Half Dozen Strikes In Progress In London

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The recurrence of labor unrest in many forms is evidenced by the fact that half a dozen strikes are now in progress in London. Thousands of men are already affected, and there are threats of still further trouble. In almost every case the demand is for increased wages, although the question of trade union recognition figures prominently in some disputes. The building trade is the one most affected. At any moment 50,000 laborers in the metropolis may adopt a "down-tools" policy, and their action would involve another 150,000 skilled artisans.

The laborers are asking for reform of rules, an increase of wages, and the same treatment as that meted out to skilled workmen.

The renovation of Buckingham Palace is in no danger of being delayed by the strike, as the men have no grievance against the contractor who has the work in hand.

The masters regard the campaign as the beginning of an organized movement for the suppression of the non-unionist.

HEAVY DOCKET WITH THE POLICE

Ernest Pike Faced Charge of Entering House of Peter Porter—Other Cases

A heavy docket was brought before the court this morning after a brief holiday. No less than eleven cases were dealt with by His Worship, but the majority of them were of a minor nature and were easily disposed of.

Ernest George Pike faced a charge of unlawfully entering the home of Peter Porter in the Township of Holland on August 13th. A plea of guilty was entered. Porter was not to give evidence, and told the court an interesting story of how he had been broken into while he was absent, attending a Methodist conference, there being an appearance of some disorder when he returned.

A revolver and a box of cartridges, a piece of pie were missing. Witnesses found tracks and traced them to a field where the accused was working.

Other witnesses were heard, testifying to the tracks around Porter's house, and High Court Constable Hughes produced a revolver which defendant had given to him when arrested. Porter testified that the firearm produced looked like his.

The defendant took the stand on his behalf, and denied all knowledge of the theft from Porter's house. The other produced, he claimed to have purchased in Kingston.

A number of witnesses were heard in the defence, the accused being represented by Mr. W. S. Brewster.

Magistrate Livingston in summing up the evidence, admitted that there were many suspicious circumstances in connection with the case, but the defence was not sufficiently strong to convict. He therefore dismissed the charge. Mr. W. A. Hollinrake acted for Porter.

When the name of Alan Raffaello, a Canadian, failed to put in an appearance, and a warrant was issued for his arrest, Raffaello appeared in court a few days ago and was granted liberty in order that he should produce two trunks claimed to be the property of R. Dienna. The trunks had not yet been produced.

Byron Fairbairn, who in past years has been a visitor to the police court on various charges, faced a charge of being drunk. Evidence was given and a sentence was allowed to go on suspended sentence, after paying the fine amounting to $4.75.

It was not unlawfully interfered with by P. C. Smith in the performance of his duty, was the charge preferred against Wm. Cudmore. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge, and the officer was called to give evidence. He stated that while another man under arrest, Cudmore objected and insisted upon the constable's duty. As a result of the loud talk a big crowd was attracted. The patrol was called and Cudmore was arrested.

Cudmore, in his own defence stated that he simply advised the officer to let the prisoner go.

Magistrate Livingston told Cudmore that he had no right to "butt in" and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Frank Clouse was up on the carpet on a disorderly charge. The police asked for a remand which was granted.

MILLION MARK FOR TORONTO EXHIBITION

Premier Borden Pressed Button for the Opening This Afternoon.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—Following the first official luncheon, at which Premier Borden was the guest of honor, the Premier at 2.30 this afternoon pressed the button which officially set in motion the Canadian National Exhibition of 1913. The gates were open at 8 o'clock this morning, and judging from the thousands who poured through during the early hours, it was considered that the crowd would be a record-breaker for the opening day.

The exhibition management are after an attendance record this year. The only thing that can keep us below the million mark is the weather, and it will keep it mighty busy holding us back," declared J. O. Orr, the manager, after a final inspection of the grounds, which revealed everything in first-class shape.

Premier Borden, accompanied by Mrs. Borden and Hon. G. H. and Mrs. Perley, arrived in the city on Sunday, 10 a.m. to noon at the King Edward Hotel. The day was spent quietly, and in the evening the Premier and Mr. Perley were entertained at the York Club.

On Tuesday Mr. Borden will lay the corner stone of the new technical high school on Lippincott street at 11 a.m., and spend the afternoon at the exhibition, returning to Ottawa in the evening.

Prior to proceeding to the Exhibition grounds to formally open the exhibition, Right Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of Canada, spent a quiet morning.

The Premier's movements for the day were arranged as follows: 10 a.m. to noon—At the hotel, receiving personal friends and reporters. 12 noon—Visit to the exhibition grounds to deliver opening address at 2.30 p.m.; sight-seeing on the grounds until 4 o'clock, taking lunch at the grounds.

4 to 7 p.m.—Calls on personal friends and an auto ride about the city. Evening—Dinner at Government House. "I can't say," was the Premier's laconic reply to a question as to the probability of an early session.

After a moment's pause, Premier Borden continued: "The difficulty of an early session, say about the middle of October, is in getting the departmental material, such as reports, in shape for presentation to the House. As against that, experience has shown that when Parliament is called towards the end of November little is accomplished on account of the Christmas holidays until after the first of the year."

Dublin Horse Show Will Be Brilliant

Lord and Lady Aberdeen Will do a Lot of Entertaining.

DUBLIN, Aug. 25.—Dublin and its neighborhood will be very full for the horse show, and a brilliant attendance is looked for each day. A large party will be entertained by Lord and Lady Aberdeen, whose arrival at the show on two of the days will be carried out in vice regal state. Their guests will include Ambassador and Mrs. Page.

Many evening entertainments will be given throughout the week. Lady Aberdeen has sent out invitations for her usual big dinner parties, and much entertaining will be done at the Royal Hospital, where Lady Paget, who has been abroad, is expected to give a big ball, which will be attended in state by the vice regal party. Lady Aberdeen will also give a private tea and a fine of $5 was imposed.

The little Canadians and the blind partisans, he said, must be eliminated and way made for the larger Canadians. Continuing, he said: "Some there are who claim with confidence that the politicians of Canada, like many other things, are becoming commercialized and that they are fast becoming like our neighbor,

POOR HARRY THAW; BREAKFAST FROM HOTELS LATE THIS MORNING

And Harry and the Sherbrooke Jailer Had a Row—His First Display of Temper Since His Detention—Conference Among Lawyers Still Proceeding.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 25.—Neither William Travers Jerome, of the State of New York, nor Roger O'Mara, for the Thaw family, had arrived at Sherbrooke this afternoon, and counsel for both sides marked time with further conferences. The general understanding still prevailing was that Thaw would be arraigned in the Superior Court Wednesday morning on the commitment under which he has been held a fugitive from Mattegwan, turned over to the immigration authorities, and ultimately deported to Vermont.

Thaw had a row with the jail authorities to-day because his breakfast from a hotel had arrived late. It was the worst show of temper since his detention here.

Sherbrooke, not Coaticook, will be the seat of the immigration inquiry, according to apparently reliable reports. Facilities for holding such a hearing are far better here than at Coaticook, and the proceedings could all take place in the court house where arguments in the habeas corpus proceedings go on.

J. Parkinson of Montreal, connected with Dominion secret service, reached Sherbrooke to-day to keep in touch with the case. Stories of Thaw money corrupting courts, judges and immigration officials—based, all of them, so far as anyone can learn—were being discussed in the hotel corridors and on the streets at noon.

Ex-Governor Stone of Pennsylvania characterized such rumors as an absurdity. "The law will be allowed to take its course in the case," said the ex-Governor. "All we ask for is simple justice."

H. McKewen of the Thaw legal contingent explained this afternoon one of the reasons why they had not yet announced a definite plan of action. "We are waiting for the other side to show its hand," he remarked. "It has never been made clear to us just exactly what the attitude of the Canadian authorities is in regard to Thaw."

A Week and a Day. SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 25.—A week and a day since Harry K. Thaw's sensational escape from the Mattegwan asylum, his flight across at least three states and his entrance into Canada, where he was captured, found Thaw still confined in the Sherbrooke jail and the two men who are to lead the forces fighting for and against his return not yet on the scene.

These men were William Travers Jerome, former district attorney of New York, and Roger O'Mara, a Pittsburgh detective, who for the better part of his life, has been retained by the wealthy Thaw family to help Harry K. Thaw in the trouble his dissipation brought him. While O'Mara is not a lawyer, the Canadian counsel employed for Thaw look to the detective officially to represent the family in proceedings that are to come. The first of these is to be Thaw's arraignment in the Superior court here on a writ of habeas corpus on Wednesday next.

