WORLD ALREADY ENDED

Striking Philosophy Enunciat ed by Speaker at Majestic Theatre Sunday.

That the world has already ended, and that millions of people now living will never die, is the teaching of W. M. Hersee, V.D.M., who addressed a large audience in the Majestic Theatre on Sunday afternoon on prophecy. The subject of the end of the world is as profound now as it was at the time of Noah, said Mr. Hersee, in his introduction of the subject to the audience. The Bible states that conditions would be the same in the days of the coming of the Son of Man as they were at the time immediately preceding the flood. Scoffers made light of Noah's teaching concerning the flood, and many today refuse to believe the teaching in reference to Christ's second presence on earth. "The end of the world." Mr. Hersee thinks, means a change in the conditions of the world.

"The earth was not destroyed by the flood, and it will not be destroyed by fire, as many people think," the speaker asserted. "Christ's second presence and the end of the world are closely connected."

IRELAND'S TROUBLE.

THIEF SECRETARY SHORTT has signalized his entry into the troubled sea of Irish life by an action which was as vigorous as it was unexpected in ordering the arrest of those alleged to be implicated in pro-German intrigue. If, as Germany, his action should be acclaimed by every thoughtful Britisher.

The Freeman's Journal of Dublin denies that | Hospital on Sunday. the Irish people are pro-German, but admits there may be a few foolish men in Ireland who have their purposes. Widely different though the in-

Had the leaders of the rebellious faction in Ireland the same grasp of the situation, it is unlikely that many of them would countenance any anti-British schemes at this time, but some are so blinded by their inherited and look at anything else.

The Freeman's Journal is right. The Irish are not pro-German, in that they have no desire to live under German rule or see Germany victorious in the great struggle. Unfortunately some of them delude themselves into thinking that they can accept German help to "free Ireland," thank the Teutons and thus end all connection. How ridiculous is such an idea the rest of the world knows. By giving assistance to the Huns, the mistaken Irish are inviting a life of slavery becountry's darkest hours would be as liberty un- without food.

THE PRESIDENT WALKED.

PRESIDENT WILSON knows how to appeal to the American people and how to prove that he is one of them. He gave an example of this insight into the inner workings of their minds and of tact on Saturday, in New York city, when he marched at the head of a great Red Cross parade through several miles of the city's liant vellow and multi-colored boots and shoes.

John Dillon wants the United States to impress the British with a sense of their duty towards Ireland. He does not wish any reminder a real enemy, John Barleycorn, or the wards Ireland. He does not wish any reminder a real enemy, John Barleycorn, or the wards Ireland's duty to Britain and civilization.

Another war hardship! American tanners decide people will have to be content with shoes of tan, black or white because of the shortage of dyes. A sad farewell to those silver, gold, brilliant vellow and multi-colored boots and shoes. Cross parade through several miles of the city's liant yellow and multi-colored boots and shoes. streets. His reception all along the route was enthusiastic, not because he was the president and led the parade, but because he was the president faith in writing his now notorious letter are hinand WALKED.

A feeling on the part of the people of fellowship with and trust in the head of the state is an invaluable asset in war time. Given this faith, his efforts on behalf of the cause receive wholehearted support. Some there will be who do not agree with all his decisions and methods, but so long as they believe him to be absolutely sincere and able to examine the problems that arise from the viewpoint of the masses, they will not allow their private ideas to stand in the way of supporting him.

The nearer the leaders can come to the people the better. It may be more impressive for presidents and premiers to sit smilingly in a twelve-cylindered motor car and look down on the mob; it may be more comfortable; it may savor more of the dignity of office, but it does not win the admiration and respect like a meeting on common ground. King George has not won the personal friendships of the soldiers by standing at the salute on a reviewing stand; he has won it by yelling out, as he met a regiment, tired and worn, from its spell in the trenches, "Are we downhearted? No!' Politicians from the premier to the newest candidate seem to realize the value of good-fellowship just before election time. If they would remember it after their return to the House some of them would be given more confidence by the electors and would be able to render better ser-

SAVING EVERY SEED.

THOSE WHO PROFESS to believe that the farming community is not doing its utmost to work the land efficiently in spite of the scarcity of help, might find reason to change their views if they would take a drive along the sideroads and hold converse with some of the workers they see for a few minutes; a few minutes are all the agriculturists will spare at present.

