It is indeed the "twilight of the Kings." One by one they pass away and give place to rulers appointed directly by the people. Monarchy as an institution will soon be as rare as the dodo and with its passing will go all the trumpety titles which at present are bestowed alike upon the boor and the gentleman. It is a new age that is being ushered in and we must get ready to meet the altered conditions it will bring. There was a fictitious glory about the person of the King that appealed to the romantic mind but it no longer exists. The world has ceased to live in the clouds. We know that the greatest King who ever lived could not be told from the humblest peasant a few years after death. As Shakespeare says: "Imperial Caesar, dead and turned to clay might stop a hole to keep the wind away." So Royalty passes to give place to a form of government better adapted to our practical age.

South Carolina has won a series of victories at the Peace Conference. It begins to look as if the American designs are being carried out. Great Britain is showing a disposition to be doing a dispositive in accordance with the wishes of the American members of the League of Nations.

F. C. B. and Flour Importations.

ARRANGE "SUBSTITUTE" EXPORT
Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the Food Control Board and the Flour Importers was held to hear the report of Mr. J. J. McKay who returned on Saturday from New York, where he had been negotiating the sale of the flour "substitutes" held in the Colony on behalf of the Food Control Board. The Chairman, Sir P. T. McGrath, presided and read various telegrams from the Wheat Export Company, the Purves Wilby Company, and the Wheat Commission in London, all to the effect that the "Graciana" would lead the "substitutes" here on her way back to England, returning from Halifax to St. John's for the purpose of taking on this cargo. This arrangement was welcomed by the trade, as it offered all importers an opportunity to get their stocks in shape and have them delivered in due time so that there might be no congestion on the ship's arrival. The stocks here will total between eighteen and twenty thousand barrels, and in Halifax, if all the cars of this material in transit and some of which have been at North Sydney reach Halifax in time, there will be about 5,000 barrels for shipment by whatever vessel is to take them from there, and which it is thought will be the "Graciana" also.

Mr. McKay explained very fully the nature and effect of the work done by him while in New York, from which it appeared that in recognition of the peculiar difficulties existing here with regard to this problem of "substitutes" the Wheat Export Commission made many concessions, viz. accepting rolled oats and oatmeal as "substitutes" and taking them off our hands where they refused to purchase any ads or America, and also paying us the highest possible price for both oat and corn products, and accepting the very smallest lots offered by us, while declining to take less than five hundred sacks of any particular brand in the neighbouring countries. In other words the Wheat Export Company went out of its way to facilitate this country in this particular matter. Mr. McKay also spoke in the highest praise of the attitude towards the Newfoundland of the officials of the various Departments with whom he came into contact, and made it clear to the meeting that a spirit of exceptional friendship towards this Colony prevailed among the officials in New York who had to deal with this problem.

In the forenoon the Food Board and the Sugar Importers met, and plans were discussed for disposing of the "Metamora" cargo of sugar, now on the way here from the West Indies. Negotiations have been opened up in various quarters, and one of them is with the Imperial authorities for the purchase by them of this sugar for the same destination as the "substitutes" are going to, which is thought to be one of the neutral countries of Northern Europe, and in that case it is hoped that if the "Metamora" arrives here in time the sugar can be put on board the "Graciana" with the "substitutes."

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this. Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eccematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.
WASH THE GERMS OUT.
The D. D. Prescription is a new skin discovery which is becoming famous throughout Newfoundland and Canada. It is a simple wash, compounded as a scientific antiseptic remedy for Eczema, Bad Leg, Ulcers, Sores, Pimples and all skin eruptions. This wash penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.
Don't delay—this wash will cure. Get a bottle of D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold everywhere.

Address
To the Rev. Hugh W. Facey, B.A., L.Th., Incumbent of the Mission of Smith's Sound—with the Railway.
Rev. and Dear Sir—We, your loving people, having heard with deep regret of your leaving us to take up work in a more genial place, and to hope for the more comfort of yourself and family, cannot let you sever your connection with us without first expressing our very deep sorrow in losing you from this Mission.
We know your labors amongst us, and in the Mission have been of the most arduous kind, and yet in spite of winter's frost and snows, during the long period of the eight years of your incumbency, you have had sometimes to endure hard travels and biting cold which would make the stoutest hearts amongst us feel like shivering duty's call; but it was not so with yourself. While we deplore your loss, yet we rejoice for your own, Mrs. Facey's and your children's sake, that the number of Churches where you are called to officiate being so few, compared to what you are called to do here, when on this Mission you would be going the long round from here to Alexander Bay and Gumbo.
Your good and helpful services will never be forgotten by your people here, and although we may never again receive from your hands the Eucharistic Blessing, we shall remember with thankfulness that although your labors are to be given to others, we shall not be forgotten in your prayers.
We therefore ask you to accept the accompanying gift, which, though small, comes from the hearts of sorrowing people, and we pray that your loss to us may be others' gain, and that God's choicest blessing may rest on you, your family and your labors now and always. In deepest love and respect to you, Mrs. Facey and your children, we beg to remain, on behalf of your people here,
(Sgd.) Josiah Frampton, Sr., L.R. James Gardner, Josiah Frampton, Jr., Church Wardens, Smith's Sound, Nov. 21st, 1913.

