A Clear, Beautiful Skin

There are millions of tiny openings or pores in the skin and these must be kept open and clean if the beauty of the skin is to be maintained.

Because it cleanses these pores and encourages the healthful action of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment is most effective as a skin beautifier. Roughness, redness, pimples and all sorts of skin blemishes disappear by its use, and the skin is left clear, smooth and velvety.

The Countess of Landon.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

"He managed to meet her outside the theatre, and—God knows whether he would have got her to marry him, for she knew no more of the world than a child, and he was a play-actor and full of deceit and pretense; but she learned that he was married already—to me," she added, with stolid misery.

Jake scowled.

"No one knew of her infatuation or his attempted villainy, and not long afterward she was married to the Earl of Landon."

Seymour struck the table.

"Lies!" he said; then he sneered: "And you let this woman stand there and utter them in your presence, madame?"

The countess did not even glance at him.

"Go on!" she said to Martha.

Martha drew a long breath.

"My husband and I wandered about for three years—three such wretched years as few of you women have to endure—and one day I met the countess. She was kind to me, she pitied me. Being wretched myself, I was quick to see that she was not happy, and after a time she told me the cause. She had been married nearly four years, and there was no child—the son—and heir—to take the great title and estates—and the earl, her husband, was unhappy about it. She cried when she told me—cried bitterly—and as I sat and looked at her, my heart aching, for trouble makes a woman tender, a thought came into our heads at the same moment. My child was lying in the cradle. There was no food in the house. My husband had struck me a week ago, and I had left him. I looked at the poor child, and thought what a pity it was that it didn't belong to the countess, and—"

Her face had grown whiter, her breath heavier and more labored with each word, and she stopped and put up her hands before her face.

Seymour sat for a moment speechless, then he laughed—a derisive defiant laugh.

"And you sold your brat to the countess, that she might pass it off on the earl as her own?" he said. "Is that the story?"

"It is," said Martha in a low voice.

"Everything helped us. My lady was going abroad the next day for some months, alone, his lordship having to join the regiment. I took the child to her secretly. Its birth was advertised in the papers, no one suspected anything wrong, for her ladyship had planned everything, and to the day of his death the earl believed that you were his son."

Seymour started.

"Me?" he said, hoarsely. "Strange as it may seem, he had not until that moment realized that she was speaking of him. You mean me?"

She turned her head away, then held out her hand, as if imploring forgiveness and mercy.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

"Yes," she panted, "you are my son—his!" and she looked at Jake with a shudder.

Seymour face went white and his lips trembled, then he laughed.

"Of all the grossly improbable lies that ever were uttered, this is the worst!" he said. "If your son? I not the Earl of Landon?" He laughed.

"It is the clumsiest lie that ever was concocted! And you sit there and listen to it!" He turned savagely upon the countess.

Something More!

After meals you want something more—a bit of sweet with a change of flavor. WRIGLEYS' is that "something more" and it's more than that! It is a great aid to your good health, as medical authorities say.

This is from a recent book on health:

"Many physicians now recommend gum chewing . . . for a better and more complete change of the starches into dextrin."

WRIGLEYS'
after every meal

—means that your digestion is aided while your pleasure is served; teeth and digestion both benefit.

Your choice of several flavors, all of the WRIGLEY quality—sealed in its purity package.

Wrigley's makes the next cigar taste better

She raised her eyes to his. All the while had left her face—left it looking like a stone mask.

"It is true," she said at last.

Seymour glared at her.

"You say that? You help the woman in her villainy? Do you know what you are saying—that you are admitting? I don't believe a word of it! No one would believe it! Get out of my sight, all of you!"

Dare to breathe a word of this outside, and I will send the lot of you to jail—yes, all of you!" and he glared at the countess.

"There is only one way to deal with a conspiracy of this kind, and by—"

he uttered an awful oath—"I'll do it—yes, though you are my own mother! Do you hear? Leave the room, all of you, and repeat your lies elsewhere at your peril! What? I this woman's son?" and he laughed again.

The countess looked at him for a moment in silence, then she raised her hand and pointed to the mirror that hung on the wall in front of him.

"Look at her and at that!" she said, solemnly.

Seymour glanced at Martha Hooper and then at the glass.

Her face, white and drawn the pale eyes, the thin lips, the whole expression and every feature seemed reflected from his face in the glass.

It came upon him with the force of a thunder-bolt. He uttered a cry and clutched at the table, still staring at the face—his own—that glared back at him.

Jake laughed—a horrible, chuckle.

"You're right, my lady," he said; "he takes after the old woman rather than me. Bad taste on his part, I call it."

The harsh, vulgar roused Seymour from his stupor. He shuddered and sunk into the chair, holding his hand over his trembling lips.

Martha crept up to him slowly, her face working, and timidly laid her hand on his shoulder.

"I—I am sorry," she murmured, brokenly.

Seymour drew away from her with a look of horror.

"Don't—don't dare to touch me!" he said. "I don't believe a word—I know you turned to the countess—I know why you have concocted this!" he said, hoarsely.

"You want to put that beast Royce, in my place! You have always hated me! You know it—I have known it! It is for Royce you have hatched this plot, but you will find yourself disappointed!"

He drew himself up. "I am the Earl of Landon! Take your vile story into a court of law, and though you may get a dozen sensible men to believe you—which is impossible—you convict yourself of a crime for which there is a heavy punishment."

"No punishment can be heavier than that I have borne since the first hour of my deception," said the countess, calmly.

Seymour was silent for a moment, then his face brightened.

"If you don't consider yourself and your own reputation, you'll think of Royce!" he said, triumphantly.

"You won't care that he should know that his mother was nothing better than an impostor and a thief! Though—and he laughed—feeling how low he has sunk, perhaps it won't matter. His wife's relations wouldn't think much of such a trifle as you say you have done. Bah!"

he laughed defiantly—"what can you do? Suppose this cook-and-bull story were true, what can you do? You can't, for shame's sake—for your dear Royce's sake—make it known to the world. So, you see, my dear madame,—he stopped and bit his lip, and glanced under his brows at Martha Hooper—"it will come to nothing. I don't think I shall have to defend my title and estate in a court of law."

They were all silent, and after a moment of enjoyment, he went on.

"Royce will never be the east, my dear madame. I shall marry Irene! Stop!" for the countess had opened her lips. "I know what you are going to say—that you will tell her this stupid story. Do so at your peril! The moment any of you opens his or her lips, I prosecute for conspiracy."

They were silent for a moment as his laugh of defiance rang through the room. Then Jake's voice broke in harshly:

Carnation Milk

Aids Bake-Day

CARNATION Milk will come as a delightful surprise to any housewife who has never known its convenience and safety and richness. Always on hand—on your pantry shelf; always ready for use; none wasted because it keeps sweet for several days when opened. Sold by grocers everywhere at moderate prices.

Carnation Milk is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans. Try this recipe and write for the free Carnation Recipe Book.

CUSTARD PIE—2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar, 1 cup water, 1/2 teaspoonful vanilla, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup raisins, nutmeg. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt and milk, diluted with water. Line a pie tin with pastry. Pour in the mixture to which the vanilla has been added. Sprinkle the top with nutmeg. Bake in hot oven at first to set the rim, then reduce the heat as egg and milk in combination should be cooked at a low temperature. This recipe makes one pie.

The World's Greatest House Agency

The most extensive estate agency business in the world is conducted by His Majesty's Office of Works in London, England.

Its interests extend to the uttermost parts of the earth, for in every place where there is a British Embassy, Legation, or consulate it is the duty of the Office of Works to see that the building is kept in proper repair.

At home, the Office of Works has to see that all Government buildings, which include courthouses, prisons, and the London Law Courts, as well as all Government offices and the residences of certain of His Majesty's Ministers, are maintained in good condition. In addition, the Office of Works is responsible for all the royal palaces, parks, and forests.

There is never a day of the working week that the employees of the gigantic estate business are not at work on some of the many buildings that are national property. Now a small repair to the roof of a lodge in Hyde Park may be in question, or again, extensive works may be in progress at one of the royal palaces.

The value of the property under the care of the Office of Works runs into thousands of millions. In the conduct of its business abroad the Office of Works has a vast number of details to attend to. Not only is it responsible for ascertaining that the necessary repairs to consulates, legations, etc., rented and owned by His Majesty's Government are properly carried out, but it has to see that these buildings are supplied with the proper quantity of furniture.

Any item of furniture so supplied has to be marked with a broad arrow and the royal cypher, G.R.

Brands for making this impression on furniture can only be obtained from the Office of Works in London. These brands are constantly being sent out to British consulates in all quarters of the globe.

The care of the property of His Majesty's Government abroad involves the Office of Works in an immense volume of correspondence, sometimes of rather an amusing kind.

If any furniture at any British Mission abroad gets damaged it cannot be replaced by the officer in charge

Oddities of Russian Army

Sneezing was once prohibited in the Russian army. A passage from the history of the coronation of Alexander II in 1855 reads as follows: "Opposite the house from which we saw the procession was drawn up the regiment called Paulovski, after the Emperor Paul, all the men having turned up noses, thus resembling him. It seems it was the fashion to compose regiments of men all having the same features. The late emperor had crulls sent to him, and took their cording to looks. There is one regiment of men all marked with smallpox. This Paulovski regiment did one thing which amused me before the cortege came up that blew their noses at the word of command. This was in order that none of them might sneeze when the emperor passed, as their doing so would be him bad luck."

LaFollette Likely to Run for President as Independent

Tornado's Death Toll Reaches 45—Canadian National Still Show Big Deficit.

