LUMBER CUT ON RESTIGOUCHE

Conservative Estimate Places Season's Cut At Eighty Million.

Between 75 and 80 million feet is the conservative estimate of lumber cut which is expected this season as a result of lumber operations along the Restigouche and Miramichi extending into the province of Quebec, made by a lumber operator from Campbellton in this district.

The cut even at present indications will be three times as great as the cut made last season, when only between 25 and 30 million feet of lumber was taken out. It was also stated that in estimating the probable cut this year as between 75 and 80 million, this was a conservative estimate and that it was possible that these figures would be exceeded almost to the hundred million mark.

Owing to the hesitancy of the lumber companies and operators until the stumpage rates had been definitely settled, preparations for the season's work have been considerably held up and a later start made.

Shipping from our local port has commenced to slacken off but some car situation is holding on. The present car situation is holding up shipments to a considerable extent but the market is much more favorable than it has been for some months past.

TRACE ROBBERS TO U. S. BOUNDARY

York County Authorities Fail to Get Them After Summer Cottage Break.

Sheriff J. B. Hawthorn, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Fraser Saunders, returned to the city yesterday after having followed the trail of three men and a woman along the Woodstock Road to the boundary line where the fugitives, who are suspected of having broken into the summer cottage of Joseph P. McPeake on Wednesday of last week when practically all of the personal effects of Mr. and Mrs. McPeake, valued at $300, were stolen.

Acting on information received from children at Springhill who had observed a party of "filkers" bound in the direction of Woodstock and chased discovered near the cottage, Sheriff Hawthorn and Deputy Sheriff Saunders followed up the trail yesterday to the boundary where three men and a woman had crossed the line on Friday.

The party had been noticed along the road at various points and a camera which was being carried by one of the members tallied with the description of a camera stolen from the McPeake cottage. It is also believed that this party may have been responsible for the theft of a horse and wagon from Murray Estey of Kingsclear which were later found deserted at the Barony on Wednesday night following the robbery of the cottage.

SCHOOL FAIR AT CHATHAM WAS A SUCCESS

Chatham's Annual School Fair Held in Conjunction With County Exhibition.

The Annual School Fair was held in connection with the County Exhibition at Chatham.

The Fair was well organized and reflects great credit on those in charge.

Miss Nellie Stohart of the Grammar School and Mr. Goggin, Manual Training Instructor, co-operating with Principal Hattie and the other teachers took responsibility for the management of the Fair.

A vast step in advance was made this year in that committees from the various grades were appointed to look after certain pieces in the work of putting up the exhibits. This helped to distribute the labor and proved a valuable exercise for the boys and girls.

All the exhibits were of excellent quality, especially the sections of beads and carrels, also the different work.

The prizes were awarded by A. C. Gosham, Director of Elementary Agriculture for New Brunswick, who complimented the boys and girls on the very fine show they had made and pointed out the educational value of all these exercises leading up to and brought out through the school fair.

THE BATHURST PAPER MILL

First of Its Kind in the Maritime Provinces—Capacity 100 Tons a Day.

Bathurst's new paper mill, for the manufacture of newsprint, will be the first of the kind in the Maritime Provinces.

It will be the largest of a series of paper mills in various parts of New Brunswick, revolutionizing the lumber industry of the Province.

The lumber industry, as carried on by the past full century or more, has reached its high water mark, and the exportation of lumber in the rough, or raw state, is now on ebb tide and before many years there will be little doing along this line.

Instead of that, a great paper mill industry will have grown up in New Brunswick, adding materially to the labor and capital wealth of the Province.

The new paper mill will manufacture news print and have a total capacity of 100 tons per day. That will require two shagbines. Only one machine will be operated at the start, but it is the intention to operate two machines just as soon as they have established a market for their output. They will commence with 50 tons per day.

The main machine room will be 90 x 300 feet, and will be 30 feet high. The shipping room will be 100 x 250 feet and the grinder and screen room 100 x 250 feet.

The new buildings will be of steel and concrete, making them absolutely fire proof. The work of construction will be carried on by the Bathurst Company itself, under experts from outside in the various kinds of engineering and construction work.

The lumber industry of the Province so far as the saw mill end of it is concerned has reached its high water mark and the tide is now receding and will continue to ebb rapidly until there is little or no incoming tide in that direction. That will, of course, have its disadvantages, and there is no occasion for despair. The pulp and paper mills will be the backbone of the lumber business in the near future and will replace lumber mills of the country to a very large extent.

Under the present conditions, the manufacture of lumber will be practically eliminated. Pulp and paper plants will be able to utilize every part of a tree down to a three inch top, and in addition to that the expenditure for labor will be fully three times as much in manufacturing one thousand feet of timber into paper than one thousand feet manufactured into lumber.

PROHIBITION SOON IN GREAT BRITAIN

Outlook Forecasts Waging of Energetic Liquor Campaign.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Assurances that the campaign against the liquor traffic in Great Britain will be waged in an energetic manner until the temperance forces have made as big advances as they have made in Canada, were given to the Methodist General Conference to-night by Rev. J. Alfred Sharp, fraternal delegate, from the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Great Britain, who at the same time declared that the Mother Church in the Old Land has rushed the stage where it has to use as its example of progress the achievements of the younger church in Canada.

In passing, Rev. Mr. Sharp admitted that he was one of the leaders in taking up the temperance movement overseas at a time when it seemed like a lost cause, and he informed the General Superintendent that the next time he goes to England he will probably find the beer all gone. Temperance work in England, he declared, was never before so active as it is to-day, and Rev. Mr. Sharp was proud of the part which he had been able to give to the movement.

"At the same time," he added, "we in England cannot express to you in Canada the indebtedness which we owe to the example which has been set to us. The time is coming when all the beer will be gone, though that may be the millennium."

