JOHNSON REPLIES TO CORBETT

Negro and Former Champion Keep Up War SUPREME DISDAIN

Slack Man Declares Corbett Can't Even Measure Up to Welter Weight Now—Gotch and Pole in Great Wrestling Bout Tonight

San Francisco, June 1.—Jack Johnson's day off from hard training was spent in drawing up a written answer to James J. Corbett's statement regarding the negro's ring courage. Johnson appeared to be uncommonly exercised over his long distance word contest with the former champion. "In reply to Jas. J. Corbett," his document begins, "I wish to state that it is not my purpose to enter into any maudlin combat with him. However, he who has been posing under the alias of 'Gentleman Jim' had started this campaign long before he reached San Francisco. Possibly he may believe that I will have to take such insults as he intimates on account of color. As to his assertion that I have a yellow streak, may be he is right. Still, no one has been able to the present to produce it."

Johnson intimates that Corbett showed cowardice in his meetings a decade ago with Tom Sharkey and wants to know if Corbett's behavior in those events would come under the heading of 'yellow streak.' The statement concludes:—"As to you coming to my quarters and boxing, I would be glad to offer you inducements under the expressions of many as to your shattered frame. In fact, if the truth were known, you hardly scale the middleweight limit. Now I hope and trust the man you appear to have for a partner in a boxing match, will be in earnest about arranging a meeting with Johnson to show him up, and if the negro fails to prepare for one that he will make the initiative himself."

Gotch and Zbyzsko Tonight Chicago, June 1.—Frank Gotch and Zbyzsko will battle for the wrestling championship of the world tonight. Critics predict that Gotch will have a hard fight to pin the giant Pole's shoulders to the mat.

Zbyzsko is admittedly the logical opponent of Gotch, as he has emerged successfully from the formal elimination contest. He has defeated Yusuf Mahmoud, the challenger against Gotch last year, and practically all of the important wrestlers of the country. Gotch and his opponent have met once before but in a handicap match. It was in Buffalo and the terms of the match called for the American to throw the Pole twice in an hour. Gotch failed to get even one fall.

FACTORY INSPECTOR HAS CASE IN COURT

H. H. Reid appeared in the police court this morning to answer a complaint made against the T. S. Simms Co., Ltd., by Factory Inspector Kenney to the effect that the company had not served him with a written notice of an accident which occurred in their factory on May 5 last, as a result of which Arthur Chapman was injured. Mr. Kenney bases his complaint under the Provincial Factory Act. Mr. Reid said this morning that the company would be quite willing to comply with the law, and that they had not done so was due to ignorance on their part. The matter was postponed until Saturday morning next.

His Honor told the men that they would be liable to the city for the damage done, and would also be liable to a fine under the by-law.

MEDIATION IN DISPUTE OF ECUADOR AND PERU

Washington, June 1.—Acting on the assumption that the government of Peru and Ecuador intend to carry out in good faith their acceptance of the offer of the United States, Brazil and Argentina, to act as mediators in the boundary dispute, the three governments today recommended June 4 as the date for the withdrawal of the armies from the common frontier. The state department has heard nothing during the last several days from authoritative sources as to whether or not the governments of Peru and Ecuador were taking steps for the withdrawal of their armies, although the press despatches have indicated that conditions remain quite as warlike as before the offer of mediation was made. In any event the recommendations of the three governments will serve to recall the fact that the first and indispensable condition imposed in the offer was the simultaneous withdrawal of the two armies.

KLONDIKE RUSH BEING REPEATED

Stamped to New Gold Land of Alaska ONLY ONCE EQUALLED

First Sailings From Seattle Tomorrow and Every Berth Sold Weeks Ago—Rich Men Go Steerage and There's a Big Waiting List

Seattle, Wn., June 1.—Officials of companies operating steamships to Alaska points on the Behring Sea estimate that 15,000 people will leave Seattle for Nome and St. Michael's on the early sailings, drawn to the far north by the reports of rich gold discoveries in the Iditarod gold fields. The first regular liner to leave for Nome will sail from Seattle tomorrow and every berth has been sold for weeks in advance. Wealthy men have been compelled to take accommodations in the steerage and there is a waiting list in the steamship offices larger than the combined capacity of the north bound steamers. So great is the rush to the north that passengers and freight officers of Alaska steamship lines say that the movement, which amounts to a stampede, has been equalled but once in the history of the north and that, during the Klondike rush thirteen years ago.