"THE DEATH RAY."
PARIS, May 28.—The French appear to have a considerable lead in the apparent race to gain control of the "Death Ray," invented by Grindell Whittaker, British scientist, who flew from Great Britain in a plane yesterday to resume negotiations with the British capitalists after the British government had failed to give him the money he demanded. It was reported today that arrangements had been made for the signing of a conditional agreement on Friday between Matthew W. Chantiers Du Rhone Lyons, secretary, negotiating the invention. This gave rise to considerable speculation as to what other countries might do. In the meantime neither Matthews nor the French negotiator with whom he is negotiating are confirmed reports.

LAFOLLETTE MAY RUN.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette today formally announced that he will run for President on an independent ticket at the approaching Democratic and Republican Conventions, demonstrating to the people whether either of the parties can and will purge itself of the evil influences that have dominated them.

THE DEFICITS ON CANADIAN NATIONAL LINES.
OTTAWA, May 28.—G. P. Graham, Minister of Finance, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the total deficit on Canadian National lines last year was $52,779,350, including fixed charges, compared with $53,686,811 the year before. The total income before fixed charges, was $13,364,375, compared with $14,442,260 the previous year. "If Sir Henry Thornton" said Mr. Graham, "is liable to maintain the same rate of improvement as he has achieved during the first year of his presidency of the railway, in addition to meeting operating charges, he ought to be able, within a very few years, to meet all interest charges due the public, which would be a wonderful achievement." The Canadian Government Merchant Marine showed a deficit after all charges, in including depreciation and interest, of $3,368,670.

TORNADO'S CASUALTY TOLL.
ATLANTA, May 28.—The total known death toll of the series of tornadoes which swept the South yesterday and Monday night for the second time in a month, had mounted to 45 to-day. Approximately a hundred persons are known to be injured; scores are made homeless, and property damaged to the extent of more than a million dollars.

STEVEDORE WHIRLED TO DEATH.
HALIFAX, May 28.—Henry Harris, 48, well known foreman stevedore, was mangled to death this morning on the Norwegian steamer Andalusia, which is unloading West Indian cargo here. Harris became entangled in the winch rope which whirled him to death before the engine could be stopped.

The Five Hawaiians

These talented artists at the popular Star Movie last evening, in their program again added their success to their credit, and were the shadow of a doubt but have in those people the cream of the cream of musicians. The solos by Jena and Jona were loudly applauded and deservedly so, as their left nothing to be desired, and as the harmony selections they were most admirably made. In fact the most ardent musician could not find fault with the performance, and in this connection Big Bill Kalama with his mellow, is fast becoming the star of the assemblage. At a later hour he will be heard in single vocal solos, and we will, I think hear things from him. Stanley was again all there with his solos in his rendition of "The Shannon Flows," it being the name of music, whilst Eddie just over the top in his instrumental solos, particularly so in "St. Louis Blues," which made the rafters vibrate with applause. Jona again and it is unnecessary for us to say at any length on it, as she nobly stands in a class by herself in this work. In brief, it seems an impossibility to equal those who and our people are not slow in showing their appreciation of their

She Found Them Very Satisfactory

Saskatchewan Lady used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Dropsy and Diabetes.
Mrs. P. Shaw says Dodd's Kidney Pills are certainly doing her good. Weyburn, Sask., May 28. (Special) That Dropsy and Diabetes are caused by weak kidneys and that the right way to treat them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, is again shown by the experience of Mrs. P. Shaw, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.
"I suffered from Dropsy and Diabetes. My back and head used to ache, and I always felt tired and nervous. My limbs swelled and I was depressed and low spirited. I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills during the winter. Twenty boxes in all, and they are doing me a lot of good. I have found them very satisfactory."
Mrs. Shaw's ailments were caused by weak kidneys failing to do their work of straining the impurities out of the blood.
Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heat and strengthen weak kidneys.

Great Double Program at the Crescent

"STORMSWEEP" AND "CAPT. FLY-BY-NIGHT," HEADLINES.
A thrilling succession of nerve-rattling episodes, among the biggest of which is a hand to hand battle between two men on the top of a towering ship's mast, combine to develop "Stormsweep," Robert Thornby's new and novel drama of the sea, into one of the really big subjects of the year. It is now being shown at the Crescent Theatre.
Mr. Thornby has invested "Stormsweep" with an element of dramatic suspense seldom seen in film productions. Moreover he exercised the utmost discrimination in his selection of a cast. Included among the principals are the famous Berry brothers—Wallace and Noah—who in themselves are an attraction of the keenest interest. Others in the cast are Arline Pretty and Virginia Fairle.
This programme also consists of another big feature entitled "Captain Fly-by-Night" featuring Fairbank's only rival, Johnnie Walker. Lige Connolly will be seen in a riot of fun "Trail Lights," whilst the other attraction is a new idea in screen drama "Close Harmony," a film which brings back once again the songs you used to sing. Sing them again at the Crescent to-night, but don't forget that the usual bumper Amateur Contest takes place to-morrow night.
A writing pen stuck point first in the holder makes an excellent cherry pitter.

Beautiful Cream.

Three Flowers Vanishing Cream is a non-greasy cream, but unlike many vanishing creams, it is so concentrated as not to be too dry on the skin. It is instantly absorbed by the pores, leaving a smooth, velvety surface. Any shine there may be on the skin, disappears as this cream is absorbed. It protects the skin from wind and cold, and prevents chapping.

From the Firing Line VOTE for MONROE

MONROE IS ALREADY ELECTED.

CARBONEAR, Last Night.
(By Telephone)—A very successful meeting was held tonight at St. Patrick's Hall. The meeting was first addressed by Mr. James Moore, the ex-member for the District, who gave an account of his stewardship, and related certain statements made that he had left his party Mr. Moore declared his cordial allegiance to the Monroe Party and its representative, Mr. John Rorke. His exposures of certain accounts that he had secured during the last session of the Legislature were surprising.

Mr. Moore was followed by Mr. John Rorke, the Monroe standard-bearer, who spoke for half an hour in a fluent and convincing manner, reviewing the situation, discussing the Monroe Manifesto, and assuring the gathering of his devotion to the best interests of the country and the District. Mr. Rorke was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the large gathering which filled the hall to capacity.

The next speaker was Mr. James Rorke, brother of the candidate, who delivered a practical and interesting address, demonstrating his keen interest in the welfare of his native land and in the well-being of Carbonear.

Mr. John Mackey stated, that as a citizen, he had made a study of politics for many years. He was not hindered by any party, but after reviewing the conditions that had arisen during the last few years, he had no hesitation in advising his hearers to support the Monroe party and their fellow townsman, John Rorke, for whom he had a personal admiration, and whom he regarded the right man for Carbonear.

Before closing the Secretary, Mr. J. Hawker, announced that the final meeting of the campaign would be held in St. Patrick's Hall on Friday next.

The general opinion is that on Mr. John Rorke will devolve, by the clear expressed desire of the citizens of the old District of Carbonear, those honours which were so well and worthily worn by his grandfather, the late Hon. John Rorke, in earlier years, before the public life of the colony had been polluted with graft and corruption.

ROBKE WILL BE THE WINNER.

CARBONEAR, May 29.
Mr. Rorke and deputation addressed a full house of electors in St. Patrick's Hall last night. Ex-member Moore gave an account of his stewardship and felt sure Mr. Rorke would continue the good fight he had begun in reforms for the district. James Rorke, John McKay and the Secretary followed, making many telling points. The enthusiasm and cheers at the close clearly convinced the audience that Rorke will be the winner.

HAWKER, Secretary.

WONDERFUL NEWS FROM TRINITY

F.P.U. Supporting Tait, Mitchell and King.
The following extracts from a letter to a gentleman in the city will be read with interest:

"Messrs. Tait, Mitchell and King were here on Friday and held a meeting at the Parish Hall. Trinity will poll a ninety per cent vote for the Monroe candidates. I am convinced the Opposition will carry. Trinity; this has been my opinion from the start.

"There has been a big falling off in the F.P.U. ranks in Trinity. Right. Coaker's stronghold. Halfway held a meeting at Champneys and only four people attended. Trouty, another of Coaker's strongholds, gave him a poor reception, and his meeting at Trinity East was very tame. If the rest of Trinity Bay has gone back on Coaker like these places have (and I have reason to think so, it will be a sure victory for Tait, Mitchell and King.

"I have been speaking to several strong Union men and I find they are beginning to doubt Sir William, they can't understand him joining forces with such a man as Hickman, the man he said so much against last year, also they cannot understand him placing Winsor, Abbott, Guppy and Targett in Government positions and falling to stand himself for Bonavita Bay. They do not understand him making another call for a further $125,000 to carry on the Union Trading Company. They are also disappointed over the Humber, and all this, together with the Walker Report, showing that the Union Trading Company made $10,000, which the F.P.U. did not get a share of, is helping to give votes to the Opposition.

"Last summer the Union Trading Company charged fifty per cent per hd. for salt supplied schooners here in Trinity Bay, that other schooners were charged that took their supplies in St. John's so the Union men are beginning to find out that the merchants in St. John's are not the great chancers that Coaker tries to make them out to be.

"I think Halfyard must have sent an S.O.S. call to Coaker, as he left Port Union for Port Rexton in his car, but could not get through as the roads were too bad. I heard on good authority that Halfyard said he was getting a poor reception, anyway, he certainly did around here.

"I admit it well need a big change to bring down Halfyard's big majority but at present there is every prospect of its being done.