REPLY:
To Messrs. Josiah Frampton, Sr., L.R., James Gardner, Josiah Frampton, Jr., Church Wardens; and Church People of Holy Trinity Church, White Rock, Smith's Sound.
My Dear Friends—On the eve of our departure from your midst, I write you on behalf of Mrs. Facey and myself, to thank you most heartily for the sincere and warm address which you presented us with last Thursday night, as well as for your kind gift, both of which are most deeply appreciated by us.
As I stated on that occasion, when speaking in reply, the loss which you emphasized is a material one, and is keenly felt by myself as priest of this Mission for eight years. That period of time has made possible a bond not easily broken, and I can assure you all that the loss is mine as well as yours. Smith's Sound Mission with the Railway, has been my first love. Here I first began to learn what a Priest should be to his people, and although the eight years are full of shortcomings and failures, yet I do feel most deeply the first break in a work to which I have been ordained. I want you all to feel and know that it is not without pangs of deep regret that, owing to circumstances over which I had no control, I have been compelled to leave you.
Although I must in answer to a call, do duty amongst others, I wish you all to know that your spiritual progress as well as your material, will always find a place in my prayers as the great Sacrament, where the Priest forever pleads for the progress and welfare of the whole Church.
Both Mrs. Facey and myself will also always look back with loving and warmest thought to the years of our sojourn at White Rock, and also to being the birthplace of our four children.
In taking leave of you, we therefore tender you our grateful and heartfelt thanks for all your many kindnesses, and humbly pray that future years may be full of blessings both spiritual and material for you and all kind friends in the Mission. Believe me to be, your friend in Christ.
HUGH W. FACEY.
Smith's Sound, Nov. 23, 1913.

Successful Function.
On Wednesday evening, Feb. 6th, the Young Ladies' Guild of Bayley's Cove, Bonavista, held a tea and sale in the Twentieth Century Hall. Doors were opened at 6 o'clock, and although the night was one of the stormiest for the season, a large crowd soon gathered and quickly demolished both goods and cakes to the satisfaction of the Guild, and the fine sum of two hundred and sixty-six dollars and thirty-nine cents ($266.39), was realized. Much credit is due those young ladies as they are only twelve in number and were working about five months. The whole proceeds will go towards getting a pulpit for the new Methodist Church. A few cakes that were kept in reserve until a latter stage of the proceedings were sold at auction by a "Lancaster" gentleman who could and did do the job in good style, and all went home in good spirits at 11.30 p.m.

What They Want.

Publicity has been given the aspirations of the Five Allied Powers, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy and Japan, touching their demands concerning territory and the reconstruction of boundary lines, and it is now for the Peace Conference to adjust them co-ordinatively, and in such an amicable manner as will not give rise to any bickerings or recriminations by the countries concerned.

The British representatives believe that it is possible to establish a League of Nations, and that the same is desirable, but the establishment thereof must be done by the Present Peace Congress. Britain has no continental purposes, beyond those of a just and lasting peace for all countries and lasting peace for all countries and lasting peace for all countries.

France demands the return of the lost provinces of Alsace-Lorraine unconditionally, and the right to discuss and ultimately fix the Rhine frontiers of that country, even to the necessity of creating a buffer States, and also to annex the Sarre river basin. Northern left bank of the Rhine should be free of military works of all kinds, and that the people in that zone should be left free to make a decision as to whether they desire to join France, form an independent State or return to Germany.

Belgium's demand includes reparation for damages wrought by Germany and insists that the amount of her claim shall be the first lien on German assets up to a sum of 15,000,000,000 francs or a greater sum if return is not made of the machinery and material stolen by the Germans.

Italy asks for the Trentino so far as the Brenner Pass, including the whole of the Southern Tyrol, Trieste, Istria, Fiume, Zara, Sebenico, the majority of the Dalmatian Archipelago, Avallons and its hinterland, a protectorate over Albania, possession of islands in the Aegean Sea, which were taken from Turkey during the war.

Japan entered the Conference "with no territorial ambition in China" and so far as Tsing Tsan is concerned she will hand it back to China as per diplomatic notes exchanged between the two countries in May 1915, according to Baron Makino the senior Japanese delegate. Neither is she Rising Sun Empire interested in Russia, nor desirous of interfering in Russian affairs. Territorially all that Japan wants is the possession of the Southern Pacific Islands, north of the Equator which belonged to Germany before the war. And it is to Japan's taking over these that Australia raises objections, for, in effect says the island continent, the occupation of these islands by a foreign power will eventually become a menace to Australia, and incidentally to British interests generally in the South Pacific.

"Daniel O'Connell."

LAST NIGHT'S LECTURE BY MR. JUSTICE KENT.

