CITY WATER WAS WASTED

This Year All Lawn Services Will Be Put on The Metre System To Save All Unnecessary Expense

WATER COMMISSIONERS' MEETING

Next summer all local lawn services will be run on the metre system by the Waterworks Department. At the meeting of the Water Board last night, a resolution moved by Mayor Stone and seconded by Dr. Cornell, was passed to the effect that all lawn services at present separate from the house services must be run on the metre system.

The matter was brought up by the Mayor and Mr. Sheldon. The latter said that it was necessary to enforce this regulation on account of the wilful waste of water by citizens who had flat rates for lawn services last year. The flat rate anyway is unfair to the citizens who have their lawn services on the metre system.

W. W. Seane appeared before the Board asking them to give him a trial. Mr. Seane complained that he did not think that his oil had been given quite a fair trial previously. He had himself made a test of it at the Waterworks, and found that it flowed through the lubricators as quickly as the oil at present used, despite the fact that the Superintendent claimed that he had found it to work more slowly. Mr. Seane claimed that it was the lubricators which were at fault and not the oil. He pointed out to the Board that while they had been giving 60 cents per gallon for oil for the past two or three years, with about three cents per gallon added for freightage, he was offering the Board oil at 56 cents.

It was decided that Mr. Jones and Mr. Seane should test Mr. Seane's oil and see whether it is the oil or the lubricators which are at fault. From the discussion last evening, it does not seem likely that the Board will purchase a new filter for the Waterworks this year. If the filter purchased the Board will probably decide to purchase it out of their own funds.

The Federal Filtration Company, of New Jersey, wrote the Board offering them filtering sand at $4 per ton. A sample of the sand was enclosed, and Mr. Weir will write the firm for a limited quantity of the sand.

Harry Murphy, assistant engineer at the Waterworks, applied for an increase in salary. He is at present getting $47.50 per month, and claims that he is not paid for the Sundays which he works. The members of the Board expressed themselves as believing Mr. Murphy to be a good, conscientious workman, and on motion Mayor Stone and Dr. Cornell his salary was increased to $50 per month.

Applications for plumbers' licenses were received from Messrs. Watt, McKag, Coyle, Vanless and Bowers. All were granted. Through some oversight Westman Bros. failed to put in their application. The Secretary of the Board was instructed to draw their attention to the matter at once.

Kenneth Campbell complained that he was charged $2.76 extra for a tap leakage over which he had no control. No action was taken with regard to this communication.

J. C. Tucker, foreman of the Waterworks outdoor staff, gave notice that he would ask for two weeks holidays during next summer or fall.

"If Joe is good," we'll see that he gets his holidays," remarked the genial chairman.

The Secretary was instructed to advertise for tenders for supplying the Waterworks with coal during 1907. A representative of the Red Jacket Coal Company was present, and made representations before the Board on behalf of his company.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

James Watt & Sons, $7.35.
Chatham Gas Co., $4.88.
Park Bros., $78.
E. Fitts Mfg. Co., $30.
Panteyrman Co., $43.73.
National Metre Co., $52.90.
Lake Erie Coal Co., $419.94.

Those present at the meeting were Chairman Sheldon, Dr. Cornell, Mayor Stone, Superintendent Jones and Secretary Weir.

By attending to your own affairs a chance to attend to theirs.

OPPOSED TO CHURCH UNION

An Important Meeting Of The Chatham Presbytery Held Here

THE REPORTS RECEIVED

A meeting of the Chatham Presbytery was held in St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday, March 5. A large number were present and an interesting session was enjoyed.

The morning session was wholly taken up in electing delegates to the Association, which will be held in Montreal in the month of June. It was decided thereafter to appoint delegates by rotation instead of as formerly. The following were appointed:

Rev. Mr. Tolmie, Windsor.
Rev. Mr. MacGillivray, Chatham.
Rev. Mr. Linan, Poole.
Rev. Mr. Mowat, Buxton.

A committee was also appointed to decide as to whether the fares of delegates be paid or not. The afternoon session was mostly taken up by the bringing in and reading of different reports.

A report on Sunday Schools was read by Rev. Mr. MacGillivray; a report on Church Life and Work by Rev. Mr. Mowat, Buxton, and a report on Young People's Work by Rev. Mr. Ross, of Dawn.

An interesting discussion took place on each report, showing the good work done.

A report from the Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was then read and discussed. The idea was to see the feeling of each Presbyterian in regard to Church Union. Several were in favor, but a majority were opposed to it, thus showing that the feeling was against Church Union.

RELANCE LOAN MEETING

N. H. Stevens has returned from Toronto after attending the eleventh annual meeting of the Reliance Loan & Savings Company, of Ontario, held on Monday. The same board of directors were elected as last year and also the same officers.

The annual report showed an excellent business for last year. The Chatham branch has been very satisfactory and a much larger business is expected by the company this year. A new branch has been opened in Oshawa.

BACHELOR TAX

Peterborough, March 6.—At a meeting of the City Council Ald. Tovey, chairman of the Finance committee, submitted a proposition to tax the bachelors of the city, in view of the alarming increase in the debt of the city.

He suggested the following schedule: For those between twenty and thirty years of age, $5 a month; from thirty to thirty-five, double that amount; decreasing to $5 again when the man reached forty and was still unmarried. At fifty he would pay only $20 a year, and when he had passed his three score years the tax would cease.

$500 GRANT FOR ROAD

P. H. Bowyer Secures In Estimates Generous Sum For The Town Line Leading To Government Park

LOOKING AFTER HIS CONSTITUENTS

Last fall the municipal council of Howard and Harwich passed resolutions that "P. H. Bowyer, M. P. P." be asked to use his influence in bringing before the Ontario Government the pecuniary situation of a certain portion of the town line between Howard and Harwich adjacent to Rond Eau Park, said portion of road requiring a heavy outlay for improvement and bridge that will be used for benefit and safe travel to approach of the Park; council would ask that a generous grant be made by the Government to aid township of Howard and Harwich in making necessary improvements to said road.

The resolutions reached Mr. Bowyer and in due time he took the matter up with the Government. As a result of his efforts the estimates brought down on Thursday contain the sum of $500 for the object in question.

If Howard and Harwich will each spend similar sums the town line from Talbot street to the Park Road can be placed in splendid shape. The sum granted by the Government is a generous one, larger in fact than the councils interested anticipated, and will not only be appreciated by all who have occasion to visit the Park but by the farmers and people generally residing in the surrounding portions of both townships. This is but another instance of how Mr. Bowyer looks after the interests of constituents.—Ridgetown Dominion.

A MISSING MAN

The following letter of appeal has been received by Mayor Stone. The missive is self-explanatory:

Newdorf, Sask., Feb. 26, 1907.
To the Mayor of Chatham:

Dear Sir,—I got a few days ago a letter from Koenigsberg, Germany, in which I was asked to find a young man.

His name is Walter Bodies; he has been in Chatham working in a paper mill and lived at the home of the boss. His mother got a letter from him dated Chatham, December, 1903, box 127. He also mentioned that he felt sick. Since that the mother has heard nothing more.

Will you please make enquiries about this young man, maybe in the hospital or elsewhere, and give me an answer.

Yours truly,
REV. W. WILLING.

CHATHAM WON

Two rinks from Wallaceburg tried conclusions with two local rinks at the local curling rink last evening. The result was that the Chatham rink were up a total of nine points when the watch was over.

MRS. PERKINS FOR TRIAL

Sent To Assizes On Charge Of Poisoning Her Husband

THE MEDICAL EVIDENCE

Cayuga, March 8.—That the death of Henry Perkins was due to strychnine poisoning, was evident from the medical testimony given when the preliminary examination of Mrs. Perkins, accused of the murder of her husband, was resumed yesterday morning. Important testimony was given by Dr. Kerr, of Dunnville, who was the family physician. He said that Mrs. Perkins was adverse to having any postmortem or an inquest, and that either she or her sister, Mrs. Romaine Headlip, wanted him to call upon Crown Attorney Murphy and see if such a procedure could not be avoided. He believed it natural for a family to express a wish that no autopsy should be held.

Dr. Kerr had given a certificate of death being due to stomach trouble, but in view of the reports of the doctors and Professor Ellis, he was now satisfied that Perkins had died from strychnine poisoning. He believed that Perkins must have taken the poison at some time between Monday, Christmas Day, and Tuesday morning, Christmas Day, when he died.

Two other medical men, Doctors Bauer and Edgar of Hamilton, both testified that in their opinion the death of Perkins was due to strychnine poisoning.

Prisoner Is Self Possessed.
At 2 o'clock the courtroom was densely packed, fully 200 more than Wednesday. Yesterday the women overcame all restraint and sat perched up above the magisterial desk.

The prisoner came in with her sister, and appeared to be more self-possessed than in the morning.

Miss May Moody of Canfield was the first witness after lunch. Miss Moody keeps a store at Canfield and was well acquainted with Mrs. Perkins. She had talked with Mrs. Perkins about the state of her husband's health. She had stated that her husband was very poorly, and it was only a matter of a few months.

Cross-examined, witness stated that she believed Mrs. Perkins at the time, and that she knew that Perkins had been ill for several years. She had heard that his father had died a horrible death from cancer of the stomach.

It had been generally understood that Perkins was a sick man.

No intention to kill. "You did not think from what she said that she intended to kill her husband?" asked the lawyer.

"Oh no."

C. C. Hall, a Welland contractor and Ralph Gadsby, a carpenter, from Welland, had worked with Perkins for some time previous to and on the day he left home. They did not consider Perkins a sick man.

Mrs. Viola Spencer, wife of William Spencer of Welland, who boarded Henry Perkins for a couple of months before he died, stated that Perkins was not sick a day during that time.

To Mr. Johnston, Mrs. Spencer said that she knew nothing of the man's condition. He never complained. Witness did not know Perkins took medicine, nor that he had been doctoring.