"Mitchell appears to be a fine man. Dr. Tait is a little gentleman, and King is well known around the Bay. They are a good team, and I honestly believe they are going to win.

"They held a meeting at English Harbour and received a good hearing, where last year Stone hired the hall, and the only one who attended was the caretaker.

"I see Goobie and Stick are out for Hickman. He must have been hard up for candidates, as I should say Goobie would not be in love with the job.

"I am thinking the poll will be a very small one, as so many men are away, and a good many Union men will not vote."

"Everybody speaks well of Monroe."

ADVOCATE'S FAKE MESSAGES

The Advocate staff are busy churning messages out of that paper of one year ago and faking the dates.

One of the messages is signed by a dozen or more Union men, one of whom is dead, and two others are now living in the States and another living in St. John's.

Russian Taxes May Bring $200,000,000

If the Russian harvest comes up to expectations, it is estimated the land tax ought to produce not far short of $200,000,000 from about 20,000,000 peasant holdings. When it is considered that is the only direct tax the peasant is called on to pay, and to a certain extent represents also the rent for land which legally is state property, one realizes how desperately poor is the average Russian peasant, who usually thinks himself lucky if his crop totals a hundred bushels. It is this poverty that drove them into the cities by millions to work each winter, and prevented the urban proletariat from improving its economic and social position.

This tendency still continues to a lesser degree. Owing to industrial depression, the peasants cannot find winter jobs in factories, but there is always some demand for casual labour. At the same time the high price of manufactured goods has forced the peasants to revert to the ancestral custom of making things for themselves. Boots, shoes, homespun cloth, sheepskin coats, earthenware and wooden utensils, etc., are made in the villages throughout Russia, and not content with supplying urban industry in the country, peasant home craft is even becoming a competitor in the towns.

The land tax, accordingly, was raised proportionately in areas like Vladimirskaia, where there are large and relatively flourishing cotton factories. Sheep, poultry, pigs, goats, rabbits, etc., will be taxed this or succeeding years in order to repair the appalling inroads of the civil war and famine except in areas inhabited by nomadic tribes. The goatherds' and shepherds' tax is to be levied not by acreage, but by audit heads of the herd. Neither fruit, flowers, nor home industry is to be taxed unless the individual is employed persons outside the family, or not living in the same cottage. Vineyards are not included in the land tax, but pay an excise duty.

Farmers of the tax do not claim it requires no further emendations, but consider it removes the principal grievance of former years—first, the long journey to the workhouse in the county capital and endless disputes over the quality of grain if the tax is paid in kind; second, loss by the continual rapid depreciation of paper money if paid in cash; third, the extreme hardship inflicted in areas where prices are low owing to lack of transport.

Those not only produced endless disputes, but frequently led to injustice to the weaker peasants who are anxious to help. The richer were able to juggle between the local grain prices, bread loan coupons accepted in the past two years in payment, and fluctuating money. Even should their

Fish With Poisonous Fins

The weaver fish, or sting ball, is a good fish to stay away from. It carries a live pointed fin heavily charged with venom, situated immediately behind the head. On each side of the head is a sharp spine which carries a poisoned dagger half an inch long, which it is able to send out at right angles to the body. A sting from these fins is most painful, and the flesh surrounding the puncture at once assumes a dark purple color, while the limb swells to an alarming extent. The sting ball dines on the young fry of other fish, and it only feeds when the sun is shining. In dull weather it burrows into the sand, completely covering the body, with the exception of the five-pointed fin on the back. It is good eating. But care is required to see that the head has been properly taken off. In Spain there is a heavy penalty for offering the fish for sale without removing the spines. The fish is to be found in the Mediterranean.

Good Story and Whitty Analogy

At a political meeting held in London during the recent election campaign, Sir Henry Cowan, M.P., told the following good story followed by a witty analogy: A well-to-do and benevolent gentleman in New York was accosted by a weeping woman, who prayed him for a dollar to enable her to have her child baptised. Having nothing smaller, he presented her with a $10 bill, telling her to meet him next day and return the change. "And, of course, she never turned up," said the friend, to whom the benevolent gentleman related his experience. "On the contrary," was the reply, "I got the nine dollars, and I considered that my action is to be commended on three counts: first, I pleased the poor woman; second, I saved the child's soul; and third, I got rid of a bad $10 bill!"

The Socialist Government would withdraw from office, said Sir Henry, they would please the nation, they would save their own souls, and we would be rid of many bad bills!

A lover's eyes will gaze an eagle blind.—Shakespeare.

Speech is great, but silence is greater.—Cicero.

Inter-Club Billiards

B. I. S. THE VICTORS.
The Inter-Club Billiard Tournament between the Masonic and B.I.S. Clubs, ended last night at the Masonic rooms, when Skinner (B.I.S.) and Freeman (Masonic) competed in the final game. The game was closely contested throughout, with good billiards being witnessed by both players. Skinner, the local champion, had several excellent breaks to his credit, and being the sturdier player, of the two, emerged victorious by a margin of 55 points. The breaks were as follows:—

Skinner (Masonic)—350—10, 14, 23, 13, 15, 10, 18, 10, 11, 22, 18, 11, 30, 11, 19—240.

Freeman (Masonic)—235—12, 12, 21, 12, 10, 14, 14, 16, 15, 15—153.

The final result was the second annual billiard tournament gives the victory to the B.I.S. players by a total of 565 points. The series has been very successful and all the games were contested in a sportsmanlike manner. The losers intend to dine the winners at a very early date.

The Dance of the Allies

THE SUCCESS OF THE SEASON.

The "Dance of the Allies," which took place in the C.O.C. Hall last night, proved to be a phenomenal success from every standpoint, and to the Strollers, under the Presidency of Mr. T. V. Hartnett, who organized the affair, every congratulation is due. The success of the "Barn Dance" and "Village Fair," which were held several months ago, under the same organizers, is well known, but last night's event eclipsed all previous efforts of its kind. The happy gathering spent several enjoyable hours amidst a scene of grandeur seldom witnessed in this country. The decorations were artistic, the music was excellent, while the Hall was a veritable playground.

The affair opened with the arrival of His Excellency the Governor and Suite, who were met by a reception committee and escorted to the ballroom. At the opening of the proceedings a beautiful bouquet donated by Mr. J. O. McNeil, was presented to Lady Allardyce by Mrs. T. V. Hartnett. The bouquet was much admired and consisted of crimson roses and carnations and asparagus fern. The programme was then commenced, and from the first to the last dance there was not a dull moment. During the evening the C.O.C. Band discoursed a number of patriotic airs, which helped largely in making the evening all the more enjoyable.

The Hawaiian troupe of the Star Motis, was also present, and added to the attractions of the evening with several splendid exhibitions of their art. The costumes worn were of varied and pretty design and prizes for the prettiest were won by Mrs. B. Gardner and Miss Mary Syme, whilst the elimination dance was won by Mr. and Mrs. David Baird.

Shortly after 11 o'clock there was an interval for supper, and the waitresses, under command of Miss Margaret Daley, appropriately gowned, marched around the Hall and to their duties, which were carried out in a very capable manner. At the New-foundland table, which was presided over by Mrs. McKeen, were seated His Excellency the Governor and Suite, Padre Nangle, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Hartnett, the French Consul and the Captain of the Edouard Jeremie, now in Padre Nangle, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Hartnett, and Mrs. Paterson, whilst the other tables were occupied by the gathering.

The tables were designed to represent Great Britain, Scotland, United States, France, Belgium, Italy, Japan, Serbia, and Canada, and each table was decorated in a manner in keeping with the country which it represented.

During the evening Misses Jennie Edgar and Clara Hiscock disposed of handsome souvenirs, whilst Miss Renee Le Roy, who impersonated the "Cigarette Girl," had a busy time disposing of the fags. The refreshments were in charge of Miss Margaret Furlong, and a party of Girl Guides, which brought in a handsome profit.

Mrs. McKeen, Treasurer of the G.W.V.A. Ladies' Auxiliary, added another laurel to her many successful activities. As convener of the various committees she rendered yeoman service and the fact that the various arrangements were carried out without a hitch is principally due to her indefatigable effort, and the splendid co-operation of her assistants. To Mr. Salt and his assistants, Messrs. A. Clift, S. Saunders, C. Quick, F. Penny, Stan James, Ern James and W. Hamlin, heartfelt congratulations are also merited for their artistic work, whilst the same may be said of Mrs. Edgar, whose well known ability in this line needs no comment.

A Hair Cake, donated by Mrs. Stewart, Water Street, was sold by auction, and knocked down for handsome bids only to be put up again. Finally Mr. Harold Macpherson purchased it. The price realized was $70.00.

Last night's affair was organized at the request of Padre Nangle in aid of the G.W.V.A., and as a result of the unqualified success that it was, a handsome sum was realized and will be forwarded to the organization to help defray expenses in connection with Earl Haig's visit.

Monroe Will Give a Square Deal to All

(Founded in 1879 by W. J. Herder.)
THE EVENING TELEGRAM.

THE EVENING TELEGRAM, LIMITED, PROPRIETORS.

All communications should be addressed to The Evening Telegram, Ltd., and not to individuals.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Thursday, May 29, 1924.

The Issue

The political campaign is drawing to its close and within a few days the electors will be called upon to decide which of the parties will be elected to power. Reliable information received from all parts of the country makes it apparent that Mr. Monroe will be returned with a safe majority.

There are many reasons why the present Government should be defeated but the greatest reason of all is that the country must rid itself of the menace of Coakerism or our future is doomed.

