Proposal Opposed by All the Premiers-Would Have Been a Blow at Self-Government.

Cape Town, July 7 .- Lord Milner, the British high commissioner, has received a dispatch announcing that the Imperial Government has decided against the proposal to suspend the constitution of Cape Colony.

The Imperial Government has notified the acting premier that the colonial parliament should be assembled as speedily as possible. The reply of the colonial secretary to the petition for the suspension of the

It will be necessary to pass an act of indemnity, on account of violations of the constitution, and it may also perhaps be needful to confer special powers on the Cape Government for carrying out the pacification of the colony and the maintenance of British interests. The government was satisfied that the Cape Parliamenit would take the necessary steps to provide for the security of the colony and to dis-courage the racial and political controversy which was interfering with its prosperity, and which can serve no The evidence shows that the food community having common interests in the peace and prosperity of South

CAPE PARLIAMENT MUST ACT. Mr. Chamberlain concludes with remarking that the government considers it unjustifiable to assume beforehand that the colonial parliament will refuse the necessary legislation, and is of the opinion that the parliament of Cape Colony should assemble as soon as possible, and that the requisite legislation should be introduced, especially as the Imperial Government was assured that the moderates of all parties desire to avoid further strife and wish to allay the passions ex-

In many cases the After two meetings the colonial premiers did not get "much forrader" (to quote one member), nor does there seem to be a prospect of reaching any conclusions in the immediate future. The question of imperial defense was put up first, as being the least argumentative, but even here difficulties have arisen.

Canada, and Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the prime minister of Cape Colony, appear to differ materially from Edmund Barton, the premier of Australia, and Richard J. Seddon, prime minister of New Zealand, as to what the colonies ought to do.

Mr. Seddon is being constantly employed as spokesman both in and out of the councils, and this has given rise to no little jealously among his brother premiers. Canadian circles openly ex-press dissatisfaction and declare that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not being treated with the deference due to a man whose imperial statesmanship is so universally admired. The elaborate manner in which Sir Wilfrid's forthcoming reception in Paris has been heralded in the English press was to no little extent due to a desire to emphasize Canadian disgruntlement.

ALL AGREED. In the fight against the suspension of the constitution of Cape Colony, Sir John Gordon Sprigg had the tacit support of all the colonial premiers, who feared that the suspension might create a precedent most dangerous their constituencies. It is said that before the premier of Cape Colony attained his purpose unusually sharp passages occurred between himself and Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary. The decision of the British cabinet not to suspend Cape Colony's constitu-Lord Milner's prestige. The latter openly opposed the premier, and Sir John's victory is not likely to improve relations which were already strained. Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the premier, of Cape Colony, in an interview regarding the decision of the imperial government not to suspend the constitution of Cape Colony, said: "If the petition had been granted it would have caused apprehension regarding the position governing colony, since it involved the whole question of free constitutional government. The decision will promote peace and reconciliation in South Africa. The suspension of the constitution would have had a reverse effect." The Earl of Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, stated at the conference the views of his department with regard to imperial defense. The five colonial premiers spoke, giving the views of their respective governments. The proceedings were confidential, but the belief is that Lord Selborne suggested that each colony should contribute to the defense of the Empire.

The Commander and Gen. French Have Arrived at Las Palmas En Route to England.

London, July 7 .- It has been decided to bring into London to line streets on the occasion of Lord Kitchener's homecoming next Friday or Saturday, 500 cavalry and 10,000 infantry, exclusive of garrison in London and the troops from Windsor and Houndslow, the whole making a total of more than 15,000 men. The colonial troops who came home from South Africa in the Bavarian are to be retained until after Lord Kitchener's arrival, and will, it is understood, have a place in the general's reception, in which the Indian and other colonial troops may also participate.

AT LAS PALMAS. Las Palmas, July 6.-Gen, Kitchener and Gen. French, who are returning to England from South Africa, arrived here at sunset this evening. Both are morning to make information against in good health. They were struck with the rioters, and returned to the Lykens consternation when they learned of the King's illness and the postponement of the coronation. The naval and military governors boarded the transport and welcomed them. Kitchener did not come ashore. Other officers on the transport described the Transvaal as a splendid country.

Many of them will return there. This week both the Queen and Prince of Wales will take active parts in the reception to be given to Lord Kitchener, but even the prospect of the coming of the conquering hero good purpose among members of a has not given an incentive to business, which is at a very low ebb indeed. Complaint is rife in city commercial circles that there is nothing doing. The postponement of the coronation has apparently had a distinctly bad effect on trade, and no revival is anticipated for some time. The season, from which so much was expected, has suddenly lapsed, and while there is universal regret over the lamentable cause, there is general relief among the sober-minded Londoners over the prospect of quieter times and normal conditions, the pressure of the swollen traffic reduced in the streets and a cessation of the hurly-burly and incessant move-The government was hopeful that ment of crowds from early morning to midnight. When James McCollum, of Windsor, was taken with a fatal illness six years ago, and removed to St. Mary's Hospital, Detroit, he had for a nurse James H. Strongman, who attended him with the greatest care. A friendship sprang up between Mrs. McCollum and the nurse during her husband's illness, but, after Mr. McCollum's death Strongman left for China, where he remained up to a few China, where he remained up to a few months ago, when he returned to Detroit, and in the course of time made inquiries and in the course of time made inquiries about Mrs. McCollum. Learning that she was still a widow, he called and renewed his acquaintance, and his visits to her home on Pelissier street, Windsor, became very regular. Mrs. McCollum was taken seriously ill while the visits were going on, and Strongman assisted in nursing her back to health. A short time ago Mrs. Strongman had so far recovered that she was able to travel and the two journeyed to Ridgetown, where they were married by Rev. John Kennedy. They will reside in Windsor.

CHINA APPEALS TO "UNCLE SAM"

Troops in Tien Tsin.

WANTS THE PLACE EVACUATED WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM

Secretary Hay Will Communicate With Various Powers Interested in Behalf of China.

Washington, July 5. - The Chinese Government has appealed to the Government of the United States to use its good offices to cause the allied powers who still recision their coldiers. powers who still retain their soldiers in Tien Tsin to evacuate that place in conformity with the spirit of the agreement of Pekin, which settled the Boxer troubles. The appeal was made on Saturday by Minister Wu directly to Secretary Hay, in the shape of a cablegram from Viceroy Yuan Shin-Kai, of Chihli, which the minister supplemented with a long verbal explana-tion. The cablegram is as follows: THE APPEAL.

cablegram of July 2 is received with much gratification. In the final protocol signed by the different powers, there is no stipulation that a supplementary convention will be made in regard to the restoration of Tien Tsin. But the military officers at Tien Tsin have arbitrarily given rise to fresh complications and drawn up many articles limiting to 300 the number of Chinese guards to be stationed at Tien Tsin within the limit of This year, accepting those figures as 50 kilometers. Since the brigands a basis, the revenue will total $58,000,-100 the ordinary corrections. in the vicinity of Tien Tsin, on account of the looting of arsenals in 1900, are generally well armed, it would be impossible for such a small force to suppress and punish brigandage, much less can it po-lice the city and vicinity and preserve order generally. "The military officers appear to be to restore the city, but in they wish to delay; there is reason to fear that their action is not by any means for the public The foreign ministers at Pekin do not approve their action, and they have repeatedly remonstrated with them; but the milltary officers have not been willing to come to an agreement. The ministers and the military officers each hold to their own opinions, greatly impedes the progress of our affairs.

"I request you to ask the Govern-ment of the United States to consult with the other governments so that instructions may be sent to different military officers direct, ordering them to accede to the sugto the end that the restoration may not be further delayed."

