ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Product of Canada.
It was known many years ago that yeast is an excellent thing for the many ills that result from a disordered stomach or run-down blood condition. Lately eminent scientists have been investigating the matter thoroughly and their conclusions point to the fact that the beneficial effect of yeast has not been overrated. The yeast treatment is very simple and economical - and altogether harmless.
Before each meal eat a Royal Yeast Cake, or take a cake dissolved in water or fruit juices. The scientific investigators say that the curative elements in Royal Yeast are simple and economical - and altogether harmless.

Nine children, including women, were carried out dead from the inferno. Many were killed in houses into which the rival forces pursued them in fury. The Saviour of Italy.

Giuseppe Garibaldi, patriotic and guerrilla leader died on June 2, 1862. Quite early in life (1834) he became implicated in Mazzini's movement for Italian liberty, and had in consequence to flee the country. After various adventures, he entered the service of the Brazilian State of Rio Grande, and then of the Republic of Monte Video. In 1848 he was again in Italy leading a body of volunteers against Austria. Thence he passed to Rome then in the hands of the patriots, and besieged by the French, and assisted in the defence. The breakdown of the popular movement, however, again sent him on his travels, but in 1854 he settled in the island of Caprea, whence he watched events in Italy. After fighting in the Sardinian cause against Austria in 1859 he in 1860 protected against thecession of Nice and Savoy which Napoleon III had exacted from Cavour. In the same year he sailed from Genoa with the famous "thousand volunteers" and on May 11 landed at Sicily, routed a much larger body of troops sent against him and within 26 days of landing made himself master of Palermo. In two months he was at the head of 18,000 men and on July 28 the Neapolitans evacuated Messina leaving him absolute master of the island. In August he crossed to the mainland, and his progress towards the capital (Naples) was a triumphal march. Meanwhile Cavour tried to get possession of Naples before Garibaldi could reach it, but the latter was too quick for him, and entered the city on September 7. When, however, the army of Victor Emmanuel appeared Garibaldi resigned his dictatorship. But the dream of a United Italy with Rome as its capital, attracted him, and twice he called his volunteers to this task. The first time he was severely wounded, and in the second attempt he met with a heavy defeat, and was taken prisoner, and was once more allowed to retire to Caprea. His only other public act was an attempt to aid the French against the Germans in 1870, but his campaign was not very successful, and was adversely criticised by the French.

Lively Declares He Spent Hundreds in Vain Search For Relief From Long Standing Trouble--Praises Tanlac For Complete Recovery.

"After I had spent hundreds of dollars trying to get well, without any result, Tanlac relieved me of my almost life-long suffering," declared William Lively, a well-known farmer who lives at North Beaver Bank, Halifax County, N.S., practically all his life.
"Ever since I was a boy my stomach troubled me and in the last few years I suffered untold misery. My appetite was poor and even what little I did eat caused gas which affected my breathing. At night I often had to sit up in bed to keep from smothering, and was laid up for days unable to work.
"Well, I have taken five bottles of Tanlac and now my appetite is fine. I never have indigestion or gas anymore and I am so strong and well I can do a day's work with the best of them. I don't see how I possibly could have done without Tanlac." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

FAIR SIGN OF FISH.—At Avondale on Wednesday there was a fair sign of fish in traps, but so far no quantity has struck in. A few salmon were also taken in nets. Several low lying icebergs have drifted up in the bay, but did not reach the fishing grounds.

"Not for a long time. My nerves were so bad that I could not do anything, and I am afraid I was often very cross and irritable with you and daddy, but, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, that day has gone by and I know what it is to be well and happy."

"Why don't all the sick people use your medicine?"
"Far more of them would if they only knew of the good it would do them. I have told lots of my friends, and they nearly all have been benefited just as I was."
Clear brain, splendid circulation, ruddy complexion, sound, restful sleep, good digestion, greater strength of mind and body and better health are the results of using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Institution of Mining and Metallurgy.

SPEECH OF LORD MORRIS.

The 39th Annual Dinner of the Institution of Mining and Metallurgy took place in the Edward VII. Rooms of the Hotel Victoria, London, recently, under the Chairmanship of the President, Mr. F. W. Harbord, C.B.E., who was supported by a company of over two hundred. Among the several speakers, as published in the Mineral World, on the occasion, was Lord Morris, who, in his seconding the toast "Our Guests," said:
"Mr. Chairman, my lords, and gentlemen—I am afraid it would be a very poor return for your hospitality if I were at this late hour, strong as the temptation is, to inflict on you a long speech; therefore, in order that you may not be even for a moment uneasy, I shall inform you that I do not propose to say more than a very few words to thank you and the Institution of Mining and Metallurgy on behalf of the other guests for your hospitality here this evening. I think I will echo the sentiment of every one of the guests, that we fully appreciate the honor of being invited here to-night. I would be almost impossible to conceive of any greater honor, than that ordinary laymen like ourselves should be invited to a banquet by men who are scientists, and who have done so much to create and establish a very large proportion of the prosperity that has existed in this country up to the present time."
IMPERIAL MINERAL RESOURCES BUREAU.
Reference has been made by the proposer of this toast to my connection as Vice-Chairman with the Imperial Mineral Resources Bureau. For the last two or three years I have had the honor of being on that body, and I have had very large opportunities of studying the nature of the work done there and the character of those engaged in that work. It is not known either in this country or abroad the splendid self-sacrificing work performed for this country and for the Empire, and nearly all of it has been done free and done by men whose services you could not procure to-morrow at any cost in the way of salary. We have on that Bureau of Imperial Mineral Resources over 150 men representing all the great mineral industries of this country, all of whom are specialists in their way; and from day to day, from month to month and from year to year they are giving their services gratuitously and entirely in the interests of this country and of the Empire. (Cheers).

IMPORTANT WORK.
I do not know anything more important than that work, and I do not know any branch of citizenship in this country that has done more than the industries represented here to-night—the mineral industries of the country. No country can be great, and no country has been great in the past which has not had a very large foreign trade and commerce; and you can't have that unless you develop the dormant resources of the country. As has been pointed out here to-night, coal is at the bottom of all our industries. And the same is true of iron, copper, tin, lead and all the other minerals that have been worked for centuries in this country. The real trouble that this country is suffering from to-day is the fact that we are not producing as much in the country, or as much in the Empire, as we ought to produce.

COAL INDUSTRY.
Sir John Cadman referred a moment ago to the coal industry. Now, taking that as a sample, I was glad to hear him say that we are now exporting as much coal proportionately as we did in 1913—the last year before the war. I hope that this is correct. But I know this; that in 1913 we exported 75,000,000 tons from this country, and in 1919-20 we exported 25,000,000, while last year we only exported 24,000,000 tons. And what is true of coal is true of nearly every other product in the country. The sooner those upon whom the responsibility rests realize where this country has got, the sooner we will have entered upon the right road to mend matters. (Cheers). Take our general exports. In 1913, for the first nine months of the year, we exported £280,000,000 worth; in 1920 we exported £220,000,000 worth; and in 1921 £190,000,000. It is easy to see where the country is going when that kind of thing is taking place.

LOW MINERAL OUTPUT.