Coakerism has been a blight upon the country. From the day of his coming into power until the present time the country has suffered reverse after reverse until now thousands are being compelled to leave the Colony, leaving to those who remain an intolerable burden of taxation.

His coming into power found the fishermen prosperous and contented. His childish management of the Fish Regulations and his many wildcat schemes have brought us nothing but lost markets and poverty. No men have suffered more from the evil effects of Coakerism than the fishermen of the Colony.

His despotic management of the railway meant the squandering of millions of money. The Walker Enquiry showed how he and his henchmen manipulated the handling of pit props to the loss of the Colony. In scores of ways he has stood in the way of prosperity to the Country.

To-day he is the dominant figure of the Government. He is the master of Hickman. To his dictates Hickman must bow or give up the leadership of the party. Hickman is content to be the figurehead. It pays him to do so. Coal contracts already obtained from Coaker's Colonial Secretary have paid Hickman very well. Should Coaker obtain the Government, Hickman would profit exceedingly. The management of the Coastal Service and the huge profits at the Country's expense arising out of the West Indian contracts offer great possibilities for the enlargement of Mr. Hickman's purse. And Coaker will see to it that he, too, will reap his reward.

Will the electors give Coaker and Hickman a further opportunity to impoverish the Country? Polling day will decide, but already the answer is assured. The people have given Coaker his chance and he has been proved a hopeless failure. They will face the issue squarely and vote in their tens of thousands for

MONROE AND CLEAN GOVERNMENT

Hickman's Price

When Mr. Warren invited A. E. Hickman to join his party three weeks ago, the answer he received was "What is there in it for me?"

That little sentence is a complete revelation of the present Premier's character.

He cares little whether the Country prospers or declines. All that interests him is what there is in it for him.

This then, is the man who has the barefaced audacity to ask the people of Newfoundland to return his party to power.

He promises to punish corruption although the highest tribunal in the country has found him guilty of using corrupt methods.

He talks of economy, but his first act, if he were elected, would very likely be the establishment of that West India Service which he and Coaker have so long desired.

His campaign paper, the Advocate, talks of coal contracts, but it does not refute our charge that aided and abetted by the Board of Works, of which Halfyard was chairman, Hickman made thousands of dollars excessive profit, on a coal contract.

He talks of retrenchment, does this pawn of Coaker's; and yet the paper which is supporting him to-day accused him only a year ago of making the people pay $550 for a ten day trip to Halifax.

Hickman wants his price, and the people of Newfoundland would have to pay a heavy price indeed, if they elected this man. Fortunately, they have estimated him at his true worth, and will show their contempt for him on polling day, when they will vote for MONROE, CLEAN GOVERNMENT AND A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL.

No Red Herrings This Time!

Lying Tactics of Advocate Fail to Deceive Electors.

Facing Sure Defeat Coaker Dangles a Gold Brick but People Fail to Grasp it.

Coakerism is doomed and the Advocate to believe that Coaker has any vote knows it. Coaker and his crew are at their wits end. Mosdell which is being played up to put a million dollars in millions of dollars in a given away free. Surely the electors are not supposed to be given away free.

Doing Well With Trawls

Fishermen at Lunenburg have done well with their trawls during the past few days. Fish is also reported plentiful at St. Lawrence.

West End Candidates

HELD TWO MEETINGS LAST NIGHT.

The Monroe candidates for St. John's West, Crosbie, Linegar and Brown, held two successful meetings in the city last night. At eight o'clock they visited the Central Street Club, where a large number were present and heard speeches from Messrs. Brown and Linegar and Sir John Crosbie in the order named. Mr. C. Wiseman was chairman. The speakers, briefly dealt with the issues at stake in the present campaign and at the close were warmly applauded.

The second meeting was held at the Star Hall at 8 o'clock. The spacious meeting room was packed to the doors and enthusiasm was at a high pitch. Mr. Caldwell being indisposed the meeting was called to order by Mr. Levi Froude who called upon Sir John Crosbie to address the gathering. Sir John was in good form and in a very powerful speech he put the present political situation very clearly to his hearers. Beginning at the formation of the Opposition he told of what had been done in campaign work since the fight began practically the whole district has been canvassed and they have met with great success everywhere.

A QUESTION FOR SIR WM. TO ANSWER.

Dealing with the fishery. Sir John said the one thing that controls business in this country is in other words the supply and demand and the only reason why fish is $2.50 a quintal to-day is because the supply is not equal to the demand. Mr. Coaker has told the fishermen that he has raised the price of fish, but last year when a certain fish merchant was buying fish in Bonavista Bay Coaker threatened that merchant that he would raise the price 50 cents a quintal, if any fish were bought in that Bay. If fish was then worth an additional 50 cents why was it not paid by Coaker.

THE MONROE POLICY.

Sir John touched on many points of interest to the electorate and his speech was enthusiastically received. The Monroe Government, he said, does promise to widen paved streets or a land sowing with milk and honey, but it does say that it will do its utmost to lift the country out of its present regrettable state, that policy is simply clean up, keep clean and a square deal to all, and Sir John said that one of the first duties will be to see that all wrong-doers stand trial for their actions in the same manner as other people have.

The business of the evening was then proceeded with and agents for the booth rooms, etc. were appointed. The meeting ended with cheers for the Monroe party and the West End Candidate, Crosbie, Linegar and Brown.

Placentia and St. Mary's

WILL NOT TOLERATE HICKMAN CANDIDATES.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Would you please give me space in the columns of your paper to report the Hickman-Coaker candidate who arrived here some short time ago.

He told us Bindon was his name, and that the other two who were his colleagues were no good. One of them is a St. Mary's Bay man, the other is a Placentia Bay man.

He said Bindon, the Monroe candidate, was no good either and to vote for Sullivan, Walsh and Bindon.

Now in all our experience we never had a man of this type visit us before. He seems to have a two-edged sword inside his jacket to stab his own friends and ours.

Everyone in the hall decided he could not vote for such a man, as he was devoid of principle, honor or manliness. What does his party think of him? If he has any party—he said he was a Hickman man, but if Mr. Hickman has many more of his kind connected with him, if by any chance he should be given power to rule, God help Newfoundland. Mr. Bindon is not the type of man that would lay down his life for his friends. Oh, no, he would apparently stab them in the back.

Voters of Newfoundland, beware of such men and such contemptible tactics. This country has been taught a severe lesson, and the dominating influence that would introduce such characters into the public life of the colony bears no mark of true citizenship.

Every man is of opinion that Bindon and colleagues have received their price. "Oh, God that fish and blood should be so cheap and human food so dear."

TRUTH.

The People's Leader

Makes a Final Appeal to the Electors of Newfoundland

Special to Evening Telegram.

PRINCETON, May 28.

I make a last appeal to the people of all Districts to see that grafting politicians are shown by the ballot that the country is worthy of Responsible Government, and determined that government of the people shall be by the people, and nothing but Clean Administration will be permitted to exist.

Bonavista is awake and decisive for a change. The news from other Districts is equally good, and I have faith that the country will express its indignation on Monday by driving from office a party consisting of those who are guilty of wrong doing and those who have joined up with them knowing their misdeeds.

W. S. MONROE.

Monroe Will Clean Up!

Hickman is Corrupt and Cannot Be Trusted

Monroe Will Give a Square Deal to All

THE PUBLIC ENQUIRY SHALL BE PROMPTLY AND VIGOROUSLY CONTINUED TO THE END. IMPARTIAL JUSTICE SHALL BE METED OUT TO ALL EVIL-DOERS.

That is the promise which Mr. Walter S. Monroe makes in his Manifesto, and the people can rely upon the sincerity of that promise.

Monroe has a clean record and he has always proved a man of his word. When he makes a promise, he can be trusted to perform it. CAN YOU TRUST HICKMAN, WHO WAS FOUND GUILTY OF CORRUPTION BY THE SUPREME COURT, TO CLEAN UP THE PUBLIC SERVICE?

We have made statements about Hickman which the Advocate, his official apologist, has failed to deny.

IF HICKMAN TRIES TO CLEAN UP HE WILL FIRST HAVE TO FIND OUT WHY HE WAS ALLOWED TO MAKE HIS BIG COAL GRAB LAST FALL. HE WILL HAVE TO FIND OUT WHY HALFYARD, FITZGIBBON AND HIBBS AWARDED HIM A BIG COAL CONTRACT WHEN HIS TENDER WAS THE HIGHEST. A man like Hickman cannot be trusted to clean up anything except coal contracts and West India Services.

MONROE HAS A CLEAN RECORD WHICH INSPIRES CONFIDENCE AND THE PEOPLE WILL UNITE IN SUPPORTING HIM.

Voters, just look at the crowd who would help Hickman clean up.

SIR WILLIAM COAKER, WHO HAS ALL BUT RUINED THE COUNTRY DURING HIS FIVE YEARS OF POWER AND WHO IS NOW OUT STUMPING FOR HICKMAN. MOSDELL, THE PARASITE WHO HAS BEEN BATTENING ON THE COUNTRY FOR FIVE YEARS AND WHO SIGNED THE BIG BOGUS CHEQUE. HALFYARD WHO MADE YOU PAY FOR HIS CIGARS AND SOAP. BARNES WHO GETS THOUSANDS FOR DOING NOTHING BUT WASTE YOUR MONEY.

Can you trust that crowd to clean up? You know you can't. VOTE FOR MONROE, CLEAN GOVERNMENT, AND A SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL.