TAKES LI'S PLACE. author of this message, Yuan Shih Kai, has taken the place of the the United States Government is the more disposed to heed his appeal because of his excellent conduct during the Boxer uprising. He was the principal means of communication be-tween the outside governments and the legationers during their time of peril, and but for his strength character, the entire Province of Shantung would have been drawn over to the Boxer cause. Secretary Hay will address himself to the various governments, probably through Mr. Conger at Pekin, and the foreign ministers there located. The situation at Tien Tsin is peculiar, and, in the view of the state department, the attitude of the foreign military officials there is perfectly unreasonable The state department has satisfied it-self that the foreign ministers at Pekin whose governments are represented by these military leaders are thoroughly anxious to have the treaty of Pekin executed in a fair spirit, and to that end to have Tien Tsin evacuated at the earliest possible moment by the foreign forces, so it will carry the Chinese appeal to the governments concerned.

A TERRIFIC STORM

Swept Over Western New York-Woman Killed-Damage Great.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 7 .- A terrific wind and rain storm swept over Western New York at an early hour yesterday. Rivers and creeks rose rapidly, overflowing their banks and sweeping away houses, barns, and live stock. The loss will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, and . communication with small towns in Wyoming, Niagara and Cataraugus counties is difficult to establish. This city was not in the path of the storm. A dispatch from Arrade says the flood at that place claimed one victim and did many thousand dollars damage to property. Minnie Loper, who kept a bakery on the bank of the creek, was drowned early in the day. Miss Loper's bakeshop was swept out into the stream, which had been swollen by a cloudburst, and the building soon fell apart. There were many narrow escapes. At Yorkshire, two miles below Arcade, the approaches to the bridge were washed away, but the bridge is standing. Miles of readway are so gullied or buried in debris that they will have to be rebuilt. At Sandusky, a miles from Arcade, it is reported that two houses were washed away. From everywhere come reports of live stock killed. The loss to individuals will be very high, and the loss to the town from the destruction of bridges and roadbeds will also be high.

A MARVELOUS ESCAPE

foronto, Ont., July 7 .- A party of six people attempted to cross Croxton run in a surrey. The run was a raging torrent, several feet deep, and surrey was upset. All succeeded in getting out but Lucy Daniels, a 10-year-old girl, and a little baby belonging to Curt Goodman. They were carried away. Both were supposed to be lost, but down through the torrent, through bridges and over ragged rocks at railway speed they went.

A fourth of a mile away the baby was found alive, caught on a limb of a tree, while the girl was carried a half mile to the river, clinging to a buggy cushion. She was rescued by Charles Petty, still alive, but terribly shaken by her awful experience. It is thought both will recover.

Objects to the Powers Keeping Dominion's Debit and Credit Account for a Year

Interesting Comparative Statement -Increase of Business Done by Soe Canal.

Ottawa, July 7.-Up to June 30th last the revenue of the Dominion on consolidated fund account was $56,303,694, and the expenditure under the same head $42,255,316. This would give an apparent surplus of revenue of $14,000,-

The capital expenditure up to the same date was $11,532,155, and, deducting this from ordinary receipts and sinking fund, there would still be a seeming excess of over $5,000,000 on the right side of the ledger. It should be remembered, however, that outstand-ing receipts and liabilities for the fiscal year just ended, amounting to large sums in the aggregate, have still to come in, so that when the books for the past twelve months are closed there will be a considerable change in the statement as it now appears. For example, last year the receipts which came in after June 30th amounted to $1,778,000, while the out standing liabilities totalled $8,291,000, net result of the year's operations would be an addition of $3,000,000 to the public debt. It is quite probable that the capital is certain to be from two to three pated by Mr. Fielding in his budget speech. The financial statement, as it stands at present, shows an increase over the preceding year in ordinary revenue of $5,567,000, in ordinary expenditure of $3,680,000, and in capital expenditure The healthy and buoyant character of the revenue is well illustrated by the following increases, the figures in each class being for the twelve months and past month respectively:—Customs, $3,807,652, and $619,926; excise, $822,145, and $88,627; postoffice, $379,-929 and $16,748; public works and railway, $678,264 and $69,515.

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dorcas A. Lewis, of No. 1129 24th Street, Washington, D. C., "and I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had been quite a sufferer for a long time, and after reading Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser thought I would try his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had not been sleeping well for a long time. Took one teaspoonful of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and slept nearly all night without coughing, so I continued taking it. I had been a great sufferer for more than ten years. I tried lots of different medicines and different doctors, but did not feel much better. It is probable that George Fisher, whose skuli was fractured, will die, and Edward Schell is in a very serious state. Coroner Palmer has commenced an investigation. It has developed that the frame of the truck of the runaway car was broken, and may have caused the accident, but the motorman's death will make it hard to determin the exact cause. exact cause.

Wanted Iodoform.

A few days ago Mr. Taylor was absent from his drug store for a few minutes and left his wife in charge. A large Norwegian who spoke English with difficulty entered and said:

"Very well," replied Mrs. Taylor; "just pay it to me and it will be all right."

"Yes, I heard you say that before.
Now, if you are afraid, I will give you a receipt for it." In astonishment the man from Norway looked at her and walked out without a word. The Abused Double Negative.

An idiom may defy logic. Take the double negative, for example. A boy says, "I hadn't had no time to get my lesson." His language may be objectionable, but his meaning is undoubted. The teacher understands it as he intends her to understand, but she has heard that two negatives make an affirmative, and she retorts: "Ah, you mean that you have had some time. You said the opposite of what you mean."
The laugh is on the boy—if he can be laughed out of his double negatives, so much the better. Yet the teacher is wrong. The two negatives in his sentence do not make an affirmative, for they are neither so meant, nor are they so taken by the hearer. Acording to a very old English idiom, one negative very old English idiom, one negative strengthens another. The idiom has strengthens another. The idiom has ceased to be good English, but it has not changed its meaning. The boy is in fault because he is using an obsolete idiom which has become vulgar, not because his language means the opposite of what it was meant to express.

Sensitive Eggs.

An egg in the process of hatching is remarkably sensitive to vibration, says an expert in the breeding of fowls. The rumble of a train or the passage of a wagon along the street will spoil a whole incubator full of eggs if the faintest vibratory wave reaches the apparatus. Even such a little thing as the banging of a door in some other part of the house will destroy the chances of hatching out & brood where care has not been taken to place the incubator beyond the reach of such disturbances. A thunderstorm always gives breeders scare, as thousands of eggs may be spoiled by a single heavy thunderclap. To sneeze or cough in the vicinity of the incubators will sometimes work &

Grandeurs of Peak and Chasm.

The natural attractions of Colorado are by no means confined to her mineral springs resorts, or splendid parks, nor to her beautiful mountain lakes. In whatever direction the traveler may choose by rail, if he goes to the mountains, his journey is a succession of glorious scenery, varying in the characteristics of placid beauty, grotesque ruggedness, an awe-inspiring grandeur. Up the canons, by heavy grades and difficult curves, are stupendous walls rising perpendicularly or gradually sloping back toward the greater hills, and yet again leaning forward above the chasm, as if threatening to come tumbling down, projecting great rocks that hang suspended over the train as it glides smoothly by, it is a panorama of wonders and grandeurs such as belong only to the Rocky Mountains. To enable persons to reach Colorado resorts the Union Pacific has placed in effect during the summer months very low rates. Full information cheerfully furnished on application to G. G. Herring, G. LONDON'S POOR THE KING'S GUESTS

500,000 Were Feasted in Various Public Places.

KIND MESSAGE FROM THE KING

Each Guest Drank His Majesty's Health in a Sonvenir Coronation Cup.

London, July 5.-Half a million of London's poor were King Edward's guests this afternoon. They were scattered in about 400 halls, schools and parks in varying numbers, the greatest of the royal beneficiaries being at Stepney, where no less than 45,000 enjoyed a dinner such as they seldom partook of.

MESSAGE FROM THE KING. At every gathering was read a message from the King to the poor, sent through the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Joseph Dimsdale, as follows: "Buckingham Palace, 11:20 a.m. "I am commanded by the King to inform your lordship that His Majesty and the Queen had intended visiting some of his coronation dinners today, and he deeply regrets that his illness prevents their doing so. The King has deputed members of his family to represent him at as many of these dinners as possible. I am further commanded by the King to express his hope that his guests are enjoying themselves and passing a happy day. "KNOLLYS."

