Those in Kingston Will Have Nothing to Do With the Coming Convention. Kingston, May 13.—A large meeting of Catholic Liberals was held in this city last night for the purpose of discussing the forthcoming Catholic Liberal convention to be held in Toronto on the 23rd inst. Objection was taken to the paragraph in the circular sent out by the promoters of the convention, which referred to better Catholic representation in the Ontario cabinet and Federal Parliament. A strong resolution was moved and carried in-dorsing Hon. William Harty as com-missioner of public works, pledging him the heartiest support of the Catholics of Kingston, pronouncing the convention uncalled for, and only gotten up by a few Toronto gentlemen. The meeting refused to appear to a project delay. ing refused to appoint delegates to attend the Toronto gathering. A second resolution was also carried, expressing entire confidence in the Hon. William Harty's actions and work since he became commissioner of public works, and eulogizing him as Kingston's representative in the legislature, and in-dorsing the Hardy and Laurier admin-and of a Strike in Belgium Involving 40.000 or 50.000 Men-Talk of Bringing Dreyfus to Paris.

London, May 13 .- The French Chamber of Deputies yesterday approved the Anglo-French Niger-Nile conventions. This agreement between Great Britain and France disposes of hundreds of thousands of square miles of African territory, and leaves only four recognized independent states throughout the continent-Morocco, Abyssinia, Liberia, and the Orange Free State. An important feature of the agreement provides for an equality in the commercial treatment of the territory between Lake Tchad and the Nile.

TO GET DREYFUS.

Paris correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: Sensational announcements regarding the preparations for the return of Dreyfus to France towards the end of next month continue; but the story that ten members of the Republican Guard and four gendarmes left St. Nazare on Tuesday for French Guiana to escort him back, lacks authenticity.

AGAINST SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS. A deputation, including the Right Rev. Mandell Creighton, Bishop of London; Mr. John Burns, the labor leader, and Rev. Hugh Price Hughes and others, representing religious bodies, waited upon Sir Matthew White Ridley, secretary of state to the home department, protesting against seven-day newspapers. Mr. John Burns said that Sunday was the British workingman's treasure, and that Sunday newspapers were unnecessary. The home secretary said that he was entirely in sympathy with the deputation, but that he was afraid the government could do nothing in the premises. He added that he would be glad to authorize local authorities to frame bylaws with the object of discouraging Sunday editions of newspapers.

The Daily Telegraph, in a leading editorial on the Sunday paper question, says: The issue lies not with deputations, nor officials, but with the British public. Should they dislike or fail to appreciate the paper offered, we shall certainly make no effort to force distasteful wares upon them. The answer rests with them, and we cheerfully

RUSSIA'S LATEST.

The Chinese Government, in acknowledging the receipt of a communication regarding the Anglo-Russian agreement as to spheres of interest in China, expressly declares that the acknowledgment in no wise implies acquiescence. Immediately after communicating the agreement, the Russian minister, M. De Giers, demanded the right to build a railway connecting the Manchurian system with Pekin. This is regarded as of the utmost importance. FEARFUL EXPLOSION.

The latter, in proposing the toast "The British Empire," assured his hearers that the last word on the Pacific cable had not yet been spoken. The Redistribution oul Will Be Brought Down-Bill Against "Docking" Horse .

Ottawa, May 13.-The attendance in the house yesterday was small, as most of the Ontario and Quebec mem-bers went home yesterday until Monday. The day was spent in considering the estimates of the customs and fisneries departments. Little progress was made, as the fisheries estimates were criticised in great detail, and it was far on in the morning when the house arose.

Sir Louis also stated that owing to the transfer of a steamer from the fisheries to the river service he would require a supplementary vote of $20,000. It had been found impossible to get on with the vote

The fishery estimates were passed after a great deal of criticism, the opposition discussing at length the price of the provisions charged the government in many cases. Mr. Clancy did not oblect to purchases being made from friends of the government, but protestwith the dealer on the part of the officials, who personally benefited from the high prices paid.

A HOT TIME IN INGERSOLL

A Party of Woodstock People Rotten-Egged and Stoned.

The neighborly feeling that exists between Woodstock and Ingersoll was exhibited to a marked degree last night. The outburst came as an informal reception to a party of wellknown Woodstock young men. The entrance of the Woodstock party into the peaceful burg attracted much attention. Had it been less triumphant the Ingersollites would not have been so demonstrative. But the visitors came in a chariot of fire or rather a transparency wagon. Their object in coming was to publicly proclaim the attractions which the Woodstock Athletic Club would provide at Woodstock on the Queen's birthday for the benefit of the residents of Ingersoll and elsewhere. It so happened that on the Queen's birthday a demonstration will be given in Ingersoll by the Ancient Order of Foresters, and at it the promoters are particularly anxious a large number of Woodstock people should be present. The Ingersollites, therefore, in order to have as many as possible of their townspeople on hand at the demonstration to give the visitors a royal welcome, have been systematically trying to keep them in ignorance of the enterprise mooted by the Woodstock people. With this end in view the Ingersollites last night stoned and rotten-egged the transparency wagon, and opposed in every way possible its progress about the town. Its return to Woodstock was town. much less triumphant than its er trance into Ingersoll.

PORT BURWELL SWEPT BY FIRE

The Business Part of the Place in Ashes.

The business part of Port Burwell was destroyed by fire last night. The telegraph office, the Canadian Express Company's office, the postoffice, the customs house and the Bell Telephone Company's office were among the buildings burned. The only business buildings saved were the Emery store and the Commercial Hotel. The Canadian Express Company saved all the property and money orders in their office, but lost their books.

-At Ingersoli last evening a labor meeting was held, and two unions—the trackmen and molders—formed. Mr. Joseph T. Marks, of London, was present. The hall was engaged for another meeting until 10:25, and at that time the labor meeting began with a crowded house.

The Killed Placed at 25, While Several of the 40 Eadly Injured May Die.

Names of the Dead as Far as Indenti fied-Harrowing Scenes-Cause of the Calamity.

Later dispatches regarding the Reading Railway disaster (described in another column) make the loss of life more serious than at first reported:

Reading, Pa., May 13.-- A terrible rear-end collision of passenger trains occurred about 10 o'clock last night on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, at Exeter, a small seation six miles below Reading, resulting in the loss of about 25 lives. Probably about 40 others are badly injured, and of these many will die. The express train from Philadelphia, scheduled to leave Reading at 5:30 p. m., was about half an hour late in leaving. Meantime many passengers on the train from Harrisburg went aboard the Philadelphia express train, while it stood in the station at Reading, but the number of Harrisburg passengers being too great to be accommodated on the express train, it was decided to send an extra train to Philadelphia, to run as a second section to the express.

had departed. At Exeter station the first train stopped for orders, and while stand-ing still was crashed into by the second section, with terrific force, the latter train at the time running with great speed. The locomotive plowed clear through the two rear cars, reducing them to splinters, and then mounted the end of the third car from the rear. The first car of the second train was also wrecked. The havor wrought to the occupants of these cars was appalling. Many were crushed to death instantly, while others were mangled and maimed in a horrible manner. The first train consisted of two express cars, a mail and baggage car, a combination car, two day coaches, a parlor car and a day coach, in the order mentioned. The second train consisted of six day coaches, one of which had aboard a company of the Sixth Regiment National Guard, whose headquarters is at Norristown, an enother car contained members of the Montgomery hose company of Norristown. The other four cars had regular passengers, including about 20 survivors of the Pennsylvania volunteers, Hartrauft's old command. UNIDENTIFIED.

Upon recovering from the effects of the shock, those who had escaped injury or who had been injured but slightly, set to work to rescue their more unfortunate passengers. Medical aid was promptly rendered to the injured. The bodies of twenty dead were brought here. Many of the dead have not been identified, and they now lie in ed against the high prices pald, and hinted that there might be collusion relatives or friends to make the identification.

NAMES OF VICTIMS.

The names of the identified are: Capt. Street, Philadelphia; George F. Leaf, Fort Washington, Pa.; William Staler, George Shaw, George Sowers, Samuel Beattie, William Lears; Henry Wentz, John Johnson, John Slingluff, Geo. H. Andis, Harry Thompson, Hiram Shelley, George Shall, Benton Silvis-all of Norristown; Miss Annie McGraw, of The list of injured so far as obtained

The signal man should have displayed the red and green signal for the special, but it is said he failed to do so; whether on account of the signal failing to work or not is not known. While the express was standing on the tracks the crowded special came thundering along. On account of a curve the engineer of the special could not see the train standing on the tracks ahead of him until too late. The special tore into the express with a crash, and shrieks of agony soon filled the The railroad at the scene of the accident runs over a hollow, and the embankment on which are the tracks is about 50 feet high.

Several passengers were hurled to the bottom of the embankment, but the cars all remained on the roadbed. The dead and wounded were strewn in heaps in the debris of the two cars. Little damage, however, was done to the rest of the train. Most of the injured were brought to Reading, but many were sent to Norristown and Pottstown and some were taken to Philadelphia.

General E. Burd Grubb, of New Jersey, ex-United States minister to Greece, and Senator Boles Penrose, of Philadelphia, were among the passengers on the Pullman car on the first train. Both were badly shaken up, but neither sustained any injury. SENATOR PENROSE'S STATE-MENT.

Press regarding the accident, said: "] was on the ordinary train, but escaped with no injuries except a severe shaking-up. The train is what is known as 'The Cannon Ball' express, and the special extra section of it crashed into the ordinary train. The regular train passed the signal tower all right, but orders were given for it to back toward Exeter, and this was done, and we had only got back a very short distance, when the second section crashed into the rear portion of our train. It is said that the second section started within two minutes after our train started. I don't know how many people were killed, but I think there must have been at least 20, and about 50 injured. There were about 180 in our train, and the second section was also crowded. There were a number of soldiers in the train, and I am glad there were, for they rendered invaluable assistance in getting the dead and injured from the cars. When the crash came, I thought we would be all killed. It was a terrific crash, people were thrown in all directions, and those who were not injured by broken wood were more or less injured by being bumped against the sides of the cars. The scene was a most distressing one, and I shall never forget it." ANOTHER PASSENGER'S STORY. Henry Schiveley, of Jenkintown, a passenger on the regular train, said:"I was in a smoking car of the regular train. Our train ran past the signaltower, and an order was given for it to stop, and another order was given it to reverse and go back. This was done immediately, and we had only got a short distance back along the line when the second section crashed into us. "There was a terrific crash. It sounded like a big thunderbolt or an earthquake. People were thrown in all directions. Several of the cars were smashed like matchwood.

"After the sounds of the crash had died away, the screams and cries of women and men could be heard on every hand. I saw a number of bodies of the killed and wounded. I don't know the number, but there must have been about 20 killed outright. Many others were unconscious. There must have been about 70 injured. The parlor car on our train was smashed, but not badls Its strength saved it and the occupants of it escaped with less injury, I believe, than those in the accommodation car next to it."

An official of the railroad company gives the number of dead as 23, and says forty are badly injured. Several of the latter, it is thought, will die before night. The rear car of the first train was occupied principally by people residing at Morristown, and this fact accounts for the great number from that place included in the list of killed and wounded.

The Cockneys still head the procession. They found Chatham somewhat easy yesterday. The game took a slightly red tinge in the first of the fourth, when Chatham snaffled four runs, but before the inning closed London had tied the score. In the sixth the Reds were a trifle unready, and the Cockneys hoisted the game away out of reach, chalking up five more

Chatham's infield work was poor, especially that of Ziegler, whose errors were disastrous, two wild throws letting in two men each. Babbitt's good work was marred by the drop of a fly ball and a fumble. But he showed up well with a total of eleven accepted chances, and some of his throws to first were remarkably swift and accurate. His dropped fly was due to his excessive zeal in attempting to cover left field at the risk of a collision with Jones.

London should have scored two runs in the second. Carey reached first on Ziegler's fumble, stole second, and was caught at the home plate on a return of Babbitt's hit to left. Babbitt cleverly stole third and scored on Jones'

In the fourth, McFadden's single, Carey's sacrifice, Jones' high fly to Crawford, who after a hard run muffed it, allowing the batsman to reach sec-ond, scored McFadden. A double by Cope brought in Jones, and Cope scored on McConnell's hit to right, Reid throwing wildly to head off Cope at the plate, McConnell going to third, where he remained.