Perkins Enjoyed Good Health.
William Spencer of Welland, husband of the last witness, and Arthur Headley, a farmer near Canfield, also gave evidence to the effect that Perkins enjoyed good health generally.

DON'T GET FOOLED.

All good things are imitated, especially Chinaware.

Reliable makers know this, and have all goods of their own manufacture trademarked, stamped and registered. Knowing that trademarked goods are the genuine, people of good taste prefer to have them. Other people who do not care but get the inferior article, are greatly humiliated when told that their goods are only imitations. "Elite" Limoges patterns are copied extensively, so beware of the imitations. Look for the mark "Elite" on your China Dinnerware. It's right. If not sure ask us.

GRAHAM AFTER McCOIG.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, the Liberal leader in the Legislature, is reorganizing his small legislative phalanx on new and original lines. At the recent caucus he placed his convictions before them in a vigorous address.

Mr. Graham took the ground that the leadership does not assume all, nor necessarily the greater part of the spectacular Opposition work in the House. The leader, he held, should not seek to do it all; rather to encourage his followers to each do their share.

The Liberal leader proposes to try out all his followers, and expresses the assurance that the results will justify the experiment and put additional spirit in the Liberal party. The Toronto News credits Mr. Graham with saying:

"The duty of a leader is not to monopolize the limelight. There has been too much of a tendency to discourage and hold back the younger members. The spirit and energy rests largely with them. We hope to show the strength of the Opposition in its back benches—strength that has not yet been realized."

West Kent has a representative sitting quietly through the sessions in one of those back benches—a man who admitted himself before his election that "he would be of no use to West Kent as a back bench." It is rather cruel to find Leader Graham, a man of his own party, talking about "the strength that has not yet been realized from the back benches," especially when Mr. McCoig is trying his best to bluff through some kind of a record to establish a platform upon which to contest the next Dominion election. It is up to Mr. McCoig to either show some "strength" or else give Leader Graham a quiet tip.

THE BANNER'S TROUBLES.

The quixotic individual with the flushed but classic brow topped off with the ragged mass of brilliance, the high white collar, the gracefully swinging cane and the professor-like appearance who is so conceitedly anxious that everyone should know that HE is the distinguished person whose massive brain and titanic intellect is responsible for—yes even produces the "time copy" which appears with painful regularity upon what should be, the editorial page of our local contemporary, has been worrying a little too much of late over his own self-claimed importance. There is no cause for all this anxiety. The Planet has no enemy, whom it would care to insult by giving him credit for even reading the articles referred to.

A short time ago a column of jokes labelled "Kibosh" appeared daily in the local Liberal organ. Recently this feature has been dropped and the before mentioned egoist has evidently noticed the deficiency in the paper. He has tried to revive the feature, which was the paper's only salvation at the time, by filing up the "editorial" column with a cheap imitation. He should, however, label it. The same heading "Kibosh" would be most appropriate.

What he was trying to express in the first part of his article on The Planet last evening, only he himself knows—or cares to know. The Planet asked him to answer a few simple little questions in reference to East Kent politics. He had sense enough to side-step in order to save an exposure of his prejudices, and his lack of ability to debate with the intelligence of even a child upon any public issue. His only answer is a lot of silly and unspeakable prattle which is no doubt intended to be personal abuse.

There is one faint glimmer of hope, however, for at the end of the article in question there was one sentence which stood out conspicuously for its wonderful clearness and lucid bearing upon the truth, "The News feels for The Planet." Such a frank, open confession surely deserves some acknowledgement.

How true this is, "The News feels for The Planet"—yes, and finds it—especially at times when the sleepy editor of the News is looking with sharpened scissors for copy with which to fill his columns. We have no fault to find with this. If the News would only "feel oftener for The Planet," particularly when he is looking for editorial matter, he would not be held up so persistently as a joke among his friends.

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE

"The Pavillon," Goldfields, B.C.

After a very fair trial I have proved Zam-Buk eminently satisfactory. In my case it cured a skin rash of five years' standing which no doctor had been able to do any good for. I would certainly encourage any person to keep Zam-Buk in their home. It truly does even more than you claim for it. For my own part I would not now be without it in the house.

Yours very truly,
ROGER F. PERRY,
Justice of the Peace for B.C.

Zam-Buk Cures eczema, face rashes, ulcers, abscesses, cuts, bruises, chronic sores, etc. It is also good for piles and enlarged veins. As an embrocation it cures rheumatism and sciatica, colds on the chest, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes sent for $2.50.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

The G. T. R. wog pen nuisance is now a thing of the past, but there is yet a mighty hogging small to the manner in which the company is trying to monopolize the Queen street crossing.

A number of coal mines have been discovered in Russia. These should come in handy after the terrorists cease to make things hot over there.

EASY TO RETAIN HEALTH.

Most important of all is proper attention to the bowels. Avoid constipation, it's the health-killer of today. Harsh, gripeing medicine is ruinous—beware of it. Best results to low a truly vegetable remedy, like Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, which not only relieve constiveness in one night, but cures the cause of the trouble and prevents its return. No distress or inconvenience attends the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are world famous for their mildness and efficiency. Sold everywhere, 25c. per box.

It neither sounds well nor does it appear well to call others ugly names.

roduces. Joe Morris will be the offering at the Brisco Opera House on Tuesday, March 12th, and should appease the appetite of those who are hungry for a musical comedy. Walter C. Loman Parker is the author of the piece, and instead of turning out a mere vehicle for the introduction of numerous specialties and singing numbers, he has furnished an extremely funny and said to be well written farce, which more than answers the purpose intended. The singing portion of the comedy, which introduces forty people, is said to be one of the strongest and best drilled choruses ever carried with a road production. The costuming is said to be strikingly original both in color and general effect.

PRETTY HELEN BYRON SCORED A KITTENISH SERGEANT KITTY.

Miss Helen Byron, than whom no other comic opera star is a greater favorite in this section of the republic, emulated the example of Julius Caesar; she came, she saw, she conquered and her audience left the theatre in a happy frame of mind. This petite, pretty, winsome woman twice appeared at the Academy of Music yesterday, the house being filled for both performances, few seats being vacant. It had been twenty months since last she played here the title role of Sergeant Kitty, but she was not forgotten. On the contrary, her portrayal of the kittenish, capricious, impulsive and withal loveable Kitty La Tour is still one of those delightful things that remain as green spots in the memory. Jolly, animated, graceful and sprightly, Miss Byron held the close and individual attention of two audiences. Her rendition of "Love," "Oh, Kitty," "A Postilion's Love," and "We Are a Gallant Regiment," were all done in her inimitable, right-defying manner. Her gowns this season are truly magnificent and mere man has not the temerity to describe these creations. To say Miss Byron scored a decisive hit is to express it mildly; she completely and unqualifiedly won her Charleston audiences.

New Rugs and Carpets—The largest gathering we have ever made in this section. Tapestry Brussels and Wilton Rugs, all new spring designs and colorings. Carpets in all wools, unions, tapestry Brussels and velvet. And, another point—we don't charge outlandish prices for them. Better come in and look around a bit—it will pay you.

Table Linens, Cloths, Napkins, Etc.—The manufacturers have advanced prices on these goods fully 20 per cent, and further advances are inevitable. Our stocks were all contracted for many months ago—before prices began to soar—and are offered at last year's prices, which means a saving of fully 20 per cent to our customers. Better lay in a supply while prices are so much in your favor.

Our White Underwear Display is without a doubt the largest and best ever seen in Chatham. The styles, the qualities and finish are far superior to the average whitewear shown elsewhere, and, besides, you will find our prices extremely low for such high qualities.

Cables Steady—Cattle Continue Strong at Chicago.

Liverpool, March 6.—Liverpool and London cables are steady at 11c to 12 1/2c per lb, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9 1/2c to 9 3/4c per lb.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, March 6.—Receipts were 900 cattle, 500 sheep, 200 calves, 50 pigs, and 100 horses. The market for hogs was weaker, in spite of small supplies, and prices declined 10c to 15c per 100 lbs. The demand from dealers was fair, but packers showed no disposition to operate freely, owing to the continued discouraging news from European sources on Canadian prices.

Beef and mutton in consequence was slow, with sales of selected lots, and the common stock at 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c. Quite a number of the mutton were better than in flesh, and these sold at 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c; the other cows sold at 3 1/2c to 4 1/2c. Calves sold at $2.00 to $3.00, or 3 1/2c to 5c per lb. Sheep sold at 4 1/2c to 5c, and lambs at 6 1/2c to 7c per lb.

Will All to Fight Graft.

Port Huron, Mich., March 7.—Archibald Galbraith, an aged hermit, who was carried from his hut a few miles from here a week ago because he was no longer able to care for himself, died in the county poor house yesterday.

He left a will in which he directs that his body be sold to any medical college for dissection, and that the proceeds, together with his $19,000 estate, be placed in the hands of a prominent lawyer, and an editor, who are to "fight and expose the corrupt court and lawyers of this county."

Czar "Satisfied."

St. Petersburg, March 7.—Parliament did not meet yesterday, pending the reception of M. Golovin, president of the Lower House, by Emperor Nicholas, which took place yesterday.

His majesty declared himself "thoroughly satisfied with the first session of the House, and assured the president that he and the Ministers were inspired by the best feelings toward Parliament, and hoped that its work, with the assistance of the legislative projects which the Ministers had prepared, would be beneficial to the country."

Head Found In City Hall.

Kingston, March 7.—Laborers working on the dome of the city building found a tin pall containing the perfectly preserved head of a middle aged man.

An inquiry was made and it was discovered that a medical student at one time had used the tower as a laboratory and on being graduated, left the head, which probably has been in the tower ten years.

BIRD AND BEE.

A Chase Almost as Rapid as Flashes of Light.

