

AMERICANS WILL KEEP ACT THERE

Reciprocity Act Will Probably Remain on U. S. Statute Book.

Canadians Will Eventually Gain United States Market Without Making Concessions -- Peevish Statement from Champ Clark.

Washington, Sept. 22.—No official declaration is expected at the state department regarding the denials of the reciprocity movement on the ground that the Canadian government naturally supposes that the United States government is familiar with the terms of the agreement, especially the condition that the proposed new and reduced duties should not be effective until after Canadian ratification. The single exception was the wool and paper schedule which by special provision went into operation immediately upon the approval of the act and is now beyond recall unless congress should see fit to repeal the entire reciprocity act.

The opinion expressed at the state department was that no effort would be made to repeal the reciprocity act, and although the duties therein provided will not become effective, the act itself will be permitted to remain on the statute books, constituting an ever-open door to Canada, and a constant reminder of the merits of the United States of the merits of the principal of reciprocity with its northern neighbor.

It was suggested today that the only chance for the continuance of reciprocity as an open issue might be found in an attempt by New York to secure such a treaty of agreement with the United States. It has been known that the Newfoundlanders were only waiting the disposition of the pact between the United States and Canada to open negotiations with Washington for a reciprocity arrangement on their own account, and state department officials said it has been difficult to keep them from pressing the matter while the Canadian agreement was pending.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 22.—When Champ Clark speaker of the Tennessee State Fair, he was asked if his professedly humorous remarks in the house about annexation had not aided in the defeat of reciprocity by Canada yesterday. Mr. Clark wrote the following statement: "My remarks about annexation did not do half as much to defeat reciprocity in Canada as did President Taft's speech, in which he insisted on hurrying up agreeing to reciprocity in this country before Great Britain could establish her claims to the tariff with preferential rates for the colonies."

"He and I were both quoted by the anti-reciprocity crowd in Canada, more than I, but the chances are that the quotations from his speeches and mine did not have half so much to do with defeating reciprocity as did the corruption funds sent from both this country and Great Britain into Canada."

(Signed) CHAMP CLARK. What John Norris Says. Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—John Norris, chairman of the committee on paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, today issued a statement showing that the defeat in Canada of the reciprocity agreement has expanded the free zone for pulps and paper so as to include all of the favored nations. His statement follows: "Canada's rejection of reciprocity raises a question with respect to the favored nation treaties that is unique. Unlike the items contained in section 1 of the reciprocity bill, the paper and pulp clauses, which was section 2, abolished the duty on Canadian pulps and paper subject only to a condition precedent that the pulps and papers must be made from unrestricted woods."

Section 1 could not go into effect until Canada took reciprocity action, but section 2 became effective July 26, when the president signed the reciprocity bill. Canada's vote of rejection will make section 1 ineffective, but it will not impair the pulp and paper section which cannot be nullified except by a repealing act of the American congress, and such repeal is highly improbable."

"The importers of pulps and papers from Germany, Norway and Sweden claim that under the favored nation treaty the products of these countries are entitled to the treatment that Canada obtains when the pulps and papers are made from unrestricted woods and the tax on those articles is automatically abolished under like conditions. Treasury department officials say a similar case has never arisen in the country."

Canada Saves Her Soul. Boston, Sept. 22.—In commenting upon the defeat of reciprocity in Canada, Congressman Samuel W. McCall, who introduced the original reciprocity bill in congress said today: "With a great railroad, the manufacturers and the commercial and

WOODSTOCK CELEBRATES THE VICTORY

Great Demonstration There Last Night—It is Expected that Declaration Day will Show Carvell Beaten.

Special to The Standard. Woodstock, Sept. 22.—The Conservatives of Woodstock and those in the neighboring parishes held an immense celebration tonight in honor of the advent of the new government and the possible election of their candidate, E. F. Smith, who may win out when the returns are tabulated on declaration day. The party felt that they are entitled to celebrate, as there are but few ridings in the whole Dominion in which the Conservatives have to fight against such unscrupulous methods and such a huge campaign fund, as they have to meet every election in this country.

Without question tonight's was the largest and most enthusiastic demonstration ever held in this town. Leading the procession which passed through the principal streets of the town were Harry Watson and Burns Grant carrying the Union Jack. Then followed the band playing the Maple Leaf, and other patriotic selections. Next was an auto containing Col. F. H. J. Dibble, Warden H. D. Stevens, Mayor T. C. L. Ketchum and George E. Phillips, the second auto carried E. F. Smith, Donald Munro, M. P. F. and Geo. E. Balmain, the third had Dr. W. D. Rankin, J. N. W. Winslow, J. C. Hartley, A. B. Connell and John Sutton, Randolph McLean, Hugh C. Dalling, Adolphus McLean, Elmo Taylor, E. L. Clark and others. All the autos were decorated with appropriate mottoes. Then followed several carriages containing many ladies and buckboards with leading citizens of the town and county. Hundreds of torch bearers surrounded the carriages. A short stop was made in front of the residence of F. B. Carvell, but the great White Star was not visible and after a selection by the band the procession continued to the committee rooms where a huge bonfire was blazing.

When the horns ceased blowing, the bells stopped ringing and the noise subsided, E. F. Smith arising in the auto addressed the multitude. He quoted the lines: "Breathes there a man with soul so dead Who never to himself hath said, 'This is my own, my native land.'"

He thanked them for the support given him yesterday. Whether he was elected or not was immaterial, but he would like to have a majority of ten votes. The fact was that the Canadian people had stood for Canada for the Canadians. They served notice on the people to the south of us that while they wished to consider them as friends they do not wish to become one with them politically or commercially, the old Conservative policy and the old flag were good enough for us. It was a grand victory along the line and in no county were better conservative fighters than in good old Carleton place. After three cheers for B. Frank Smith and three for Premier Borden and his government, the band played the national Anthem, and the procession broke up, the demonstration continuing for some hours afterwards.

DALHOUSIE HAD PARADE

Special to The Standard. Dalhousie, N. B., Sept. 22.—The old government of a hundred scandals is dead. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed last night among the Conservative supporters as the returns began to come in from the provinces. Around the Liberal headquarters joy was unattainable as the county swung Liberal with such a majority, but by 9 o'clock the key hand of political death was fastening on the Liberal committee and supporters of reciprocity. Strong supporters of the pact had illuminations up until it was seen that the government was doomed, then these grand affairs waned and suddenly went out so as not to get too great a jar. About midnight a noisy procession did up the town with unbounded joy and when daylight dawned many doors and gate posts were decked with mourning and on one doorstep was a small coffin with tapers still burning showing the owner of the premises that the last rites of the government famous in grand was being performed in all due solemnity. Today the old flag is proudly floating in the breeze on the public buildings by orders of W. E. Montgomery, although defeated yet not beaten.

financial classes and powerful interests on this side of the border opposing reciprocity, and with the help of Rudyard Kipling, and his warning that an increase of commerce would increase crime. It is a great railroad, the manufacturers and the commercial and

WHOLESALE FRAUD IN SUNBURY-QUEENS; TWO WARRANTS SWORN OUT

Conservatives Have Evidence of Illegal Elections.

McLean's Return will be Protested, and it is Believed there is Sufficient Evidence to Disqualify.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, Sept. 22.—It is evident that Col. H. H. McLean's election by a majority of 11 in Sunbury-Queens was obtained by wholesale fraud, not to mention the grossest bribery ever known in a contest in New Brunswick. The Sheriff was ignored, partisans appointed as deputy returning officers, and it is believed that in a number of polling districts those deputy returning officers were parties to wrong doing taking place.

The Conservative committee have evidence of fraud against the success of the ballot being committed in Lincoln, Johnston and Cambridge, and today information was laid before Squire Frederick Smith, of Lincoln, and warrants issued for the arrest of Don Grass and William Weade of Lincoln, under the provisions of section 255 of the Dominion Elections Act, for supplying ballot papers without authority to voters. It is believed this fraud could not be carried out without the connivance of the deputy returning officer. The penalty for this offence is imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, and not less than one year, or a fine not exceeding $1,000 or less than $500. It is understood that criminal proceedings against a prominent member of the Liberal party will be instituted. It was also determined today at a meeting of Luther Smith's committee to demand a recount of the votes. The committee will probably be filed against Col. McLean's election. Sufficient evidence, it is believed, will be forthcoming to disqualify him.

MORE GAINS FOR THE NEW GOVERNMENT

Conservatives Win Comax-Atlin and Get Two More Seats in Quebec First Reported for the Liberals.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Sept. 22.—The rumor that the Conservatives had gained two more seats in the Province of Quebec than they were given credit for last night, was confirmed tonight when it was announced that Col. Talbot had been beaten in Bellechasse by L. Vallée and that J. Davidson had secured a seat in Shefford over G. Babin by three votes. Both the seats were last night reported to have been won by the late administration. J. G. Bergeron and J. E. Leonard also report that they may yet secure a victory in Beauséjour and Laval respectively, errors in the returns having been detected. Special to The Standard. Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Clement's election in Comox Atlin is conceded with eight polls to bear from. The standing in Clements, Conservative, 1601; Ross Liberal, 788.

ALMOST CERTAIN THAT SIR WILFRID WILL NOT LEAD THE OPPOSITION

Much Speculation in Ottawa as to Who will Succeed Him -- Scarcity of Good Material in the Shattered Remnant of the Liberal Party.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Sept. 22.—The people of the capital city, like those of all Canada only to a more marked degree, are interested in what Sir Wilfrid will do now that he has been defeated after fifteen years of uninterrupted power. No one is able to answer the question definitely but the Premier himself and he stated at Quebec last night that he had not made up his mind what he would do. During the course of the campaign, however, Sir Wilfrid declared that if defeated, he would not undertake at his age to lead an opposition. If he goes into the house again it is safe to assume that he will lead only till the defeated and disorganized party is able to agree upon a successor.

Sir Wilfrid's mantle would no doubt fall on the shoulders of Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, had he not been amongst the ministerial slain. It is possible that an effort will be made to find a seat for Mr. Graham, should Sir Wilfrid retire in his favor. Apart from Mr. Graham the liberals are in bad shape for material out of which a good leader could be made. A. K. McLean, ex-Attorney General of Nova Scotia and a former member of the federal house for Lunenburg, might have made a fair fist of the job. He is a good debater and possesses a high standard of integrity. Hon. Clifford Sifton is mentioned for the high commissioner in London. It is probable that Parliament will be summoned on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

LAURIER NOT DR. DOHERTY'S FAVORITE FOR A RECEPTION

Outgoing Premier Declined to Speak at Ottawa Depot but Hurried at Once to His Home.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns to Ottawa tonight from Quebec. He came by the North Shore train which enters Ottawa by the less frequented Union station. The train was 25 minutes late, not arriving until 11:15. Some two or three hundred enthusiastic Liberals, headed by Mr. Lemieux, M. P., Mr. Murphy, M. P., Senator Belmont, senator Edwards, Devlin, M. P., Mr. Allard, ex-M. P., Mr. McDougall, M. P., P. Major D. H. McLean, Mr. Pinard and A. W. Fraser met him at the depot. Most of the crowd were French-Canadians and they sang "O Canada" and other songs when the train backed in there was loud cheering which was repeated when Sir Wilfrid Laurier appeared on the platform of the Intercolonial car, on which he travelled. There were cries of "Speech, speech," but despite the fact that he was visibly affected, the outgoing premier declined to comply with the motor which was waiting for him and which conveyed him to his residence.