The sixth was a succession of errors and bad throws. Ziegler contributed two disastrous errors on ground balls, while Crawford made a wild throw that scored two more runs. Chatham was completely phased, and time in the seventh by a pretty hit to left, a steal and an out at first, scoring on McConnell's long fly to Conklin. Chatham scored only in the fourth. Crawford, the first man up in this inming, made the first hit of the game. For the second time he made second base on the new balk rule. McFadden failed to throw the ball accurately, the runner easily making the second bag. Nordyke also hit safely, Crawford scoring. Ziegler hit to Babbitt, who threw to third to head of Nordkye. Cope put the ball on the runner, but dropped it. Royce took a pass, and Nordyke scored on Sanders' long fly to center. McIlvaine surprised himself and all the other Reds by a beautiful two-bagger to left, scoring two runs.

Only three more hits were made by

Chatham in the last four innings. Sanders endeavored to stretch a double to a triple in the sixth, and was caught at third. Crawford hit a triple in the seventh, but was left on third. Sanders hit safely again in the ninth, but was doubled up a moment later. The score: LONDON.

ST. THOMAS LOST AT HAMILTON. Hamilton, Ont., May 13.-Hamilton and St. Thomas put up a very ragged game of baseball yesterday. Hamilton infielders made a mess of it, and the home team used bad judgment generally, but luck was with them and they won. St. Thomas hit harder and oftener than Hamilton and fielded much better, but bases on balls by Hardy, with timely hitting, won for Hamilton.

if we are to live as it was intended we should. There must be no breaks, no snapping of chains, no worn bolts, no weak spots. If there are, we pay the penalty in pain. The wheels of life cannot run smoothly if you have Dyspepsia. It's

Made to Run Smoothly and | mend it. In many cases, if you have Dyspepsia or Indigestion, you don't heed it. As time goes on, it grows worse and worse, until, at last, it wrecks your health completely. Then you spend hundreds of dollars in trying to cure it, when you might, if you had taken it in time, have cured it quickly and easily for a dollar or two. The only way you can cure Dyspepsia, satisfactorily and permanently, no matter what stage it may be in,

is by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure all Stomach Diseases. This is a simple statement of an incontrovertible fact. It cannot be disproved. But it can be easily and quickly proved by the use of the Tablets. If you have Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Heartburn, or any other stomach trouble, buy a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and use them according to directions. They'll tinued controversy naturally brought the subject of the psychological plays into prompt notice and acknowledgment. The next course for interest was the palpable fact that Mrs. Kendall was essaying a part which had really been written for Olga Nethersole, and Miss Nethersole being absent in Australia, and the author desiring that his play should be produced at an early period, arranged with Mrs. Kendall forthwith. Miss Nethersole, this year, has for the first time, been able to present "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." She did so at Wallack's Theater, New York, and met with what accounts describe as a rousing and enthusiastic reception. Her Paula Ray has force. It is a strong embodiment of emotion and tragedy. It rich in Phosphates and Potash is of the greatest utility in supply-is a powerful interpretation of the feelings of a disappointed young woman Through all the scenes of this remarkable play, Miss Nethersole holds the audience at her will, and the scene between herself and her stepdaughter is acknowledged to be one of the finest pieces of acting that Miss Nethersole could possibly give. Therefore, with all the guarantees from the critics of New York. Philadelphia, Chicago, the great cities, and in view of the continued and unparalleled business which is attending Miss Nethersole's engagement this season, it is safe to predict that a performance of remarkable excellence may be safely anticipated. "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" will be presented by the distinguished actress with her original company, which, by the way, came with her from Her Majesty's Theater, London.

London, Saturday, May 13, 1899. Parks and Playgrounds..London's Need. "The Establishment of Play Grounds for the Children" and "A Larger Appropriation for Public Parks" were two of the planks in the platform of Mayor Jones, recently elected Mayor of To-lado, as the Independent candidate, by h large majority over his opponents, who were the nominees of the regular parties. A tax rate just struck of 23 mills is not an encouraging fact, but notwithstanding that we venture to favor for London the adoption of these planks Mayor Jones' platform. It is a matter of regret that they were not adopted years age.

London is one of the prettlest cities In America, and the two things which contribute more than anything else to its charms are its wide streets and shade trees, and both of these cost the citizens almost nothing. It will be remembered that about twenty years ago the council gave tree guards free to all who would plant trees and the result was that nearly 5,000 were planted that year, the effect of which can be seen in the increasing beauty of the city from year to year. Our wide streets enable neat lawns and boulevards to be kept. Our parks, too, as far as they go, are good. Some will plaim at was decidedly wrong to spoil to the extent it did the natural beauty of Queen's Park, by the erection of exhibition buildings. But the fine old pines for the most part stand, and for what is left and the splendid use made of it London has cause to be gratified.

Victoria Park is a beautiful square. Its only fault is, it is too small. The thousands who use it habitually and the multitudes who attend the band concerts show how thoroughly it is needed and appreciated. Can London add to its parks with advantage? The late ex-Mayor Cowan urged in his lifetime the acquisition of the land between the Western University grounds and the river in the north end, as a park, and it would certainly, bordering on the river, make a beautiful one. The Harvey lands to the south with the old East Middlesex building on it might be added. The block of land north and east of "Thornwood." the residence of the late H. C. R. Beecher, and on which but one house stands. built by Cy Warman, and no doubt selected with a poet's eye on account of the beauty of the location, would make a splendid place for play grounds. There would yet be no difficulty in securing a place or places in the northeast part of the city for parks and play grounds.

West London should have the Tecumseh Park secured and also a play ground in the north part of it. South London, which is now being materially improved by the erection of the Normal School, has always been a favorite section of the city. There could be no handsomer park than the Gerry and Parke flats would make. Here you have the original forest trees, at all times picturesque, and bordering on the river, which would be a great savantage. Play grounds could be had here and should also be secured further south.

There should be, too, grounds secured In the vicinity of the hospital and further east, and if possible also near the center of No. 3 ward.

We have endeavored to point out where and how at small cost city parks and play grounds can be still secured in each section of the city. We would finish the work and we think it feas-Sble by arranging for a drive and waik on both sides of the banks of the river. Plant trees, place benches and provide what would in summer be a delightful walk and be the best substitute we can have for the lack of water facilities possessed by other cities more favored in that respect than we are.

Parks and play grounds in every part of the city are well worth the attention of our municipal politicians.

The mistakes of the past in this respect cannot be entirely remedied, but do the best that can be done. The old orchard block opposite the nunnery would have made a beautiful square. The old exhibition grounds would have been a welcome addition to Victoria Park and made a splendid central ball ground. The land west of the High School would have made the proper site for a Normal School. The old central school grounds, as level as a billiard table, should not have been sold. But consider the suggestions made. Have parks and ball grounds in each section of the city and a promenade and drive along the banks of the river. Plant trees wherever necessary, and beautiful as London is, its beauty will be much increased-not only its appearance but its healthfulness. It is natural for boys to play, and girls too. Their play grounds have been taken away from them. The boys of thirty years ago had ample play grounds; today none but the dusty streets and the policeman's order to move on.

We sometimes speak of Great Britain as slow, but in this respect we are far behind them. Their cities and towns are all provided with play grounds and commons. The love of manly sports has much to do with the development of the manly character of the British people. If play grounds are provided Curfew bell will not be needed and cigarettes will not seduce. Provide for them what nature intended they should have and they will not seek artificial means of enjoyment and they will grow up mentally, morally and physically better than they posibly can under the present existing conditions, and it will do much to counterpoise the trein of modern education. We commend these suggestions to the municipal rulers present and to come, and hope to reap a share of the benefits in such proportion as they may be adopted. The cost will be small, the profit immense. It will do much, coupled with the attractions London has as an educational center with the best high school in the Province, with its Western University, Normal School and Medical School, and with its other institutions to make London the most desirable place to live in in Canada.

The Hamilton Spectator argues that Canada should not negotiate for reciprocity with the United States because this country is prosperous and doesn't need it. That is poor logic. We stand a better chance of driving a good bargain with Uncle Sam, when we show him that we are doing well without him, than if we asked a favor from him when we were hard up. We are now meeting him on an equal footing.

Andrew Carnegie's first donation since he began his philanthropic tour has been made to Birmingham University. Mr. Carnegie has been criticised over the border for spending in Great Britain so much of the money he has made in the United States. We have received a marked copy of the Huntsville (Miss.) Progress, containing an article strongly urging that lessons on the care of gas be given in the schools. This throws some light on Prof. Robertson's theory that our schools should grow up from local conditions. In places like Huntsville gas lessons are no doubt useful, but they would be superfluous in localities where gas is known. We can readily see the folly of making the educational system too rigidly uniform, by teaching the same things in all the

The London Advertiser does not think it would be wise to shut out or tax out the Japanese from British Columbia. It has no objection to the shutting out or taxing out of the Chinese. "China," it says, "is too ignorant to feel an insult, and too feeble to avenge one." Do ignorance and feebleness justify an insult or an injustice?-Parkhill Gazette-Review.

Not at all. We said the exclusion of the Chinese could be justified because they were a moral and social pest where they congregated in large numbers. China's feebleness and ignorance merely happen to spare us the unpleasant consequences that might arise if we treated a more sensitive and powerful nation in the same manner.

Lord Rosebery's recent speech has caused another split in the Liberal ranks. It consists in a difference of opinion as to what his lordship really did say. Some contend he has thrown home rule overboard, and others read no such meaning into his address. Perhaps his lordship purposely tried to convey two opposite impressions, so as to stir up the party and find out just how much home rule sentiment it retains. He either has no convictions of his own or is too timid to express them. But he will never regain his ascendancy in the party if he doesn't come out with a clear-cut policy of some kind on domestic affairs.

Hon. James Lee tells the American Trust Commission that the independent oil refineries of the United States have been able to exist because of the British and German markets, in which there was fair competition. The Standard Oil Company, with the help of the railroads, can nearly strangle its rivals in the American markets, as it temporarily did in Canada; but in Great Britain and Germany the big monopoly has no such advantages. Mr. Lee's testimony is another illustration that there is little to fear from a trust operating under fair conditions. It can only monopolize the market by selling at a price too low to induce competition, and under those circumstances the consumers get the benefit.

The Liberal papers are having some fun by quoting Sir Charles Tupper against Sir Charles Tupper. In his speech in reply to Mr. Fielding the other day Sir Charles claimed that the present tariff was the identical National Policy. In a fine burst of metaphor, Sir Charles declared that Mr. Fielding "could no more claim the paternity of that child (the present tariff) than a full-blooded negro could claim the paternity of a white child." While Sir Charles now says the present tariff is the child of the Conservative party, this is how he abused the infant in 1897:

"The result is that this tariff goes into operation and the honorable gen-tleman knows that the industries of this country are already paralyzed in consequence, while honorable members gloat, vindictively gloat, over the destruction of Canadian industries. I unhesitatingly say that from a party point of view the honorable gentlemen are doing our work; they are showing the people of this country that no reliance can be placed upon the most solemn declarations that they make, either in the house or out of it; they are showing the people of this country that, having obtained power, which was all they wished for, they are now prepared to abuse that power at the cost of the sacrifice of the industries of Canada.

The explanation is that under the Liberal tariff the country has done so well that Sir. Charles wants to adopt it as his own.

What Others Say.

Condition Good if Result Is Not. (Ottawa Journal.)

Strikes occur chiefly from two causes, one being business depression forcing employers to attempt to reduce wages, the other being busines prosperity, causing employes to ask for increased wages. The latter condition is much the preferable one, if strikes must occur at all, and it is the latter condition which prevails now to explain the strikes in Montreal, Toronto and elsewhere.

It looks much as if the high hopes of the Western Ontario tobacco growers were to be blasted. For Three Years. Nights Itching and Burning Terrible. Wife Suggests CUTICURA. Uses it.

Presto! What a Change.

Feels Like Kicking Doctors for Three Years' Suffering. The itching and burning I suffered in my feet

The itching and burning I suffered in my feet and limbs for three years were terrible. At night they were worse, and would keep me awake a greater part of the night. I consulted doctor after doctor, as I was travelling on the road most of my time, also one of our city doctors. None of the doctors knew what the trouble was. I got a lot of the different samples of the medicines I had been using. I found them of so many different kinds, that I concluded I would have to go to a Cincinnati hospital before I would get relief. I had frequently been urged to try Curioura Remedies, but I had no faith in them. My wife finally prevailed upon me to try thom. Presto! What a change. I am now cured, and it is a permanent cure. I feel like kicking some doctor or myself for suffering three years when I could have used Currous. A remedies. I could have used Curicus A remedies. Sept. 11, 1898. H. JENKINS, Middleboro, Ky.

BABY'S FACE SOLID SORE

My little nephew, John Staunton, was afflicted with the worst sores I ever saw all over his body. His head and face at times tyere a solid scab and he suffered dreadfully. He was a pitiable sight. His father used all the remedies that he heard of, and doctored with all the doctors. He were a tar cap, also, which did no good, but got no rollef until he used the Cuticura (olutiment) and Cuticura Soar. Now he is a clean, healthy child.

