Boston Celebrates Old Home Week.

Boston is to have an old-home week of festivities July 28 to August 3. The magnitude and splendor of the program is impressive and attractive, and is made up as follows—
Sunday, "Founder's Day," special religious services in the churches.
Monday, "Patriot's Day."
Tuesday, "Home Corner's Day."
Wednesday, "New England Day."
Thursday, "Massachusetts Day."
Friday, "Women's Day."
Saturday, "Military Day."
The arrangements for the great reunion are in the hands of a committee of one thousand, made up of citizens representing practically every industry, pursuit and activity in the city, assisted by an auxiliary committee of women. The re-union of old friends and true-hearted Boston hospitality is the dominant idea in the old home week celebration. The Mechanics' building has been leased for the week and this will be thrown open to the public as free headquarters for all visitors. Here afternoon and evening will be entertainments, band concerts, etc., and also a restaurant where good food at moderate prices can be obtained at all hours. The decorations will be carried out on a magnificent scale with graceful arches of welcome decorated with flags and banners, the general color scheme being green, blue and white. The night illuminations are to be superb and include a permanent electric fountain in the Frog pond on the common, and lavish electric and gas light illuminations everywhere. The processions will include civic and trade societies represented by hundreds of merchants and manufacturers, with wagons and floats, and on Saturday comes the big military parade, which will include the mobilization of the entire Massachusetts State militia, and during the week there will be various athletic contests, base ball games, bicycle, rowing, yacht, fisherman and horse races, old-time fireman's musket, parades, receptions, banquets, etc. Take it all in all, Boston expects to have a great and glorious celebration, and it is expected that not less than 100,000 people will be present during the week. Railroad fares will be greatly reduced with generous extension and stop-over privileges. Further details will be sent to anyone who will write to the Old Home Week Committee, Old South Building, Boston, Mass.

MORTON—BROOKS.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the home of William W. Brooks, Lynn, Wednesday evening, says a Lynn paper, when his sister, Miss Gertrude M. Brooks, was united in marriage to Leverett S. Morton, of Nova Scotia. The bride wore a becoming gown of white muslin overlaid with lace and ribbon and veil in train, caught up with orange blossoms, and carried white pinks. The bridesmaid was Miss Blanche W. Brooks, a sister, who was attired in white muslin and carried pink pinks. The service was performed by Rev. Otto B. Morris, pastor of the Lakeside M. E. Church. During the ceremony Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Otto B. Morris. The happy couple were assisted in receiving by the ushers, Benjamin R. S. Bateson, of Saugus, and A. B. Meldean, of Lynn. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a handsome monogram bracelet. The happy couple were pleasantly remembered with useful and pretty wedding gifts. At ten o'clock, amid a shower of rice and confetti, they started in an auto for the train. Mr. and Mrs. Morton will reside at Bridgetown, N. S.

Mr. Sydneyham Howe, of Middleton, has received word that his son, John R. Howe, of Port of Spain, Trinidad, has just recovered from an attack of yellow fever, says the Outlook. He also recently had an adventure from which fortunately all concerned escaped without permanent injury. By the collision of two boats fifteen persons were thrown into the water, from which several were recovered with difficulty.

Old Landmark Doomed

The Ancient Covered Red Bridge to be Replaced by Modern Steel Structure

The old red bridge, which has done good service through one generation, and which has also been an eyesore to the present one owing to its unsanitary and dilapidated condition, will soon be replaced by a fine new steel structure, erected at the cost of the local government. The new bridge, which is an all steel structure, will rest on solid concrete abutments reinforced by steel car rails placed both perpendicular and horizontal and also shaped at the turn. This acts as a tie to bind the concrete in case of settling or back filling, pushing the abutment off. The abutments are also protected by ice fenders of boiler plate eight feet in length, and will resist the strongest ice pressure. The bridge proper will be built on the canal bank plan, and will be 150 feet span. The highest point from floor will be twenty-five feet at center. The extreme width is twenty-eight feet with a driveway of sixteen feet in centre and a foot-walk on either side four feet, nine inches in clear, separated by a steel railing from driveway. When completed it will be one of the finest bridge structures to be found in the Province.

The work is now under the direction of the local government, Mr. Edgar A. Cranton, being foreman of construction. About fifteen men are now engaged in excavating for the abutments, and more will be engaged as the work progresses. W. P. McNeil & Co., of New Glasgow, are contractors for the steel work and have charge of erecting that part of the structure. Traffic will not be interfered with in any way before September fifteenth, the old bridge being perfectly safe until then. Traffic will be suspended for four or five days only.