FATHER KILLS BABES AND SELF

Rochester Man Drowns Three Children in Bath Tub Then Shoots Himself.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The bodies of a father and his three children today are lying side by side in an undertaking establishment here, victims of a tragedy in this city late last night.

The children, Ethelyn, 5, Grace, 2 and Russel Wheeler, 6 months, were drowned in a bath tub at their home by the father, William E. Wheeler, who after witnessing life pass from the little ones, fired a bullet into his own brain.

Dependency because of inability to obtain employment was responsible for the crime, police said.

The contents told of the act of her husband and gave instructions as to the disposition of his remains and the furniture in the house.

Mrs. Wheeler, who swooned after the bathroom door was broken down by a boarder, today told the police when she left the home her husband appeared to be in excellent spirits. The children at that time were in bed, when she failed to find them in their respective beds she began a search which revealed the tragedy.

The children were found clasped in each other's arms in the bottom of the tub which was half filled with water. The father hung over the edge of the tub, still clutching the pistol in his hand from which he fired the fatal shot.

ARMISTICE DAY

SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Reuben Dickie, age 35, who has been night clerk at the Campbellton Post Office, and Patrick Doyle, an elopement up for trial at the November term of the Restigouche County Court under a charge of stealing from His Majesty's mails. Their preliminary examination was held on Thursday and Friday of last week before Justice of the Peace A. McG. MacDonald. It is said both of the accused who deny any knowledge of the shortage at the post office have engaged H. A. Powell of St. John to defend them when their case will come up.—Tribune.

Dickie secured bail today in the amount of $4000.

MAN THROWN UPON A SAW

Harry Masin's Leg Was Torn Mangled in Accident At Oromocto Mill.

Harry Masin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asor Masin, of Scully street, had his left leg badly lacerated and mangled on Saturday afternoon while at work in the River Valley Lumber Company's mill at Oromocto, and is at the Fraser Memorial Hospital, where an amputation operation will be performed just as soon as he recovers sufficiently from the shock and loss of blood.

Mr. Masin was the engineer at the mill and on Saturday afternoon, after sawing operations had been finished for the day and the carriage stopped, he stepped on the carriage. The sawyer did not notice the unfortunate man and started the carriage up, with the result that he could not escape in time and his body came in contact with the carriage with the result that it was frightfully mangled and lacerated.

As soon as possible the machinery was stopped, Mr. Masin taken from the carriage and medical aid summoned. Everything possible was done to alleviate his sufferings, and he was brought to the hospital, where it was found it was impossible to operate on account of his weakened condition.

At the hospital today it was said his condition was fairly good and that he was resting as comfortably as could be expected.

MINERS ORDERED TO RESUME WORK

Chairman of Australian Coal Mining Tribunal Takes Drastic Action.

London, Oct. 11.—Reuter's Sydney correspondent cables that the chairman of the Australia coal mining tribunal has ordered the south coast miners to resume work today, and the proprietors have the mines open for resumption of work.

Recently the miners took a day off as a protest against the delay in carrying out certain improvements in the mines for the benefit of the workers, and the proprietors, as a measure of retaliation, closed down pending formal assurance from the men that there would be no more interruptions to operations.

SLEUTH ATTACKED IN NEW JERSEY

Detective on Hall-Mills Murder Case Accused of Frame Up and Mobbed.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 11.—Frank P. Kirby, a Middlesex county detective, credited with having obtained the statement from Raymon Schneider on which Clifford Hayes, 19 years old, was charged with the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, was attacked by a group of indignant citizens here early today.

Bombarded with bricks, Kirby escaped unhurt by locking himself in the baggage room of the New Brunswick Pennsylvania station. Later he was surrounded by armed policemen in uniform, and escorted to police headquarters, while the crowd which had shown its resentment over the arrest of Hayes dispersed.

Men at Station

Kirby was met by a group of citizens as he emerged from the Pennsylvania station on his return from Somerville, where he had sought unsuccessfully to obtain a confession from Hayes.

Member of the crowd protested against the arrest of Hayes, declaring they considered it a "frame up" to quiet the indignation of citizens and soothe an aroused governor, by making it appear that the mystery had been cleared.

A Bloodstained Basket

The authorities today turned their attention to investigating an apparently well informed report that a bloodstained basket which was seen near the bodies of the slain rector and his choir leader on the day that they were discovered had disappeared. Four persons, it was said, saw this basket a few hundred feet from the bodies. The basket, which was made of wood, was filled with rags and papers. Some of the papers bore large splashes of what appeared to be blood; it was asserted.

During the excitement incident to the discovery of the crime the basket disappeared.

Announcement was made today that a committee of well known citizens in the sixth ward, where Clifford Hayes lived, would hold a "tag day" on Saturday for the purpose of raising funds for his legal defence.

POLICE EXPLAIN DEATH OF CROOK

Drug Addict Released From Jail When Heroin Cland Him As Victim.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 7.—A clerk in the office of the Court of the King's Bench yesterday opened a letter register and wrote "Fountain's deceased" in the last copy in the St. Denis street drug tragedy that sent the 19-year-old addict, Alfred Fountain, to his death, and "Young Fountain, 20-year-old motherless girl to the penitentiary for five years for manslaughter."

"Dead," wrote the clerk on a thick court docket marked "Joseph Fountain—deceased on the person." Weeks of investigation have determined that Joseph Fountain, charged as a pick-pocket, was Alfred Fountain's drug addict.

The cold black and white of the soap-looking dossier revealed, too, that the lad, hauled at last from Bordeaux jail on a Friday night to give evidence in a murder trial on the following Thursday, was lured by his craving for drugs to the St. Denis street drug party.

He was dead on the Tuesday—four days after leaving jail, and 36 hours before he was to testify in the Court of King's Bench in an effort to save his young friend, Wilfrid St. Onge, who is charged with the murder of Nester Gappulovitch, Clarke street cov-er, on the night of April 1.

