

Before leaving his office late tonight, Sir Robert Borden received the members of the parliamentary press gallery. Upon being informed by the pressmen that his impending departure was a matter of sincere regret to them, Sir Robert replied that he was, indeed, glad to think that his relations with the gallery men had always been of the most cordial, and he bespoke the same co-operation and support for his successor.

POLICE FIND ERRANT GROOM; WEDDING IS CELEBRATED IN CELLS

Happy Couple Given Honeymoon Trip in Police Car.

KITCHENER, July 7.—To be married in police cells was the unique experience of a young couple today as a result of the groom getting cold feet at the last minute, when everything was arranged for the ceremony at the girl's home.

When the prospective groom failed to show up the parents of the girl enlisted the aid of the police in a search for the young man, and the missing husband-elect was found in a local restaurant, where he is assistant cook, and was taken to police headquarters, where the ceremony was performed in the cell-room.

The chief later took the couple for a honeymoon trip around the city in the police car before depositing them at their future home, the residence of the girl's parents.

DOPE FIEND ASKS FOR 30 DAYS, GETS SIX MONTHS

BRANTFORD, July 7.—Bert Brown, an itinerant dope fiend, pleaded guilty in the police court here this morning to vagrancy and asked for 30 days. Acting Magistrate J. H. Spence thought that six months would be more beneficial and gave him that sentence.

There arrived here today 21 bonnie Scotch lassies for work in a local mill. On the same boat, the Metagama, there came over 40 girls for work in a mill at Galt.

Work on the new G. W. V. A. home on Colborne street was commenced today. The home will contain all department, the property of D. Taylor having been purchased at a figure around $25,000.

W. F. Mills, Burford, was successful today in a suit in the county court against B. Vanvalkenburg in a claim for timber rights. J. E. Brethour of Burford also won from Hayward Malcolm, both cases being boundary disputes. Judge Hardy cut down the claims in each case.

The Bank of Toronto, Laing's and D. W. Moore's properties at the corner of Queen and Colborne streets, have been purchased through S. C. Rad & Sons for the L. R. Steel Chain Stores Corporation of Buffalo. The company intends tearing away the present buildings and building a huge store on the site.

Girls! Have Beautiful Hair Like This

Lustrous Hair—Soft—Fluffy and Abundant—Easily Attained by Wonderful Beautifier That Thousands Praise.

Women Delighted—All Surprised by Quick Action of Parisian Sage.

Really beautiful hair, possessing a witchery all its own is the wish of every woman. No uncared-for hair can be beautiful. Unkempt, tousely locks, powdered with dandruff, are a repulsive sight.

Hair so attractive that it fascinates and compels admiration is a matter of care.

If your hair is dandruffy, faded, dry, streaked and scraggly—falls out badly and new hair does not grow, the roots must be vitalized and properly nourished. To do this quickly, safely, and at little expense, get from your druggist some Parisian sage (liquid form) for home use.

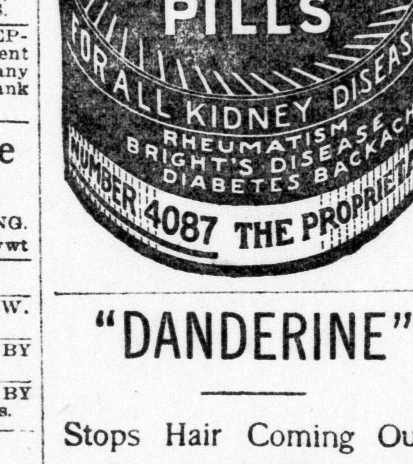

This is guaranteed to quickly banish all dandruff, check falling hair, stop itching of the scalp, and promote a new growth and beautify it, or money refunded. It's in great demand by women who always "look their best," because it makes the hair so soft, lustrous, easy to arrange attractively, and appear much heavier than it really is.

If you want a fresh, clean, healthy scalp, and plenty of thick, lustrous, good-looking hair, don't delay—start using Parisian sage now—tonight. A large bottle is inexpensive, and costs you nothing if not satisfactory.

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture.)