We are indebted to Mr. Cranton who very kindly gave us information as to the details of the work.

To Prevent Accidental Fires On Cars

Ottawa, July 8.—The Railway Commission issued an order today providing that there must be a fire extinguisher at either end of each passenger coach. It must be approved by the Board and re-charged every three months. There is a penalty of $25.00 for the non-compliance with this order. From May to September treaties must be protected against fire. The violation is also made for the protection of smoke-stacks against causing fires. In the Prairie country the railway companies are required to place a strip 16 feet wide on either side of the fire guard. The area to be protected extends 300 feet to either side of the track.

Price Webber is in town for a holiday, says the St. John Times, the guest of his old friend Ex-Ald. Scatton, after the most successful theatrical season for ten years. This is his last holiday for two years, but he bears that stamp of perennial youth which suggests that life to him is all a holiday. He will go to the middle of August.

San Francisco, July 15.—The outbreak of a volcano on the peninsula of Kamshatha on Feb. 18 last threw the whole country into darkness for over 48 hours, and resulted in the starving of scores of natives, according to the officers of the barquentine S. N. Carities, which reached here last evening.

N. S. Steel Co. Had a Good Year

Sydney Mines, July 12.—During the past few days, President Harris, Thomas Cantley, J. C. McGrager, F. McKay and J. A. Stairs have been in town, and yesterday held a director's meeting of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co. While in town the visitors were shown over the plant by T. Z. Brown and were greatly impressed with the marked changes and improvements at the plant. The result of the conference has not been given out, but President Harris expressed gratification at the splendid showing of the Company this year. In every department, said Mr. Harris this morning, there has been rapid improvement and surprisingly good results, and so far as I can see a big surprise awaits the directors at the next annual meeting.

Last month the total output for the three collieries, not counting number 4, was 58,600 tons. What pleased the directors most was the magnificent output of the blast furnace. Six thousand tons of steel was the output for June, the record output of the works.

The East eddcd

A Winnipeg Man Selected as Judge For the Great Welsh Festival.
Wales clings with fervor to the Eisteddfod, the great musical and patriotic celebration. The chorus work at those festivals is generally of the highest order, and therefore it is not surprising that the men chosen as judges in the choir competition should be among the best known and most competent of musicians. This year, Dr. Cowan, Dr. Davies, Dr. Protheroe and Mr. Hays Thomas will pass on the merits of the singers. The first three are Englishmen of eminence. The fourth is a resident of Winnipeg, whose work on behalf of music in the western city has had splendid results. Mr. Thomas may be regarded as an authority on music and musical topics. His taste is undeniable, his experience varied and his knowledge almost encyclopaedic. Because of this, it is a matter of considerable pride to the firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming that since he has been in Winnipeg Mr. Thomas has been a firm friend to the blue nose piano. A letter from him to the firm is as follows: "When I wanted a piano some time ago for my studio, I examined a number of instruments by various manufacturers and finally selected a Gourlay, solely on its merits. It is one remarkably rich, the touch very responsive and the mechanism perfect. After using it for several months I am more than ever convinced that it is the finest piano made in Canada." Many other musicians of eminence in this country will endorse the opinion of Mr. Thomas.

BUILDING COLLAPSES

IN LONDON, ONTARIO.
The City in a Panic and the Number of Dead is Not Yet Known.
London, Ont., July 16.—A building on Dundas street, occupied by Red's Crystal Palace, Long's clothing store Brewster's ten cent store, and McCallum's photograph gallery, collapsed late this afternoon, burying a number of people, estimated at thirty or more. Severe bodies have been taken from the ruins, but it is not known how many more are still in the debris. The city is in a panic and details are lacking.
A number of unknown men and women and one baby are in the ruins, some of whom can communicate with the rescuers.
Immediately after the crash the firemen responded promptly and set about at once to rescue those in the debris, while the aid of hundreds of citizens who turned in and worked till in some cases they fell exhausted, only to be replaced by more willing hands. Many were the heart-rending scenes witnessed by rescuers, and the cries of agonized victims pinned beneath the ruins were terrible. Each victim rescued was greeted with a cheer by the huge crowd which gathered since the occurrence of the accident. The victims were sent immediately to the different hospitals. Up to midnight the army of willing workers has not diminished, but there are still a number of people in the ruins.

PRINCE FUSHIMI DELIGHTED WITH I.C.R. TRAIN SERVICE

Before leaving Canada for Japan, His Imperial Highness, Prince Fushimi of Japan, instructed his Secretary to send the following telegram to the officials of the Intercolonial Railway: To D. Pottinger, Montreal, N. B.