MAYES CASE IS OFF TILL OCTOBER

Another Also Postponed in Exchequer Court—Moncton Matter Taken Up

The New Brunswick sittings of the Exchequer Court of Canada opened in the court house this morning at 11 o'clock. His Lordship Mr. Justice Cassele presided. Deputy Registrar Morse was also in attendance. In the case of J. W. Y. Smith and J. Fred Edgett, doing business as Reid & Company, in Moncton, vs. The King, R. W. Hewson and M. G. Tweed, K. C., are for the suppliers and Dr. A. G. O. Skinner, K. C., and A. E. G. McKenzie of Campbellton for the Crown. On the application of Mr. McKenzie the case was set down for trial at the October sittings of the court, Dr. Earle, the other counsel for the Crown, being confined to his home through illness.

In Gerahon S. Mayes vs. The King, J. B. M. Baxter, is for the supplier and Dr. A. O. Earle, K. C., Dr. C. N. Skinner, K. C., and E. H. McAlpine, K. C., for the Crown. On the application of Dr. Skinner the case goes over until the October sittings on account of the illness of Dr. Earle.

In the King vs. William G. Jones, James Friel, of Dorchester, is for the crown, and W. B. Chandler, K. C., and M. G. Tweed, K. C., for the respondent. In the King vs. Pickard, J. D. Phipps, K. C., of Fredericton, is for the crown and Fred Peters of Fredericton for the respondent.

When the court opened Dr. Skinner, for the crown in the Mayes case asked for an adjournment on account of the illness of Dr. Earle. While Mr. Baxter, counsel for Mayes, did not oppose the application, he spoke of delay by the justice department in granting the petition of right and asked that the case be taken up before the regular October sittings.

Mr. McKenzie, one of the crown's counsel, in the North Shore case, asked for an adjournment on the same grounds. His Lordship ordered the two cases to be set down for trial at the October sittings, to be held on October 11 at 2:30 p. m. The case of the King vs. William G. Jones was then taken up and will be resumed at 2:30 this afternoon. The Grand Trunk Pacific through the crown, are applying to have certain lands in Moncton, belonging to the respondent expropriated for railway purposes. The railway offered $4,125 for the land, but this was refused. The applicant asks for $17,000, but the railway would not entertain this proposition.

The applicant was on the stand this morning and a number of documents were placed in evidence. Owing to Mr. Chandler, one of the applicant's counsel, missing the train this morning, Mr. Tweed is conducting the case for the defence. The case will likely be concluded today or tomorrow morning when the last case will be taken up.

KING EDWARD'S FAVORITE CHARGER AND HIS DOG CAESAR, LED IN FUNERAL PROCESSION IN LONDON

TUG ASHORE ON CAPE SPENCER; TWO BARGES, TOO; IN HEAVY BLOW

Pejepscot With Tow Strikes During Night ALL ARE SAVED

Eighteen Men Have Hard Time Getting to Safety—Tug and One Barge Likely Total Loss—Captain Comes to City

The American tug Pejepscot, with two barges in tow, went ashore at Cape Spencer last night at 10:20 o'clock, during a heavy southwest gale and tug and barges are likely to be a total loss. All aboard were saved. C. M. Kerrison, the agent here, received a telephone message this morning from the keeper of the light-house at Cape Spencer, telling him of the disaster.

Capt. Sweet, commander of the tug, arrived in the city this morning and said that at the time of the accident it was blowing a gale from the south-west, with a thick fog. The tug was first to strike the rocks, and she sank in less than four minutes. Her crew took to the boats and got on board one of the barges safely, but lost all their effects and the ship's papers. Both barges soon followed the tug ashore, and when the tug's crew got on board of one of them, and it began to list, they threw three life lines to the other barge that by this time was ground well up on the beach, and got safely aboard it. After a short time another transfer had to be made to the first barge.

The tug was on the return passage from Bath, Maine, to St. Martins, N. B., she had a crew of ten and the barges carried four men each, eighteen all told. The tug Pejepscot was built at Bath in 1907, and was owned by the Sagadahoc Towing Company of Bath, Me. She was 79 tons net register, and was well equipped with the latest marine improvements, including electric light plant. The tug was valued at more than $100,000. Captain Sweet says she was insured.