Here is a story as told by a gentleman who spends the greater portion of his time studying the habits of birds:

A hummingbird with an angry dash expressed its disapproval of the presence of a big bumblebee in the same tree. The usually pugnacious bee intently followed him, but he did not leave the tree. He darted back and forth among the branches and white blossoms, the hummingbird in close pursuit. Where would you find another pair that could dodge and dart equal to these? They are like flashes of light, yet the pursuer followed the track of the pursued, turning when the bee turned.

In short, the bird and the bee controlled the movements of their bodies more quickly and more accurately than he could control the movements of his eyes. The chase was all over in half the time that it takes to tell it, but the excitement of a pack of hounds after a fox was no greater. The bee escaped, the bird giving up the chase and alighting on a twig. It couldn't have been chasing the bee for food, and there is no possible explanation of its attack except that it wanted all the honey itself.

The Queer Little Ermine.

The ermine is a queer animal. It is one thing in winter and another thing in summer. In winter its fur is as white as snow, and it is called the ermine. In summer it turns a reddish brown on the upper part of the body and a light yellow on the lower part, and it is then called the stoat. This change is familiar to naturalists, but not to ordinary people, and the ermine and the stoat are therefore generally regarded as distinct animals. The fur of the ermine is much valued. At one time it was a mark of royalty, and the state robes of judges and magistrates were lined with it as an emblem of purity. The ermine is so cunning in its ways that it is almost as difficult to catch it as it is to "catch a weasel asleep." In fact, about the only way to capture it is to mark its course from its home and then strew mud in its pathway. When the dainty, fastidious little animal reaches the point where the mud is strewn it will lie down and subject itself to risk of capture rather than smirch one of its snow white hairs.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Always Stops the Cough

It combines the potent healing virtues of the pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe.

A cough is caused by the presence of phlegm in the throat and lungs, and continued coughing is liable to distend the bronchial tubes, congest the lungs and produce inflammation or hemorrhage.

A neglected cough can have but one result. It leaves either the throat or lungs, or both, affected.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop the cough, soothe the throat and heal the lungs.

Read what Miss Nettie A. Seely, Ashland, N.B., says: "I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, for I have found it a very valuable remedy for coughs. My mother has used it in our family for a long time and whenever any of them get a cough, mother will say: 'I will have to get some Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for I know it is good, and always stops the cough when nothing else will.'"

Insist on getting Dr. Wood's as it is the genuine, put up in yellow wrapper. Price 25 cents at all dealers. 3 pine trees the trade mark.

A FAMOUS GAMESTER.

Amazing Skill of Captain John Scott at Whist.

HIS RAPID ROAD TO WEALTH.

The Winnings of the "Gentleman Gambler" at White's, in London, in the Eighteenth Century Exceeded $5,000,000—Fox's Reckless Play.

Of all the gentlemen gamblers at the close of the eighteenth century in England a single one is noted for the impetuosity and the regularity of his winnings. This was John Scott, who, beginning as a penniless captain, wound up his career as a millionaire general. On the subject of the campaigns he conducted history is silent, but contemporary London was full of talk of his marvelous luck with dice and cards, and the marital misfortunes of his later life gave more material for the gossip.

Writing to Richard Bentley from Arlington street on Feb. 25, 1755, Horace Walpole says:

"The great event is the catastrophe of Sir John Bland, who has flitted away his whole fortune at hazard. He tother night lost in reckless play an immense sum to a Captain Scott, who at present has nothing but a few debts and his complexion."

Sir John Bland, to conclude here the history of that luckless dicer, shot himself dead, after losing the last of his fortune, in Kippax park.

Captain John Scott was of that branch of the numerous Scott family of which Sir Walter was a member, and his ancestor in the thirteenth century was that famous chemist, Michael Scott, who won the name of wizard. A later Scott distinguished himself in the time of Charles II. by marrying, when he was himself only fourteen years old, a lady who was three years his junior. The bride was Mary, countess of Buccleuch, in her own right the richest heiress in Scotland. The marriage was a secret one, and none of the friends and few of her family were informed of it until the day after. The youthful bridegroom did not profit greatly by this match, for his bride died at thirteen. Her sister Anne, who succeeded to her titles and estates, made a marriage with the pet son of Charles II., Monmouth, and had a numerous family.

It was sixty years later, or about 1750, that young Scott, son of the laird of Scott's Tarvet, entered King George's army. Two years later he was in London and in the midst of the most reckless set of spendthrifts, rakes and gamesters that English society has ever known. Sir John Bland was only one of a thousand rich young Englishmen who threw away fortunes over the gaming table at White's. The one historic loser of that era was Charles James Fox, Pitt's rival. Fox gambled away, all told, no less than $5,000,000. Scott was the very antipodes of Fox. When he died, at a ripe old age, he left a fortune as great as that with which Fox had begun, and every penny of it had been won at the gaming table. Fox was a ripe scholar. Scott was almost illiterate. Fox said that losing was the next greatest pleasure to winning. Scott never lost or so rarely that it did not affect the serenity of his career as a winner. Fox would go home in the morning after a night in which he had gambled away $10,000 or $20,000 and immediately lose himself in a study of Sophocles or Eschylus. Scott, like the sensible fellow he was, would button his coat over the portmanteau in which he carried away winnings of an equal or even greater amount and immediately go to bed so as to be fresh for play in the morning.

When Scott found himself in London and amid the wild young men of his era, he determined that gaming was his only chance of getting money. When he engaged himself to throw a series of mains with Sir John Bland, he had, as Horace Walpole puts it, nothing "but a few debts and his commission." His shrewdness taught him that there was nothing in dicing, at which a stupid man has as good a chance as a bright one, and so he speedily gave up hazard and applied himself to whist, at which game fortune fights on the side of the skillful player. Never in the history of play did men gamble for such high stakes as Scott and his victims did at White's between 1753 and 1780. Scott's system was an exceedingly simple one. He gave himself the best of it in every possible way. He never went to the gaming table unless his head and his stomach were in the very best order. He never lost his composure or his good nature for an instant. He played a perfectly fair and honorable game, and at first he made it a rule never to play for more than a fixed sum, which he could afford to lose. He won so steadily that it wasn't long before he was prepared to risk any sum which even the wealthiest or the most reckless of his adversaries would venture to propose.

A story which illustrates capitally Scott's patience in the face of hard luck has been preserved. One night while he was at the card table news was brought to him that his wife, the first Mrs. Scott, had given birth to a girl.

"Ah," he said, "I shall have to double my stakes to make a fortune for this young lady."

But in a few hours he was £8,000 to the bad. Retaining his invariable serenity, he said he was sure of his luck returning, and at 7 a. m. he went home the winner of £15,000. That's the sort of play that went on at White's night after night during the years that John Scott was winning the largest fortune ever accumulated by a gentleman gambler.

Bowling Is Lone Survivor.

Kingston will very heartily enter into the suggested celebration of the jubilee of the Canadian Press Association in 1903, the organization having started there in September, 1899.

The City Council will likely invite the association. It is felt that the most desirable time would be in the summer, when pleasant trips and other enjoyments could be had. The regular meeting of the association could be held in Toronto in February, and the annual outing and celebration could occur in August or September. The Kingston newspapermen will do all in their power to make the event memorable. It is suggested that the association rear a tablet in the City Hall to commemorate the occasion. In looking over the list, it would seem that Sir Mackenzie Bowell of the Belleville Intelligencer is the only living person who was at the organization of the association.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are stated under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for treating and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure triplite distilled glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above diseases, ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels, or pelvis organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use is persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hacking coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

Grace By Weights.

It has been suggested, I see, that it would make for the greater dignity and grace of future generations of English women if from an early age female children were made to constantly carry weights on their heads, as they do in the east. There is nothing, so to say, to keep our women properly balanced. They hop, wriggle, shuffle, mismanage their arms and hips, poke forward their heads and generally walk as if they were either deformed or dropping to pieces.—London World.

BIG CANADA.

Sad News Will Take Six Months to Get to Trading Post.

Hundreds of miles from Winnipeg, in lonely northern trading posts of the Hudson Bay Company, the two sons and daughter of ex-Chief Factor Cammell are living, ignorant of the death of their father, which took place in January in Winnipeg. Not until next July will the sad news reach them. W. E. Cammell, the oldest son, has followed in his father's footsteps, and is an accountant in the Company's service at Moose Factory. Fred Cammell is in charge of the post at Fort Simpson, and Mrs. Harding lives with her husband at Fort Resolution.

The late Captain Julien Cammell was born 68 years ago in Caylon, where his parents were then living, his father being an officer of the British ordnance. After being educated in England, he joined the army in 1853, being anxious to see service in the Crimean war. But his regiment did not go after all, being later sent to Canada and stationed at St. Johns, Quebec. In 1857 a portion of the Royal Canadian Rifles, a Colonial regiment, was despatched to Red River by way of Hudson Bay, and with it, as an ensign, marched young Cammell. The expedition left Montreal by sailing ship on the 20th of June, 1857, and arrived at Fort Gary on the 15th of October of the same year. The force was sent to Red River by the British Government in anticipation of trouble with the United States over the Oregon boundary, and also at the solicitation of the Hudson Bay Company, who feared that the natives were contemplating mischief. The soldiers remained at Fort Gary two years, when the regiment was disbanded, most of the men returning home. Capt. Cammell became infatuated with the adventurous life of buffalo hunting on the plains, and in 1860 joined the service of the H. B. Co., and was sent to the Mackenzie River district in the Far North. Major Seaton is said to be the last surviving member of the expedition of 1857, which numbered 118 men and 16 women.

Capt. Cammell was an able and efficient officer, and rose steadily in rank in the Company's service. Appointed chief trader in 1872, he was given charge of the Mackenzie district in 1878, and in 1892 became chief factor. He retired in 1901, after forty years' service in the Mackenzie River district, of which he was in charge for twenty-three years. The deceased officer was famous as an athlete. On the same day he captured a 200-pound deer and a ten-pound trout. The fisherman was trolling for trout, when several deer swam past his boat. The man managed to catch hold of an old buck as he was going by, and, having no gun, attempted to kill the animal with a clasp knife.