Now, take something that you all know a great deal about—the minerals of the Empire. I am not going into details at this hour, but let me tell you two or three facts. I have just jotted them down here whilst one of the speakers was talking. (Laughter). We have an Empire with a population of something like 500,000,000 people, representing about one-third of the whole human race. Well, last year the total mineral products of the Empire were as follows: copper represented 7 per cent, aluminium 7 per cent, silver 7 per cent, lead 8 per cent, and iron 10 per cent. Now, we ought to be producing at least 30 per cent, or 35 per cent, of the whole mineral output of the world, and we are not doing it. The reason is not easy to find. It is not your fault. The fault lies in this, that those upon whom the responsibility rests, the public men of the country and of the Empire, do not really see and understand that on the industries you are engaged in, developing the dormant resources of the country, rests the real safety and life of the country. (Hear, hear). Until we get the engineers dealing with minerals, and all the scientific bodies, into the limelight, and let other people take a back seat for a few years, we will not begin to accomplish what we all have at heart. Your President made reference to the great technical college here in London, and he told you that the students there are unable to obtain a degree when they go out into the world. They go out merely with a certificate, so that every one of them is handicapped. You must remove that difficulty. We have been trying to do it for three or four years, and up to the present time the Board of the College, of which I am a member, has been unable to get power to confer a degree. The men who leave that University have as fine an equipment as others, who are getting degrees, but naturally they are not able to command from those who do not understand any better the same regard and respect, and their work is not looked upon in the same way as that of those possessing a degree from the University. Now, it is bodies like yourselves who can bring this change about.

UNWISE ECONOMY.
We are told by the Secretary of State for Mines this evening how his Department has been cut down from £250,000 to £150,000. In the Bureau of Mineral Resources we have been cut down very largely. Surely the Government, notwithstanding the report of the Geddes Committee, might have discriminated between those bodies that are revenue earning and those that are merely ornamental. Every institution of this country that is revenue earning—I mean doing good for the company, making two blades of grass grow where only one grew before—(This phrase seems somewhat familiar—Editor Telegram) should have been helped and encouraged, and, if possible, given larger sums of money. But there appears to be some system or method by which the axe is applied without any scientific enquiry. However, my motive now is merely to say, speaking for the

A Band with a History.
SCOTS GUARDS MUSICIANS NOW TOURING CANADA.
The band of His Majesty's Scots Guards Regiment are now making a tour of the Dominion of Canada under the auspices of Canada's Great War Veterans. It is one of the world's finest bands, is century old, and has never before achieved, so critics say, the high level of unusual reputation that it now has under the leadership of Lieut. W. F. Wood, who has won an outstanding position among the present great interpretative conductors. The tour is under the direction of Dr. Charles Harris, who is unrivalled in connection with the British Empire's most important musical undertakings. Considering the music loving propensities of the people of St. John's, would it not be possible for the Executive of the G. W. Y. A. to make an attempt to have this notable band pay a visit to us on their return. We make this suggestion, believing it not to be impossible.

THE SCOTS GUARDS.
The following is a brief history of the famous Regiment.
"That splendid British Regiment, the Scots Guards, as they are known to-day, looks back to the merry monarch, Charles I., as the chief author of its regimental being. In 1649 King Charles authorized the Marquis of Argyll to raise a regiment of 3,500 men to protect the recently planted Scottish colonies in Ireland. It was a fateful beginning. The regiment had its birth in a troublesome job, and has fastened in glory on troublesome jobs ever since. Its history is the history of Britain's Wars, and it is a long history, and a stirring history, for through all the almost 300 years that have since rolled by, it has been only now and then that the Scots Guards have languished at home in peaceful ease. Their colors have flapped in the bullet-torn breeze of every country from Hull to Halifax, in which Britain has had a war, and as Kipling intimates, that's a long way if you go in the wrong direction. If they weren't with Wolfe at Quebec, it was because they were otherwise engaged in halting down the blessings of British civilization with claymore, bullet and bayonet, and altogether the Scots Guards has taken a giant part in making the world safe for democracy. In the days before Charles and his jovial court, the hard fighting Scots were not popular in England. Their stout blows were usually directed too near home, and if they were to employ their talents to the full advantage it was necessary to go farther abroad. Thus, we find a company of Scottish Guards upholding the national reputation of the court of French King, Louis XI. When a Scottish King came to England, the Scots Guards followed, and most of them later found their way into Argyle's force, since when the Regiment under one name or another has retained its entity, and has added to its standard the names of most of the historic battles of the British Army as well as a cloud of others less well remembered. What the Scots Guards did in the Great War would take columns to tell. The list of their battles is too long to be quoted here. They were an important part of the ever-glorious contingents. From 1914 to the end they saw it all. Again and again the Scots Guards came back from the front a tattered remnant of what was once a regiment, and just as often it went back again, stepping blithely into the maelstrom of death and destruction to do or die, according to the Scots Guard's standard. The regiment's decorations won during the war included 5 Victoria Crosses, 25 Distinguished Service Orders, and 561 other rewards for gallantry.

Pimples Blackheads Boils
Fleischmann's fresh yeast rids you of them
It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.
Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.
The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it valuable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples (acne) were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. Typical of these was the case of a young man who had suffered with pimples for three years. He ate three cubes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before meals. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.
Today physicians and hospitals are using Fleischmann's fresh yeast as the most efficacious remedy for pimples and boils.
If you are ever troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating 3 to 3 cubes of Fleischmann's fresh yeast every day before or between meals.

Municipal Council.

WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided, and Councillors Martin, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present.

Communication was tabled from the Prime Minister, Hon. Sir R. A. Squires stating that amendments to the Municipal Act, requested by the Council, had received careful consideration by the Select Committee of the House of Assembly, and that he would have same drafted and submitted to the Legislature at the present session.

Communications were read from Capt. Whitty, Dominion Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, as follows:

(1) In relation to decision arrived at by the Council at a recent meeting to name a number of new streets after the Fallen Heroes of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, that, while the Executive of the Association recognized and appreciated the attitude of the Council in seeking to perpetuate the memory of the lads who fell, still they considered the discrimination which must necessarily follow should be avoided. The matter was therefore left in the hands of the Committee for further consideration.

(2) In which he asked permission to rope off streets in the vicinity of the Soldiers' Memorial, Garrison Hill, on Memorial Day, July 2nd. His request was acceded to, and the City Engineer instructed accordingly.

The Newfoundland Motor Association wrote, in reference to stone crossing at Rawlins' Cross, and hoped that when the telephone poles in the vicinity are being renewed, the Council will bear their suggestion in mind, and have placed in such a position as will permit the rounding of O'Mara's and Macpherson's corners with safety.

Request of residents of Gilbert St. to have repairs made to the sidewalk, will be attended to.

Mr. George Sawyer, Pleasant Street, drew attention to the unsanitary condition of property in his vicinity. The communication will be forwarded to the Health Officer.

Communication of John Skinner, in reference to water pipes near his premises, and T. J. Murphy, re surface drains fronting his dwelling, were referred to the City Engineer; whilst that of F. W. Knight, for permission to fence his property, Southside, was ordered referred to the Roads West Committee.

Mr. J. C. Baggis, Leslie Street, wrote re the necessity of having the houses on this street numbered. The matter will receive attention.

Dr. N. S. Fraser wrote re the necessity of placing sidewalks, LeMarchant Road, in good condition, so that pedestrians may use same instead of the main street. If this is done, and sign-boards placed along the road, directing pedestrians to keep to the sidewalks, he thought that there would be no necessity to close this much frequented thoroughfare to motorists on Sunday evenings, as he understood the Council intended doing. The closing of this road has never been discussed by the Council, and the suggestions re repairing of sidewalks will be carried out.

The communication of Messrs. Collins Campbell, Ltd., re "Tartar" for oiling of streets, was deferred to the next meeting.

The following tendered for the necessary repairs to retaining wall, Kickham Place:—Messrs. Hoskins & Noseworthy, W. Edney, J. Spratt. Contract was awarded Messrs. Hoskins & Noseworthy.