St. Joseph's course of lectures closed last night with Judge Kent's very interesting and able essay on O'Connell. President Cloney in introducing the lecturer stressed the cultural significance of these literary evenings, and voiced the gratitude of St. Joseph's Institute to each and all of the speakers.

Judge Kent limited his paper to the passing of Catholic Emancipation, (1829). He portrayed vividly the lamentable conditions obtaining in Ireland in the 18th century, the oppression of the penal law, the travesties of justice, the confederations and imprisonments that were of daily occurrence. He then went on to sketch the early career of the Liberator. With evident sympathy and knowledge Judge Kent enlarged on O'Connell's forensic gifts—his popular oratory greatly attuned to his audience, his deep acquaintance with law, his marvellous intuitions of the weak points of witnesses, his power of fascination over juries.

In thanking the lecturer Rev. Dr. Kitchin expressed the hope that Judge Kent on some future occasion, should favor St. Joseph's with the sequel to his present admirable essay.

Appreciation.

At the last meeting of the Evangelistic Campaign Committee, the following resolution was unanimously adopted and presented to Mrs. Demarest by the chairman, Rev. Dr. Curtis, before she left.

Resolved: That this Evangelistic Committee having had the privilege of arranging the Evangelistic Campaign conducted by Mrs. Victoria Booth-Chubb, Demarest, desires to place on record its high estimate of the value of these services to the spiritual life of the city and the upbuilding of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ. Mrs. Demarest has been a fearless and faithful exponent of the vital truths of our holy religion, and by her winning and persuasive preaching has won many souls for Christ and His service.

Belgium's demand includes reparation for damages wrought by Germany and insists that the amount of her claim shall be the first lien on German assets up to a sum of 15,000,000,000 francs or a greater sum if return is not made of the machinery and material stolen by the Germans.

Ricketts, V.C.

Entertained by City Club.

The City Club last night entertained Sergt. T. R. Ricketts, V.C., D.C.M., C. D. G. President F. W. Bradshaw occupied the chair, and a large number was present.

The President stated that the function was wholly in Ricketts' honor, and on behalf of the members welcomed the hero to the Club Rooms. Further, the President thanked him for the honour brought on Newfoundland by his signal act of bravery, and paid a well-merited tribute to the fighters of Newfoundland. "Undoubtedly, he continued, many acts of bravery and heroism have gone unrewarded, but again it is evident that Sergt. Ricketts earned the honour conferred upon him by Valor," and he tendered him on behalf of the City Club a gift of one thousand dollars, and wished him many years of health and happiness.

In the unavoidable absence of W. B. Grieve, Esq., C. B. E., Dr. Robinson proposed the health of the gallant soldier. The toast was received with enthusiasm, and the refrain, "for he's a jolly good fellow" was sung lustily. A splendid programme was arranged, and the following took part: Capt. Campbell, M.C., Dr. Blackall, Messrs. Williams, Ruggles, Halley, Hutton, King, Trapnell, Bulley, P. H. Cowan, Christian and Capt. Leo Murphy, the latter telling of Ricketts' record in the ranks, and other items of interest relative to the German defeat.

Dr. Blackall's song, composed for the occasion, was a noble feature of the evening. The song is given in full.

A CHEER FOR TOMMY RICKETTS, V.C.

There's a son of Terra Nova—Sergeant Ricketts is his name—From a settlement in White Bay to Nova gallant soldier, And now he stands forever on the Empire's roll of fame.

He has won the highest honour that heroic deeds can bring—The V. C. shines upon his breast by our most gracious King—The D. C. M. and Croix de Guerre—so make the welkin ring—As he goes marching on.

The Allies fought for Justice, and they are proud of all who helped to smash the Armies of the Hun; But we take a special pride in Terra Nova's gallant son, As he goes marching on.

Having nobly done his duty he is home with us once more, A quiet, modest soldier, but a hero to the core.

For him many future years we pray, For him many future years we pray, For him many future years we pray, For him many future years we pray.

Newfoundland fish was placed on the London market recently. The salmon, of which there is only a limited supply at present, is of magnificent quality, and is being marketed by the Fish Trade Gazette. It is fully equal in appearance to the best "Loggie" and is, if anything, even better flavored. It is absolutely the finest of the English salmon which has ever been imported. The haddock, too, turned out remarkably well, the fish being when cooked firm, white and creamy and the flavor excellent. Only a few hundred cases were available, and they were sold out almost at once. The cod, of which over 7,000 cases were offered, met an excellent reception. Hundreds of cases have been sold daily in Billingsgate. There is not the slightest doubt that this cod is absolutely the best of its kind yet marketed here.

VALENTINE NIGHT.—The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society Sociable, which takes place on Valentine's night, will be a very interesting one. Quite new ideas are being planned and a very pleasant evening is assured all who attend. The Lecture Room will be nicely decorated and heated and the attendance and entertaining will leave nothing to be desired. Just think of it, a perfectly delightful evening for 30c.—Feb12,11

TO-DAY'S Messages.