Awaiting Trial.

Fountain, under the name of "Joseph," was arrested early in June with a young fellow and a girl, and all three were charged with pickpocketing, etc. He was arraigned and sent to Bordeaux jail to await trial. Several efforts were made to get him out on bail, but they were unsuccessful.

At that morning 19-year-old St. Onge was fighting the charge against him that he was the one among the gang of three who fired the shot that killed Nester Gappulovitch during an escapade last April. St. Onge was in dire straits; a second member of the gang, Emile Trudeau, had branded him as the one whose shot took fatal effect. He was seeking an alibi. Fountain was the man he was looking for—but Alfred Fountain was his name.

J. Antonin Lepage, counsel for St. Onge, got permission to take the alleged murderer from his cell to a house on St. Denis street and try to find Fountain. He was found in the same jail as St. Onge himself, but under the name of Joseph Fountain.

St. Onge's trial in the Court of King's Bench was set for Thursday, June 29. Mr. Lepage got Fountain out on bail the evening of the previous Friday, June 23; he arranged for Fountain to see St. Onge and himself to

$3,000,000 VAMP SUED BY HEIRS

Brother of "Iron King" Samuel Bliss Sues His Widow Over Inheritance

New York.—A petition to set aside the will of the late Samuel Bliss, founder of the Bliss & Laughlin Steel Co., bequeathing his $3,000,000 estate to his second wife, Mrs. Helen Week Bliss, was filed in the Circuit Court Saturday and opposed until service was obtained.

In the petition filed by attorneys for Edmund Albert Bliss, brother of the steel millionaire, and his son, Ernest W. Bliss, the widow, who was formerly the magazine's private secretary, is emphatically denounced as a social vampyre and parasite and is accused of having preyed upon the millionaire.

The petition contends that the millionaire was insane before he died six months ago at the age of 74 and during the dementia framed the will leaving his entire estate to his widow. She was formerly his secretary, and they were married three years ago. The petition said to be one of the lengthiest documents ever filed in the Circuit Court, was granted by the former Assistant State's Attorney Eugene W. Quinn.

Service was obtained on Mrs. Bliss yesterday at her home, No. 3630 Lake Park Avenue.

The plaintiffs seek to take from the widow the large estate, and ask, in addition, that the marriage be set aside on the ground that the millionaire was insane when he married.

It is charged that the steel man believed that after his death he could continue the direction of his estate from heaven.

The millionaire told his wife, his brother asserts, that he would keep watch over her from beyond the grave and control her management of his estate. She also said, the petition alleges, that she would "insure" any displeasure by a visible sign if she did dissent the alibi.

The lure of the drug was too strong. Early Tuesday evening, that is, June 27, Fountain, already sick, made his way to the St. Denis street house. He pleaded for heroin; Yvonne Proulx refused him. "Never did I think you would refuse a man who is so ill," he pleaded again. Other girls in the room say they saw Yvonne inject the heroin into Fountain's right arm.

At four o'clock Tuesday afternoon Fountain was dead.

PARISIAN THEATRE CHANGES MADE IN EDUCATION PLAN

OWNER ARRESTED Body of Eleven Year Old Girl Found Cut in Thirty Pieces

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Clever deductive reasoning by Paris detectives is believed to have solved one of the most baffling murder mysteries the French capital has known in years.

The case is that of 11-year-old Suzanne Barbault, whose body, cut into 30 pieces, was discovered last week after a month's disappearance, in a tiny storeroom under the stage of a big motion picture theatre.

The police appeared to be baffled to trace the movements of the child after she left a drug store on her way home on the day of her disappearance. The proprietors and employees of the theatre apparently were shown by investigation to be excellent characters, on which to work, the child had been left a drug store on her way home on the day of her disappearance. The police, however, had two facts killed by a mortal blow, and the murderer was acquainted with anatomy. Working on these facts and the probability that the murderer was acquainted with the theatre, detectives commenced to trace the lives of persons who might logically meet the suspected man connected with the theatre. Skillful investigation disclosed the fact that one of the proprietors, named Culliver, had once been a butcher. Further research into Culliver's life, which was exceedingly difficult to trace, showed a number of alleged acts of perversion. The man had escaped from the past and its consequences by fleeing to Paris, where he lost himself to former acquaintances.

In order to hold Culliver till the investigation was completed, the police to-day arrested him on a charge which has been standing against him in Rheims for the past ten years.

Not So Easy.

Not long ago the following advertisement appeared in a newspaper: "The man who found a pocketbook containing money in Bridge street is requested to forward it to the address of the loser as he was recognized. The next day there appeared in the same paper the courteous response: "The recognized person who picked up a pocketbook in Bridge street requests the loser to call at his house at a convenient date."

CHANGES MADE IN EDUCATION PLAN

Ontario Universities Plan Extensive Improvements—To Have Night Courses For Working Public.

Toronto, Responding to the new demands of a new time the three big universities in Ontario are all of them getting under way organization that will enable them to carry their benefits to great masses of the people who are unable to attend their work but are anxious to go on with their education.

For the thousands of young men and women, and their elders as well, Toronto, Queen's and Western will within the next two or three years have developed systems by which any ambitious person may get many of the advantages of a college education and training while still engaged at their own regular occupation and making their living. University extension is to be carried to a point not dreamed of in the past in Ontario.

There is, in some degree, a development arising out of the inquiry which the Ontario government made into the financial condition of the three universities and the findings of its commissioners. There was no fault found with the administration of the universities by the members of the commission in their report but the reports coming from the three big institutions were themselves the chief incentive to the work upon which they are now engaging. It was recognized that all three wanted public support in money but that they were going to receive large measure of public support it was necessary that they should make more contributions to educational life of the province than they had ever made in the past. The result has been that extensive work on a large scale is already in progress and the plans for the future indicate that there will be a growth of activity along this line in the next few years that will revolutionize the old idea of academic life.