His Imperial Highness, Prince Fushimi, desires me express to you his warm thanks for the services of all the officials of the Intercolonial Railway on the train from Quebec to Toronto. Everything worked with the greatest smoothness, and His Imperial Highness much appreciated all the arrangements made to insure him comfort. He is grateful to you for all your services on this occasion. Signed

NAGASKI. In discussing the Royal Train which the Intercolonial Railway placed at the disposal of His Highness on his arrival at Quebec, the Toronto World says:—
The Royal Train which created so much attention was composed of seven cars, occupied by a party of about forty. It was the first real Government owned train which ever arrived in Canada, a fact which was remarked by railway officials. Five of the cars on the Intercolonial Railway which never saw Toronto before, returned this morning to the blue nose regions to resume their usual grid and service on the Intercolonial Railway. They are the "Ocean Limited" and their general appearance is pleasing. The other two cars were those known as the "Governor General's" and the "York" and were occupied by Prince Fushimi and his suite, who were greatly pleased with the attentions to their comfort and expressed themselves accordingly. The Prince through his interpreters lauded the railway service. The observation and dining room on the Cornwall were very handsomely decorated with evergreens and flowers, as was also the dining car of the Intercolonial Railway.

KEEPING UP-TO-DATE.

(From The Richmond Times-Despatch) The typesetting machine and the fast printing press have wrought a mighty revolution—never mind the pen—but the gain is with the subscriber. He gets a much larger paper, with a greater variety of reading matter, pictures and special typography; but in many instances the publisher's profits are smaller than they were in the good old days of man printers and hand-fed presses. But if the small newspaper was more profitable, some tyro may ask why the publisher does not return to it. For the same reason that the railroad men do not tear up their tracks, destroy their engines and cars, and return to the stage coach as a means of transportation. Newspapers, like railroads, must keep up with the demand of progress.

The little two year old child of Prin. R. W. Ford, Wollville, while playing in an upper room, fell from the window to the ground below, a distance of about fifteen feet. The child was rendered unconscious for a few minutes, but recovered shortly, having sustained no serious injuries.

Rural Cemeteries

A correspondent writes the Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer: As one who has but recently taken up his residence in Ontario, please allow me space to call attention to a subject which I have never seen discussed in any Canadian paper, namely, the unkept condition of rural cemeteries. I have noticed quite a number of these, which are sorely neglected. In some cases the fences were not kept in repair, and weeds, bushes and even trees were growing wild. The grass was allowed to grow, and was never cut. The headstones were leaning in all directions, while many of them have broken off. The whole place had the appearance of absolute neglect.

Would it not be possible to organize some effort in each rural community to keep the cemetery in better condition? There seems to be no reason why the "city of the dead" ought not to be a place of beauty. Hedges might be planted, walks and drives laid out, shrubs and flowerbeds placed at convenient points, the graves levelled and the grass kept mown. I don't know just what steps are necessary to bring about an improved condition, but certainly a permanent caretaker should be appointed to look after the grounds, and sufficient revenue from the sale of plots should be provided to keep each cemetery in good shape. If a little attention were given to this matter, the cemeteries of the country, instead of being eyesores, would be places of beauty and would indicate the culture and refinement of the neighborhood.

FACTS ABOUT PAPER.

According to the Woman's Home Companion, there are, all told, eleven hundred paper mills in the United States, producing $200,000,000 worth of paper a year. They burn up three million tons of coal yearly and shred two million five hundred thousand cords of wood into pulp. About twelve million five hundred thousand trees are cut down to feed these paper mills every tree being at least nine inches in diameter.

NEW BATTLESHIPS.

PORTLAND, Oreg., July 8.—A despatch to the Oregonian from Seattle, Wash., says:

"Orders have been given to rush the work on the battleships Oregon and Wisconsin, which are undergoing extensive repairs at the yard. The new battleship Nebraska, which went into commission a week ago, is to have her alterations made and the crew will be called out as soon as men can be brought here."

Another despatch to the Oregonian from Seattle says:

"Admiral Barwell, commandant of the Puget Sound navy yard, has sent an urgent request that two extra dry-docks be built at Bremerton, in addition to the new dock congress authorized a year ago and which the navy department has just commenced to construct. The drydock to be built immediately will be twice as large as the solitary dock at the Puget Sound yard, but Admiral Barwell believes with the natural increase in the American fleet in the Pacific and the fact that the deeper draught boats cannot get into the Mare Island dock, extensive additions will have to be made at Bremerton."