The time of O'Mara's arrival had not been made known this forenoon and Jerome's whereabouts were surrounded with much mystery. During the night it was reported that he had reached a Vermont town not far from the frontier, Jerome more than any other man was instrumental in keeping Thaw in confinement since the killing of Stanford White. He comes to the case now with a better first-hand knowledge of the whole Thaw situation than probably any other man in the world. As an American lawyer he will have no standing in Canadian courts and this will be taken care of on behalf of the new York state interests by Samuel Jacobs, a leading lawyer of Montreal. Jerome's greatest value will be when the matter of Thaw's extradition comes up in Vermont, should he be reported there by the immigration authorities. He would also be of great help in an advisory capacity, if the insanity question is taken up.

It was commented on with interest here to-day that the procedure of first bringing Thaw into court as at present outlined by writ of habeas corpus was also the basis of so many hearings in the State of New York. In all these Jerome was especially retained by the state.

Thaw had a fairly restless night. He is fortunate as are all those who (Continued on Page 3)

BLOODIEST SURGERY IN HIS EXPERIENCE

St. Louis Doctor Who Returned From Big London Congress.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—Remarking that in the London hospitals he saw some of the bloodiest surgery in his experience, Dr. W. Stanffer of St. Louis, on his way home after attending the International Medical Congress in London, declares that the medical science in Canada and the United States is ten years ahead of Britain.

The better organization in North America, as well as the greater opportunities for research work, the doctor, the principal reasons. Dr. Stanffer, who is a specialist in a certain branch of surgery, naturally wished to see operative work in the London hospitals. He saw what he described as the bloodiest surgery in his experience there. The operators, small frame, allowed their patients to weaken unnecessarily, thus often weakening the sufferer, when a little care might have obviated such contingency.

In Great Britain, said the doctor, there is little or no organization in the medical profession.

Will Attend Convention. Postmaster Alfred Stevens leaves to-morrow morning for Winnipeg, where he will attend the annual convention of the Letter Carriers of the Dominion of Canada.

A Good Sport

One Honest Race Track Follower Who Has Passed Away.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—Henry Ryan, known among the sporting fraternity and followers of the race horses, as "John Henry," was found dead yesterday in one of the Grand Trunk Railway offices on the river front, where he was employed during the summer months as night watchman.

Although he had been a follower of the race horses all his life, and spent most of his time in the company of bookmakers and betting men, Ryan was both religious and conscientious. He had the reputation that no matter under what circumstances, would he tell a lie. During the prosecution of a well known gambler a couple of years ago, friends of the latter made strenuous efforts to induce Ryan, who had been summoned as a witness to leave the city, or at least suppress what ever had come to his knowledge that might be damaging to the prisoner. Ryan flatly declined to be bought, and his evidence, given, however, only as reluctant admissions when questioned, convicted the gambler.

Ryan made much money for others but had none himself.

Before the average man reaches the age of twenty-five he has either made a fool of himself or has employed some woman to do it for him.

WOMEN OF DISTRICT SIGN ROUND ROBIN

Wives of Strikers Complain That They Cannot See Their Husbands.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 25.—An attempt is to be made to start No. 1 mine with nonunion men by the Western Fuel Company. Trouble is expected. This notice is posted at the headquarters of the U. M. W. of A. "An attempt is being made by the Western Fuel Company to operate No. 1 mine by non-union men. Unless martial law is proclaimed, the right of picketing is ours. All union men are ordered for picket duty. Remember those in jail!"

There is grave anxiety as to the outcome. In the meantime the Jingle Pot Mine is working full blast. Arrests continue to be made. Women of the district have forwarded a round robin to the attorney-general complaining that they are not allowed to see their husbands in jail.

Toronto's Defunct Club. MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—That the owners of the defunct Tecumseh Hockey Club of Toronto, will be given another opportunity to sell out, is the statement from one of a syndicate of ten ready to buy. The syndicate now after the franchise have offered to assume all the club's liabilities and pay the owners $3,000 a cash. The syndicate will, if they secure the franchise, place a first class team on the ice, probably the St. Michael's team intact.

Lofty Appeal For National Ideals Made at Conference of Canadian Clubs at Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 25.—The fifth annual conference of the Association of Canadian Clubs opened here this morning with an attendance of over two hundred delegates, representing clubs from coast to coast.

President McClelland, in his address, lauded C. R. McCullough, founder of the Canadian Club movement, and Clementina Fessenden, originator of Empire Day. He strongly urged the appointment of a Canadian Minister of Health to deal with sanitation and proper housing of the masses. Prudery and mock modesty of modernites, he declared, had too long held back knowledge of physical culture, race suicide, maternity, sexology and other questions affecting the vitality of the race. Discussing Canada's political life, he insisted that there was altogether too much partisan politics in the country. The little Canadians and the blind partisans, he said, must be eliminated and way made for the larger Canadians. Continuing, he said: "Some there are who claim with confidence that the politicians of Canada, like many other things, are becoming commercialized and that they are fast becoming like our neighbor, the representatives of the financial interests, rather than of the people. When one sees the British flag kicked about, as it were in the political arena for political ends and purposes and with signal effect, on its apologetic efforts to induce Canadian or British patriotism is the sacred attribute it ought to be, and whether it is yet rooted in the hearts and fibre of the Canadian people. When one sees on an occasion of political contests, some of the Canadian clergy turning their backs into political hustings, one wonders whether the separation of the church and state in Canada is only in name and not in reality.

The balance of the president's address was a lofty appeal for high national ideals and warning note against the possibility of the country being ruled by Canadian millionaires. One had to admit that in the States materialism ruled as supremely as any monarch. This was something for Canada to avoid.

Touching on civic government, he said in part: "Civic government throughout Canada is one of its weakest points. It has much to learn in this regard from European cities. The larger and more important the civic center in Canada, the more likely is its management and the expenditure of its revenues in the hands of the most politically partisan, the most financially irresponsible and the least representative of its citizens.

Mr. McClelland urged a large municipal control of public utilities. The president expressed himself as being strongly opposed to Canada being committed to militarism. It would be refreshing, he said, to hear some of the Canadian statesmen, give utterance to a little peace eloquence. He commented upon the harmonious relationship between Canada and the United States and concluded with a stirring appeal on British connections.

Bernard K. Sandwell, the well known Montreal dramatic critic, spoke this morning on "the stage and its position in Canada."

This afternoon Sanford Evans of Winnipeg, ex-Mayor of that city, and past president of the Canadian clubs, will speak on "The Stranger Within Our Gates."

Gathering of the Clans Will be Notable Event

LONDON, Aug. 25.—King George and Queen Mary have announced their intention of being present at the Braemar gathering with the Princess Royal in the park at Braemar, September 4. The gathering of the clans was not held last year, owing to the death of the Duke of Fife. It is anticipated that this year it will be a brilliant success, owing to the presence of their Majesties. As this is the fashionable event of the year in Scotland, many well-known people will be in attendance at the gathering, an event which has been in existence for close to a century.

Except when a death occurs among the patrons, the gathering of the clans is an annual fixture and a fete day in the Highlands. The scene presented of men in tartans and women in smart gowns, sashed with the colors of the clans and wearing their badges, is most picturesque. The King is chief patron of the event, which, it is interesting to note, received royal recognition from Queen Victoria more than sixty years ago, when she first graced the gathering with her presence.

BRANTFORD FIRM LOSES IN A WESTERN BLAZE

Cockshutt Warehouse Destroyed in Mayfield, Sask., Fire.

REGINA, Sask., August 25.—Fire broke out at Mayfield, Sask., yesterday morning and totally wiped out the building and contents owned and occupied by the Odfellows and Masonic lodges. The warehouse of the Cockshutt Plow Company, of Brantford, Ont., and White Bros. furniture and general store, was also gutted.

CHANNEL TUNNEL SCHEME SUPPORTED

Paris Papers Loud in Their Praise of Wonderful Project.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Great enthusiasm is expressed everywhere in France in regard to the increasing probability of an Anglo-French tunnel under the Dover Straits becoming an accomplished fact. "Le Temps," "Le Journal Des Debats," "Le Figaro" and "M. Clemenceau's paper," "L'Homme Libre," are all favoring the scheme, which to meet French ideas should be a double barreled tunnel, one for railroad traffic and one for an automobile highway.

President Poincare, Premier Barthou, War Minister Steeg, Naval Minister Baudin and Senators Georges, Clemenceau, Alexandre Ribot, D'Esternouelles de Constant, have all expressed themselves warm partisans of the double barreled scheme, which they hope will eventually be an accomplished fact.

