GAMEY CONCLUDES.

After Over Thirteen Hours in the Witness Box,

PARTLY CORROBORATED.

A GLOBE REPORTER'S EVI-INTERVIEW-MR. CROSSIN OF THE PIANO FACTORY SAW MR. GAMEY DEPOSIT

Toronto, April 16.-There was trouble in the air when the Gamey investigation was resumed yesterday morning. Mr. Gamey showed some signs of the strain, mental and physical, of two days in the witness This and the persistent efforts of Mr. Johnston to make a break in his story of conspiracy to overthrow the Government evidently irritated him.

Mr. Johnston did go ahead, and the witness became more and more irritated, until the court was compelled to interfere. This climax arose over his course last autumn. He said that he was in the habit of telling Liberals that he would support the Ross Government, and the Conservatives that he would oppose it. Mr. Johnston wanted to know how these positions could be reconciled, and the examination turned to personalities. Chancellor Boyd asked Mr. Johnston to desist from these remarks, but Mr. Gamey kept on talking, and the Chancellor was finally heard :-

"Now, listen to me, witness. You must remember that you are in a court of justice. You have been asked on several occasions to keep quiet when the court is making a remark. You would make certain statements on certain occasions according to the conditions —, A.—Yes. I have answered it half a dozen times already, my Lord, and he keeps asking me ---

Go Ahead, My Lord.

The Chancellor-You assent to what I say before you hear what I have to Don't be so rash. A.-Go ahead, my Lord.

The Chancellor-I do not want to go ahead. I will not go any fur-

The Chancellor's remarks thus turned to a rebuke for Mr. Gamey. Chief Justice Falconbridge remarked that the witness did not feel inclined to allow the court to expostulate. Chancellor Boyd added that he thought much of this evidence was intended for newspapers, and he thought that the newspapers were interfering

"Go ahead, my Lord," was a shock to court customs, but Mr. Gamey explained to Mr. Blake towards the close that this was his first experience in a witness box.

A Squeaky Door Interrupts.

But Mr. Gamey was not the only on in court who was hot. The attendance was larger than usual, and the atmosphere was decidedly close. The lawyers grouped around the centre of the room probably felt it more than others, and Mr. Blake once suggested that there might be more ventilation A squeaky door added to the general irritation in the afternoon, and the Judges called upon the officials to keep it closed, but this they were unable to do, for the witnesses kept strolling in and could not be excluded. Blake then suggested that a subscription for a bottle of oil might be raised.

The effort to break the force of Mr. Gamey's story was followed with the deepest interest. Among those present during the day were Messrs. A G. MacKay, M.P.P., R. L. Joxnt, M. P.P., J. W. St. John, M.P.P., John Dickenson, M.P.P., T. H. Preston, M. P.P., Rev. Dr. Dewart and Dean Egan of Barrie. The examination of Mr. Gamey was completed at 2.30. He had been on the stand about two and a half days-to be precise, thirteen and a quarter hours. Among the witnesses for to-day are Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, at whose office Messrs. Gamey and Sullivan called one day, and Miss Dobson, postmistress at Yorkville, where certain unsigned letters, addressed to Mr. Gamey, were registered. To return to Mr. Gamey's evi-

FEATURES OF YESTERDAY'S DEVELOPMENTS Would like to have it signed. To Mr. Johnston the witness said that in his experience he found that some public men preferred to prepare their own interviews whenever the matter was important, and there was nothing unusual in this respect about the interview. ***** STRIKING FEATURES OF

The story of a Globe reporter with al document being returned to him aftoulin, which the Government organ same or explain what he has done course of the alleged plot, was one of the strong developments in the insists he received the cash bribe at Gamey-Stratton bribery yesterday. Gamey publicly to support the Government. The reporter saw a draft tive link in the chief witness' story.

Mr. Stratton insisted on the origin-

Stratton was in or not at nest, mough questioned very closely, or whether he came, in a few minutes later. "And that is all the answer you will get," added the witness. Similar answers were made with regard to the conversation with Mr. Stratton, mostly about licenses, but all very indefinite. Finally Mr. Stratton gave him a type-written interview which he wanted signed. He said he would not sign it as it was, but would take it away, make alterations and come back. Frank Sullivan was present all the time, and they went out together. He had some business in another department, and met Frank Sullivan later at the Walker. He saw Mr. McGregor there, and returned alone to the buildings about 6 o'clock and saw Doherty in the Public Works Department. Sullivan came and said they were ready in Mr. Stratton's office. He could not remember where this remark was made or what were the exact words.

They entered by Mr. Stratton's private door. Mr. Stratton was sitting at his desk, and having read the interview, said it would do. They then discussed the money payment, and Mr. Stratton said that if he would give the interview.

Stratton said that if he would give the interview to The Globe reporter in the next room he would arrange the money. There was a further sum to be paid after the first vote in the House. Mr. Stratton did not mention any sum, but Frank Sullivan said in the afternoon that it would be $1,000. He went to the next room and gave The Globe reporter the interview he had signed, in the presence of Mr. Myers. He repeated the story that he afterwards met Mr. Stratton, who said he had given Frank the money, mentioning the denominations.