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARGET IN COWS.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Dr. Julian F. Thomas, the aeronaut, lies in a serious condition at Fordham hospital today, suffering from a compound fracture of the leg and internal injuries, received in an automobile accident last night when the machine, carrying the aeronaut and two women companions, crashed into a trolley pole. Physicians say today that Dr. Thomas was injured internally but will probably recover.

Dr. Thomas and his friends were travelling at a high rate of speed down Jerome ave last night. Near the entrance of Woodlawn cemetery the road makes a sharp turn, which the aeronaut evidently did not see in the dark. The machine crashed into a heavy trolley pole and Dr. Thomas and his two companions were flung out of the machine as if from a catapult. The automobile was reduced to scrap iron.

Money Market Getting Easier
(Montreal Witness, Friday)

There has been a general improvement in the local security market since a week ago, and prices in the general list have made substantial advances. The crop news of the United States has been gradually showing more favorably for a better harvest than expected in the early months of the summer, and in Canada the crops have been making remarkable progress with the aid of exceptional growing weather. Money is still exceedingly scarce, and that is, perhaps, the one great drawback to a rising market. There is, however, a growing feeling of optimism in regard to the local list, and, no doubt, because there is every sign of prices being at bottom, a large volume of business has been taken up, on investment account in many of the dividend payers at this point. At any rate, the advances over last Friday's prices are an assured fact, and, as speculation has been an almost unknown quantity, the values must have been enhanced by a strong investment demand. The stocks to show the greatest changes were Canadian Pacific, rising almost three points; Montreal Street, with five points; Toronto Railway, about two points to 104; Richelleu to 66 1/2 from 63; Coal from 57 1/2 to 60, with corresponding advances in the miscellaneous stocks on this market. The Iron issues were the few exceptions on the general advance, common falling to around 22, Iron the high price of 24 1/2 at the beginning of the week. The preferred was quiet, but fairly steady while the bonds were a shade off, selling ex-coupon.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., Limited
Gentlemen,—Last August, my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in two weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in the condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

ARRESTED IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, July 8.—An alleged murderer is under arrest in Montreal in the person of Nicholas Sylvestri or Silvestri, of Providence, R. I. He is accused of having killed his brother on September 12, 1904, by stabbing him in the heart with a screw driver. Sylvestri was recognized here by a Providence man and the police were immediately communicated with. Chief Carpenter communicated with the Providence authorities and as a result he was taken into custody last night. The prisoner made a confession to four detectives, stating that he was loaded to his deed by his brother's cruelty. This morning, when arraigned in the police court, he repudiated his confession.

Haywood's Defence, BOISE, Idaho, July 8.—Viewed in the light of the closing plans for defence and prosecution, there seems little hope that the trial of William D. AND HAVE IT OVER. Safest Medicine for Women's Complaints

Women certainly do neglect themselves. They work too hard—over-tax their strength—and then wonder why they suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. Most cases of female trouble start when the bowels become inactive—the kidneys strained—and the skin not cared for. Poisons, which should leave the system by these organs, are taken up by the blood and inflame the delicate female organs.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1907.

A change for the better in business conditions is confidently looked for by observers of the financial situation. Wholesale merchants state that business generally is active and the outlook promising, and factories are running to the extent of their capacity.

One of R. G. Dun and Company's managers is quoted as saying: "General business conditions in the Dominion are excellent, but the stringency in money is felt everywhere."

This is not to be wondered at, because the expansion in trade has been so rapid that the banking capital has not increased sufficiently to keep things in proper condition. This money stringency is a good thing in many ways, as it stops over speculation. The banks in the west will not lend any more money on real estate, and this is preventing heavy speculation in this line.

Manufacturers all over the Dominion are crowded with orders. Their only difficulty is to get sufficient money to meet their increasing demands and so secure enough men. In the west conditions are very satisfactory. It is difficult to give an opinion on the wheat crop, but as nearly as I can find out it is about two weeks behind this time last year. Seeding the crop late does not necessarily mean that it will be a failure. Last year the crop was put in much earlier than this year but unfavorable weather came on, and it did not grow for several weeks. The cattlemen's losses in the blizzards last winter were not as serious as it was feared at one time they would be. About fifteen per cent of the stock was lost, but this loss fell on the larger ranchers, who could better afford it. Winnipeg is still growing rapidly, and all the smaller towns in the west are going ahead well.

Two automobile parties touring the Province visited Bridgetown on Friday.