Toronto Advances.

Toronto University as the long recognized provincial university, has always had an extension department but in the past its chief activity lay in the

CONSTABLE SHOT DEAD BY NEGRO

Vancouver Constable Killed And Detective Wounded By Negro.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 9.—Constable R. G. McBeath, V.C., of the city police force, was fatally shot, and Detective R. S. Quick, was wounded in the left hand and in head, at an early hour this morning when they attempted to arrest Fred Deal, 30, negro, on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Deal escaped but was apprehended later and charged with murder. A white woman the companion of Deal, is also held. The shooting occurred at the corner of Granville and Davis streets, in the business section of the city. Constable McBeath was shot in the breast and died a few minutes after being admitted to the hospital. He served overseas during the war, winning the Victoria Cross.

Queen's University is developing a rather interesting field in the banking ranks. Recognizing that there were several thousand young men in the employ of the various chartered banks in Canada and that practically all of them need greater knowledge of finance, economics, accounting, etc., Queen's has set itself with vigor to task of meeting their needs and this department of the university's work is now growing by leaps and bounds. As the banking ranks are continually smothering young men and as those already in the service need further and as they go higher in responsibility, it will easily be seen that Queen's has an ever-growing work to plan for. This summer several additions have been made to the staff of this university in order to provide for this work and it is the intention of the authorities to open up a course for aspiring bankers as it is possible.

Attention Paid to Labor.

Toronto has, for quite a number of years, had a very flourishing school of commerce, embracing four years work along cultural and business lines and leading up to a degree. Western is now proceeding along similar lines in its commerce course and last year had a surprisingly large freshman class. This year is enlarging its work and has drawn Prof. Morrow from Queen's to take charge of its business economics. He is being counted upon to develop this work in the future. Western University is also taking a real forward step along the lines of the Workers' Educational Movement and has appointed Mr. R. E. Crouch, a graduate who has been in France on special study for the past year, as organizer, Mr. Crouch, while in France, gave special attention to labor topics and it is expected that he will show himself particularly well fitted to carry on the work that has been assigned to him.

The Ontario government is very strongly behind the idea of the universities going out to the people. The minister of education, Hon. Mr. Grant, has expressed himself strongly on this question on various occasions and is believed to be ready to do more for the universities in proportion as they show an ambition to take the whole community as their real field. This is, of course, in line with the conception of the place of a state university in the educational life of the United States but it is an ideal that has only really been on growing in Ontario of late. Privilege rather than public duty was for a long while the characteristic of the provincial university in Ontario, though that day is happily gone by now.

ENTIRE FAMILY BURIED TOGETHER

Ten Members of Family Buried In a Single Grave After Forest Fire Disaster.

Englehart, Ont., Oct. 10.—With a feeling almost as if the survivors of the disastrous forest fire watched yesterday afternoon the burial of Jack Marshall in the one wide grave with the neighbors he tried to save, the ten members of the Bond family.

This is the only family in the northern town who have been practically a whole family logged into the grave together. Sunday 15-year-old Irene Hensley watched the burial of her father and mother and two brothers. Yesterday afternoon in the same cemetery 20-year-old Edgar Bond saw his father and mother and eight brothers and sisters buried together.

Edgar Bond was saved because he was working at the farm of a neighbor, Abe Burwitz, in Armstrong Township. Desperately, sorely, Edgar tried to reach his family, which was known as one whose sires were particularly devoted to each other, but he was unable to do so.

Illinois Militia on Strike Duty Gets Thrill of War Romance

(By Central Press.)

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 10.—Frank Becker and Theresa Frank were married here but there was no wedding bells pealing out the joyous tidings.

As the groom was not to be denied and as the big day drew near with no prospect of Becker getting back to Chicago why it was simply another case of moving Mohammed to the mountain. A military wedding was planned by officers of Becker's command. After the ceremony the company cook prepared the wedding breakfast and "they lived happily ever after."

CRIME WAVE IS SWEEPING MEXICO

French "Apaches" Have Invaded the Capital—Thousands Become Prey to Their Cunning.

Mexico City, Mexico—A crime wave is sweeping Mexico City. More sensational to Mexico City than anything since the day of the famous automobile, which became the dread of the capital, is the wave of crime and robbery spread over the city by the "Apaches" who have come in numbers. These denizens of the dives of the Montmartre are helped by their "cooyotes," their painted partners of the underworld, who bring the prey into their hands.

Daring and vicious and with uncanny cunning and luck, the Apaches have outwitted the police and have continued their nightly depredations, taking the city by storm.

The woman, artists of artists in feminine wiles and makeup, ply the main thoroughfares and frequent the night cafes. The Mexican youths of means delight in a "good time" and the dazzling French girls inveigle these youths.

After the ceremony the company cook prepared the wedding breakfast and "they lived happily ever after."

CRIME WAVE IS SWEEPING MEXICO

French "Apaches" Have Invaded the Capital—Thousands Become Prey to Their Cunning.

The Apaches have become the talk of the city and of the newspapers. Following up as closely as possible their nightly marauding, one paper carries a daily story of their work which covers a multitude of crimes.

Following the example of the Apaches, scores of young Mexicans have started a campaign of robbery. These nocturnal prowlers, with the blood of the Indian, armed with knife and pistol, without the finesse of the Apache, have killed and wounded more than the notorious French crooks. They work singly or in pairs and recently they have formed cliques which have become the bane of the gendarmerie. In one night recently seven bodies were fought in different sections, each with stab wounds. Many of these "cooyotes," as they are known, find their living by stripping their victims of clothing. There have showed into automobiles, carried to the city limits stripped and abandoned. But the "cooyotes" have not the ability to evade the police as have the "Apaches." They fall into the hands of the police daily and are taken to prison to remain indefinitely. The famous prison of Belon, at present, has more than 1,500 prisoners.