Mr. Stratton distinctly told him he would get another $1,000 after the first vote. This is a new statement by Mr. Gamey, but he could not explain why he had never mentioned it before, either in his statement to the House or to Mr. Blake in direct examination. But he was positive that Mr. Stratton said so. He went to the Princess Theatre that night with Mr. McGregor, but did not show him his half of the $1,000 or tell him about it, although they discussed the deal. He could not explain why he did not show it, although he claimed that Mr. McGregor knew about the plot to catch the Government. His only reply was that he had no opportunity of showing it, though they went out for a smoke between the acts.

His Seat in the House.

On March of he went to the House to see about his seat, and met Frank Sullivan. At his suggestion, they slipped into a side room to escape a Mail reporter, for he did not wish to be seen with Sullivan. They afterwards saw about the seat, but did not speak about that money transaction. They spoke about future timber and fishery deals, and it was then he made the arrangement to meet at the Crossin hishery deals, and it was then he made the arrangement to meet at the Crossin piano factory to discuss their affairs the following evening. He assigned as a reason that he thought it better not to be seen together in public, and Sullivan agreed.

In the Piano Factory.

He arranged with Will Price, Percy Price and Kinney, law students, to be present in hiding to overhear what Sullivan might say. In order to explain the arrangement of the pianos, which concealed them, and to show the position of the doors, chairs and tables, he drew a sketch of the room, which was filed as another exhibit. He met Sullivan at the door and went upstairs together. Sullivan was there about three-quarters of an hour talking with him about deals past and future. They first spoke about their relations to Stratton and Whitney, and whether the Government needed his support. Sullivan said the Government needed him then as badly as at any other time, spoke of Evanturel, and said several members were sick. In reply to his question, Sullivan said Stratton was very uneasy and wanted to see him very often about it. In fact, Sullivan said he had gone there almost daily and had no trouble getting into the office. He asked if Myers could be trusted, and Sullivan replied that Myers did not know much about this transaction. He thought it was Myers who brought the parcel with Stoop to the smoking-room, but Sulli-

The reason Sullivan assigned for agreeing on the story was:—
"If Stratton did not do what was right, we could hold him up."
He then asked: "Do you think Stratton will pay the rest of the money?"
Sullivan replied: "He can't help it. He will have to." We have plenty of material to hold Stratton up."

Government Was Hard Up.

Government Was Hard Up.

They also spoke about timber transactions and fishing licenses. Sullivan said Noble had paid a rake-off last year for his fishing licenses, and should do so again. He also said a western Ontario man was willing to pay $1,000 to some one who could get him a timber license. Sullivan said it they made lots or money in this way they could hand the money back to Stratton, because the Government was "hard up" and "needed the money." They spoke about elections, and Sullivan said he could give information that would unseat the "three Norths," and added that if Stratton did not do what was right, he could easily get a scare was right, he could easily get a scare heading in The World, for he had a confidential friend there. That was the substance of their discussion.

Sullivan Not So Badly Off.

After he made the statement in the House Sullivan said to him, "It is up to you to speak to me. Where am I going to come out?" Sullivan added that he and Stratton were in the political game, but he was not. Sullivan tical game, but he was not. Sullivan had offered last fall for $5,000 to expose who burnt the ballots; and he told Mr. Bristol about it. rie thought that Sullivan would not be very bad off, that Sullivan would not be very bad on, because he could sell out his information. He declined to say whether he offered to compensate Sullivan for any loss, but he did not want to see him suffer, because it was not Sullivan but the Government he was after.

This finished the cross-examination.

Mr. Blake Takes Hold Again.

To Mr. Blake, he said he never looked at the document, but put it in a sealed packet, and had not yet read it. Sullivan complained that neither Liberals nor Conservatives would have anything to do with him. He felt sorry because he used Sullivan as a tool, but he thought Sullivan was not so badly off. Sullivan said last fall he would Sullivan said last fall he give the information about the burning of the West Elgin ballots to the Conservatives for $5,000, and he thought he might still sell this inform-

The Gamey Interview.

The Gamey Interview.

Mr. M. O. Hammond, reporter of The Globe, was the next witness, and was examined by Mr. Ritchie. He described the circumstances connected with the interview published in The Globe, in which Mr. Gamey announced his intention to support the Government. He said that in consequence of an intimation from Mr. Stratton on the previous day he called at his office for the purpose of getting an interview. He called first about 11, came back at 2 and returned several times up to 7 o'clock. Mr. Stratton on the previous day showed him a typewritten document, which he would try to get Mr. Gamey to give to The Globe as an interview to assist the Government in the bye-elections. Mr. Gamey was in Mr. Stratton's office on the alternoon of the 29th and left about 3 o'clock. He was told to wait for Mr. Gamey's return and this took place about 6 o'clock. He saw Frank Sullivan in the corridor several times. About 6 45 Mr. Gamey came out of Mr. Stratton's office and was introduced by Mr. Myers and handed him the typewritten interview.

Myers and handed him the typewritten interview.

It was different from the one shown him by Mr. Stratton, having several alterations and additions. He did not remember much conversation with Mr. Gamey, except to say that the interview would be a good thing for the Government. This interview was handed to him, but was not the result of any questions by him. He saw afterwards Mr. Stratton, who expressed himself as satisfied. On the previous day Mr. Stratton asked him to get Mr. Gamey to sign the document, so that he could keep it. At his request Mr. Gamey signed it in his presence. It was an important document, and he himself thought for that reason he

The bills were of large denominations, tens and fifties. Mr. Gamey told him where he got the bills.