SOUVENIR CUP FOR EACH. This morning's bulletin announcing that King Edward is out of danger, was also circulated, so that the half-million poor folks drank his majesty's health in no restrained enjoyment out of the coronation cups presented to each of them as a souvenir of the occasion. The Prince and Princess of Wales traversed the metropolis from end to end in semi-state, the carriages being escorted by a detachment of the Horse Guards, and appeared at central gatherings in several districts. The principal dinner was at Fulham, where Sir Thomas Lipton, who organized the whole feast, did the honors of the day to 14,000 of the poor, aided by a host of titled and untitled volunteers, including Timothy L. Woodruff, lieutenant-governor of New York State, Vice-Commodore Bourne, of the New York Yacht Club, and other Americans, who handed around plates of beef and pudding, or filled beer mugs with an enthusiasm emblematic of the whole spirit of the occasion. ROYAL VISITORS.

The Prince and Princess of Wales paid their first visit to Fulham. They entered the park of the bishop's palace through a triumphal arch, and were recoived by the Mayor of Fulham, Sir Thomas Lipton and others. They Royal Highnesses were enthusiastically greeted by an immense band of scholars, who sang "God Save the King." The Prince and Princess alighted and walked among the marquees, where the guests were assembled around two and one-half miles of tables, evincing the utmost interest in everything.

HEARTY CHEERS FOR THE KING. At the head of the table in the central marquee the royal party stopped, and the Prince of Wales read this morning's bulletin regarding the King's health. This was the signal for a tremendous outburst of cheering.

Before leaving, the Prince of Wales expressed to the Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur Foley Ingram, and Sir Thomas Lipton his great satisfaction at the completeness of the arrangements, and emphasized his regret at the fact that the King was unable to be present. head-dress and impressed a man to This was a sample of all the other dinners, which were followed in every case by variety shows, upwards of 1,500 operatic, theatrical and music hall artists, and 418 pianists giving their services for the occasion.

He sold the seeds at 25 cents a package, each package said to contain five seeds. The directions were to plant them in a barrel nearly filled with good, rich soil. After several weeks, there being no signs of any vines, some of the purchasers removed that they were made of wood, cleverly Consul-General H. Clay Evans. The dinner was expedited to enable Mr. Choate, Henry White, secretary of the American embassy, and the colonial officials to attend the reception at the Indian Office.

Having eloquently toasted King Edward, Mr. Choate announced that in consequence of His Majesty's grave condition the usual other toasts, the exception of the one to the Presithe seeds from the barrels and found dent of the United States, would be omitted, and that there would be no speechmaking. Sir Francis Grenfell proposed the health of President Roosevelt. After this toast was drunk, Choate, Mr. White, Sir Francis and other colonial officials hurried away to don their court dress and to meet the Prince of Wales at the Indian Office. The other guests of the society remained, and, in spite of Choate's announcement there ensued an unusually bright series of speeches, punctuated by openly expressed dissatisfaction with the absence of the American ambassador and his action in discountenancing the speeches.

This dissatisfaction was voiced by ex-Gov. Hastings, of Pennsylvania, who said he quite disagreed with Choate. Hastings said he had only just arrived in London from United States, but that before he left all the country was rejoicing over the King's recovery, and that, therefore, he thought the night should be one of rejoicing and speeches to voice that feeling. This remark was greeted with loud cheers, in which the American diplomats who had remained and all the consular representatives present

Saturday Night's Meeting. There is some virtue left in that oldashioned institution, the public meeting. It is not considered so potent in public affairs as it used to be, but there are occasions when nothing else can take its place. Saturday night's meeting in the City Hall was a welltimed protest against the attitude of the City Council on two important questions. It fairly reflected the general indignation provoked by the council and will appeal to some of the aldermen with more force than the sense of public duty has done. One of the offenders announced his conversion on the spot. He had voted for the tearing up of the Rectory street line, but said he had since looked over the ground and had discovered for the first time that this would leave a gap between the southeastern and eastern portions of the city. If this alderman keeps his eyes open he will find some day that Dundas street runs east and west and the Thames flows towards Springbank. However, a poor excuse is better than none. It is lucky the meeting at which the council voted to abandon Rectory street, proved illegal or the aggrieved ratepayers would have had to fight the street railway company in the courts. There is not the sightest doubt that the mayor and council will now back down. There was no mistaking the temper of the meeting on the electric power question. The council was scathingly denounced for its attempt to deprive local industries of the benefit of competition. As Mr. Gibbons pointed out, manufacturing center. In Buffalo, Cleveland and other American cities, there are also power companies innumerable, the highest degree of competition being encouraged.

One of the aldermen at the meeting had the effrontery to argue that his Harness Company, of Toronto, and its employers, and one thing that I wish sole idea in opposing the Sifton company's application was to compel it to grant competition in the outlying portions of the city. The proposition is outrageous and the aldermen who have advanced it ought to be kicked out of the council in January if they offer for re-election. The utmost freedom of competition must be allowed and is bound to come. Power from Niagara Falls will be transmitted to London in the near future without a doubt.

Ontario's New Settlement.

In watching the movement of population to the Canadian Northwest, we should not overlook a smiliar movement, on a smaller scale, in our own Province. Settlers are pouring into the Temiscaming district, 40,000 acres of crown lands having been disposed of in May of the present year. Nearly half a million acres, or 24 townships, have been taken up, and ten new townships are now being surveyed for settlement. It has also been decided by the Government to build forty miles of new roads this season. There are millions of acres of good farming land in the Temiscaming country yet unsurveyed, and there is every reason to believe that many thousands will find good homes there. The great drawback of the district is its isolation. It is about 65 miles from the head of Lake Temiscaming, where the bulk of the settlement lies, to the nearest railway station, Keepawa, Que. In summer a line of excellent steamers gives direct communication with points on the Ottawa River, of which the lake is an expansion, but during the winter months the settlers can only reach the cutside world by making the journey on foot. This will be remedied by the railway to be built and operated by the Ontario Government, from North Bay to Thornloe. At present the trade of the Temiscaming is largely diverted to the Province of Quebec, but the new railway should throw it directly into the lap of Ontario. The market there is already considerable, and is growing rapidly, so that the producers of this Province should make the most of the advantage which the enterprise of the Government will shortly give to

THIS DISTRESSING COMPLAINT IS DUE TO IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course you become weak, vitality gets down low, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain. Neuralgia hunts out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is hard to drive out. But by using the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to return. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts a good quantity of Polson's Nerviline, and then bind on a hot flannel cloth.

[Sir Walter Scott.] Sir Walter Scott was born at Edinburgh in 1771. He first began his writings by translating Burger and Goethe, but he left this work to take up the Border minstrelsy of his own country. In 1814 he published the first of the well-known "Waverley" novels. He sold his copyrights to the firm of Constable, and as the house failed a few years later, Scott was heavily involved. As he had also recently bought and repaired the estate of Abbotsford, he was in debt for that also. In spite of ill-health he wrote incessantly in order to meet his bills, and gave to the world the novels and poems with which all are so familiar. He died in 1832.

Windsor, July 7.—The annual report of Hugh C. Morris, United States consul at Windsor, for the year ending tions per cental yesterday for American products at Liverpool, as well as for the three previous market days. In each case July 1, contains some very interesting information concerning the shipment of goods of all descriptions to the United States through the port of Windsor. During the year the total value of exports amounted to $814,-550 05. Of this large amount, Canadian whisky forms the largest item. "WET GOODS" IN DEMAND.

In the past year Uncle Sam has purhased $243,476 03 worth of "Canadian wet goods," through the port of Windsor. The duty paid to the United States Government on this quantity of whisky amounts to $297,296.