9.00 A. M.

CROWDS CHEER THEIR MAJESTIES.

LONDON, Feb. 11. King George and Queen Mary were cheered by the crowds in the streets on the way to Westminster, where the King addressed the Houses of Parliament from the Throne to-day. The vicinity of Parliament Square and White Hall were packed with people, gathered to witness the arrival of the King and Queen.

GERMAN SACRILEGE.

General Hirschbacher, the Governor of Strassburg, has made an official report to Marshal Foch that he had obtained sworn evidence showing that Germans throughout the whole war used the towers of Strassburg Cathedral for machine gun supports, for observation points, for the direction of artillery fire and for listening posts against airplanes. The report added, thus the Germans themselves did exactly what they unjustly accused the French of doing at Rheims.

A THREAT.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 11. Great Britain and France have sent notes to Matthias Erbsberger, President of the German Armistice Commission, the Weimar correspondent of the Berlingske Tidende says, he learns from a reliable source, dealing with the armistice negotiations, that the Germans themselves did exactly what they unjustly accused the French of doing at Rheims.

TOO MANY RENEWALS ALREADY.

A proposal to change the Allied armistice and greatly shorten the armistice periods is understood to be before the Supreme War Council. This proposal calls for the limiting of the armistice periods to about ten days, at the end of which time new terms would be imposed on Germany. The sentiment is expressed by many in attendance on the Peace Conference that this would give the Allies a better hold on the situation and enable them to meet the constantly changing conditions. No intimation is given as to the attitude of the Supreme War Council in the matter.

RETURNS IN MARCH.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 11. Official advice as to the return of Sir Robert Borden from overseas are still lacking, although it is stated that he will be back early in March.

A FAIR SALARY.

BASEL, Feb. 11. The annual salary of the President of the German Republic, who may be elected this week by the National Assembly at Weimar, will be limited to one million marks. According to reports from Berlin the President will reside in Berlin. He will select his executive from all parties.

SPARTAN OUTBREAK QUELLED.

BASEL, Feb. 11. The German forces, who have been putting down a Spartan uprising in Bremen, according to reports received, completely cleared the harbor on the night of February 8th without fighting. Eighty sailors and the heads of the Soldiers' Council were arrested.

JELICOE TAKES UP THE PEN.

LONDON, Feb. 11. A book written by Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, the former Commander of the British Grand Fleet, which will appear to-morrow, gives the cause of the sinking of the British cruiser Hampshire, on which Lord Kitchener lost his life. Admiral Jellicoe explains that the Hampshire struck a German moored mine, which had been laid by submarines. The book contains expressions of British unpopularity at the beginning of the war. The Grand Fleet had to run out of harbor several times because submarines were reported inside. Admiral Jellicoe says he averted a night action with his big ships off Jutland because the British searchlights and fire controls were defective. He recommends a greater superiority of all classes of vessels than in 1914.

MORE MENACING THAN WAR.

LONDON, Feb. 11. William Adamson, in the House of Commons speaking to-day on the industrial situation, said that it was almost as menacing and dangerous as war itself. He said that the Labor amendment in the reply to the address from the throne would relate to the causes of industrial unrest. I hope, he continued, that no attempts will be made to disappoint the legitimate expectations of the working people. All sections of the people should understand that we have reached the stage when we have laid the cards on the table, and when the working classes will refuse longer to be treated as cogs in a machine for mere profit making purposes. Mr. Adamson said that no mention had been made, in the King's speech, concerning pensions or of the disposal of Government shipyards, factories and other properties, on which millions have been spent, or on Russia. Mr. Adamson said he spoke for the party of constitutional labor. In referring to a suggestion that the present unrest had been caused by a revolutionary group, he said his group never would encourage a revolution or unconstitutional action.