Struggling violently, the deer got away, and as it swam off it carried the fisherman's line upon its horns. Picking up his oars, the man started in pursuit, but was unable to bring the deer to bay and kill it until after

A Wondrous Fish Story.

Not many persons have the luck of a fisherman on the Arrow Lakes, British Columbia, last summer. At the same time he captured a 200-pound deer and a ten-pound trout. The fisherman was trolling for trout, when several deer swam past his boat. The man managed to catch hold of an old buck as he was going by, and, having no gun, attempted to kill the animal with a clasp knife.

Struggling violently, the deer got away, and as it swam off it carried the fisherman's line upon its horns. Picking up his oars, the man started in pursuit, but was unable to bring the deer to bay and kill it until after about two hours of pursuit and fighting.

Most amazing, however, was the fact that then developed. The fishline was still fastened about the deer's horns, and hanging on the hook was a fine ten-pound trout, that had seized the bait as the deer dragged it through the water. The fisherman bore home in triumph both fish and animal.

Only One Each.

By the treaty of 1817, Great Britain and the United States bound themselves not to keep more than one war vessel apiece upon Lake Ontario.

FIGHTING THE STORM.

The few straggling ducks that tempt the strenuous Canadian climber had a distressing time in the storm that swept the lake on a recent Sunday morning, writes S. T. Woods in The Globe. The great, white-crested waves chased and crowded one another down the lake, rearing up in angry impetuosity, struggling forward in the crush, or turning to dash against the rising barriers of white ice that protect the shore with their endless line of distorted peaks and fantastic embayments. They struggled against the cross currents to attack the eastern lighthouse, and build up the great, irregular masses of ice formed by the breaking spray. The searching gale from the west caught and rushed up every open space in the disturbed ice of the bay, and even in the broken and grinding blocks of loose ice, moving them here and there in uncertain formations. There was no rest on the deep water, and every straggler seeking shelter in the bay was driven off in distress by the insupportable wind. A bluebird moving against the wind along the ice barriers of the shore with outstretched neck and swift, quivering wings rose with inherited caution to avoid the suspicious mechanism of the foghorn and storm signal appliances. Rising against the full and sudden rush of the gale, there came a balancing of strength against strength, and for a moment it seemed as if he would not be able to make headway. A bird so proverbially swift, now close and barely moving against the gray sky, gave the angry storm a momentary suggestion of strangeness, which passed as quickly as the almost baffled duck when he turned and shot by with the wind. The storm lent special interest to his course as he inspected one open space after another, turning away from the angry and forbidding water. After a long, circuitous detour, outlined sometimes against the ice and sometimes against the irregular colors of the city's waterfront, he returned and dropped exactly into the open water of the gap.

There is no expression of roared wonder and alarm like that of a wild duck at close range, and this one-open space after another, turning away from the angry and forbidding water. After a long, circuitous detour, outlined sometimes against the ice and sometimes against the irregular colors of the city's waterfront, he returned and dropped exactly into the open water of the gap.

They are the world's masters who have first mastered themselves.

St. George's Baking Powder

There, Madam! That's the name of the new Baking-Powder I have been telling you about—and it's a pure Cream of Tartar Baking-Powder.

You may call me a pure-food reformer if you like—but I don't like to ask anybody else to eat what I would not eat myself—and I don't want to eat the adulterations that are put in some Baking-Powders.

St. George's Baking-Powder is manufactured here in Canada, by The National Drug & Chemical Co., Limited—the largest wholesale and manufacturing chemical house in Canada.

There's no duty to pay, and so the makers don't need to adulterate it to reduce the cost. Then, the fact that the makers are right here, where we can reach them, insures their keeping the goods up to the mark.

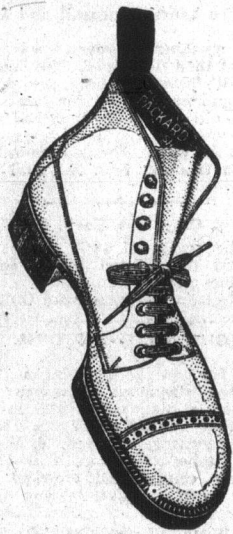

You know, I keep the best of everything, and St. George's Baking-Powder is what I recommend every time.

J. T. Gordon, the Conservative candidate who was elected as representative of Winnipeg South at the elections yesterday, is a cousin to Mrs. Henry Darr, wife of the police officer of this city. Mr. Gordon was formerly of Tweed, Ont. He left there years ago with very little money, and he now is one of the wealthiest cattle dealers in the West, and is gradually rising to be a man of influence in his constituency.

Manager Williams, of the local branch of the Sovereign Bank, this morning showed The Planet a number of crisp, new fifty dollar bank notes, which the Sovereign bank has just recently put in circulation. Fifty dollar bills are rather a rarity. The engraving on the new bank notes is rather original. The design on one side is that of the bank's executive office at Montreal, while the reverse side has a cut of the King and the Crown.

HOCKEY
THE STARS WON—7-2.
In a fast and exciting game at the rink last night, the Star hockey team defeated the Chippewas by a score of 7 to 2. The ice was in splendid condition, and both teams put up a good stiff game. The following was the line-up:
Stars—7—Brisco, Anderson, Brundage, Bailey, Morgan, Wilson and Labelle.
Chippewas—2—Chrysler, Bounsell, Dupew, Lawson, Johnson, Stringer and O'Brien.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Sutherland-Innes Company, Limited, will be held at the head offices of the company on the 19th inst., at two p. m., to receive the report of the directors for the past year, to elect directors for the ensuing year, and for all other general purposes relating to the management of the company's affairs.
W. M. FLEMING,
Secretary-Treasurer.

BROKE HER RECORD

Goldie, the fast racing mare owned by Fred Brisco, broke her record yesterday. Ever since this noble animal came in last in the farmers' race at the last meeting of the Chatham Driving Club, she has been feeling blue. At one time she was the horse who carried off all the money, and this come-down was too much for her proud nature. The climax was reached when her owner hitched her up to an express delivery wagon. It was more than humiliating.

Yesterday, having received an extra pan of oats she was feeling more frisky than she had felt for some time, and the old longing for the fast life came back to her. She decided to try out down the pavement. She was left standing alone at the barn on Lacroix street, when the idea struck her, and she started off. She ran the whole distance of King street, stopping finally some place out in the country near the cemetery. On the route, the express parcels were delivered, not always to the rightful owners. When she came to Brisco's store, she ran into a farmer's buggy, and broke an axle and a cross bar. At the corner of Prince and King streets the wagon struck a log and stopped. Goldie went on and after covering a circuitous route, she finally arrived back at the barn, ready for a rub-down.

THE SCOTTISH RITE

A number from Chatham and vicinity attended yesterday the meeting of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite and the Rois Croix Chapter sitting in the valley of London. Those who attended from Chatham were: Rev. Dr. Battisby 32 degrees, Dr. Musson 32 degrees, Rev. Mr. Rutledge 18 degrees, F. D. Laurie 18 degrees, Dr. N. Smith 18 degrees, J. W. Poile 18 degrees, J. F. Johnston 18 degrees, Charles Austin 18 degrees, W. M. McCorvie 18 degrees, W. W. Turner 14 degrees, A. A. Hays 14 degrees, J. E. Gray 14 degrees. Others from nearby places were: J. Smith, Stuart, 30 degrees; A. C. Smith, Stuart, 18 degrees; A. Graham, Valetta, 14 degrees; Dr. Story, Blenheim, 32 degrees; P. Haggart, Blenheim, 32 degrees; Dr. C. B. Oliver, Merlin, 18 degrees; Mr. McNeil, Merlin, 18 degrees.

All were very hospitably entertained by the brethren at London. Street cars were chartered and a tour through the city was made, museums, libraries, etc., were visited and also the Carling brewery. The afternoon session was very interesting and was brought to a close by a banquet, when 175 men were sent down to table. A choice program consisted of song and speech. Addresses on behalf of Chatham candidates were ably responded to by Dr. Musson. All arrived home this morning.

while working with them.

The Brother's Evidence.
John Perkins of Winnipeg caused quite a stir when he was called to the witness stand. A man of 35 years of age, he was a younger brother of the late Henry Perkins.

He returned to Cayuga on Feb. 3, 1906, and saw the prisoner on Feb. 4. There was something about the will spoken of.
"She said," continued the witness, "that as Henry left no will she hoped there would be an amicable settlement. I said I did not come here for that. I came here to see who poisoned my brother and I hoped she would help me. I asked her if she thought Henry committed suicide, and she said No! Henry would not do such a thing. If he got strychnine, she said, it was Dr. Kerr that gave it to him."
Mr. Johnston took the witness, who admitted that he had been on pretty good terms and had written four or five times to Henry at the time of his father's death.

"You took a general interest in the will and objected to Henry getting all the property."
"I did not."
"Will you swear that you didn't?"
"I did not write to Henry."
"Did you object?"
"I believe I did." (Laughter.)
"Was there feeling between you and Henry over the will?"
"Yes. There was a hard feeling between the family and Mrs. Perkins after the death."

Hunting Up Evidence.
"You have been trying to hunt up evidence to convict Mrs. Perkins of poisoning her husband?"

"Did you ask her what she knew?"
"I asked her if she thought Henry committed suicide. She said if there was poison found it must have been Dr. Kerr who gave it to him."
"What else did you say?"
"I don't remember."
"Did you say that I am here to prove poison?"
"No."

"Did you ask anything else?"
"Yes. I said she ought to help find out who killed him, and she said that she was accused, but that they would have to prove it, and she would spend every dollar in defending herself."
"That is just what you would say if anyone accused you?"
"Yes."