Mr. Ritchie asked where Mr. Gamey got the bills, and Mr. Riddell objected. The objection was overruled.

Mr. Crossin, said Mr. Gamey told him it was $1,500, which he had got im a deal; that it was not yet closed, and that more would be heard about it.

Further Productions Made.

Mr. Ritchie—My Lords, there are some productions here that ought to go in, in order to complete the chain of correspondence. There is one letter here from Mr. J. F. Boyd to the Hon. F. R. Latchford, under date of January 3rd, 1903, enclosing petition for roads (Reads.) Then there is a letter under date of February 2rd, 1903, from F. R. Latchford, under date of January 3rd, 1903, enclosing petition for roads (Reads.) Then there is a letter under date of February 23rd, 1903, from G. W. Spencer to the Hon. J. R. Stratton, in which reference is made to the writer's application for license inspectorship. (Reads.) The next is a letter dated January 8th, 1903, to Mr. Gamey from Henry Smith. Superintendent of Colonization Roads, acknowledging receipt of petition for a grant for the road in Campbell Township. (Reads.) The next is a letter addressed to the Premier, Hon. Geo. W. Ross, dated February 14, 1903, from Walter B. Scott, who describes himself as Secretary of the Little Current Liberal Association, referring to the position of License Inspector for the district of Manitoulin. (Reads.) Then there is a letter to the Hon. Mr. Harcourt, dated February 23rd, 1893, from G. W. Spencer, stating that Mr. Thos. Conlon has written to Mr. Harcourt, also to Mr. Stratton in regard to his appointment as License Inspector. (Reads letter.)

Mr. Ritchie also produced a file from the Attorney-General's Department having reference to the appointment of Thomas Flesher at Aird Island as Justice of the Peace in the room and stead of John Andrew. Mr. Stratton's recommendation to the Attorney-General noted that the appointment was approved of by Mr. Gamey, member for the district. The file also contained the formal approval of the 1st of January, 1903, to R. R. Gamey, was also put in but not read, and another letter of February 16th, 1903, from D. W. Spencer to Premier Ross was also put in In that letter Mr. Spencer made formal application for the position vacated by J. D. White, License Inspector for the district.

A Globe Reporter Testifies.

Melvin O. Hammond, a Globe reporter, was then called, and sworn. In reply to Mr. Ritchie, he said he had been in the office of the Provincial Secretary on January 20th, and pretty nearly every day in January. He was there in the pursuit of his regular business on that day; also because of an intimation from Mr. Stratton the previous day. On the 28th Mr. Stratton had asked him to come in the next day, and an interview with Mr. Gamey would be arranged.

riew with Mr. Gamey would be arranged.

Q.—Well, now, will you be good enough to tell us all that passed between you and Mr. Stratton with reference to the Gamey matter? A.—Mr. Stratton said that he would try and ged Mr. Gamey to give an interview with the idea of supporting the Government's position; an interview from Mr. Gamey stating that he would support the Government would have some weight in the bye-elections which were then pending.

Q.—Then had you prior to this time had any communication yourself with Mr. Gamey? A.—Not at all.

WHY IS IT PERMITTED?

The following pertinent comment is from the Hamilton Spectator :-This great family journal has often wondered why judges allow counsel, in cross-examining witnesses, to make the most vile insinuation against the character of the witness, and say things calculated to make the witness angry and reckless of speech. It is not in the interest of truth or justice that a bulldosing lawyer broadly hints that the witness is a very bad man. It is simply to rattle the man in the box, that he may inadvertently recklessly say something not consistent with his previous story. No judge, and only the stupidest juryman is ever deceived by "evidence" produced in this way, and it has always seemed to us to be not only unjust to the witness, but a waste of time of the court, to say nothing of the deterrent effect upon the man who may know something about a case of vital importance, but who will not voluntarily put himself up to be the butt of the coarse jests, or the victim of vile insinuation on the part of a lawyer.

And it is not good for the bulldosing lawyer's client that he is permitted to browbeat and bulldose the timid witness. We know a man who has affirmed that if he is ever a juryman in a case in which a certain wellknown lawyer is counsel, he will give his verdict against that lawyer's side, no matter what the evidence may be. Of course it is wrong; but it shows how people appreciate the work of the lawyer who seeks to make somebody believe that all witnesses for the other side are horsethieves, or

Successful Scheme That Was Worked by Two Hungry Men

"One of the cleverest 'grafts' I ever saw was worked the other day in a quick lunch restaurant on Park row," said the Observer. "I noticed two men talking earnestly just below the place as I was going in to get my lunch. One of them followed me in and took a seat just below me at the table. A few seconds later the other entered and took seat just opposite his friend, whom he did not appear to know. The first man ordered a very extensive dinner, comnencing with soup and ending with charlotte russe and coffee. He got the very best that the place could afford, and his check for $1.35 was placed in front of him. The other man took his time about ordering, taking corned beef and beans-10 cents' worth. His check was placed in the center of the table, between the two men.

"Number one ate hastily and finished first. He got up, put on his hat and then calmly picked up the ten cent check that belonged to his friend. Without turning a hair he went to the desk, paid 10 cents and walked out. A few minutes later number two, who had been reading the paper, prepared to leave and took up the remaining check. He appeared greatly surprised and called the waiter, asking for an explanation. There was nothing for th knight of the napkin to do but give the man a new ten cent check, as it was very evident that he had not eaten $1.35 worth of food. I suppose that the two met outside and at the next place visited number two got the "square"

IN BORROWED PLUMAGE.