Hairs can be easily banished from the under-arms, neck and face by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface, and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.—Advt.

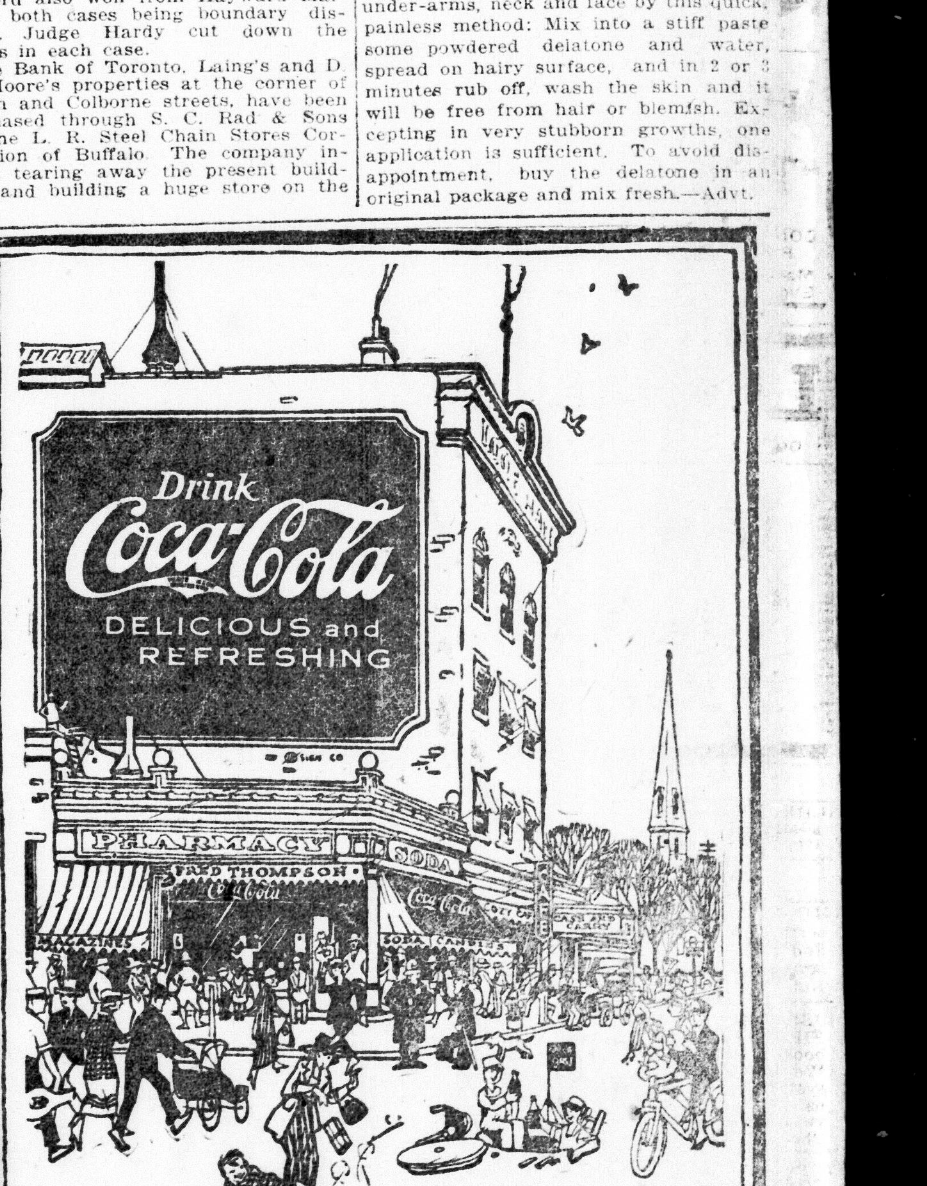

"DANDERINE"

Stops Hair Coming Out; Doubles Its Beauty.

A few cents buys "Danderine." After an application of "Danderine" you can not find a fallen hair or any dandruff, besides every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and thickness.

At The Theaters

At the Patricia, "The Joyous Liar" is J. W. Kerrigan's latest. J. Warren Kerrigan comes to the Patricia beginning Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in "The Joyous Liar," his newest Robert Brunton picture released by Hodkinson.