Earlier in the day at 1 o'clock, G. H. Perley, M. P., chief Conservative who arrived at the station from Lacchu, the county town of the constituency which he has won for the third time. A party of personal friends, several of them armed with brooms, was waiting for him and he was warmly welcomed on alighting from the train and on taking a motor to his house on Metcalf street.

Will Has Our Own Row. Ottawa, Sept. 22.—The Evening Journal commenting on the election result, says: "By one of the most overwhelming national votes in the political annals of civilization, the people of Canada yesterday declared their determination to hew their own row as a British colony."

Has Anyone Seen Them? Up to a late hour last night the following Liberals were reported to be still at large: Dr. Pugsley, M. P., elect. Dr. M. J. Jarvis. Dr. Silas Alward, K. C. John A. Sinclair. Dr. R. E. Dugley. H. W. Robertson. J. G. Sperdakes. K. J. MacRae.

JOY IN ENGLAND AT THE RESULT

NEW PREMIER MADE VISIT TO HIS OLD HOME

Mr. Borden Spent Part of Yesterday with Mother and Sister at Grand Pre—In Ottawa Monday.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, Sept. 22.—Mr. E. Borden has received about 600 messages of congratulation by telegraph and cable, many of which he will be unable to answer until he reaches Ottawa on Monday. Meantime he sends his thanks through the press to all those from whom such messages have been received. Mr. Borden spent a part of today with his mother and sister at Grand Pre, returning to Halifax this evening. At Wolfville he was met by a large number of enthusiastic friends whom he briefly addressed at the railway station. He leaves for Ottawa tomorrow.

Liberal-Conservative friends in Halifax have arranged for a dinner to-morrow night in honor of P. B. McCurdy, who defeated Hon. W. S. Fielding. The parties in Prince Edward Island stand two to two. Nicholson and McLean, Conservatives are elected in Queens, and Hughes and Richards, Liberals, in Kings and Prince.

IRISH STRIKE HELD UP 200 AMERICANS

Passengers and Mails on Two White Star Liners Stranded in Queenstown and Cannot be Forwarded.

Dublin, Sept. 22.—The first fruits of the declaration last night of a general strike on the railroads of Ireland by the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, were not particularly promising from the standpoint of the union. Only about 50 of the local staff of the Great Northern Railway responded to the call and the locomotive men of the Midland Great Western refused to quit. The trains of the Great Northern system were being operated as usual today. The strike of the Great Southern and Western Railway continues to be the malady of the general movement. Queenstown has been cut off from railway communication with the interior. The fact that the executives of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants are Englishmen has not tended to make the strike popular with Irishmen.

FIFTY KILLED BY HURRICANE

Naples, Sept. 22.—A hurricane of great violence and accompanied by a deluge of rain raged throughout today over the Vesuvius region, causing a heavy loss of life and enormous damage to property. It is estimated tonight that fifty persons were killed. Houses were rased by the wind while others were inundated. Numerous boats in the bay of Naples are missing and are believed to have been sunk. It is impossible as yet to estimate the total damage done by the storm as telegraph and telephone wires are down and roads are blocked. Several towns are in darkness tonight owing to the electric lighting plants being compelled to shut down.

Canada Has Given Lead Which England Must Follow.

Defeat of Reciprocity will be Long Step Toward Triumph of Imperial Preferences--The Bonds of Empire Greatly Strengthened.

London, Sept. 22.—The result of the Canadian election has put great heart in the tariff reform movement here and has been received by the Unionist newspapers and Unionists generally with great enthusiasm. Frederick E. Smith, Unionist member of parliament for Liverpool, says Canada's example will be of immense encouragement to the tariff reformers here, and corresponding rebuff to the free traders, while Lord Willoughby de Broke declares that he is delighted that Canada has not forgotten the old country.

Andrew Bonar Law, Unionist member of parliament for the Dulwich division in London, believes the result of the election will hasten the triumph of imperial preference. According to L. S. Emery, the journalist, the election is the most important decision in an imperial event since the South African war. He declares Canada has given the lead which England must follow. William R. Peel, leader of the liberal reform party, says the Canadians defeated an American tariff policy to absorb their country and that imperial reciprocity now is certain. "The tariff reformers," he declares, "declare that time alone can make clear the far-reaching significance of the victory by which Canada set the seal of a new declaration of imperial faith and unity."

Viscount Haldley, former Secretary to Lord Aberdeen when he was Governor General of Canada, says: "The door bolted and barred by Premier Asquith has been flung open again by Canada. The tariff reformers will work with renewed vigor and with certainty of success."

Among the more moderate of the tariff reform morning newspapers the feeling of triumph is tempered by expressions of regret at the disappearance from political life of such a staunch Imperialist as Sir Wilfrid Laurier. These papers declare they are glad that Robert L. Borden has a majority large enough to enable him to be independent of Mr. Bourassa's support.

The Daily Telegraph thinks it will be a long time before the statement of either the United States or of Canada propose another reciprocity conference. The Standard says it was a tempting bait offered the Dominion and it would hardly have been strange had the electors succumbed to Washington's wooing. "That the effort to seduce them failed so disastrously," it adds, "is eloquent evidence of Canada's pride of nationality and confidence in her own destiny."

The Standard and most of the other Unionist newspapers predict that it will not be long before the policy of imperial reciprocity is triumphant.

Stockholders of Credit Foncier Canadian Attempted to Dispose Officer of Company for Talking Politics.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 22.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Credit Foncier Canadian, which was to have been held this afternoon to take steps for the removal of Vice-President Arthur Laberge, of Central Falls, for his anti-reciprocity addresses in Canada, was prevented today by Mr. Laberge. Through his attorney the vice-president obtained a restraining order from the court, preventing the use of proxies at the meeting, alleging that they were obtained as a result of misrepresentation. According to President J. E. Brochu when Mr. Laberge went to Canada he was told to keep out of politics but notwithstanding he was quoted as saying that his company, which deals in lands and lumber, was opposed to reciprocity. The company has 16,000 stockholders in New England and several hundred in Canada.

ROCHESTER WINNERS TO PLAY STARS

New York, N. Y., Sept. 22.—With the Eastern league season close only two days away and the permanent question definitely settled, arrangements for the post season series between Rochester, the league winners, and a picked team of stars from the seven clubs were begun today. It was announced at Eastern league headquarters, that Manager Jack Lunn, of Baltimore, who by right of his team finishing second, will manage the all-star team, will meet President Barrow here tomorrow for the purpose of making the final selections for the teams that will take the field against Rochester on that club's home grounds in the opening game on Tuesday, Sept. 26th.

DIGBY WAS DELIGHTED

Defeat of Reciprocity and Election of Clarence Jameson casion Requires — Tripoli the Casus Belli.

Special to The Standard. Digby, Sept. 22.—The election of Mr. Jameson yesterday with a majority of 272 was a tribute to his popularity and energy as well as the effective platform campaign which he put up in the last fortnight, during which she addressed two meetings nightly. The effect of the recent Laurier demonstration here was entirely nullified, the vote showing that Jameson carried majorities in both English and French districts and more than doubled his previous majority. Last evening a great demonstration took place at Weymouth. On his arrival there from Clare he was carried on the shoulders of friends to a carriage which was drawn through the streets of the town by enthusiastic supporters. After a brief address he motored to Digby where a monster demonstration greeted him and where he also spoke briefly. Owing to throat trouble and the fatigue of the campaign his medical attendant has ordered a complete day's rest.

MILITARY AVIATION A FEATURE OF COMING INTERNATIONAL MEET

NEW STYLE OF CYLON GRAND STAND IN DISTANCE
The aviators who will take part in these and other interesting demonstrations include such famous flyers as Claude Grahame-White, the largest prize winner at the Belmont Park meeting last year; T. O. M. Sopwith, the largest winner at the recent Chicago meeting; Earl L. Orvington, who won the greatest amount of prize money at the Harvard-Boston meet; Eugene B. Ely, of "alighting on a battleship" fame; and George W. Beatty, holder of the passenger carrying endurance records of the world. In addition are such splendid military aviators as Captain Paul W. Beck, of the Eighteenth Infantry, and Lieutenant T. De Witt Milling, whose great cross country flight at the Harvard-Boston meet stamped him as the peer of many of the best foreign military aviators. Then there is Lieutenant Henry H. Arnold, one of the more recent acquisitions of the army's rapidly developing aviation corps.

ITALY READY FOR TURKEY

Whole Italian Force Prepared to Mix it With Turks if Occasion Requires — Tripoli the Sasus Belli.

Paris, Sept. 22.—Advices received here from Rome say that the entire Italian force is ready, in case of emergency for a conflict with Turkey if the Ottoman government refuses to give consent for an Italian protectorate over Tripoli. The Italian plan, according to these advices, embraces a bombardment of Tripoli and simultaneous military expedition of 20,000 soldiers to block the Turkish coast along the Adriatic Sea, and to operate in Macedonia, Syria and Arabia with a view to protecting the numerous Italians living in those countries. This latter move, however, will be made only as an extreme measure. While Italy is perfecting her plans all efforts are being made to induce Turkey to come to an amicable arrangement for insuring to Italy a preponderant influence over Tripoli. Italy ever being willing to go to the extent of leaving Tripoli under the sovereignty of the Sultan. It is understood that Germany and Austria are supporting this latter plan, and that France and Italy stand ready in case of its acceptance to indemnify Turkey. The Italian squadron is rendezvousing at Taranto and is under orders to be ready to start at a moment's notice. The commander of the squadron has instructions which are to be opened when his vessels are on the high seas. It is believed that the seemingly belligerent attitude of Turkey is only a bluff to save her military honor, the advices from Rome say, and also at the same time to obtain a large indemnity from Italy. A squadron of torpedo boat destroyers which left Messina for Brindisi today was compelled after five hours in stormy weather, to return to harbor, owing to damages sustained by several of the vessels. The Rome advices say the Italian fleet will be divided into five divisions and the Duke of the Abruzzi will command one of these composed of 22 destroyers, 23 torpedo boats, 2 cruis-

JAMAICANS EXPECT BOOM FROM CANAL

A Big Dry Dock and Ship Repair Plant for Kingston is Among Probabilities of the Future.