Canadians continue to be attracted to the United States, as is shown by the number of people who have entered their household goods in the consul's office. Of course, the number entered does not by any means show the total number of families removing to the States as household goods valued under $100 have not to be entered. Many people undervalue their goods to escape the consular fee, so that it is almost impossible to arrive at the correct number, but Consul today American cattle are quoted at from 13½c to 14½c; refrigerator beef is easy at from 11½c to 11½c per lb. Morris estimates the number at fully These people go all over the United States, many to farms, while others are attracted to the large business centers. Princes From India Attract Great Attentiou-Crowds Gaze on Their Costly Attire.

London, July 6 .- Never did the streets of London present so cosmopolitan appearance as has been the case during the last week. The guests of the nation from the furthermost quarters of the earth have been exploring the empire's capital. Black, yellow and brown faces, surmounting gaudy, fantastic constumes are met with everywhere.

At the London hippodrome yesterday was to be heard muffled gibbering and a soft monotonous pattering of feet. Along the tiled corridor came a big, burly figure in a short, heavy blue coat, under which was suspended a kind of linen apron drawn close around the hips and reaching to the knee, while below-oh, prudish Londonwere a pair of ebony legs and huge, bare feet. After him came some twenty more, all smiling and chattering, and all similarly attired. Each of them was carrying a small rattan cane tucked under his right arm in the fashion popular with Tommies. Their hair stood upright like a stiff brush. While dark at the roots, it shaded off at the ends into a dark tan. These picturesque men were the Fiji police, come to London to do honor to their Emperor.

OVERTOPPED LONDONERS. In Piccadilly half an hour afterward was to be seen a body of three splendid native Indian soldiers in their picturesque turbans, or pugga-rees, and glittering buttons. With black, shifting eyes, they strode along like kings, and, to tell the truth, the average London man who walked near seemed ridiculously insignifi-These fighting men, devoid of cant. much that civilization is supposed to bestow, were superb in their indifference to the gaping crowds.

There, have been little men from Japan in top hats, frocked men with round button-like hats from China, skirted and coiffured men from Cey-lon, spectacled and much withered men from the remote Straits Settlement, milw looking, tawny complexioned Hindoos in snowy turbans, stout, black-frocked Bengalese with no head covering at all, and men from every British colony or dependence, as well as almost every other nation.

PRINCES FROM INDIA. These princes, however, have given London its greatest treat. Swathed in costly silks and satins, wearing beautiful turbans bedecked with priceless jewels, they have been the sensation for body of men been seen on horseback than a group of princes who rode behind the Prince of Wales on Wednesday, when he reviewed the military contingent from the Indian Empire, and rode through their stolid, impassive ranks. Only quick, stealthy glances betrayed the fact that they were alive and not auto-

These princes were seen to better advantage at the reception given in their honor by Earl and Countess Roberts on Thursday. The scene was brilliant, the dresses and jewels worn by the princes far outshining the lovely dresses and tiaras of the ladies present. A most delightful air of friendliness prevailed, rajahs conversing most willingly when possible with guests, among them many Anglo-Indians, renewing happy associations in that delightful land of India.

SIR PERTAB SINGH. The most impressive figure perhaps was that of Col. Sir Pertab Singh, in uniform of white, laced with gold cords, wearing a turquoise blue turban with a fawn aigrette.

The most impressive group certainly was that of the Maharajah of Jeypour, and his followers, whose velvet robes were gold-trimmed, and from whose turbans hung bunches of jewels. Their dignified bearing suggested sumething distinetly biblical.

The historic Maharajah Sindia of Givaliore wore a white frock, narrowly edged with red. His quaintly-shaped turban was red. His necklace of pearls were worth an emperor's ransom. There were four rows of big round pearls, some

Had Nervous

Prostration

Was Very Thin, Weak, Nervou and Run Down-Fully Restored by Using

There are few diseases more difficult o cure than nervous prostration. Before the discovery of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food doctors usually gave some stimulant to whip up the exhausted nerves and quicken the heart's action. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food acts in an entirely different way. It gradually and naturally creates new nerve force, and builds up your system. You can prove that it is benefiting you by keeping a record of your weight while using it.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellington county, Ont., writes: "About two years ago I got terribly run down, and became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition, and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three boxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as I was very thin when I began to use the remedy I was very proud of the increase of weight Then the following spring I became rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly half the time. I was so pleased with the cure the Nerve Food brought about that I recommended it to others, and they have told me of the benefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testimonial in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is sold at 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edman-

Foot soles are curved and soft. Shoe soles are flat and hard!

Breaking in new shoes invariably means shaping the foot soles to the shoe soles, till wear moulds the insoles to the curves of the feet.

The RESILIA is the only shoe which conforms to the shape of the foot sole immediately, from the first moment it is borne upon, and without any "breaking in."

It does this through the compressible nature of the resilient, elastic, cushion centre-sole, which is placed between the leather insole and outsole, instead of the usual scrap filling.

Their clothes were found on the bank at four o'clock. One of them was in the employ of the National Portland Cement Company, while the other worked on the section of the G. T. R. down with him. TWO MORE Springfield, Mass., July 7.-The bodies

CANCER CURED WITHOUT

A Simple Constitutional Remedy for Cancers and Tumors Tha Will Not Harm the System of the Most Delicate.

Cancer sufferers would do well to beware of many remedies that are being advertised as cures for cancer. Our constitutional home treatment for cancers and tumors is purely vegetable, and while it destroys cancer germs and poisons completely, and rids the system of the dread disease, it will not harm the most delicate wo-

Economy Point, N. S., July 7 .- For over 25 years Mr. George S. McLaughlin, of this place, was an invalid through Lumbago. At times his back was so lame that he could not turn himself in bed, and the slightest cold or hard lifting would bring on an awful attack, which gave him fearful pain. He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in a short time all the pain left his back, and it became as stout and strong as ever, and since then he has had no return of the terrible Lumbago. He says:

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any case of Lame Back, for they helped me out, and nobody could have it much worse than I had." It is stated as not impossible that some of the dust from the Martinique and St. Vincent eruptions may be carried through the air to these islands, as some of the desert sand was to Barry in January last, says the Cardiff (Wales) Western Mail.

SCIENTIFIC FEEDING And Exercise Solves the Froblem

Dr. H. L. Warner, in a recent issue of the New York World, says:
"Only a small percentage of the American people have perfect digestion and assimilation of food and the elimination of the waste matters of the body. In the matter of food and exercise, the whole problem of heaith is contained. By making these right, we can create perfect health.

"Digestive disturbances are due either to improper food, or too much or too little proper food. With proper food taken in reasonable amounts, the imperfect actions of the various processes are corrected.

"This is not a fad, but a fact established by the researches of pathologists and bacteriologists. The action of foods on the digestive and assimilative organs is known exactly. The iesult to the blood, and through it to the whole system is certain and definite." The most highly nutritive food now manufactured is Grape-Nuts. It is and put through a mechanical process whereby the starches are changed to grape sugar and the phosphates of the cereals retained, and thus supply the necessary nourishment and vitality to the body, brain and nerve centers.

In its predigested form, Grape-Nuts does not overtax the stomach, but renders sufficient assistance to the digestive organs to permit of the easy assimilation of other food. Thoroughly cooked at the factory by food experts, brings Grape-Nuts from the grocer to you ready to serve with the addition of cream, and its crisp taste with the delicate sweet of the grape sugar, makes it pleasing to the palate of the most critical epicure These are scientific facts which can be proven by anyone and a trial of ten days or two weeks will show you what you can do on scientific feeding. The recipe book in the package shows many delightful ways of serving the food.

LESSONS OF THE

Tribute to Sanford's Brave Rescuers Futility of Man's Efforts to Save Himself.

"The Man in the Well," the subject of so much public interest during the past two weeks, was the timely topic taken by Rev. Thomas Wilson for his morning discourse yesterday at the King Street Presbyterian Church. Mr. Wilson's sermon was commendably brief, and was more than ordinarily interesting throughout. After relating succinctly the principal features of the story of Joshua Sanford's entombment in the well near Paris, he drew from the story five leading truths, aptly illustrating each by some detail of the story.