Well Dressed Women Who Wear Goods Sent on Approval, When the ways of some women are considered, it is less remarkable that such numbers of women dwelling in the large cities dress extravagantly than before their methods of securing rich costumes for all occasions have been scrutinized.

There are women, and many of them very wealthy, who make a regular practice of having elegant garments sent to their homes on approval, wearing them once and then returning them to stores or costumers. Some women will wear a dress or a cloak to the opera and send it back next morning. Or they will get a hat or wrap and go driving or visiting in it. The average person would be asteraished to know all the things, from handsome umbrellas and fans of great beauty to jewelry and clothes, that some women borrow from the shops.

Of course all of these women are not well off, but they all dress well and go out a great deal, and although the shopkeepers often discover the manner in which they are being deceived, they do not always like to make a fuss for fear of losing a good customer. Besides they know that if they incur the enmity of such impostors the women are quite capable of abusing their goods and robbing them of other and more honest customers. Strange as it may seem, these women generally mingle in pretty good society, or the fringes of it, and have some influence in the matter of dress, since they have won the reputation of always dressing elegantly and in the newest things.

This sort of imposition had been carried on so often by a customer of a certain large firm that its members determined to put a stop to her flaunting about in borrowed plumage, at least when the plumage belonged to them. One Saturday this woman had a splendid wrap sent home on approval, and on Sunday one of the head clerks of pew in the fashionable church which she attended. When she sailed down the aisle after service, resplendent in the borrowed cloak, this man stepped up to her and saids

"How do you do, Mrs. Blank? I am delighted to see that you like our cloak well enough to keep it."

Of course after that she could not return the cloak. Still, with all the efforts put forward by shops and costumers to break up the pernicious habit of forcible borrow-ing on the part of sundry feminine customers, the practice goes merrily on, and many a fair dame with an enviable reputation for exquisite dressing appears but once in garments and hats that when next seen are bedecking another woman or hanging in the show-room of some smart shop.

Uncle Sam has a black list of birds and quadrupeds which it is absolutely prohibited to introduce into this country, says the Chattanooga Times. The mongoose, the flying fox and the starling are on the list. The mongoose is a process of forms. species of ferret, a native of India, where it is domesticated as a sort of animal rat trap and snake destroyer. It was introduced into Jamaica to get rid of the sugar cane rats. These exterminated, however, the mongoose went on to diet off the insect destroy ing birds, with the result that the crops have been devastated by insects in some sections of the island. The ani-mul is exceedingly crafty, nocturnal in its habits and evades traps with ease, The flying fox, known also as the fruit bat, is a voracious harvester of fruits and vegetables. The starling belongs to the crow family.

BARGAIN BABIES.

If babies were for sale the most inveterate bargain-hunting woman in the world would not look for a bargain baby. She would want the best baby that could be bought, regardless of price.

Every woman naturally craves a healthy, handsome child, and her craving can be gratified if she will but remember that the child's health is her own gift, and to give health she must have it to give.

Mothers

whose babies have been weak and puny

is the best preparative for maternity, encouraging the appetite, quieting the nerves and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.

"My wife had been sick nearly all her life,"
says Mr. E. E. Fricke, of Petersburg, Menard Co., Illinois, Box 367, "and after trying everything I could think of I made up my mind to try 'Favorite Prescription.' I got six bottles, which my wife took, at ablespoonful three times a day, until the baby came. She felt better after taking the first bottle, and when baby was born he weighed nine and a half pounds. Topounds. He is as good a child as any one could wish. The doctor says he is as healthy as any baby could be, and also says the use of your 'Favorite Prescription' was the cause of such a healthy baby."

The Wonder-Working Spring Medicine is the Only Reli-

In the springtime deaths from poison—uric acid in the blood—are common. This malignant poison which should be expelled by the kidneys, is diffused through the blood, and when allowed to remain in the system, proves fatal. For such a condition in spring-time, there is but one sure, tried and unfailing remedy; it is Paine's Celery Compound, which promptly restores the kidneys to health and enables them to perform their functions. With the kidneys in proper condition, there cannot remain the slightest trace of uric acid in the blood. Mr. Frank Balmer, Winnipeg, Man, writes about his wonderful cure as follows:

C. W. Pose of Battle Creek, Mich., delivered an address on "The Tyranny of Trades Unions." He said in part.—"There may have been some butual and tyrannous slave-owners in the South, but I ask you if ever in all the history one growing and the read of oppression, cruelty unen, women and children, terror, anarray, beatings and murder, as now exists under the acts of desperate numbers of labor unions? ## Objected to Free Puffs. John Knapp of the St. Louis Republican had little use for press agents, and it took a mighty shrewd man to get a free puff from him. He never would publish a lawyer's or a doctor's name if he could avoid it, for fear they might derive some benefit from the free advertisement. It is said that one morning mention was made in the Re-publican—they call it the Republic now—of a man having died of Bright's disease. Old man Knapp hunted up the proofreader and called him into the private office.

"Why did you let that get into the Paine's Celery Compound

"I don't

"You don't, eh?" snapped old man Knapp. "You don't, eh? Do you think we want to advertise that man Bright for nothing? He never had an ad. in this paper in his life."