Mr. Murphy asked that the prisoner be committed for trial.

Mr. Johnston jumped up. "There is not a tittle of evidence to connect this woman with any poison at all and, granted that he died of poison, and strychnine, there is nothing to connect the prisoner with it. I am surprised that such a thing would take place in this county, and I mean what I say."

"We have considered the matter," said Magistrate Harrison, without looking at Magistrate Cline, his colleague, "and we will send her for trial."

Better a homely life than one who isn't home much.

The stock of "The Ark" is in the hands of the Canadian Sales Agency to be disposed of and the Sale will last one day longer.

Things Worth Knowing About OUR CARPETS AND RUGS

This season we show an increased number of room size rugs. Their advantages are many, they give less work in handling at housecleaning time, are more sanitary, look nicer and cost less than carpets of the same quality for a room. We have added a number of desirable weaves to our already large assortment.

New Brussels Squares, 2 qualities, all sizes, in florals, art nouveau and Oriental designs, solid wearing and economically priced.

New Velvet Squares, entirely seamless, with a deep rich pile, all conventional patterns and colors, in every needed size.

Axminster Squares are a specialty with us. We show two qualities and many entirely new designs.

Note—We are sole agents for Kent of the largest Axminster Mills in Great Britain.

New Wilton Squares, made of heavy worsted pile, select medallion, small all over bak-hara and oriental patterns, a rug worthy a place in your best room.

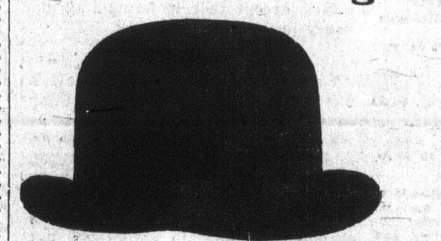

New Tapestry Squares, this season's showing is about double our usual number of tapestry squares, in 4 qualities every color combination and size needed.

New Ingrain Squares, when well made Ingrain Carpets are the most durable, sanitary and economical floor coverings, and our makes are recognized as the best on the American continent, they reverse, are in all sizes and colors.

Visit our Carpet Department if but to look through. Your time will be well spent. No trouble to show our Goods.

TO BREAK UP A COLD.

An eminent authority on lung trouble, who effected many remarkable cures in his camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine, advises the use of the following formula: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good Whisky, one half-pint. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours. It will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expensive and can be secured from any good prescription druggist, but great care should be exercised to have them pure, as there are many adulterated imitations of this pine product which create nausea and never effect the desired results. Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up in half-ounce vials for druggists to dispense in filling prescriptions. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ontario—plainly printed thereon. To avoid substitution, it is best that the ingredients be purchased separately and the mixture prepared at home.

There has been talk for some time of the Messrs. Shillington inaugurating a roller skating rink in Chatham. Their splendid management of the local skating rink during the past season has won for them the highest praise from their patrons, who are more than satisfied with the treatment they received. If they had decided to establish the roller rink the announcement would undoubtedly have been welcomed by the skaters of the city. It is understood, however, that nothing definite has yet been decided on with regard to the roller rink.

INTEMPERANCE IS WORSE

A meeting of the No. 1 Harwich Literary Society was held Tuesday evening, in which the subject, "Resolved that war was a greater destructive agency to life and property than intemperance," was ably debated on. The speakers of the affirmative were W. A. McGeehey, W. W. Everitt and F. Zink, while the negative was upheld by W. R. Everitt, W. D. A. Ross and Lindsay Parrott. The debate was decided in favor of the negative. Mr. Duffus presided over the meeting.

DEATH'S CALL

The death of Mrs. Wm. Oldershaw, relict of the late Wm. Oldershaw, occurred yesterday morning, March 7th, at the age of 85 years and three days. Deceased was a resident of this city for nearly 65 years, and was very highly respected by everyone.

She leaves to mourn her loss a family of five children, namely: James, Joseph, Frank, and Mrs. Wm. Colby, of this city, and Mrs. Wm. Park, of Kansas.

The funeral will take place on Sunday, March 10, at two o'clock, from her daughter's residence, Mrs. Wm. Colby, Grant street. Interment at Maple Leaf cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

WANTS A CELEBRATION

"I read Mr. Murdoch's letter in The Planet last evening, in which that gentleman is advocating a military celebration for the first of July, and I must say I heartily endorse all that your correspondent says," remarked A. D. Westman this morning.

"A celebration of this kind would be a splendid thing for the city," he continued, "and I would like to see The Planet push it along. We have always been too backward and slow about getting up affairs of this kind."

"A successful holiday celebration would be a great advertisement for the city. I think that the Retail Merchants' Association should take the matter up, and give it all the encouragement they can."

Notice to Gas Consumers

Natural Gas will be turned into the mains of this company on Tuesday, the 19th day of March. Consumers are notified so that they may have pipes tested and their gas stoves fitted with closed tops and flue connections in accordance with our previous advertisement.

Gas will be supplied at five ounces pressure, instead of one and a half to two ounces as at present, but as a protection against possible leakage, house pipes should be tested at about ten pounds pressure.

OLD ENGLISH INNS.

Famous in Literature—One Has Been Licensed For 560 Years—The Taverns of Dickens.

"There is nothing which has been contrived by man," said Dr. Johnson,
"by which so much happiness is provided as by a good tavern or inn."

Pencil and notebook in hand Charles G. Harper has rambled for years among the inns of Old England, seeking justification for the Johnsonian dictum, and, like Capt. Cuttle, making a note (or a sketch) of it when found.

Oldest of Inns.

The oldest English Inn is said to be the Fighting Cocks, St. Albans, but the honor more probably rests
with the Seven Stars, Withy Grove, Manchester, which was built somewhere about 1500. There was a Seven Stars on the site even prior to that day, so the landlord is privileged to claim that the premises have been licensed for over 560 years.

The Dick Whittington, in Cloth
Fair, St. Bartholomew's, also goes back to the fifteenth century. At Bath and Compton there are original pilgrims' inns hundreds of years old —houses for the lodging of travelers
bent on pilgrimages to famous shrines.
The Georgian Bull at Dartford, with its red brick front, its nine windows in a row, its galleried courtyard, and its monumental bull in effigy among the chimney pots, stands on the site of a pilgrims' hostelry. A magnificent medieval house, with a courtyard eloquent of coaching days and a rare show of Jacobean carved oak, is the New Inn at Gloucester. In London,
the only remaining galleried inn is the George, in the Borough. High street, a still thriving house, rich in old-time flavor.

On a desolate hilltop in Yorkshire,
near Brough, is the Tan Hill Inn, the highest in England. This house is 1,777 feet above sea level.

Dick Turpin was the son of the landlord of the Crown at Hampstead, Essex, a still existing hostelry. Mr.
Harper gives his real history, and con-founds Harrison Ainsworth with this disconcerting epitaph: "The sorriest,
the most sordid and absolutely commonplace scoundrel that was ever raised to so undeserved a pedestal."

The Green Man, which stands on the crest of Putney Hill, sheltered many desperate and despicable characters, and the house still keeps a stout, bolt-studded door as a relic of its "good old times."

Historic Hostelry.

Among the houses with historic associations are the Crown and Treaty
at Uxbridge, where the Commissioners of King and Parliament vainly sought for peace in 1645; the Saracen's Head Southwell, where Byron hobnobbed at the bar, and where Charles
I. dined with the Scotch Commissioners and gave himself into their hands;
the Red Lion at High Wycombe, where Dickens made his first political speech; the Greyhound, at Thame,
where John Hampden came mortally wounded, prone upon his horse's neck; the Red Lion, Hillingdon; where the Merry Monarch lay the first night of his distracted wanderings through England—and many more which Mr. Harper specifies.

Dickens' Inns.

The very Odyssey of inns, says Mr.
Harper, is "Pickwick." In that work alone Dickens mentions fifty-five houses of refreshment. All Dickens lovers know the Pickwickian shrine
at Cobham, where Mr. Pickwick discovered his disconsolate friend.

London's Pickwick hosteleries have been remodelled out of all knowledge,
the Golden Cross at Charing Cross,
for example, where the genial old boy
began his travels, and the Bell Savage on Ludgate Hill, whence the eastern counties coaches set forth, of the Bull at Rochester this delicious story is told:

"So this is where Mr. Pickwick is supposed to have slept?" remarked a visitor, when viewing bedroom No. 17
by favor of a former landlord. That stranger meant no offense, but the landlord was greatly ruffled. Supposed to have slept? He did sleep here, sir."

An engrossing chapter deals with Dickensian inns: Jack Straw's Castle, Hamstead Heath, where the novelist invited his friends to "a red-hot chop
for dinner and a glass of good wine";
the King's Head, Chigwell, the May-pole of "Barnaby Rudge"; the Coach and Horses, Isleworth, associated with Bill Sykes and Oliver Twist; the George at Amesbury, where the landlord showed you old Martin Chuzzle-wit's bedroom; and dozens of others.

The Visits of Mr. Pickwick.

Very terrible are the memories that linger about the "Ostrich" at Coln-brook—the village which was once a coaching town full of inns, and marked the end of the first stage between London and Bath. Colnbrook was ruined by the railways. But the "Ostrich" remains to claim the reversion of the horrible story attaching to a predecessor—the story of Jarman,
the innkeeper, and his wife, who contrived an ingenious murder-trap in the principal bedroom. And the "Ostrich" delights in the old tale—which has done such good service in fiction
—of the wicked innkeeper, and shows
visitors the Blue Room as the scene of the awful crimes.

Every innkeeper knows the value of
"associations," and such is the nature of the inn that none of mature years
can be without some fragment memory or some horrible suggestion. Think of the inns that Dickens has made famous. "Pickwick is the very Odyssey of inns."

Loyal Immigrants.