The First Locomotive Made Its Trial Trip.
In 1804, there was, on the Merthyr Tydvil Tramway—which has "the honour of being the oldest railway in the world," the Act of Parliament having been granted to it in 1803—a locomotive, which was the joint production of Trevethick, a Cornishman, and of Rees Jones, of Penryn, who laboured under the direction of Samuel Homfray, the ironmaster and chief proprietor of the Penryn Works. The latter was so pleased with the success that he saw the advantage of it, and he laid a wager of £1,000 with Richard Crawshaw that, by its aid, he would draw a load of iron from the Navigation to Penryn Works. Crawshaw ridiculed the idea, and accepted the wager. One or two attempts to run the engine had already been made; but in one case it would not move at all and in another it wanted to imitate Pegasus and soar into the air, instead of steadily taking the iron way carefully laid for it. The day fixed for the trial was February 12, and the track was a tramway lately formed from Penryn at the back of Plymouth Wall down to the Navigation. Great was the concourse assembled, "and the rumour of the day's doings even penetrated to the depths of Taff Fawr and Taff Bach, bringing down old apple-faced farmers and their wives, who were told of a power and a speed that would alter everything, and do away with horses altogether." On the first engine and tram twenty persons clustered, anxious to win immortality. The train, six in number, were laden with iron, and, amid a concourse of villagers, including the constables, the "druggist," and the class generally dubbed "shopw" by the natives, were Mr. Richard Crawshaw and Mr. Samuel Homfray, both as interested as a bet of £1,000 would naturally make them. The driver was one William Richards, and on the engine were perched Trevethick and Rees Jones, their faces black but their eyes bright with anticipation of victory. Soon the signal was given, and, amidst a mighty roar from the people, the wheels turned, and the train moved downward, going steadily at the rate of five miles an hour, until a bridge was reached, a little below the town, that did not admit of the stack going under, and as this was built of brick, there was a great crash, and instant stoppage. In a minute or two Richard Crawshaw thought his £1,000 was all right, but it was only a brief time. Trevethick and Jones were of the old-fashioned school of men, who did not believe in impossibilities. The fickle crowd, who had "hurrahed" like mad, hung back, and said, "it wouldn't do;" but these heroes, the advance-guard of a race who had done more to make England famous than battles by land or sea, sprang to the ground, and worked like Britons, never ceasing until they had repaired the machinery, and then they rattled on, and finally reached their journey's end. The return journey, on account of gradients and curves, was a failure; but from this run on to the Merthyr tramway, the eventual success of the enterprise—though attended by expense, delays, accidents—was assured.

Seaman Drowned.

Messages received here from Gibraltar report that the "Mabel Davis" has arrived there from Harbor Grace. The vessel had a very rough time on the way across and sustained some slight damages, while one of her seamen named Luke Compton, a married man belonging to Englee, was washed overboard and drowned. Work has been sent to relatives of deceased said effect.

Octogenarian Honored.

On Monday evening a very pleasing event took place at Anderson's Drapery store. Mr. James Worrall, who attained his eightieth birthday and twenty-sixth year with the firm was presented by Hon. John Anderson with a beautiful silver mounted walking stick, suitably engraved, commemorating the happy event. Mr. Worrall enjoys the distinction of being the oldest draper in Newfoundland, and is still active and enjoying excellent health. Of a genial and kindly disposition he has endeavored himself to a host of friends who join in this expression of appreciation.

Steamer in Trouble.

In connection with the steamer J. M. Guffy, reported yesterday as being 140 miles off this port, sending out S. O. S. calls, the Minister of Shipping reports receiving an additional message from her, stating that she was "lying to" all night in very rough weather, and another steamer, 20 miles south, was on her way to render assistance. The J. M. Guffy is an oil carrier and was built at Port Arthur in 1901 for the Gulf Trading Co. She is 2,520 gross tons, and 1,825 tons net.

Reception at Government House.

There will be a reception at Government House this afternoon when His Excellency will meet Sergt. Ricketts, V.C., D.C.M., C.D.G., and all the other officers and men of the army who have won distinction, and are able to attend the function. At the same time Sergt. Ricketts, V.C. will be presented with a gold watch by the Daughters of Empire and $250 in Victory Bonds will be presented by the W.P.A. The Governor will make both presentations on behalf of the bodies named. The Minister of Militia and Staff will be present at the presentation, and the reception takes place at 2.30 o'clock.

Rivetless Ships.

The Committee of Lloyd's have recently carried out a series of experiments to determine as far as can be done by means of tests and analysis the general trustworthiness of structural connections affected by electric welding and their capacity to stand the strains to which they would be subject in practice. The Committee had before them the report from the society's Chief Ship Surveyor on the results of these experiments, and to assist them in their deliberations a demonstration was given at the society's offices. After careful consideration, the Technical Committee decided to recommend to the General Committee for approval certain regulations to be put forward by the Chief Ship Surveyors as all the conditions on which, as a tentative measure, welding might be adopted instead of riveting in the construction of vessels intended for classification in Lloyd's Register Book.

Premier Expresses His Views.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—"It industrial unrest continues the consequences will be grave to trade and industry," Premier Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons today. The Government, he said, would agree to any kind of investigation into the causes of the unrest. Special war conditions, the Premier thought, had contributed to the unrest. Among these conditions were the strain of four years of war and the fear of unemployment. The Premier said that bills would be introduced next week dealing with housing, health, the revival of rural life, land settlement for soldiers, land reclamation and afforestation. Mr. Lloyd George said there would be plenty of opportunities of employment if confidence was given those responsible for starting industries, and unless the cost of production went so high that it reduced the purchasing power of the community or put the country out of the world's markets. Discussing housing conditions, the Premier referred to overcrowding in many districts, which had been aggravated during the war by congregating in already crowded areas. The Government would do its best to alleviate such conditions. Hours of labor, he said, already had been fixed in industries involving three million persons. Before the war, the Premier said, Great Britain exported more than one billion tons of goods, and it was computed that half the cost of the goods was wages. The difference of a few shillings in a ton of a commodity like coal, he added, might depreciate the country of hundreds of millions of pounds and might throw hundreds of thousands out of work. Progress on the formation of a Society of Nations was very satisfactory, Premier Lloyd George said, in discussing the work of the Peace Conference. He said he hoped that a report would be issued soon by the commission appointed to consider responsibility for the war and enemy outrages. The Premier in answer to a question said that the British representatives like the others would sign the treaty of peace provisionally and that the treaty would be presented to parliament for ratification. If the House of Commons chose to repudiate it, the House was all powerful. The peace commission on indemnities, the Premier said, he hoped would issue its report soon. The Premier declared that the conference had made progress beyond the most sanguine anticipation and that it was approaching an agreement on most questions.