The hero is a wealthy artist ,who is arrested for an alleged attempt to steal the heroine's car, resulting from his having in reality saved it from the thieves. The girl's father, Warren, is an amateur criminologist.

Burke Harlan, the hero, could easily prove his identity, but when he is offered a chance to "reform" by becoming the patient of Warren, he accepts the offer in a spirit of mischief. The girl does not know that he is a "criminal," and, of course, complications arise there. Harlan tells bloodcurdling tales of his past crimes for the delectation of the criminologist, and to make matters worse, Harlan falls in love with the daughter.

MADGE KENNEDY IN "ROMANCE OF BAKESHOP," HEADS ALLEN'S DOUBLE PROGRAM.

A doughnut queen with a "do not" look in her eye; a chorus girl who wouldn't play the game as other girls did; an amateur business lady with a pauper's pocketbook; in love with a baker who is all heart, and loved by a Broadway rounder, who is speed and pep itself. A rollicking sympathetic up-to-the-second story of an ambitious American girl. That is "Dollars and Sense," the picture which heads the double program at the Allen today, tomorrow and Saturday. Special musical offerings, interesting news pictures, and beautiful scenic films, all in the coolest spot in London, where you forget the heat, and sit in luxurious comfort, to excellent entertainment—The Allen today, tomorrow and Saturday.

"THE CONFESSION" AT THE GRAND THIS WEEK.

Marvelous, inspiring, pathetic, wonderful; the greatest photodrama of the century, such is "The Confession," starring Henry B. Walthall and all-star cast, showing at the Grand all this week, daily at 2:15, 7 and 9. If you are fond of the bigger and better things in the silent drama it will be well worth your time paying a visit to the Grand today, tomorrow or Saturday.

The musical program accompanying the picture is one of the outstanding features of the performance.

Added features on the program include a Snub Pollard comedy; the Pathe British-Canadian News, and the Pathe Review. Remember: There are only three more days in which to see "The Confession."

AT LOEW'S.

Enid Bennett, in the role of a girl-crook, who is induced to turn straight by the man she loves, is the star in "The False Road," which will be the screen attraction at Loew's Theatre for the next three days. The story, which is by Gardner Sullivan is filled with excitement and thrills as well as a tender love tale.

Lloyd Hughes is the leading man and an excellent supporting cast will be seen with Miss Bennett. The vaudeville is good, each and every act will provide enjoyment for Loew fans. The comic and pictorial are of the enjoyable brand. All in all, a tidy program for the last part of the week. 57u

T. AND L. COUNCIL TO ASSIST HODCARRIERS BY FINANCIAL MEANS

Pledge Is Taken Back To All Local Unions by Delegates.

LABOR TEMPLE LEASED

William Tite, New Secretary —Succeeds Harry Wheatcroft, Who Leaves City.

At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council held Wednesday night the sum of $50 was voted to local hod-carriers and laborers, who are on strike for higher wages, and every delegate present will take back to his local union a pledge to support financially the men in their demands. The majority of the locals will either grant a stated sum to the strikers weekly or place a levy on each member for this purpose. Financial assistance has been also promised the local hod-carriers by out-of-town unions.

Organizer Wray, addressing the council last night, outlined the situation, stating that it is alleged that members of the Builders' Exchange here had each guaranteed a $1,000 bond to be forfeited if they yield to the strikers' demands. He stated that 60 per cent of the strikers are returned soldiers who fought in France, and that the average weekly wage of the men for a year, owing to lost time due to the weather, under the demanded scale would be $20 per week.

It was announced at the meeting last night that the directors of the council have leased the premises formerly occupied by the Griffith Handley Shoe Company on Dundas street for two years to be used as a labor temple. All local unions will meet in this building, which will be occupied in about one week. In addition to three meeting and committee rooms, lounge rooms for members will be included in the new quarters. The directors have incorporated the Labor Temple, Limited, receiving a government charter capitalized at $100,000. Shares limited to each person will be sold at $1 each to be utilized in building a permanent labor temple here upon expiration of the lease.