On Saturday fields were to be seen in the neighborhood of the city wherein labored four and five persons, most of them women, and their actions appeared peculiar. Inquiry showed they were appeared peculiar inquiry showed they were appeared peculiar. The condition ought to stimulate flax-raising in the Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a appeared peculiar Inquiry showed they were planting corn by hand rather than trust to plantiers, the reason being that the latter cannot be relied on so implicitly to deposit the exact number of seeds to each hill, and the farmers are determined that nothing shall be wasted. Good seed corn is very scarce, and they have set out to guarantee, as far as is humanly possible, the best results from what they plant.

Women are rising to the occasion here as in the Old Land. Dozens of them who have never before been called on to do an hour's work in the field are out early in the morning and are working steadily to take the places of brothers and sons who have had to leave the plow for the rifle. Bitterly as some of them resent what they consider the injustice of taking away the young farmers, they are ready to make the best of the situation and to spend themselves in the cause of greater production of foodstuffs.

It would be well if some of those from the cities who have criticized the farmers' stand recently could see and realize his side of the question and could know how loyally he is trying to do his part. There is a regrettable inclination in some quarters to draw a dividing line between the urban and rural people and to ascribe all the patriotism to one side of that line. This is as foolish as the political cry that one party has a monopoly of the loyalty. Canada cannot afford to allow these attempts to divide her people to flourish; the unity of the populace in war time is far more important than any union of political Another remarkable statement to b added to the thousands already given, testifying to the benefits derived from Tanlac is that made the other day by Mrs. Florence Langford of 2436 St. Clair avenue, Toronto, who in telling her ex-perience with Tanlac, said: "I have been a sufferer from chronic indigestion for over ten years, and was in such an awful condition that I just can't describe the agony I endured. "Long ago," she continued, "my appetite left me and the little I forced down seemed to settle right in the pit of my stomach and form a hard lump, and I would bloat up with gas till I felt as tight as a drum. Do what I would I just couldn't get rid of this gas, and a dull, griping pain would start up in my stomach and extend through my side, all around to my back, and make me so miserable I could hardly stand it. My nerves were in such a wretched shape that I could hardly sleep, and many a night I would get up out of bed and walk the floor for hours. The least little noise would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf, and I felt as limp as a rag. I used to weigh a hundred and pounds, but my troubles bore on me until I got down to only ninety-eight pounds, and I became so weak and lifeless that it was simply torture for ne to try to do any kind of work. "This was just the fix I was in when one of my neighbors told me about how much Tanlac had helped her. But, I had taken so many kinds of medicines, and even tried specialists without getting any help, that I didn't have much faith left. However, on her advice, I got a bottle, and before I finished I felt so much better that I ordered another one. I have taken only three bottles so far, and have such a fine appetite now that I can eat anything I want, and ell that indigestion and pain and gas and bloating have completely passed away. What "Blood Pressure" Is and May Mean in Sickness

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG. A. B. M. A. M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

When you hear an individual say he suffers with high blood pressure and you ask him to "please explain," it often happens that he himself doesn't happen happens ha the drawing in and the drawing in and pumping out of the blood.

The heart, which is the pumping station of the body, like many another tired machine, at times quits work in a regular and orderly fashion and changes its customary routine to a zig-zag method. It does this particularly when some ailment occurs in a part of your machinery. The heart, like practically every other part of you, goes out on strike when one member of your entire self stops its regular routine. High blood pressure or low blood pressure results when too much or too little of the roundabout stream is pumped out by the heart. The heart itself is a machine, and must circulate a definite amount of blood or else there arises danger to the whole body machinery.

Some Indications.

Blood pressure, when too high or too low, is sometimes a symptom of some human enemy, whose full development is prepared in the body's scarlet stream.

Four feet in diameter, it is a notable protection against sun and storm, but how it does flap-flap in the wind as its wearer rides along! All the next day they wondered what it could have been that had ended Mr. Green Frog's song so quickly. None of them could tell.

But that evening when Mr. Green Frog began to sing the meadow people saw Mrs. Robin lean out from her nest in the tree above the log, break off a twig and drop it into the water, below, and Mr. Green Frog with a plaink disappeared under the water and the meadow folks had a good night's rest.