The Canad Transk picture within Assistant General Manager of the C.P.R. at Winnipeg.

Montreal, April 16.-The appointment of Mr. J. W. Leonard. General Superintendent of the western division of the C.P.R., to the position of Assistant The Grand Trunk picture exhibit, illustrating the many tourist districts throughout Ontarlo, and which has been doing exceptionally good work in advertising this province in several of the large cities in the Southern States, recently completed, last Friday, an eleven days' display at the First Annual Sportsmen's Show of Ohio, at Cleveland, and left for Knoxvilled Tenn. During the time of the Sportsmen's Show, over 50,000 people attended, and the Grand Trunk exhibit was a source of much interest. Illustrated descriptive literature and all information as to the different regions in "The Highlands of Ontario" was given out by a representative of the Grand Trunk. After exhibiting at Knoxville, the collection General Manager, with headquarters at Winnipeg has been announced, Mr. Leonard will have executive control of the western division, but the position is in reality that of assistant to the General Manager, Mr. McNicoll. The growing importance of the west has for some time given reason for the erection of an office invested with power to act quickly in case of emergency, withact quickly in case of emergency, without reference to the head office in Montreal. It is probable that a similar appointment with respect to the Ontario division will be made within a few days, but it is stated by the management that the matter has not yet been decided. Mr. W. R. Baker, who has been relieving Mr. Leonard at Winnipeg during the last two weeks, is returning to Montreal, but his name is mentioned as successor to Mr. Leonard. ard.

TWO MEN BADLY HURT.

Fall of a Scaffold in an Oshawa Church.

The William street pavement south of King street will be finished up this week, weather permitting, and the north end of the street, which is to be paved with chemically prepared blocks, will be started the beginning of next week.

The Dominion Paving Co. will do the north end of the street, too. The foreman of the work says that the contract calls for a sand filler, but he intends using a part sand and part tar filler. The tar will be put on top. He thinks this will improve the pavement a good deal. Oshawa, April 16 .- A serious accident occurred at the Simcoe Street Methodist Church here. While a number of workmen were putting up a metallic ceiling, the scaffolding which had been erected for the purpose suddenly gave way, precipitating the men to the floor of the church below, a distance of thirty-five feet, together with about a thousand feet of lumber, mostly heavy planks and poles. Nearly all the men received injuries, and it is probable that two fatalities will result. Mr. Fred Horn, a cearpenter, received the most severe anjuries, and at present his chances for recovery are very slim. He had three ribs and his left shoulder bone broken, and it is thought that his lungs have been pierced by some of the broken, bones. Mr. John Brewer, who had the contract for the painting, was badly bruised and injured internally He is very weak to-night, and it is feared his injuries are worse than at first anticipated. The other men who were on the scaffold were: Robt Bishop, Shields, White, Robt Clark, Geo. Jacobi, John Webb and Geo. W. Scott, all of whom were more or less bruised and cut with the exception of Mr. Scott, who was overseeing the work of putting up the metallic ceiling, and who miraculously escaped Nearly all the men received injuries, Maple City.

Wilkinson, County Judge for Lennox and Addington, was found dead in the bath yesterday. It was customary for the Judge to take a cold bath every morning. Deceased was born in Kingston in 1838, and studied law in the office of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, and had charge of Sir John's office at Napanee, afterwards opening an office in Napanee, where he continued his law practice until his appointment as County Court Judge in 1868. Deceased was very popular with everyone, and was preparing to go to Kingston, where he was to hold court today. He was a member of the Synod of Ontario and a member of the Council of Trinity College. Death was caused by the shock in taking the customary cold bath. He leaves a wife, but no family.

Important to Lovers of Fine Stock.

There arrived in the city last week via G. T. R. the pacer stallion Hae Patchen, record 2.15 1-4. He is a splendid horse, 16 hands, 1,100 pounds, much faster than his record, having been close up to the great race mare Lady of the Manor, in 2.07 1-4. He possesses all the requirements of a fine horse-beauty, good temper and not afraid of anything; also the thoroughbred stallion St. Martin. Color brown, stands 16 1-2 hands, weighs 1,275 pounds, perfectly quiet and gentle. Col. Bruce, the great American authority on fine horses, M. F. McDonald, the great judge of Conformation, W. D. Grand, formerly of Toronto now of New York City, and Dr. McEachren, the Dominion inspector, all unite in saying that St. Martin is of the very best. These horses will be kept at the West Kent Fair Grounds, city of Chatham, until August 1st, 1903, in charge of Mr. Geo. Lane, who will give all information, or to Caleb Wheeler, owner, Chatham market.

Mr. Colles reports that there is unusual interest being taken in this educational convention this year, and the attendance is extremely large notwithstanding the wet weather. A SUDDEN TURN FOR THE WORSE LAST NIGHT.

Doctors Not Hopeful, and the Family Summoned to the Bedside-The Aged Patient Suffering Severely.

Toronto, April 16. - At an early hour this morning Sir Oliver Mowat was reported to be in an extremely critical condition. During yesterday the reports as to his condition were of the most encouraging character. In fact, his physicians stated that, in view of his advanced age and the serious nature of the accident, his progress towards recovery was real-his progress towards recovery was really wonderful.