Application of F. Mansfield for repairs to dwelling was granted; while that of Mrs. Bancroft to shingle house Duckworth Street, was refused, unless insurable material is used, as the building in question is situated within the fire zone.

The following plans were passed, subject to the Engineer's approval:—A. W. Oldfield, dwelling, Bonaventure Avenue; F. W. Hayward, annex, Forest Road; G. Tucker, outhouse, Gear Street; C. Murphy, outhouse, Freshwater Road; G. Harris, coach-house, Hamilton Ave., providing that he gives a guarantee that the building will be used for that purpose only.

Tender of C. A. Leverman, proprietor, Canadian Clothing Co. to supply uniforms for the Inspectors, was accepted.

Reports of the City Engineer, City Health Officer, etc., for the week, were tabled.

Requisitions for several departments were acceded to, and weekly accounts ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned.

Germany Makes Record for Pardons.

No less than a quarter of a million persons convicted of misdemeanor or penal offences in Germany were granted complete or conditional pardon during 1921, according to official statistics. This established what is undoubtedly a world record for pardons. Since the socialistic regime was ushered in, Germany has shown extreme leniency in exercising the right of conditional pardoning. That getting the convicted persons another chance have shown fruit, is claimed on the basis of figures which show that there have been less than 4,000 backsliders out of those pardoned.

The Mightiest Screen Drama of Recent Years.

THRILLS AND PATHOS IN "TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM."

Seriously speaking, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is a spectacular rendering of a great heart interest story, well produced and acted, and photographed superbly. John Lewis, a finished and experienced actor, plays Joe Morgan, who goes to the bad, recovers and reforms, and all through the influence of his little child, who is killed in a drunken brawl.

The part of the child is taken by Baby Ivy Ward and the little one acts the part with such tenderness that she sweeps her audiences with her in gusts of emotion, or at least that is what happened when the picture was shown in New York's biggest theatre. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is a classic in respect of pitilessness of theme; the barroom is the point around which so much of the grim and sombre action centers. As for entertainment, it is there in abundance. There is humor, comedy and pathos, and great artistry of background, grouping, and photography, beauty and realism are indeed cleverly contrasted in this picture. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" points a powerful moral; it warns; it frightens; at times it seems to engender nothing but despair—yet even at its darkest and gloomiest the rays of hope are not entirely quenched.

Outright Sales.

Synchronous with the return of Hon. W. F. Coaker from Southern climes where we trust he spent no less a pleasant than a profitable holiday, comes advice from London to the Board of Trade that the Fish Brokers of that metropolis, who are also agents in European markets for many exporting firms in St. John's have at length arrived at an agreement that "Outright Sales" of Newfoundland's staple product are in the best interests of business both for shipper and purchaser. And it is suggested that for the coming season all shipments of dry codfish to the Greek and Italian markets should be on terms of outright sale only. Of course, it should always have been so, but conservative methods of doing business on the consignment plan had obtained for so many years that it appeared to be approaching commercial schism to depart from it, and no exporter was prepared to become the first apostate. There was a reason, perhaps. Outright Sales mean that the quality of the fish must be guaranteed. Otherwise there would be vexatious and expensive reclamations. And it was not always that the shipper could give a certificate of guarantee of the cargo laden on board ship in numerous cases, particularly from Labrador. Shipped on consignment each cargo stood to be sold to the best advantage, or condemned to be destroyed, according as the turnout showed. With Outright Sales being the basis upon which all business will in future be done, the exporter will of necessity and compulsion, if you like, have to be sure that the cargo as loaded must be of the grade and quality specified in the Bill of Lading. Thus more care will be taken in the cure and a better and more close supervision will be exercised during loading time. Then choice No. 1 merchantable codfish, the produce of Newfoundland, will come just as the Lading documents specify, and not a mass of decomposed matter as in many instances that could be related. It may be difficult at first to fall in line and agree, but there is not the shadow of a doubt that in the long run quicker sales and greater profits will accrue, to the satisfaction and benefit of all concerned. And if it only meant the making of a better article without extra inducement, Outright Sales would still be an advantage.

Sale of Pulpwood.

The announcement made by Hon. W. F. Coaker to a Telegram representative, on his arrival from abroad, after a lengthy sojourn, yesterday, that during his visit to other lands he had made arrangements for the sale of all the pulpwood and pit props cut the past two seasons on Government account for relief purposes, must not be regarded as investing Newfoundland with the garb of fortune in respect of millions of money. That all such wood as was cut have been disposed of is something at least. But until particulars and details of the sale have been furnished, it would not be considered advisable to enthuse too much over the statement of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. There are sales and sales. The approximate cost of this venture of the Government into forestry has already been made known to the public, who in the final reckoning have to foot the bill. If the Minister has succeeded in disposing of the whole two years' cut at a price that will meet the expense of cutting and piling, well and good. If not, there cannot be much cause for congratulation on the part of the taxpayers who must perforce, make good the deficit. No doubt Hon. Mr. Coaker will make full and ample report to the House of Assembly, the Government members of which are without doubt anxiously awaiting his pronouncement. Until he presents that report of his labors on behalf of the Colony all that can be done is to wait.

PLAGS OF THE ROYAL N. F. FENCIBLES WILL BE PLACED IN MUSEUM.
To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, being the King's Birthday, His Excellency the Governor will formally place in the Museum two flags of the Royal Nfld. Regiment of over a century ago. A guard of honor from the Boy's Brigades and a detail from the Boy Scouts will be furnished to receive His Excellency, who will be met on entering the Museum by the President and Officers of the Historical Society. The ceremony will take place in the upper storey of the Museum, and the flags will be guarded by veterans of the Royal Nfld. Regiment of the Great War. Invitations have been issued by the Historical Society to the principal Church dignitaries, Ministers to the Crown and other officials, the principals and three or four pupils from each of the colleges, members of the Historical Society, and representatives of the Royal Navy, the Army, Boy's Brigades, etc. The function being of a semi-military character permission has been granted military men to appear in uniform, wearing decorations. Civilians will wear ordinary street attire. Space being limited, only those who have received invitations will be admitted.

OFFICIAL TEST THIS MORNING.
With the new aerial just erected by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada, Limited, at their Radiophone Broadcasting station, 240 Water St., excellent results have been obtained. This morning official tests were made with the Cape Race Station, and Mr. Kerion, the officer in charge at Cape Race reported the music and speech strong enough to be heard in the engine room where the 4-horse-power gasoline engine was running, and this with the head telephones on the table of the operating room. Last night another radiophone concert was broadcast; besides the Edison gramophone selections, Mr. John Canning sang two solos, which were enjoyed very much by those listening in.

Mr. J. Paul Cullinan, Director of the Manhattan Musical Comedy Co., would greatly appreciate if any person who owns a score of the MERRY WIDOW would loan same to him for a short time; the best care will be taken of the book.—June 2, 11

Silver Cliff Mine Visited.

Interested Parties View Valuable Deposits of Ore.

(By Our Special Representative.)
A convincing demonstration of the undeveloped wealth of Argentina was afforded a party of well known citizens of St. John's on Wednesday afternoon by a visit to Silver Cliff mine, now held under option by Mr. W. A. McKay. The party consisting of Messrs. C. A. C. Bruce, J. T. Meaney, T. A. McNab, Cyril Tester, Thomas O'Neil, T. J. Freeman, John Norris, L. Moore, J. W. Morris, W. A. McKay, W. C. Parsons, photographer, J. C. Puddister and P. J. O'Reilly, representatives of the Daily News and Telegram left the city in two special cars attached to Wednesday's outgoing train for Argentina.