Young Girl Slightly Injured

Helen Bayly, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. A. J. Bayly, was thrown from her bicycle while proceeding down Military Road yesterday afternoon and suffered painful injuries to her knee. She was picked up and assisted to her home, after which a doctor was called in and attended to her injuries. Helen's injuries are not as bad as at first thought and she will be able to get around again in the course of a few days.

Hickman Becoming Desperate.

At Spaniard's Bay Last Night Said He Would Put Coaker Out of Existence.

Said Sir Wm. Lloyd Walter Contesting a District-Barefaced Lie -- Coaker's Men Disloyal to Him, Said Hickman.

(By telephone from Spaniard's Bay.)

Hickman's meeting last night met with a front at Spaniard's Bay, and Mr. Hickman is a very discouraged man indeed. He told the people that he had nothing to do with Coaker or any of his party. He assured the people that the few Coaker men that he had, had pledged themselves to him and had nothing to do with Coaker, and he returned to power that he (Hickman) would put Coaker out of existence forever. He further told us that Sir Wm. Lloyd had gone to a district of Minister of Justice and that Sir William was his adviser. The people here are not so blind as to listen to Hickman's trash. Mr. Colpitt's remarks were mostly on the importations of "spuds," but the people of Spaniard's Bay do not want "prattles" as an election speech, and Mr. Colpitt will be a sadder but wiser man after June the 2nd. Mr. Frank Archibald's eyes were not quite red this year as they were this last year. Poor Frank, last night only excuse for soliciting our votes was that when the Monroe Party returned they will have to go back to the country and contest for their material assets, while his Government could open the House immediately. He spoke of the sympathy Mr. Peacock had for the Hickman Party which has proven to be false. He said that when he was elected in less than three days he would have a man in the country working. Rather high notion even for Frank. He says queer things.

The people of Spaniard's Bay with the rest of the districts in the election Bay and assured them that they will elect Bennett, Russell and Simmons.

Voters of Harbor Grace

Ask yourself is the same A. E. Hickman who is now soliciting votes for Coaker's mad cap schemes the same man who last year denounced Coaker in the strongest possible terms.

Ask yourselves why he has turned his coat? Probe the matter to the bottom and see if you don't find that there is "something rotten in the state of Denmark."

Make a dash for the square deal under Monroe so that Newfoundland may not be referred to again as "The land where rogues are raised on and loudly praised for the worst crimes."

Pupil Bishop Spencer College

SUFFERS BROKEN COLLAR BONE.

Miss Maisie Butler a pupil of Bishop Spencer College, while playing hockey in the school grounds yesterday morning with a number of her companions, received a heavy fall and suffered a compound fracture of the collar bone. Dr. Burden was hurriedly called to the scene and an examination of her injuries and after the little victim had been removed to her home the bone was set. Although rather painful, Miss Butler bore her sufferings well, but it will be at least three weeks before she will be able to get around again.

WATER AND SMOKE CAUSE EXTENSIVE DAMAGE.

A fire which caused extensive damage occurred this morning at the Holloway Studio. Bates Hill. The blaze was first noticed by Dr. Smith who was passing in his motor car at 5 o'clock. The Central firemen were notified by phone and responded quickly. The fire originated in a display room on the ground floor and was caused by embers from a gas falling on the floor and igniting wood work. The chemical was quenched with good effect and the blaze quenched before it had gained much headway. Nevertheless the damage by smoke and water is quite extensive, but is covered by insurance.

C.L.B. Cadets

Boys' Day was fittingly celebrated by the C.L.B. Cadets at Bay Roberts, as the Rev. E. M. Bishop, Rector, and Major John Dawe, O.C., arranged for the annual inspection on Saturday, May 24th. Lt.-Col. F. Rendell, C.B.E., Officer-in-Charge of the 1st Nfld. Regiment C.I.B., was inspection officer, with Major Williams as Chief of Staff. These officers went to Bay Roberts to inspect the duty on Saturday morning and were the guests of Major John and Mrs. Dawe, Bay Roberts. H. Company was organized in 1913, and is now eleven years old, yearly gaining in usefulness and efficiency as one of the bright spots in the parish organization as a means of moral and physical training. The inspection took place at 3 p.m. at the headquarters in the large store building placed at their disposal by the Major Dawe's firm. The company, N.C.O.'s and Quartermaster special rooms fitted up for their respective use.

The following officers were on duty, Rector, Rev. E. M. Bishop and Major John Dawe, Officers, Commandant, Captain N. French, Adjutant, Lieut. Charles Butt, R. J. Mercer, Lieut. Leas, Reuben Parsons and Sgt. Major Sparkes and Bandmaster Major Smith. Total strength of the following ranks on parade, officers, 2 Warrant Officer, N.C., and 56 lads. Total 70—an excellent showing! Corporal W. J. Mercer has been awarded a ten year good conduct long service medal which will be officially presented in the next few days. A brass band of twelve instruments under Bandmaster Smith is doing good work. Weekly parties are held regularly. After the inspection on the parade grounds opposite the rectory, by the Lieut.-Col. Rendell, the company marched back to their headquarters where Lieut.-Col. Rendell addressed the parade and extended his congratulations on their progress and efficiency. He also gave them good sound advice on discipline and loyalty which was keenly received. His address was followed by the Brigade Major Williams, who spoke of his visit two years ago to the company and who was pleased to see the Bay Roberts Company carrying on well and making increased progress on Brigade duty. He called upon the Rev. Raymond Mercer, the owner of the silver cup of 1922, as the lad who had won the most points for his year and personally congratulated him on his success. The Brigade Major offered another silver cup as a token trophy for competition in the future. The parade was a most successful one and payments of dues—to be completed at Christmas. The Brigade Major selected several of the company and the company concluded with the National Anthem.

Bay Roberts C.L.B. Ladies' Auxiliary are enthusiastic workers. Seven only in number their quality is up for quantity. Under the leadership of Mrs. E. M. Bishop, Mrs. John Dawe, Vice-President and Mrs. Charles Noel Butt, Secy.-Treasurer of members, this Auxiliary has been working for the finance of the company. On Shrove Tuesday a ball sale was held and over four hundred and sixty dollars was realized. This shows that the whole-hearted support of the parishioners of Bay Roberts and Coley's Point are back of the Officers and Ladies' Auxiliary in maintaining the C.L.B. Auxiliary as a means of training their boys. Bay Roberts folk back the Brigade Major or anything else success surely.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Church Parade was held in St. Andrew's Church, one of the finest best furnished sacred edifices in Newfoundland. This Church contains a beautiful stained window, a hand-carved oak pulpit, and lectern. The organ given by the members of the Dawe family, "In Memoriam" also contains a neat litany desk, decorated by the Jardine family. The organ is handsome and comfortable. The Church Parade 75 all ranks raised a total of $3 on the strength of the roll. The service was attended by many of the bandmen sitting in the choir. The organ was maintained by Miss Fraser, the Church's organist for many years, whose services were much appreciated by all. The hymns used were "Fight the Good Fight" (the Brigade Hymn), "Stand Up For Jesus," "Be Thou My Father and My Guide," and "Soldiers of Christ Arise." The Rector, Lieut.-Col. W. F. Rendell, C.B.E., and Brigade Major Williams attended the service. The service was preached by the Rector, Lieut.-Col. W. F. Rendell, C.B.E., and Chap. Nehemiah, 17 and part of the 20th verse. The Rector spoke a straight and to the heart of his congregation. He exhorted them all, particularly their various walks of life, to be true to the great explorer, Christopher Columbus, who found the secret of the North Atlantic in reading the Bible four hundred years ago. He exhorted them to cover on one of their summer trips from coast to coast. He cited the example of the lighthouse where beams shed their rays warning the mariners of the danger shoals, and appealed to all those who wore the badge and uniform of the C.L.B. to share their intelligence, experience and example with those with whom they lived and worked and played in order to promote a higher ideal of citizenship, thus maintaining their own personal honour and their loyalty to the Brigade of which each individual is a part. A collection was taken up in aid of Bay Roberts' War Memorial and the National Anthem concluded a very enjoyable service. After the Company returned to their Headquarters Lt. Colonel Rendell again took the opportunity of speaking to the lads, congratulating them on their splendid appearance and wished officers and all ranks continued success. After the dismissal of the parade and the playing of the National Anthem by the Company's band, the annual inspection ceremonies were completed. On Sunday evening the inspecting officers, with Major John and Mrs. Dawe and Mrs. Saunders were entertained at tea by the Rector and Mrs. Bishop at the Rectory and afterwards attended Evening Prayer Service in beautiful St. Matthew's, a building which does the people of Bay Roberts great credit. Carry on, Bay Roberts! Carry on!

Fighting Trio at Newtown

WONDERFUL RECEPTION ACCORDED MONROE CANDIDATES.

Last night the Monroe candidates, Higgins, Vincombe and Fox, held a meeting at Newtown, which was attended by voters from Freshwater Road, Higher Levels and Log Pond section. The meeting was held in Henley's factory. At 9 o'clock the candidates arrived and received a most enthusiastic reception. The hills resounded with cheers, and musketry, while bonfires and stage powder lighted up the country for miles around.

Mr. Martin Doyle was unanimously elected chairman and under his management the meeting was successfully handled. In turn Messrs. Higgins, Vincombe and Fox delivered splendid and stirring speeches. They laid before their audience the cause and issues of the election. In accordance with the established principles of their campaign, they avoided all criticism of their opponents, but seized every opportunity to knock and show up the inconsistencies and instabilities of the Coaker-Hickman temporary Government.