A Lynn despatch of July 1st, states that street cars were stalled in that city by caterpillars of the brown-tail and gypsy moth which were making a migration across the track in such numbers as to destroy the friction of the wheels upon the rails.

Our advertisers are again reminded that changes must be handed in not later than Monday noon. It is impossible and unreasonable to expect the printer to do justice to an advertisement handed in while the forms are being made up for the press, not to speak of the delay thus occasioned.

Mailbox Outlook—One day recently some goods were missed from Bentley's store, and a woman who had several times during the day visited the store was suspected. Her carriage which was standing at one of the livery stables was inspected and goods to the value of nearly one hundred dollars found.

A crowded church, says the Turo News, listened last night to Rev. E. E. Daley's first discourse on the rather delicate subject of "Prophecy." It was merely the introduction, but he was masterly, and laid the rock foundation for a structure that he is to erect as these addresses go on from Sabbath night to Sabbath night. Many different creeds were represented in the auditorium before the speaker last night.

"The Royal Slave" Company played a fairly good game here on Thursday of last week. The show was one of the best ever seen in Bridgetown, the parts all being well sustained. Owing to the stage being so small they were not able to use their scenery but in spite of this disadvantage were able to render the play to the satisfaction of the audience. No doubt the better class of travelling companies would visit us more often were our stage accommodations better.

The death occurred at Dartmouth Monday of Stephen S. Thorne, a native of Bridgetown. The deceased, who was a son of the late James H. Thorne, of that town, and a partner of E. L. Thorne, General Manager of the Union Bank of Halifax, was for many years in the past office Money Order Dept., Halifax. He afterwards removed to Ottawa in the employ of the government, where he remained until about two years, when having become an invalid he was retired and returned to Dartmouth.

While Frank and LeMoine Ruggles were driving on Monday evening, the horse, which is a speedy and high-spirited animal, belonging to Mr. Edwin Ruggles, took fright at something in the road and backed into a ditch, throwing out the occupants of the team, and crossing the road broad itself from the carriage. Frank, who was driving, had his knee dislocated, but LeMoine, when he saw that they were to be thrown, jumped and escaped with a few bruises. The horse was overtaken and captured without injury.

Mr. J. B. Whitman failed to endorse the town council with interest in his plan to erect a fountain at the Corner. It seems to us rather shortsighted on the part of our town fathers not to have sanctioned a plan that would have cost the town nothing beyond the use of the water, and would have added much to the appearance of an important and conspicuous locality, which should rightfully belong within the town limits, and probably will become a part of the town proper at no distant date. If the ornamental side of the proposed improvement did not appeal to them at least its utility should. A great boon was conferred upon the town when the drinking fountain now in use was established here.

To Wake Yourself Up

Getting Up Exercises That Will Put The Brain In Order.

The difficulty most people experience in getting up in the morning can be easily overcome by a simple operation according to a medical authority. After the night's long rest, the brain is laden with somewhat impure blood, and the lymph vessels, which remove waste matter, are overfull and sluggish. This is why we all groan at another ten minutes in bed and why most people are so morose at breakfast. Very slowly the brain gets rid of the matters which interfere with its vigorous action, but the process can be expedited.

If the finger tips are placed against the neck just under the ear and moved swiftly down to the front of the shoulder along the course of the jugular vein, the used up blood is drawn away and room left for a fresh supply. This should be done twice at each side of the neck. Then the hands should be placed on the back of the neck just under the skull and moved downward as far as possible. This clears the lymph vessels and effectually prevents swollen glands, from which so many people suffer.

Don't be afraid of a little fun at home. Don't shut your house, lest the sun should fade your carpet, and your hearts, lest a hearty laugh shake down some of the dusty cobwebs which cling to the rafters. Let them think that all mirth and enjoyment must be left on the threshold without when they come home at night.

When once a house is regarded as only a place to eat, drink and sleep in, the work is begun that ends in gambling houses and reckless degradation. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere. If they do not find it at their own hearthstones, it will be sought at other less profitable places.

Therefore let the fire burn brightly at night and amuse the household as though it were the best of the world. Let the parent so perfectly understand. Don't repress the buoyant spirits of your young around the lamp and fireside of home.

Give the breeding ewes wheat bran. If the sheep have on a dry, short pasture, care should be taken not to turn them on a new pasture when it is wet. There is danger that the sheep will get hoven or bloated.

When a lamb is sixty days old, it will begin to stretch out and look lean unless it is fed all it will take of suitable food.

Sheep have very delicate stomachs and so have lambs. An excess of food at one time will always disagree with them.