VIEWING THE MINES.
The terminus was reached about 4 p.m. and arrangements having been previously made the party were taken by motor boats to the mines, situated about 1 1/2 miles across the bay in a southeast direction. Messrs. Peter O'Reilly and F. Murphy arriving from Placentia also went along with the party. The trip to the landing place, which was on a shingle beach, occupied twenty minutes. On gaining the shore the party walked along a narrow trail for about 1600 feet when Camp Adit was reached. Here a new shack was seen and a number of men were at work clearing away debris.

SILVER CLIFF MINE.
Camp Adit is a tunnel, which some 35 years ago was driven to cut, that which at the time was supposed to be the main lode of Silver Cliff. From this adit which had been worked on for 150 feet in several directions, the strike being North and South, some five thousand or more tons of milling ore was taken out. On this pile some members of the party were photographed by Mr. Parsons. The tunnel is now being cleared out and retimbered under the direction of Capt. L. Furlong. The task will take about 4 weeks and when accomplished will permit of the underground deposit being seen at the point where it was discontinued owing to the presence of stno in the ore. At that period in the working of the mine there was no known process for separating this metal from the more valuable ores. After viewing the adit the party ascended the hill above, where a vein of ore some 5 feet wide had been uncovered. This seam which runs almost at right angles to the lode exposed at Camp Adit showed a vein of solid mineral fifteen inches wide, besides containing several other smaller bands. Three openings had recently been made on this lode and the party saw the vein exposed for a distance of about 300 feet. In one opening Mr. Furlong pointed out the place from which the 200 lbs mass recently on exhibition in the "Overland" store window on Water Street was taken. A part of this lump of mineral which was broken up and placed in a bag was seen lying on the vein from which it had been blasted out. This point is about 100 feet above the level of Camp Adit. One hundred yards or more further over the hill this five foot seam of ore was also uncovered, but owing to a big accumulation of gravel and stones (drift) only a small opening was made. At many other places along the side of the hill it could be seen where openings had been made and minerals extracted, abundance of which could be picked up. The whole place would appear to be a mass of ore and no doubt could exist as to the quantity. Silver Cliff property has many valuable advantages in that Camp Adit is above sea level about 30' or 40' feet. It is some 1600 feet from the shore and a river, from which 100 ft. fall of water can be had, runs close at hand and could be utilized for power purposes.

RETURN TRIP.
Several photographs were taken of the surroundings, after which the party boarded the motor boats for the return to the terminal, where the dining and sleeping cars were in waiting. On the trip up the harbour the boats were kept inshore and many fissure veins of mineral were seen in the hills which is a part of Silver Cliff property. A casual observer could not but be impressed with the appropriateness of the town name "Argentina." The weather conditions were ideal and the whole party were unanimous in their praise of the property and the unique manner of demonstrating its possibilities. On the return run to town yesterday afternoon a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. McKay for the interesting trip. A vote of thanks to the management of the St. John's papers which sent representatives was also accorded and responded to. An account of the discovery of Silver Cliff mine appeared in Monday's issue of the Telegram.

Bonne Bay Devastated by Fire.

ENTIRE BUSINESS SECTION OF WOODY POINT WIPED OUT.

RAVE, GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS AND DWELLING HOUSES DESTROYED.
From messages received in the city to-day it is learned that practically all Bonne Bay (Woody Point), the seat of the Coastal boats on the West Coast, was wiped out by fire, the loss running into several hundred thousand dollars. Particulars of how the fire started have not yet come to hand. One of the first messages received of the fire came this morning to the Bank of Nova Scotia, apprising the Manager that their premises had been destroyed, but that fortunately all valuables and paper had been locked in the vaults. The Bank at Woody Point is in charge of Mr. A. W. Amberson and has been built within the past 3 or 4 years.

The following message was received by the Minister of Justice from Magistrate Wilton at Bonne Bay:—"Woody Point was destroyed by fire last night. Eight dwelling houses, all the water-side premises, including all Government property, all fishing supplies destroyed. Upon the latter the whole case was depending."
A somewhat similar message was received by Mr. J. H. Scammell, M.H.A. and reads as follows:—"Fire has destroyed the whole mercantile section of Woody Point from Taylor's to Crawley's Head. The coast is depending for supplies in a large measure from here. All the water-side premises, eight dwelling houses, all Government property and all food destroyed. Necessary help in food be dispatched immediately."

It is understood that arrangements are being made by the Government to send immediate assistance. The mercantile section of Woody Point includes the premises of Stephen Taylor, T. A. Gabeta, D. Coen, J. P. Halliburton, John Hollahan, Prebiss Gros, Thomas Rose, R. Roberts. The Government property includes Custom House, Court House, Telegraph station and shed on the public wharf. Messrs. Ayre & Sons also received a message from Thomas Rose saying that all his property, shop and stock, had been swept in the conflagration.

Express Passengers.

The Sagona arrived at Port aux Basques at 10.50 a.m. from North Sydney and transferred her foreign mails and the following passengers to the incoming express:—Dr. R. E. Ratter, P. A. Labaa, Mrs. A. Nicholles and child, Mrs. G. Snow, W. E. Roberts, C. H. Dunn, S. H. Clapp, Miss M. Hicks, Mrs. B. Prafford and child, B. B. Bennett, J. S. O'Brien, R. J. Midway, A. C. Thompson, G. Batieta. The express is due tomorrow afternoon.

ROSE BOLTED.—A horse owned by cabman Thomas Vosey took flight near the West End station last night and threw the driver off his seat, from which he fell to the ground. The carriage was somewhat smashed and Mr. Vosey received a good shaking up.

"The Magic Melody."

A GREAT MUSICAL SUCCESS.

Grand opera and musical comedy, an unusual combination, was presented with wonderful success by the Manhattan Musical Comedy Company last night in "The Magic Melody." It was a veritable triumph of the detectors and actors arts. The production gives the principals an opportunity to demonstrate the wonderful qualities of their voices. James Liddons "Dingo" a poor musical composer, but great feeling and expression into his singing and his fine tenor voice charmed all who heard it. His acting was all that would be desired and a difficult part was played with the accomplished ease of a finished artist. Mr. Henry White is always compelled to play the villain, and his realistic acting caused him to be heartily disliked by his audience, than which no greater tribute could be paid him. His splendid baritone is heard to great advantage. Billy Clifton as an English "nut" was a panacea for all mental ills. His amusing antics, eccentric clothes and humorous sayings convulsed the audience. As the Shah of Persia in the Ball Scene, he was immense. The audience did not want Thomas Way to go to France when he enlisted, but he did, and made many hearts lighter behind the lines with his splendid singing. He possesses a powerful baritone and his rendition of "O Sole Mio" was superb. Miss Ruth Oswald sustained the difficult part of "Gianna," the wife of "Dingo," with the sincerity of dramatic personification which characterizes all her acting. In the separation scene, she gives full vent to her dramatic ability and the tears and emotion expressed in her singing brought tears to many eyes. Miss Margaret Torey who excels in all the intricacies of classical and modern dancing was charming in the Tango, which she performed with graceful and rhythmic movements. Miss Thrapp was again in a position to demonstrate her versatility and Miss Elgar's violin solo was again a delight. "The Magic Melody" is a show that must not be missed.

CENTRE-OF-STAGE-ITIS.

Is there anything more disagreeable than a forward child? who is the life of the party and had one of her many relatives in mind.

Yes, there is—a forward child grown up and still as forward, as smart, as anxious to show of as ever.