Throughout the finest attention was given the speakers, and frequent and long was the cheering and applause unstintingly given. After a hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman and the singing of the National Anthem, the building simply shook with the thunderous ovation accorded the Monroe cause and its worthy standard-bearers. The entire audience remained for the finish and accompanying Higgins, Fox and Vincombe to their waiting motor tendered them another ovation. Never was such evident support accorded in any political campaign. This morning the candidates left for Bell Island and meetings will be held at the Front, Lance Cove, Freshwater East and West Wabana.

Get your flags ready to hoist to the masthead in honor of the cause and the now popular Premier, Walter Monroe.

Come on all who are yet undecided. Mark your ballots for the Monroe candidates and join in the general jubilation.

Never before was there such universal popular feeling in favor of a party as that now led by Monroe.

A great name, a great leader and a great cause could not help but win such a great victory as that which will be witnessed on the 2nd of June.

Well done Newfoundlanders! Your sons and daughters abroad will be proud of you and will return with you to greet you all when the sunshine of prosperity under a Monroe Government beams upon the land again.

Cheer boys, cheer with all your might, keep up the fight till polling day, and then cheer again when the count is on and the Monroe Government elected.

THE HARD PROBLEM.
I know it's hard to do, but then
Don't give up in weak despair.
Stick to it boy, and try again,
And master every problem there.
The task easy to naught amounts,
"The doing something hard that counts."

The weaklings always turn aside
When difficulties bar their way.
From trial they would run and hide,
"I can't" the cowards always say.
So when you're troubled, play the man,
Stick to your task and say, "I can."

Would I could make you understand
The easy task no glory brings;
They only conquer and command
Who have the grit for sterner things.
The problem's hard to do, my son,
But don't forget it can be done.

To-morrow, when your class shall meet,
You watch your schoolmates then and see
How many of them will repeat:
"That problem was too hard for me."

And tell me when you come home at night
About the few who got it right.
Hard problems are the terms we face,
Who stops with every little doubt
Will never win a leader's place.
The thing to do it work them out.
Stick to it, son, and see it through—
He sighed: "Oh, gee; That's hard to do."

All I have seen teaches me to trust
The Creator for all I have not seen—Emerson.

Indian Magicians and their Tricks

The amazing Indian rope trick that for many years has been one of the world's mysteries, will be seen at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley.

Indian magicians can cause a boy to climb a rope projected upright into the air, and kept suspended there by no visible agency. The boy disappears in full view of the spectators on reaching the top.

Another favorite of these magicians is the mango seed trick, in which a mango-plant is made to grow in the space of a few minutes from a nut buried in the ground. Briefly, this illusion is produced by using a series of hollowed-out nuts, inside which mango plants in various stages of growth, but tightly compressed into small balls, have previously been hidden.

An amazing illusion occasionally performed by Oriental magicians consists in sending a boy to the top of a tall tower, and then causing him slowly to fade away and disappear, to the accompaniment of weird incantations by the conjurer, stationed on the ground near the spectators at some distance from the foot of the tower. The boy remains invisible for perhaps thirty seconds; then, to the accompaniment of more incantations, he gradually re-appears.

Most aviators know that by judiciously utilizing the sun's rays at varying angles they can render their machine invisible to the occupants of another machine flying a little distance off.

The invisibility of the boy on the tower to those watching below is effected in a similar manner. By slightly altering his position in relation to the solar rays a sort of dazzling haze effect is produced, which moves by degrees into complete invisibility. The boy is, in fact, hiding in his own halo.
Then there is that apparent physical miracle known to oculists by the name of levitation.

Levitation is said to occur when a heavy body, such as a table or chair, is made to raise itself from the ground. The trick is a favorite one with professional mediums, but they perform it in the dark, and mostly under conditions that obviously lend themselves to trickery.

The Indian fakir does the same thing in the open air and in broad daylight. How? We do not know. It is his secret, and he will not part with it. Some day, perhaps, European scientists will stumble upon the explanation; just as they have hit, usually quite by accident, upon the secrets underlying many other of his more famous tricks.

Take, for instance, the well known one which consists in causing a kettle of ice-cold water to boil (apparently) in a few seconds when placed on a boy's head, with a few wisps of lighted straw inserted beneath it.

This trick is now known to be accompanied by the aid of liquid air.
But it is at least one hundred years old. It follows, therefore, that some method of liquefying air was known to these people long before Professor Dewar rediscovered the secret.

One Hundred Years of Trains

Next year an interesting centenary will be celebrated when the leading British railway companies, and probably some of those overseas, will combine to mark in fitting manner the hundredth anniversary of the opening of the Stockton and Darlington Railway—the pioneer passenger-carrying railway of the world.

It will be news to most people that the germ of the great "iron road" system of to-day was to be found not in the minds of Stephenson and his rival inventors, but in the wooden tracks laid down in the Newcastle district in the sixteenth century for the conveyance of coal from the pits to the Tyne.

The growth of British railroads is almost as romantic as the evolution of the engine that runs over them. The wooden tracks were, presently covered with iron, in order to reduce the wear and tear of the wheels.

At a later stage the edges of the rails were turned upwards, to prevent the wheels from slipping off, and from this primitive device sprang the vast network of flanged rails that today intersects Britain. Incidentally, it was from this early type of rail, known as the barrow-plate, that we get the familiar term "plate-layer."

It was in September, 1825, that the Stockton and Darlington Railway, long since swallowed up by the London and North-eastern Railway, was opened. The line was thirty-eight miles long, and originally it was proposed to draw the carriages over it by means of horses.

Stephenson, who had superintended the construction of the line, persuaded the directors to adopt steam power, and accordingly a train of thirty-four vehicles, weighing ninety tons in all, was placed at the disposal of the travelling public.

Stephenson in Charge.

At the opening Stephenson himself took charge of the engine, which was preceded by a signalman on horseback, a speed of from ten to twelve miles an hour being maintained.

The new railway was well patronized from the first, and in a short time a proper passenger service was inaugurated, the double journey being accomplished in two hours. The fare was a shilling (about 25 cents), and passengers were allowed to take luggage not exceeding fourteen pounds in weight, free of charge. One direct outcome of the innovation was that the price of coal at Darlington dropped almost immediately from 44s. to 32s. a ton.

Following the establishment of this service, the first passenger-carrying railway in the world, several other systems came into being, notably the Monklands Railway, in Scotland, opened in 1826, and the Canterbury and Whitstable line.

Four years later there was opened the Liverpool and Manchester Railway, which may not inaptly be regarded as the first railway definitely to foreshadow the tremendous revolution that was soon to take place in relation to Britain's inland transport.

The directors of this railway offered a prize of £500 (about $2,500) for the best high-powered engine, and it is largely to their initiative and foresight that we owe the evolution of the great modern engines, with their wonderful pulling power and capacity for attaining high speeds.

But it was the little Stockton and Darlington line that gave the public its first taste of railroad travel, and set a fashion that has since developed into an industry involving millions of pounds in capital and employing hundreds of thousands of workers.

Toilet Table

Let the cow be your beauty doctor. Not till you thoroughly appreciate and utilize the exceptional properties of plain, wholesome milk will you be doing all you might in the way of retaining health and beauty as well.

Milk has a caloric value far above that of most commodities and in a more easily assimilated form. A pint, well scalded, consumed hot or cold three times a day, will enrich the blood, build up the tissues and often do much to banish many little ailments due to lack of energy.

There is little need to say more regarding the inward application of this pleasant "medicine" but something might be detailed in connection with its use outwardly.

A cream soothing to a troubled skin and an agent that heals a sore complexion or one roughened by exposure to weather is scalded milk.

If a small quantity is allowed to boil and then cool we have a simple home-made beautifier which will work wonders. It only need be "jabbed" on the skin, with cotton-wool overnight and after the treatment has been practised for about a week it will be noticed that the complexion has become soft and blemishes or spots are helped in healing.

The company's fiscal year ended March 31 last, and the annual report will shortly be ready.

START MADE TO REACH GREATER DEPTH AT BOME.

(From Montreal Star, May 16.)
SOUTH PORCUPINE, Ont.—Following a recent decision to extend operations to greater depth on the Dome Mines, a start has been made this week with the object of establishing a new haulage level at a depth of 1,750 feet, about 150 feet below the present deepest workings.

Two diamond drills are employed in connection with exploring the Kootenay area south of the sediments where former exploration indicated the presence of large bodies of rich ore. Success in this direction would add greatly to the resources of the mine, and the outlook for success is excellent, according to official advice.

Milling operations continue at daily rate of a little over 1,200 tons, and at the daily production averaging close to $12,000.

Statistics Show Value of Insulin

PLAYING BIG PART IN REDUCING DIABETES DEATH RATE.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Evidence that the use of insulin, the new discovery for curing diabetes, is serving to halt the mortality rate from the disease, are contained in statistics just made public by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

With the record of its 15,000,000 insurance policy-holders for the first quarter of 1924 at hand, the statistical bulletin of the company announces that "mortality from diabetes declined 28 per cent. as compared with the first quarter of last year among the white policy holders, and 17 per cent. among the colored. Each additional month helps to confirm the impression that the growing use of insulin is an important factor in bringing this about."

The death rate from diabetes for March, 1924, was 1.65 per 100,000 as compared with 2.23 for March, 1923, according to the company's figures.

Stole Own Horse Now Faces Court

OLE MANSON, SEATTLE'S WARD-MAYOR, IN STRANGE FIX.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 21.—Ole Hanson, wartime Mayor of Seattle, now a Los Angeles real estate operator, is ready to defend himself against a charge of horse stealing filed in Pasadena Justice Court by Clarence W. Basten, of Sierra Madre, a suburb.