She Never Knew She Did It.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A friend of mine has a very fascinating mannerism. When she raises her eyebrows her left eyebrow crinkles and goes up further than the right, thus giving her a delightfully quizzical expression.

I love to say things that I think will cause this expression to appear. I consider it one of the foremost friend's chief facial charms, and I said so to her one day, hoping she might give me light on how it was done.

"I don't know what you mean," she said.

At first I thought it was a pretense, but her expression of genuine puzzlement soon convinced me otherwise. She actually never knew that she had that expression! And yet she was a woman well over thirty!

Just think, no one who has met her in the last twenty-five years but has noticed that little trick of expression, and she, who has lived with herself, is ignorant of it!

One Does Not Raise One's Eyebrows At Oneself.

And yet, when one stops to think of it, one can understand. One does not raise one's eyebrows when one is looking in the glass at oneself.

It is an interesting thought, when you stop to consider it—how little we do know of how we really look. The face we turn to the glass is a face from which individuality and ordinary expression has been completely ironed out. We may smile self-consciously at ourselves, but that is not the smile we really use when we are smiling from our hearts. Instead of just with our facial muscles. Incidentally, I have a friend who insists that the average glass does not give back anything like an exact image.

A Tip to Milliners.

Sometimes she looks over my shoulder when I am doing my hair before the mirror and looks from me to the image and says, "You think that looks just like you; well, it doesn't." The kindly inference in her case is that the glass does not flatter. And that I think is true of the average glass. There are glasses, however, that go to the opposite extreme. I have a hat that I bought from a milliner, part of whose stock in trade was such a glass. I think that I should, if necessary, spend half my capital for such a mirror if I became a milliner!

Dimples and Gold Crowns.

To return to the main road. When we were discussing the subject of one's lack of acquaintance with one's own appearance, another woman told me of this experience. One of those kind friends who feel it is their duty to be frank, repeated to her criticisms to the effect that she was always drawing down the corner of her mouth in such a way as to make her dimple show. "It's a nice dimple," said the kind friend, "but you would like it so much better if you weren't always trying to show it."

And the truth was, that the woman had a gold crown in her mouth which she much disliked and really drew down her mouth with the idea of hiding that.

You can make your own moral.

SICKNESS OR LAZINESS.

I've never felt as good as new since I was laid up with the flu. My wife refers to many chores both in the house and out of doors, which should be done without delay, but I am weak as weak as when I simply lack the strength to go and shovel forty tons of snow. If I were only feeling good I'd gladly bring in coal and wood, and feed the warthog in his pen, and hump around like other men. But I feel like a castoff shoe since I was laid up with the flu. My wife regards my tale of woe as faked up stuff that isn't so. "You sped along on nimble feet to see that dog fight down the street; you vaulted over a six-foot fence and like a racehorse sprinted hence, when you were told by Neighbour Brown that some one's house was burning down. But when I say the roof leaks rain, you're twisted up with poignant pain; you're all unnerved and out of whack, and have the fantods in your back." Alas, my sympathy is mine; alone I weep the scalding brine. My wife at my complaints has laughed; she thinks I'm working Aesop's graft; she scoffs at crippled lung and limb, and talks about the Brothers Grimm. Yet I am sore in every thow, since I was laid up with the flu.

Parsnips!

Household Notes.

Fresh air is the best cure for colds. Candy should not be stirred while boiling.

Never use a knife to clean starch from a gas iron.

Water should be freshly boiled in making beverages.

Melted paraffin will close a leak in the icebox lining.

Oysters and leftover meat make delicious croquettes.

Fritter batter to cover fruit should always be thin.

Apples are delicious baked with raisins and marshmallows.

For scraping dishes a small wooden knife is very handy.

A little grated nutmeg gives a pleasing taste to milk toast.

Oyster force meat for stuffing vegetables is something new.

Food selection is a science and should be studied accordingly.

Put cold water in all sauce or stewpans when finished using.

More water or milk is required with some flours than others.

Apple dumplings are delicious when served with brandy sauce.

Little pies of the cottage cheese kind are attractive for luncheon.

Always put oysters into the stew last—long cooking toughens them.

Glass jars are the best containers for dried fruits and vegetables.

To remove scales quickly and easily soak fish in warm water first.

The smaller the hot biscuit the more thoroughly baked it usually is.

Mushroom sauce is the most delicious of sauces for parboiled oysters.