Manuel Should Not Be Called King

So Declares British Press in Comment on Wedding Gifts.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The fact that Queen Alexandra has sent a wedding present to Manuel of Portugal inscribed "to my dear Manuel, King of Portugal, from his affectionate aunt, Alexandra," and that the King and Queen Mary sent a present very similarly inscribed, caused much comment this week, and a good many people are still contending that Manuel should not openly be styled king in a country that recognizes the Portuguese republic, and precedents are cited.

He was rescued pretty well shaken up. Mr. Oliver was working on the roof of their new home on Mt. He was driven to his home by Dr. McMillan and Dr. Nichol was summoned and attended his injuries.

ENGLISH AIRMAN STARTS ON TRIP

A Prize of $25,000 Offered for Tour of The Coast Line.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 25.—Harry Hawker, the English aviator, started at half past five this morning on his second attempt to make a tour of the English and Scottish coasts by air. He is the sole participant in the 1,600 mile flight open to all British machines for a prize of $25,000.

The flight must be completed in 72 hours during which descents may be made on the water only at the control stations at Ramsgate, Yarmouth, Scarborough, Aberdeen, Cromarty, Oban, Dublin, Falmouth, and the finishing point at Netley near Southampton.

Hawker reached Ramsgate, the first control station at ten minutes past eight, having taken 160 minutes to fly the 144 miles from Southampton.

Arrived at Yarmouth. The aviator, Hawker, who left Ramsgate on the second stage of his long journey at eleven minutes past nine arrived at Yarmouth at 10.40. He flew the distance of 96 miles in 89 minutes. There was a slight mist over the water during the entire flight, but the sea was smooth. Great crowds of spectators in small boats and coast steamers cheered Hawker on his journey.

After a rest for lunch which he took in a motorboat, Hawker left Yarmouth at 11.40 on the third stage of his flight which takes him to Scarborough, the fashionable east coast watering place.

City News Items

Has Returned. Pickell of the local police force, whose son was shot in Detroit, has returned to the city, and will go on duty at 7 o'clock to-night.
Joined in Wedding. In Grace church on Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Potts united in marriage Frederick W. Thurston and Mary Ann Elizabeth Blazey.
Left For Hamilton. A band of thirty gypsies who have been camping on a vacant lot on Stanley Heights, left this morning for Hamilton. Three were twelve wagons in the procession that left for the Ambitious City.
Circus Day To-morrow. W. E. Haines, advance agent for the Sells-Floto Shows was in the city to-day and paid over the required $100.00 licence fee. The show will be held on the Keefer property in the Holmedale to-morrow in the same lot where the last circus was held.
In Bad Shape. The outside end of a big concrete pier which reinforces the dyke near the residence of Mr. Charles H. Watrous has fallen into the river, and if not repaired will result in a serious flood in that vicinity next spring. The matter has been called to the attention of the township council.
At the Gem Theatre. "Shenandoah," a three-part Kalem war drama, is the feature at the Gem Monday and Tuesday of this week. It is undoubtedly the best battle picture ever written of the civil war, and you can't beat the thrilling appeal of those scenes where the Federals are wavering, when General Phil Sheridan gallops in from "twenty miles away," rallies the scattering forces and snatches a victory out of the fire. It's a real feature production, with 2000 soldiers in the battle scenes, and being historically and geographically correct, should be seen by both old and young.

STRATHCONA IS RETURNING

Reason of Departure From London Not Definitely Known.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.-The news that Lord Strathcona had unexpectedly sailed for Canada has revived the stories in political circles that the High Commissioner intends to resign. Cabinet Ministers, who are in Ottawa, deny all knowledge of Lord Strathcona's intentions, but Premier Borden, with whom the High Commissioner would naturally deal, is out of the city, having left last night for Toronto, where he opens to-day the Toronto Exhibition.
There has been talk of Lord
Strathcona's resignation for years, and yet despite his ninety and odd years he has been energetically representing Canada in London. When Premier Borden took office he made a special trip to Ottawa and offered his resignation to the new First Minister. Mr. Borden personally requested him to continue in the office which he has filled with such honor for so many years.

While nothing is known at the capital of Lord Strathcona's intentions, it is the general belief that he is coming to Ottawa to consult with the government with regard to a number of important questions of which his resignation may be one.
It can be stated definitely, however, that his resignation is not in the hands of the Government. A number of names are prominently mentioned as possible successors to Lord Strathcona. However it is all a matter of rumor, and will be until Lord Strathcona's intentions are definitely learned. Six names are mentioned for the High Commissioner-ship, they are:-Hon. Clifford Sifton, Sir Hugh Graham, Sir Edmund Osler,
Sir Byron Walker, Sir Richard Mc-Bride and Sir Rodmond Roblin. All of these men are outstanding Canadians, and many of them would admirably fill the post.

POOR HARRY THAW;
BREAKFAST LATE.

rushed here after his detention in having cool, clear, invigorating weather.
He has taken little exercise, however,
unless the nervous pacing of his cell can be called exercise, and his personal appearance is far from being that of the neat, young-old man he appeared to be at the New York court hearings. He was always spruced up there at the careful coaching of his counsel, but in his Sherbrooke cell he looks unkempt.
A wild rumor circulated about Sherbrooke just before dawn that there had at last been carried out the often-talked-of jail-delivery and that Thaw was again speeding away in the night in an automobile. It was the outgrowth of the noise made by a powerful car of a local physician who happened to be rushing through the streets with the muffler of his machine wide open, not far from the jail.
After the conferences of yesterday most of Thaw's lawyers said they would try to get him out early to-day, but would try to get a little much-needed rest. His chief counsel, J. N. Green-shields, of Montreal, spent the weekend there and returns to-day.

Jerome Is Acting.
COLEBROOK, N. H., Aug. 25.-
William Travers Jerome, former district attorney of New York, who has been appointed by the New York state authorities as special deputy attorney general in connection with the attempt to extradite Harry K. Hhaw from Canada, arrived here to-day on his way to Sherbrooke, Que.

Mr. Jerome, who was accompanied by John Langdon, who was driving his own automobile and followed so far as possible the route taken by Thaw after his flight from Matteawan. After stopping at Colebrook for a short time, Mr. Jerome departed for Beecher Falls, Vt., a railway station about a quarter of a mile from the Canadian boundary, where Thaw left the train and hired a carriage to drive him across the line.
"I have no doubt," said Mr. Jerome,
"that Thaw will be returned to New York and again confined in Mattea-wan. I am confident of the outcome of this case. I believe Thaw will be deported from Canada and there will be no trouble about getting him into
New York state."

When Mr. Jerome left here he expected to reach Sherbrooke, where Thaw is held in the local jail, some time during the day.
Although Mr. Jerome did not explain his reason for following the route of Thaw's flight through New England, it is thought here that he may have conferred en route with Vermont legal authorities, concerning the status of the case in the event that Thaw should be deported from Quebec to Vermont. Attorney-General Brown of Vermont, spent the weekend at his home in Burlington, but some of his associates are understood to have remained at the attorney-general's office at Montpelier.

MUNICIPAL BONDS

The city of St. Catharines has just disposed of four and a half per cent. debentures at a yield of 88 and 90. The papers there are consoling themselves over the apparently low price by pointing out that other municipalities have been offering 6 per cent. on their issues.

The city of Brantford, in its issue of 4 1/2 per cent. debentures not long ago, obtained the splendid price, under existing circumstances, of a little over 94. That was because the condition of the money market for a while was anticipated and the issue placed, with excellent judgment, at the right time.

Some communities are adopting the plan of issuing what are known as "Baby Bonds"—that is, persuading small investors in their own community to invest, even to the small extent of $100.

This paper is not quite clear as to the benefit of that. Such issues have hitherto been tendered for by brokers, insurance companies and other strong institutions, and there is a direct sale in bulk, with very little subsequent trouble.

With hundreds of small holders there would be infinite trouble and expense—in fact, there would practically have to be a separate civic department to take care of the matter.

In addition, would not the outcome tend to remove from local circulation much money for business and commercial purposes? In Brantford, for example, there has been, especially of late years, much invested by citizens in new industries, often in quite small amounts. Isn't that thus better employed, from the community standpoint, than if tied up in Brantford bonds?

These are points which this paper deems to be quite well worth considering.

BULGARIAN ATROCITIES.

Commander Cardale, an active officer of the British navy now in Athens, hearing of the horrors committed by the Bulgarian troops at Doxato, and being at the time in close proximity thereto, immediately went there. To the correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph he related this story:

"In one courtyard about 120 women and children were massacred. The bodies of thirty of them were still there when Commander Cardale visited the place. All the bodies had bayonet thrusts, and bore marks of unspeakable mutilations. The walls were spattered with blood. In one corner of the courtyard he saw huddled together the bodies of six little children. Into the courtyard of a rich Turk's house a similar flock of women and children were driven for slaughter by the Bulgarians, but before they had time to despatch them all some broke through the cordon of soldiers placed at the entrance, and ran upstairs into the house of the Turk, seeking refuge under the carpets and divans of the place.