YOUTHFUL MARRIAGES.

The Ontario Provincial Synod of the Anglican Church which was held in London, Ont., a short time ago enjoyed a lengthy discussion of marriage and divorce on the last day of its sessions. But, like too many debates on modern reform, the participants talked a great deal, said very little of importance and got nowhere. Some of the debaters in their enthusiasm made some remarks which led one to conclude that those who uttered them ought to make a closer study of matrimony and its various frills before attempting a lecture on this subject before an intellectual audience.

Some of those present maintained that a boy of eighteen should be encouraged to marry rather than discouraged which, of course, is entirely sensible if the desire to marry is supported by the numerous essentials to a happy union. But that is a question which two enamored minds are not always capable of deciding. Seldom at the age of eighteen are these requisites found in the possession of the contracting parties. The monetary requirements of conjugal life constitute a matter worthy of careful consideration but are not always given due thought by youthful lovers in their precipitous haste to realize their dreams. The falsity of the statement that "two can live as cheap as one" has been proven many times though bitter experience and often to the sorrow of those who have attempted the experiment. But even in cases where the financial circumstances of the aspiring benedict warrant his entrance to the marriage state, there are many other more vital qualifications to be considered. The building of a home and the rearing of a family is a serious enough undertaking for those of mature years with all their accumulated discretion, but for frivolously inclined youth with its tendencies to hot-headed and hasty actions, it is obviously a colossal undertaking for it demands not only an adequate income but will-power, staying-power and rational reasoning on the part of both husband and wife to meet its multitudinous perplexities. This is where youth in its inexperience so often wrecks the matrimonial baroque.

But to return to the speakers at the synod. One gentleman went so far as to make the following fatuous statement: "We had no hesitation in asking our young men of eighteen to shoulder a rifle and attend to any responsibility during the war and I think it would ill become us to prohibit them from setting up a home until they reach the age of twenty-one." Such a statement may be entirely reasonable in essence but nevertheless it is absolutely irrelevant. Shouldering a rifle and rocking a cradle are two vastly different occupations. Many a robust youth of eighteen whose physical prowess easily withstood the strain of long route marches is totally unfit when it comes to the "midnight marathon"—meaning the endless treading of the bed-room carpet with a howling infant on one's shoulder. Between the stress of active military service and the nerve-racking and frequently confounding perplexities and responsibilities of conjugal existence there is a vast discrepancy which can be bridged only by the evolution and development of maturity. At eighteen the normal youth may be endowed with sufficient physical courage to fight a formidable foe but at this age his reasoning is still the product of a youthful mind and totally incapable of coping with serious problems of married life. Of course there are exceptions. We know of a few early unions—which are apparently successful ones. But as in all cases the majority furnishes the verdict. And, as regards this matter, the majority is an overwhelming one. As to setting any definite limitations as to proper time for young men and women to "hitch double" we leave it to a more expert authority on such matters to render decision but our conviction is that the average young man of eighteen summers is not morally or intellectually fitted to assume the grave responsibilities of married life.

It is possible that enduring love may exist in a youthful breast still in its teens but apart from all matters relative to the heart, a permanently happy union depends upon certain intellectual requisites which are seldom found in persons before maturity. Real love is alleged to be a safe foundation upon which to build one's future but many a marriage consummated in youth and its accompanying ignorance has made shipwreck of not only the lives of the contracting parties but also other lives which were a result of the union.

INTELLECTUAL PROGRESS

AND THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

On our way to the office to-day we noticed a number of small boys at play. All were participating in and thoroughly enjoying a childish game. As we watched, our thoughts involuntarily harked back to the days when a similar pastime of even more obvious simplicity would have amused us, and, retrospectively, we reviewed the intervening years and the transition which the natural evolution of passing years had brought about. Childhood whims and habits have been abandoned in the process or pushed into the discard by the exigencies of many interests. Pleasures that once amused the youthful mind now hold no power to lure and life is made worth while because of the very responsibilities from which we sometimes shrink. Then, subconsciously, we found ourselves reflecting on the childlikeness of some grown-up people. How many foolish, wasteful habits some human beings cling to even long after reaching maturity. For instance, many men would consider life unbearable could they not frequently secure a drink of home brew or some other intoxicating liquor. And after all can anything be more childish and foolish than the habitual waste of hard-earned money on beverages which are neither especially delicious or particularly salubrious, and which from time immemorial have invariably entailed detrimental effects on their users.

It seems a deplorable thing that it should be necessary for the government of a country to spend enormous sums of money to induce its citizens to give up the habit of being childish. Nevertheless this is about the sum and substance of prohibition. The majority demanded prohibition and we have—such as it is—yet it is necessary to paw officials to keep the contrary minority from breaking the law or, in other words, from acting like babies.

It has been frequently asserted that the suppression of the liquor traffic is more or less an educational matter. So it is, very largely. When men have developed the cerebral matter which the Creator placed in their craniums to the extent that they can realize how foolish and wasteful is the habit of drinking there will be little need of inspectors to enforce the law of the land. The difficulty however must be contended with, and that is the fact that many pupils are slow to learn. For that reason it has been found necessary to employ such methods as will help to curb the propensities of the liquor men, especially those who are determined to engage in the illicit sale of intoxicants. Hence our three local inspectors who have been engaged to teach liquor men the ethics of prohibition. We are sorry to say that of late they have not been very aggressive. Unless more satisfactory results are forthcoming in the near future it might be well to suggest a change in the "teaching staff."

HEALTH IN VEGETABLES.

They Possess Vitality and Curative Properties.