I met one the other day. She was hanging in the edge of a conversation between a group of people who knew each other well. She was not receiving much notice. That was plainly unendurable to her and suddenly apropos of a remark made by one of the group to the effect that she had seen a most amusing vaudeville show the night before, the forward child made a dash for the centre of the stage.

Her Dash for the Centre. "Something awfully funny happened at our house the other day," she said. "It was just like an act out of a vaudeville show and we all laughed. I never understood before why people laughed at vaudeville, but I understand now."

Note her intentions. First, to register the fact that she and her family were exceedingly superior folks who could not understand why common folks laughed at vaudeville. Second, to get someone to ask what the funny thing was.

No one asked. The forward child grown up is almost sure to arouse antagonism in everyone. There was a pause of a moment, then someone said: "Did you never before laugh at a vaudeville show?"

Laughs at Funerals. "Oh, no," she said brightly. "I don't think most vaudeville is funny. I laugh at funerals almost always but never at vaudeville."

Someone bit that time and asked why she laughed at funerals and she told a story in very bad taste about a rather unpleasant thing that happened at a funeral she once attended.

Conversation among the rest of the group had died out. Everyone was listening to her. You should have seen how her expression had changed from the discontent and lack of interest that had been stamped on her face when someone else was talking.

But of course you know for you have surely seen her type. Everyone has. I am sure the wit who said: "Everywhere I go there is some man Finland May Follow Example of Quebec.

AND PROHIBIT THE EXPORT OF PULPWOOD TO COMPETING PAPER-MAKING COUNTRIES.

Largely inspired by the example of Canada, Finland is contemplating the advisability of placing restrictions on the export of pulpwood. The rapid growth of the pulp and paper industry in the province of Quebec, as a result of the prohibition of the exportation of pulpwood out from Crown Lands, has been under discussion for some months in Finland and certain Finnish financial groups interested in the development of Finnish industry are saying that if Finland were to follow the example of Quebec she could possess in time an industry almost as great as that of Quebec. A campaign is about to be launched to give legislative expression to this point of view.

The advisability of taking such a step has been brought to the attention of Finnish business men by the recent rapid growth of the Finnish paper industry and the more recent great increase in the exportation of Finnish pulpwood to countries such as Germany where pulpwood is scarce and expensive. As the Quebec pulp and paper industry did in 1911, many Finnish pulp and paper men now believe that the growth of their industry can be continued and increased if a stop is put to the exportation of pulpwood to potential and actual competitors in the foreign paper market. As Quebec did Finland, or that part of it interested in its pulp and paper industry, cannot see the logic of supplying its competitors such as Germany and Sweden with the raw materials with which to sustain their pulp and paper industries.—Financial Post.

Watching Nature of War

Leo Walmsley, M. C., F. R. G. S., of Sir Charles Lamont's expedition to Senegal, writing from Dakar, says:

We are camped in a plantation on the outskirts of Dakar (a seaport in French West Africa) making final preparations for the great trek to Timbuctoo. Already there is abundant proof that Senegal is a paradise for the naturalist. Within twenty yards of my tent I have seen stick-insects, termites (white ants), land-crabs, soldier ants, locusts, butterflies—and, of course—mosquitoes. I think I know all I want to know about mosquitoes, also about termites.

A brand new suit-case was left on the ground last night by accident. The termites must have liked the taste of it. They left only the locks and the steel frame.

I am praying now that a company of soldier ants stationed near by will mobilise and come to my rescue. It is a wonderful sight to see these little chaps marching in column across the field, breaking into mass when they encounter the wretched termites, carrying out the onslaught, and then forming up again each with a bundle of enemy between his mandibles.

My tent has been up only one week, yet already an ichneumon wasp has taken possession of a darkish spot near the top of the pole.

He is a queer-looking fellow, with his jet-black body, dainty waist, and narrow, heavy wings.

He began by bringing a few tiny pellets of wet earth from the edge of the wall. Having secured these to the canvas and moulded them to his satisfaction, he fetched a caterpillar, struck it well down, and proceeded to cover it over with more pellets. The poor brute is now practically hidden, yet it still lives.

The wasp has laid an egg, or eggs, inside its body, and when these hatch they will have a nice, juicy living substance to feed upon.

rows, and if they have the patience to wait near the mouth of one of these you may see the crab emerge very, very warily. His eyes are fixed on little stalks which he erects like the periscopes of a submarine. Move your foot an inch and he slips into the ground like a rat. Apparently he will eat anything, from a stick-insect to the stickiness of a used condensed milk can. I saw a little bird fluttering on the ground, chirping with pain. Rushing up I discovered that one of its feet was gripped in the claw of a land-crab. It was perhaps crust of me to rob the crab of such a dainty meal—and to relieve him of a claw in the process. He could, at any rate, console himself that at the next moult he would have a new one.

The bird was little the worst, and rose, still chirping, into the air.

I have seen no sign yet of the terrible red ant of Central Africa, but what appears to be a second cousin swarms in an adjacent orchard. It works in gangs and builds a wonderful nest by binding together several growing leaves of the lime tree with delicate silk-like skeins. Generally speaking, it is peacefully inclined, but when we opened a nest for the taking of a field the other day riot was let loose, and the picture promises to show a scene not unlike a Wild West saloon on pay night.

Hand-Shaking Dangers.

Before long it will be impossible to greet our friends without incurring the wrath of our doctors!

For many years we have been warned by the medical profession against kissing, and have not taken the warning. Now we are told that shaking hands is dangerous, and may be the means of passing ill-health from one person to another.

What are we to do about it? It would not help matters to hate the Arab, whose "good nature" is a vigorous hug. Other Asiatic cheeks or noses. Hindus fall dust when they meet their superior, which is hardly any better. Hygienic point of view; and South Islanders often fling a jar of water above the head of a friend. No way to catch a cold.

If you telephone greetings to friends you never know who has been using the microphone before you, only thing to do is to take a tip from the Australian natives. They stick their tongues out at each other.

murdered the nobility, robbed the merchant and manufacturer, and the Soviet Government has plundered the churches of their stores of the precious metals and jewels. The Associated Press tells us that the last internal source of the gold, gold by the ton, gold by the bushel, and gold by the peck" being gathered in the churches to be used, so as to relieve the famine.

are sunk in misery, threatened with starvation, and living under a tyranny a thousand times more oppressive than they suffered under the worst Czar Russia ever had. With all that before the eyes of the world there are, even in Canada, men who go about trying to delude the working classes into believing that communism is the ante-room to an industrial heaven. Such agitators are worse than ravening wolves in the sheep fold. They not only kill all the decent instincts in men, but turn them into inhuman monsters like themselves. Surely they ought to be incarcerated in some institution—a jail or lunatic asylum—until they recover their mental balance. Organized society should be protected against this destructive force. A new social order, about which they talk so much, if it is to be beneficent, can never be established by the methods they advise. Their way is toward anarchy, irreligion, and disaster, just as it has been in Russia.—The Sentinel.

Turn About is Fair Play.

(From the Boston Transcript) A well-dressed man stopped beside a house painter and said—"You are not doing that job as I would do it. You should take longer strokes." "Say, look here!" said the man with the brush, "are you a house painter?" "No." "Then what do you mean by telling me how to do my work?" "Oh, I'm the manager of a ball team. I notice you in the bleachers occasionally handing me unsolicited advice."

Sacrificed Life to Obey Order.