Commander Cardale found the cushions and carpets slashed by sword cuts and the walls reeking with human blood and hacked remains.

In another room he was shown the place still bespattered with blood, where a woman and her child had been crucified on the wall. The impressions that the bodies had left were plainly visible, as were also the holes left by the nails driven through the outstretched hands and feet of the victims.

Throughout the town he personally counted 600 bodies still left unburied, mostly women and children. He verified the following story, showing how the precepts of Christianity are understood by the so-called Christian Bulgarians: Thirty Greeks and one Turk sought refuge in the sanctuary of a Greek church, while the massacres were going on outside. A squad of Bulgarian soldiers entered the church. To the Greeks they said that if they had found them outside they would have killed them all, but as they were Christians, in a Christian church they would spare their lives. As to the Turk, he must die and suiting the action to the word, they killed the Moslem on the steps of the altar.

The burnt town appeared to be deserted and a great deal of shouting was necessary before a few women issued from the ruins.

In ghastly verification of what took place the London Illustrated News publishes a series of photographs taken at the scene. It apologizes for their gruesomeness but says that they are reproduced in order to call the attention of the powers to the awful condition of affairs, and to impress upon the general public the horrors of war.

THE REBUKE OF AN AMBASSADOR

The following article from a Chicago paper is characteristic of more than one editorial over there to a like effect:

Harry Lane Wilson, the too-talkative official who has been asked to resign as American Ambassador to Mexico, has been the cause of Uncle Sam sending an apology to his transatlantic cousins. Mr. Wilson gave a statement to the press reflecting upon British conduct in connection with the pending unpleasantness in Mexico, and was one of those irresponsible interviews with the newspapers in which many American public men indulge, but which is the last thing to be expected of a man supposed to be skilled in diplomacy.

President Wilson was shocked when he heard of the indiscretion of his Mexican envoy, although the latter's previous behavior was not of a kind to make one expect perfect sagacity and good taste at critical moments. The chief executive, with a regard for the proprieties highly commendable promptly wired Ambassador Page at London to call at the British Foreign Office with explanations and an apology.

Were the Britons properly placated? As a matter of fact, they were more stirred by the apology than by the affront, for the reason that they were unaware any affront had been intended. The President's message found them absolutely indifferent to Ambassador Harry Lane Wilson's opinion about British diplomacy in Mexico or anywhere else. Very many of them first knew of Ambassador Wilson's existence when they read the cablegram from Washington saying his hasty newspaper gossip was a source of humiliation to his employers—the American people.

This little incident illustrates one or two notable facts. The first is that long experience in minding their own business has made the Britons not phlegmatic, but philosophical. They take an all-round view of any matter before permitting it to "get on their nerves." They have so many weighty things demanding attention—things which touch the very mainsprings of Government and Empire—that an American Ambassador's published comment on their doings, this way or that, sinks to the level of a trifling episode.

The second and more important fact is that loose-mouthed officials on this side of the Atlantic will be slower in future to "twist the British Lion's tail," or attempt anything so indiscreet and uncalled for. The present Administration is on record as sternly opposed to such familiarities. Whether Britain resents them or not, the President and his Cabinet have made it clear, in Harry Lane Wilson's case, that our great Anglo-Saxon ally must be treated with unremitting consideration and respect.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

And now word comes from the Old Country that the people are acquiring the chewing habit, by gum.

Premier Tisza of Hungary has just fought his third duel this year. Tisza practice with him.

A Chicago woman claims that she is living on 49 cents a week. In the matter of clothes she must be telling the naked truth.

No, Miranda; the fact that one man is said to have paid a striking tribute to another man does not necessarily mean that it was an assault case.

The men engaged on the steel work in connection with Brantford's new public building are not only riveting the girders, but also the attention of those in the neighborhood and all passers-by.

The Liberals have decided to run a candidate in East York in connection with the bye-election for the Ontario House. His friends had better start the organization of a shovel brigade in order to dig him out after the result.

Lord Haldane, High Chancellor of England, has sailed on a visit to the States. This is the first time anyone holding that office has left the big seal, which is a whale of an institution. It is to be sincerely hoped that it will not develop too much blubber during his absence.

A correspondent of a contemporary writes a letter to voice his bewilderment with regard to the inconsistencies of the English language. They exist all right, and neither he nor any other man or community of men can alter them. Take the word "slough." With reference to a mire it is pronounced "sloo." With reference to a cast-off skin of a snake it is pronounced "sluff," and many other like illustrations could be given. That brings to mind the experience of a Frenchman on board ship. He was in a lower berth and an Englishman in an upper one. The Britisher, feeling unwell, yelled "Look out!" The marvellous gentleman did so, and after it was all over remarked, "What ze blazes you say ze look out for when you mean ze look in?"

Above all, do not forget that kindness pays, and that true courtesy is its own assurance of a reward in kind.

CHAPTER I

"My dear madam, what you call heart does not come into the question at all."

"Sir John Meredith was sitting slightly behind Lady Cantourne, leaning toward her with a somewhat stiffened replica of his former grace. But he was not looking at her, and she knew it."

"They were both watching a group on the other side of the great ball-room."

"Sir John Meredith on heart," said the old lady, with a depth of significance in her voice.

"And why not?"

"Yes, indeed. Why not?"

"Sir John smiled with that well bred caution which a new school has not yet succeeded in imitating. They both belonged to the old school, these two, and their worldliness, their cynicism, their conversational attitude belonged to a bygone period. It was a clearer period in some ways—a period devoid of stunts, stunts, on the contrary, is an age of stunts, wherein we all dabble to the detriment of our hands—mental, literary and theological."

Sir John moved slightly in his chair, leaning one hand on one knee. His back was very fat, his clothes were perfect, his hair was not his own, nor yet his teeth, but his manners were entirely his own. His face was eighty years old, and yet he smiled his keen society smile with the best of them. There was not a young man in the room of whom he was afraid conversationally.

"No, Lady Cantourne," he replied. "Your charming niece is heartless. She will get on."

Lady Cantourne smiled and drew the glove farther up her stout and motherly right arm.

"She will get on," she admitted. "As to the other, it is early to give an opinion."

"She has had the best of trainings," he murmured. And Lady Cantourne turned on him with a twinkle amid the wrinkles.

"For which?" she asked.

"Golissexz," he answered, with a bow.

The object of his attention was the belle of that ball, Miss Millicent Chyne, who was hemmed in a corner by a group of eager dancers anxious to insert their names in some corner of her card. She was the fashion at that time, and she probably did not know that at least half of the men crowded round because the other half were there. Nothing succeeds like the success that knows how to draw a crowd.

She received the ovation self-possessedly enough, but without that hauteur affected by belles of balls—in books. She seemed to have a fresh smile for such new applicants—a smile which conveyed to each in turn the fact that she had been attempting all along to get her programme safely into his hands. A hitting masculine pen will not be expected to explain how she compassed this, beyond a gentle intimation that masculine vanity had a good deal to do with her success.

"She is having an excellent time," said Sir John, weighing on the modern phrase with a subtle sarcasm. He was addicted to the use of modern phraseology spiced with a cynicism of his own.

"Yes; I cannot help sympathizing with her—a little," answered the lady. "Nor I. It will not last."

"After all," she said, "she is my sister's child. The sympathy may only be a matter of blood. Perhaps I was like that myself once. Was it you can tell me?"

and in a few seconds she found that her partner was worthy of her skill. "Where have you been?" she asked presently. "I am sure you have been away somewhere, exploring or something."

"I have only been in Africa shooting."

"Oh, how interesting! You must tell me all about it!"

"He was watching the door all the while."

"Presently the music ceased, and they made their way back to the spot whence he had taken her. She led the way thither by an almost imperceptible pressure of her fingers on his arm. There were several men waiting there, and one or two more entering the room and looking anxiously round.

"There comes the favored one," Lady Cantourne murmured, with a veiled glance toward her companion.

Sir John's gray eyes followed the direction of her glance.

"My bright boy?" he inquired, with a wealth of sarcasm on the adjective.

"Your bright boy," she replied. "I hope not," he said, curtly.

They were watching a tall fair man in the doorway who seemed to know everybody, so slow was his progress into the room. The most remarkable thing about this man was a certain grace of movement. He seemed to be specially constructed to live in narrow, hampered places. He was above six feet, but being of slight build he moved with a certain languidness which saved him from that unwieldiness usually associated with large men in a drawing room.