After having been arraigned on the horse theft charge and released under $1,000 bail pending his preliminary hearing, the former Seattle mayor inquired whether the old California law providing a death penalty for horse thieves still was in effect. Assured that the statute had been void half a century, he breathed a sigh of relief and explained the horse imbroglio.

"I am charged with stealing my own horse," he said. "When I came here from Seattle I shipped five ponies, one a strawberry roan named Golden. Soon afterward someone stole Golden and for 18 months I searched for the animal. Then, last Saturday I saw the horse in a vacant lot at Sierra Madre. I called him by name and he pulled up his stake and came to me."

"I bought Mr. Basten, the purported owner, and he told me he had bought Golden from a man in Ft. Snedden, who had purchased it from a Mexican, who said he got it from a boy. He turned the horse over to me, but asked my aid in recovering the money he had paid for it. Later, apparently, he changed his mind, for the next thing I knew he had sworn to a complaint charging me with stealing the horse. "It is with sincere joy that I learn the death penalty for this offence is no longer in existence."

The Making of Stage Thrills

Ralph Lynn, the well known English comedian, tells in the following manner, how new style thrills are produced.

"A terrific explosion, a blinding flash, dense clouds of smoke, and a dash on the stage, dreadfully adhered, and my clothes blown to rags. That was the great comedy thrill in 'Tomb of Money.' Now, how was it done? I will tell you.

Two big bombs are placed in a great iron tank with a massive lid, loose, but captive. These bombs are fired electrically, and each bomb is tested before the performance. The flash is easily arranged, and the smoke comes from an iron canister, containing a substance which, when ignited, produces dense clouds of black smoke which are blown on the back of the stage by electric fans.

If the bombs fail, and they did so twice at the 'Alleyway,' we have a man who pounds vigorously at the huge drum, and another one operating the 'thunder' sheet. We had some fun and misfortune with this elaborate apparatus.

Often we get 'thrills' that are not intended. My brother, for instance, was playing the villain once, and had to shoot a man. Quite unconsciously, as he pushed the revolver into his pocket he had his finger over the business end. The trigger caught in the side of the pocket and off it went, badly damaging his finger and blowing a hole in the front of his trousers.

The audience evidently thought the thrill a little premature, and liked the hole in his trousers, but what they did not realize was that my brother had to complete his part with a finger so badly damaged that to this day he cannot make full use of it. I remember once having an accident myself which the audience presumably thought was a very clever fake thrill.

Too Much Realism.
It was in a duel. My opponent was not an expert fencer, and one stroke got past my guard and laid open the back of my hand and my wrist. The blood poured out, and I had to apply the handkerchief even while I fenced. The audience thought it a wonderfully realistic effect, but my antagonist was naturally very concerned. His lines ran like this:

"Curse you, you devil!" in a thundering voice—and "Sorry old man—are you all right?" in a muttered whisper. "Curse you—I'll kill you!" "Can you stick it, Lynn?" "Curse you!"

It was much too realistic for my liking and too painful for a long time afterwards.

Once, years ago, I did a most dramatic death at the end of the act, and the drop should have come down on my prostrate form. Unfortunately, I died a bit too far forward, and the drop came down with me in front of it.

Now the drop represented a scene miles away from the place of the tragedy, and there was a dead in front of it. There was nothing to do but to keep still and catch the eye of the stage manager.

I did, and muttered, "What am I going to do?" He was displeased, but then muttered "Roll off in death's agony," but the audience thought it exceedingly funny, as it undoubtedly was.

Making Diamonds Glisten

The art of cutting diamonds to increase their luster is being discovered by accident. Up to the end of the 15th century, diamonds were simply cleaned and mounted in their natural state. In 1456, a young gentleman of Bruges, by rubbing a couple of diamonds together, observed that they acquired an extraordinary polish. This observation was the starting-point of the diamond-polishing and cutting industry which was almost exclusively localized in Amsterdam. It is recorded that the discoverer made the first trial of his improved mode of cutting in 1475 on three large rough stones which were confided to his care by Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy. The new industry was greatly encouraged by Cardinal Masarin, who caused the diamonds in the French crown to be re-cut, whence they obtained the name of the 15 Masarins.

Claims New Sure Cure for Cancer

ROME, May 19.—Addressing the medical section of the League of Nations, in convention here, Professor Gaetano Fischera claimed the discovery of a synthetic fluid which bestowed immunity from cancer upon the user as long as the fluid was taken.

He added the claim that he could diagnose the predisposition to cancer several years before the disease developed, the causation being the lack of cancer-dissolving fluid engendered by a gland in the throat.

Fischera insists that his discovery is an absolute cure for cancer, even in its advanced stages, in conjunction with operations. London authorities are sceptical.

The adoption of a shrill, single-tone whistle would save many millions a year in railway coal bills.

Good Recipes

Drop Biscuit.
Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, three-quarters cup milk or water, two tablespoons fat, one-half teaspoon salt. Mix dry ingredients. Cut in fat. Add liquid. Drop into greased pan. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in hot oven.

Bran Muffins.
One cup sour cream, one teaspoon soda, salt, one-quarter cup sugar, one egg, one cup flour, one cup bran. Mix cream and soda, add salt and sugar and well beaten egg, then add bran and flour, beat well and put in muffin tins. Bake in medium hot oven till brown.

Swiss Steak.
Round steak—amount to suit number of persons served. Pound thoroughly with blunt instrument—one may use a china plate—and keep well sprinkled with flour. Keep it well pounded into meat. Season well with salt and pepper, place in hot fat and turn over as soon as seared. Keep turning quite often until thoroughly done and keep covered closely with lid during cooking process. Serve hot with gravy made from juice.

Potato Salad.
This is an excellent way of using left over potatoes. Six cold boiled potatoes, four tablespoons salad oil or melted butter, two tablespoons vinegar, one-half tablespoon salt, cayenne pepper, two tablespoons chopped parsley, a few drops of onion juice. Cut the potatoes in one-half inch cubes. Make a dressing by mixing thoroughly the other ingredients. Pour this dressing over the potatoes, and allow them to stand for fifteen minutes. Drain off any dressing that may not have been absorbed by the potatoes.

Potato Scallop.
Put a baking dish on the stove with a little butter in it; slice one small onion into it and fry a minute, now fill pan with raw potatoes peeled and sliced thinly, putting pepper and salt between layers; dot top with small pieces of butter and sprinkle on a few bread crumbs; pour milk over all until potatoes can just be seen, but do not completely cover. Bake in moderate oven one hour. It is best to place a cover on for the first half hour.

Parker House Rolls.
Add three tablespoonfuls of butter, and one and one-half teaspoonfuls salt and two cupfuls scalded milk. When milk is lukewarm, add one teaspoon cake, dissolve in one-quarter cupful of lukewarm water and three cupfuls flour. Beat thoroughly, cover and let rise until light. Cut down and add enough flour to knead. Let rise again till doubled in bulk. Toss on to a floured board; knead, then roll out to a third of an inch in thickness. Cut out with a round biscuit cutter, brush over with melted butter, then fold over and press the edges together. Place in greased pan, one inch apart, let rise until light then bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes.

Mock Turtle Soup.
One calf's head, four pounds knuckle of veal, one pound marrow bone, four quarts cold water, one small sliced carrot, two sliced onions, three sprigs thyme, two sprigs marjoram, bit of celery, leaf, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon peppercorns, one-eighth teaspoon celery seed, four allspice limes, two blades mace, one-half tablespoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons butter, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice, pepper. Clean and wash calf's head, put in kettle with veal and marrow bone; add cold water, cover, bring slowly to boiling point and let simmer until meat leaves bone. Cut face piece in one-half inch cubes, there should be one cup—add set aside with brains to use as garnish. Fat tongue, remaining calf's head meat and veal through meat chopper. Return to kettle containing stock and add vegetables and seasonings and let simmer two hours. Strain, cool, remove fat, reheat and add butter and flour browned together. Add meat, lemon juice, and salt and pepper to taste. Then add egg-balls.

China Has a 'Stone Age'

Recent discoveries have disproved the hypothesis that China never had a stone age. At Fengtien, a Swedish scientist excavated a cave about 5 by 12 feet. In it were found bones from about 49 human bodies and a large number of objects, none of which were of metal. The objects included arrowheads, stone axes, bone awls, carious stone rings and a tiny piece of animal sculpture made of marble. Fragments of remarkable vessels, some with painted geometrical patterns and others with a polished red surface ornamented boldly in black. The discoverer dates the cave to the transition between the stone age and the bronze age, or about 1,000-1,500 B.C.

Riding Across the Andes

A happy chance took me into the bar of a little hotel at the foot of the Andes at the same time as a sun-burnt Englishman wearing riding breeches and khaki shirt, writes Arthur Mills in a London paper.

He was in charge of the Chilean section of the Pacific and European Telegraph Co's cable line—a lonely, venturesome life with many a winter fight against avalanches and blizzard. He asked if I would like to ride over the Andes with him. "Come on," as they say in Chile. "Would I not!" We lunched at his house at Rio Blanco, the last point on the old pioneers' track to which wheeled traffic can go as the road is at present.

After lunch we set off. Three hours brought us to Juncal, 7,000 ft. above sea level. Here we put up for the night in the hospitable mess of the Chilean Transandine Railway. Through the window of the mess we could see the rack-and-antiplon line winding its precarious way.