Kingston, Ja., Sept. 22.—Various proposals are before the Jamaica government with the idea of preparing Jamaica for benefits that are believed likely to accrue through the opening of the Panama Canal. One of these is to make Kingston a coal- ing station and another contemplates the purchase of a floating dry dock and the equipment of a repair plant for vessels. Before acting on the proposals, however, Sir Sydney Olivier, Governor of Jamaica will visit the Canal zone next month, and make a study of the canal situation and ascertain the benefits the colony is likely to get when the canal is ready to do business. It is the intention of Governor Olivier while on the trip also to visit Costa Rica and inquire into the conditions of the Jamaicans in that country and in the canal zone. He desires to see how the Jamaicans live their conditions and their work, and also the attractions of the two localities have for the natives of his island who proceed thither week after week.

RUSSIA MOURNS DEAD PREMIER

Funeral of Late Premier Stolypin Yesterday an Occasion for General Mourning in Russia.

Kiev, Sept. 22.—The funeral of Premier Stolypin was held today in the Pechersky Monastery, and was the occasion for universal mourning. Deputations came to Kiev from all parts of the empire to attend the ceremony and laid over 200 wreaths on the catafalque. The service began at 10 o'clock this morning. Thousands of persons were unable to gain admission to the church and grouped themselves outside the edifice. Amid the tolling of bells and chanting of the choir the coffin was borne by high dignitaries at the head of an imposing procession of members of the clergy and the visiting deputations to the sepulchre where it was lowered into the crypt. While the requiem was being sung monks strewed the crypt with flowers. After the ceremony had been completed three volleys were fired by the troops as a military honor to the dead man. During the day numerous subscriptions were received toward the erection of a national monument to M. Stolypin. It will be inscribed the words he uttered in the Duma: "You want a great upheaval, we want a great Russia."

What Wrecked Laurier.

Toronto, Sept. 22.—The Telegram says in part: "The great gift of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was his nimble histrionic aptitude for taking the cue from his advisors. It was this gift that made Sir Wilfrid Laurier one of the most brilliant opposition leaders in the parliamentary annals of Anglo-Saxon countries. The native shallowness and cowardice of Laurier would have wrecked him. The sale of the Irving Jewellery Stock will commence at 55 King street on Monday morning and will be in charge of Carl Schmidt, a practical jeweller, with a thorough knowledge of the trade of St. John.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1911.

CANADA HAS FOUND HERSELF.

The rejection of reciprocity by the Canadian people is the greatest advertisement for the Dominion since Confederation. It tells the world unmistakably that Canada intends to work out her destiny on her own feet and not to be a mere puppet in the hands of any foreign power. It is an exhibition of self-confidence of which all countries will take notice and the rest of the Empire will understand that henceforth Canada will refuse to involve herself in Pan-American alliances.

In Europe it has been only half realized that the United States does not control North America. The situation will now be better understood. Canada has made it plain to all the world that she intends to guard her own position and control her own destiny on this continent. Forty years ago we might have been depending on a foreign country for a market and for many things we needed. It was not so well known elsewhere as it has been in Canada that the situation had changed. The defeat of reciprocity proclaims the fact.

The objection of Mr. Tatt to the "Imperial Commercial Band," his "parting of the ways" message, the annexation declaration of Champ Clark, the leader of the other United States party, the almost unanimous assertion of the leading United States papers that reciprocity was a step in the direction of political union, directed the attention of the world to this issue.

If Canada had accepted reciprocity, we know how the verdict would have been interpreted in the United States. Public men and the public press would have been more outspoken when their language could no longer affect the country's vote. From the northern frontier to the Gulf of Mexico, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it would have been proclaimed that Canada had at last turned her back on Great Britain and cast in her lot with the Republic. Who can doubt this for a moment after reading what the most responsible and cautious statesmen in the United States have already said?

Wherever the British Empire has an enemy there would have been rejoicing over this weakening of the Imperial band; but Canada has declined the alliance and our neighbors know, once and for all, where we stand. They naturally do not approve, having everything to lose by the verdict, but they will respect us more than if we had given another answer.

The outcome of the defeat of reciprocity is well and concisely expressed in a Canadian despatch to the Bangor News. It says: "The government despatch to the Fielding-Knox Reciprocity Agreement, ratified by the American Congress in extra session, will not be introduced when the 12th Parliament assembles next month and that a revised basis of trade with the United States, looking to closer relations, will not be possible in the immediate future. The Conservatives are committed to a policy of trade expansion within the Empire and a closed door against the United States."

This is not palatable reading, perhaps, for our friends across the border, but it is absolutely true. The Canadian people have made it abundantly clear that there is a reckless leader of the Liberal party who will elect to follow the latest policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier who is now suffering the pangs of ignominious defeat for his inconsistency.

CANADIAN LOYALTY.

If there is one thing more than another that stands out prominently in the result of Thursday's election it is that Canada and its people desire more intimate relations with the Mother Country. The loyalty of the people of this country and their devotion to its flag have never been in question. The organs of the Laurier administration attempted to show that the Conservative appeal to the people to defeat Laurier because he sought an unholy alliance with the United States was a reflection upon the loyalty of Canadians. They claimed that the increased trade that would follow reciprocity would be so beneficial to the country that the people would become so much more prosperous that there would be no desire to break away from the British family of stateshood. This was a foolish idea because it contained no argument and was based on conditions that did not and could not exist.

The people of Canada have every wish to increase their trade with the United States, but they want to do it in a legitimate way and on a businesslike basis. They do not want it if it means a surrender of their commercial independence.

The result of the vote on Thursday shows that Canadians do not intend to permit their trade relations with other countries to be settled at Washington instead of at Ottawa. It was this phase of the agreement that was most objectionable. Another was that it was the entering wedge which must finally lead to American manufacturers securing an entry into our market and competing unfairly with Canadian industries. The Americans are an optimistic people and one of the results of this optimism has been the creation of industrial plants far beyond the capacity of the home market. To keep these industries going at anything like their capacity means that they must seek markets outside of their own country and this they are always prepared to do at a sacrifice of profit, provided their own market is secure and they keep it secure by an insurmountable tariff wall.

For many years American producers made a slaughter market of Canada and in some lines, where values fluctuate, are still doing so, notwithstanding the "dumping clause" in the Canadian tariff. From the very beginning of its history to the present time the balance of trade between Canada and the United States has always been largely in favor of the latter, while the Mother Country has for many years bought more from Canada than we took of their wares. Furthermore, British trade has been more profitable to Canada than the trade of this country with the United States. The desire, therefore, to develop our trade with Great Britain is based, not only on sentiment but on sound business principles.

Besides all this, Canadians in recent years have seen branches of American industries started in Canada giving employment to thousands of our people, simply because this country imposed a moderate tariff on their goods when produced in the United States. This in itself was a good reason why reciprocity should be rejected. Every industry established by Americans in Canada compelled the employment of the people of this country and assisted in increasing the home market and in developing our transportation lines.

It is inconceivable that anyone desiring to see material development in Canada should support such a thoroughly ridiculous policy as that which Sir Wilfrid Laurier made the principal issue of the campaign and after a careful review of the question from all sides, the verdict of Thursday's election is not at all to be wondered at. Canadians love their flag because it is a flag that is everywhere respected, and they have had ample evidence that trade follows the flag. Canadian loyalty is a happy combination of sentiment and commercial acumen.

SUNBURY AND QUEENS.

The air is filled with rumors regarding the illegal means that were taken to secure the election of Col. McLean in Thursday's contest. Not only was money used by McLean supporters but other means are said to have been employed to get a majority for the gallant Colonel. These included fraudulent ballots for use by the purchased voter and other instruments by which the man who got the money for his vote was compelled to deliver the goods. Sunbury and Queens is a rural constituency and gives an opportunity for crooked methods in electioneering that are not possible in a city or town, and it is freely charged that every nefarious means was taken by Colonel McLean's supporters to insure him of a majority.

New Brunswickers generally speaking, no matter what their political faith may be, want their elections conducted fairly and honestly. If that is said is true concerning Sunbury and Queens, a strict enquiry should be held and, after a fair trial it is proven that such acts as are charged did occur, the guilty parties should be placed on trial and made an example of.

By the selection of partisan returning officers in several constituencies in this province, the Liberals have shown that they desired to have every advantage over their opponents that was possible under the law. If in addition to this the supporters of any candidate resorted to illegal means to obtain a majority, swift punishment should follow such a crime.

One matter at least in connection with the Sunbury-Queens election has been brought to the attention of the Attorney General and will be dealt with as the occasion requires. Hon. Mr. Haen is not a man to shirk his duty in this respect. The country can well dispense with the society of bogus ballot distributors and ballot switchers for a period. A recount will be demanded in this constituency.

The Times last evening expressed great concern regarding the future of this valued journal which it says "has fallen to the low estate of a mere Government hack. All the things it has said about the Times and Telegraph will now apply to its unucky self." From this it would appear that the dish of crow which the Times swallowed last night may be stated that The Standard will continue in the future as in the past to tell the truth concerning all things. It is not at the beck or call of those who would use a political party for the sole purpose of reaching themselves. Further, it will not be called upon to espouse a cause that would bring ruin to the city and Province where it chiefly circulates, or to defend a policy that must ultimately lead to the annexation of this country by the United States. There is no such element in the Conservative party which The Standard supports.

The release of Mr. J. G. Speardakes from the County Gaol, where he was serving a sentence for an indictable offence, in order that he might round up the Greek vote for Messrs. Pugsley and Lowell, is about as bad as anything that Tammany Hall ever did to get elected. It was a most reprehensible proceeding and one that cannot be too strongly condemned. Whoever suggested it, and those responsible for carrying it out showed a carelessness of morality and decency that should win the opprobrium of every right thinking man in the community.

The Times makes an urgent demand on the Liberals of Canada "to perfect an organization which will set them upon the road to victory in the near future." So far as the Liberals of New Brunswick are concerned they seem to have thriven more without an organization than with one, judging from the returns of the last election as compared with those of 1908. No organization can elect a party in Canada that is tainted with treason. The people of this country are solid for British connection and want no separatists of the Laurier type.

The selection of a Cabinet Minister for New Brunswick by Mr. Borden is disturbing the repose of the Laurier newspapers of this city. They need not worry as Mr. Borden is not likely to either ask or accept their advice as to whom he should select as a member of his Cabinet for this Province.

With seven Cabinet ministers defeated and Sir Wilfrid Laurier taking a rest, as he said he would in case he was defeated, there will be little left of the future opposition except Pugsley, And a Pugsley opposition would be quite as impossible as a Pugsley government.