FLEW 800 FEET

Then His Flying Machine Gravitated Harthward and Seon Came Down.

Washington, May 13 .- Prof. S. P. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the inventor of the aerodrome, who was given $250,000 by the board of ordnance to experiment with his flying machine for war purposes, made his first test at Quantico, Va., Thursday.

Prof. Langley recently built a new and larger machine than that with which he experimented two years ago. The machine was launched from the top of a house, but anchored in a broad sweep of the Potomac, about threefourths of a mile from the island owned by the Quantico Rod and Gun Club. The result was not so successful as were Prof. Langley's former ex-The machine soared aloft to a height of 500 feet, but descended after a horizontal flight of 800 feet.

His former machine, which was propelled by a small steam engine, flew three-quarters of a mile, and only descended when the steam was exhausted. Prof. Langley was to overcome the limited power of the former machine by the use of a condensing engine, which could repeatedly utilize the condensed steam from the boiler.

Of the Trade Situation in the Dominion-The U. S. Grain Market Weaker.

New York, May 13.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s review says: The general condition of business in Canada has not materially changed during the past week, though the reports are on the whole rather favorable. At St. John there is an improved condition, especially in provisions, building materials and fishing supplies, and collections are very fair, with active retail trade. Halifax reports favorable weather, with trade continuing good and improvement in collections. Drygoods payments at Montreal last week were excellently met, and general trade conditions are regarded as very promising. Firmness of money is rather intensified and stock operations are consequently somewhat checked. Wholesale trade at Toronto continues active, with a larger volume of business than in any previous year, and good remittances. Improvement is felt at Hamilton in staple groceries, drygoods, shoes, iron, machinery and stove lines, and prices are firm. Local and district trade at Vancouver continues quiet, owing to the backward season, and wholesalers report only an average demand from interior points. The indications point to unusual high water in the Fraser River shortly. The trade conditions at Victoria are generally fair in wholesale lines, although adverse weather somewhat retards retail business. Collections are good. Bradstreet's says: There is a reasonable quieting down of wholesale trade reported from Canada this week, although the volume of trade is still satisfactory. Toronto reports considerable wheat and rye killed in Ontario, and wheat seeding delayed in the Nonthwest, but that a large area will be planted in other crops, particularly corn, which has proved profitable of late years. It is expected that Canadian lumber shipments will be larger on account of the prohibition of the ex-Montreal reports port of sawlogs. values of woolen goods tending upward, and that money is tight, owing to the calling of loans. Trade in the Mar-itime Provinces is of only fair volume, and the lobster catch will be small. Export trade at Victoria is active, the demand for coal being particularly good, but orders coming from the interior are smaller. Bank clearings for Mount the week aggregate $33,413,000—a decrease of % per cent from last week, but sa increase of 23 per cent over this Minard's Liniment used by physicians

OVER THE LINE. In regard to trade in the nited States, Bradstreet's says: Reports as to the conditions are generally of a favorable tenor, notable points being the advanced quotations for many grades of iron and steel, increased activity in building lines reflected in heavy sales of lumber at prices tending upward, a firmer tone in the cotton goods market, sympathized in by the raw product, bank clearings surpassing all records for this week of the year, railroad earnings maintaining recent gains, and business failures, as for some time past, down to the minimum. Offsetting these in some measure might be cited the reasonable quieting down of wholesale distribution demand, particularly for drygoods and clothing, most notable of all the further weakening of cereai values, reflecting the indifference of foreign buyers.

The weakness of the market under the circumstances may therefore be regarded as reflecting the feeling among foreign consumers that good crops abroad, and the refilling of depleted reserves from last year's yield will furnish wheat in plenty.

A MOTORMAN'S VICTORY. Over Diabetes, Gained by the Power of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, May 8.-In a large city like Toronto there is always much sickness, kidney disease, largely predominating. The street railway employes, exposed as they are to all the inclemencies of the weather, are particularly liable to kidney disease. But they all k now how to conquer this enemy. For instance: Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, 27 Niagara street, motorman No. 624, was for three years a great sufferer from Diabetes. Every remedy failed to help him till he began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him. It is cases like this, where the patient and the cure are equally well known, that are the test of a remedy, and Dodd's Kidney Pills have always stood it successfully. They cure all kindey complaints.

SUITABLE SITE FOR THE ARMORY

Southwest Corner of Dundas and Waterloo Streets the Probable Choice-Terms of the Agreement.

Among the proposed armory sites, none is more favored than that at the southwest corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets, and it is more than probable that this will be the one chosen by the government.

The legislative and reception committee met last evening to learn the result of the interview Chairman McPhillips and Mr. Charles S. Hyman had recently with the minister of justice regarding the proposed new armory in the city. Mr. Hyman reported that Mr. Mills, together with the sub-committee, had viewed the six sites recommended to the government by the committee, and Mr. Mills had no doubt that among them one would be found suitable. The action of the government would depend largely upon Mr. Mills' recommendation, and the conditions on which Mr. Mills would advise his colleagues to purchase a site, and go on with the buildings, were summarized by Mr. Hyman, as follows:

The city to agree: To hand over to the government $10,-000, being proceeds of debentures issued under authority of legislation secured at the last session; to relieve the government from all claims for past damage caused by the draining of the barracks' sewers into Carling's Creek; to connect the sewer from the barracks and new drill shed with the sewerage system without expense to the government, and to allow the government to use the present drill shed for two years.

The government to agree: To hand over the present drill shed property to the city; to purchase one of the properties submitted by the council, and to pay the difference between the cost thereof, and the $10,000 contributed by the city; also to erect within two years on said property a drill shed to meet the requirements of city and other battalions using same. The committee expressed satisfaction with these conditions, and will report to the council accordingly. In event of the council adopting the proposed agreement the site will no doubt be chosen at once, and building operations begun by fall.

A communication was received from the Algoma Central Railway Company asking the support of the municipality in the company's effort to get a grant of 6,400 acres per mile.

At Ald. Plant's suggestion the committee refused to indorse the project. The chairman said a conference of the municipalities of the province to discuss municipal law was talked of. Information regarding it will be obtained by the secretary.

Those present were Ald. McPhillips (chairman), Winnett, Plant, Graham and Jolly, Messrs. Chas. S. Hyman and J.

CORA MARKS

Port Huron Coroner's Jury Find That the Gi:1-Wife Was Murdered by Her Husband.

Port Huron, Mich., May 13. - The inquest of the Cora Marks tragedy was held Thursday afternoon, and the coroner's jury, after a very brief deliberation; returned a verdict that the girlwife was murdered by the hands of her husband, James Marks, and the body thrown into the river. The prosecuting officers presented at the inquest very little of the great mass of evidence that has been gathered in the case by the sheriff and police officers, and which it is claimed will form a strong chain of circumstantial evidence against the prisoner, and obtain his conviction upon the charge of brutally murdering his youthful wife, a bride of two months.

Much of the important evidence will be saved until the criminal prosecution is begun. As a matter of fact, no direct testimony was adduced at the inquest implicating Marks in the murder, the only thing shown in that connection being that the marriage was a forced one to avoid criminal prosecution, and that part of the terms of settlement were that Marks gave his wife a joint deed of the property, and that since his arrest he has admitted to the officers his knowledge that the property would revert back to him by his wife's death; also that on the night of the victim's disappearance, on Sunday, April 30, Marks came home later than usual, and found it incumbent upon himself to offer an excuse for his delay. One of the additional developments in the case is the detention of Miss Jennie Messman, who is wanted, and who will be held as a witness. She was formerly a roomer at the Noble homestead. Mrs. Marks was 16 years of age, while her husband was fully 40.

THE KLONDIKE GOLD OUTPUT

$20,000,000 Too low an Estimate-Diffi culty of Collecting the Royalty.

iGlobe Correspondence.] Dawson, April 7. The Midnight Sun a day or two ago estimated the gold output for this year from the Yukon Territory at $20,000,000. I consider this moderate estimate of the gold output for the spring's washup in the Yukon. Hunker Creek, in my opinion, is underestimated, and so are the Bonanza benches and Gold Run. Those who should know say that Gold Hili, which is counted among the Bonanza benches, will produce fully $1,-500,000. This is counted among "old timers" here as one of the most wonderful hills ever worked in the history of modern gold mining. They say that such a sight as is to be seen on the hillsides or benches all the way up Bonanza was never witnessed before. The crest of the hill has much the appearance of a battleground, with huge breastworks in the fore, the breastworks being the enormous dumps that form a continuous line for miles and miles. If the officials here can collect the royalty on but half of what will be taken out they will do well. Under pre-sent conditions the task of collecting the royalty is not an easy one. matter how zealous or honest the officials may be, they cannot possibly col-lect all that should be collected under the regulations. Under the present system by using his dust as currency the miner is un-mercifully robbed, and he knows it, but would rather suffer in this way than pay a straight 10 per cent royalty. But this country should yield millions to the coffers of the Dominion Government. There is every reason to believe that the country will be a very large gold producer for years to come. The era of machinery has now set in and there s scarcely an owner of a good claim in the country but is contemplating buying machinery. The firm that will invent and build the most suitable mach-

On the Philadelphia and Reading Railway.

Fifteen Persons Killed and Fully Fifty Injured.

Reading, Pa., May 13.-Shortly before 10 o'clock last night a collision of passenger trains occurred on the Philadelphia and Reading, at Exeter, six miles below Reading. The express train, which should have left here at 8:30 p.m. for Philadelphia, was behind her schedule time on leaving, and stopped at Exeter for orders. A special train from Harrisburg, bearing excursionists, who attended the Hartrand monument unveiling at the capital, left here 30 minutes later than the express train, and at Exeter, while proceeding at a rapid speed, crashed into the express. Several cars on the express train were wrecked, and a number of people were killed and in-

FIFTEEN KILLED.

The number of dead is fully fifteen and the injured fifty. The rear train plowed through three cars of the forward train, completely wrecking them. Eight dead were brought here at 1 a.m. A score are under the debris. A train load of wounded were brought to the hospital here. Great excitement prevails throughout the city. The railroad officials offer no explanation. The coroner will institute an investigation at once. Returning passengers at 12:30 a.m. say that the scenes around the wreck are of the most fearful description.

SOME OF THE VICTIMS. Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 13.-The Pottsville express, which was run into at Exeter, arrived here late last night with some of the injured. Among the dead are John Slinghuff, of Norristown, and an unknown man, said to be a real estate dealer, also of Norristown. When the train left the scene of the wreck a man named Street, who lives in this city, was lying unconscious in the wreck. The passengers could give no connected story of the ous in the wreck. It was generally believed that many passengers were killed.

THE MECHANIC AND ARTISAN

There was a large attendance of delegates and great enthusiasm at the regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council this week. The principal business was the report of the organizing and Labor Day committees. The latter subject was discussed at length, several suggestions being made for the guidance of the committee, but the re-port was finally adopted. There is no doubt that this year's celebration will eclipse anything ever before attempted in the way of a Labor Day demonstration. The organizing committee report showed that three more unions had been formed since last meeting, and there was some others under way. The committee which interviewed Col. Leys, M.P.P., in regard to some laborers who had been laid off at the Normal School building, reported that the reason of their discharge was on account of lack of material, but that they would be re-employed as soon as it was possible to do so.

The reports from the various unions were very encouraging, and showed that organized labor was never more solidly banded together. The Labor Day committee will met Tuesday night.

LABOR NOTES. Every employe of the Hamilton Street Railway is a member of the union. Boilermakers' strikes at Buffalo, N.

Y., and Detroit, Mich., have resulted in a victory for the men. Minnesota labor unions were success ful in killing the anti-boycott bill in the legislature of that state. The United Hatters of America have unionized more than twenty factories during the past eighteen months.

The boxmakers will meet in regular convenution in St. Louis June 5, and the iron molders in Indianapolis June

A bill seeking to create the office of state factory inspector and defining his duties is before the Tennessee Legisla-

The railway brotherhood magazines printing articles showing that blacklisting is still resorted to by railroad corporations. After being out two weeks the striking girls at the Diamond Match factory at Oswego, N. Y., returned to work at the reduced rate of wages. Mr. Richard, Gray, of this city, will attend the international convention of Metal Polishers, Platers, Buffers and Brass Workers next month. Secretary Cable of the Coopers' International Union, reports new unions organized in St. Louis and Louisville, and that another will be former at Atlanta, Ga. The Western Federation of Miners has a proposition under consideration to erect a home for aged and disabled miners, similar to the one conducted by the printers. The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America has issued an appeal for financial aid to the striking miners in Arkansas and Indian Territory.