Such was Jack Meredith, one of the best known figures in London society. He had hitherto succeeded in moving through the mazes of that coterie, as he now moved through this room, without jarring any one.

CHAPTER II

MISS MILLENT CHYNE was vaguely conscious of success—and such a consciousness is apt to make the best of us a trifle chaotic. It was certainly one of the best balls of the season, and Miss Chyne's dress was without doubt one of the most successful articles of its sort there.

Jack Meredith saw that fact and that it was a good thing to enter into the room. Moreover, it pleased him, and he was pleased to reflect that he was no mean critic in such matters. There could be no doubt about it, because he knew as well as any woman there. He knew that Millicent Chyne's dress was dressed in the latest fashion, no furnished by gowns from the hands of her maid, but a unique creation from Bond street.

"Well," she asked in a low voice, as she handed him her programme, "are you pleased with it?"

"She glanced down at her own dress. It was not the nervous glance of the debutante, but the practiced flash of experienced eyes which see without appearing to look."

"I am glad," she murmured.

He handed her back the card with the orthodox smile and bow of gratitude, but there was something more in his eyes.

"Is that what you did it for?" he inquired.

He took the small gloved hand and pressed it lovingly. The thoroughness of his social training prevented any further display of affection.

"Thank heaven," he murmured. The music of the next dance was beginning, and remembering their social obligations, they both rose. She laid her hand on his arm and for a moment his fingers pressed hers. He smiled down into her captured eyes with love, but without passion. He never for a second risked the "gentleman" and showed the "man." He was suggestive of a forest pool with a smiling, rippled surface. There might be depth, but nothing had yet reached beyond the surface.

"Well," inquired Jack, "have you thought about it?"

THAW'S ALLY SON OF TORONTO "COP"

Gentleman "Roger" Issues Statement of His Life History.

SHERBROOKE, Aug. 25.—"Gentleman Roger" Thompson, driver of the black racing car which spirited Harry K. Thaw from Matteawan in the dawn of last Sunday, last night handed out a statement from his cell in the jail here, where he awaits disposition of his case on a charge of complicity in the escape to Canada of Stamford White's slayer. Thompson's statement began with his life history as follows:—

Mitchell Harrison Thompson was born at Toronto, Canada, about 34 years ago of respectable Irish parents. At the time of my birth, my father was a Toronto police officer. My father died when I was about four years old. Shortly after I was brought to New York City by my widowed mother, and have lived there ever since. My mother's father and mother were living in New York, and my mother left Canada with my brother and sister and myself to live with them in New York City.

After giving a list of his employers he added: "My brother and sister are both married. I am single, and live with my mother, who remained a widow. I have never been accused or indicted in any country or court for any crime other than auto speed law, and have not lost one year's work since I left school about twenty years ago. Go to these people I have mentioned and ask them about my character, and you will get a good line on the life I have led. Roger Thompson (the Roger I assumed) is no more than a nickname that was given me by my chums."

About 80 members of the Brantford Musicians Union, with a number of friends, held a picnic on Saturday last at Kirkby's Grove, where sports of all kinds were indulged in, and many interesting races run off, the main feature being baseball and football matches between teams representing the Dragoon and Dufferin Rifles band. The Dufferins were successful in baseball, whilst the Dragoons took honors in football. A first class list of prizes added greatly to the competition in the various events:

Baseball, Dufferin Rifles band vs. Dragoons 10. Score: Dufferins 17, Dragoons 10.

Tag of War between teams captained by A. Heald and A. Bennett. Heald's team, winning after an 11 minute pull.

Quoits, remained unfinished.

After the sports were over, the revellers enjoyed themselves as only musicians can and returned to Brantford about 10 p.m., a tired but happy party.

The following gentlemen had charge of the arrangements: President, M. J. McHutchion; secretary, E. C. Duval; transportation, Mr. J. McHutchion. Sports committee—Messrs. C. Page, A. Heald and W. Davidson. Refreshment committee, Messrs O. White, B. Fisher, W. Lang, W. Bartram and E. C. Duval.

A. O. F. JUVENILE PICNIC SATURDAY

The fourth annual joint picnic of the Juvenile Foresters of Brantford, Paris and Galt was held at Milloy's Farm on Saturday. A large number of boys from the three places met at the farm about 2.30 p.m. under the watchful eye of about 20 adult members of the Order. The first item was a ball game between Galt and Paris, which resulted in a victory for the Galt boys, the score being 22 to 6. Then the sports were run off, there being 14 numbers on the program. Each event was keenly contested, the prizes going fairly even among the branches. The sports were all adjourned to a substantial feast, and then the prizes were distributed. About 6.45 p.m. all left for home, tired and happy. May this branch of a grand old order be ever prosperous and be a faithful watchword and a guiding star to many a boy in the future as it has been in the past.

MR. HENRI K. JORDAN DESCRIBES WESTMINSTER ABBEY AS HE SEES IT

The following letter from Mr. Henri K. Jordan, who is now in England, will be read with interest by his many Brantford friends:

Folkstone, Aug. 10th. I promised when last I wrote to tell you of a most interesting visit I had to Westminster Abbey. I should have written before this, but I have been so busy visiting one lovely place after another that I really have not had time.

Sir Frederick Bridge, whom I had called on some time before, asked me to bring Mrs. Jordan to the Abbey at half past two on Saturday, June 17th. There was to be a special memorial service at three for Samuel Augustus Barnett, who was Canon and sub-dean of the Abbey. Of course I was there on time. I called for Sir Frederick Bridge, who lives in the Little Cloisters, and he conducted me to the organ loft where I remained throughout the service.

The choir is situated immediately in the centre of the Abbey and the console of the organ is raised some twelve or fifteen feet above the choir. I could see the whole immense congregation. We could hear every word of the service. The choir seemed to reach absolute perfection. I had heard them before, but they sang that day like angels. The whole church was filled with a beautiful light, soft and subdued. The bright rays of the sun streamed through the sombre windows and the twinkling of the candles seemed to cast a halo over the whole congregation.

After the service Sir Frederick showed me the two stops which have been in continuous use in the organ since Purcell's time. The tone was remarkable. These were by far the oldest stops I have heard and they compare most favorably with the best I have ever seen. I sat by Sir Frederick throughout the service and saw with which he manipulated that huge organ was wonderful. He did not seem any older than when we had the pleasure of hearing him in Brant Avenue Church some years ago.

Before closing I must say a word about the Abbey itself. We have visited it many times and have peeped into many corners not usually seen by the hurried visitor. Traditions say the first church was built on the same site by King Sebert in 605, but the present building is mostly the work of Henry III. Additions were made at various periods from 1340 to 1789 and the central tower designed by Wren (who built St. Paul's) is still wanting.

The Abbey is filled with monuments and memorial tablets of all sizes and shapes. There are so many that the general effect of the high soaring columns, the vaulted roof and the richly coloured windows is somewhat marred. The North Transept contains the graves of many noted statesmen, William Pitt, Fox, Disraeli, Gladstone and others. The north aisle of the choir is called the musicians' aisle and contains the graves of Purcell, Croft and Bennett. The north aisle or Nave contains the grave of Ben Jonson. The Baptistery or "Little Poet's Corner" has busts or statues of Wordsworth, Kingsley, Dr. Arnold of Rugby and others. In the middle of the Nave are Livingstone and also Lawrence Clyde and Outram of Indian mutiny fame.

In the South aisle of choir are monuments to Watts the hymn-writer and Charles and John Wesley. There are so many one cannot speak of them all, but I must mention the following, all of whom are buried there: Chaucer, Browning, Tennyson and Sir Henry Irving, while in the same corner are memorial tablets or statues to Longfellow, Milton, Spenser, Shakespeare, Burns, Dickens, Thackeray, Macaulay and John Ruskin. The whole place teems with names of men and wonderful deeds. There should be great inspiration in a visit to that wonderful place.

We say the Sanctuary, where kings are crowned. We saw the Royal tombs. We were in King Henry VIII chapel, which is the finest portion of the whole building. Such carving in stone, such beauty of detail the prettiest stone work of the roof-like feathery cobwebs, all seem so wonderful to have been the work of man. We stayed here a long time and we intend to return as often as we can. I would never tire of telling of it, but as we leave for the continent to-morrow, I must stop and pack up. If I can, I will write again and tell you of a splendid day I had with Dr. Coward, Conductor of the Sheffield Choir, at his home. With kind regards, Believe me, Very truly yours, H. K. JORDAN.

Improved School.