Do not dilly-dally with the lambs and expect to sell them for a good price in the fall, when all the shiftless, slothful people sell theirs.

Feed them well and they will be ready for market early, when they will bring much better prices.

Don't let the butcher select the lamb. Do the selecting yourself, and separate the flock so that the least the crop into mutton next autumn.

Get a small flock of the best sheep. Be wise and get only the best.

The best way to keep your flock up is to add new blood to it once in a while, by buying stock from some progressive neighbor's farm.

Some old sheep have more vigor when old than others, but it is never safe to buy a sheep that is more than six years old. You can't tell how soon it may fail and make you lose what you paid for it.

Do not try to keep too many sheep in one pasture.

Get a small flock of the best sheep. Be wise and get only the best.

ROUND HILL VS BEAR RIVER

(Spectator.)

The return match between Bear River and Round Hill Rifle Clubs was held on the Bear River Range, July 15, resulting in favor of Round Hill, by 50 points.

Bright and early on the morning of the 1st, we were making preparations for a start. After eating a hurried and scanty meal, we hurried to the Bridge, the appointed place of meeting.

With his usual punctuality, "Ev" had a fine big pair of his spirited bays on the spot, precisely at 7 a.m., the hour agreed upon. We were soon on the road and anticipating a very pleasant day as the weather looked so favorable.

Before many miles had been covered, however, clouds began to gather, and from those clouds, emanated wet water in abundance. How gratified we felt as we jogged leisurely along, not on account of the copious streams that trickled so joyously down the back of our necks, but for the thirsty vegetation, that would now start forth with renewed vigor, beautifying the earth. Everything around seemed to freshen and be glad, with the exception of ourselves, and we commenced rapidly to wilt.

Finally, however, we arrived in the pretty little village of Bear River, where we were met by several members of the Rifle Association, and conducted to the Bear River Hotel, where a bountiful repast was spread for us, and to which we did ample justice.

The genial proprietor, Mr. Jones, can no doubt testify to the thankfulness of this assertion. Being a little late he very kindly came out two or three times to see if I was ready to go in the dining room, and after I had been in there for some little time he called in again, probably to see if there was any likelihood of my getting ready to come out, but we do not wish to say too much on this subject, as it is a point on which we all feel a little diffident.

We were favored with a beautiful afternoon, and had a very enjoyable and interesting day. A very noticeable feature of the competition was the excellent target service, upon which Bear River is to be congratulated.

After again being generously entertained at good bye to our Round Hill friends, and started on our homeward journey, bestowing many an admiring glance on the beautiful scenery and neat residences in the town and vicinity, and casting not a few sly looks at the well filled cherry trees, for which the place has so long been famous, and wished, oh how we wished that it was a little later in the season.

Then long life to the Bear River Rifle Club, success and prosperity to the generous and hospitable members, and we hope that in the not far distant future, representatives from both Associations may meet again in a friendly competition.

Following is a summary of the scores:

Just Our Own.

Dear Anastasia—

I for one approve of your suggestion that we mothers and house keepers should have a corner where we can exchange ideas. New, tried and approved recipes are always welcome to the home cook. I tried your salad dressing and found it delicious. Am sorry I cannot give you the recipe for oatmeal crisps, but I have a recipe for salmon scallop which we find a nice substitute for meat dishes for a hot-weather dinner, which I should like you to try and report on.

SALMON SCALLOP.

Flake the fish, either fresh or canned, and place in scallop dish with alternate layers of bread or cracker crumbs, using salt and pepper to taste. Pour over it enough milk with one beaten egg to moisten well, sprinkle bits of butter over the top and bake until thoroughly heated through and browned on top. The same mixture made into balls and fried in hot fat is nice for a change, only the mixture should then be moistened with drawn butter, or white sauce, instead of milk. Chopped egg is an addition to either dish, but it is very good without.

Hoping to hear from you again, and from others of "just our own folks."

JUANITA.

The hostess hopes that many will follow the lead of Anastasia and Juanita and contribute new recipes or any helpful ideas that may suggest themselves. Come soon—the sooner the better, the more the merrier.

A DRESSMAKER'S HINT.

If you are one of the women, and do they not number legion, who find difficulty in maintaining union between your waists and skirts, try this which is unailing and as adaptable to the thinnest material as to the heaviest cloth.

On the inside of every waist, exactly at the waist line, attach a piece of dressmaker's bolting at least an inch wide to the center of the back, leaving the ends loose. Have it fit very snugly about the waist, fastening with a hook and eye in front.