Organized labor prevails in Scranton, Pa., 95 per cent of its skilled mechanics being banded together in labor unions. This city ranks third in the United States for organized workmen.

The glass manufacturers of Bridgeton, N. J., have rejected the proposition, which emanated from a committee of businessmen to unionize the local glass factories. This destroys the hope of a speedy settlement of the strike.

A general strike threatened by the woodworkers at Oshkosh, Wis., has been postponed. It is said that most of the manufacturers had made promises of concessions, and that time would be given to see whether they would be fulfilled.

The Iowa board of control of state institutions has decided to establish a factory in one of the penitentiaries for making binding twine. The board claims it will produce a large part of the twine used in Iowa, and reduce the price from 25 to 33 per cent. A law passed by the Nebraska Legislature prohibits a railroad company from requiring a conductor, engineer, fireman, brakeman; telegraph operator or other tranman who has worked ten consecutive hours, except in cases of casualties, to again go on duty until he has had at least eight hours' rest.

The Labor World of Syracuse, N. Y., says that Mayor McGuire and several aldermen of that city recently accompanied a delegation from the carpenters' unions to the Electric Light and Power Company's plant and demanded that union labor be employed on its proposed improvements, and that the suggestions were favorably received.

Syracuse, N. Y., brewers' union made a demand for $1 per week increase in wages. A conference took place, and as both sides were anxious to avoid a conflict the negotiations for a settlement proceeded rapidly. The brewers conceded a raise of wages of 50 cents per week, instead of $1, as demanded by the union, and this proposition was agreed to. About 70 men will be affect-to the personal qualifications of the re-

The Greatest and Most Beautiful Book in the World.

Glory of the Golden Age of Literature Passed Into the Pens of the Translators.

[Nineteenth Century Review.] Elizabeth died in March, 1603, and with the accession of James I. we arrive at length within sight of that stately and monumental work which was des-tined not merely to eclipse but absolutely to efface its rivals, and to enter upon a reign which has endured un-broken for now nearly 300 years, and In the undiminished luster of which we still live. We need waste no words in praise of the Authorized Version of the Bible. It is generally accepted as a literary masterpiece, as the greatest and most beautiful book in the world.

All possible pains were taken to secure the services of the best men for translators. Intellectual competence and proved capacity were the only tests. Puritan and Anglican, linguist and theologian, layman and divine, worked harmoniously side by side. Of the 54 names which were originally chosen, the lists that have come down to us include only 47, but we can see with what care and catholicity of mind the appointment of revisers had been made. They were organized in six companies. Two met at Oxford, two at Cambridge, two at Westminster. To each company a certain portion of the Bible was given to work upon. Their basis was the Bishops' Bible. Other versions were to be used only when they "agreed with the text" of the origlnals. The versions specified were those of Tyndale, Matthew, Coverdale, the Great Bible, and the Bible of Geneva. The translators, however, did not consider themselves to be in any way con-fined to these. They consulted every version, whether English or foreign, that was accessible to them, and were largely indebted to Beza, to the Rhemish Testament and to Tremellius. In 1611 the Authorized Version, a folio volume in black-letter type, was pubished. The title-page bore the words 'Appointed to be read in churches," but no evidence is forthcoming that any such formal appointment was ever astonishing revelation of crea made either by the king or by parliament, by convocation or by the privy council. In any case, it was quite un-necessary. Not by any means at once, but gradually and surely this noble version took up its natural position, a position from which it does not at present seem in any near danger of the dislodged. So for is it from losheing dislodged. So far is it from losing ground that it has been already translated into not far short of 200 languages and dialects, while something like 3,000,000 copies of it are poured out year by year by the English press. Truly may we say of it that its sound has gone forth into all lands, and its words unto the ends of the

Dr. Chase's Ointment,

There are so many preparations recpmmended to cure piles and so many that utterly fail that most people who suffer the tortures of this loathsome disease become discouraged and despair of ever being cured.

It is just such people who, when curpd, most strongly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, because they recognize in it the one absolute cure for and heroic age. itching piles. The evidence published here is convincing; the only better proof is a trial. The first application of Dr. Chase's Dintment will convince the most skeptical by stopping the terrible itching and burning. It is very seldom that more than one box is required to absolutely cure the worst case of blind, tching, bleeding or protruding piles.

Mr. James McBurney, farmer and veterinary surgeon at Embro, Oxford county, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching, inward piles, and after driving would bleed and get very sore, so much so, that I was in terrible pain. I was afflicted with piles for about 9 years and can safely say that I have tried everything that anyone could mention and see advertised in the papers, but none gave any relief. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and knowing that Dr. Chase's receipt book was good, decided to give it a trial, and procured

box from Mr. R. A. Duncan.
"To my surprise, I was cured by one box, and have never been troubled for over two years now. I can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can say that It is worth its weight in gold and is well-known in this county.'

Mr. John Read, Tilsonburg, Ont. writes: "For twelve years I suffered the untold agonies of itching piles. I tried almost everything, but could not get even relief from the horrible itch-ing, and when scratched the skin became sore and ulcerated and I could get no sleep at nigths. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment gave relief, and after using one box I am positively cured. If anyone doubts this testimonial let him write direct to me."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medleine. It has never failed to cure itching piles.

Every Man Responsible for His Brother's Conduct.

An Ingenious Hypothesis to Explain Christ's Words and Works.

Mr. Robert Hind writes in the Primitive Methodist Quarterly for January on "Telepathy in Relation, to Theological Investigation." From Sir William Crookes' presidential remarks, the writer takes occasion to suggest the value of telepathy as an aid to the explanation of facts and precepts of the religious life. He says: To particularize one matter, how much more significant and important the underlying principle of the Sermon on the Mount becomes in the light of telepathy. Jesus Christ insists on the necessity of keeping the heart right; the thought perfectly pure. His demands in this regard are severe and exacting in the extreme, so much so that it has been found difficult to explain them on reasonable grounds. The feeling of anger against a brother is represented as a crime as culpable and heinous as murder; the adulterous thought is adultery as certainly as though the act had been performed. It is easier to understand these sayings of his if what has been suggested about telepathy is true. Let it be granted that every movement of the mind sets the ether in motion, and that any person, distant or near, whose mind is at that moment strung to the same pitch-that is, is possessed by similar feeling—is thereby made peculiarly susceptible to these vibrations; it will be seen that all the mental activities of a man are not only exercising a large influence on his own character, and on the life of his neighbors, but must be a potent factor in determining the conduct of large numbers of people whom he has never seen, and of whom he has no knowledge.

HOW ANGER MEANS MURDER. He is living in England, and one day becomes furiously angry with his neighbor. But for the restraints of the law and of the public opinion under which he lives, he would kill him. The incident passes, and it seems to him that nothing has happened. But next day the newspapers inform him that there has been a horrible murder in another part of the country. It occurred at the moment of his own fit of angry feeling. He sees no connection be-tween the two; and yet, but for the ether vibrations he set in motion, and which struck the brain of the man who is now a murderer, the crime would probably - at least it might not have been committed. Or he allows his mind to dwell long on the unclean thought, but commits no wrong act. Another man, however, less completely under control, is driven to do something infamous by reason of the etheric undulations he has started. In a larger sense than we have imagined, if this account of telepathy be true, every man is responsible for his brother's conduct; he may be influencing towards good or evil both those whom he knows and great numbers of whose existence even he is ignorant, and who are living thousands of miles distant from him. And if Jesus Christ knew this to be so, the reason of his strong words will be quite apparent.

"JESUS CHRIST A GREAT THOUGHT-READER."

The more obvious relation of telepathy to answered prayer is next dealt ly-realized and ever-increasing sense of with, and of the money sent in answer to prayer Mr. Hind says:

omic forces of rapidly-expanding wealth-all these vitalizing powers had Can it be that one natural law, essential to this result, cannot without prayer be set in motion; that the inland of Catholicism and feudalism into tense desire of one benevolent mind was needed to cause the ether to vibrate that would induce right action pulse of the Armada the darkness rollon the part of another benevolent ed away. Speaking in general of the records of the life of Jesus, Mr. Hind observes: On the basis of telepathy many of his words and works that have been regarded as supernatural will become quite natural, although, of course, his plane of nature was higher than that of any other man. In the terms of telepathy, Jesus Christ was a great

Death of the Accomplished Bird, Mynan Calls Forth Some Remarkable Bathos.

Almost everybody has heard of Mynah, the little feathered friend which Miss Thursby valued at $10,000. He could speak five languages, play the piano, imitate a banjo, and many other remarkable things. Miss Thursby owned Mynah twelve years, and was almost inconsolable when he died of spinal meningitis about two months ago.

Immediately dozens of clippings, describing the dead bird were sent to her by friends from all over the counletters of condolence began to come, and are still coming; some them from total strangers. The other day the following letter came from Miss Sarah J. Farmer, who is the head and front of the Greenacre movement. with its annual meetings near Portsmouth, N. H.:

"In enclose the picture of dear Mynah which I promised you. It is very lifelike and makes it seem as if he had not flown from our sight. I missed seeing him on my last visit; missed his cordial greeting, so like a happy child's; missed the gentle way in which he would follow us about simply for companionship. To one who had not seen evidence of the real fineness of his nature it would seem almost incredible to listen to the stories his friends tell, but we know their truth. The loveliness of his disposition and the beauty of his voice are beyond comparison. These he canare beyond comparison. These he can-not lose, nor can you. 'In fields elysi-an' you will find him again, and he will not cry so pitifully then, 'I want to get out! I'll come right back.' He touched a tender chord in every heart and he made the world-especially of little children-brighter for his being in it. We would be glad to have that said of us when we go, would we not?"

Some one knocked at Jack Willis' door, and Jack yelled, "Come in!"
The door slowly opened, and a round, red face was cautiously thrust in. It looked as if it might be a dummy on the end of a stick. A neck and a body followed it, however, considerably to

The face exhibited signs of surprise, due respect to your uncle's memory, and I know why, for as long as I had what you have told me proves that he known Jack his office door had stood between himself and his creditors. Doubtless the man with the round face had called often and had learned to ex-

Jack opened the document and gave it a single glance. Surely I saw tears

"That's right," said he, reading my glance of sympathy. "This cuts me deep. I'm sued for the money that I owed Phil Bailey. He's learned that I am on my feet again, and he's in a hurry to collect his due. I wish he had waited and given me a chance to prove my willingness to pay my debts. The man was my class-mate at college, Billy, and has known me ever since I was a boy."
"It's a little rough, Jack, I'll admit,"

He tilted his chair back against the wall and sat there staring at the legal

"Billy," said he at last, "do you know that this is the last debt that I have in the world? Ten days ago their name was legion. I had not been out of debt since the 1st day of July, 1883. "On that fatal day and date," he continued, with considerable emotion, I went to my uncle, Franklin Willis, and asked him for $100. I had just come out of college without a penny-exactly even on the money my father had left to carry me through. "Uncle Frank gave me the money and a lecture on debt. I wish you had seen him, it would help you to understand what I am going to tell you. Uncle Frank was positively the most impressive looking man ever created. He looked like one of the major prophets. You know there is a New England type which is close to that which painters used to portray the somber leader of ancient but magnificent Israel. Uncle Frank had a patriarchal beard and a voice like the bass of a church organ. I had always reverenced and feared him. I remember how in summer evenings, when I was a boy, he used to talk to me of the stars, calling them all by name, and I believe that he could read mortal destiny in them. Well, as I was saying, Uncle Frank lent me the money, and he told me that he regretted doing it on my account.

'If you ever get into debt at this period of your life,' said he, 'you will never get out.' I thought of the stars, and trembled. Yet I had my plans for the payment of this money, and it seemed that they could not go wrong.
"Anyway, I had to have it. That's the point. And if Uncle Frank had been as wise as he was reputed to be or one ten-thousandth part as wise as he looked he would have seen it, and, he looked he would have seen it, and, seeing the necessity, he would not have taken the heart out of me by any such gloomy prophecy. If he had said, 'All right, my boy, here's the money and welcome; I know you'll give it back to me by the 1st of September,' I would have done it, sure. "Instead, he told me that I'd never get out of debt, and he convinced me of it. That manner of his, which, when

Jack, meanwhile had sent to the bank for the balance above Reeve's $750, and so he was able to pay in cash as he had promised. I rejoiced with him, and I could see a light in Millie Blair's eyes. The situation had been ex-plained to her, and she knew that the man she loved was setting himself square with the world.