The two barges ashore, No. 2 and No. 4, were both built in 1907, and registered more than 400 tons each. They were not insured. They are owned by the Salmon River Lumber Co. The St. John tugs Lord Beresford and Lord Roberts will go down to the wrecks which lie on the west side of Cape Spencer, about nine miles from this city. The Pejepscot has been towing barges containing pulpwood to Bath, Me., from St. Martins for the past three seasons, and had been a frequent visitor to this port, and much sympathy is felt for Captain Sweet in marine circles over the loss of his beautiful tug.

Captain Sweet feels very thankful that no lives were lost during the storm or in the heavy sea. He got ashore as soon as possible and walked to the light, which was about one mile and a half distant. When he arrived there he was greatly fatigued. He got the keeper to telephone to the agent, C. M. Kerrison in this city. The captain felt the loss of his steamer greatly, but was very thankful for the escape of the crews of the tug and barges.

LATER. It is said that one of the barges will likely be saved. The barges are valued at $8,000 to $10,000 each.

CHAPTER XIII

A Combination of Forces. Bostwick effected a change of dress in the rear of the nearest store. A rough blue shirt, stout haki garments and yellow "hiking" boots converted him into one of the common types of the camp. The change was completed. He was then duty-bound, after which he made a strenuous but futile endeavor to procure accommodations for the night.

There was no one with leisure to listen to the trade on the shameful inadequacy of the attributes of civilization in the camp, and after one brief attempt to arouse civic indignation against Van for his acts of deliberate lawlessness, he perceived the ease with which he might commit an error and render himself ridiculous. He dropped all hope of public humiliation, the horseman and deterred his private vengeance for a time more opportune.

letters," interrupted his host drawlingly. "We might as well understand each other first as last. Bostwick—are you out here to work this camp any way or the other?" Bostwick was cautious. "How does he wish to work it?"

"Like raising potatoes."

"And your plan is—"

"Look here, do I stack up like a Sunday-school superintendent? I thought you was understood each other. I don't run no game the other man can maybe beat. Didn't you come out here with that understanding?"

"Certainly, I—"

"Then never mind the kid. What have you got in your kabbis?"

"Our syndicate to buy the Hen Hawk group," started Bostwick, but the gambler cut in shortly.

"That's sold and cold. You have to move here; things happen. What did you do about the reservation permit?"

Bostwick looked about the room furtively, and edged his chair a bit closer.

"I secured permission from government headquarters to explore all or any portions of the reservation, and take assistants with me," he imparted in a lowered tone of voice. "I had it mailed to me here by registered post. It should be at the office now."

"Right," said McCoppet with more of an accent of approval in his utterance than he had today. "I've got your corps of assistants hobbled here in camp. They can get on the ground tomorrow morning."

"There's certainly gold on this reservation!"

"Now, how can anybody tell you that?" demanded McCoppet, who from his place here in Goldite had engineered the plan whereby his and Bostwick's explorers could explore every inch of the government's forbidden land in advance of all competitors. "We're taking a flyer, that's all. If there's anything there—we're on."

Bostwick reflected for a moment. "There's nothing at present that our syndicate could do?"

"There'll be plenty of chances to use ready money," McCoppet assured him, rising. "You're here on the ground. Keep your shirt on and leave the shuffling to me."

Bostwick, too, arose. "How long will you be here, Mr. McCoppet?"

"As long as I can keep him busy out South."

"What is he doing out South?"

"Locating a second Goldite," said the gambler. "Keeps him on the move." He threw away his chewed cigar, placed a new one in his mouth, and started for the door. "Come on," he added, "I'll identify you over at the post office and show you where you sleep."

CHAPTER XIV

Moving a Stake

Less than a week had passed since Bostwick's arrival in Goldite, but excitement was rife in the air. Despite the angry protests of half a thousand mining men, the Easterner, with four of his shrewdly-prospected men in the State, had traversed the entire mineral region of the reservation in the utmost security and assurance. Five hundred men had been forced to remain at the border, at the points of refusal of the guard, but nearly all were presently captured and ejected from the place, while Bostwick—granted special privileges—was assuming this inside track.

The day for the opening of the lands was less than two weeks off—and the news leaked out and spread like a wind that the "Laughing Water" claim had suddenly promised amazing wealth as a placer where Van and his partners were taking out the gold by the simplest, most primitive methods.