The Psalms chosen to be sung by the ongregation were singularly appropriate to the subject of the sermon, they being Nos. 103 and 29 from the Psalter. Their appropriateness may be judged from the following extracts:

"Lord, from the depths to thee I cried, My voice, Lord, do thou hear; Unto my supplication's voice Give an attentive ear."

-No. 103, verse 1 (Psalm cxxx.)

"I waited for the Lord, my God,
And patiently did bear;
At length to me he did incline
My voice and cry to hear.

"He took me from a fearful pit, And from the miry clay, And on a rock he set my feet, Establishing my way.

"He put a new song in my mouth, Our God to magnify; Many shall see it, and shall fear, And on the Lord rely." No. 29, verses, 1, 2, 3 (Psalm xl.)

Rev. Mr. Wilson, after announcing his text as being from Psalms xlix. 8: "For the redemption of their souls is precious," said that possibly not within the recollection of any person present has any local event provoked such an exhibition of popular interest and sympathy as did he four days' burial of Joshua Sanford in a well. Mr. Wilson then gave a brief review of the case, referring to the circumstances of Sanford's burial, the efforts made for his release, the second cavein, which was at first thought to have caused his death, and the final successful outcome of the rescue work, all of which is familiar to the readers of the daily papers. The preacher then said that he found five leading lessons in the Sanford case, which he wished to lay before his hearers. The first lesson to be learned was the value of a human life, the life of any man, rich or poor, the sovereign of the British Empire or his poorest subject. Though King Edward was so dangerously ill that the coronation had been postponed, this subject of interest was laid entirely aside, and the only topic discussed was "the man in the well." When one thought of the King it was with the recollection that he was surrounded by every care and attention. But it was ifferent with Joshua Sanford. Many and many a person could not go to sleep at night for thinking of the poor fellow who was undergoing so terrible an experience. Yet this anxiety was only for the body of a man. How much more valuable than his body was his soul. When Jesus wrought the salvation of the human race, he (Jesus) knew no difference between the soul of a king and the soul of the poorest heathen in the world. The second lesson taught was that great praise is due Sanford's rescuers. The English language did not contain words strong enough to fitly characterize the bravery of the men who faced death to snatch their fellow-man from danger. To many Christians their conduct brings a world of rebuke. What would have been said of these man if, when they heard Joshua Sanford's voice in the well, they had gone away, saying: "It's none of my business; let him get out as best he can!" Yet in this city there are thousands at the bench, at the counter, in the home and in all walks of life, who stand in much direr peril than did Sanford. His body was in danger, but their precious souls are in peril, and it these souls.

is the work of the Christian to rescue The third lesson set forth by Mr. Wilson was the fact that Chrisians should not become discouraged when seeking to save others. Sanford's rescuers, after working so hard that they were almost within reach of him, had reason to believe their efforts in vain. Had they not made from certain parts of the grain soon found their error it would have been fatal to the entombed man. Mr. Wilson drew a parallel with the efforts to save a soul enslaved by drink. God tells those working to rescue others to press on and not despair of the soul till life has actually fled from the body. Mr. Wilson's fourth point was that the man working for his own salvation, apart from co-operation with his rescuer, often does more harm than good. The second cavein in Sanford's case was caused by Sanford himself. He thought he could get further up the well by dislodging the bricks above him, but instead he loosened a mass of debris and was almost killed beneath its weight. It was only when his rescuers reached him and he could work in co-operation with them, that his efforts to release himself were of any avail. In this was found symbolized a great gospel truth. The man trying to save himself can do nothing until he becomes a co-worker with God in the effort. The fifth and final lesson found by Mr. Wilson in the case was the care that should be taken of the soul snatched from death. All were interested in reading of the way Sanford was treated after his rescue. The doctors would give him only the lightest foods, in very small quantities. His eyes were bandaged to exclude the light; no slightest noise was permitted to be made by the crowds around, all excitement was avoided, and only the doctors, nurses and his near relatives were allowed to see him. Just as much care as was taken with this body saved from death should be taken with the newly-won soul. It should be fed at first on milk, not on meat. How often does the church draw a soul out of the well of sin, and say to it at the what you like." In this way, said Mr. Wilson, does spiritual death come to many a soul which has been saved by God through the means of the church. This was the way in which so many Adkins, East London Chicago stockyards did $1,000,000 daminto shame and sin. The sayed soul needs to be watched and nursed and built up, just as the enfeebled body was. Rev. W. G. Howson Assumes Charge at Askin Street.

Dispenses With Sermon to Have Plain Talk With His People.

son at the Askin Street Methodist Church began yesterday and at the morning service Mr. Howson did not preach a sermon, but instead talked plainly with his congregation of the feeling with which he entered upon his new charge and of his hopes for the future. He said that since he had been sent here, he had concluded that it was by divine appointment. He would need the sympathy and prayers and co-operation of the people of Askin street in carrying out this work. At the outset as asked that they postpone an answer to the question, How do you like your new pastor? The position of the pastor coming before a people for the first time was not always enviable. He trusted a larger acquaintance would give all to feel they were brothers and sisters, each trying to help the other in the way If he said things with which they did not agree, would they be kind enough to call at the parsonage and talk it over. It might be that they had misunderstood or had looked at the things from different standpoints. He added that he had not brought with him a nice set of old sermons for deliverance here. His would be an endeavor to make the gospel not simply something for Sunday, but for every day. Jesus Christ intended his religion to be pre-eminently a prac-

MRS. LATIMER'S LOVE

"Mr. Orme, you have not been intro-duced to the parrot," said Miss Jones, as, rustling about in her capacity of host-ess, she endeavored to relieve the awk-wardness of that five minutes before dinner, during which English people who do not know each other seem to cherish such deadly enmity toward those with whom they are going to sit at meat. Now, the parrot was an invaluable aid on such occasions—his vocabulary was so exten-sive, comprising many professional ex-CHAPTER XII. occasions—his vocabulary was so extensive, comprising many professional exclamations picked up on his voyage home, and less startling "between decks" than in a London drawing-room—his musical attainments were so varied. He could sing "I'd be a Butterfly," part of "The Ratcatcher's Daughter," and the first bar of "Beautiful Venice," and his general accomplishments were so confirst bar of "Beautiful Venice," and his general accomplishments were so constantly on the increase—for he caught up any sound or expression often repeated—that he was a fund of conversation in himself. "Polly you must be civil to Mr. Orme."

"Aye, aye, sir!" answered the bird, in his goblin notes, and with a shrill whishis goblin notes, and with a shrill whistle dashed at once into the popular couplet. "She was not born in Westminster," and then stuck his head on one side and looked up so knowingly, that Gilbert could but laugh; and his subsequent introduction to Miss Bullingdon and Mrs.
Latimer, the latter of whom he recognibed directly he entered the room, lost much of its formality, and placed the three at once upon terms of easy politeness.

Miss Jones, meanwhile, walked off to do her duty by Mrs. Bullingdon. The alderman, ruddy and radiant, and thoroughly in his glory, rang for dinner; and Miss Blanche stole a good look upward at her new acquaintance and thought in her virgin heart that he might be a desirable conquest—at all events there was sirable conquest—at all events, there was no harm in trying.

Gilbert was the latest arrival. Truth compels me to confess he was so asham ed of his childish impatience that he had waited ten minutes after he was dressed before he permitted himself to get into his cab. Five of these he made up by over-driving his horse, and the other five brought him to the exact nick of time at which the alderman ordered dinner. He had not therefore, much leisure to improve his acquaintance with the two ladies who hung with him over the par-rot's cage. Mrs. Latimer was no whit different from what he expected—neither plainer nor handsomer, nor more nor less be-comingly dressed. Before he had been three minutes in the room with her, it seemed as though in some previous stage seemed as though in some previous stage of being, or in some inexplicable manner, they must have known each other before. This Pythagorean introduction, however, did not appear to have placed him much at his ease. London man as he was, for the first time in his life he found himself dying to speak to a woman, and at a loss for something to Miss Bullingdon, however, was resolved to lose no time, and commenced opera-tions on him fortwith: "Did he like parrots? Was he fond of birds? Had he a bullfinch of his own? She herself pos-sessed a canary and a pair of love-birds. Did Mr. Orme admire love-birds? The worst of them was that if one died the other was sure to pine away and die, too. Wasn't it pretty of them?—they always did so, or," as Miss Blanche touchingly remarked, "they wouldn't be lovebirds."