On the outside, if inches each side of the center of the back, sew large size hooks, points down and out, sewing through the goods to the belt. Then on the inside of the skirt band, at the bottom of the band, sew eyes in a standing position to hook over the hooks on the waist. Very fleshy persons, wide across the back, should use three hooks and eyes, putting one in the exact center, the others about two inches either side. By keeping the distance the same on each garment skirts and waists will be interchangeable, and, as can be seen, since the strain and weight of the skirt all comes on the bolting, which fastens around the body, there is no possibility of tearing the thinnest fabric.

On waists that are worn outside the skirt band the hooks would of course be put on the inside of the waist, points in, with the eyes on the outside of the skirt band. But the principle of support is the same and is so satisfactory that I am sure any one who tries it will never use any other method.

BANK OF N. S. TELLER DROWNED

ST. JOHN, Nfld. James B. Grieve, aged 28, was drowned at Rothesay, a summer residence village on the Kennebecasis, yesterday. He was second teller in the Bank of Nova Scotia here and with three other clerks and a Rothesay resident went for a canoe trip. Their craft was not big enough for them and in choppy water Grieve started to swim to the shore, but, weighted by his clothes, became exhausted and sank. The others clung to the canoe and worked it ashore. One swam to Grieve's aid, when it was seen he was sinking, but was too late. Grieve came here from Scotland four months ago. The body has not yet been recovered.

House Burned Down

NARROW ESCAPE OF MRS. EVELINE GILLIATT.

Our Smith's Cove correspondent writes:—

The Gilliatt property, near Bear River Station, was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Gilliatt, 85 years old, familiarly known as Emmeline, lived alone in the house and barely escaped with her life. Dr. Mount, a neighbor, heard her cries for help and ran to her assistance. He found her on the roof barefooted in her night clothes. She had succeeded in dragging out with her a feather bed, a couple of pillows and some bed clothes, and how she did it is a mystery. Dr. Mount found the house enveloped in flames. It was impossible to get near it. He, therefore, made it his business to care for Mrs. Gilliatt, whom he helped to his own home, where she was found to be pretty well exhausted, and made as comfortable as possible. It was then 2:30 o'clock, and she told Dr. Mount that she had only emerged from the building a few minutes before he came to her aid. She was awakened out of a sound sleep by the crackling of the fire and lay in a sort of stupor for some minutes. Then a loud thumping on the outside of the building in the vicinity of her bedroom brought her to her senses. Looking up, she saw the flames bursting into her room, which was also becoming rapidly filled with smoke. Springing out of bed, and dragging with her the bedding which she treasured highly, she groped her way to the front door, which she succeeded in reaching with much difficulty. Beyond a severe shock she escaped unharmed.

The fire is supposed to have been set. Mrs. Gilliatt says she saw men near the house when she came out and heard them talking. Dr. Mount saw nobody. The house did not contain a stove. Mrs. Gilliatt did her cooking out of doors, in a hole made and there was in the forenoon of the preceding day and as that was the first of soft wood chips there would be no smouldering embers left. The house was insured for five hundred dollars. It is likely that the Insurance Company will hold an investigation.

A Family Physician

SIX MONTHS FOR ONE DOLLAR. No home should be without a box of "RIVAL HERB TABLETS". In cases of indigestion, or stomach, liver and kidney troubles, there's nothing to equal them. $1.00 buys a box containing 200 tablets—equal to half a cent a dose.

Do you know of any other medicine that does so much for so little money?

We guarantee that if taken in time and according to directions, "RIVAL HERB TABLETS" will cure any case of stomach, liver or kidney trouble.

"RIVAL HERB TABLETS" are guaranteed to be perfectly harmless.

Unlike all other medicines used for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they do not react upon nor weaken the system.

This is a strong argument in favor of "RIVAL HERB TABLETS".

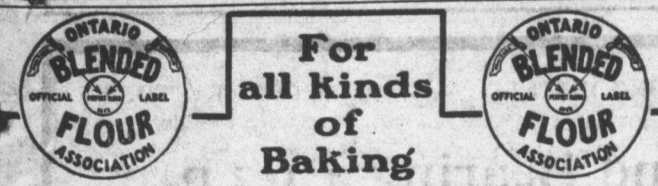

If after using a box of "RIVAL HERB TABLETS" you are not satisfied they are all we claim for. In cases of indigestion, or stomach, liver and kidney troubles, there's nothing to equal them. $1.00 buys a box containing 200 tablets—equal to half a cent a dose.

Do you think we could make this offer if we didn't know that "RIVAL HERB TABLETS" were better than all other medicines for stomach, liver and kidney troubles? 200 days' treatment only costs you $1.00—half a cent a day. Your money refunded if not satisfied. Sold only in dollar size boxes.