The rush for the region came like a stampede of cattle. An army of men went swarming over the ridges and overran the country like a plague of ants. They trooped across the border of the reservation, as close to the "Laughing Water" claim, they staked out all the visible world above and below, and all about Van's property, they tore down each other's monuments, including a number which Van had located new, protective claims, and they built a tent town overnight, not a mile from his first discovery.

Break in Cotton Market

New York, May 31—There was a sensational break in the New York cotton market today with trading more active and excited than at any time since the series of drastic declines which carried prices down about three cents a pound last January. It was the last day of trading in May contracts, business in that delivery ending at mid-day.

The New York market for spot cotton suffered even more severely than did futures. The price of middling cotton was marked down 80 points, or about 84 per cent, and presuming that the control of the local market, amounting to 240,000 bales, still rests with the bull leaders, who are credited with having taken up another 20,000 bales today, the loss from the spot cotton alone, as measured by tonight's price, would be in the neighborhood of $20,000, while it is estimated that at least 300,000 bales of long cakes were liquidated during the day.

A SONG OF FREEDOM

Men whose hearts it is that ye come of fathers brave and free, If there breathe on earth a slave, Are ye truly free and brave?

WHEN THEY GET YOUNG

The heart that beats the circus come, Beats with the quivering of the drum, And there men go into the strain, Beamed back to boyhood once again.

WHY THEY DON'T SPEAK

"My husband" bragged Mrs. Jones, "was a famous long-distance runner in his day. He once outran a horse in a twenty-mile race."

FORCING A HANDICAP

Diogenes returned from his search for an honest man. "Given up the chase?" they inquired. "It became a matter of necessity," replied the philosopher. "Someone stole my lantern."

LUMBERMEN PROTEST INCREASED DUES

Delegates State Case to Quebec Government—The Figures in the Case. A big delegation of lumber merchants conferred with the Quebec government on Monday and complained that the increase in stumpage dues provided for in the government's new law would seriously injure the lumber industry.

WHY NOT QUEENS COUNTY?

It has been suggested that the city of St. John might derive power from the coal mines of Queens county. Those interested in the matter will be encouraged by the following paragraph from the Montreal Star:

Stamina In Men And How to Possess It.

(From "Man's Maladies.") A prominent physician being asked the question: "What are the things in life a man needs most?" answered: Physical health, strong nerves, mental efficiency, money and social success.

Any man possessing these five attributes is a success. Any man possessing the first three can be a success and have the other two. Possession of a sound body with strong nerves is readily the requirement which men need most.

Strong vitality magnetism comes only to those whose nerves are properly nourished by sound body nature. In her wisdom nature has provided a means by which, if properly blended, will restore a normal keenness to the nerves and blood supply.

For the benefit of the temporarily deficient in nerve strength the following ingredients are obtained of any good druggist and prepared in the privacy of home. Purchase three ounces of syrup of sarsaparilla compound in a six ounce bottle. Add ounce of compound tincture of balsam, shake and stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound.

Not cardamon and one ounce compound essence cayenne. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. All distressing symptoms will soon vanish and a complete restoration to normal follows.

Men whose hearts it is that ye come of fathers brave and free, If there breathe on earth a slave, Are ye truly free and brave?

Are ye truly free and brave? If ye do not feel the chain, When it works a brother's pain, Are ye not slaves in debt? Slaves unworthy to be free!

Is true freedom but to break Fetters from our own dear sake, And with leathern hearts forget That we owe a debt to debt? Not true freedom is to share All the chains our brothers wear, And with leathern hearts to be Earnest to make others free.

Are ye slaves who fear to speak For the fallen and the weak; Are ye slaves who will not choose Half a loaf and share? Rather than in silence shrink From the truth they needs must think; They are slaves who dare not be Earnest to make others free.

IN LIGHTER VEIN PROSPECTS. The prospects are that this year's picnic days will be as rainy as ever.

WHEN THEY GET YOUNG. The heart that beats the circus come, Beats with the quivering of the drum, And there men go into the strain, Beamed back to boyhood once again.

BROWN HAD ONLY GIRLS. Little Mabel (proudly): "Where did I get my baby at our house?" Neighbor: "A new baby. Have you got it?" "Well, we used to take 'em from Dr. Brown, but we got this one from Dr. Peters."