The Separate School Trustees have made extensive improvements to St. Joseph's School during its summer vacation. A new furnace has been installed and the building has been painted both inside and outside, and the school rooms have been nicely decorated. The school is ready for the fall term opening on September 2nd.

CITY REPAIRING THE PAVEMENT

Work Started To-Day on Brant Ave.—Legal Side of Case Given.

Work was started this morning on the repair of the Brant Avenue pavement. The city will send the bill in to the bond company for the same. The following correspondence on the subject will be interesting.

Ald. Suddaby, Chairman Board of Works, City: Dear Sir:—

Re Brant Avenue Pavement.
The contract with Westrumite, Limited, under which Brant Avenue was paved, contains the following provisions:—

"The company hereby covenants, undertakes and guarantees to the corporation, the construction of all works covered by this contract according to the same and to the specifications, tenders and instructions to bidders hereto annexed, and all works constructed hereunder shall last and remain in all respects in perfect order and condition, and free from all cracks for a term of five years from the date of completion, and further, that in case of the failure of the said works or any of them to fulfil said guarantee, that the company will well and sufficiently repair the same and replace them in condition as good as new, at our own expense within ten days after notice to do so; and further, that in case the said works constructed under this contract or any of them, shall fail to fulfil the said guarantee, and the company shall fail to repair the same as above mentioned, or in case, notwithstanding such repair, the said works shall not conform in such perfect order and condition for the period of five years from the time of completion hereof, then the Company shall forthwith pay to the Corporation all loss, costs and expenses incurred by the Corporation in repairing or keeping the said works or any of them in perfect order and condition during the said period."

It is unquestionably the fact that the Company has failed to maintain the street and made default after notice given that the city required the street to be put in repair. You will notice that in these circumstances the contract provides that the company shall forthwith pay to the city all loss, costs and expenses incurred by the city in repairing and keeping the pavement in perfect order.

It now becomes incumbent upon the City of Brantford to undertake to put the street in proper repair and collect the cost from the Westrumite Limited.

As soon as Mr. Jones has made his report, I would recommend to the city's proper course of procedure, that the work be proceeded with and charged against the Westrumite Company.

W. T. HENDERSON, City Solicitor.

Rube Deneau certainly deserved to win his game at Ottawa Saturday.

It is fully appreciated in London to-day how hard it is to win a ball game in Ottawa.

Peterboro scored 30 runs off Berlin. That's one record of which the Red Sox have been cheated this season.

An old boys' reunion in Brantford next year and a winning ball club! Well, it is quite within the range of possibility.

Walter Johnson has won his fourteenth straight victory, an easy fly ball lost in the sun giving him the necessary runs to win.

There is no danger of the Brantford manager going Jeggling. There are as many applicants as there are for an ordinary city job.

Cleveland is eight full games behind Philadelphia Athletics in the American League race, and it is conceded that the margin is too great to overcome.

The Toronto World denies this morning that permission has been asked President Barrow to let Toronto play four men in the outfield instead of three.

Comparisons are interesting as well as odious. In four leagues it is interesting to note the percentage of the respective tail-enders.

In the International Jersey City is last with 360; in the National St. Louis with 370; in the American New York has 348 percentage. But Brantford really foots the list in a league of tail-enders.

OTTAWA PRACTICALLY NAILED THE PENNANT

Won and Tied With London Saturday Second Game Went 12 Innings, 0-0

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—In the first of Saturday's double-header Ottawa rallied in the ninth and defeated London by 6 to 5. Two runs behind and with two out, Bullock and Crowder singled off Deneau and Rogers doubled, scoring Bullock. Heck then rushed to the rescue of his manager and purposely passed Powers, a pinch hitter. Robertson had two on him and London stood within one strike of the game when the Ottawa outfielder faced the ball over Smith's head for a double, scoring Rogers and Crowder and ending the game, with Ottawa victorious by 6 to 5.

In the second game Kubat and Steiger fought twelve innings to a scoreless tie. Ottawa had several chances to score, but Steiger was invincible in the pinches. Kubat was equally good, and sensational fielding by Reidy and Rogers saved both men.

The double-header was witnessed by 6,000 people, despite the fact that the weather was dark and threatening.

Score by innings: London 000400100-5 Ottawa 030000003-6 Second game:— London 00000000000-0 Ottawa 00000000000-0

THE WHITE CAPS WON A BURLESQUE GAME

PETERBORO, Aug. 25.—Failure on the part of Bramble to leave the grounds Saturday after he had been twice ordered to do so by Umpire Daly, cost Berlin the first game, and the Pates won the second fixture by 30 to 5, as the visitors left their regular positions and did not try to play.

By innings:— Berlin 0 2 1 0 1 1 0-5 Peterboro 2 0 8 2 10 8 0-30

THE HAMS AND SAINTS SPLIT A DOUBLE HEADER

HAMILTON, Aug. 25.—Hamilton and St. Thomas broke open in Saturday's double-header. The Saints took the first game by the score of 8 to 1, while in the second game Hamilton scored 7, while the Saints got only 3. It was a mixed variety of ball that was served up, with some exceptionally bad spots in the work

NEW MEN SHONE IN TWOFOLD VICTORY

Leafs Took Both Games From Providence on Saturday.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—Those optimists who had consolation in the old saying that runs to the effect that nothing is so bad but that it might be worse, found some slight ground for elation on Saturday when the sixth place Leaflets took two games from the Providence Grays.

NEW YORK NATIONALS HAVE BOUGHT HEARNE

Toronto to Receive Money and Players - Outfielder Wilson Coming.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—As was quite expected Pitcher Charles "Bunny" Hearne of the Toronto team, has been sold to the New York National League club for delivery at the close of the International League season.

The deal was closed last night, the Toronto club receiving money and players from the Giants for the twofold.

He has pitched consistently good ball for the Leafs ever since putting on the local uniform and gained additional prestige by twirling a twenty-inning scoreless game against the Skeeters at Jersey City.

The youngster has everything to recommend him, and under the tutelage of Wilbert Robinson, the Giant pitching coach, should become a star.

Outfielder Wilson left Dallas, Tex., last night for Toronto, and should be here to-morrow night or Wednesday morning. His ownership is still in dispute between Toronto and the Boston Nationals.

Mike Doan will be here to-day with the Jersey City team. The former Giant outfielder star and erstwhile actor, has been pounding the ball at a great rate for Schafly's team.

Cricket

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Though the championship is not yet decided Kent needs to win only one first innings to make them secure. Their present percentage is 80.00, with Yorkshire a close second, 72.30.

Saturday Kent beat Hampshire by 158 runs, the principal run-getters being Hardinge 117 and 105; Humphries 106, and Seymour 8; Bower, Hampshire, 78.

Warwick collapsed completely before Middlesex, who won by an innings and 37 runs, 136 of which were added by Tarrant.

Worcester-Surrey match ended in a draw. Surrey's first innings was declared at 503 for five wickets. Hobbs and Hayford scoring 184 and 146 respectively. Pearson, Worcester, 113 not out.

Essex first innings was 267 for 7 wickets. Lancashire with 368 for 9 wickets declared, was a draw against Essex, making 110, and Tyldesley, Lancashire 69.

Yorkshire vs. 'England XI' was drawn. Denton and Knitter, Yorks, scoring 114 and 74.

The team of 'Incognito' cricketers who are playing the Gentlemen of Toronto, New York and Philadelphia sail on the Oceanic on Wednesday. Among the party will be Capt. Sars, Col. Greenway, Hon. G. H. Mulholland, G. V. Campbell, M. Falcon and F. Freeman.

By beating the Stratford team on Saturday St. Thomas tied with that club for the leadership of the Western Ontario League, the score being 4 to 3. Both pitchers fanned twelve men.

ATHLETICS WON FROM ST. LOUIS

Mackmen Got Five Runs in Opening Inning by Hitting Weisman Hard.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—With Bender on the mound, the Browns were helpless yesterday afternoon, and the Athletics walked away with the first game of the series by the score of 9 to 1. Weisman who occupied the mound for St. Louis for two-thirds of an innings, was touched up in lively fashion, and before the smoke had cleared away five runs had been made. Philadelphia got his quintette of runs on a single by E. Murphy, Oldring's safety. Weisman's error, his single and doubles by McInnes and Walsh and Barry's out. The Browns got their only run in the 4th, when Williams singled, was forced by Balenti and Balenti scored on Collins' error.