Rid Herself of Wrinkles

BY LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

Every woman loves a smooth, beautiful skin, and faces her first wrinkle with a sinking heart, believing it to be the first indication of approaching old age. But unless one has long since passed the half-way milestone of life, wrinkles aren't the finger-marks of age. In many cases they mean an uncared for skin or objectionable habits of facial expression. Since it's possible to eliminate both these causes, there's no reason why every woman shouldn't have a smooth, satiny complexion.

A wrinkled skin is usually a loose, flabby skin, and the first step in eradicating the wrinkles is to make the skin firm. Next, it's necessary to iron away the innumerable little creases that mar its beauty.

When the skin is loose it's peacestry to go the first step in eradicating the wrinkle, not along the wrinkle, not along the wrinkle, not along the wrinkle, not along the wrinkle out.
Rub the cheeks up, not down. The opject of massaging the cheeks is to prevent their sagging, which is the reason for adopting a movement in opposition to any such tendency.

Don't forget that the points which require special attention are the horizontal forchead wrinkles, the vertical scowl between the brows, crow's feet about the eyes, the laughing wrinkles, the cheeks, the tiny, fine lines which radiate from the front of the ears and the neck muscles running down from behind the ears.

It really is a simple matter to massage one's face for 10 minutes before the innumerable little creases that mar its beauty.

When the skin is loose, it's necessary to build up the tissues. The most successful method of accomplishing this is to apply a skin food made of nourishing oils. If you don't care to prepare the skin food yourself, go to a first-class druggist and purchase a reliable make of cream. Ask your druggist to recommend one, if you aren't famillar with the different makes.

Having supplied yourself with a generous jar of skin food, proceed to massage the skin with firm, rotary strokes so the tissues will be nourished and the wirnless smeathed away.

The ally is a simple matter to massage one's face for 10 minutes before retiring. Another 10 minutes before diving the age one's face for 10 minutes before retiring. Another 10 minutes before deriving. Another 10 minutes before retiring. Another 10 minutes before deriving. Another 10 minutes

The last British aerial raid on Cologne took place early in April. A report from Geneva dated April 5 stated that 284 persons were killed, half of them being soldiers. Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by un-sighty pimples, blotches, flesh worms G. M. GUNN & SON (GEORGE C. Gunn)—Established 1859. Fire, life, accident and automobile insurance.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted, as well as pain and regret to their friends. Many a cheek and brow cast in the mold of beauty have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost and their possessor rendered unhappy for years.

Why then consont to rest under this at the close.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, May 18.—The trade on spot in cash oats last week was quiet, but it improved somewhat at the week-end, and on Saturday spot prices were strong, at an advance of 3c per bushel at the close. Why, then, consent to rest under this cloud of embarrassment?

There is an effectual remedy for all these defects. It is Burdock Blood Bitters. This emedy will drive out all the impurities from the blood and leave the complexion nealthy and clear.

Mrs. Katherine Henry, Port Sydney, Ont., writes: "Two years ago my face was so covered with pimples I was ashamed to go out at all. I tried several remedies, but they were of no use. At last a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I got a bottle, and by the time it was used I could see a difference. I then got two more, and when I had used them the pimples were completely gone. I can highly recommend B. B. B."

Detroit, May 18.—Oats held without change throughout the week and trading was slow all the time. An easy market had been looked for by nearly all dealers and there was general disappointment at the failure of the price to break. In the Detroit market the firmness resulted from small offerings. Many things would be lovely and permissable if life 9614 were one of leisure and self-indulg-6834 ence, but since it is one of struggle, anything that interfere with the soul's progress should be cast aside. to dissipation, fill bodies with disease, and souls with ruin, and find that their mirth turned to heaviness. We must see to it that what we put into iffe's equipment shall be as incorruptable and lasting as life itself, We must lay aside all sin. The greatest peril and problem of human life is sin. It brings to the world its greatest heartaches, most hopeless misery, ruined childhood and shattered homes. There spiritual things. Such things are (1) Faith in God; (2) a well-epuipped mind, filled with the truth of God. "Faith, truth and love towards God and fellowmen should always have a large place in the equipment of life.