The solemn clerk counted the money, handed over the receipt and departed. Then we shook hands all around, and after that I was again about to depart. Again there was a rap on the door.

This time a jolly-looking youth, with a little derby hat on one side of his head, answered the call. "Come in!"

"You Mr. Willis?" said he, addressable to get over it. And even now, Billy, with only this debt in the world, and the money ready to pay it, I can't help feeling as all convenient would "Wait here!" cried Jack to us. "Wait here for me!'

He seized his hat and dashed away. As he went by Millie he kissed her-on the end of the nose, I think. It was hasty work, but carried a world of altogether desirable reason that ever animated any one. Has the day been consolation.

Listening at the door he had taken down Jack's letter in shorthand. Then he had come in, ostensibly for the drinking glass, but really to steal some of Jack's paper out of the typewriter table. #### THE BOY AND THE CIGARETTE

Mrs. McDermid, Superintendent of Narcotics, Visits the Public Schools.

I start out with a conundrum. Why, despite knowledge, despite the warnings of parents and teachers, despite the intense nausea produced at the initiatory stage, will the boy smoke? I have been studying boy nature for the last eight years, and have found two principles deeply rooted which may perhaps provide us with a key to the enigma.

At first in my experience I imagined the difficulty was peculiar to my own specimen. Desiring advice I consulted with other mothers, and discovered that what I surmised to be an accident was in reality a principle. To illustrate: Why will a boy of tender years weep and sob convulsively, working himself up into a sickening state of agitation and dread, because he has to wear his Sunday boots to school, said boots being of fine quality and neatly laced up the ankle, while the school boots, of his own choosing, are of coarse leather, thick, clumsy soles, low in the ankle, the eyelets terminating in hideous brass projections around which the laces are twisted? The awful reason is this: the "boys" will laugh at him. This reveals principle one. The second is the intense desire to be manly, to imitate the most valuable, soothing the man. Why should we expect our boys to imitate only the good and eschew the evil, when we ourselves often find it difficult to do the same?

A principal of one of our schools said: "As long as cigarettes are sold, boys will smoke." Then he said that while he did not approve of it for boys, he himself was a smoker. It might be added: As long as men will smoke, will the hove de libraries.

the boys do likewise. Thus the solution of the conundrum with which we started out is to my mind to be worked out by the application of these two characteristics, viz.: The desire to be manly and the fear of being laughed at by other boys. That the cigarette habit is alarmingly on the increase, is a statement that secutive years if necessary in any place that might be appointed; not that I covet Jack's sweetheart, but I wish there was another girl in the world just like her. ject, I have lately been making the rounds of the schools. Let me lay bewhen a very doleful and formal rap was heard, and presently there entered a long, thin lawyer's clerk, who looked as if he had just stepped out of an luish molecular man luish molecular borhood a great source of temptation "This letter is for you, I believe?" to his boys. Another source of dissemination is the boys' club. There a number of the boys have learned to smoke cigarettes. One teacher said that children in the lowest class, "mere to be addressed to be been a communication and I could see that there dawned upon him for the first time that it was somewhat effusive to be addressed to be been a communication of the boys have learned to smoke cigarettes. One teacher said that children in the lowest class, "mere to be addressed to be been a communication of the boys have learned to smoke cigarettes." babies," were paid by young men to learn to smoke, the men providing them with the cigarettes. A man occupying a public position, who has ample opportunity of observing the boys of our city, said: "It is semething wonderful to find one boy in twelve who does not smoke. After their play they congregate and smoke. There is lots of money given to boys for Sunday school that never finds its way into the collection plate-it goes cigars. Parents do not know, nor will they believe, when told, that their boys smoke, while in reality they are doing it all the time." He then described the dreadful condition that some of the boys were in, and added that if these things go on, in 50 years we won't have any men. The principals are desirous that public opinion should be aroused on the subject, and that something be done to stop cigarettesmoking among pupils.

In the meantime boys are being lost. I believe a cigarette-smoker loses all spiritual sense. Mothers, be on the watch! It is not possible that your boy will escape all temptation, and there is always a possibility of his yielding. Oh, let us all lift up our hands and voices against this evil! I am but one, and a weak one at that, but I shall feel that every effort, great or small, was well worth making if one life is made better or purer for my having

The Poets.

The Wolf Is at the Door.

There's a haunting horror near us That nothing drives away; Fierce lamping eyes at nightfall, A crouching shade by day; There's a whining at the threshold, There's a scratching at the floor, To work! To work! In Heaven's name! The wolf is at the door!

The day was long, the night was short, The bed was hard and cold; Still weary are the little ones, Still weary are the old, We are weary in our cradles From our mothers' toil untold, We are born to hoarded weariness

As some to hoarded gold. We will not rise! We will not work! Nothing the day can give Is half so sweet as an hour of sleep; Better to sleep than live! What power can stir these heavy limbs? What hope these dull hearts swell?

What fear more cold, what pain more sharp Than the life we know so well?

To die like a man by lead or stee Is nothing that we should fear; No human death would be worse to feel Than the life that holds us here. But this is a fear no heart can face-A fate no man can dare-To be run to earth and die by the teeth Of the gnawing monster there!

The slow, relentness, padding step That never goes astray-The rustle in the underbrush-The shadow in the way-The straining flight-the long pursuit-The steady gain behind-Death wearied man and tireless brute, And the struggle wild and blind!

There's a hot breath at the keyhole And a tearing as of teeth! Well do I know the bloodshot eyes And the dripping jaws beneath! There's a whining at the threshold-There's a scratching at the floor-To work! To work! In Heaven's name The wolf is at the door! -Charlotte Perkins Stetson.

Why do Some Women Grow Homely so Soon?

That's a question we ask ourselves every day as we watch the daily crowd in great cities, in villages and towns. Women nowadays begin to lose their good looks before they are twenty-five; the lustre leaves their eyes, and the color their cheeks, and in its place comes dulness, sallowness, muddiness, or any unhealthy pallor—and presto! beauty is gone.

Wives and daughters, you do not take proper care of yourselves, that's why your good looks vanish. Our grandmothers and great grandmothers were wiser in their generation than are we today. They did not allow themselves to be so driven as we are, for their steady, continued health gave them strength enabling them to keep abreast of their work which, when it was finished, left them tired, but happy, not as we find ourselves today, bilious and constipated and generally iorlorn.

Their secret will be found in the regular use of herb teas, prominent among them being preparations of clover tops and clover roots. These kept their digestion in good trim, and so made their blood pure and muscles strong. That's why they were so nimble on their feet, and could do their own housework till they were three-score and ten!

Karl's Clover Root Tea revives the use of this wonderful plant in our generation; its formula, prescribed by a famous German physician, is printed on every package. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." Why not try this grand remedy? We guarantee your cure or money refunded.

"I have never felt better in my life than I do mow," says Charles Hunwick, of I, enox, Macomb Co., Mich., in a remarkable letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right along. I can now walk quite well with a cane and hope to throw even that away before long, and as I have had to use crutches for nearly two years, I think I am doing fine. I do not cough now and I can eat and sleep like a school boy. I think I will have to change my mind about 'Patent Medicines,' as I nev— had much faith in them; but you must know that I have been treated in two hospitals and by three doctors besides, and received no benefit; so I think your medicine is the only medicine for me."

There is nothing in the world for constipation like Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They should be taken in conjunction with the "Discovery," whenever any disease is complicated with that langerous condition. Nothing else that may be offered in their place will ac-somplish what they will. And their re-lief is permanent. Write to Dr. Pierce

Why Underwear Shrinks.

It is not always fair to blame the laundry or the washerwoman when your knit underwear shrinks up under your armpits or your ankles bind tightly against your knees. A secret of the manufacturer of such articles has leaked out, and throws a new ray upon the troublesome subject. It seems that a practice prevails in some of the factories of stretching the goods so as to make them from two to four sizes larger than they were knit. The result is that an undershirt that fits a man when purchased will shrink so that it would be just right for his 12year-old son after its third washing. This is due in many instances to this trick of the makers more than to carelessness on the part of the soap and water artists. The dishonest practice on the part of the manufacturers is explained by the fact that there is more profit in knitting small sizes and stretching them than there is in knitting them to the required measura

+++ Linen Showers.

Linen showers is rather an odd name to give to a young ladies' luncheon, but linen showers are the latest. The luncheon is given usually by some mar-ried friend of an engaged girl. Each main beauty upon the decoration of its guest brings a piece of linen, a doily, luncheon is given.

These are only small tokens, and not to be taken in lieu of the wedding present. Frequently a girl's classmates or intimate friends join together and make up a set of doilies or napkins.

The first "linen shower" was given by a lady who tied a filmy linen handkerwith useless trifles.

It does not, however, follow that an present to be worthy of the name recipient's name in running script. She also gave a series of teas from which each guest was expected, like the late George W. Childs' visitors, to carry her cup and saucer home with her.

A handsome wedding present which,
by a little stretch of imagination, might come under this head, is made by several of a girl's friends. Heavy linen, such as is used for sheets, is bought for a bedspread; a large, showy design is stamped out, running toward the center from the corners. Each friend is asked to work a certain amount until the spread is finished.

Lyonnaise Potatoes.

This is one of the most delicious and acceptable ways of warming over potatoes, when a little care and judgment is given to its preparation. But under this name we often find so great a va-She Spelled Her Name.

It was at a fashionable gathering at the Waldorf-Astoria that two stylishly-dressed women bowed cordially to each time that so gleat a variety of dishes that we wonder what is, or should be, the distinguishing feature. Evidently some cooks think that any fried potatoes, flavored with onions, may be called Lyonnaise; and by fried some cooked only until partly colored, and others thin, and dried crisp, all rank with grease and onion, which have sometimes been offered me when I have ordered this dish.

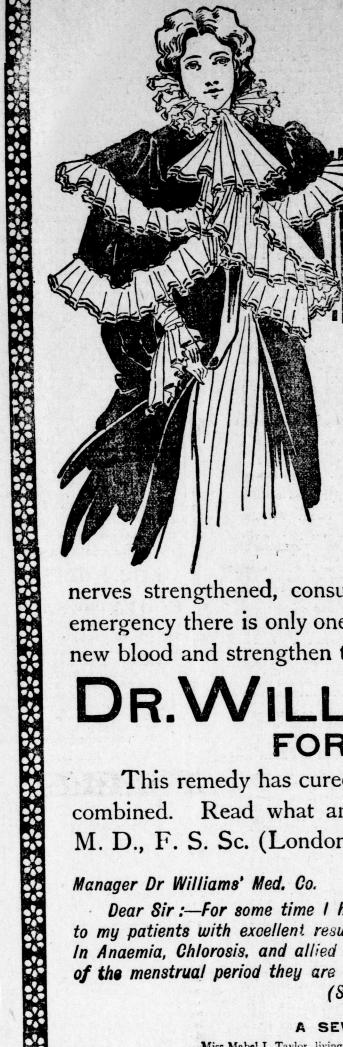

Now, there is a right and a wrong way to prepare even this simple dish, or, to put it less strongly, a careless way, which gives an unappetizing dish, and a careful way, which results in a palatable and delicate addition to the breakfast or luncheon menu. As far as my observation and study have helped in the matter, I have concluded that the heating through with but slight coloring or browning, and the mixture of minced onion and parsely, with the uniformly sliced or diced potatoes, are essential to dishes with this name.

For a fint of potato allow one heaped tablespoonful butter, one level table-spoonful each of fine minced onion and parsely. Cut the potatoes in quarters, lengthwise, to give small, uniform slices. Then, without separating the quarters, slice as if it were a whole potato, in eighth-of-inch slices. Slice them into a broad dish, letting them fall all over the dish, and when you have one layer, sprinkle with salt and pepper. A good rule to follow in this sort of measuring is to season it as if it were something on your own plate, ready to be eaten, using judgment, of course, if you know that any of the family do not care for high seasoning, for those who do can easily add more. Then slice and season another layer, and in this way the potatoes will be uniformly seasoned without any stirring about, and consequent breaking. Have the butter in a broad spider, and when hot, but not at all browned, turn in the onion, and cook slowly until it gives heart was young; his young; his step was firm; his eye was lightly with a fork, until they have his eye was lightly with a fork, until they have absorbed the butter and are hot all through. Sometimes they are then left clear and without stirring until the lower layer is slightly colored, the parsley is sprinkled over the top, and the mass folded over like an omelet, and turned out on the platter. At other times they are turned out without any browning, and with no attempt at giving the omelet shape. We vary them occasionally by adding a tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice with the parsley; or add two tablespoons of chicken

The Tuning Fork Fad.