When we think of immigrants we usually think of their effect upon this country, not so often of the effect of the transplanting upon them.
The special correspondent of The New York Post, writing from Russian, touches on this subject as follows: "I drove for an hour or two with one of these old Mennonites, a Russian from near Odessa, or the Black Sea. He was glad to hear that the autocracy in Russia was losing in the present conflict with the revolutionists. King Edward of England has not a more loyal adherent in all of his realm than this old Russian.
He said that all of his friends from the Old Country who had come out here felt as he did. 'This Government is our best,' was his vehement assertion made eagerly and with shining eyes."

A BOXING KITTEN.

Its Funny "Fistic" Antics Made a Big Dog "Laugh."

The proprietor of a small store in New York owns a black kitten that cultivates a habit of squatting on its haunches, like a bear or a kangaroo, and then sparring with its forepaws as if it had taken lessons from a pugilist.
The Telegram tells how the kitten conquered a big dog.

A gentleman took into the store an enormous black dog, half Newfoundland, half collie, fat, good natured and intelligent. The tiny kitten, instead of bolting at once for shelter, retreated a few paces, sat erect on its hind legs and put its "fists" in an attitude of defiance.

The contrast in size between the two was intensely amusing. It reminded one of Jack the Giant Killer preparing to demolish the giant.

Slowly and without a sign of excitability the huge dog walked as far as his chain would allow him and gazed intently at the kitten and its odd posture. Then, as the comicality of the situation struck him, he turned his head and shoulders around to the spectators, and at animal ever laughed in the world that dog assuredly did so then and there. He neither barked nor growled, but indulged in a low chuckle, while mouth and eyes beamed with merriment.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause.
Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet, the tablets called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers.
Its effects are charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.
"Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

SIR WILLIAM RUSSELL

OLDEST WAR CORRESPONDENT
DIES—ILLUSTRIOUS CAREER.

First to Gain International Fame In
This Special Line of Newspaper
Work—His Account of the Battle of Bull Run Sent the People of the Northern States into a Spasm—
Saw Balclava.

Sir William Howard Russell, who has recently passed away, was one of the world's greatest war correspondents. He was, perhaps, the first to gain international fame in this special line of newspaper work, and he lived to see most of his contemporaries vanish from the stage, and to contemplate the beginning and the ending of such a brilliant career as that of G. W. Stevens, a man young enough to be his grandson. With the prestige of newspaper work Sir William was well acquainted. He had the honor of overthrowing a Government, and the further distinction of arousing the wrath of a nation in the making, which was poured on his head
when the people of the Northern States read his account of the Battle of Bull Run. Forty years ago he visited Canada, and wrote a book about us, from a military point of view.
That work is interesting and instructive to-day, even if some of his predictions have not come to pass. Russell felt that Canada's destiny was a great one, and hesitated not to say so at a time when ignorance concerning this country was universal.

Like many another distinguished Russell, William Howard was an Irishman, and was born in 1831. He graduated from Trinity College, with the intention of entering law, but at this time the country was rent by the great Repeal agitation. He sought and obtained from The London Times an appointment to describe some of the monster meetings, and so well did he

LATE SIR WILLIAM RUSSELL.

do the work that he was offered a permanent position. He was sent to Denmark to report the war of 1849-50,
and there won his first laurels as a war correspondent. Returning home, he resumed his studies and was called to the bar. In 1854, he was again on the war path, at Malta, Gallipoli, Scutari and Varna. He went to the Crimea with the Second Division, and was present at the Battles of Alma and Inkermann. He was an eyewitness of the famous charge of the Light Brigade at Balclava, and had the immortal distinction of sending to the British public the first descriptive account of that great deed. He also saw the siege of Sebastopol.
In Russell's time the war correspondent was about on the same footing as a soldier, and certainly in a campaign like the Crimea there was no possibility of a supernumerary living in much luxury, even had the authorities desired to do so. Russell, however, was a soldier in the truest sense of the word. He was a soldier through the terrible hardships of that campaign. Unlike a soldier, he did not have to suffer in silence. To The Times he sent letter after letter describing the sufferings of the troops, and exposing the mismanagement of the supplies. Blundering was then rampant to a degree never since equalled, and it was assisted by rascally grafting on the part of contractors at home. Bad food, shoddy clothing, and poor ammunition were the commonplaces of the day. On one occasion a shipload of boots was sent out, every boot being for the same foot, and not a pair
among them.

Upon this situation Russell turned loose an able pen, and when he returned to England he found the country in a ferment of indignation. At the first election the Government was beaten, and a Government elected pledged to army reform. To Russell more than to any other person was due this overthrow, and naturally he became famous. From that time till the day of his death Russell was one of the most celebrated men in a profession that has never lacked great men. His next assignment was the occupation of the Czar, and on that occasion it is said that he was receiving in St. Petersburg with greater consideration than had ever been shown a correspondent before. In 1858 the outbreak of the Indian Mutiny called Mr. Russell to Lucknow, whose siege and capture he reported for The Thunderer. Next year he saw the tail-end of a war in Italy, and in 1861 he was sent to report the Civil War in the United States.

His account of the retreat of the Federal forces from the Battle of Bull Run created a fiercer controversy than any war correspondent, in similar circumstances, had aroused. It brought upon him bitter denunciations from the North, and was supposed to have a remarkable effect upon British public sympathy. Some parts of the story are worth republishing. He says:

"I perceived several wagons coming from the direction of the battlefield. My first impression was to have the wagons returned for fresh supplies of ammunition. But every moment the crowd increased;
drivers and men cried out with the most vehement gestures: 'Turn back!
Turn back! We are whipped!' They seized the heads of the horses, and swore at the opposing drivers. A breathless man in the uniform of an officer was cut off by getting between my horse and a cart for a moment. 'What is the matter, sir? What is all this about?' 'Why it means we are pretty badly whipped, that's the truth,' he gasped." And continued,

"Again I asked an officer: 'What's all this for?' 'We are whipped, sir. We are in full retreat. You are all to go back.' 'Can you tell me where I can find Gen. McDowell?' 'No! nor can anyone else.'"

Panic seemed to have seized on the army lest the terrible Southern cavalry should appear, and when one among the fugitives would raise this cry, the result would be a worse stampede. He continues: "The scene on the road had now assumed an aspect which has not a parallel in any description I have ever read. Infantry soldiers on mules and draught horses, with the harpers clinging to their heels, as much frightened as their riders; negro servants on their masters' chargers; ambulances crowded with unwounded soldiers; wagons swarming with men who threw out
the contents to make room, grinding
through a shouting, screaming mass
of men on foot, who were literally yelling with rage at every halt, and shrieking out: 'Here are the cavalry!
Will you get on?' Russell says that he was overcome by disgust, and vainly tried to get some of the men to halt and regain their nerve. 'But I might as well have talked to the stones,'
he says.

The discussion aroused by this report added to Russell's fame, and from that day onward his nickname was
"Bull Run Russell." He reported the Austrian-Prussian war, the Franco-Prussian war, the Zulu war, and the Egyptian war, and when no fighting was on his deep knowledge of military affairs found scope in editing the Army and Navy Gazette, which he founded, and opened at the time of his death. He had the honor of accompanying King Edward when as Prince of Wales he visited the Crimea and India, and from foreign sovereigns he received many marks of esteem. In 1896 he was knighted.

SENATOR KIRCHOFFER.

Something About the Hero of 10,000 Acres of Game Preserves.

Senator John N. Kirchoffer, of Brandon, whose recent wholesale lease of 10,000 acres of game preserves on the shore of Lake Manitoba was so strongly opposed that it had to be cancelled, was one of the early builders in the Canadian west. He was born in Ireland on May 5, 1848, and spent his years of legal study in Port Hope and Toronto, being called to the bar in 1871. He practiced law at Port Hope until 1883, when he joined develop the west. Mr. Kirchoffer led in the location of the Plum Creek settlement and lived with the settlers for three years. In 1884 he was called to the bar of Manitoba and in 1888-89
he was a member of the Manitoba legislature. His appointment to the Senate followed in 1892. His other employments have included that of Manitoba manager of the Imperial Loan and Investment Co. since 1886,
and district manager of the Lands Departments of the Hudson Bay Co. since the C. P. R. The activities which these positions have provided have always been varied by a keen love of sport and athletics. Senator Kirchoffer has for years been identified with cricket and football, but his

SENATOR KIRCHOFFER.

hunting lodge on Lake Manitoba is his first love and is said to be in the midst of the finest hunting grounds for ducks, geese and waterfowl in the world. It was this inviting field that the Prince of Wales and his distinguished entourage visited in 1901,
where they bagged 603 ducks in two days' shooting. Senator Kirchoffer is a keen sportsman and a most amiable gentleman and host, but when he sought a monopoly of such an area of hunting grounds his old country using bringing to a misunderstanding of the western temper, hence the protests and the cancellations.

The feeling of the west was probably correctly reflected by The Regina Leader, when it said recently: "If Senator Kirchoffer and his friends must shoot ducks within an area
sacred to themselves, then let them purchase the shooting rights of some English sporting estate such as is put on the market from time to time.
We want no sporting aristocracy in this country maintained at the public expense, and so long as there are ducks to shoot on the Manitoba marshes they should be as accessible to the guns of the humblest sportsmen in the country as to those of Senator Kirchoffer and his aristocratic friends. The ducks, it is safe to say, would as soon be shot by a mere plebeian sportsman as by a man of Senatorial rank."

The Reward of Industry.

Sir William White, who till recently was director of naval construction of Great Britain, began life as a shipwright's apprentice, but his genius carried him up the ladder with a rapidity which startled his fellow-workers. He nearly lost his life once through taking an experimental trip with a submarine boat which was being submerged stuck in the mud. It was only after furious work with the pumps that he was rescued.

ECONOMY.

Of course there are other good points about "SURPRISE" Soap
besides the way it makes work easy,
and one of the best is the economy
of it.