As evening wore on a change for the worse was noticed, and as the symptoms increased in gravity the paysicians, Drs. J. A. Temple and A. Primfose, were summoned. Upon their artiful at 11.30 it was seen at once that the condition of Sir Oliver was such as to cause anxiety for the outcome. We hour later the family were summoned and gathered in Government House. Shortly after midnight Dr. Primrose informed The Globe that the condition of the aged patient was very grave indeed.

grave indeed.

By 2 o'clock all the members of the family had reached Government House. The anxious watchers seemed to realize that the end was near. All that was known was that his Honor appeared in much physical distress.

The accident of Sunday night was of a peculiar almost a mysterious.

a peculiar, almost a mysterious, character, and itself was in a measure due to another which occurred a couple of months ago. At that time Sir Oliver ago. At that time Sir Oliver slipped in his room and severely injured his thigh. It was not determined with certainty what the nature of this mishap was, but his Honor recovered, though slowly and with support was though slowly, and, with support, was able to walk to some extent. He also required assistance in undressing, and it was while he was preparing for bed on Sunday evening last that the second accident occurred. His attendants were assisting him to move from a chair to the bed when in some way accident occurred. His attendants were assisting him to move from a chair to the bed, when in some way is right thigh-bone was broken midway between knee and hip. The attendants had exercised the usual care, and the surmise is that the bone had become fragile and brittle through age. Drs. Primrose, Temple and Moir were hastily summoned, and the injured bones were set with as little pain as possible to the patient. Sir Oliver bore the operation remarkably well, and though his system had naturally received a severe shock, the expectation was that he would recover, for during Sunday night he slept for several hours, and on Monday and following days appeared to improve.

The members of Sir Oliver Mowat's family, all of whom are in attendance at Government House, are: Sheriff Mowat, Mr. Arthur Mowat, Mrs. C. R. W. Biggar, Mrs. Thos. Langton and Miss Mowat.

KNOWING FIRE HORSES.

How They Learn to Start With the Jigger and Get the Swing. The intelligence of fire horses is well known. A most knowing animal of this kind is described by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine." The author says of

Other things besides mischief, how-ever, had Silver learned. Chief of these was to start with the jigger. Sleeping or waking, lying or standing, the summons that stirred the men from snoring ease to tense, rapid action never failed to find Silver alert. As the halter shank slipped through the bit ring that same instant found Silver gathered for the rush through the long, narrow lane leading from his open stall to the poles, above which, like great couchant spiders, waited the harnesses pendent on the hanger rods.

Once under the harness Silver was like a carved statue until the trip strap had been pulled, the collar fastened and the reins snapped in. Then he wanted to poke the poles through the doors, so eager was he to be off. It was no fault of Silver's that his team could not make a two second hitch.

With the first strain at the traces his impatience died out. A sixty foot truck starts with more or less reluctance, but when once the tires caught the car tracks Silver knew what to expect. He and his team mates could feel Lanni-gan gathering in the reins as though for a full stop. Next came the whistle of the whip. It swept across their flanks so quickly that it was practically one stroke for them all. At the same moment Lannigan leaned far forward and shot out his driving arm. The reins went loose, their heads went forward and, as if moving on a pivot, the three leaped as one horse.

have leaped at a different instant. It was that one touch of the lash and the succeeding swing of Lannigan's bulk which gave them the measure, which set the time, which made it possible for less than 4,000 pounds of horseflesh to jump a five ton truck up the street at four minute clip.

Knew Papa's Limitations. She was a doctor's little girl. In her father's office she had seen a number of boxes on which was written, "This side up with care." In answer to her question her mother had said, "You see, when papa gets these boxes he doesn't know what is in them, and if it is something that might break it wouldn't be good for it to set it upside

The little girl pondered over it for some time. A few days later she came to her mother, saying, "Mamma, when God made us did he put a sign on our left sides that says, 'This side up with care?'" "Why?" asked the mother, smiling. "Because I heard papa tell somebody that it was bad for people to be good for their hearts, and I know papa doesn't know what is inside us."

Then She Remembered. Near the elevated road in Park place is a news and apple woman. She is very absentminded. Also sympathetic. A ragged street urchin ran up to her.

"Say." he yelled, "your little boy has been run over by a big truck!" "Where? Where? For goodness' sake, where?" shrieked the woman, rushing wildly down the street. She ran half a block and then stopped suddenly.

"Lord, what an old fool I am!" she said to herself disgustedly. "I have no little boy. I've ever been married." Meantime the street urchin had stolen four apples and a bunch of grapes.

MEALS BY WHOLESALE.

Extensive Kitchen Arrangements of

The kitchen arrangements of the modern hotel are on the first basement floor. There is a chef, but so far as l could see he does not cook. He is simply a captain of the seventy-five other cooks, who work in three relays of twenty-five each. There is no range, but a solid bank of broilers—immense gridirons, beneath which are the fires that never die. As for the 400 loaves of bread and 8,000 rolls required daily the patent cutters and mixers and ovens and staff of bakers needed to supply the simple item of bread or concern himself with the quality of the 1,100 pounds of butter that are each day required to go with it.

I must not forget the item of eggs.

Eighteen thousand are required every twenty-four hours. Boiled eggs do not get overdone. They are boiled by clockwork. A perforated dipper containing the eggs drops down into the water. The dipper's clockwork is set to the second, and when that final second has expired the little dipper jumps up out of the water, and the eggs are ready for delivery. There are men who do nothing else but fill and watch and empty these dancing dippers, and it seemed to me great fun.