Collectors have all sorts of fads, but one of the queerest to the average man was that of the late Governor Fuller, of Vermont. His hobby was tuning-forks, and when he died he left a collection of 307 of these musical guides of the Estey Organ Company, of which he was the vice-president, says the Philadelphia Press. They are now on free exhibition at 97 Fifth avenue, and excite at least a languid interest among misicians, though it is the manufacturer of things for producing musio who finds them most interesting. In the lot is a fork used by John Shore, who, in 1711, invented the first tuningfork, though this bit of singing steel is not warranted to be the first of his

There is one that is said to have been used by Handel when he conducted his oratorio, "The Messiah," in 1751, and which was for many years in the pos-session of Richard Clark, a famous musical collector of England. There is

Pale and Bloodless.

Anæmia is the term which doctors use to indicate poverty of the blood. Probably 90 per cent. of the girls and women of to-day suffer from anæmia. This is a startling statementbut it is true. It is easy to distinguish anæmic women. They have a dark semi-circle under the eyes; a sallow or waxy complexion; thin limbs, weak chests and ill developed forms. They are languid and tired; subject to backaches and headaches, and sometimes to hysteria and fainting spells. If the poor and watery blood is not enriched, and the tired and jaded nerves strengthened, consumption must almost inevitably follow. In this emergency there is only one medicine that will promptly and effectively create new blood and strengthen the nerves, and that is

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE.

This remedy has cured more cases of anæmia than all other medicines combined. Read what an eminent Australian physician, J. G. Bourchier, M. D., F. S. Sc. (London) and late government medical officer says:-

Manager Dr Williams' Med. Co.

127 Redfern St., Sydney, N. S. W.

Dear Sir :- For some time I have been in the habit of recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my patients with excellent results. As a tonic their effect is most satisfactory and permanent. In Anaemia, Chlorosis, and allied diseases I have found them very valuable, and in irregularities of the menstrual period they are unequalled.

A SEVERE CASE OF ANÆMIA CURED.

Miss Mabel J. Taylor, living at 1334 City Hall Avenue, Montreal, writes: "I write to give you the honest testimonial of a young girl who believes her life was saved by the use of your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In November, 1897, I was suddenly stricken with loss of voice, and for eight months could only speak in whisper. At the time I was completely run down. I had no appetite, no energy; suffered from headaches, palpitation of the heart, and shortness of breath. I was not able to walk up or down stairs. I was given up by the best doctors, and the different remedies I took did me no good. While in this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had taken four boxes my voice was restored, and after the use of eight boxes I am feeling perfectly well. I cannot find words to express my thanks for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, and you are at liberty to publish this letter, in the hope that it may be of benefit to some other sufferer."

Bruno and Piggy.

Bruno is a great Newfoundland dog, so large that when he stands on his hind feet he can rest his paws on the shoulders of his mistress. But though so tall, he is only a year old, merely a puppy, and as full of fun and play as you can think. His mistress and to think she belongs entirely to him.

But one day his master brought home a pig — a little, pink-skinned fellow, with white bristles, looking pretty enough for any lady to take into her lap. His mistress was ing the bird "sing the time o' day"—charmed with the pig, and made a pet no, indeed! She hurried home from of him at once, much to Bruno's disgust. He became as sulky and jealous as could be whenever she petted piggy, Polly's school got out at half-past eland would never notice the little fellow, unless to give him a spiteful little nip whenever he had a good chance.

Bruno had the poor little fellow in his mouth, and he carried him to a puddle of black, sticky mud, and dropped him into the very middle, where he stuck fast, squealing louder than ever.

Then Bruno came running to his mistress, with his tongue lolling out, and his brown eyes twinkling as much as to say. "I've settled that little dunce, now, haven't I?" "Shame on you, Bruno," said his mistress. "A great dog like you, teasing that poor little piggy. Go straight and get him out!" Bruno turned and scampered back to the puddle. He fished out the little pig, brought him back, and laid him at his mistress' feet, the dirtiest little also a delicate little fork used by Mme. pig you ever saw. She had to get warm water and a broom and scrub him. And all the while Bruno sat there, with his head on one side and tongue hanging out, watching her. And one could almost think they could see that dog laugh!

How Mamma Knew.

It was almost time. Polly sat on the next to the lower stair with her elbows on her knees and her chin in her hands, and waited. Her eyes were fixed on the tiny door that would open in a minute to let the birdie out.

'Oh, I'm glad Uncle O'Ratio gave mamma the cuckos-birdie clock! It's such fun to hear him sing, an' see him come out a-hoppin'!" she murmured contentedly. Then she jumped up a-hopping for the tiny door was quivering, opening:
"There he is!" cried Polly excitedly.

"Sh!" Twelve times the cuckoo-bird sang "coo-coo, coo-coo," in his sweet, clear, he are great friends, and he seems little voice. It was a regular little concert. Then he disappeared again

And he would only say it once at one o'clock, too—and at half-past one. Three ones all in a row. Oh, dear. Then Polly thought of something splendid.

"I know how. too," she cried, clapping her hands. "I've seen mamma, It's just as e-asy! You turn the hand round with your forefinger-O-oo!" She dragged the step-ladder out of the library and climbed up to the tiny door. She opened the big glass door

HOUSEHOLD PETS AND DISEASE

Pet Parrots a Frequent Source of Fatal Maladies.

[From the Medical News.] As the result of an announcement that an Englishman had found that more than 10 per cent of the canaries and other song birds that die in captivity succumb to tuberculosis, there has been considerable attention given in the daily newspapers to the possibility of human infection from that source. We are not of those who like to set up scares of contagion at every possible opportunity, but the fact should be ever kept in mind that the presence of pet animals in a home is always associated with a certain amount of danger. French congress for tuberculosis in completely cured." John Wecknar, Paris demonstrate, to our minds, what has hitherto been very doubtful, that aviary and human tuberculosis are es-

We recall what Nocard, the greatest living authority on tuberculosis in animals, and the man to whom we owe the best culture methods for the tu-bercle bacillus, found in a series of autopsies on dogs. These animals had previously been considered as very refractory to tuberculosis, so much so that for a time their blood serum was used as a curative remedy for the disknew it was up in her lap.

"I meddled, mamma," whispered Poltopsies on unselected dogs that died at the great veterinary school at Alfort, near Paris, that in more than one-half of the animals there were tubercular lesions, and in many of these facile and plenteous disseminators of infective tuberculosis material.

Parrots are known to be peculiarly susceptible to a disease so peculiar to themselves that it is called, from the Greek word for parrot, psittacosis. number of fatal cases in human beings of what was at first supposed to be a malignant influenzal pneumonia were in Paris traced to the bacillus at present thought to be causative of the parrot disease. A certain proportion of parrots are known to die from tuberculosis. Cats are known to sometimes have tuberculosis, and that they have in many cases been carriers of diphtheria and other ordinar infections directly and indirectly is ..... than suspected.

These would seem to be the lacts in the matter. They are, perhaps, not enough to justify a crusade, on sanitary grounds, against the keeping of pet animals. It does not seem unreasonable that we should demand of their owners great care in the matter of detecting the first signs of disease in them, and then so guarding them as to prevent their being a source of contagion to the human. Especially does this warning seem necessary with regard to children.

TORONTO, May 12.—There was a very fair trade done in cattle at the western market this morning. The run was comparatively light, there be-ing 45 carloads, made up of 130 sheep and lambs, 33 calves, 45 milch cows and 120 hogs. Export cattle-Good to choice heavy exporters were quoted at $4 55 to $4 80 per cwt.; offerings moderate; light were in good supply, and brought steady prices, of $4 to $4 55 per cwt. Butchers' cattle—Prices remain unchanged from yesterday, and good to choice were quotable at $4 40 to $4 50 per cwt; an occasional choice one fetched $4 60 per cwt. The supply of inferior grades was excessively light, but medium and common stuff met with a fairly good demand, at prices ranging from $3 25 to $4 25 per cwt. Inferior grades were also in light supply at firmer prices, or $3 per cwt. Bulls-Offerings light; good heavy export bulls steady, at $3 50 to $4 and $4 25 per cwt for choice selections; light stock bulls were in liberal supply, at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt. Stockers and feeders—The arrivals were light, but good stock met with a very good demand, while poorer grades were very slow of sale. Choice heavy stockers were quoted at $4 40 to $4 60 per cwt, and light were steady. Milch cows and calves—Good cows met with a fairly brisk demand, and the light offerings found ready sales, at $40 to $50 for choice selections, and $30 to $40 for de-sirable grades. Choice yeal calves were in ample supply, but the demand was not brisk, and prices were nominally unchanged, desirable grades being quoted at $2 to $8 each. A few bunches of choice stock are wanted. Sheep and lambs steadier; although the supply during the past week has fallen light, the prices have shown a little advance. Sheep for export and butchers' use, with wool, fetched $3 75 to $4 per cwt, and clipped sheep brought $3 50 per cwt. Lambs were in supply at $3 50 to $4 per cwt, and spring lambs quoted a little lower prices—$2 to $4 50. Yearlings in good demand, at $3 to $5 65 per cwt, and bucks were quiet, at higher prices, or $3 to $3 50 per cwt. Hogs—Receipts not very large, and demand good; choice selections brought

$4 62½ per cwt; light and thick fat were firm, at $4 25 per cwt. Sows fetched $3 per cwt; stags in small supply, at $2 per cwt. OLD COUNTRY PRICES Liverpool, May 12.-Trade here is slow. # SIX BURGLARS!

Cleaned Out the Standard Bank at Bowmanville Last Night.

Tied and Gagged the Watchman-Wrecked Vault and Safe.

Bowmanville, Ont., May 13.-Six men broke into the Standard Bank last night and cleaned the place completely

They tied and gagged the night watchman. The safe and the vault were knocked all to pieces.

HOW THE JOB WAS DONE. [Special to The Advertiser per G.N.W.] Bowmanville, May 13.-The burglarized bank building is a brick structure, built in 1894, and is equipped with the latest and most improved burglar-proof appliances. The burglars first went to the police office and seized the night watchman, Henry Metcalfe. After blindfolding and gagging him, they took a pair of handcuffs he had, and put them on him, and told him what they were going to do, and to keep quiet or they would shoot him. They then escorted him over to the bank which is only across the corner, and commenced operations. Metcalfe was guarded by one man with a revolver, while the other entered the bank by removing a pane of glass in one of the windows. The front door was then pried open. Three explosions took place in quick succession, and in about half an hour the three doors leading to the place where the valuables were deposited were shattered. About $11,000 belonging to the bank, $110 belonging to the Canada Life Insurance Company, and a lot of valuables, the property of private citizens, were car-

As soon as the job was finished they carried Night Watchman Metcalfe into the bank and departed for parts unknown. Metcalfe was found there about 5 o'clock this morning.

The force of the explosion blew off the heavy door and demolished the safe beyond repair. The building was not damaged. The office clock stopped at 24 minutes after 2.

Latest Details From the Scene of the Reading Railway Disaster.

MORE DEATHS.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 13.—Three cars of the ill-fated second section, which crushed into the first section of the "Cannon Ball" express train at Exeter, last night, arrived here this morning When the three cars which arrived here left the scene of the wreck they carried a large number of the injured and others who escaped injury. Some of the injured were taken off at Pottstown, and fifteen were removed to hospitals at Norristown. While the train was standing at the latter place two of the injured died before they could be removed.

ENGINEER ORRELL'S STATEMENT When the train arrived here there were on board Harry Orrell, the engineer of the second train, his fireman, W. L. Everett, both of whom are hurt. The railroad employes warmly congratulated the engineer and frem their miraculous escape from death. As the oil-begrimed railroaders shook hands, tears came to the eyes of many.

Orrell had been reported dead, but the only injury he received was a bad scalp wound. His head was bandaged and blood covered his face, hands and clothing. His fireman was slightly injured about the back. In an interview with a reporter on the Associated Press. Orrell said he could not account for the accident. He said: "We left Reading a little late. We were going at the rate of between 35 and 40 miles an hour, and everything appeared to be all right. Just before reaching Exeter there is a curve. After we had rounded it and had straightened out I was horrified to see loom up a few hundred yards ahead the first section. instantly reversed the lever, but before I could stop the eigine we went into the rear of the train ahead with a terrible crash. My engine plowed through the day coach, which in turn crashed half-way through the Pull-man parlor car. The impetus of the collision sent the parlor car half-way through the day coach in front of it. I did not know where I was for a time, but finally discovered mystelf imprisoned among twisted iron, splintered wood and broken glass. I got out of the wreck unaided. How I escaped without more serious injuries I cannot tell. I don't know how many are dead and injured, but they tell me the number is large." REVISED LIST OF DEAD, The following are the dead: C. L. Laverty, Harrisburg, Pa. L. Juster, Pottstown, Pa. Frank D. Shaner, Norristown Ex-Postmaster Geo. w. schall, Norris-

IMPATIENT BRIDEGROM CHAR-TERED A SPECIAL.