Mrs. Latimer smiled; Gilbert laughed outright, and at this pathetic juncture the butler entered with the welcome an-nouncement of "Dinner!"

So the party paired off, the alderman offering his arm to Mrs. Bullingdon, and finding even his own capacious doorways much too small for the passage of two such "first-raters" alongside; Bullingdon following with Mrs. Latimer, and thinking, we may be sure, much more of the good things in store for him than of the his arm; John Gordon coupled dy on his arm; John Gordon coupled th Blanche Bullingdon, somewhat to ella's disappointment; and that young lady, in her right of hostess, under the care of Gilbert, as being the principal person of the party. The rear was brought up by two stray men, city friends of their host-the one an innocuous young gentleman of no particular caliber, who always agreed with everybody; the other an old, wizened individual, in a black an old, wisehed individual, in a black stock, and one-eyed, bent, shrunk and faded, with the scar of a bullet-mark on his cheekbone. What a life had his been compared to any of the others! He had led three forlorn hopes, had been broken by court-martial; had married a West Indian heiress; been ruined, divorced; had been a slave-dealer, perhaps a pirate; commanded a free corns in South commanded a free corps in South America; and managed a mining company in Paraguay; had seen life in all its most thrilling phases and its most varied ups and downs. Now he lived in a lodging in Long Acre, and was glad to get a good dinner when he was invited to one, and a chop and pint of ale for a shilling when he was not when he was not.

On entering the dining-room and taking Miss Jones to the farther end. Gilbert found that Fate had been propitious, and that the vacant chair for his occu-pation was between Mrs. Latimer and his young hostess. John Gordon, too, was on the other side of the latter, so that, when the turtle was handed round, at when the turtle was handed round, at least three of the guests were quite satisfied with the disposition of the party. Bella, with her high color, and black hair, looked very well in a deep pink dress, a little overdone with trimming, and "did the hands." as ladies call it. gracefully enough. Her slight touch of shyness was less awkward then one or shyness was less awkward than engag-ing. The alderman, at the bottom of the table, actually shone with good-humor. The turtle was clear and excellent, its green fat glutinous and abundant. "The best sherbet sublimed with snow" had been but ditch-water compared with the ice-punch. When it gurgled over Bullingdon's organs of deglutition, wrapped as they were in an acre of starch and cambric, that worthy's whole countenance and demeanor softened to es winked deliberately at his old "It's the same article, squire," said he: "not bad to take, if you only take enough of it. Have another glass."

Will anybody tell me why his intimates almost always dub a Hertfordshire proprietor with the general title of "Squire"?
Red mullet packs very easily above turtle. Sweet and dry champagne taste turtle. Sweet and dry champagne taste none the worse that they have been preceded by cold punch. The alderman prided himself on his dinners. Ere he had entered his own walk in the haunch, everybody's tongue seemed loosened, and the ladies began to show more of their faces and less of their shoulders to their immediate neighbors. Mrs. Bullingdon, a person of limited views, took advantage of her host's operations on the venison to engage the indefinite youth on such topics as she was capable or originating: son to engage the indefinite youth on such topics as she was capable or originating: "How nice it was to get out into the country! And was not the Regent's Park a delightful locality?"

He agreed with Mrs. Bullingdon most was wrong, though, to allow the Zoological to be open to anyone on Sundays. The society were very much to blame. In all other respects they managed it admirably. Did he not think so?" Mrs. Bullingden's opinions and his own coincided in every particular.

"She was there only last Monday with B. It was very sweet about sunset, after the heasts were fed."

Again he agreed with her, though I do not, wondering feebly, as he was ignorant of her name, what B was, and inclining to think it must be a pet of some description—possibly a poodle.

B. in the meantime, albeit attending earnestly to the main phear of the party. earnestly to the main object of the enter-tainment, found leisure to relate to his neighbor with one eye the particulars of his last battue at Bullingdon Butts, where he resided; and the battered old adventurer, who had seen blood flow like water, and whose game, for many a year of his strange life, had been the unfeathered biped, listened with the utmost deference and attention. He respected Bullingdon because he looked "the sort of man that would give you a good dinner."

"Bella, dear, how are you getting on up there?" quant the alderman as a payse "Bella, dear, now are you getting on up there?" quoth the alderman, as a pause in his labors, and the placing of something en tortue before his daughter, enabled him to take breath and look about him; "I hope you take care of Mr. Gilbert, It's your deal you know. I daresay John Gordon will cut for you. John, a glass of wine. Squire, will you join vincibility of the Iroquois on their own they may be pardoned some display of pride. After the overwhelming defeat of the Stratford Indians at Tecumseh Park on June 21, the Stratford papers consoled the natives of the Classic City with the reflection that ground? Shame on you, Stratford! the home team would win in their The national game of Canada is a own back-yard. Just how they were to accomplish the task no one seemed to know, though the fact caused no uneasiness. There was the legend, and legends are to be respected, even if there be some difficulty in verifying Saturday's game forever settled Stratford's legend.

Believers in the Baconian theory may find a hopeful omen in the result of the match. Since the ingenious jured. His face and head were badly theory of the late Ignatius Donnelly first found favor, the worthy people of Stratford have been much perturbed over the awful thought that per- doctor yesterday. haps their town was mis-named. If Lord Bacon really wrote the plays popularly attributed to Shakespeare. then the immortal bard of Avon was, in sporting parlance, a wretched fourflusher; and to think of their town having been named after a four-flusher was about the limit of endurance of good Stratford sports. But if Stratfordites pin their faith to legends they must not overlook omens. Bacon, if his biographers tell the truth, was a Cockney; and, in the light of recent events it seems only just that Stratford should go and change its name.

Even ignoring the lesson of the Dominion Day game here, a comparison of the London-Stratford and Woodstock-Paris matches of Saturday, indicate that the local team is much the superior of the Woodstock with whom, it seems, they must clash in the district finals. Legends aside, the Stratford outfit are no doubt much more formidable on their own ground than on foreign ground, and the team that can trim them 8 to 1 under such conditions is the team that can do the turn quite as handily in Woodstock. It is true the Baby City stick handlers | urday's exhibition match, and then scored 11 goals to 1 against the Brants on Saturday, but they did it in Wood-stock and against the weakest team in the C. L. A. The Cockneys have struck their gait. They are doing exactly as their admirers predicted they would do after they had been hammered into shape; and if they fail to reach the winners of the other district series, it will only be because of a reversal from their present form.

"Brantford is to be congratulated on the class of people who are behind her lacrosse team, and on the truly Canadian sporting spirit of her citizens generally. Men of wealth and position like Messrs. Llovd. Morg. and Harris, who are satisfied to be Canadian in their tastes, are but too seldom to be the fashion or fad of people of means to shun Canadian sports and give their languid attention to dear old cricket or some other such re-creation that has received the stamp of distinguished favor across the It is seldom that the people think they can afford to be Canadians. Brantford's best can, and their course must command the spect of all classes of their countrymen."-Toronto Telegram.

There's a sample of rot for you. "It is seldom that the best people think they can afford to be Canadians." The man who wrote that shouldn't be permitted to live in Canada. And when did cricket become a game requiring only "languid attention"? The thousands of cricketers, if they could see it, would doubtless feel flattered at this 100 (O'Neil); 3 to 1, won; Deer Hunter, reference to their silly sport. But, of 105 (Prince), 15 to 1, second; course, all Britishers are notoriously poor sportsmen, and have been so for many generations. That's why they adopted this child's play as their national game.

LONDONS WON SANGUINARY BATTLE.