Stories told ashore by sailors from the U.S.S. Wyoming since she returned to Brooklyn navy yards from the winter manoeuvres in Cuban waters have led Secretary of the Navy Denby to order an extraordinary investigation into the manner in which L. O'Neill, one of these shipmates, came to his death in the waters of Guantanamo Bay on April 19 last. Secretary Denby has been informed that O'Neill, one of the three men of the Wyoming's crew who could not swim, was forced to sacrifice his life at the order of an officer whose only thought was for the ship's athletic standing. According to his shipmates, O'Neill protested that he could not keep himself afloat, but took his chances and plunged into the bay when the order came, rather than sully his record by one act of disobedience. O'Neill sank like a stone, Denby has been told, and, although good swimmers dived for him, did not resurface. Two days passed before his body came to the surface.

Famous Picture Stolen.

A picture valued at over £800 has been stolen from the church of San Agostino at Arezzo, near Florence. It dates from the 15th century, and is variously attributed to Domenico Pecori, or Ferrigino, and others. A priest, entering the church, noticed that the picture, which had been built into the wall beside the altar, had been cut out by means of a circular saw and divided into three parts. The central part, which showed the Madonna presenting the infant to Simon, had been taken away. The picture had been marked down by Napoleon for removal to Paris, but owing to protests was allowed to remain at Arezzo.

For the Hair.

An excellent tonic for the hair is made by mixing together equal parts of castor-oil and eau-de-cologne. Bottle the mixture, and shake well before using. Applied to the scalp with a small tooth brush, it nourishes and stimulates the roots of the hair, and, if used when greyness is showing around the temples, will, in some cases, restore the original colour, and, in most, prevent the greyness from spreading.

"No Sound of Sabre."

DR. JOWETT'S CALL FOR CONFERENCE OF WORLD CHRISTIANS.

"I believe that a vital fellowship of the enthusiastic Christians of Europe and America could change the face of the world," declared the Rev. Dr. Jowett at Westminster Chapel, in appealing for a world-wide conference of Christian peoples. "Our Prime Minister said to me a few months ago," continued the doctor, "if the Churches of England were united no Government could withstand their will."

"Let the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster and the leaders of the Free Churches of Britain summon to their conference the Christian leaders of the world," said the preacher. "It is high time we met one another face to face."

"In every nation, behind the politicians, and the diplomatists, and the militarists, and the destructionists, there are the vast, silent, perplexed multitudes who yearn to see peace on earth and good will among men. "Who will give voice to the dumb?" "At any rate, there will be no sound of sabre in the conference hall, there will be no clink of armour in the aisle, there will be nothing of the clamour which hides the still small voice of God."

Before putting away your furs put a few MOTH BALLS in with same; it will prevent attack from moths; only 10c. per package.—jnel,tf

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!

And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes.

It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.

LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.

Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.

Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roasts.

Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.

The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY MR. B. F. HORWOOD AT THE ST. JOHN'S ROTARY CLUB LUNCHEON, TUESDAY, MAY 30.

"Knowledge of what we are doing, co-operation with those by whose side we toil, service faithfully and cheerfully rendered according to our powers and the sphere of our labors—these are the precepts of Rotary; in them are happily blended the ideal and the practical, heretofore so blindly kept apart, and by them are expressed the strenuous endeavor and Christian charity of a greater and better age than any that has gone before."

A little less self-seeking, a little more for man,
Less bitter in our speaking, more kindly with the pen;
A little less of swerving from the paths of truth and right,
A little more of serving and less of dollar might.
More peaceful with our neighbours,
and stauncher to our friends,
For this all Rotary labours, and on this its hope depends.

THE LIFE WITHIN.

For the first six months of our Club life we have lived on the very fat of the land. Learned, titled, and distinguished men have attended our luncheons and spoken words of wisdom and eloquence, to which we have listened and at which we have pondered. It remains for us now to show what response we can make, how much of these high ideals has saturated our minds and found a place in our activities. We have profited greatly by the contribution to our thought made in these learned and eloquent addresses. How much have they stimulated us to activity? If it is a law of psychology that Impression must be followed by Expression if there is to be any permanent effect. The mind will not retain an impression permanently unless some expression by word or action results immediately. Life is made up of pulsations and alternations. Our very heart beats, our respirations, our sleeping and waking, are but the alternating evidences of the life within us. Nature itself is made up of alternations and pulsations. The days that come and go, the seasons that repeat themselves, the tides that rise and fall are all instances of Nature's pulsating, alternating motion. Nature's way is impact and response. The life of this Club is to be demonstrated along these lines. The impact of these high ideals charging in upon our thoughts week after week must find their life in expressions, audible and observable if these impressions are to have a permanent lodging place within us.

I AND THE OTHER.

To each individual in this Club two distinct claimants make a desperate battle for homage. These might be designated by the little Latin words: "Ego" and "Alter". "Ego" the ego, the self-life, taking the form in English of the word "egotist." It is a claimant that lays terrible siege to our lives. "Alter," the other self, expressed in the English form of "Altruist," though often denied a hearing, makes as persistent and impetuous demand for attention as does his rival. The individual's life in the community in which he lives will be determined largely by the proportion of attention he pays to these claimants and the extent to which he follows the claims of one or the other. The motto of this Club is "Service above self," not that Self has no place, but that there is a greater consideration than the service of Self. The prospect of Service by the Rotary Club is hopeful because the Club is giving serious attention to community and country-wide service. Perhaps our community problems have suffered because of the tendency to carelessness and levity, and it is a hopeful sign when business men are ready to turn aside from their avocations and lend themselves to serve the community and city in which they live by giving serious and earnest attention to the problems that present themselves.

SERVICE INDISPENSABLE.

There is every reason about us to suggest that service is the correct attitude of a man's life. Nature herself has written this large in her revelations. The scientific aspect of the case has some astonishing exhibitions of Nature to record in indicating that service is an indispensable factor in life. The lower creation reveals instances of interdependence and life unity that must impress the observer with the basic and potent place that service is given in the economy of life. The human body also gives contribution to the same thought. In the functions of the body there are again and again instances of substitution and compensation that carries with them the same primary idea of Service. A narrowed or broken portion of the body finds instant support and constant contribution from every other member of the body upon which it can lean, and the idea of a community of service is here again exhibited. There is not time to go more fully into this aspect of the case, but it is at least evident that the lesson of Service is even here strongly portrayed. Moreover, the same lesson is indicated in the universal desire to serve that is inseparable. The motto of this Club, "Service above Self," is a great fact. But the Rotary Club has elevated this to a policy, but the Rotary Club did not originate the idea. It has been imbedded in our very nature and must ever be the real incentive to labor that we depend upon. The mere monetary reward that men receive in return for their life work can never satisfy them as compensation. Nothing but the knowledge that service to others is being given will be sufficient incentive for the activities of any human life. We see this aspiration evident in the common advertisements of business people whose constant effort is to impress the fact that they are out to give Service. It is not so much cheap goods that they cry aloud about, it is about the service that they are ready to distribute.

THE CORNERSTONE OF ROTARY.
The spirit of Service is abroad in the Earth. It is really the cornerstone of Rotary. A Rotarian constantly seeks opportunity for individual service, and, in combination with his fellow Rotarians, he seeks also to give a Club Service. In individual service he finds his opportunity thru his avocation. If he is a Civil Servant, he realizes that his service contributes directly to the national or community good. Should he be a lawyer, as a Rotarian he puts new significance into his service as he deals with the principles of justice in his provision from day to day. As a Chartered Accountant, the Rotarian finds an outlet for the spirit of Service as he straightens out the tangled affairs of his business clients and puts them on the road for a new start towards business solvency. The Rotarian banker finds a large place in his outlook for service. Similarly, the physician, as he ministers to his patients, has a most direct and definite opportunity for rotarian service. But what of the common business man, whose functions are all too popularly looked upon as entirely selfish; who, if he succeeds, is sometimes considered a rogue, and, if he fails, is inevitably considered a fool. Let me say that for this class there is no doubt about the opportunity for service that presents itself. The activities of business contribute positively and directly to the general good. This is proven so frequently when an attempt is made to supply the needs of any large section of people by any means outside ordinary business provision. As, for example, when a government attempts to feed an army in the field, or, for better examples, when, during the Great War, Governments and Municipalities on occasions endeavored to minister to the needs of the people, and, in so doing, interfered with the regular avenues of trade. Under such instances we see how the most powerful agency, like a Government or Municipality, commonly breaks down under the load and finds itself unable to cope with the problem of serving large numbers efficiently. This city attempted to relieve the housing conditions that prevailed by Municipal or limited enterprise. The result has not been very satisfactory. Other cities throughout Canada attempted the same experiment and in almost every case a burden of debt and disappointment is the result.