"SURPRISE" is a pure, hard soap, and it takes only a little to do a big lot of work. Some people who use it say they don't know which wears the best,
the soap or the clothes they wash with it.

And it's just as good for general housework as it is for the laundry; in fact, there isn't a thing washable that can't be cleaned with "SURPRISE" Soap, better, easier, and cheaper than it could be done in any other way.

When this is understood most everybody is surprised that
"SURPRISE" costs no more than common soaps.

Walking Skirts Growing Longer. Plaids and Stripes For Spring. Much as we regret it, all costumes, even those for street wear, are decidedly longer, and none but the distinctly morning suit clears the ground in the free and easy way we have all—except the short, stout woman—grown to love.

Plaids and stripes in indefinite tones are to be worn for morning frocks during the early spring. In gray these suits are particularly fetching, barred off with a dull shade of yellow.

Elaborate braiding marks a number of costumes among the spring showing. A citron green cloth suit is braided with souches a tone or two deeper than the material and about two inches wide. This braid is put on in an effective design.

Short Jacket Ueups Bolero—Fads For the Feminine Toilet.

The form of the short jacket which is replacing the bolero is the short half fitted neck. It hangs to about three inches below the waist line, just suggesting the line of the bust on the sides as it curves in at the waist line behind. It is generally trimmed with up and down lines, bands of cloth embroidery or braiding, and a narrow vest may make it more elaborate. Sleeves are long. If they do not reach to the wrists, they cover the greater part of the forearm. A small gilet sleeve is often seen on a coat of this kind.

Dresses of soft black net are trimmed with black velvet ribbons and always look well. Among other diaphanous fabrics silk muslin and nylon rank with net and chiffon, and there are some beautiful examples of flowered chiffon with interwoven black borders, either straight in Grecian or in tabbed design, that are very popular.

Veil pins have now been added to the long list of expensive items that go to complete the modish feminine toilet. Usually they are narrow bars of gold set with small stones harmonizing with the veil and hat. Pearl settings are, however, much admired, and wrought gold pins without gems are also popular.

The cut shows a charming dinner gown of black crepe de chine, trimmed with ruffles of the material and velvet combined with medallions of cream lace.

TWO OPEN LETTERS

IMPORTANT TO MARRIED WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well.

It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that Mrs.

Mrs. Mary Dimmick

Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., is fully qualified to give helpful advice to sick women. Read Mrs. Dimmick's letters.

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from painful periods—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration of the female organs. The doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I possibly avoid it. Please help me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D.C.

Her second letter:

"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 56th and East Capitol Sts., Washington, D.C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how little it cost her—a two-cent stamp. Yet how valuable was the reply! As Mrs. Dimmick says—it saved her life. Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers all women helpful advice.

DROPS DEAD AFTER FIGHT.

Altercation With Conductor In Street Car Leads to Bleeds.

New York, March 6.—Ira Kilburn, a wealthy retired manufacturer, living in Prospect Avenue, South Orange, N.J., dropped dead in a police station in Newark, N.J., last night, after a fight with a conductor on a street car.

He had been knocked off the car, and with the conductor, James Kelly, taken to the police station. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Kilburn was on his way home from Newark and boarded a car. He and the conductor exchanged words and then blows, and both were taken to the police station. Kilburn started to tell his story and fell dead in front of the desk. He was one of the best known men in the State, not only through his local connections with the agricultural society, but because of his reputation as a breeder of trotting and road horses. He was an expert driver.

Kelly was held pending the result of an autopsy.

REGAINED NERVE AND VITAL ENERGY.

From Walton, P. O., Que., comes the following from Mr. Nazaire Ben-egin:—"If anyone had told me any remedy could build up my nervous system so well, I would not have believed them. Before using Ferrozone I was run down in nerve and vital energy, and in very weak health. I didn't get enough sleep at night, felt poorly in the day time. Ferrozone has filled me with energy and vim, increased my weight and made a new man of me."

Hundreds tell the same story—Weak and dispirited, everything going wrong, unable to catch up. They took Ferrozone and all was changed to health and serenity. Price per box 50c. at all dealers.

R. D. Gunn to Succeed O'Meara.

Ottawa, March 7.—Judge Gunn of Orillia is stated to be the new junior judge of Carleton in succession to the late Judge O'Meara.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure—is and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package.

For this reason mothers and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other.

Humor and Philosophy

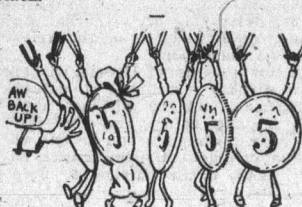

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It takes an heiress to reform a man by marrying him; she makes him plastic by working pure gold into him.

In the game of life, as in a barrel of potatoes, the good ones get on top somehow and small potatoes are always found at the bottom.

When a man is a dead one custom does not require his family to wear black.

All strap hangers look alike to the street car companies and look like 5 cents.

Merit is not always rewarded or virtue crowned, but pure nerve gets in the spotlight every time.

People ought really to consider what sort of actors they are before they start out to make a holy show of themselves.

The ordinary brand of hot air isn't guaranteed to keep the frost out in January.

People don't tumble over themselves to find a cure for worry; it would put too many of them out of business.

A man measures others by what he thinks they can't do, himself by what he thinks he can.

Surgical Reform.

If you have a naughty habit That annoys your charming wife, Have the doctor amputate it With his sharp and pointed knife. If you see a sawbones passing Call him in without delay For a trifling operation. It's the new and modern way.

They can take a naughty youngster Who has learned to smoke and chew And by cutting out some pieces Make him over nice and new. If his mother could not make him Brush his hair and fix up neat He would after one strong treatment Rather do that than eat.

Let a skillful fabricator On the surgeon's table lie. If the cutting is successful, Then he cannot tell a lie. If he runs to stealing chickens They can do some strange to him That will make him leave a rooster, Though it's on the lowest limb.

Do not waste your precious moments Doing foolish things and cheap. Making idle resolutions That you know you cannot keep. Take your troubles to a surgeon. Sternly bound to see it through, And for several hundred dollars He will make you good as new.

Weeding Them Out.

"I'd make everybody work if I had my way." "Gee, but that would be hard on the world." "Why?" "Poets, philosophers and geniuses wouldn't last half an hour."

Dividing Time.

"Jones and Brown appear to be fast friends."

"Yes, they have a working agreement that Jones shall talk half an hour about his baby and that Brown shall then have the next half hour to talk about his automobile. By that means neither is bored more than half the time."

When He Could See It.

"That fellow doesn't look very bright." "He knows a lot, though." "What about?" "About twenty miles from the center of the city and under the water six months out of the year."

Lame Intellect.

"Aw, let's drop the argument." "Why?" "I've sprained my brain." "How?" "Trying to follow your crooked reasoning."

Pair to Draw To.

"What's more exasperating than a woman with a grievance?" "Easy." "Well?" "A woman trying to find que."

Not Vain, Oh, No.

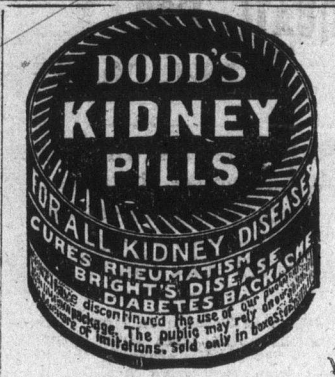

"What sort of a man is he?" "One of those guys that's always having his picture taken."

Cheap Philanthropy.

"What are wishes good for?" "To circulate among the poor."

See It In Your Sleep.

"What's a nightmare?" "The horse you lost on."

More Ice In Lakes.

Detroit, March 6.—Reports indicate that there is more ice in all the lakes than at this period last year.

Over Western Superior, the ice fields extend beyond Two Harbors. Over the centre and eastern portions, the fields are heavier. St. Mary's River ice is solid and extends the entire length.

The icefields in Lake Michigan are more extensive than last season, but have impeded navigation but little this winter.

The ice at the Straits is solid and extends from the east end of Bois Blanc Island to Lake Michigan. It is not as heavy as usual, nor is it wind-eroded. There is little snow covering it.

There are extensive icefields over the northern portion of Lake Huron. The ice-bridge at the foot of the lake, which formed on Saturday night, is firm.

St. Clair River is solid from Port Huron to Lake St. Clair. The ice in the Detroit River extends from the Smith clock dock to the mouth.

The icefields along the south shore of Lake Erie extend beyond vision.

HAIRDRESSING HINTS.

To Beautify an Ugly Forehead—To Keep Tortoise Shell Bright.

Don't hesitate to help an ugly forehead to beauty with a dust of soft curls crowned by a half wreath for dressy occasions.

Tortoise shell combs when dull and dim may be restored to their original brightness by rubbing them with finely powdered rotten stone and oil. A clean piece of chamols skin should be used as a polisher.

Single flowers are still worn at the left side of the hair, arranged rather near the front, and this blossom is of a larger size than that used last season.

The coronet braid is a dignified and pretty arrangement for the hair. It broadens a thin face and gives height to a full countenance.

Parisians are wearing their hair well brushed and perfectly plain without the least suspicion of a wave. The marcel effect has become too common to be distinctive. In cases where the scalp is too dry and the hair brittle a little castor oil rubbed in nightly will not spoil the texture of the hair, but will, on the contrary, improve it.

The dressing sack illustrated is made of dotted chamelle trimmed with lace insertion and tied with velvet ribbon. It is made in what is known as jumper style and is without an opening, drawn over the head and tied about the neck to keep it in place.

FASHION'S TREND.

New Lace Berthas—Long Gloves With V Shaped Gown at Wrist.

There are lace berthas of every description. The newest are composed of sequined net, and they have straps that go over the shoulders. The upper part of the arm is left bare between the strap and the berthas frill, which forms the sleeve and falls to the elbow. Other accessories of dress are to be found in net of silk, lace, chiffon or net; also in lace collars and in floral adornments.