There would be less gout, gravel, eczema, and scurvy if a greater use was made of the alkaline properties in ordinary green vegetables. Most people neglect this natural corrective to acidity.

The anti-acidic value of green leaves has long been recognized. Uncooked green leaves, lettuce, endive, watercress, and garden cress are all useful blood purifiers and should be eaten all the year round. Cabbage contains very necessary alkaline salts that counteract acidity. These salts are a preventive of skin diseases. Gouty persons should never neglect green vegetables. The mineral matter in greens is chiefly potassium.

Vegetables are less easily digested than meat, and for this reason cabbage should not be allowed to grow old and woody. It is the woody fibre in green vegetables that so often causes indigestion symptoms. A spoonful of dried green vegetables is more valuable than an old big one with a hard heart. Young greens fresh from the ground, well steamed, and slowly and thoroughly chewed, can be eaten with benefit by almost anybody. Among vegetables of the cabbage species cauliflower is "probably the most readily digested."

Spinach, both fresh and dried, is now being used as an item of diet for feeding-up under-nourished children. "This vegetable contains bone-forming as well as growth-promoting material, and though experiments are young it is already claimed that two teaspoonfuls of dried powdered spinach given daily will effect results in increased growth."

Spinach, fresh or dried, is believed to furnish gram for gram as much of the A vitamin as butter, says a writing in "Nutrition" in "Popular Science Monthly." The comparisons were made with dried spinach. It also has the one advantage over butter—that, while there is still controversial opinion as to whether the vitamin value in butter fat is destroyed by heat, spinach remains unshaken.

Another point of interest with regard to the A value of green leaves is that xerophthalmia, the sore-eye disease, was not observed in any animals fed on dried green products. On the other hand, when green leaves of the disease in animals by the administration of the other extracts of alfalfa, clover, grass, or spinach.

Many people never eat cucumbers, possibly because they believe in following the advice of a learned doctor who said that "cucumbers should be removed to a cooler place, soaked in vinegar, and then thrown into the dust-bin." This is somewhat drastic advice, as cucumbers when eaten slowly and in small portions without salt or vinegar, is not only easily digested, but is also very nutritious. Cucumber juice is a "beautifier" of ancient origin, and, when applied to the skin, is said to have a stimulating effect.

Tomatoes for a long time were looked upon with suspicion, but of recent years their true value has been discovered, and they are now cited accordingly. People inclined to be "liverish" would be quickly and effectively benefited by a hearty dish of raw tomatoes, free of condiments of any kind.

It is said by an American doctor that "a slice of tomato, if rubbed briskly on the cheeks, will quickly remove freckles of long standing, stains, and burns; also, its mild acid and cathartic juices help to overcome the causes of obesity."

The Clay Pipe.
 It was the clay pipe which set the tobacco smoking fashion in England about 326 years ago. It is believed that the first American Indian tobacco pipe was taken to England by Ralph Lane, first Governor of Virginia, in 1585. He gave this pipe to Sir Walter Raleigh. The pipe-making industry grew so rapidly in England that in 1619 there was a guild of pipe-makers in London. Clay was the material of which these pipes were made. The clay was pressed into iron molds with a wire through the stem, which was drawn out before baking. The pipes were "dred," but so lightly that the clay remained quite soft and porous.

LeBOEUF-BLAQUIERE.
 A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning in the Church of Our Lady of the Snows when Rev. Father Melanson united in marriage Miss Mary Estella Blaquiere and Thomas Alex. LeBoeuf of Campbellton in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The bride was becomingly dressed in a suit of navy blue serge and hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and ferns. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Delina Blaquiere who wore a navy blue serge suit with hat to match, while Vincent LeBoeuf, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride received many valuable and useful gifts from her many friends who wish them every happiness.

THE CHAUTAUQUA ART DESK—During the past few weeks Miss Loris Fines of Toronto, who is connected with the famous Chautauqua organization, has been making a canvass of the town introducing what is known as the Chautauqua Industrial Art Desk. The desk which is a collapsible contrivance is really an ingenious and most interesting invention, and is now being used very extensively in the United States. Besides being adaptable as a blackboard and writing as desired it is equipped with a revolving roll of sketches on every imaginable educational topic. By this means the student who has a Chautauqua Art Desk is easily enabled to grasp the principles of all the various modern professions as well as to glean a very useful budget of general knowledge.

The desk as we saw it has much to recommend it to parents who are anxious about the advancement of their children as well as those who are engaged in educational work but probably it's most salient and most valuable characteristic is its adaptability to develop the natural trend of the youthful student mind. And this gift hardly be over-rated for a boy or girl must follow that "natural trend" in the choice of a vocation if genuine success is the objective. Too many young people leave school undecided as to what their life work will be. The use of the Industrial Art Desk will help to eliminate this hindrance for it is, on a small scale, a Vocational School for the young.

Miss Fleet who gave us a demonstration of the manifold advantages of the desk, is obviously an intelligent and capable young woman and her employers should feel fortunate at having secured her services.

CULLIGAN—CORMIER—St. Gabriel's Church, Jacquet River was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday, Oct. 10th, when Miss Ethel Harriet Cormier was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Daniel Culligan, of Culligan, N. B. by Rev. J. G. Cormier, cousin of the bride. The bride looked charming in a suit of navy gingham and navy and silver hat and mink scarf. Miss Clara A. Culligan, R. N. of New York, sister of the groom was bridesmaid and wore a blue tulle suit with hat to match. The groom was supported by Mr. James Cormier, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the groom, where a sumptuous breakfast was partaken of. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful string of pearls to the bridesmaid a gold pin with ruby setting and to the groomsmen, gold initial cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Culligan left on the Limited for a trip through the Maritime Provinces and on their return they will reside at Culligan, where the groom is a popular and prosperous young farmer. The community joins in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Culligan a long and happy, wedded life.