ASPECTS OF COMMUNITY LIFE.
When one stops to think of it, it is not a marvellous accomplishment that ordinary business men are capable of when their united efforts can supply a whole city with its entire list of necessities without break or failure from day to day, year in and year out. The business man who sees his only incentive in the mere pittance that his business yields him for a livelihood, has a narrow and restricted view of the great incentive for his activities, and that incentive can never be a satisfied one until the ideal enters into and permeates his life. When we consider the fact that opens up to us as a community, there are several aspects of specific community life that concern themselves. The Boy Life Service we have now in hand will give an outlook on the youthful life of the city, which will inevitably lead to the Club Service, and I see three at once along the lines of which service may be undertaken. There is the matter of Character, the community has long been troubled with the inefficient method of rearing youthful offenders that have at our disposal. May it be possible that this Club can furnish some assistance to the authorities that will lead to the development of improved methods. A Survey, I predict, will impress the need of this community for opportunities for play and recreation. A large portion of the boy must consist in play opportunities, for play must be fun, and the street sidewalk activities are entirely insignificant. The need of play and such like openings for recreation must make an appeal to the young. Again, the boy requires of us to furnish effective censorship of movie. It is not enough that nothing obscene. The pictures have in it something helpful and clean. There is too much that is unclean and perile.

IMPACT OF SERVICE.
In regard to the growth of the community, the open service presents itself in the most distinct ways to the mind. First, there is the matter of distress and poverty. It is not enough that the influence of the Club in future provide for some co-ordination of the various existing institutions of the city, as little harm as possible is done, and as much good as possible is accomplished by the charity of who are moved to help. A avenue for service is in the problem that presents itself to the community. The same message to the life of our people, and especially to the young people. Squallid quarters, that forbid decency or sex modesty are a menace to the development of a ship. A third outlook for service is the necessity for relieving employment. It is easy to realize that horrible must be the outlook of who lacks employment and who streets daily seeking it, with disappointment and despair grow on his heart. The times are bad, but there is a great deal of unemployment, but no matter how bad the times are, there will always be distress of this kind, and a better exchange that will be in constant to help those who are in employment will be a service placed and much used. The thing that I will suggest is a and regrettable one. It is a condition that will lead to the amelioration that produce vice and treatment, such as segregation those who by their vicious habits come a menace to the general community. It is not possible that the Club can secure relief that will meet the conditions of the case? "He profits most who is best." The spirit of Service is the membership of this Club. The evening for Service is all about us as well as our opportunities and constantly demonstrate that the Rotary meets the necessity of the case.

Diving for Sub-marined Millions.

What is expected to rank as the most successful submarine treasure-seeking expedition ever inaugurated has just left Portsmouth, England, dockward to resume operations.

This particular venture is managed by the Admiralty and the Treasury jointly, and its business is to recover the gold bullion which went to the bottom in the liner Laurentic when she was torpedoed in Lough Swilly during the war.

Already some four or five million pounds ($20,000,000 to $25,000,000) worth of gold has been salvaged. There yet remain two or three millions more of it lying at the bottom of the sea, and the salvage ship Racer is going out to search for this "balloon."

It is no longer necessary to use hand-pumps to furnish divers with air while they are "below." From the ship's air-compressing plant, which keeps up 100lb. pressure, the divers are "fed."

As the air goes down to them it passes through an ordinary hand-pump, and by the scale on these the attendants can tell whether the divers are being correctly supplied.

Should anything go wrong with the automatic "feed," the manual pumps can be "started up" in a second.

While he is working under water the diver keeps in touch with those in the ship by means of a telephone, the cable of which is also his life-line.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.

So far has invention progressed that it is now possible for a diver to use a naked acetylene flame for cutting through wreckage under water instead of having to hack it away with hand tools.

And if conditions "below" make it necessary the diver can even be furnished with electric light to work by.

Usually, he remains under water half an hour at a stretch. All such "scrap" as ships' plating is hoisted to the surface by cranes.

But "treasure"—for example, gold bullion, which is cast into short bars—is always lifted in buckets punched full of holes so that the water can run out.

In addition to air-compressing plant, a powerful alternating current installation, a "chamber" through which divers are pressed when their blood has become aerated after a long "dip," and various other special "plants" a salvage ship carries a well-fitted workshop.

MORAL COURAGE.

There's a courage that is greater than the test of fire and sword,
 There's a greater proof of mettle than the battlesfield afford,
 And I would that I might teach it to that boy of mine to-day
 So that he may never weaken as he goes along his way.
 It's the courage of conviction that can stand the cruel gaff,
 And dare to do the right thing when his thoughtless playmates laugh.

I want to have him sturdy, and I hope he'll never show
 The pale cheek of the coward when he has to take a blow;
 I hope he will not whimper and too bitterly complain
 When his wish is disappointed and a dream he fails to gain.

But above this outward courage and beyond this sign of fear,
 I hope he'll stand undaunted when his thoughtless fellows sneer.

When his gang is all against him—that's the time I want him true,
 When his playmates urge upon him what he knows is wrong to do,
 When he's taunted with derision, then I want him, at his best,
 For, spite all that he must cope with, this is boyhood's hardest test.

And the greatest proof of courage is to stand and take the gaff,
 And dare to do the right thing when his thoughtless playmates laugh.

Hutterites Menaced by Flood.

Disaster overtook the colony of Hutterites 15 miles west of Winnipeg on Saturday night, May 13, when the temporary dyke constructed by them to stem the encroaching flood of the Assiniboine River went out during the hours of darkness, allowing the water to cover about 1,000 acres of wheat-sown land immediately to the west, threatening thousands of other acres of low-lying spots, and cutting off the colony from easy access to other districts. Day after day and night after night the colony had fought the flood, only to have their efforts go for naught. Should the river rise any more, only superhuman exertions will be able to save the results of months of toil from complete ruin. The flood situation for miles along the south side of the river is serious, but the consequences would have been more serious if a large quantity of water had not made its escape in the prairies north of the river.

F. Smallwood,

The Home of Good Shoes, Water Street.

FAREWELL, MR. DARWIN.

Oh, good, by Father Darwin! You seemed a wise old chap; you had your day, now William J. has wiped you off the map. You almost had convinced us that we were spruce from apes; but William J. is a restored, our self respect, our pedigree is fine to see, and everything's correct. So farewell, Father Darwin! You put your graft across; you've had your day, now William J. shows you're a total loss.

An Eastern Fable.