It was also announced that the American Amalgamated Tin, Iron and Steel Workers have organized here with a strength of about 40 members, while the female workers on bookbinding in the city are desirous of forming a union at once. Practically every local, excepting the hodcarriers' reported conditions as good.

The committee working on preparations for the Labor Day celebration in London reported that excellent progress has been made, indications pointing to a bumper program here for the occasion. The council has arranged with the "World in One" shows to come here on the week of August 1, and to be staged at Queen's Park, the council receiving a guarantee of $1,000 for the week as its portion of the proceeds.

Owing to the fact that Harry Wheatcroft, secretary of the trades and labor council, has left the city, the meeting last night elected William Tite to act in that capacity for the current year.

The council went on record to urge the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission to install more drinking fountains at Port Stanley for public convenience, and also to remedy certain sanitary conditions at the lakeside resort.

The next meeting of the council will be held in the new labor temple.

Gustavus Adolphus Needed Spectacles
He lost his life for want of spectacles. On a November morning in 1632 he mistook enemy troops for his own, because he couldn't see better. Modern research has discovered that he was a myope (meaning near-sighted). No one then knew what a myope was, or that he was one.
It would have done him no good had anyone known, because glasses were still unknown, except in China. Everything that has been learned about them since then is available to you at the Brown Optical Company, five minutes from anywhere downtown, and in Montreal and Windsor.

CARS RUN AS USUAL ON COMING SUNDAY

Order For Later Start Not Sanctioned by Board Yet.

Although the proposal to commence Sunday car service two hours later than at present will be considered by the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, no change will be made in the service next Sunday. This was the effect of a statement given out by A. B. Ingram, vice-chairman of the board, before leaving the city Wednesday. He will take up the matter with the other members of the board in Toronto.

Mr. Ingram pointed out that Hamilton, with a population of 100,000, commences its Sunday car service at 10 o'clock, and the arrangement appears to be quite satisfactory.

Mr. Ingram stated also that a satisfactory adjustment of free transportation for waterworks department employees has been agreed upon with E. V. Buchanan, general manager for the public utilities commission, and also in regard to other civic officials. In conference with representatives of the employees Mr. Ingram stated he found everything to be working quite satisfactorily as between the company and the men.

MUNCEY YOUTH SENT FOR TRIAL BY SQUIRE ON CHARGE OF RAPE

Irving Albert, Sixteen Years Old, May Plead Today—Bail Refused.

Irving Albert, a Muncey Indian youth, appeared before Squire W. H. Chittick in the county court here Wednesday afternoon and was committed for trial on a charge of rape. His alleged victim is a 15-year-old crippled Indian girl residing at Muncey. The girl informed the court that on Sunday, June 20, she was picking strawberries at an isolated spot near her home about 3 p.m., when accused came up and asked her what she was doing. He then seized her, throwing her to the ground violently, and committed the offence. He urged her not to tell anyone of the affair. She swore that she screamed for help, but he held his hand over her mouth, frustrating her purpose.

The victim's mother swore that her daughter came home weeping, and told her of the assault. She was injured and was bleeding profusely from cuts inflicted by her assailant. She took her daughter to a doctor, and then laid information against Albert. Dr. Dewar of Melbourne, in the witness box, stated that the girl was injured when examined by him, and that the injuries could have been caused in the manner charged.

Other witnesses present at the victim's home when she returned corroborated her mother. The girl's clothing was produced in court as evidence for the crown. There was considerable difficulty in eliciting evidence from the witnesses, all of whom were Indians, and in some cases, including the testimony of the complainant, the services of an interpreter were essential. The hearing was lengthy, the case dragging throughout the entire afternoon.

Albert, who is about 16 years of age, did not realize the seriousness of his commitment, often laughing aloud at the embarrassment of some of the female witnesses, and making grimaces at members of his family, who were seated in the court room. A. G. Chisholm defended him. The prisoner was not allowed bail by the court. He will be brought before County Judge Talbot Macbeth to elect trial and to enter a ple probably tomorrow. E. T. Essery, K. C. represented the victim's family at the hearing.