ANGLICAN VIEWS ON MATRIMONY

Debater Tells Synod That Boy Old Enough to Fight is Old Enough to Wed

London, Ont., Oct. 2.—Young men of to-day need to be encouraged rather than discouraged in matrimony according to the view held by the majority of the members of the Lower House of the Anglican Synod, which met in session here. The house was divided for some time on the question that eventually refused to endorse the principle of making 21 years the age for young men to enter the married state.
 Among the reasons advanced for the setting of an age was that of Canon Percy of Sturgeon Falls who said that if we had no hesitation in asking a young man of eighteen to shoulder a rifle, we should not hesitate to ask him to assume the responsibilities of matrimony before reaching the age of 21.
 According to Archbishop Warren the young men are too young as it is to do use the hours for "it" and don't need discouragement. I would be better, he said if they were encouraged to marry earlier instead of later.

RHEUMATISM

If sufferers from rheumatism could read all the testimonials we receive, they would not hesitate to accept our offer of a free trial sample of Gin Pills.
 Mrs. E. W. Hazlett of Windsor, Ont., writes: "Gin Pills, I know from personal experience, are the sovereign remedy for rheumatism and kidney troubles in any form. I was helped by them, after months of suffering. I tried many other remedies, but all failed; then I tried Gin Pills, with the result that I am well to-day."

POTATO SHIPPERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Committee Appointed to Interview Railway Heads at Montreal.

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 4.—The potato shippers of the St. John Valley met the railway officials in the council chamber this morning, to consider the potato situation. Hon. F. B. Smith presided. Mr. Mowles, assistant freight traffic manager, and W. E. Elliot, divisional freight agent, represented the C. P. R. and C. H. Gray, St. John, assistant freight agent, eastern division, represented the C. N. R.
 The best the C. P. R. would do would be to absorb the terminal charges at West St. John, while the representative of the C. N. R. could make no promises. This was a great disappointment to the shippers. The officials agreed to take it up at headquarters, and T. W. Caldwell, M. P., Hon. E. F. Smith and Guy Porter were appointed a committee to go to Montreal next Tuesday and impress upon the railways the seriousness of the situation.

It was pointed out that the province had 5,000,000 barrels of potatoes, mostly in Carleton and Victoria counties, that one million would be marketed locally, that two million must be exported, that the freight rates were prohibitive and that the growers and shippers would be ruined if these potatoes were not sold, and that four of our prominent shippers, to protect themselves from ruin, were purchasing a string of potato houses in Anson-county to have the benefit of the United States market.

A Young War.
 Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, told at a dinner some interesting experiences he had had among the London poor. One one occasion he was addressing the pupils in a school and giving some practical information about the cow. He brought out by questions that the cow's flesh was used for food, its hide for making shoes, and then he asked, "And what do we use the horns for?"
 "For ornaments, sir," said a boy promptly.

DRUG ADDICTS IN PITTSBURGH

Head of Detectives Says $25,000 A Day Spent There For Narcotics.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 4.—More than 5,000 residents of this city are drug addicts. An average of $25,000 is being spent here daily for dope.
 These are among the declarations made by David Corbett, head of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Detectives' Narcotic Squad, following an investigation attended by disclosure which have prompted Chief Corbett to begin a clean-up. Names associated with and social prominence may be stained by sensational revelations which the detective indicates are inevitable.
 Three alleged drug users arrested by the "dope squad" were held for further investigation by Magistrate Sullivan, who conducted hearings in Central Police Court this morning. Testifying in these cases, Corbett made the assertions regarding the prevalence of the drug habit in Pittsburgh, and added:
 "The majority of addicts in Pittsburgh are rich persons of high social standing. We are keeping a close account of their activities here, and it is rapidly becoming evident that Pittsburgh is a drug centre and clearing house for narcotics of all sorts."
 Much of the dope brought here from Philadelphia for distribution throughout the country, is, instead, purchased outright by agents for wealthy men and women who use drugs either in private or at parties.
 "Members of the smart set take up and introduce their guests to the use of opium as a new sensation."
 Raymond Smith of Little Rock, Ark., one of the persons arrested, begged for dope and was treated by a police surgeon. He said he came here two months ago with $3,000 and an excellent wardrobe to take a position with a railroad company. When arrested he was penniless and was dressed in overall and hobnailed shoes. Dope peddler, he said, had got all his money and clothing.

STEAMER SINKS OFF CABOT ISLAND

The Grenfell Mission Steamer Strathcona Sank Monday—Crew Saved.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 3.—After twenty years of service along the coasts of Labrador and Northern Newfoundland as a hospital ship, the Grenfell Mission Steamer Strathcona sank yesterday a few miles off Cabot Island. The crew of six were taken off by the Schooner Grace and were landed in St. John's. The Strathcona left St. Anthony last Tuesday bound for Bay Roberts, where she was to lay up for the winter. Green Bay was crossed in a raging sea, which beat against the sides of the ship so large quantities of water poured into her. Twillingate was reached on Tuesday night, and the following morning the ship left for Seldom. The leak did not then seem so bad. Seldom was reached Thursday morning and the steamer remained there over Sunday, leaving yesterday morning. She had gone only ten miles when the water began to pour in at a rapid rate. Two schooners were sighted

DANCING ONCE NOT SO DEVILISH

Long Before Shimmy Days Worshippers Were Told to Shake Their Feet.