A game of poker, a short sleep, and at dawn we set out again. From Juncal to Caracoles, where the Chilean end of the Transandine Tunnel begins, is a stiff climb. But the steepest part is from Caracoles to Cumbre, the old original pass over the Andes, 13,000 ft. above the sea. There is a moderately good track up to the Cumbre; however, the Chilean horseboys took us a short cut.

An hour more brought us to the summit of the pass. A small stone mark, the boundary between Chile and Argentina. Near the stone stands a statue of Christ hand outstretched, beneath is an inscription pledging Chile and Argentina to live in peace, which is occasionally disregarded by the frontier police of both countries.

A strange, lonely statue this Christ—perhaps the loneliest in the world, standing in the midst of the snow-capped, rugged Andes.

Here, by the statue, the pioneers of old first made their hazardous way from Buenos Aires to the Pacific. Today, through a tunnel 3,000 feet below, a main-line railway runs, carrying sleek, well-fed passengers in Pullman cars. The Transandine Railway is a landmark in South American prosperity.

Admits Deficiency in United States Navy

An admission that deficiencies in the American Navy at present place it on a basis of 5-4-3 in relation to Great Britain and Japan, instead of the 5-5-3 authorized by the Washington Treaty, was made in report submitted by Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, acting Secretary of the Navy, to Chairman Butler of the House Naval Affairs Committee.

In the 5-4-3 ratio cited, the British navy is figured at 5, and the Japanese navy at 3. Equality between the American and British navies in capital ships was authorized in the Washington agreement on limitation of naval armaments, and Japan was to have three-fifths the strength of the two leading nations.

Colonel Roosevelt's report was in reply to criticisms on the condition of the navy, published in the New York Times on April 28 by W. D. Shearer, a naval expert.

The acting Secretary of the Navy admits that much of Mr. Shearer's criticism—probably half of it—was well founded, and the report urges that Congress should provide appropriations to restore the fleet to parity with that of Great Britain and give it the lead over Japan agreed upon.

Mr. Shearer's article asserted that the present relative strength of British, Japanese and American navies was "5-3-1, with our navy one." Answering this statement, Colonel Roosevelt's report says:

"As to the last sentence, it is difficult to definitely state your exact strength, due to the varying ratio in the different types. A fair approximation may be obtained by study of the ratio of the various types in paragraph 3. A fair comparison of the present fighting strength in ships of Great Britain, America and Japan would appear to be 5-4-3.

This ratio does not take into consideration strategically located and well-equipped naval bases which add greatly to the sea power of a nation, nor does it take into consideration the relative strength of the various merchant marines.

"The navy is in good shape, with the exception of the above-designated deficiencies, which should be remedied. The morale of the personnel, both commissioned and enlisted, is high. The appropriations furnished by Congress are being applied in the best manner as to obtain the very best results."

"KING OF HAND" LINIMENT

Putting Away Furs

There is always the fear that while the fur has been hanging up prior to being put away some sneaking, predatory moth has deposited her nasty little egg in it. Put the fur out in the sun where the full rays will fall on it. This will burst the eggs, if any, so that the fur may be safely put away without that fear after receiving a good shaking and beating.

There are moth-proof best made of stiff medicated paper which are expensive and quite satisfactory. If one does not possess one of these, wrap the fur in newspaper and seal it up in an ordinary cardboard dress box by pasting paper all over the opening.

All furs should be brushed and cleaned before they are put away. Hot bran rubbed well in and removed when dry will clean them. They should then be well shaken and any little repairs carried out. Linings are not difficult to renew at home or to take out for cleaning purposes.

Some very delicate furs are almost impossible to sew as the skin tears away from the needle. You will notice that these furs are stuck on to a kind of flannellette. The most satisfactory way of repairing them is to get some scraps of the same fur and stick them in the torn places with a little good paste. This sounds rather Victory! Victory! Victory!

Monroe! Monroe! Monroe.

A landslide for clean Government.

Even the Advocate officials admit three men for Monroe on the South West Coast.

Hickman himself will be defeated in Hr. Grace.

Bennett, Russell and Simmonds will have a four hundred majority.

A. V. Duffy and M. Caul have kissed good-bye to their nomination fees.

Fitzgibbon should explain to the St. John's West voters how it was he voted the plumbing contracts for the Normal School and the Lunatic Asylum to Cloutier's and Hallyard's relatives when other tenders were thousands of dollars less.

M. P. Gibbs, one of the most unpopular men in this city is canvassing Home Cove for Mr. Hawco. When he arrives there a few days ago he heard all the children singing a very fascinating refrain "Mat Hawco's Day is Done".

There are picks and shovels in Ferris, and promises galore. But Matty will not get the chance to "coot" as any more.

For Cahill Cpl and Woodford Bill have put them on the run. And echoes roar along the shores "Mat Hawco's Day is Done".

Woodford will head the poll and his colleague Cahill will defeat Hawco by two hundred votes.

Woodford and Cahill, two admirable representatives, will look after Hr. Main District for the next four years.

And the people in the district are certain that they won't be duped as they have been in the past, by Hawco, Coaker and Company.

Make no mistake, Carbonar, Bay de Verde and Port de Grave, will be well and strongly represented in the Monroe Government.

No longer must they be forced to take whatever Coaker wishes to give them.

Watch Conception Bay retaining lost ground under the Monroe administration.

No longer will it be necessary for thousands to leave their homes every year for want of employment.

Monroe's progressive industrial policy will make it possible for every man to remain at home and share in the prosperity that is bound to follow.

A fake message in the Advocate yesterday stated Ferrisland is going to be with the new Government.

Although the message, like many others in the Advocate, is a fake, yet there is some truth in the statement. Ferrisland will be with the new Government, The Monroe Government.

Neither Coady nor Burke will save their nomination fees.

At first it was generally thought that Downey would be elected in St. George's; wait and prepare yourself for the surprise of your life. From all sections of the district Power is acclaimed as the next representative.

Frinds of Downey in the city admit that Power is sweeping all before him.

Coaker's attempt to save Bonavists district was fruitless. Monroe, Winsor and Little are not the kind of men to falsify statements or bluff the people. Their election is certain.

Conception Bay will endorse Monroe as it did Sir Robert Bond and his Candidates.

The betting is that Hickman won't get two out of the nine seats in the whole Bay.

They thought they had the Government. After Monday next they won't even have a decent Opposition.

It will be a glorious victory.

A TRULY WONDERFUL PICTURE.

FRIDAY--BEBE DANIELS, in "THE MARCH HARE."

Coakerism will be buried and Newfoundland will once more hold high her head and take her place with the other progressive countries in the British Empire, an Empire on which the sun never sets.

Monroe is the man of the hour. Monroe and Clean Government, and a square deal to all.

House With Varied History

The Century Club has taken over 21 St. James's Square, London, as its headquarters. This building has had a most interesting career. Its former occupants have been both notable and notorious. Among the latter were two successive favorites of a king—Arabella Churchill and the Countess of Dorchester. The 4th Duke of Leeds rebuilt the house in 1781, and later it became Ragget's Club, a gambling hall. The 9th Duke of St. Alban sold it to the Sec. of Winchester, Sumner, Wilberforce and Harold Browne lived in the house in turn. The War Office purchased it from Winchester in 1876, and it has remained a branch of that department until now.

Prince Submits His Wardrobe

According to a London writer, a certain famous nobleman, who claimed to be the best dressed man about town, was once refused admission to the opera, where he had rented a box for the season, on the ground that he was not properly attired. His black tie, it appeared, was ornamented with some tiny pink dots.

The nobleman—it was a Prince Demidoff—retired in high dudgeon, and next day four of his valets, each in charge of an enormous trunk, waited on the director of the opera. One of the trunks contained coats, another trouses, a third waistcoats, and a fourth ties.

"This is the Prince Demidoff's wardrobe," said one of his valets. "He begs that you will kindly yourself choose the clothes in which you will deem to admit him to his own box."

Demidoff was an inveterate practical joker, and would spend big sums of money in bringing off a coup. Thus, on one occasion he pretended to be afflicted with a certain obscure complaint, and consulted a score of eminent specialists regarding it. At his request each delivered a written opinion about his supposed malady.

As he expected, they were all different—not two of them agreed. This was exactly what he wanted. He called all the doctors together in a body, read their conflicting opinion to them, set them all by the ears, and the town roared with laughter when, shortly afterwards, the story became public property.

Nature's Danger Signals

Nervousness, melancholia, headache, nervousness, melancholia, headache, and pain in the side are all nature's danger signals which indicate some ailment peculiar to a woman. When such warning symptoms appear women may avoid much pain and suffering if they will rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as its tonic, strengthening influence speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy, normal condition.

Anita Stewart in Great Melodrama

RE-APPEARS AT THE NICKEL IN "THE LOVE PIKER."

"The Love Piker," a Cosmopolitan production, featuring Anita Stewart, and with an all-star cast, including William Morris, Robert Frazer, Frederick Truesdell and Arthur Hoyt, will be the attraction at the Nickel Theatre for three days, beginning to-night.

The story deals with the regeneration of Hope Warner, a snobbish girl portrayed by Miss Stewart. It is a picturization of a story by Frank R. Adams, directed by E. Mason Hopper.

A snobbish and wealthy society girl falls in love with a self-made engineer. Everything runs along smoothly until the girl meets her fiancée's father, who lives in a shanty in a poor quarter of the town. The girl is on the point of breaking her engagement, but her soul undergoes regeneration. She goes to the tenement dwelling on her wedding day in a limousine and brings the old father of her fiancée to the ceremony. It is a story of intense heart interest with a much reliable comedy. Society is the background on one hand and the slums on the other. This production will give a real treat to all theatre goers.