CLEVELAND BEAT NEW YORK

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25.—The cool breezes off Lake Erie had a powerful effect upon Falkenberg's long arm, and he blanked the Yankees with four hits. Before the first four innings had passed the Naps had secured four runs, three of which came because Russel Ford had little to batle the locals. Had Schultz started instead of Ford, the final result might have been different. Falkenberg was never better, and no two of the four hits he gave came in the same innings: Cleveland 4, New York 0.

FOURTEEN FOR JOHNSON

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Walter Johnson beat the Sox and won his fourteenth straight game yesterday. The Senators won 2 to 1, and Johnson had to have a lot of luck to gain the verdict. In the fifth, with the score 1 to 0 in favor of the Sox, two gone and two on bases, Gandil lifted a fly to short right. Brodie got under it all right but lost it in the sun, and the ball fell at the fielder's feet. Two runs came across and the Sox never got another chance. Johnson not only started on the slab, but opened the fifth with a triple and started the rally that ended with the ball being lost in the sun. Scott and Benz pitched for Chicago. Score: Washington 2, Chicago 1.

BOSTON BLANKED DETROIT

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—The Boston Red Sox opened a three-game series here yesterday, defeating the Detroit Tigers 3 to 0. Moseley, on the mound for the Sox, featured his work, allowing but four hits, the first one coming in the sixth innings. Only 15 Tigers faced him during the first five innings.

Berlin defeated Hespeler in a Waterloo County League game on Saturday by 7 to 0 and thereby captured the championship.

DUFFERINS LOOK LIKE CHAMPIONS

They Defeated Holmedale Tigers in Football Fixture on Saturday.

Saturday's Results.
Dufferin Rifles 2, Tigers 1.
Y.M.C.A. 1, All Scots 0.
Dragoons 3, S.O.E. 0.
Cockshuts 1, Tutela 0.

By defeating the Holmedale Tigers on Saturday afternoon the Dufferin Rifle team begins to look like champions of the league. They have more game to play next Saturday with the tigers. To win the championship the Duffs must either win or play a draw with the Tigers. Cockshuts who finished the city league series on Saturday are just one game behind the regimental team. Should the Holmedale aggregation turn the tables on the Duffs and defeat them, Cockshuts United and the Infantry

Y. M. C. A. Trim the Highlanders.
The Y.M.C.A. and All Scots played at Agricultural Park on Saturday and after a very pleasant game resulted in a win for the "Y" by 1 to 0, the winning goal being scored by I. O. H. Harrington played for the "Y" at right half, this being his first goal of the season. He played a good game, as did all the players of the "Y." All Scots boys played a splendid game and fully deserved to draw. "Kelly" played a champion game for them at back, saving his team time after time, their goal being a good second, his saves were great at times.

"Y" Notes.
All players are requested to be at Agricultural Park on Wednesday night, as soon after six o'clock as possible. It's for a good cause boys, so turn up.
Everyone welcomes Sigwell back in goal.
Mason was in good form considering a wedding attracted him during the afternoon. "Oh, no, Tom was only a guest, don't be mistaken, he is only learning yet."
Clark was always there and the halves played splendid. The forwards played well, but lacked shooting.
Cockshuts Win Their Last Game.
Cockshuts United played their last league game on Saturday evening at Mohawk Park before a very fair crowd. Their opponents were Tutela who turned out their full strength with the exception of Usher. Tutela won the toss and chose to defend the pavilion goal. Cockshuts kicked off with a blinding sun in their eyes. For the first ten minutes the United attacked and Tutela were hard pressed, but thanks to the splendid work of Bowden and Stanley, the custodian, Cockshuts were unable to score. For the rest of the first half the play was evenly contested and ended without score.

The second half, Cockshuts, with the sun at their backs, played Tutela would be tie for first place and an extra game to decide the championship would be necessary.

The Duffs have a slight advantage in the game next Saturday in that the match will be played on their own grounds. The outcome of this game will be watched with great interest by the football fraternity as the result has such a decisive bearing.

The Duffs are confident they can win or at least make it a draw thus giving them the count over Cockshuts while on the other hand the Tigers say that they will put up a desperate fight to lower the colors of the Duffs.

Should the Holmedale eleven win it would upset the Duffs chances somewhat and allow Cockshuts to have another chance at the championship—something they would dearly like to have.

The Duffs are going to put in a good week's practice and if condition counts they say they will win. Trainer Blues of the 38th says he has the championship within his grasp and does not intend to take any chances on it getting away from him.

Dragoons Win.
The S. O. E. were defeated by the Dragoons on Saturday 3-0 in their last league game. The first half was even and some good football was seen the score at half time being 0-0. The 25th had all the best of the second half and scored three times, one for a penalty and Harbour and Mears being responsible for the other two.

Y. M. C. A. Trim the Highlanders.

Harrington played for the "Y" at right half, this being his first goal of the season. He played a good game, as did all the players of the "Y." All Scots boys played a splendid game and fully deserved to draw. "Kelly" played a champion game for them at back, saving his team time after time, their goal being a good second, his saves were great at times.

"Y" Notes.
All players are requested to be at Agricultural Park on Wednesday night, as soon after six o'clock as possible. It's for a good cause boys, so turn up.
Everyone welcomes Sigwell back in goal.
Mason was in good form considering a wedding attracted him during the afternoon. "Oh, no, Tom was only a guest, don't be mistaken, he is only learning yet."
Clark was always there and the halves played splendid. The forwards played well, but lacked shooting.
Cockshuts Win Their Last Game.
Cockshuts United played their last league game on Saturday evening at Mohawk Park before a very fair crowd. Their opponents were Tutela who turned out their full strength with the exception of Usher. Tutela won the toss and chose to defend the pavilion goal. Cockshuts kicked off with a blinding sun in their eyes. For the first ten minutes the United attacked and Tutela were hard pressed, but thanks to the splendid work of Bowden and Stanley, the custodian, Cockshuts were unable to score. For the rest of the first half the play was evenly contested and ended without score.

The second half, Cockshuts, with the sun at their backs, played Tutela off their feet and shot after shot was rained on the visitor's goal. Stanley watched like an infatigable pug, kicking and throwing away the ball, saving almost impossible shots. After about ten minutes play an extraordinary decision of the referee took place.

Referee Darlington was standing facing the visitor's goal watching a scrimmage that was taking place when a player got injured behind him, and play continued for about twenty seconds and G. Richardson scored for Cockshuts. Referee Darlington blew his whistle, and pointed to the centre of the field for the kick off, and then for the first time noticed the player lying on the ground. He immediately altered his decision on the ground that the ball was "dead" as soon as the player got hurt. It would be interesting to hear Referee Darlington's explanation why he acted contrary to the rules of football which distinctly lay down that a referee cannot alter his decision after he has given it, in the case of a goal being scored. It was evident that he wasn't paying proper attention to the game or he would have seen that one of the linesmen was trying to call his attention to the accident several seconds before he found it out. The game proceeded, the United attacking, and about five minutes before the close of play, Charlie Stubbs scored from a corner when he headed the ball into the goal in such a way that gave Stanley no chance, and so ended a very fast game in favor of the United, 1-0.

Soft Ball

Great interest is attached to tonight's battle between the Duff and Beavers, the losing team will be practically out of the running for the second series championship. The crowds that attend these games show plainly that as a summer sport at least, it has come to stay, and the constant strengthening of the teams makes the game faster. Owing to the day's rapidly becoming shorter, tonight's game will be called at 6:30 p.m. sharp and all players are requested to be on hand. The same can be said of to-morrow night's game between G. S. M. and Ham and Notts. The signing of C. Page to play 1st base will allow Patterson to go to 3rd, making the G. S. M. defence as good, if not better, than the other teams can boast. Standing on Saturday, Aug. 23.

GRIFFITH GETS IN THE FUNNY SECTION

True Tale of That Offer of a $100,000 For "Ty" Cobb.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 25.—The Climbers have found another first-class comedian to add to their troupe already consisting of Herman Schaefer and Nicholas Altrock. Now no club in the country is so well prepared with material to pull the funny stuff. Furthermore, this new member has been in the company for a year and a half without letting anyone know his marvelous abilities. He sprang into the spotlight last week in a check for this amount drawn on a Washington bank and explained to the waiting editors and correspondents that with Cobb in his lineup, he would win the 1913 pennant and recoup himself for the gigantic sum paid at Frank Navin's feet.