It is again reported that General Kitchener is to marry. Isn't it wonderful how concerned everyone is to get a man married? Heavens, cannot a man go through life happily, if he wishes to?

We should prefer the Canadian to the Mexican method of holding an election if we were forced to choose between them; but let us hope that our own beloved land will never adopt either.

From New York comes the indignant denial that the blonde is passing. Of course, she's not; and what's more, the sales of peroxide are steadily increasing.

The woman temperance worker who says that one drink makes a man drunk would have aroused more general interest if she had named the brand.

Not a word of the New Brunswick American dough in the Hearst "yellow" - not on your life!

According to some politicians reciprocity is like the shell man's pea, now you see it and now you don't.

If Canada turns down reciprocity wouldn't it make us feel pretty cheap?

THE TRIUMPH OF GALTON PLAN OF IDENTIFICATION

It used to be a favorite saying of our old friend Sherlock Holmes that when he had eliminated the impossible from the problem in hand what was left, however improbable, was the truth. A striking illustration of this axiom was given in a New York Police Court recently. A prisoner was accused of burglary, the chief, if not the only, evidence against him being a finger print on a pane of glass. The prisoner, of course, denied his guilt and established with ninety-nine lawyers out of a hundred would swear that the print on the pane of glass, which had unquestionably been made by the burglar, was identical with the finger print of the accused. The prisoner, of course, denied his guilt and established with ninety-nine lawyers out of a hundred would swear that the print on the pane of glass, which had unquestionably been made by the burglar, was identical with the finger print of the accused.

Since there are 1,500,000,000 people in the world, and not more than 50,000 million finger prints in a century, it would require a considerable number of years to furnish enough human beings to provide all the possible combinations. This number is represented by the figure 2, followed by forty-eight zeros. In other words, there are not only no two finger prints identical, but there never have been two alike in all history, and there never will be two alike. For practical purposes of identification it is found that if the marks are alike in seventeen of the hundred squares the identity of the two is established, since it would require more than the present population of the world, according to the law of averages, to furnish two different individuals whose finger prints would have that many characteristics in common.

WHAT "A SOUTH AFRICAN DUTCHMAN" THINKS OF IT

To the Editor of The Standard. Sir,—I was more than pleased to see the result in your paper this morning. At last the people of Canada will have an honest government and I hope that the party in power will do all they can to keep the confidence of the people who elected them by such a triumphant majority.

If the United States wants Canadian goods, let her buy them or let her take their duty off and if Canada wants some of the American goods which are not manufactured in Canada, let the present government take the duty off and give the benefit to the Canadian people. I wish your party the best of success.

From a colonial friend, A SOUTH AFRICAN DUTCHMAN TORONTO CANADA. On board S. S. Prince Rupert, Sept. 22, 1911.

Bark Ashore Off Main-a-Dieu Not Giuseppe d'AlI.
Portland, Sept. 24-Considerable interest was manifested yesterday at the identity of the large bark reported by telegraph as ashore Tuesday on the rocks off Main-a-Dieu, C B, it being feared, by many that the vessel in question was the Italian bark Giuseppe d'AlI, which recently discharged a cargo of salt from Tra-pani at the Lord Brothers' sheds on

STATEMENT

"Canada Has Emphasized the Strength of the Ties that Bind Her to the Empire"-
What Laurier Says.

Halifax, Sept. 22--Last evening
Mrs. Borden made the following statement: "The people have given their answer to those who desired to drive the reciprocity compact through parliament by the strength of a temporary majority, which possessed no confidence to promote the compact.
The fight was a hard one, but the victory would have been even more sweeping if the campaign had continued for two weeks longer. Canada has emphasized her adherence to the policy and traditions for the past forty years. She has loyally determined that for her there shall be no parting of the ways, but that she will continue in the old path of Canadian unity, Canadian autonomy and British connection. She has emphasized the strength of the ties that bind her to the Empire. The verdict has been given in no spirit of un-friendliness or hostility to the United States, and no such spirit exists, but Canada desires and elects to be mistress of her own destinies and to work out those destinies as an autonomous nation within the British Empire. While the liberal-conservative party made its stand, with this pronouncement against this compact, the triumph is that of the Canadian people rather than of any political party.
We gratefully acknowledge the patriotic service of the liberals who realized that this supreme national issue was above all considerations of party allegiance and who threw themselves into the fight with an earnestness and an energy which contrasted not a little to the splendid victory that has ensued."

Montreal, Sept. 22--Up to noon on Monday, yesterday's magnificent victory in the standing of the parties.
The result gives 44 majority against the government. Some of the majorities have been as high as 100. The liberal conservative party made its stand, with this pronouncement against this compact, the triumph is that of the Canadian people rather than of any political party.
We gratefully acknowledge the patriotic service of the liberals who realiz-

SEVEN DEATHS
IN C. P. R. WRECK
Engine of Work Train Struck
Van of Eight Men Only One Escaped.

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 22--The C.
P. R. Wreck at Chapeau yesterday resulted in seven deaths and the causing by the engine of a work train, running tender first, crashing into the van of an eastbound stock train struck on the main line.
Eight men in charge of the stock train were in the van and only one escaped, saving himself by jumping.
The accident occurred at five in the morning. The dead include C. Laremont of London, England; Harold,
Windsor, Ont.; Nelson; Winnipeg;
Geoffrey of Quebec and three others,
names unknown at present.

Central wharf. The d'AlI, which is an iron vessel of 1637 tons, sailed from Halifax on Sept. 19 for Montreal, N. B., where she was to load a cargo of deals for an English port. She is commanded by Capt. Salvo, an experienced seaman, and carries a crew of about 20 men. Capt. H. McKown of this city having gone with her as pilot.
Her natural course was around Scatterie, which would bring her in about the locality where the vessel is reported ashore. The opinion was frequently expressed yesterday by seafaring men that the stranded vessel was the d'AlI, but all apprehension was relieved on the receipt of a dispatch from Louisburg, C B, stating that it was the Norwegian bark Record (formerly the Nellie Troop of St. John, N. B.), but Capt. Grandson and the remainder of the crew remain on board and will be rescued when opportunity offers.
Several vessels have heretofore been wrecked on the ledge at the point above mentioned, the steamer Bruce having come to grief there only a short time ago.

WHAT CAUSES "NERVES"?
Most people say worry--they are wrong--the cause is in the blood which is thin, and lacks nutriment. To cure
"Nerves" more blood, sinew and flesh are required. You get these quickly by taking Ferrozone. No health bring-er is so certain, no nerve-strengthen-er more potent, no system tonic so well adapted to the wants of the rundown, nervous or sleepless. Let Fer-rozone build you up, let it fill you with vim, energy and surplus vigor.
It has done this for thousands.

M'INTOSH'S WEEKLY REVIEW

St. John, N. B., Sept. 21.—Both Canadian and Wall Street markets showed signs of improvement during the last week. In anticipation of the Canadian elections the Montreal market did not display any great activity but in spots some strength was noticeable, which seemed to indicate that, with more normal conditions in the country, the tendency would be gradually upward. On some days the Canada market interest attracted the most attention, and the volume of the transactions seems to indicate that there was some good buying of the stocks for London account. From time to time during the past half year there has been a good deal of English buying in the market and it is believed that much of the stock has been put away for a long haul. There is little doubt but that the actual improvement in the condition of the trade in Canada has been really a matter of surprise even to the men who were actively identified with the different companies previous to the consolidation. The selling which occurred of Rio company was said to be for London account, and in the year it was thought that the increased dividend of Rio would likely come this fall, but at the present time it is hardly looked for before the end of the first quarter of 1912. The selling in Shawinigan was attributed to the fact that the new stock issue was not regarded as a bull card, the price at which the new stock was being issued not making it very attractive to the shareholders. C.P.R. made a gain of 10 points from the low level. It was thought that the upward movement was brought about principally through a drive by the short interest, and occurred just as soon as it was felt that most of the forcing selling from Berlin had been accomplished. The Wall Street market has evidently reached a level where there is certainly a greater power of resistance observable. Although the fundamental features which have been the cause of the depression are still largely in evidence, it is believed that prices have pretty well discounted all of the unfavorable factors. With the coming of the fall there is likely to be more activity in trade. In the United States the wheat crop is being harvested, and even if the harvests are somewhat disappointing this year the crops are not much below the average in most of the wheat producing districts. In fact, owing to the world's shortage of wheat, prices that will prevail will likely be all the higher.

PRICES DECLINE IN THE STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 22.—Wild trading in United States Steel stocks again threw the market into confusion to a larger scale than yesterday and the decline in prices soon after the opening was no violent that for a time the situation assumed a most serious one. The first hour selling was unrestrained and prices dwindled away. U. S. Steel stock fell five points, to 51 1/2, and U. S. Steel preferred fell 1 1/2. Effective support offered when the market was last approaching complete demoralization, improved the situation in the afternoon but it was of much smaller proportions and the market maintained its poise. U. S. Steel which had risen from 5 1/2 to the low point of the day, to 47 1/4, fell back selling was described as heavy and before noon the market with the exception of the Hill shares and U. S. Steel, rose above yesterday's close. Another selling movement was inaugurated in the afternoon but it was of much smaller proportions and the market maintained its poise. U. S. Steel which had risen from 5 1/2 to the low point of the day, to 47 1/4, fell back selling was described as heavy and before noon the market with the exception of the Hill shares and U. S. Steel, rose above yesterday's close. Another selling movement was inaugurated in the afternoon but it was of much smaller proportions and the market maintained its poise. U. S. Steel which had risen from 5 1/2 to the low point of the day, to 47 1/4, fell back selling was described as heavy and before noon the market with the exception of the Hill shares and U. S. Steel, rose above yesterday's close.

1883 bought out the firm of Harris and Co., taking over their car manufacturing business. Rhodes-Curry and Co., eventually became known throughout Canada as car builders, although originally they began as saw and door makers, lumbermen, etc.

In 1909 was announced the incorporation of Rhodes-Curry and Co. into a joint stock company known as Rhodes-Curry Co. Limited. Before very long a further change took place in connection with the company, by which it was merged with the Canadian Car and Foundry Co. Limited and the Canadian Car Co. Limited. The last two mentioned companies are located close to the Montreal works of the Rhodes-Curry Co. Limited, and the capitalization was as follows: Authorized Issued Common stock $5,000,000 $5,000,000 Preference 7,500,000 5,000,000 Cumulative $12,500,000 $5,000,000

The Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co. The delivery of power from the new plant will commence on October 1st. Back at the beginning of the summer it was believed that there would be all probability a new issue of P. H. stock before the end of the present year. Now, however, owing to the somewhat unfavorable conditions in the money market in England and foreign countries, it is believed that any further issue will be held up for some time to come. In the meantime any additional money that the company may need will likely be secured from the sale of a 4 per cent. debenture issue of $1,500,000. This debenture was denominated in London when general market conditions were very unfavorable.