Three courses are enough at each meal to keep most families in health.

Before washing sweaters sew up the buttonholes to keep them in shape.

A delicate graham bread is very nice for invalids.

To prevent crumbling when cutting new bread heat the knife very hot.

Lessen the chances of breaking cut glass by washing it in a wooden bowl.

Cream of spinach soup can have strips of pimento cut into it for variety.

French and German Losses.

The figures of the soldiers France lost in the war, are the more appalling when considered in proportion to her population. The 3,000 French officers and 311,000 men reported as missing, can, on the whole, be safely included in the losses, thus making with the 31,000 French officers and 1,040,000 reported as killed, a total of 1,385,000. The population of France has anything but increased since 1911, when it was 39,002,509, of which these losses are 3.50 per cent. The German losses were recently reported as 1,600,000 officers and men killed and 103,000 missing, a total of 1,703,000. The population of the German Empire must be about 70,000,000, of which these losses are 2.43 per cent.; so that France lost of her best manhood 44 per cent. more than Germany, even without taking into consideration the many thousand French civilians killed, murdered, or starved in the invaded parts of France.

Just Folks
ALL THAT WE CAN BE.

You never can be one the world can't get along without—
You cannot grow so wise and good, so muscular and stout.
But what another just as wise and just as strong can do
The very tasks that you perform and fill the places of you.
But you can do your work so well that when you quit your place
The world will miss your cheerful smile and long to see your face.

Man is not all-important here; life leans not on the few;
The old depends on youth comes in the tasks it leaves to do.
When strong men fall the fight goes on, for men of strength arise.
New sages follow sages dead, for wisdom never dies.
But all who have the will to serve may find their fame in this:
That they are men the world some day shall sadly mourn and miss.

We cannot look within our breasts life's secrets or its lore.
We die, but strength and wisdom live and will forever more.
We take from life the things we need, the skill that others lack,
And when at last death's summons comes, to life we hand them back.
We shall have reached fame's greatest height, if when we're traveled on a few shall miss us from our post and mourn that we have gone.

Milady's Boudoir.

"I am going to give a card party, Marie," delightedly exclaimed Marjorie, as she burst in upon the French Maid one morning. "It is next week and I want to have some inexpensive but pretty prizes. Whatever shall I get?"

"I'll tell you what a young lady gave where I was once employed," returned Marie. "She gave beautiful French hat boxes, and all the guests were very much delighted."

"But how did she make them?" asked Marjorie.

"Well she first found a number of ordinary boxes stowed away in the closets of the house," began Marie. She next bought two rolls of wall paper at 12 1/2 a role, one a cream paper of quaint old-fashioned design in narrow stripes with garlands of tiny pink.

"On the outside of both boxes and lids we neatly pasted the flowered paper and on the inside the pink. It must be put on evenly and neatly—one cannot be too careful."

"Fifty cents was spent for one and a quarter yards of pink silk, which we found on a bargain counter, fifteen cents for one half yard of green ribbon, fifteen cents for one half yard of cherry ribbon and twenty cents for sachet powder; total, $1.25.

"The silk was cut in four inch strips to make the 'ties' which, when the sides had been neatly hemmed, looked almost as well as the usual ribbons; a rose of cherry and green ribbon finished the ends. With the pieces of silk left over we made a sachet for each box."

"Oh, that will be lovely, Marie, just the thing," said Marjorie. "They will be pretty and chic and so different from anything I ever heard of. I must go and hunt up some boxes right away," and Marjorie fairly flew out of the door.

Apt Quotations.

The old Tate and Brady version of the Psalms used to be as familiar to a former generation as was the Catechism. A good story is told of Lord Palmerston and Bishop Samuel Wilberforce, in which the once popular Psalm-book plays an important part.

These two eminent personages were visiting at a country house. One Sunday morning they were told that carriages were ready to take them to church. Lord Palmerston settled to go in one of these carriages, as he feared there would be rain; but the Bishop preferred to walk.

Before he had proceeded half way to the church a heavy shower of rain came on; yet the good Bishop struggled on, when the carriage containing Lord Palmerston overtook him, and his lordship called out from its windows a part of the first verse of the Ttate and Brady version of the first Psalm:

"How blest is he who never consents By ill advice to walk."
But Bishop Wilberforce, with the usual twinkle in his eye, promptly replied with the rest of the verse:
"Nor stands in sinner's ways, nor sits Where men profanely talk," and walked on.

RETURN OF THE STUDENT.
Students are now filtering back from the Army to the Universities, and to their courses of professional training. I have met some young men who are, after four years' absence, returning to Oxford at the end of the week. They quitted the scenes of learning as mere light-hearted undergraduates, with joyous experiences of life. They return still as undergraduates, but as men who have tempered with the sense of responsibility. It is the same thing with young men who have been reading for the Bar. The Hilary Term examinations results are interesting in this respect. The list of passes is studied with the names of young men who are now described as lieutenants and captains, and some of them even as majors and lieutenant-colonels.