The London senior C. L. A. twelve won a sanguinary battle at Stratford on Saturday, the wearers of the old gold and purple, shooting 8 goals to the Iroquois' 1. The match was literally a sanguinary battle, and it is a miracle the London players escaped serious injury. The Stratford men started roughing it early in the game. The Iroquois scored their only goal in the first quarter, and from that mo-ment until time was called the match looked more like a free fight than an exhibition of the national game. In the third period Dunn threw down his stick and rushed at a London player with his fists. Excitement had by this time reached fever heat in the stands, and Dunn's action was the signal for time the situation looked nasty, a howling mob surrounding the excited players. Order was finally restored, and the game proceeded, but, try as they might, the Stratford stick-handlers could not get past London's splendid defense. The entire team played like clockwork, and although the contemptible tactics of the Iroquois prevented a good exhibition of the game the

The Windsor trotting meeting begins today and will whet the appetite for the grand circuit, whose season opens one week later at Grosse Pointe. 7, off Gibson 3. Two-base hits—Carroll 2, Stein, Tierney. Double plays—Bell (unassisted), Stein to Sippi to McFadden; R. gins today and will whet the appetite for the grand circuit, whose season Windsor has a card of races that takes it out of the class of secondary events, and will doubtless present sport not a whit inferior to that at Pointe, although the glamor of the grand circuit prestige does not surround it. The match race between Harold H., 2:04, the great Canadian pacer, and Dan Patch, 2:041/2, is, in its way, as interesting as the bigger event that will be decided when the grand circuit horses get down east. There is not so much at stake, but it is by no means certain that the contest will not be fully as exciting. Both local meetings promise well. Grosse Pointe events are all well filled, and the stables already at the track predict a brilliant meeting. Windsor will give the critics a chance to get a line on a Penwarden, c. f.... lot of the grand circuit contenders. The handsome pacing mare Flora Hunter, by Capt. Hunter, took a new record of 2:24¼, at the Listowel, Ont., races the past week. She is owned and driven by Mr. H. Rice, of Welland, but formerly of Fort Erie. Before the season is far advanced you will hear of Flora stepping well down in the 'teens, says the Horse World.

The Great Western handicap, over the Derby route, at Washington Park, Chicago, for the season of 1902 is now a matter of record, with Six Shooter's name tabbed among the winners of the event. Backed from 8 to 5 to a shade better than even, Six Shooter on Saturday took command about a sixteenth from home and won by two and half lengths, with Flying Torpedo and Nitrate in the money behind him. The race was truly run, the only interferences, which did not change the result, were Flying Torpedo's bumping into Six Shooter at the head of the stretch, and his cutting across Nitrate near the infield gate. Dwyer sent the field of seven away to a splendid start.

On a track that was lightning fast and before a crowd of 25,000 persons, F. C. McLewee & Co.'s Gold Heels, favorite in the betting at 13 to 10, galloped home an easy winner in the Brighton handicap at the Brighton race track Saturday. He not only lowered Jack Point's record of 2:04%, made in 1900, but established a new world's record for a circular track. Cincinnati14000100*-6 10 4
The time was 2:03%, less than % of Philadelphia101100010-4 9 6 a second slower than the world's re-cord (2:03%) made by Banquet in 1890 with 108 pounds up, on the straight course at the Monmouth Park track. The performance of Gold Heels was really wonderfu, considering that he was carrying 126 pounds. There is no telling how fast this great horse could have run if Odom had ridden him out. The field that made up the handicap was small and select. Heels was always a consistent favorite for the race at 13 to 10, with Morningside second choice at 4 to 1 and the Keene entry, Port Royal, next in demand at 6 to 1. The start was prompt and good. Blues was first to go, with Gold Heels second, Star third and Herbert fourth. As they came past the stand the first time Northern Star was leading by two lengths, Blues second, Port Royal third. Turning into the back stretch Northern Star still had daylight between him and his field with Blues still in second position. Herbert raced up to third place. This order was maintained down the back stretch. At the six furlong pole Herbert had his nose in front with the favorite following, and Ten Candles, who was slow to begin, in third place. Turning into the stretch Odom got the favorite in the lead, and from there to the wire he was never in trouble, winning easily by half a front of Argregor, who closed very gamely under a terrific drive. The first Brighton handicap was run in 1895. The race this year was worth $8,000 to the winner.

Brighton Beach race course, at which the summer meeting commenced Saturday, has been greatly improved since last year. Public accommodation has been increased, a new club house built, a new paddock arranged, a new cooling-off shade erected and a new field stand put up. All at a cost of upwards of $100,000. unique feature on the ground floor of the club house is a dozen rooms for the jockeys, with lockers and baths, something that no other similar institution can boast.

Three hundred and twenty-one horses are entered for the various trotting and pacing stakes and purses that will be given by the Detroit Driving Club at the Blue Ribbon trotting meeting at Grosse Pointe track, July 14 to 18. The entries, which closed July 1, were given out Saturday night. The meeting, which opens the Grand Circuit trotting events, promises to be one of the most successful ever given by the club. The entries average over 15 to each class. For the historic Merchants' and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake, for 2:24 class trotters, there are 13 entries. The Chamber of Commerce $5,000 stake, for 2:24 class trotters, has 19 entries. This promises to be one of the best races of the meeting, for each of the entries except one has already stepped a mile in 2:10 or better. The entries in the 2:07 trot and 2:04 pace guarantee that both of these events will be splendid hard-fought races.

BASEBALL.

CITY LEAGUE. Two interesting games of ball were played by the teams of the City League to a fair-sized crowd at Tecumseh Park on Saturday. In the first game the Londons played all around the Struthers team, and beat them by 12 runs to 2. Bert Sheere pitched great ball for London, allowing only three hits, and the fielding was exceptionally good, the work of Bell and Carroll for London being more especially noticeable. After ten innings of hard work the Aberdeens were defeated by the Rockets in the second game. Watts pitched half the game and Early the other half. Watts had a lame arm, and when he felt himself weakening left the box. Griffin, the catcher, was removed when Watts went out, although the need of this was not apparent. Jackson pitched fairly for the Rockets. The scores:

ALD. COOPER'S CONVERSION Speeches by G. C. Gibbons, K. C., E. T. Essory, R. W. Bennet, Ald.

McMechan, Gerry, Dreaney. If the citizens present at Saturday night's mass meeting in the city hall were the ones who would vote tonight on the proposed street railway result of the vote would be already a foregone conclusion, for the tone of the of the upholding of the rights of the which, as all the speakers intimated, control over the city's aldermen. As placed them in the seats they occupy, and not supporting, as they did, the corporations, who have shown their utter disregard for everything and everybody save their own selfish ends.

The size of the attendance at Saturday night's meeting was an indication of the interest taken by the citizens in the two principal questions set down for discussion. Although Saturday night might be supposed the least promising evening of the week olding such a meeting, and although the mercury was up to a level which rendered the city hall anything but an inviting place for spending an evening, the body of the hall was filled and a large crowd was collected at the doors. The meeting was a representative one comprising as it did many well-known business and professional men, as well as a large contingent of wage-earners and small property holders.

The speakers of the evening were ex-Ald. R. W. Bennet, Ald. Cooper, ex-Mayor Essery, George C. Gibbons, K.C., Ald. Dreaney, Ald. McMechan and Ald. Gerry. They were given a good hearing, though occasional interruptions took place. One member of the crowd was particularly persistent in his interruptions. His thirst for information had evidently not been quenched by his copious imbib-ations earlier in the evening, and after repeated warnings from the chairman and the speakers, his silence was finally secured by the presence of a po-

Always for No. 1.