Mr. Thomas Shaugnessy, who has just returned from a trip over all the western lines of the company, thinks that an estimate of 17,000,000 bushels of wheat would come close to the mark for this year's western wheat crop, and that it would have a monetary value of $150,000,000. His opinion of the value of the agricultural products of the four western provinces for this year was $270,000,000. Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd. One of the most successful of the various consolidations which have taken place in Canada during the past few years is the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Limited, with head offices and works at Montreal and a factory also at Amherst, N. S. While the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Limited, was organized in 1907, its origin can be traced back to 1837. In that year was organized at St. John, N. B., the firm of Harris and Co., which later began building cars to fill the early demand in Canada. In 1877 Nathaniel Curry began business as contractor, etc., at Amherst, N. S. A partnership was established and the firm was called the Rhodes-Curry Co. This firm in

IDEA OF THE RITZ HOTELS

How the Big Chain of Hosteries is Still Run on the Principles of Comfort, Taste and Good Food, Says William Harris, the Head of the Companies.

So much has been guessed and written about how much money Americans contribute to the support of European hotels that the question was put yesterday to William Harris of London, who is interested in more hotels in more countries of the world than anybody else at present in this country, so far as is known.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

A Political Conspiracy. The S. S. Lesson by Evangelist. Sept. 24, Daniel 6: 10-23. Fifty years had passed since the events of last lesson. The grand old man—Daniel—now ninety years of age had served as secretary of state, finance minister and premier under four sovereigns. Diabolist and scheming politicians were growing impatient of his tenacity of life. "If the old hypocrite would only drop out I might have a chance to feather my nest" was the unspoken thought of many. "How he does look after Government interests! How very exacting he is in auditing accounts. No matter how we may watch his disbursement of public funds is always accounted for to a farthing. If we could only catch him embezzling we could easily oust him. What a chance in a position like his to speculate on Margin. Not to rob the Government, of course, but just to use Government funds and when the right moment comes to sell out and return the borrowed capital. No one would ever know. At length these government office seekers put their heads together and the result of their deliberations and confabulations was as follows: "We shall not find any occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the law of his God." (Ve. 5). "What a tribute!" Imagine the opposition making such a declaration against a minister of the Crown in our own land. We did our best to prove him guilty of graft and of superannuating capable government officials in order to fill the vacancies with his own relations but we could prove nothing. In fact the only true charge that could be brought against him is that he is too straightlaced, too great a stickler for honor, too good for anything. Well, as I said, the opposition put their heads together. They probably said, "Daniel has such exaggerated ideas of his own importance while standing in the shoes of Cyrus the Great that anything that tickles his vanity will go. Let us get him to sign a paper that if any man shall make a request of any God or man except himself for thirty days that he shall be buried in a den of lions. Agreed—agreed. Now then let it be fully understood that there is to be absolute secrecy or the game will be lost. All preliminaries having been attended to the conspirators stand before the king.

The silver tongued orator of the party makes a salaan and proceeds to entice the king by flattery into the carefully concealed snare. King Darius live forever. All the presidents of the kingdom, the governors and princes, the counselors and the captains have consulted together to establish a royal statute and to make a firm decree that whosoever shall ask a petition of any God or man for thirty days, save of these O Kings, Now, O King, establish the decree and sign the writing that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians which altereth not. I can see him as he takes the document and looks it over hastily. "I see no reason why I should not accede to the request," he says, and stamps it with his signet. "Now he's in for it," they whisper, on leaving the court. And not only the Honorable Mr. Propriety, but all his kind—these miserable Hebrew captives who have snapped up our best government positions—president-in-chief, provincial governors forsooth—and not one of them has taken out naturalization papers! There is not a man among them who would worship Darius. See Daniel as he leaves the office and is driven home to dinner. Mrs. Daniel (if there was a Mrs. Daniel), passes him with a request that he should take a holiday for a month or so in order to take her for a trip to the sea, as she is feeling fat from her confinement and she thinks he would be benefited by the change. No use to tell him of the king's decree for it would only strengthen him in his determination to go on doing as he always had done. If I cannot coax him from home, I can at least Put Heavier Curtains Over the Windows. There is no use reasoning with him, of course, for what he knows to be right that he will do. My poor husband! He is so set in his ways! He is so lacking in diplomacy. Surely he could pray in secret and it would be just as acceptable to God as praying at an open window! Shall I warn him? Some one has been before me. He has heard the news. Just As I Expected. Down come the draperies from the windows. Down he goes on his knees. How I honor that dear white head bowed in supplication for our people! How I love him for daring to have a purpose true and daring to make it known. I wish he were more diplomatic. Hush! Hark! What is it I hear? An officer of the law—two—three—come to arrest him? As he walks between the officers, handcuffed, he is followed by crowds talking excitedly. "I knew he wouldn't yield an inch." "He does not seem the least excited or nervous." Soon they reach the court and the prime minister stands before his sovereign. "What does this mean?" asks Darius. "This man whom you have set over us is charged with violating the act just passed in that he persistently supplicates his God rather than you, O King." The king is dumbfounded. Every drop of his blood Boils With indignation. "Fool that I am," he mutters, "to have allowed myself to become the tool of these designing rascals. What is to be done?" The law will have to take its course and we shall have to look to the God of Heaven to defend the right. With firm and resolute step he follows the officers who lead the way to the lion's den. They toss him in and roll the stone against his mouth. What followed is known best to the angels. Whether he sang the 91st Psalm or spent the night revelling in the presence and love of God or whether he plowed his head on one of the sleeping monsters and rested like a child, is not told. One thing we know. That as the first ray of light filled the eastern sky a humbler and wiser king was found at the den calling anxiously for his prime minister. "O Daniel, servant of the living God is thy God, whom thou servest continually able to deliver thee from the lions." And that the prime minister responded. "O King, live for ever! My God hath sent his angel and hath shut the lions' mouths that they have not hurt me." Ten the man who had walked in letters returned by the same route, the honored guest of the king in his chariot while the rascals who plotted his ruin met the fate they had designed for him. Is there anything in the story for you or for me? Could you be trusted to live "in the swim" of a gay court life—of a corrupt political life—of a false religious life, in the world which is ever at variance with God and yet not be of the world? "I pray you not that thou shouldst take them out of the world but that thou shouldst keep them from evil" was the prayer of the Lord for His own. Can you be trusted to show your

With her victim hovering between life and death in a hospital at Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Earl Samuel, who shot Miss Lacie West four times in the Dixie Theatre, has as yet refused to make any explanation of her motive for committing the crime. His attentions to Miss West were the cause of divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Samuel, but the action was compromised while the hearing was in progress, and it was understood that a reconciliation had been effected.

LETTER FROM BOSTON GIRL

Boston, Sept. 22.—Come to Boston and see the Pteranodon. But come perfectly sober, for, if the plans of certain scientists are carried out, there will be some time in the near future, a weird and fantastic fathering at Franklin park, near the new municipal zoological garden. It is proposed to produce lifelike cement images of the monsters that fed on New England's marshes and hills ten million years ago, and place them in Franklin park, as an unrivaled lesson in the history of evolution. Some of the members of this group would answer to the names of Iguanodons, Diplodocus Carnegiei, Rhinoceros Saurians and Pteranodons, and it would be a sorry day for any gentleman with too much ballast to wander into their domain. Seriously, the value of an exhibit like that planned would be undeniably far ahead of the well known, little appreciated dinosaur of the sturdy natural history museums. To find these life-like monsters among the trees and puddlingstone ledges or beside small ponds, in Franklin park would be to gain an entirely new conception of the prehistoric conditions in our little corner of the world. A new kind of stringing up at the Massachusetts state prison. For the first time in the history a real military band concert has been given in the inmates. Thirty members of Teel's band, gathered on the roof of a shed in the prison yard, where about 800 prisoners were waiting impatiently. These followed a programme of classical and popular music including the overture, Post and Peasant, Il Travatore, and other high grade selections. The balcony of the shed was filled, at the first notes of which every prisoner removed his cap. Bandmaster Teel said it had seldom been his pleasure to conduct his band before a more enthusiastic and appreciative audience, every criminal a man and a patriot. Steady progress marks the career of the savings bank life insurance in Massachusetts. This humanitarian enterprise has stretched an arduous round tripfield as its patent protege, the Berkshire county savings bank having become the third institution in the commonwealth to furnish the required guaranty fund and open an insurance department. The Mutual and Whitman respectively have long been doing an increasingly prosperous business in savings bank life insurance and old age annuities, and judging by the number of agencies already established in connection with the Berkshire county bank, the older members of the trio will have to keep busy to keep their record from being outdone by the western competitor. "That must be Christian Science grass," remarked a young woman to her companion as the two passed the attractive park on Huntington Avenue, fronting the Christian Science Church. The point seemed well taken for certainly nowhere in Boston is there a stretch of such healthy green as that cultivated and cared for by the Scientists. The little park lies like an unblemished blanket of bright green velvet, broken only by the attractive walks and the darker green of the perfectly groomed young trees. The park commission would have to look pretty sharp to find in its own province an example of such purity and health and vigor as exhibits in the little plot set between city buildings. A stylishly dressed, chic young girl of the petite, coquette type to which one does not look for undue industry, attracted considerable attention in a local train on a recent evening. As the train stopped in a suburban station the crowd on the platform beheld this damsel busily sewing on a strip of white and blue material, her attention entirely absorbed in her work, unaware of the gaze of the curious, her fingers fairly flying, and—her fair face marking time with the stitching as she sweetened her task with caramels or gum. Not an eyelash did she flicker until just as the train started, when she paused with a stitch half finished, darted one hand toward the window and popped a piece of candy between her lips, resuming her sewing without the loss of more than half a second. Ethel Angier. No Buyers. He (loftily)—I will marry no girl because she has money. I would not sell my soul. She (caustically)—Don't worry. A girl with money enough to buy any kind of a husband who wanted would never pick you out for a bargain.—Baltimore American. Charming Woman. Philadelphia Record.—Wigwar—The secret of a happy married life is to marry one's opposite. Cynicus—Yes, I have frequently remarked that your wife was a most charming woman.

CHASING A BIG BALLOON

Broadway Crowds Had a Veritable Picnic Last Sunday Afternoon, with a Wandering Balloon and Occupant.