On another part of this floor is the dishwashing, where great galvanized baskets lower the pieces into various solutions of potash and clean rinsing water, all so burning hot that the dishes dry instantly without wiping. Sixty-five thousand pieces of chinaware are cleansed in a day and an almost equal quantity of silver. All told, there are 300 employees in the kitchen departments of this huge living machine.—Albert Bigelow Paine in SUCCESSFUL SMUGGLER. The Schemes He Worked to Deceive the Customs Officials.

"There is money in smuggling," said the retired dealer in precious stones as he leaned back. "but it is dangerous to carry on the business, as possible suspects are carefully watched and, if necessary, traced till they are finally caught. However, I knew one man who pursued the trade of diamond smuggling for fifteen years and was able to retire to respectability. He was buyer for one of the large business was buyer for one of the large business sent him to Europe two, three and sometimes four times a year. Every time he returned he had with him from $10,000 to $20,000 worth of gems which he did not declare.

"His trick was perfect simplicity combined with ingenious boldness. His hair was scanty, and at the top of his head he had a most delightful little bald spot. Customs officers as they came and went all knew him, and as they knew him he had a most pro-nounced wen where his other acquaintances saw a bald spot. That wen was a work of art, made of wax and gum, and it contained two or three big stones that would have been a find for the men on the pier.

"The good cigar that he had just lit and allowed to go out held a few more, and sewed in the handle of the grip. that he carelessly turned over to inspection of the officers were the rest of them. He never varied the trick, and he never lost. Each trip was worth and he never lost. Each trip was worth a couple of hundred dollars to him and a great many hundred more to those who employed him. Now, that man considered himself strictly honest. He would not steal a cent from an indi-vidual, yet he schemed and plotted to rob the government."

The gum is used principally in the manufacture of varnish, but it is also found useful for many other purposes, such as dressing "glazed" calicoes, etc.—London Times.

Q.—Then what was said after that? Anything more? A.—Do you mean on the 28th?

Q.—Yes. A.—No, I don't remember anything more. He said something about not knowing whether Mr. Gamey would accept it in that form.
Q.—You say on the afternoon of the 29th you saw Mr. Gamey go out of the room—saw his back as he went out? A.—Yes. collection whether he was in at that particular time or not.

The Chancellor—Did you know him at that time? A.—No, I would not have known him if I had seen him.

Mr. Ritchie—You went up there about 2 o'clock; how long were you around the buildings on the 29th?

A.—I was there until nearly 7 o'clock that night.

Q.—That is between 2 and 7 o'clock? Had you any other work to do except the work you were doing in connection

Q.—Who were present when that paper was handed to you by Mr. Gamey? A.—I think Mr. Myers was in the room most of the time.

Q.—Can you also tell us if Mr. Sullivan was there at that time? A.—I don't remember. He may have been in and out of the room, but I was not watching him.

O.—Did you see Gamey and Sullivan speaking together? A.—I don't remember seeing them entering Q.—What was said to you by Mr. Gamey when he took this paper out of his pocket and handed it to you? A.—He made no particular remark that —He made no particular remark that I remember of.

Q.—What did he do: did he just hand it over to you? A.—He handed it over, and he may have said something about asking me to read it over.

Q.—Did he discuss its contents with you at all? A.—He made one alteration in it.

Q.—While he was sitting there, but not as the result of any conversation with you? A.—No.

Q.—Was it in truth an interview with The Globe reporter at all? A.—It was a manner in which we get interviews sometimes.

sometimes.

Q.—Did you get this interview in the ordinary manner? A.—The manner in which we sometimes get them.

Mr. Stratton Satisfied. In answer to further questions, witness said Mr. Gamey wrote in "in matters that I am satisfied with." That was the only alteration made in witness' presence. Immediately after Mr. Gamey left witness had an interview with Mr. Stratton.

Q.—What was the purport of your interview with Mr. Stratton. A.—He expressed himself as well pleased with getting the interview and asked me if it had been signed.

Q.—Why did you ask Mr. Gamey to sign it?

The Chancellor—Did you ask him to sign it? A.—Yes, For one reason, Mr.

Q.—When was it Mr. Stratton asked you to get him to sign it? A.—On the previous day.
Q.—Tell us, then, all that was said on the previous day about that? A.—We wanted it signed so that he could keep it. I also felt it was an important matter, and I would like to have something to show it was genuine.
Q.—You tell us Gamey made certain alterations in pencil. "In matters that I am satisfied with?" Did you, after he had signed that, call Mr. Stratton's attention to the alteration? A.—I showed him the interview.
Q.—You showed him the paper? A.—Yes, I showed him the paper, and I think he noticed the change himself.
Q.—Any observation made about it? A.—He did not like the idea.
Could Expect Nothing Better.

Could Expect Nothing Better.

Could Expect Nothing Better.

Q.—What did he say? A.—He said it was not as it had left him.

Q.—Anything further? A.—He wanted to strike that out.

Q.—Why was it not stricken out? A.—Because I said I had acted in good faith with Mr. Gamey, and I would not strike it out.

Q.—Anything further? A.—Mr. Stratton offered to call Mr. Gamey back from the west end of the building—by that time he was probably still in the building—and confer with him. He did not do so, however.