The new manager of the team's comic corps is Clark C. Griffith, manager of the outfit. He did not tell his funny story that he kept his face absolutely straight, for 51 hours and 16 minutes, dissolving only when Frank Navin warned him that "base ball was a serious business and to cut out his fooling."
Washington awoke one morning to read in the papers that Griffith was to offer $100,000 for the Georgia Peach, explaining that with him in the lineup, he could easily win the pennant and get back this stupendous price. Of course, Cobb's large salary would mean the passing of several likely youngsters now with the team, etc., etc., but there was the entire tale, garnished up to be seriously taken. By afternoon, though, there began to be some misgivings regarding the seriousness of this offer. The woodpile was thought to conceal something of a dark hue. But then, again, the following morning came more remarks from the Old Fox, with a distinct promise that he would that day make the bona fide offer to Frank Navin. It was explained just how easy it would be for Griff to dig up the coin and how easy it would be for him to get it all back inside of a calendar year.

It Gives Johnson His Cue.
That afternoon, however, the whole house of cards collapsed. Griffith's feet had chilled when on the point of going to Frank Navin's office in Detroit carrying the famous check for $100,000. So he had merely taken up his trusty telephone and got the Tiger boss on the other end. "Cut out your fooling," remarked Navin, biting the end of a fresh cigar. "This baseball business is serious, not comic." Then Griffith subsided. He smiled and the whole yarn exploded. But the aftermath is yet to come.

In the course of running down the truth of this marvelous offer, war correspondents succeeded in quoting Griffith that "Johnson was worth twice as much as Cobb, indeed, worth the entire Detroit franchise." Now, strange as it may seem, Johnson is drawing only a paltry $7,000 for being the best pitcher in the major leagues. Ty Cobb is believed to be collecting $12,000 for being half as good as Johnson. This big twist of the tract comes to an end this fall and he is certain to demand more than $7,000 for pitching next year. Suppose the big fellow, believing what Griff has said about his value, demands something like $25,000 for offering the team's pitching staff next year. What then? Will he get it? He will NOT! But Johnson is certain to ask for at least $10,000 of $12,000. He'll get that, or the writer doesn't know Clark Griffith.

Oh, you want to know how the famous offer happened to be made? Well, a Detroit sporting writer, wishing a picturesque feature story, obtained Griffith's signature on a check for $100,000. He meant to use it to illustrate a yarn that Old Fox was always willing to pay this amount for Cobb. But two local scribes, unable to hold their breaths, rushed the story as news as fast as they could to their papers and Griff had to stick by them, forgetting that there might be a serious angle to the joke.

FINE PERCHERONS WITH SELLS-FLOTO

The Sells-Floato circus which comes here on Aug. 26, has for years maintained the reputation of having the best and most comprehensive display of horse flesh ever appearing with any travelling organization, and this year for the benefit of their patrons, they will make a special display of these wonderful animals in a large tent adjoining the animal menagerie, so that their patrons and lovers of horse flesh generally, may feast their eyes on the various breeds and individual champions who go to make up this wonderful collection.

In it will be found specimens of the Percheron, representatives of the thoroughbred, standard bred, Suffolk Punch, coach horses, hackneys, hunters and general purpose horses. It will form an interesting study for those who are either closely connected with the business of horse raising or farming, besides those who love the horse for himself and desire to see him at his best.

Sells-Floato circus will appear in Brantford to-morrow.

In several cases successors for the present major league managers have been tentatively named by underground gossip. Bresnahan is said to be in the line for Evers' position, and Stahl is named for Callahan's place. Lord and Chase are also said to be in the line to help Comiskey in the task of uplifting the White Sox. Apparently John McGraw and Connie Mack are the only managers who appear to be sure of their positions at this time, if rumors are to be believed.

HERE is a really charming originality about the new fashions. Perhaps it is because the artists of Paris have at last been allowed to take a hand in their designing, for there is much that smacks of the old-fashioned about them. There is no longer the painful attempt to flatten out every one of nature's curves nor to compress the waist line into a smaller circumference; everything is left very much as nature intended it should be, and lightly covered with effective draperies. The one abnormal detail about the whole thing is in the peculiar manner of draping gowns, for little fullness is left about the feet. Consequently the free and easy movement in walking is impeded. For this reason a slashed skirt was introduced in the beginning of this style and later the draperies were arranged to create a slash. But the slash which allowed the skirt lines to conform to the figure, while giving plenty of room, has met with active criticism. There are slashes and slashes, and while the demure ones give only occasional glimpses of the ankles—and very conservative glimpses, at that—some of the more daring ones, as well as those that are hopelessly ugly and suggestive, not only have called forth pointed protests, but have even felt the menacing gestures of the arms of the law. Besides this, the petticoatless woman, often thoughtless, and who, as usual, each summer season forgets about the diaphanous quality of summer raiment, has made her annual appearance this year. Gowns being more diaphanous than ever, the result has been a little more startling than usual, and several women who sallied forth thus arrayed were forced to beat a hasty retreat. Such misadventures, however, have nothing to do with the really well dressed woman. Crepe petticoats are especially good to wear under filmy frocks, made of lines conforming to the outside dress and slashed up so that there is room in all directions, and yet the ankles, veiled by the deep lace edging, show through the slash discreetly and with a charm that the unveiled ankles do not have. For it is unfortunately true that few women possess good ankles from all points of view. They may look well from the front, while a side view may be ugly, or, even the ankles are shaped well, above or below leaves much to be desired. So by flashing the petticoat with a deep slash, more coquettish result than with the bare slash. The lapped slash is another way of getting away from criticism. The skirt material is lapped over in the same fashion as a double breasted coat, and, while the material is left unslashed, as in an ordinary, slashed gown, it is lapped over so far that it cannot be separated enough to show the ankle immediately, yet it gives plenty of space to allow for a long step. This type of slash is well illustrated in a Paris gown pictured here in two views, No. 1 and No. 2. It is of the new, light green shade and is made up in two materials, plain and brocaded satin. The plain skirt is made of wide breadth of the satin draped in this new fashion, and the brocaded upper part is also draped about the figure, imitating, advantageously, the plain part. The crepe has the same tendency to fullness as the lower part—in fact, very little of the gown is left smooth. Old blue satin revers make a pretty contrast with the soft green tulle shade of the gown, and the collar at the back, of black satin, gives another color contrast. Two views of another elaborate gown, pictured here in Numbers 5 and 6, are especially good examples of the new contours and accentuate the loose way the garments hang on the figure. The gown itself is of white silk voile and lace posed over a foundation of black chambray. A black voile drapery partly veils the lace flounces in the skirt. The slash, however, lies in the ultra-fashionable manner so that the waist line becomes a very great uncertainty and is different from different points of view. In Numbers 3 and 4 an early autumn model is presented with and without the coat. The gown is of navy blue crepe de Chine, the skirt has an odd puffed back and the lace covered girde describes an upper curved edge that shapes originally over the corsage. The coat is one of the new full belted models, the shaping of the body arranged by tiny tucks that disappear under the rolled revers. A beige collar of coté de cheval and a beige belt for a trim cloth dress and finished suits. It is fashioned from dark red and shantung, and has a chiffon yoke and undersleeves. Girde and corsage front are outlined with a delicate embroidery. It is one of those dresses where a stylish effect is arrived at without resorting to extremes. On the same discreetly extreme lines is the tailored suit of heavy moire, which stays in as a fashionable fabric and is a close rival of the Ottoman weave silks for the afternoon type of tailored suits. The vest is of green Ottoman silk and it is crossed by a picot edged sash. The skirt pleats are diagonal, made so by the shaping of the material to the figure and giving a slightly caught up look at the back. Such a suit is ideal for either a stout or a slim figure, but it needs skillful tailoring. A very ultra-fashionable dress is pictured here, and is the very latest draping. The skirt is pulled into the waist and then hitched up very high in front so that the robe pulls in about the feet and there is a lot of material bunched in front of the skirt. Over the black taffetas of which the robe is made are posed blue still more by being rolled back into a cuff. A fringe of white cascades about the pointed décolleté. DRAPED LACE TUNICS. Although perhaps the lace tunic has a tendency to age its wearer, it has compensating merits which recommend it to women of middle age and even younger women who have a tendency to stoutness. For the close fitting pointed tunic of black lace cut with the upper part in the form of a coat tends to make the figure look slim in a manner that many, almost find eminently desirable as years come fast upon them. The favorite lace employed is Chantilly, and when one knows how to drape artistically nothing can be more elegant. On

The contrary, nothing can be fowdier than a drapery which seeks to be elaborate and falls lamentably in the attempt. PAPER LAMP SHADES. Four crepe paper napkins, with large poinsettias in one corner of each, make an attractive lamp shade. Cut the poinsettias so that each will make a tab end. This is done by partially cutting the flowers from the napkin and allowing it to fall down as a tab. Shire the white portion slightly and stitch to the frame. Line with red crepe paper. This makes a very handsome shade. Other flowers can be used in the same manner, but none are prettier than the big red flowers.