There is no probability that glove expenditure will be less. Tan gloves are replacing black for the street for general wear, and there is no doubt that dealers believe the demand for long gloves is to continue, even if sleeves should be lengthened. To provide for this contingency the newer gloves have V shaped gowns inserted in the outer seam from just above the wrist, allowing fullness sufficient for the glove to slip easily over the coat sleeve.

There is only one really fashionable way to make the severe shirt waist. It is a compromise between the blouse and the perfectly plain waist of other days. The new waist is laid in fine tucks at the shoulders in groups of five or eight, with a tiny box plait, unstitched, between the tucks.

The gown illustrated is of Nattier blue chiffon broadcloth. The waist is an exceedingly attractive one, giving the effect of the overblouse, which is so much liked this season, while in reality it is all in one, the lace portion being closed invisibly at the left of the front and the waist itself at the center. The skirt is six gored and cut in circular style, finished with tucks at the front edges. JUDIC CHOLLET.

she writes: "For the past fourteen months I was nervous all the time, and became so run down I was unable to walk across the house without getting dizzy. My friends told me I looked like a living ghost and advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got two boxes and within two weeks I had improved wonderfully and after finishing the fourth box I was completely cured. They are the greatest pills I ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills act directly on the disordered heart and nerves, and restore them to healthy action. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart beat, invigorating the nervous system, and acting as a food for the blood, improving its quality, making it rich and red.

THE LATE WM. BALL

The funeral of the late Wm. Ball took place from the family residence at the corner of Stanley street and Hall Mines road, on Sunday afternoon at 2.30. The members of Kootenay Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., attended in a body and the services were taken by Rev. F. H. Graham. The pallbearers were Jas. Bulger, Geo. Steel, David Proudfoot, Chas. Longhurst, Geo. Horstead and J. A. Gilker. The interment took place in the city cemetery, Nelson, B. C., Daily Canadian.

Among the floral tributes were a wreath from the Ashdown Hardware Company, a cross from the Rebeccas, three links from the Oddfellows, and a wreath from the Foresters. Deceased was a former Chathamite but left this city for the west about thirteen years ago.

BRIDGE IS CLOSED

The Aberdeen bridge will be closed for some time, to allow the contractors to complete the work of strengthening the structure for the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Railway.

During the time that the bridge is closed, which will be probably three or four weeks, the cars will run as far as the Blonde corner, where passengers will get on and off. It will be necessary for the people to get to the corner via the Fifth street bridge, as the Aberdeen will not be in shape for even pedestrians.

The men have been working on the bridge for a month, and will now soon be completed. They have completed the concrete abutments, and are getting ready to have the bridge re-planked. All of the steel has arrived and everything is in readiness to push the work along as rapidly as possible.

GOING TO NORTH WEST

Last Wednesday night about one hundred guests assembled at the home of Mrs. W. J. Burroughs, Kent Centre, to bid farewell to her and her family before they leave for Chaplin, Sask., to join Mr. Burroughs, who is keeping a general store in that place. A very pleasant evening was spent in dancing and cards, after which Mrs. Burroughs was presented with a dozen silver knives and forks and Mr. Burroughs a beautiful fur cap, also an address, as follows:

Dear Mrs. Burroughs,—We, your friends and neighbors, hearing of your early departure for the West, have met to spend a social evening with you in your home, and to wish you every success and happiness in your new place of abode. We have always found you a woman of genial manner and an excellent neighbor, and of Mr. Burroughs we may say was considered an honest and progressive citizen and always ready to help in any cause which he thought was for the good of the country at large. We are confident that you will soon make new friends where you go, and we ask you to accept these for yourself and Mr. Burroughs as a reminder of the friends left behind and as a slight token of our respect for yourself and family.

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Sometimes farmers say it does not pay to advertise auction sales in The Weekly Planet, but if they had attended the Edward McKerral sale in Chatham Township last week they would have seen several bidders from Lambton County, who saw the advertisement in The Planet. The Planet is safe in saying that the eight dollars invested in The Planet brought Mr. McKerral over $150 additional to his sale, or even more than that amount.

FOUR BRANCHES

The Lyons Tailoring Company is opening a branch store in this city next to the Grand Central Hotel and directly opposite the Opera House, on Thursday, 14th inst. This makes four stores this firm operates—one in Hamilton, one in Brantford, one in St. Catharines. The growth of this concern's business is striking evidence of what good goods, good work and fair dealing can do. The Lyons Company buys all of its cloth direct from the manufacturers and sells for cash only. This enables it to sell for a lower figure, and with expert cutting and making combined with the low price it has built up one of the largest merchant tailoring businesses in western Ontario.

GOT HIS SUPPER

John Mannix was the sole occupant of the prisoner's dock at Police Court this morning. John's face is not an unfamiliar one in Police Court circles. He has been there before. John Barleycorn is his worst enemy.

Last night John was hungry. He had been on a spree all day, and spent his surplus cash. He therefore didn't have the where-withal to pay for the square meal which his empty stomach kept persistently telling him he needed.

John roamed around town for some time, till the savory smell of cooking suppers, to which he had not been invited, made him desperate. He dropped into Bower's restaurant, and ordered up oysters and bread and butter. The oysters made him feel very good, but, the inner man satisfied, John found he had still another man to satisfy. This was the restaurant man, who politely asked for his pay. John made a minute investigation of his pockets, but failed to locate anything of greater value than a few buttons.

This morning Mannix appeared before Judge Houston on a charge of obtaining his supper under false pretenses. He told the Judge he could not remember anything about the affair. He said that he must be guilty, and elected to be tried at once. His supper and spree cost him 21 days in the common jail at hard labor. The Judge told him he did not wish to see him up again, for it might go harder with him next time.

Mannix is an English emigrant, who came out to this country some time ago. He said that he had been working as a farm laborer up the creek and around Ridgeway.

QUAIL FOR KENT COUNTY

N. H. Stevens Intercedes
With Hon Dr. Reaume On Interesting Question

A VERY PLEASANT TRIP

When in Toronto on Monday N. H. Stevens spent some time with Mr. Kelly Evans, Secretary of the Game and Fish Protective Association of Ontario, giving him resolutions, petitions, etc., from the Chatham branch association.

The Hon. Dr. Reaume went to Toronto on the same train with Mr. Stevens and he took the opportunity of discussing the whole matter in regard to the game question with Mr. Reaume.

Mr. Stevens did not think he could do any more by accompanying the demonstration which waited on the Government in regard to the Game Act which was placed before the Parliament at Toronto, especially after having the opportunity of explaining the whole matter to Hon. Dr. Reaume and Mr. Evans.

Mr. Stevens got a direct promise that the Government would this spring furnish Kent County with a large number of imported quail, and he proposed on behalf of the Chatham branch of the association that these quail would be distributed throughout the county in such localities as the association thought best adapted for the growing of quail. These localities must, of course, be where there is fairly good drainage and plenty of cover to protect the young birds.

While in Toronto Mr. Stevens had a very pressing invitation to wait and attend the banquet of the old boys of the County of Durham, which was held at the Grand Union Hotel, Toronto. Durham is Mr. Stevens' birthplace and he very much regretted not being able to stay, but his business in the Maple City was too pressing, so he had to return home.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

Considerable interest has been taken locally in the recent fire in Montreal, when several small school children were suffocated. There is a prevailing opinion that something should be done to commemorate the action of Miss Maxwell, the heroic lady principal who deliberately sacrificed her life in order to save her little charges. The letter written by Mr. Merrifield has struck a popular sentiment. Chief Holmes is another man who is strongly of the opinion that the incident should not be dropped. He likes the suggestion given out by Mr. Merrifield, and goes farther, and says now that there are representatives from this city who are going to Toronto soon to attend the meeting of the Ontario Educational Association, it would be a good move if they would bring the matter before the attention of the Association, to see if something good would not result. The suggestion is worthy of the consideration of the local representatives who will attend this convention.

A few days ago Chief Holmes received a letter from the Chief of Police of Toledo asking him to be on the lookout for a man who was wanted in that place. The Chief wrote back to say that the man had been in Chatham, but had gone to Detroit, where he had relatives. A few days later Mr. Holmes received word that the man had been arrested in Chicago and the Chief of Police of Toledo took occasion to thank Mr. Holmes for his trouble in the matter. The information had been of great service in the capture of the man.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond this simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure or not along the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure. Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are kept healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone and a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, Dr. Pierce prints on the bottle wrapper in plain English a full list of the ingredients. Therefore not a "patent medicine," but a medicine of known composition.

Miss Hazel Webster and Mr. Gordon Harrington, of Chatham, made us a call last Friday evening. Wallaceburg Herald-Record.

NATURE'S CATARRH CURE

Sensible and Scientific Way to Cure
This Disagreeable Disease.

Nearly everyone suffers at one time or another with catarrh.

The natural way to cure this disagreeable disease is by applying healing medications direct to the diseased spot.

In no other way can this be done as naturally as by the use of Hyomei, breathed through the nasal pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit.

Put several drops of Hyomei in the inhaler and then for a few minutes, you breathe come through it. In that way all the air that enters the nasal passages, the throat or the lungs, is filled with Hyomei's healing medication, reaching the most remote air cells of the respiratory organs, destroying all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

A few days use of Hyomei will show how quickly it relieves all catarrhal conditions, and you will not have to use it long before you find it has effected a complete and lasting cure. The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei, or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Write us today for a symptom blank, which we will send you free, together with treatise on Catarrh and how to cure it. When you fill in and return to us the symptom blank, our consulting physician will give you case the best care and attention, and write you a letter of advice without charge. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

WANTS $5000

Wilson, Pike & Company have issued a writ against the O. P. R. for $5,000 on behalf of their client, Mr. McGuigan, who was injured in the accident on the Lacroix street crossing on December 22.

McGuigan had both legs broken, and has since been confined to one of the city hospitals.