Q.—Did he make an effort to do so? A.—No. His next observation, I think, was that he could not expect anything more than that even from a man elected as a Liberal, or words to that effect.

man elected as a Liberal, or words to that effect.

The Chancellor—I suppose the meaning is that even a Liberal would not support matters he was not satisfied with. A.—Yes.

Q.—It appeared in The Globe of the next day? A.—I re-wrote it.

Q.—After re-writing it what did you do with the original? A.—I returned it to Mr. Stratton on the following day.

Q.—Why did you do that? A.—He asked me to.

Q.—When? On the 29th? A.—I think

Q.—When? On the 29th? A.—I think it was the request made on the 29th. Q.—And I suppose you re-wrote it because you had to hand back the original? A.—That was one reason, and another reason, it was written on two sides of the paper.

Q.—Then so far as the paper itself was concerned, and the changes that were made in Mr. Gamey's handwriting, you treated as equivalent to his own interview? A.—Oh, yes.

Q.—Was there any question raised at all that it was an interview that Mr. Gamey was not assenting to, as

Mr. Gamey was not assenting to, as far as he was concerned? A.—When he handed it to me?

Q.—Yes? A.—Oh, no.

Q.—He handed it to you as his interview? A.—Yes.

Q.—And he made the necessary changes as you have pointed out? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you wanted Gamey's signature for your own protection? A.—I thought it wise.

The Interview Expected.

Q.-When you spoke to Mr. Strat-Q.—When you spoke to Mr. Stratton can you recollect the words that he said, that it was the interview he would try and get Gamey to give, or that he expected Gamey would give The Globe, or he thought Gamey would give The Globe? A.—Do you mean on the 28th?

Q.—Yes. A.—I don't remember the exact words

Q.—Yes. A.—I don't remember the exact words.

Q.—He may have put it in that way, that he expected Mr. Gamey would give an interview to The Globe? A.—He simply intimated that this interview was to be given to The Globe by Mr. Gamey.

Edward Crossin Testifies.

answers were:-

Mr. Edward Crossin of Toronto was next sworn, and, examined by Mr. Rit-chie, said he was a piano manufacturer. He entered into partnership with Mr. Gamey in April, 1901, and subsequently formed a company, of which Mr. Gamey was President. He recollected a conversation in the factory with Mr. Gamey towards the close of the Exhibi-tion in 1902. Further questions and

Q.—Do you recollect a conversation you had with him the day he left for home in that Exhibition week? A.—I do very vividly.

Q.—Where did that conversation take place? A.—Part of it occurred at the office. He came up in a hurry, and we decided that we would go down and Levesconte's office. Did you go there direct from the factory? A.—No, sir; we continued on our way down to the corner of King and Yonge streets, and Mr. Gamey suddenly said—

Mr. Ritchie—Don't repeat what he said.

Deposited in Traders' Bank.

Q.—In consequence of what he said you and he went where? A.—We went to the Traders' Bank.

Q.—What did he do there? A.—We got inside and he deposited money in the Traders' Bank.

Q.—What amounts were they? A.—He told me there was $1,500.

Q.—Never mind what he told you. Did you see the bills? A.—I could only see two or three bills on the face of it, they were bills of a large denomination.

Q.—When he produced the bills did

Q.—When he produced the bills did he make a remark and tell you anything about it?

Mr. Riddell here objected, but after consultation, their Lordships decided to allow the evidence.

The Chancellor—I think perhaps in this case we had better receive this evidence; we are conducting the examination on rather liberal lines.

LETTER BOX

...... THE BUNGALOW PROJECT.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Sir,—There's a general feeling in the city that we should encourage the manly sports of the different clubs, and provide a suitable building on Tecumseh Park for the accommodation of those that take part, in battle royal, to uphold the name of Chatham against all comers, in football, cricket, lacrosse, bowling and baseball.

I endorse everything that would add to their welfare, and the scheme that Mr. F. Laurie and others would like to see carried out, but the trouble that I see brewing ahead is, that there is no system or plan laid out to let the citizens know what they are going to subscribe for, or any guarantee as to the kind of a building.

The first suggestion was a club To the Editor of The Planet:

The first suggestion was a club house, with billiard tables; then some wanted shower baths and swimming baths. All these things would be very nice if you had ten or fifteen thousand dollars on hand, and could provide for running expenses, care-taker, etc. I have always been in favor of swimming baths, and may have something to say about them later

Now, it's no use biting off more than we can chew; carry out some-thing within reach. For the present let us look after the clubs that we have. II am no architect; I don't think I could draw the end of a stable, but I would make a suggestion that some of our young architects, who take an interest in Tecumseh we decided that we would go down and make application—

POULTRY ASSN.

The meeting of the Kent County Poultry & Pet Stock Association and "Rock" show last evening was well attended, notwithstanding the very inclement weather. The regular prize list of the Fall Fair was gone over and adjusted. Ferrets and guinea pigs were added. It was decided to hold another Rock Show on May 13th.

President Sayer thanked, on behalf of the Association, the gentlemen who had weathered the storm and brought their birds up to the show. The idea of these shows is to discuss points for the betterment of the breeding and he would like to see a friendly rivalry.

Messrs Sides, Hancock and Mounteer were appointed to look after the coops for the next show on May 13.