(New York Sun) A big hot air balloon which was sent up yesterday afternoon with a parachute performer to amuse the Plattdeuschers who were picnicking at Schutzen Park in Union Hill, N. J., after being relieved of its human burden, swept over the Hudson to Manhattan, hovered around over the west side of the city for an hour or so and finally brought up in the backyard of a theatrical boarding house at 217 West Forty-second street. A crowd which gathered at Longacre Square rushed through the front door of the boarding house and swarmed out on the roof and into the yard in a scramble to get a part of the balloon as a souvenir. The balloon was sent up about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was owned by Prof. William E. Thaller. Thaller himself didn't go with it, but sent as a substitute Tom Moore, a young assistant. Both Thaller and Moore live at Hillside Park, N. J. Moore had announced that he would use three parachutes in his drop from the balloon, and at an elevation of almost a thousand feet he started to carry out his promise. Something went wrong, however, for one of the parachutes still hung to the balloon and Moore went sailing down under but two of them. The wind was blowing from the west and the balloon started toward the river on its course for Manhattan. Thousands of folks on ferry and excursion boats caught sight of the big bag as it swept over the water and many more on land had their eyes fixed on it as it reached the eastern shore. The air with which it had been inflated began to cool in the currents over the river and the bag sank steadily. It came into this state at a spot over 42nd street and the river. The third parachute was still dropping from beneath the basket and was mistaken by not a few persons for the aeronaut. Dropping still nearer to the rooftops, it bears away to 34th avenue to 42nd street, and was then caught by a northerly current which blew it to 45th street. James Gallo, of 245 West 25th street, who spends his Sunday afternoons on a motorcycle, led the chase for the balloon. He kept on to 46th street, and there saw his quarry swing back in a still lower current which carried it down to 38th street in an easterly direction over 9th avenue. Here the air drove the balloon back again and it floated over the rooftops between 9th and 38th avenues to 42nd street. It had been dropping nearer to the earth and every moment it seemed to Gallo and the other watchers that it must catch on some chimney. Veering still to the east, it just escaped the spire of the Central Baptist church on the south side of 42nd street near 7th avenue and crossing 42d street brought up smack against the side of Hammerstein's theatre. The balloon rebounded over to the west and dropped at the rear of the Lyric theatre. The third parachute which had stuck all this time, was shaken off by the jar and dropped on the roof of 25 West 42nd street, a theatrical building with the balcony level. The crowd at 42nd street and Broadway and 7th avenue had now grown to enormous proportions and followed the progress of the erratic balloon with unrelenting interest. Hovey and those of his guests who happened to be in at the time, knew nothing of the vactor until the mob which jostled along the street stopped outside the door. While the guests peered out of the windows, Hovey went to the front door to ask what had happened. Scarcely had he opened the door when the foreman of the mob pressed by the astonished landlord and rushed up the stairway to the roof. Other guests had made their entrance at 207 First through that house was Gallo whose motorcycle waited at the curb. Gallo got to the roof through the skylight and recovered the parachute. Policeman Crimmons, the one man of authority in the neighborhood, did the best he could to stem the crazy crowd which rushed about in an effort to get at the balloon. Gallo turned the parachute over to him and when the reserves had come to restore order, Crimmons carried the parachute to the station house. Over on the Jersey shore Thaller and Moore watched the course of the balloon until they saw that it was going toward Manhattan. Then they got an automobile and crossed over the 42nd street ferry. They arrived about half an hour after the events just chronicled and after proving their identity to the police set out to recover the balloon. Moore was still in the red tights, green trunks and black shirt and skull cap in which he was to have made the ascension and when the crowd caught sight of him, they surged about him and the reserves had several busy moments before they got traffic moving in proper shape. Moore had the balloon carried out through the house at 225 and placed in a wagon. They got the parachute at the police station and then started back to Jersey to prepare for more flights.

NOTED EGYPTIAN REBEL PASSED AWAY THURSDAY Cairo, Sept. 23.—Ahmed Arabi Pasha, the leader of the military insurrection in Egypt in 1882, died yesterday. He was convicted of rebellion, pleading guilty and condemned to death but the sentence was commuted by the Khedive to perpetual exile from Egypt. With other leaders in the rebellion, he was sent to Crete in 1885. Later he was pardoned.

ONE FORTUNE SUNK, BUT "SOL" JACOBS, MACKEREL KING, SAYS HE'LL CATCH ANOTHER

(Boston Post.) "I have made one fortune out of the sea in my long career. I've lost all I ever had, but I'm coming back and will get another fortune before I die."—Captain "Sol" Jacobs. Capt. "Sol" Jacobs, the man who has gained more than $1,000,000 out of the sea, the king of all Gloucester's long list of fishing skippers since Chevalier De Champlain dropped anchor inside Tean Pond Island way back in the year 1605, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are set at $6,000, of which $1,000 is secured and his assets are placed at $2,500. But old Sol says that he hopes to wrest another fortune from the sea. He still insists that there is money in fish, but says that a man should "salt his money with much greater care than he ever salted fish." He says he will stick to the fishing game no matter what happens and that he has been assured of the support of some of Gloucester's foremost business men. "I have suffered through a series of misfortunes and the necessity of shouldering my responsibilities alone," he explains. Friends of Captain "Sol" say that his financial embarrassments do not mean his passing as a leading fisherman. On the contrary, they assert that he is coming back. To wrecks, a fire and international litigation, Capt. "Sol" says the cause of his financial failure, while others add that his generosity in passing years has spelled failure for him. Standing on a Gloucester wharf the "Mackerel King" talked with a Sunday Post reporter about these financial troubles and the eyes of the famous old skipper grew watery at times as he recalled the days of his prosperity. A short distance away lay the auxiliary fishing vessel the Quarteite, of which he is now skipper, while the crew made ready for an early morning departure into the bay after "blue backs" and "herring." Fine Record for Past Season. During the past season the veteran fisherman has made a fine record of catching in the Quarteite. He has shown more than a flash of his old-time form which has made him for nearly two score years the acknowledged "king of the fleet," and his friends assert that another season will see him once more upon his feet on the road to another snug competence, altho his years number around the three score mark. The recent trouble is laid by Captain "Sol" to complications with the English government over the seizure of his vessel, the Mollie Adams, about 19 years ago, following trips in the Behring Sea and off the Irish coast, when the captain claims she was 60 miles from land. But for all this, Captain "Sol" is the same cheerful skipper of old. He has still great faith in the auto-trawl, which he first

DISCOVERY THAT IS BENEFITING THE WHOLE WORLD CANADIAN PHYSICIAN MADE IT WONDERFUL NEW SUBSTANCE FORMED BY COMBINING FRUIT JUICES

It takes Canada to do the really big things that are being done. For thousands of years, people have known that fruit was good for them without knowing exactly why. A Canadian physician experimented until he found out. Fruit juice is about nine-tenths water and one-tenth solid matter. And this solid matter is eight-ninths sweet and one-ninth bitter. It is the bitter principle that is the curative part of fruit. To get the full benefit of fruit, one must eat great quantities of fresh fruit. By the discovery of this Canadian physician, the bitter or curative part of fruit juice is so combined that it is made to grow or increase in many words, a stronger fruit juice is created. This is made in Canada under the name of "Fruit-a-tives." "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that cures Constipation. JAMES PROUDFOOT, Esq., of Yankleek Hill, Ont., says, "If it were not for 'Fruit-a-tives' I am satisfied I could not live."

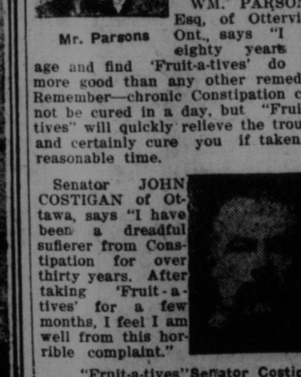

Mr. Proudfoot.

Mr. Joubert. "I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and it cured my chronic constipation. I am now in perfect health." Mr. Williston. "I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and it cured my chronic constipation. I am now in perfect health." Mr. Parsons. "I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and it cured my chronic constipation. I am now in perfect health." Miss Fox. "I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and it cured my chronic constipation. I am now in perfect health."

SENATOR POMERENE ILL

Senator JOHN COSTIGAN of Ottawa, Ont., says "I am eighty years of age and find 'Fruit-a-tives' do me more good than any other remedy." Remember—chronic constipation can't be cured in a day, but "Fruit-a-tives" will quickly relieve the trouble and certainly cure you if taken a reasonable time.

FOREIGN STENOGRAPHER TAKES DICTATION IN MANY TONGUES IN NEW YORK CITY

(New York Sun.) While fifty thousand or more stenographers find regular employment in this city in all manner of business and professional work in English, there are also hundreds of stenographers who as regularly take dictation in German, Spanish, French, Italian, Portuguese, and other foreign languages. Of the 50,000 taking in English the majority are women and girls, of those taking in foreign tongues the great majority are men, though there may be some women employed in this and in the kindred work of translation. The stenographers who take dictation in foreign languages are employed in the offices of exporters and importers and by banks, manufacturers, shipping merchants, contractors and various concerns having business relations with foreign countries. Besides taking from dictation and writing out the foreign letters the stenographer in a foreign tongue makes the translations of foreign letters received. Practically he handles the foreign correspondence. The house with which the foreign stenographer works may have business relations with a single foreign country only or perhaps with various countries that all speak the same tongue. In such a case a foreign stenographer is proficient in that foreign language only as well as in English sufficient to read and write. In some cases dealing with many foreign countries speaking various languages and stenographers may be required for all these. These are foreign stenographers who can take in three or four languages, so that in some cases they might be found a man who could attend to all the foreign correspondence; but where a big concern's wants were more varied all there might be needed more than one foreign stenographer, a number sufficient to fill the requirements of the firm's foreign correspondence as well as stenographers in English. Many of the large importing houses here are American in origin and reared in the foreign country with which this house principally does business or it may have here as a partner or a manager an American who has long resided in the foreign country as this concern's representative and who is therefore familiar with its people and its language. Thus it comes about that in this English speaking city in whatever offices foreign stenographers are required there is always somebody, partner or manager, who, either by his own knowledge of the language or by thorough acquaintance with it acquired by long residence abroad in the foreign language required. Of the stenographers themselves who here take dictation in foreign tongues 90 per cent. came from the several countries whose language they take. Something more than a reading or translating knowledge is required. To take a language stenographically one must have a close, intimate knowledge of it, such a knowledge as would most commonly be associated with its native acquisition. Aside from those brought here by foreign business concerns, many branch houses established here just as stenographers come here just as men, professional men, might come, because they want to, attracted by the country. Here they may seek work personally or they may register at an agency supplying stenographers. On one day lately there was received at the employment department of a typewriter concern an application for work as a stenographer by a young man from Vienna who was familiar with three or four European languages and an application by a young woman from the Hawaiian Islands, who was familiar with the Hawaiian language. For the young man from Vienna a place was found at once in a large European importing house and no doubt a place where his knowledge will be useful will be found for the young woman. Among the foreign writing stenographers employed in New York the greatest number are required to take dictation in German, and next to them about equally divided in knowledge will be useful will be found for the young woman.