SUGGEST GROCERY STORES CLOSE AT 6:30 O'CLOCK

An agitation is on foot among the clerks in the retail grocery stores in Charlotte and Union streets to fix the closing hour at 6:30 p. m. instead of 7. The clerks contend that in many cases they have to wait until after 7 o'clock for their supper, when they have dinner at 12 o'clock. They say that the stores could close just as well at 6:30 as at 7, and the clerks would then have a longer evening. The majority of the proprietors are said to be in sympathy with the movement.

JUNE'S FIRST DAY, AND THE BELLS RING

Interesting Weddings Mark the Opening of the Month—Geo. W. Parker and Miss Estabrook; Mr. Garret and Miss Richardson

Today ushers in the month of June, the time of year so popular for matrimonial events. From whispers heard, it is likely that wedding bells will ring right merrily in St. John, and clergymen will be kept busy tying nuptial knots throughout the entire month for blushing brides and nervous grooms. There are several weddings today.

Parker-Estabrook A wedding that has been looked forward to with a great deal of interest will take place this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Estabrook, 34 Elliot row, when their eldest daughter, Miss Isabelle Titus, will be united in marriage to George W. Parker, provincial manager of the Confederation Life Association. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. David Hutchinson, pastor of the Main street Baptist church, in the presence of immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The bride will be given away by her father, will wear a costume of white silk and will be attended by her sister, Miss L. Maudie, who will be gowned in pale pink silk mull with a large picture hat. The bride's traveling costume is a water blue with hat of corresponding shades.

The house has been very tastefully decorated for the occasion, palms, apple blossoms and honeysuckle being nicely placed. A very large number of gifts from friends in the city and elsewhere attest to the popularity of the couple.

The bride was formerly on the teaching staff of the Centennial school and has been an active worker in Germain street Baptist church. She has a very wide circle of friends who will wish her every happiness. Mr. Parker's many friends in the city and throughout the province will also wish in best wishes for their future happiness.

Garrett-Richardson. With the interior specially decorated in an artistic manner with cut flowers and apple blossoms, St. Stephen's church at 3:30 this afternoon was the scene of a pretty wedding of social interest, when Miss M. Elizabeth Richardson, daughter of James A. Richardson, of Hawthorne avenue was united in marriage to Frederick E. Garrett, son of Robert Garrett, of Newcastle, Eng., and a member of the firm of J. M. Robb & Co. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Anderson and was attended by a large number of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, George H. Richardson, appeared charming in a draped tulle gown of white paillette silk, with silk chiffon all-over insert. She wore well trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret E. Richardson, who was daintily attired in a Canadian tulle costume of pink silk, trimmed with white and cream shades, and cream all-over. She carried pink roses, and wore a large picture hat trimmed with pink roses and green foliage.

The groom was supported by Clyde Dickson, Douglas McArthur, Jr., and Cecil Bell acted as ushers. Mr. Garrett's present to his bride was a valuable and handsome platinum set with pearls and turquoises. His groomsmen received a costly cane. Many remembrances of a costly and useful nature were received by the young couple, among them being several substantial checks, and presents of cut glass and silverware, some of them coming from as far away as Newcastle, Eng. and Ohio. The ladies' committee of the golf club presented to Miss Richardson a handsome diamond set.

After the wedding a luncheon was served at the home of the bride, Hawthorne avenue, at which about fifty guests were present. The newly married couple left later for a honeymoon trip to Boston, New York and Albany, returning via Montreal.

Gardiner-Basterache. William Gardiner and Miss Madeline Basterache were married in Moncton last evening by Rev. D. McArthur.

G. P. R. MEN ALL WELL UP IN THE NEW RULES NOW

For some months trainmen in the C. P. R. have been receiving instructions regarding the new rules which will go into effect on the system with a change of schedule on June 19. A new code of rules has been adopted by the railway commission and to familiarize the men on the Atlantic division with the changes made, A. Williams, chief train dispatcher at Woodstock, has been giving instruction lectures and holding examinations. The men have now all successfully passed the examinations and are thoroughly posted on the new rules.

The summer time-table, which will go into effect on June 19, is practically the same as in force last year, the only change being in the time of departure of the Boston train, which will leave at 6:45 p. m. instead of 6:40.