MISS CHUTE Bridgetown and Annapolis Royal

The Little Professor.

There is no need to describe the Big Professor, for every one knows him. His picture, with his keen, clever look, hangs in the photographer's window, and tells you what his outer man is like. His books are bought everywhere, and sometimes read, so you can find from them what his thoughts and opinions are. But the Little Professor? That is a different thing. His portrait stands only on the study table; and when he takes his pen in hand and writes a letter none is found learned enough to decipher the writing, and the household consigns it to the wastebasket. So we may speak of the Little Professor without fear of telling the world what it knows already, which is always a foolish thing to do. The Little Professor was perched on the garden gate waiting for the train which would bring the Big Professor home. The perch was rather insecure, as his toes barely reached the bar on each side. The Little Professor's soft silky hair fell on his shoulders, and his clear blue eyes saw many things that those around him never saw. The train lumbered up the hill, and the Little Professor was on the other side of the gate in a moment, rushing towards the quiet man who had spoken to no one on his way from the college. A spring and a shout, and then the two turned homewards. The vicar's wife, turning in at her gate, felt the sudden rush of pity that women will feel for children who are motherless, but the Little Professor was perfectly happy. Half an hour later, when he ought to have been in bed, he sat by his father at the dining table describing the events of the day. The Big Professor was a wise man, and the Little Professor told him of the lions and tigers and faeries that he had seen and talked with. He did not tell the child that he was not speaking the truth and send him away, for he knew that the Little Professor's blue eyes could see into a world that was closed to him. Then nurse carried the sleepy child to bed, and at breakfast his dreams suited conveniently any topic that was mentioned. The little head with its yellow locks was in sight till the Big Professor was named the corner, on his way to the college, then Nurse's voice called: "Master Clifford, Master Clifford!" "He's coming," said the boy, who generally spoke of himself in the third person. The Big Professor was busy correcting the proofs of a book which would show the world how foolish it was to believe anything that could not be proved, and people said it would be one of the deepest books of the day. But the Little Professor would have made you believe a score of impossible things in five minutes, and you would have learnt what the bee said, and heard the butterfly talk, and seen fairies dancing on the lawn. To the Big Professor the invisible was unreal, but to the Little Professor nothing was invisible, and his blue eyes had a look which his father's had lost long ago. Every night and morning he lisped his prayer that "God would bless dear Father and make me a good little boy," while on the study table lay proofs of the chapter which would show how futile a thing prayer was to alter the laws of the universe. One evening when the Big Professor came home, the Little Professor was not at the gate. "I am early," he said, "but he entered the house hastily, and called, "Little Professor!" The nurse came to him. "Please, sir, Master Clifford is not well," she said, and he followed her into the darkened nursery, where the boy lay in his crib, hugging a toy lamb. "He's tired," said the Little Professor, "and the lamb's tired. Kiss him, Father." "I think, sir, he will be better in the morning," said the nurse, remembering too well the night that the Little Professor became all that her master had in the world to care for. But when the morning came the boy was really ill, and his father went for the doctor instead of going to the college. "Not much the matter, is there?" asked the Professor nervously, as the two stood in the study. "I hope not," said the doctor gravely. "He must be kept quiet. I will come in again this afternoon." The Professor stood in the same place after he had let, looking stupidly at a child's top, which lay on some uncorrected proofs. There came a tap at the door, and the announcement—"Please, sir, Master Clifford wants you." "What is it, my darling?" said the Professor, as he bent over the crib.

"Out loud!" said the boy. "God likes us to say them out loud!" "What was he to say to satisfy the child?" "Out loud," came again from the crib, and the poor father said—"What shall I say, darling?" "Oh, don't you know? Pray God bless dear Father—" "Pray God, bless dear Father—" "And make me a good little boy—" "And make him better to-morrow—" "Jesus Christ's sake, Amen. That's all, Good-night," said the Little Professor in exactly the same tone. "But . . . to . . . tomorrow . . ." and then there was silence in the room. "He is sleeping," said the doctor at last. "Go sit down. I will stay here. It is the crib." "Not a sound in the quiet house." A notice hung on the knocker asking visitors not to knock or ring, and the terrified housemaid waited about the hall. "Master sees no one, sir," she said to the vicar, "and Master Clifford is as ill as can be, and the doctor's here."

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera mortuus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured, or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering, and all risk buy it now, it may save life. For sale by W. A. WARREN, Phm. B.