Mother! Is Child's Stomach Sour, Sick?
If tongue is coated or if cross, feverish, constipated give California Syrup of Figs.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit-laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "inviders" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has its reputation for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so "surely look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

LOST LEGIONS.

A substantial account is published on high authority that there are 15,000 British prisoners in German hands of whom the War Office has no trace. According to British official figures, there are only 29,000 men now remaining to be repatriated, whereas the corresponding German figures give a total of 85,000 still to be accounted for. The Prisoners of War Department has, without definitely committing itself to any particular explanation, suggested that one or other of several possibilities has happened to the lost legions. Some may have been temporarily "lost" in the mines; others failing to write home may have "tied down" as farm workers and even married German wives, whilst some who escaped across the frontier may have wandered back into Germany after the armistice, and doubtless prisoners employed immediately behind the German lines were not always included in their earlier records. There is the further possibility that in some cases men reported dead may be among the prisoners unaccounted for, though the official think that this number should be at most negligible. However, all these uncertainties will now as far as possible be cleared up, as the British authorities will immediately enter upon a thorough investigation.

RETURN OF THE STUDENT.

Students are now filtering back from the Army to the Universities, and to their courses of professional training. I have met some young men who are, after four years' absence, returning to Oxford at the end of the week. They quitted the scenes of learning as mere light-hearted undergraduates, with joyous experiences of life. They return still as undergraduates, but as men who have tempered with the sense of responsibility. It is the same thing with young men who have been reading for the Bar. The Hilary Term examinations results are interesting in this respect. The list of passes is studied with the names of young men who are now described as lieutenants and captains, and some of them even as majors and lieutenant-colonels. According to pre-war ideas, there would have been something very odd in regimental officers of rank and experience diligently preparing themselves for examination in the art and practice of conveyancing or in the subtleties of legal procedure. The pre-war conception of majors and lieutenant-colonels suggested men settling down into middle age. That is scarcely the case now. An undergraduate of 22 may have been a captain who has won the Military Cross, and a man three or four years his senior may have been acting as a major. But there is a sad side to this resumption of life of study and mental preparation. The gaps in many of these joyous, bright little coteries of the University and the Temple are big. Some of them have been wiped out altogether.

GERMAN GOLD RESERVE.

The solitudes of the Allies for the gold reserve of the Reichsbank, which they are going to have transferred to Frankfurt, suggests an almost proprietorial interest, and of course the Allies, if they are to get indemnities from Germany, are interested in the golden foundations of German credit. The Reichsbank more than doubled its gold reserve during the war, partly by drawing to itself gold from the other allies and partly by very successful canvases of the private stores of gold in the country. According to the law issue of paper money by the Reichsbank must bear direct ratio to the amount of the gold reserve. This particular law was evaded by creating other State institutions unfettered by such a restriction which could issue paper money. It can hardly be doubted that the Reichsbank itself during the revolution issued more paper money than the law allows. It has been a very curious fact that the German citizen began by hoarding gold, then took to hoarding silver, then to hoarding nickel, and finally, just before the revolution, to hoarding paper money. This shows a curious delusion in the popular mind, but at the same time it also shows how great a factor gold reserve was in maintaining the fabric of credit in Germany.

Nfld. Scotch Cured Herring.

The arrival in the New York market this week of a cargo of Newfoundland Scotch Herring, estimated at about 6,000 packages, failed to cause any noticeable stir in the trade, although the quality of the herring was far and away superior to any Scotch style herring from this source received in New York this season. The cargo consisted of lots from Green Bay, Bay of Islands, Curling, and perhaps from other curing points in the Ancient Colony and, in the consensus of those who inspected it, the herring was satisfactory. Among the trade the opinion was expressed, however, that this season's herring is not generally of as good a quality as that of a year ago. Sales of small lots are reported to have been made at prices ranging from $28 to $32 for large fulls, while matulais and matulais sold in a limited way at from $24 to $26, and some especially fancy matulais brought $28. It is notable that of the entire shipment there were not more than 1,000 barrels sold on the dock. Sales since have been on a small order, the trade apparently not being willing to take on heavy lots because of the uncertain demand now prevailing. The general selection and grading of the fish indicated that more care had been taken with these than the stock which arrived a few weeks ago. Reports from Newfoundland indicate that the pack there has been short. The aggregate probably will not be more than 45,000 barrels from all sources. As there was comparatively little herring sold to the New York market, there are offerings still of lots from Montreal and Halifax. The Trade here has been reluctant to buy herring of any description in quantity either direct or through brokerage houses. The supply of Newfoundland herring now in New York will be sufficient to take care of the limited demand now prevailing until well along in the spring, unless there is a greater volume of business developed meanwhile. It is expected that some 15,000 packages will come to this market, perhaps more, and the trade hold the opinion that this will be sufficient for all requirements. There is still some winter and spring Newfoundland herring in store in New York.—N. Y. Fishing Gazette, Feb. 1.