Once upon a time a holy bishop, one of the fathers of the church, said that dancing should be practiced on earth as it was the principal occupation of the angels in heaven. That was in the fourth century, quite a little while before the invention of the shimmy. His name was Basil—Basil the Great, Bishop of Caesarea and the founder of Eastern monasticism. Nobody thought of questioning the source of his information about the angels. It was assumed in those days that a saint had ways of his own for learning what was going on in heaven, and the early Christians followed Basil's admonition and danced devoutly on feast days and Sundays.
 Probably they didn't fox trot or tango. The angels had not been described by St. Basil as doing any snuggly dancing, any telephone booth or check to check stuff. The Roman dancing under Nero had become quite scandalous and shocking. Perhaps those early Christians harked back to the comparative decorum of the earlier Greek dances, which were divided into the three classes of tragic, comic and satiric.
 Also they may have accompanied the dancing in the Greek style with choral song, which really laid the foundation of music as we have it today. Or they may have gone still further back to the Egyptians, whose stately dancing was all in honor of Isis and Osiris, and who practiced the pirouette at least 4,000 years ago.
 It has happened many times in history that solemn and religious dancing has degenerated into frantic and naughty dancing, and that happened in the case of the early Christians. The young Methodists from the barbaric intoxication of the ballroom.
 But one form of early Christian dancing itself and may be seen to this day in the Cathedral of Seville at Corpus Christi and also at the feast of the Immaculate Conception. The dance is called "Los Seises," and is performed before the high altar, in the presence of the Cardinal, Archbishop and clergy, by ten choir boys, in plumed hats and colored costumes.
 The dancers are armed with sustanets, which they clash with Spanish grace as they face each other in two lines and perform the stately movements of the archaic dance.
 The religious dancing of ancient times degenerated into the licentious rioting of the Saturnalia and Bacchanalia. And in the middle ages, desperate thunders of the church, central Europe was swept by a dancing mania which made a great disturbance.
 People seized with the mania gave all the signs of obsession. They danced and whirled themselves into a state of distraction, and sometimes danced out their brains against a wall. The same kind of psychopathic mania is sometimes reached at negro camp meetings in the South and in assemblies of certain queer sects in this country and in Russia.
 Paracelsus, the great physician and alchemist, found that the best way to cure the dancing mania was by plunging the patient into water. There may be a hint there for mothers of unruly girls who cannot be kept home from the shimmy halls.

Railway News

Montreal.—Like Luter and Abram Mayoff, who were arrested at Montreal on August 24th, charged with giving money to C. P. R. conductors on the St. Agathe Subdivision for not collecting fares from parties of passengers, appeared before Judge Ferrant on September 21st and pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 each and costs.

These are the first prosecutions made in Canada on this charge, which is covered by an amendment to the Criminal Code under section 423A, making it a criminal offence for giving or offering to give to conductors of any railway valuable consideration for not collecting fares from passengers travelling on trains.

Figures have been issued recently showing the accidents and casualties occurring on the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific Railway during the years 1918-1921. They are sufficiently impressive:

Was on track in front of train, 1,300; killed, 186; injured, 568. Ran into side of train, 678; killed 18; injured, 583. Died on tracks, 277; killed, 7; injured, 41. Killed into side of train, 89; injured, 17. Ran into crossing, 207; injured, 18. Ran into crossing, 20; killed, 3; injured, 14. Miscellaneous (ran into guard, waiting signs, etc.), 46; killed, 1; injured, 8. Total killed, 276; total injured, 2,212.

If the danger to people driving automobiles recklessly was confined to such people one might be inclined to view the situation with comparative equanimity, but the reverse is very much the case. Railroads suffer heavily through careless driving.

Ottawa.—Apparently there are some automobile drivers who are wise enough to realize that it is better to run into a ditch than into a railway train. Another case of this kind occurred at Hull.

A resident of Valcartier, Hull, ditched an automobile he was driving on the Aylmer road one Saturday night near the C. P. R. crossing when his brakes failed to function, and a train was coming along. His wife and two children were in the car, and the lives of his passengers, three in number, and his own, while his car was badly crippled.

An auto containing four persons was driving in the Hull from Valcartier, at a fair rate of speed. They had reached the Pontiac railroad crossing and were headed for the C. P. R. crossing, some yards ahead, when they were warned by the whistle of an approaching train.

The driver at once applied the brakes, but found they would not stop the car, which was being rapidly carried on to the crossing with the train only a short distance away. Realizing that he could not get over the crossing ahead of the train the driver adopted the only course possible and cutting off the gas he turned the car into the ditch.

He struck a telegraph pole, which snapped in two by the impact, fell, and the car rolled over on its side, the top just grazing the main coach of the train as it swept over the crossing. Since, to say the least, the shock of the collision when the car hit the telegraph pole, and its capsizing, critically injured the occupants were hurt beyond sustaining a few bruises and cuts, and a bad fright.

Harry Matthews, 38 Sherbrooke street, Ottawa, the engineer of the train which was from Brockville and was due at the Central station at 6.50, warned by the whistle, Jack de Cossel, and after discussion, it was decided to stop the train at the crossing and help with other train officials, to extricate the passengers from the wrecked auto, when were taken to Hull by a passing auto. None of the party was in need of medical attention.

Toronto.—On the evening of September 19th, when yard engine with 17 cars of meat was crossing St. Clair Avenue at West Toronto, a Willys-Knight touring car, driven by the wife of the twelfth and thirteenth cars from the engine, bringing both front fenders off, and the occupants were hurt beyond sustaining a few bruises and cuts, and a bad fright.

Although the official opening of the Banff-Windermere Automobile Road will not take place till Dominion Day next year, the last stretch has just been laid, and the chief engineer traversed the 104 miles, from Banff to Lake Windermere, for the first time in a motor car. The time taken was seven hours. The new road provides an important link on the Canadian motor trail through the Rockies, and is expected to bring thousands of motorists to Banff from the United States, as it connects with the great Columbia Highway through Spokane to Portland. This season the Canadian Pacific trains to and from the Rockies were heavily laden with tourists. The opening of the Banff-Windermere road will, if possible, make resorts in the Canadian Pacific Rockies more popular than ever, and the number of tourist visitors will be largely increased.