CELEBRATION OF JEWISH NEW YEAR

The observance of the beginning of the year 5672 of the Jewish era, which will be celebrated with special services in all the temples and synagogues throughout the world began last evening and will continue all day today. In the Hazen avenue synagogue the services, which were conducted by Rabbi Andur, commenced at 6 o'clock last evening. Today a service will be held in the morning from 6 o'clock until noon, and another service will be held at 6 o'clock in the evening. Services will be held on Sunday at 6 o'clock a. m. and at 4 p. m. The Hazen avenue synagogue will also hold services during this period. The synagogues in St. John are the only ones in the province of New Brunswick, and Hebrews from all parts of the province arrived in the city yesterday to take part in the observance in order to provide some of those who cannot come to this city, a place of meeting has been arranged for in Moncton, and services will be held there. The number coming to St. John this year is larger than ever, and the synagogues were crowded almost beyond their capacity.

MEDICINE FREE.

If we fail to relieve your kidney disease, we will pay for the medicine. The kidneys are rightly placed among the vital organs of the human body, and in order for a person to enjoy perfect health, it is necessary that their action be proper and prompt. Rexall Kidney Pills are intended for the treatment of more or less chronic kidney ailments, and have been used with such success that we unhesitatingly offer them to you under the above conditions. These pills are usually very prompt in beneficial effects and, as a rule the patient finds that it is not necessary to be continually dosing himself. Sixty pills in a box; price, 50 cents. Sold only at our Store—The Rexall Store—Wasson's, 100 King Street.

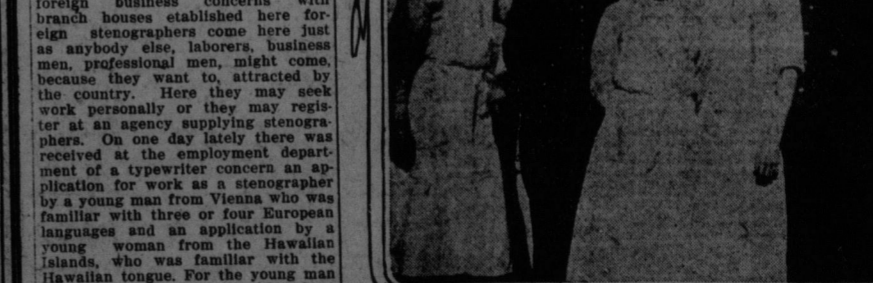

TO SOLEMNIZE MARRIAGE.

Rev. William Smith, of Gagetown, has been registered to solemnize marriage. Church Parade. No. 5 Battery 3rd N. E. Heavy Brigade will assemble at their armory, West Side, on Sunday morning, Sept. 24, at 9:45 sharp, for the purpose of parading for divine service to St. Jude's church. Helmets will be worn. Members of other batteries are invited. J. T. McDoon, Capt.

THE WORK OF RESTORATION ON THE FREDERICKTON CATHEDRAL IS PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY AND IT IS EXPECTED THAT IN A SHORT TIME THE CONGREGATION WILL BE ABLE TO MEET IN THE BUILDING FOR WORSHIP.

13 COLLEGIANS WORK WAY ACROSS OCEAN AS STEWARDS.

STUDENTS STEWARDS ABOARD THE ADRIATIC.

University students, thirteen in number, served as stewards to work their way back to the United States on board the Adriatic, of the White Star line, which arrived at New York a few days ago. They went abroad for an educational jaunt. The plans of several to return enthroned in a cabin were thwarted by the strike in London. The students said they enjoyed their trip on the Adriatic. The captain said they were conscientious workmen.

AN INFANT'S wardrobe about as warm, but at the same time as light as possible, first of baby's account, and then for that of the mother or nurse. The first for baby should include six fine flannel bands, with the edges finished with the finest stitching. Some mothers kind the edges of bands, and some hem them; but neither, as the skin of every infant is exceedingly tender and will show marks even of machine stitching and be light; therefore the preference for flannel. Four fine woolen or silk-wool shirts are enough for the first year of baby's life. When washed, they be dried on a wooden stretcher for purpose, or else they will shrink badly; it will be impossible to get on. Four little night dresses, made of fine quality of English long-clothes muslin, come next on the list. These in the simplest manner possible, just shirred in at the neck and with the bottom finished with a hem. Six sturdy slips can be made of muslin. They must be laundered frequently for absolute cleanliness. For where infants are concerned, make these slips very plain, with armholes and plenty of room for the hand to slip through. Baby Pillow and Carriage Strap

The pillow.

SOMETHING for the baby this time. If there isn't any royal baby-ships in your house, some one of your friends is blessed and will appreciate a gift of this set, or either the pillow or strap.

The baby pillow is always acceptable, for it can be used in the house when the little one is resting or "on show," or it can be placed in the baby coach when the daily walk is in progress.

I have had the two designs made to match each other and the work reduced as much as possible. Don't you like the combination of flowers and the bow-knot?

The pillow can be made perfectly straight by pulling the threads of fine handkerchief linen or batiste along the outer edge. If you wish, you can allow for a line of durable hemstitching above a flat two-inch hem. The back will be the same size as that of the front, and it, of course, will be plain. The flaps can be buttoned together with tiny pearl or washable buttons and buttonholes. Otherwise you can make it a regular pillowcase, open at one end. A pretty plain hemstitched ruffle is a good finish for the pillow.

When working the flowers pad the petals lengthwise and work solid in the opposite direction. If you will alternate solid work with eyelet work in the little circles or flowers around the bow-knot, you will find that there is a charming result. The eyelets can again be used on the dots on the pillow, and the leaves you will work solid.

I have had shown three bows with different ways of filling in the ribbon. First, there is the solid work, which is put on over padding in darning cotton. Another is an outline of the loops and ends, whipped into a heavy cord after outline stitches are used. Fill in the bow in either of the two ways shown—the French knots or the seed stitches, which are tiny back stitches. Both of these methods are easy and quick and extremely effective.

The cover for the carriage strap should be worked on linen of medium weight, and should have a back also. These two should be sewed together after completion. Work the flowers in the same way that you did those on the pillow and pad the scallops on the edge; then work in buttonhole stitches. Buttonhole the vertical slits at each end and pass the strap through these openings.

The pillow and the strap cover make a charming gift, and you will never regret spending a little time and a very little money on such a satisfactory piece of needlework.

Three ways to work bowknots.

THE BABY'S WARDROBE

AN INFANT'S wardrobe should be warm, but at the same time as light as possible, first on the baby's account, and then for the sake of the mother or nurse. The first outfit for baby should include six fine French flannel bands, with the edges pinked. Some mothers bind the edges of baby's bands, and some hem them; but this is unwise, as the skin of every infant is exceedingly tender and will show the marks even of machine stitching if the band is tight; therefore the preference is for pinking.

Four little night dresses, made from a fine quality of English longcloth or muslin, come next on the list. Make these in the simplest manner possible, just altered in at the neck and wrists, with the bottom finished with a deep hem.

Six everyday slips can be made of the same material. They must be laundered frequently, for absolute cleanliness is imperative where infants are concerned. Make these slips very plain, with wide armholes and plenty of room for the little hand to slip through. Trim with a dainty lace rill about the neck and edging the sleeves. A yoke of fine tucking can be used, but do not put much work on these slips; keep them plain.

Two more elaborate dresses may be provided, if desired. Make them of very fine cambric or muslin and trim with fine lace insertion, feather-stitching or hand embroidery. Hand-run tucks can trim the skirts above the deep hem. Three flannel petticoats will be plenty at first, for, with the best of care, they shrink when washed; besides, baby grows fast, and will soon have to have new ones.

A pretty, long wrapper is a necessity. This can be made of fine nun's veiling, flannel or china silk, lined with wadding.

Cream, pale pink and pale blue are suitable colors. This must be ample in size, with loose-fitting sleeves and wide at the waistbands. This rule should apply to all of baby's frocks, for tiny hands grow quickly, and fingers get tangled in wristbands that are too tight.

Trim the wrapper with fine embroidery. A lace rill can edge a flat, round collar and also the sleeves.

Four dozen diapers will not be too many, and four to six pairs of booties must be provided.

The christening robe may be as elaborate as the mother pleases, but it must be dainty as well.

The shortening of all long dresses can be made when the baby is 6 months old if the weather is mild and there is no danger of the child taking cold.

Run the hems in by hand; then, if it be necessary to lengthen them, it can easily be done.

A coat of the finest French flannel is the most approved outer garment. Trim in the simplest possible way, with silk braids or fine lace. A shoulder cape is usually desirable; this can be trimmed with rows of silk braid or ribbon.

Lace the coat with china silk or soft messaline.

Make it with a little square yoke on which the body is pleated and the sleeves attached. Feather-stitch the cuffs, and finish the neck without a collar, simply using the shoulder cape. Blind embroidery is one of the prettiest ways of trimming a coat, and a dainty finish is a hemstitched frill of the finest lawn.

Baby's first cap is usually of silk, but a cobwebby handkerchief, shaped to cover the cap lining of this china silk, is exceedingly pretty.

Once the little silk cap is made, the mother's taste and ingenuity will suggest the application of the handkerchief. The turned-back Dutch flap is always attractive, and is becoming to most baby faces.

These little bonnets are no trouble to arrange, and a fresh one is possible at all times. It can be tacked in several places to the lining with just a few stitches, so that it is easily detached when it is necessary to wash.

A little sacque of flannel is also a necessity. It can be made over a loose kimono pattern and trimmed with feather-stitching in a delicate colored silk.

A carriage strap

THREE WAYS TO TRANSFER THE IMPRESSION

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "wind-up" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty. Surely the way is easy.

HANDKERCHIEF NOVELTIES

HAVE you ever tried to see what can be done with a handkerchief? These little squares of linen, hemstitched, embroidered or lace edged, can with a little ingenuity be made up into many beautiful and useful things.

First there is the dainty sachet that is made of a bit of delicate-colored satin covering several layers of cotton wadding and scented with rose or violet. Ascertain the size of the handkerchief when folded twice to form a square, and cut the satin in an oblong double that size or two squares the exact size. Turn in the edges, line with the cotton and sachet powder and whip the edges over with fine silk.

Fold the handkerchief so the corners will meet in the center, lay the satin square inside and tuck the corners of the handkerchief together, running the thread all the way through, and at this joining point sew on a pretty bow of ribbon matching the satin.

Another attractive way is to fold a lace-edged handkerchief over, straight on itself, so it will lap three-quarters of its size, and sew the lapped edges together. Make a satin or silk covered pad, lined with cotton and thickly sprinkled with sachet powder, the size of the pocket formed and slip it in. Now fold over the loose portion as you would the flap of an oblong envelope and fasten it down by tying inch-wide ribbon around each end.