Winnipeg, May 13.-Mr. D. Clarke Robertson, of Honolulu, formerly of Vankleek Hill, who was married at Russell, Man., missed the regular train out, and chartered a special for the trip of 200 miles from Winnipeg and return, in order that the wedding should not be postponed.

The committee desire to place before the ratepayers the following particulars in reference to Permanent Sidewalk construction:

In lieu of the usual construction of plank walks where new walks are necessary, the committee are in a posi-tion to make arrangements under the provisions of the Local Improvement Section of the Municipal Act for the construction of at least an equal, and probably a larger, extent of new Cement Walks, and will advertise a certain number of such walks in the manner prescribed by the act. These walks will in due course be laid during the current year, unless objected to by petitions, which in the case of any specific work must be signed by a majority in numbers of the owners of the property benefited, representing at least one-half of the assesssed value of such property, and which petitions must be filed in the office of the City Clerk within the period of 30 days following the second insertion of the advertisement of such work. By resolution of the City Council, and in conformity with the Municipal Act and amendments thereto, 50 per cent of the cost of these works, as well as the whole of the cost of street intersections and exemptions will be assumed by the city as its share of the works, and the owners of property benefited will pay a frontage rate for ten years sufficient to pay for one-half of the work constructed in front of their properties. This will amount to about 3% cents per foot per annum for a walk 4 feet wide, about 4 cents for a 5-foot walk, 41/2 cents for a 6-foot walk, 5% cents for a

7-foot walk, 6% cents for an 8-foot walk, etc. On the frontage of corner lots there will be an allowance of one-third off the side measurement of the lot in all cases where a permanent walk is or has been constructed on both front-ages of the lot. While the committee have taken steps to commence the work under the initiative section of the act, they desire to extend such construction to other portions of the city which may not be in such urgent need of new walks as the frontages advertised, and will be prepared to consider petitions from such property-owners desire to have walks built (which must be signed by at least two-thirds in number of the owners of the property to be benefited, according to the last revised assessment roll, and such owners must represent at least one-half in value of such real property), and to recommend them to the council as far as they find it practicable or judicious to do so. It will, of course, take some years to thoroughly remodel the sidewalks, and the committee desire the active and kindly co-operation of the citizens in order that the new system may be made as practically useful and acommodating to all as it is possible to be. The great improvement in the appearance of the city which will be the necessary consequence of the adoption of the system of permanent construction, will very shortly prove best possible argument for its continued prosecution. ALD. H. M. DOUGLASS, Chairman Board of Works.

JULIA ARTHUR

Punishes an Attempt to Flirt With a Girl in the Cast.

New Haven, Conn., May 13.—Julia Arthur made a sensation at the Hy-perion Theater Theater last evening, where she was playing "A Lady of Quality." Near the end of the last act Quality." she stopped the play and pointed to a man in the audience who, she said, was trying to flirt with one of the women in the cast. She declared that the play could not go on until this man left the theater. She rang the curtain down and left the stage. In the confusion that followed a halfdrunken man arose and hurriedly left the house. Miss Arthur then told the audience that she could not play unless the audience gave her their attention; she said she was sorry to have to delay the performance. She then rang up the curtain and the play proceeded. audience almost went wild with applause.

All Foreigners Ordered to Leave In surgent Territory-Fresh U. S. Troops Go to the Front.

Manila, May 13-12:30 p.m.-Aguinaldo has issued orders that all foreigners must leave insurgent territory within 48 hours. There are only a few commercial men there, mostly English and Germans. Aguinaldo believes that by refusing frem the rights of non-combatants, he can force their governments to recognize the belligerency of his socalled government, in order that they may treat for the safety of their subjects. A Filipino priest, who had talked with the Tagal general, Treas, has brought to Father McKinnon, chaplain of the First California Regiment, a copy of a letter written by Aguinaldo to Gen. Treas, asking his opinion as to the advisability of surrendering, saying: "I fear that the long warfare that will be necessary to conquer the United States will drain the country's resources too much."

Fresh United States troops are beginning to go to the front. Two batta-lions of the Seventeenth Infantry (regulars), that had been holding the lines about the city of Manila, will join Major-Gen. MacArthur's division at San Fernando, and one battalion of the same regiment will reinforce Mat .-Gen. Lawton's division near Bacolor. New York, May 13 .- A special to the World from Hot Springs, Va., says:

"Force the fighting. Penetrate far into the interior and capture or destroy every warring Filipino." That is the pith of a long cipher cablegram President McKinley sent to Gen. Otis in Manila. It was prompted by several dispatches from Gen. Otis, transmitted by Secretary Alger, which greatly encouraged the president. A CANADIAN HELD PRISONER. At an informal meeting held this morning the rules and regulations submitted by the committee were discussed, and some changes

The first cheese market will be held this afternoon. The season's prospects are considered much brighter than they were last year. The English market is stripped bare, and owing to improved prices for butter and beef, much of the milk is being converted into butter, and a good deal is being fed to calves, considerably reducing the probable output of cheese and insuring better prices. Among those in attendance at to-day's meeting are: W. S. Sifton, Strathroy; D. McDonald, Brigden; Sam H. Nagle, Muncey; J. S. Pearce, London; E. S. Hunt, North street; Wm. ## BREAD LIKE

Turned Out by the Thousand Loaves

The science of bread-making on an extensive scale has been carefully quite willing to arbitrate the question studied by the Parnell-Dean Steam Baking Company, and the result is evident in their mammoth new plant, ] erected in South London. The new plant is without doubt one the best equipped in the Dominion. Ald. Parnell, who is at the head of the firm, has traveled extensively through Canada and England, always with an eye open for modern improvements which he might make use of in his own business. The output of this bakery is of the very finest quality. The Parnell-Dean label on a loaf of bread signifies that scrupulous cleanliness has been observed in its manufacture; that it is absolutely pure. This fact is appreciated by thousands of housekeepers, consequently the company have to keep seven delivery rigs constantly on the move, and also attend to a large and steadily increasing shipping busi-

The bakery consists of a mixing and flour room on the second floor, con-nected with the bake shop proper on the third floor by a shaft down which the dough is sent to be weighed and prepared for the ovens. There are three ovens, having a total capacity of 800 loaves. The cooling room adjoining has a capacity for 5,000 loaves. From it the bread is placed in the carts ready for delivery. In the mixing room there are at times 50 tons of flour. The place is heated by steam, lighted by electricity, finished with double hardwood floors, and supplied throughout with hot and cold water pipes. The ventilation system is complete, and from top to bottom the place is as clean as a new pin. Seventeen hands are engaged altogether, and the weekly pay sheet amounts to over $150 a week. For the accommodation of the employes a fully-equipped bathroom with lockers is supplied.

Wheat sowing in Manitoba is now progressing favorably, a week earlier than last spring, and Hunt Bros. are now hopeful of a plentiful supply of that grandest of wheats for the manufacture of their celebrated "Diamond Flour" for the coming year.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil -a pulmonic, of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial results.

A DINNER PILL.-Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food par-taken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmlee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment.
They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

Rowland, giving her his arm, they quitted the ante-room; in doing so, they came face to face with those of whom they were in search—Mr. Rylands and his daughter.

As Marian beheld the two together a hardness contracted her lips, which all the future smiles with which she strove to adorn her pretty countenance, on hearing of her cousin's success, could not soften. "Affairs are advancing far too quickly," she thought. "It is well the Darnleys have arrived in town today. It is my last card, and I must not delay in playing it." Before the evening was over she found an opportunity to inform Lady

Mary of Capt. Jack's presence in Lon-

Her ladyship was far too well bred to display any emotion; yet the color did slightly mount to her oval cheek, the glance of her eyes waver-indica-tions which confirmed Marian's belief, and filled her with delight.

CHAPTER XIL "Rowland, can you give me a few minutes in the library?" So spoke the baronet, as he quitted the luncheon table the noon following the return from Colndale. "Certainly, sir. I can come at once," replied his son, rising, and following his father, leaving Lady Mary alone. On reaching the library, Sir Merton threw himself in his study-chair, and paused, reflecting. The step he had resolved to take, the task he had set himself, was no easy one, and he felt it

Believing the business had to do with the election, Rowland waited for his father to speak. Finally, the baronet began in a grave, but kindly, tone.

"Rowland, I am aware of the delicacy, also the difficulty, which attend object to which I desire to draw your attention; but I pray you to bear with me, as your father. Tie young man started. The truth instantly flashed across him. His brow contracted with pain, as much as anger. Averting his face quickly, his hands involuntarily clenching, he said, in a

"Father, spare me! Are you not aware-do you not know it is impos-

"I know, Rowland-I am aware," proceeded Sir Merton, with much feel-"that you are my pride, my joy, hope. As my years advance, as active life declines, my delight is to see it repeated and carried on in you. I am aware you are my son-my son Rowland—and the last true Gower of our ancient race.'

The other abruptly bent forward, his elbows on his knees, his face buried in his hands. Was that a stifled groan that broke from his lips?

"Rowley, my boy," went on the bar-onet, affection in every accent, "I have, I am sure, no need to tell you—a gentleman in race, in justifiable pride, in ambition, and in heart and soulof the duty which rests on your shoulders as the last of the Gowers. It is mills here, had a miraculous escape your duty, not your affection, I would from death on Thursday evening. He entreat you to consider. I was leaning against the elevator gate will not speak of the past, save that on the fourth flat watching for the eleconscious that you can recognize the imperative necessity for your mar-riage without help from me."

There was silence. Rowland did not start erect, and repeat that it was impossible. His father had struck a strong cord. Only those born, and proud, of an ancient race can understand the pride there is in the knowledge, also the fear there is in the thought, that the race, time-honored, should through them, become extinct, wiped from society's roll. But could he be false to his love, though its object had been false to him? It seemed possible. It was agony past contemplation. But this time the power was in the baronet's hands. He held it in the word "duty." He marked the speechless suffering in his son's pale, drawn face; but he was pitiless. Skillfuly, insidiously he argued, pleaded, reas-oned. He put it in all lights—the strongest that, even as a sacrifice of self, Rowland should bow to duty. Beginning for some minutes to reflect, Rowland, rising, paced the room. In less than half an hour he came back, and, leaning on the back of his "If it really be my duty-if my race lemand it of me-so must it be. Fa-ther, what do you wish?"

The baronet could not refrain from starting as he marked the great change already in his son's countenance. For a second, pity strove to dominate desire. Only for a second. Banishing the emotion, Sir Merton rejoined: "My dear Rowland, that you should wed Lady Mary."

"No, answered the other resolutely.
will marry, if it must be; but not 'Good heavens! Why?" ejeculated the baronet, amazed. "I could not so insult her, sir, I honor, I venerate her too much. She is too beautiful, too good, to be wedded to one who cannot giver her a heart."

"Let her be the judge of that," remarked Sir Merton, quietly.

"How?" and Rowland glanced quickly up, questioning.
"My boy, I am assured Lady Mary

Joseph Chamberlain Secures $1,250,000 for Birmingham University-Interesting Ceremony in Which the Queen Will Participate.

[Special Cable Letter to The Advering the name he dreaded. "There are no confessions to make. Will you not tiser.]

London, May 13.-With beautiful summer-like weather this week, the season seems to be finally in full swing. The hotels, picture exhibitions and Rotten Row are crowded daily, while numerous parties given by hostesses prominent in the social world, fill every night. The polo season has opened at Hurlingham and Ranelagh, and the country clubs are also attracting large numbers of fashionable peofought over those mementos locked so

THE QUEEN'S VISIT TO LONDON. The greatest interest centers in the Queen's visit to London, next week, to hold a drawing-room and lay the foundation stone of the Albert and Victoria Museum at Kensington, Tuesday's drawing-room, naturally, will be the most brilliant of the season. There has been a rush of great ladies to attend this particular function, but a great deal of heart-burn-ing has been occasioned by the system bellot which the new lord chamberlain has inaugurated, and under which many prominent people are excluded. By this novel mode of selection the names of well-known peeresses and of people unknown to fame are mixed together in a manner very distasteful to the former. Several titled ladies, when they found that they had been unsuccessful in the bailot, made representations to the highest quarters, with the result that even at the last moment there have been changes in the list. In spite of this a number of well-known ladles had their claims ignored. Mrs. Joseph H. Choate, wife of the United States ambassador here, will present to the Queen, Mrs. Alfred Parish, her sister; Miss Jennings, of New York, and Miss Nora Neff, of Chicago.