Mr. Henry Macklin assumed the chair, and kept good order throughout the evening. In opening the meeting he briefly stated the purpose for which it had been called. He said that the citizens' motto should be: "Ete vigilance is the price of safety." "Eternal behooved the citizens of London, he said, to look closely after their own interests. He compared the city, as a whole, to a financial corporation, with a capital of $17,000,000, the assessment, a revenue of $400,000-the taxation, and a board of directorsthe aldermen. He asked if the latter were a fit body to administer such a big concern, and answered the question by saying "No." They seemed to be for No. 1 every time, instead of for the citizens. Mr. Macklin then called upon ex-Ald. R. W. Bennet to

Ex-Ald. Bennet was well received, on coming to the platform. He (Bennet) said he supposed that his name had become associated with the Rectory street matter, because of the active part he had taken in fighting for his own interests and those of the citizens. Certain aldermen and the members of the street railway company had told him he had no grounds of complaint, as the cars would still run to his factory. Mr. Bennet said he was not fighting on selfish grounds alone. It would be a grave error to allow the Rectory street line to closed. If the company is permitted to abandon the line the city will never thousands of dollars to get this line across the G. T. R., and if abandon-ed the privy council will never grant another such privilege. By abandoning the line the street railway company saves the use of two cars, eight men's labor, and the cost of a watchman at the crossing-about $900 per year. This partly explained the company's position in the matter. Mr. Bennet denied the statement in the press that he was a member of the council when the Rectory street line bylaw was Bennet charged the council with rushing the abandonment of the line through at special meetings. The company pulled up the rails on the Rectory street line before the by-

No private citizen would pay a physician for advice and then pursue a directly opposite course. Speaking of the electric light question, Mr. Bennet said he favored the granting of a franchise to the Electric Construction Company. Everyone knew that competition is the life of trade, and competition in the supplying of electricity would be beneficial to every class of

Effect of Bad Champagne. Ex-Mayor Essery, the next speaker, said in opening that he considered it was an outrage that any corporation holding a public franchise should take such a high-handed attitude as and electric light bylaws instead of London Street Railway Company has the members of the city council, the in its dealings with the city in regard to the Rectory street line. The speaker said he had no personal quarrel with the company or its shareholders, meeting was unmistakably in favor but he had certain rights as a citizen which he meant to stand up for. When the company got its franchise, a much private citizens against the threatened better franchise than it should ever encroachments of the two corporations have been allowed to get, it had promised to do certain things in return, have acquired altogether too much but these things it had utterly failed to do. From recent municipal events it was, one alderman made haste to acknowledge the error of his ways, and ask for forgiveness. While it is probable that others, reading the handwrighting on the wall, will follow his lead, and tonight be found voting in the interests of the people who placed them in the seats they occupy, it looked as though certain employes is only a salaried servant, all put in the council to carry out the people's wishes. Yet how were they fulfilling their trust? All that was needed was for the street railway company to throw around some 15-cent cigars and some bad champagne, and the people's servants get their heads turned. What could be expected, however, when a few tickets to a dog show money?

could make them give away the city's If he was a resident of the East End, said Mr. Essery, he would go round with a hat and raise the money to fight the Rectory street matter to the very end, and if enough money couldn't be raised in the East End, the rest of the city would chip in. The council had shown that it didn't have sense enough to accept an alderman's resignation properly. A boys' baseball club would transact business better than that. If the people would recollect in December who sold them and their interests, and vote accordingly, bey would have a better council than they have had before. The trouble is that they forget the aldermen who fight their battles, and they vote for some Jack-in-the-box who had been sent in to do some dirty in the middle of the year. citizens used their ballots intelligently they would not be obliged to meet and protest against such an outrage as was being contemplated at the present time.

"Are the People Dogs?"

Are the people dogs who live south of Dundas and east of Richmond streets? asked Mr. Essery. right has the council to allow the street railway to go back on the compact made years ago. The North End has its belt line, why not the south? The reason is that the company is master of the council. In Toronto the company buys parks for the people, and provide free shows for them. In London the company takes possession of the people's park charges citizens admission to a and fourth-class show. A show such as only men would attend in places, and a show which is no credit to the city. If the water commissioners were doing their duty the city would be receiving $6,000 rental, yearly, from the company for the use of Springbank Park. The people have made no request that the Rectory street line be taken It would be an outrage to permit it to be done. It is an outrage that the company should be permitted to run only one way on any belt line. The shareholders of the company should understand that they have a duty to perform to the citizens. The reason the company pursues its present course is because it owns the council, the city, and evidently owns a large number of people in the city. Mr. Essery could not understand why the company does not study the interests of the people a little more. He thought it would pay them if they

Speaking of the remarks made by some people to the effect that the city solicitor should not be kept if he did not do his duty, Mr. Essery said that the solicitor had already given his advice and it would be well if the advice was followed. The fault lies with the aldermen, and Mr. Essery hoped that the aldermen and Mr. Essery hoped that the aldermen would investigate the case thoroughly and judge if they had not made a mistake. In Toronto and Hamilton the company pays a revenue to the city, but in London there is not even a decent car service. In no other city of Canada would such a one-horse service be tolerated or such an outrage permitted an astonishing spectacle to see aldermen acting on behalf of a monopoly and catechizing in the interest of that monopoly another concern asking for a franchise. It made a laughing stock of the council and the city. If a concern is willing to furnish power and light, it is an insult to the citizens for a monopoly to rise up and demand that its rival be excluded from participating in the business of the city. Unless a halt was called, London would soon be the rag-tag and bobtail of the street railway company and the electric light company, and a laughing stock to every other municipality in Canada.

Ald. Cooper's Conversion.

Ex-Ald. Bennet, noticing Ald. Cooper, called upon him to express his views. Ald. Cooper, on standing up, was greeted with hisses from all quarters of the hall. He promptly informed the crowd that he did not intend to speak to a lot of geese. Chairman Macklin and ex-Ald. Bennet requested that Ald. Cooper be given a fair hearing, and the alderman from the North End prepared to address the crowd. He said he was quite willing to express his views to the electors. He did not intend to talk to a lot of so-called men who would hiss a man for doing what he honestly be-lieved was right and proper. If the electors did not approve of his course in the council, Ald Cooper said they needn't vote for him. Referring to Mr. Essery's remarks, Ald. Cooper said he believed that that gentleman was present as the paid advocate of certain interests, and not as a private citizen.

This statement brought Mr. Essery marks were greeted with cheer while Ald. Cooper was again hissed. The speaker, on continuing, said he accepted Mr. Essery's statement; but it was a rare thing to come forward as Mr. Essery had done unless there was something in it for him. Ald. Cooper asked those who were hissing and interrupting him to wail till he got through, and he thought they would then be better satisfied with his course and his explanation. He thought Mr. Essery had done wrong in calling some of the aldermen serfs because they voted to grant the company's wishes. He himself, when he found he had made a mistake, was willing to acknowledge it. He then went on to say that the question of abandoning Rectory came up in connection with the laying of the Beaconsfield avenue and The company agreed to lay these lines if they were allowed to take up the Rectory street line. This No. committee, who had the matter under consideration, at first refused to allow, but finally decided that it would be the best bargain that could be made.

More Explanations. Ald. Cooper said that his own reason for supporting the abandonment of the Rectory street line was because he thought the Hamilton road people were more entitled to it. It had been the original intention to lay the line on the Hamilton road, and the ties had actually been put down there, and Ald. Cooper thought those peoaccordingly voted for the bylaw. Ald. Cooper said that ever since he sat in railway company. He went on the platform against them at the time of the strike, when no other alderman would do it. The Rectory street vote was the first in which he had ever supported the company, and he did that because he considered it a fair proposition. It he made a mistake, it was an honest one. He defied any man to show that he was owned by the street railway company. He had not given the order for the taking up of the Rectory street line, and he voted against the abandonment of the Ald. Cooper said he now lieves the taking up of lieves the taking up of the Rectory street line would be a great mistake; he did not realize before that the people of East London would be deprived of their only route to the south-eastern part of the city except by way of Dundas and Richmond

Speaking of the electric light quesburning question, Ald. Cooper said he wished to put it before the meeting in another way to that in which Mr. Essery had done. Ald. Cooper said he had told Mr. Sifton when first spoken to, that he would vote for him every time if he would furnish competition in electric light and power. Mr. Sif-ton's position, however, was that he would give power and light to outlying concerns only if it paid him to extend lines so far. Mr. Sifton seemed desirous of furnishing electricity only to a few central concerns. Ald.
