Lesson VIII.—Feb. 23, 1919. Moses Praying for Israel. Exodus, 32:1-34:9.

Commentary.—I. The Golden Calf Made and Worshipped (32:1-6). A test was made of the patience of the Israelites by Moses' long stay in the mount with the Lord.

Lord had made his promise as strong and as sacred as it could possibly be made. I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven—A strong expression showing the greatness of the future nation.

Suitable Stables for the Stock

The Provision of Good Healthy Stables is Half the Battle in Stock Raising—Plenty of Air and Light is Essential.

(By J. M. Waterman, B.S.A.)

The building of suitable barns and stables, so that they will be efficient, moderate in cost, and at the same time sanitary, is a problem which many builders do not consider thoroughly enough before building.

add to the comfort of the cow, but are often woefully neglected, either through ignorance or carelessness. One of the reasons why stables are rather small is the cost of buildings.

be well to provide about twenty-five per cent. extra. It will be readily seen that less openings will be needed when a good wind is blowing, or in cold weather than in warm weather.

Note the lightness and absence of obstructing posts in this barn; cement floors and plenty of air and floor space ensures comfort and health to the animals.

required, than to rush in and build before you are sure of what you will need. Study the barns of your neighbors, their size and layout, and profit by their mistakes.

adequate system of ventilation should be installed. This is one of the points—along with an insufficiency of light—that the majority of stables are weak in, and yet these two are perhaps of greater importance in ensuring the health of the herd than any other two factors that we can name.

to dispose of the stale air. The outlet flues should be tightly built of matched lumber, and should extend above the ridge of the barn in order to get good circulation through them.

II. God's Words to Moses (32:7-10). The Lord said unto Moses—While Moses was receiving the law on the mountain from God, the people below were going into idolatry and its accompanying evils, and the Lord would make known to him what was taking place among his people.

QUESTIONS—How long did Moses remain in the mount? What special direction did the Lord give him for Israel? What request did the people make of Aaron? What sin did the Israelites commit? How did Moses first learn about Israel's sin? Describe Moses' dealings with his people regarding the golden calf. Describe Moses' intercession for Israel. What promise did the Lord give to Moses? How were the tables of the Ten Commandments renewed?

IV. The tables broken and renewed (32:15-34:9). Directly after Moses had offered his prayer of intercession and had prevailed, he went down from the mountain having in his hand the two tables of the law. When he saw that the children of Israel were worshipping the golden calf, he threw the tables of stone from his hands, doubtless in token of the lamentable fact that Israel had thus quickly broken God's holy law.

example is Jesus in the petition for His apostles and for all who "believe on me through their work (John 17:20), and for like murderers and thieves of the crucifixion. Paul could wish himself "accursed from Christ" for his brethren and kinsmen, and commands that "prayers, intercessions... be made for all men." Love finds in this its highest exercise and holiest expression.—W.H.C.

London, Cable.—There has just arrived in London an English trade unionist who has lived in closest contact with Russian workers in different parts of the country for the past five years.

Ebert's Election Was Certain Long Before Vote Was Taken.

Weimar, Special Cable.—(By the Associated Press).—Pealing church bells announced to the people of Weimar at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon that the German folk, for the first time in history, had chosen the head of their own state.

Friedrich Ebert, former saddler and Socialist leader, appeared before the theatre twenty minutes later, and received as President of Germany those plaudits formerly marking the appearance of the monarch who once stigmatized the party to which President Ebert belongs as being made up to men "unworthy to bear the name of German."

Despite the certainty of Herr Ebert's election, the theatre was crowded this afternoon beyond anything previously seen since the opening of the National Assembly.

A voting by ballot caused confusion as the delegates struggled along the narrow aisles. Great crowds massed outside during the session, waiting patiently in the cold for a chance to see the new President when he left the building, which he did immediately after a very brief speech of acceptance.

The vote against him probably came from the solid Conservative block and a few of the old National Liberals.

The National Assembly adjourned until Thursday. To-morrow will be spent in preparing a programme and definitely constituting a new Cabinet.

Dr. Edouard David, President of the National Assembly, made during the day a dramatic address to President Ebert.

"Rich, red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood."

"Do not sit up for your husband?" "No, I am an early riser and am always up in time to greet him."