A SENTIMENTAL VISIT. The Queen is to come from Windsor on Monday, and will visit Kensington Palace, where her old apartments have been renovated preparatory to opening the palace to the public. Her Majest's visit will be of a sentimental nature, as the rooms where she lived as a young girl have been restored to their former condition. Her bedroom contains showcases filled with her old toys, and her doll's house stands upon a table in the ante-chamber.

THE RACING. The smart racing set, headed by the Prince of Wales, has been at New market all the week, where Tod Sloan, the American jockey, gave wonderful exhibitions of horsemanship, and gained some of his victories by his amazing skill and judgment. Sloan now holds the record for the Newmarket course, which, up to Thursday, was 52 vator, which, happily, was still moving wins and 52 losses. A SUCCESSFUL BEGGAR

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain blossomed forth this week as a successful beggar in the cause of philanthropy. He recently asked $1,250,000 for the Birmingham University, and Mr. Andrew Carnegie's gift practically completes the sun required. The conditions of Mr. Carnegie's donation meet the warm high degree by Charles Wagner, of this place, who tickled the animal's nose with a $10 bill. The goat suddenly approval of thep ress. The Daily News suggests that Mrs. Chamberlain's sweet compulsion was instrumental in securing Mr. Carnegie's handsome contribution. Mr. Chamberlain, on Wednesday, presided at a dinner in aid of a fund for the establishment of his school of tropical medicine, and by the time the coffee was reached, subscriptions amounting to £15,800 had been announced. Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of an interesting speech at this dinner on "The White Man's Burden," dwelt upon the fact that the greatest enemy of the white man was not the hostility of savage chiefs, the influence of barbarous customs, or the physical difficulties of tropical countries, but malarial fevers. A new school, devoted to experiments and re-PEOPLE PAST MID-LIFE STRONG search for remedies for tropical diseases will be situated in the vicinity of the docks, where subjects are never lacking.

WELL TREATED. Lieut.-Col. Alfred E. Bates, formerly military attache of the American embassy, who sails for the United States today, on board the American Line steamer St. Louis, spoke warmly to the correspondent here of the Associated Press regarding the courtesy with which he had been received on all sides since coming to London. Speaking of the Philippines Col. Bates said: ing of the Philippines, Col. Bates said: I can say, of my own knowledge, that British military men applaud our troops out there, while they regard our splendid naval officers and sailors as H. J. Childs, drug the heroes of the war. They have become as well known and highly appreciated here among service men as they are in America."

Mr. Dwight L. Moody, the American evangelist, has accepted an invita-tion to hold revival meetings at Glasgow in October next.

The International Art Exhibition, of

Which Mr. James McNeill Whistler, is the chief promoter, opened on Monday. The exhibition attracted much attention, but proved a disappointment, in that it did not equal the high standard established last year. Critics la-ment Mr. Whistler's failure to produce anything equal to his past work.

INTERESTING CEREMONY.

The ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the Victoria and Albert Museum on Wednesday will be a very interesting one. The Queen will drive through the streets lined with troops, from Buckingham Palace, the royal cortege being escorted by the Life Guards. Her Majesty will be escorted by several princes and princesses and other royal personages will meet her at the site of the museum, where a raised dais will be reserved for them. A great pavilion will be erected, in which will be seated the ambassadors, mem-bers of the cabinet and leading state officials. The Prince of Wales will re-ceive the Queen, the National Anthem fluttering sensation around my heart, improved my appetite very much, and I do not hesitate to recommend them as an excellent remedy for all heart and nerve troubles. will be sung by pupils of the Royal College of Music. Afterwards a madrigal, specially composed by Mr. Alfred Austin, the poet laurate, will be sung to special music written by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, principal of the Royal Academy of Music. His grace, the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of all England, will read the prayers. The event is certain to be the oc-casion of a great patriotic demonstra-

WOMEN CAN COME IN

Catholic Knights Finally Decide to Admit Them.

Kansas City, Mo., May 12 .- A controversy of ten years' standing was set-tled by the Catholic Knights of America yesterday, when the delegates meeting here in annual convention voted to admit women to the order.

On Wednesday the resolution propos-ing this change in the constitution was voted down, failing by 32 votes to receive the necessary two-thirds majority. Yesterday there was a complete change of front. At the afternoon's session a reconsideration was moved and carried, and a vote was retaken without debate. The result was a sur-prising total of 432 votes in favor of the women to 29 against them.

The convention greeted the result with applause. Though the women will be admitted under the amended constitution they will be permitted to carry but $1,000 insurance, or one-half the amount that is allowed to men.

"The wedding of Miss Elva Cecil Smith, and C. H. Thoman, of Sparta, was one of the most beautiful ever witnessed on Cookeville. The mar-riage occurred at the beautiful home of the bride's father, Capt. Walton Smith. Miss Daisy Martin presided at the piano, playing one sweet strain after another, until promptly at half-past five o'clock sounded forth Men-delssohn's Wedding March, and down the broad stairway ception hall came Misses Alma Smith, Ova Boyd, Ruth Gollithan, Grace Lee, Maggie Denny and Jessie Duke, the bridesmaids, in couples, attired in white organdies, with crimson belts and sashes, and carrying in their arms huge bouquets of snowballs. Preceding the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Ella Donelson, was Miss Bessie Arnold, who carried a bunch of ferns. The bride's loveliness was enhanced by the beauty and simplicity of her wedding gown, the sheerest of white organdies, almost covered in white satin ribbon, and a large picture hat of white chip. In her hands she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mr. Thoman, with his best man, D. H. Quarles, of Sparta, met his bride at the foot of the stairway, where a bower of ferns and snowballs had been erected, and around which were grouped the eight bridesmaids. Rev. J. W. Sneed, pastor of the Cumber-land Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony. The bride's souvenir to the best man was a silver letter opener, while that of the groom to the bridesmaids were silver hearts, set with turquoise, and on which were enengraved 'Cecil.' Soon after the ceremony the bridal party left for Sparta where a reception was tendered them at the Rhea House."

-A most enjoyable bicycle run was participated in last evening by the members of the Manhattan Club, and their lady friends. Like other social events undertaken by this club, the run was a great success, about twenty couples attending. The route taken was to Pond Mills by Wellington road, returning via Lambeth, and the roads were found to be in grand condition atter the recent rain. A tasty lunch completed a pleasant evening.

-Mr. Wm. Sime, a respected resident of Lordon for over half a century, died at an early hour yesterday at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. George McNeill, 201 Mill street. Mr. Sime had been in poor health for three or four years. He came to London from Scotland in 1845, and for nearly thirty years he engaged in the shoe business on Dundas street, in which he was very successful. A family of three children survive-Mrs. McNeili, Mrs. Wallace, of Lichfield street, and Andrew, of the Wabash Railway, Detroit.

-The annual meeting of the board of management of the Centennial Methodist Church Sunday school was held on Thursday evening. All the reports showed the school to be in a healthy and prosperous condition. Both the attendance and the financial receipts are in advance of the previous year. The following officers were elected: Super-intendent, E. L. Liddicott; assistant su-perintendent, Robert Willis; secretary, M. W. Althouse; treasurer, William Pring; librarian; Thomas Leah; assistant librarians, Henry Martyn, E. Matthews, Wm. Bartlett; chorister, D. L. Hardey; pianist, C. Wickett; assistant pianist, Miss J. Leathorn.

-The following list of patents recently granted in Canada is reported for The Advertiser by P. J. Edmunds, international patent solicitor, London: Canada patents-N. McDougald, Allenford, cattle feed heater; T. L. Willson, St. Catharines, process of and apparatus for the manufacture of metallic carbides; J. Hayden, Brantford, method of securing cranks to axles; F. Downing, Toronto, birdcage perch; R. Goltman, Montreal, "The Stenographers' Companion" (book copyright). United States patents—Wm. Wilson, London, egg or fruit case; A. J. Jackson, Toronto, black-plate for suspenders (design patent); J. Sharpe, Gravenhurst, turbine water-wheel; T. S. Jones, Prince Albert, measuring device; J. Hislop, Montreal, medical preparation (trade mark); A. A. Dickson, Toronto, peat fuel press.

IN A HURRY. Policeman Thomas McDonald advertised in The Advertiser the loss of a watch, handing in the advertisement at 2:30 yesterday. At 4 o'clock, just fifteen minutes after the paper was issued, a lady called at The Advertiser office with the watch, having read the advertisement in The Advertiser. This demonstrates that the home paper is the one that is read by everyone.

SIXTY YEARS MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Deacon, of 23 Garfield avenue, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding day yesterday. They spent a quiet and pleasant time reading letters full of good wishes from many friends, both in the city and distant places, and several of their children and grandchildren called during the course of the day in honor of the occasion.

OF P. MULKERN

The Well-Known Barrister Succumbed to Heart Trouble.

Returned From the Fall Game and Died a Few Minutes After Reaching Home.

Mr. Patrick Mulkern, one of London's most prominent barristers, died suddenly at his residence last evening, of heart trouble. Deceased was a member of the law firm of Gibbons, Mulkern & Harper.

Mr. Mulkern was apparently in his usual good health yesterday, attended to his business, and in the afternoon witnessed the ball game. He arrived at his home, 504 Wellington street, about 6:15, where he greeted the members of his family as usual. He complained of feeling a little strange, and walked up to his room, paper in hand, to read. No sooner had he entered than he sank on a sofa, and gasped for breath, soon becoming unconscious. His wife, who had followed him to his r om, ran for assistance, and Dr. Jento and Dr. Waugh were called. Mr. Mulkern never regained consciousness. Death ensued a few minutes later, and is ascribed to a blood clot in the heart. Mr. Mulkern was a native of London and was 44 years of age. He was educated in Lexington, Ky., and studied law under the late Warren Rock, and Mr. Hugh MacMahon (now Justice). In 1881 he was called to the bar, and became a member of the firm of Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern in the same year.

eldest daughter of Mr. Moses Masuret, wholesale grocer.

The widow and three daughters, Elsie, Regina and Dorothy, survive. Mr. Mulkern was a separate school trustee for No. 4 ward, was a past president of the Irish Benevolent Society, an ex-president of the Con-servative Club, and a member of the Princess Skating Rink Company.

A meeting of the Middlesex Bar Association will be held this afternoon to take action respecting Mr. Mulkern's death. On June 18, 1895, Mr. George McNah of the same firm of which Mr. Mulkern was a member, was killed while out riding, by being thrown from his horse against a tree.

A Pioneer Passes To His Last Rest

Another of the few remaining links of the days of 1820-30, pioneers indeed. has been broken. There passed away at 2:30 this morning, at the family residence, corner of Askin and Ridout streets, South London, one of the oldest residents of London in the person of Mr. Adam Wheaton, he having settled here 64 years ago. Mr. Wheaton had been troubled for many months with an internal malady, and his death was a happy release from acute suffering.

The late Adam Wheaton was born in Nissouri township, at the old Wheaton homestead, in November, 1821, his father being one of the King's Rangers who fought in the battle of Lundy's Lane in 1812, where he lost an eye. Deceased came to London when only fourteen years of age. He was married to Esther M. Beach, also of West-minster, on June 3, 1845, by the late Rev. Ephraim Evans, and settled in the city only a few days later, the estimable couple having been continuous residents ever since. Mr. Wheaton had experienced many ups and downs during his long career. He was a carpenter by trade, and was associated largely with the late Samuel Peters in work on many of the oldest buildings in the city. In politics he was a lifelong Liberal, and even of late years took a great interest in elec-tion contests and the work incident thereto. A total abstainer all his life, he was one of the charter members of the Sons of Temperance in this city, and, along with the late Edward Rowland, the originator of the Temperance Cadets in connection with that body. He was a member of London Council, No. 233 Royal Arcanum. Deceased was of a retiring disposition, a fond husband, an indulgent parent, and highly respected by all with whom he came in contact for his sterling integrity. His stories of life in Westminster in the '30's, when wolves were plentiful, were exceedingly interesting to the younger generations. An unusual feature of Mr. Wheaton's long life is the fact that out of a numerous descendancy his own death is the first break in the chain of 54 years of happy wedded life, which resulted in 6 children, 15 grandchildren, and 4 great-grandchildren. The children are: Edwin T., of Bradford, Pa.; Lewis W., of the Lehigh Valley, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Richard Baker, of Toronto; Mrs. W. J. Gilbert, of Toronto; Mrs. Wm. Fleming, of this city, and Miss Millie, at home, all of whom, with their bereaved mother, have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their affliction. The funeral takes place Monday afternoon to Mount Pleasant