Such a pocket sachet can be used for a handkerchief or glove case if it be made of a man's size handkerchief. If designed for a gift, embroider the monogram or initial on the overlapping edge and fasten with small pearl buttons or flat glove clasps under a bow of ribbon.

A pretty pad and sachet to slip inside the front of the corset can be made by folding an eight-inch square handkerchief over so it will form a triangle. Make a pad of silk or linen a trifle smaller than this triangle and cover it with the handkerchief, catching the edges together in several places. If the handkerchief is lace edged, run a little frill of the same lace across the top of the pad. An advantage in one of these pads is that as soon as it becomes soiled you can take the handkerchief off and have it laundered, using another one to cover the pad in the meanwhile.

An embroidered and lace-trimmed handkerchief makes a very pretty cushion top. This can be put on with pins and easily taken off to launder.

To make a fancy workbag, lay two handkerchiefs (one a size) together and sew two joining edges together and four inches of the other two edges, folding back the two loose corners and fastening them down with ribbon bows, embroidered colaspots or an initial on the corners and a dainty blossom or bow-knot on the other.

Buttonhole around four small brass rings with white linen thread and attach one to each corner of the opening of the bag and use muslin between on both sides. Run ribbon through the rings and draw the bag up with this.

Pretty little work aprons are made from handkerchiefs.

Lay the top edge in several small pleats, bringing it into a space twelve inches long, and attach ribbons to each side with which to tie it about the waist.

Another way is to cut off one corner, hem the edge or bind it with ribbon that is long enough for strings and use the triangular corner for a patch pocket.

Workbags of bandana handkerchiefs are also pretty.

Dustcaps are made from large-sized handkerchiefs by gathering up each corner into a little twist or padded knot. Another way is to fold back each corner and tuck it tight. Now run a casing all the way around one inch from the edge and put a fine elastic or narrow piece of ribbon through this and draw it up to fit the head.

If the bandana is a large size, two of them sewed together make attractive sofa cushion covers.

Safe Beanbags

MOTHERS who make their children beanbags—small, square bags, filled with beans or corn—will find them dangerous if they should break while being thrown about in play and the corn or beans fly in the children's faces, sometimes injuring the little ones' eyes.

A safe bag can be made of pretty cretonne or flowered chamois, filled with oatmeal, cornmeal or sawdust; this would not harm any one if it should break.

These play bags are pretty if cut circular instead of square. They are a little more difficult for tiny hands to catch and add zest to the game.

AROUND THE CITY

Mr. White Improving. Frank White was reported to be improving last evening.

A Fine Moose Head.

F. P. Johnston, of this city, was lucky enough this week to bring out the best moosehead so far this season. It is beautifully balanced, has a spread of fifty inches, and is being mounted by W. H. Carnall.

Sunday Meeting in Y. M. C. A.

The Sunday morning meetings of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department will start tomorrow. The meeting will open at 10 o'clock and will be addressed by A. B. Ribley, the new secretary for boys. Any boy in the city is welcome.

Will Attend Railway Convention.

P. C. Sharkey and Wm. Howard have been appointed delegates to attend the general convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, to be held at Toronto, Oct. 17. They will be accompanied by W. N. Collins the grand warden.

Men and Religion.

Tomorrow is being observed throughout the Dominion as a special rally day in connection with the Men and Religion Forward Movement. This movement is spreading rapidly over Canada and the United States, and has the praiseworthy object of educating men and boys to take a more active part in church life. References will be made to this subject in the city pulpits tomorrow, and the Y. M. C. A. will hold a special meeting in their rooms at 4 p. m. to which all men are cordially invited.

A Childish Action.

B. R. Macaulay, the King street merchant, who up to 1896 was an ardent supporter of the Conservative government, but who experienced a change of heart shortly after the Laurier government came into power, was on Thursday guilty of a childish act. When the election of Dr. Pugsley was conceded and Dr. Daniel's election was in doubt, Mr. Macaulay entered the St. Andrew's rink shortly after six o'clock and called for cheers for Pugsley. It can be understood that a strong but ignorant partisan might indulge in this method of expressing his feelings in the opposition headquarters, but when a prominent citizen acts in such a manner it is mere childishness.

Presentation in The Y. M. C. A.

A number of the workers and members of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department met last evening in the Y. M. C. A., and sprung a surprise on John McKinnon, the popular school teacher and boys' worker, who will leave shortly to take up his studies at Acadia University. During the evening a complete set of the Everyman's Library with the good wishes of those present, was presented to Mr. McKinnon who made a suitable reply expressing his thanks and appreciation of the gift. Mr. McKinnon will take with him to Wolfville the good wishes of a host of friends, who although they will regret his departure from the city, will wish him the best of success in his work.

WANT COURT HOUSE SITE FOR A HOTEL

English Syndicate Negotiating for Purchase of Civic and Municipal Property in Centre of City.

Representatives of an English syndicate which proposes to erect a large hotel in St. John held a conference with a civic committee with a view to acquiring possession of the court house and adjoining properties. It is understood that the syndicate which wants to purchase the site for a large hotel is composed of the same parties who have acquired an option to purchase the Greenhead lots from the city, and who propose to make arrangements for the establishment of a large cement plant there. One of the members of the syndicate is said to be a lady of title who visited St. John some months ago, and has already invested considerable money in real estate here.

In addition to the court house, the syndicate is anxious to secure all the public property in the vicinity, including No. 2 engine house, the jail, the police station, the hook and ladder station and the vacant lot at the corner of King street East and Carleton street. It is understood that the syndicate has offered a good price for the properties sought, but whether the city and municipality will sell depends on their ability to secure another suitable site for public buildings. There has been for some years considerable discussion as to the need of building a new court house, but nothing has been done. It is said the syndicate have selected the site as the most suitable in the city for the erection of a first class hotel.

THREE FIRES LAST EVENING; FIRE-BUG ARRESTED AT ONE

Blaze on Munson Liner Nancy Lee Did Much Damage to Hay Cargo - Slight Fires in Simms' Brush Factory and in Brussels Street House - Alleged Incendiary Arrested.

A call for the fire department to three places simultaneously, coupled with the arrest of a supposed firebug furnished plenty of excitement last evening to offset the calm which followed the election demonstration in the city.

It does not often occur in St. John that the apparatus is called into action in three different parts of the city at the same time, but last evening proved the exception, and the fire fighters spent a strenuous night while one of the fires was checked before it had done much damage, the other two might have proved more serious but for the prompt and persistent efforts of the department.

The first alarm was rung in from box 41 for a fire which had broken out in the hold of the steamer Nancy Lee. When the department arrived on the scene volumes of flame were shooting from the hold of the steamer where hay and other cargo was stored.

The Munson steamer Nancy Lee is consigned to Wm. Thomson & Co. took fire while loading hay for Hannah at the Corporation sheds. The blaze was discovered at 9:15 o'clock and an alarm was immediately rung in. The fire department responded, and found that the fire had taken considerable hold between the bulkheads at hatch No. 1.

It is said the fire originated through the explosion of a lamp in the hold. When the firemen arrived the flames were leaping out of the hatch and ventilators and the great volume of smoke from the burning hay made it difficult to get the fire under control. Several streams were turned into the hold by the city firemen and in a short time the tug Kitchener came alongside and assisted them with a number of streams.

After a hard fight during which the firemen suffered a good deal from smoke, the blaze was subdued, and the longshoremen got to work taking out the hay. As the fire still smouldered in the hold, making a great smoke, this was a tough job. Now taken out the fire would burst into a blaze, and the firemen had to stand by with their streams ready till an early hour this morning.

Two Other Fires. Shortly after midnight an alarm from box 13 called the firemen to the ship where was discovered the ship was nearly loaded. She was scheduled to sail about midnight. In the hold where the fire occurred there were about 20,000 feet of lumber, 140 barrels of potatoes, and 100 tons of hay. It is estimated that the damage will amount to $17,000, which is fully covered by insurance. All the damaged cargo will be taken out, but it is expected the steamer will be able to sail some time tonight.

While the apparatus was at work at Simms' a third call was sent from a house formerly owned by James Mc-Box 14 for a fire at 78 Brussels street. On arriving at the scene of the third fire smoke was discovered issuing from the basement of the house. After the stream had been played on the flames for a short time, the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Alleged Fire Bug Arrested. Persistent talk of incendiarism led to the arrest of Thomas Campbell, on suspicion of setting the fire. After his arrest he gave Cole's Island as his residence.

Campbell had been seen loitering in the hallway of the house where the fire occurred. One of the occupants of the house discovering smoke issuing from the basement, raised a window to give the alarm and the man disappearing over a fence in the rear of the house.

After the fire had been extinguished, Campbell who was among the crowd, was given in charge by one of the occupants of the house who identified him as the man who had been loitering in the hallway during the evening. He was placed under arrest by Officers McCollum and Crawford, and taken to the lockup on Brussels street, where he was retained on the charge of setting the fire.

While the successful Conservative candidates were busy acknowledging congratulatory messages yesterday on their success, and the greater success of the party in the election contest of Thursday, there were also a number of messages and gifts of a humorous or satirical nature. It was reported that gifts of crepe and black mourning gloves had been made to the Editors of the Telegraph and Times, and that several of the Liberal ward heeled in the city were similarly remembered.

Two messages which may be of interest were received by The Standard as follows: Richibucto, Sept. 22. Did Mr. Pugsley hear anything drop that sounded like a sawdust wharf? R. O'LEARY, Amherst, Sept. 22. Is Slippery William still Liberal? Reported here he is a staunch Conservative this morning.

In reference to Mr. Wheaton's question no statement on this point has yet been received from Mr. Pugsley.

PERSONAL. Frank M. Smith left yesterday for Sackville where he will enter upon his senior year at the University of Mt. Allison. Miss Marion Maxwell, graduate nurse, Oshington, N. Y. Hospital, arrived in the city yesterday from New York on a visit to her parents, North End. Captain and Mrs. Holmes, have returned to the city from their summer residence, Fairy Dell. Many will be pleased to see them back again. Miss M. H. Anderson left last evening for Apperast, N. S., to spend a two weeks' vacation with Mrs. R. E. Sharpe.

To Saturday Shoppers. Saturday shoppers should read Mr. Skinner's advertisement on page two. St. John Business College. The elections are over just in time to get ready for the evening classes beginning Monday, Oct. 2nd.

Bituminous Coal. In the Maritime Provinces where so much bituminous or soft coal is used great difficulty is found in keeping the chimney free from soot. The foul condition of the stove covers and stove pipe will speedily convince you what an accumulation is in your chimney when you think how long ago since it was cleaned, can you expect to heat your house and get the benefit you should from the coal you consume under these conditions? Save your coal and get all that's coming to you from its consumption by putting in a Universal Chimney-Cleaner. Send your order to 3 Market Square, St. John, N. B. Phone M. 1217.