Once upon a time a famous physician was called to a man who lay very ill. His servant went with him, and was admitted with his master to the sick man's room. The physician examined his patient, and then he said, "You have eaten some opium, and that is the cause of your illness." Everyone marks were easy, we fell for this cheap plant, absorbed your bunk, and thought the monk might well be niece or aunt. I watched the fierce gorilla and thought my great-grand-dad, on some past day reared just that way, and doubtless looked as bad. I often paused to picture my forbears in the trees; they warbled tunes with chop-balloons and tinhorn chimpanzees. And, thinking I was humbled, for no man can be proud if he can trace his tribe or race to such a measly crowd. But William J. has saved us, restored, our self respect, our pedigree is fine to see, and everything's correct. So farewell, Father Darwin! You put your graft across; you've had your day, now William J. shows you're a total loss.

"But what made you think of such a thing?" asked the physician when he had stopped laughing.

"Master," said the man, "I saw a saddle and bridle at the door as I went in."

"Because," said the physician, "I saw some oyster shells lying just outside the door of his room."

The servant thought how simple it was to be a great physician, so he left his master and set up as a doctor in a trash place. It was not long before he was called to see a patient, and with as good an imitation of his late master as he could manage he felt the man's pulse and asked to see his tongue.

"You have been eating an ass!" he said gravely at last.

But the people turned him out of the house, and beat him for his rudeness. He could get no more patients, so he was soon forced to go back to his old master, the physician, and to him he told the story.

MARTIN—CURTIS.

Wesley Church was last evening the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Rev. Ira F. Curtis, at present of Bell Island, was united in hymen's bonds to Miss Gertrude Martin, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Martin, so well known and universally respected. The Church, daintily decorated, was thronged with friends, whose numbers testified to the popularity of the bride and indicated the success of the enthusiastic work done by her among its congregation. The bride, who looked charming, entered the Church leaning on the arm of her father, while Mr. J. C. Pratt rendered "Wagner's Wedding March." She was attended by her sister Miss Evangelina, who with herself did such heroic work for some years in Korea, and who has just returned from Manhattan, New York, where she has been preparing for the greater service which the better and more skillful training of her talents will make possible. Miss Daphne Pratt as flower girl and Master Bruce Miller also attended the bride. The groom who is closing his second year as Pastor of the Methodist Church at Bell Island, was attended by Mr. L. R. Curtis. The service which brought about the happy union, was performed by the uncle of the groom, Rev. Dr. Curtis, assisted by Rev. W. B. Bugden, Pastor of Wesley Church. At its close Mrs. J. J. Miller, sister of the bride sang beautifully, "Oh Promise Me." From the Church the wedding party and upwards of seventy guests, proceeded to the Bungalow at Bowling Park where the wedding supper was partaken of, and the customary toasts duly honored. Afterwards the bride and groom motored to Donovan's from whence they entrain to Grand Falls where the honeymoon will be spent. The presents received by the bride were numerous and valuable. In the wishes that Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis may have "bon voyage" over the matrimonial sea, the Telegram gladly joins.

Anglo Promotion.

MR. J. M. BARBOUR RECEIVES HIGHER UP POSITION.

Having given many years of satisfactory service, as Chief Accountant with the Anglo American Telegraph Company, Mr. J. M. Barbour has recently been promoted to the position of Assistant Superintendent of the Newfoundland Office. During his period as cashier Mr. Barbour has been very prominent in Anglo circles. He recently attended the semi-annual conferences of Western Union Managers at New York, Boston, St. John, N. B., and Halifax. The purpose of these conferences is to discuss ways and means to improve the service of the Telegraph Company to the public, the meeting of various problems that arise and the extension of facilities and increased service. As a result of suggestions made and information gleaned at these meetings, Company hopes to make several changes locally, which are calculated to enable them to improve their service to the public all round. As a result of this appointment, the Superintendent, Mr. H. A. Saunders, will be able to devote more time to other important duties, which, with the assistance of his new deputy, will have an improved effect on the working of the Company's system in Newfoundland. Mr. Barbour is a son of Capt. Alpheus Barbour of Newtown, B. E., to whom as well as to the new Asst. Superintendent we beg to extend congratulations.

The Amusing House.

SPEAKER LATE-SESSION ADJOURNS FOR WANT OF QUORUM.

The House of Assembly bids fair to rival all amusement places in the city for in the past few years it has been the scene of some extraordinary occurrences. Yesterday's adjournment added to the quota of amusing incidents. At 3.15 p.m., when the House should have met, Mr. Speaker was missing, in consequence of the train from Carbonar being late. Two members only of the Government occupied their seats. They were the Prime Minister and Capt. Jones of Twillingate. The Opposition was represented by Sir Michael Cashin, Messrs. J. R. Bennett, W. J. Higgins, W. J. Walsh, M. S. Sullivan, P. F. Moore, E. Sinnott and J. MacDonnell. At the hour of opening the Clerk intimated that neither the Speaker nor the Deputy Speaker had arrived, and on the suggestion of the Prime Minister Capt. Jones took the chair and declared the House adjourned until the usual hour this afternoon. No sooner was the House adjourned than he walked Mr. Speaker in his robes, about ten seconds too late to avoid another Parliamentary burlesque. 'Twas ever thus.

W. M. S. Notes.

The 7th annual meeting of the Nfld. Branch of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held at Gower Street Church June 7th, 8th, and 9th. Mrs. H. A. Levall, B. A., President of the Board of Managers of the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church of Canada, Bermuda and Newfoundland, who is now visiting the Eastern Conference Branches at Sackville, N. B., and Halifax, N. S., will arrive by the Sable I. to attend the sessions here. Mrs. Levall, who is the wife of Judge Levall of Kingston, Ont., was elected to succeed Mrs. Rose, as President of the Society, two years ago. She is a very gifted woman of fine executive ability, and a splendid speaker. Her addresses on Wednesday and Thursday evenings are looked forward to with great eagerness. During her stay in the city she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Leamon, Monkstown Road.—COM.

The first forest fire for the season was reported yesterday to be raging near Botwood at the point where the R.N. Co.'s and A.N.D. Co.'s tracks cross. The latest reports state that the fire, helped by the rain which fell last night, has burned itself out without doing any great damage. The fire is supposed to have started near a fox farm.

HIS DIARY.

June 1st.—It comes to my mind that I have not written in my journal these many days, and the reason of it I can not tell, but is that I am lazy, if my wife speaks aright. Up betimes and to the office wearing my flannel clothes and very warm in them, being that the season has grown to a great heat. A new trouble made to us, it seems by the Irish, they making another compact and none know what will come of it. I did hear how I did gain naught from my tickets on the Depby, which did grieve me mightily and my wife even more, seeing how she must now do without her new coat for the summer. Mr. Coaker, that is Minister of Marine and Fisheries, is home, and he away these three months. He tells how he did sell the pulp wood of the Government, but Povy tells me how this was all sold and before Mr. Coaker knew of it. I meet the brother of Secretary Carew, and he gives me the news of Bell Island. The Parliament meets in the afternoon and I there, but a most strange thing is that the Speaker is late, and the Government adjourns the sitting. But no sooner is the House adjourned, then in comes Mr. Speaker, and he in all his robes, I hear news of how there may be an election in the autumn, but doubt if it will come to pass. Many make enquiry of my journal, and why I have not printed it this evening, and this, I think, very kind of them.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, June 2.

Bottomley Sentenced.

FORMER EDITOR GETS SEVEN YEARS—A BRILLIANT WRITER AND SPEAKER.

A special cable despatch from London states that, on Monday, May 29th, Horatio Bottomley, former publisher and editor of "John Bull" was found guilty by a jury on the charge of misappropriation of funds belonging to the Victory Bond Club. He was sent to prison for seven years penal servitude. This ends the public career of one of the cleverest men of the present century. Horatio Bottomley was born in 1860, the eldest son of William King Bottomley. He was educated at Mason's College, Birmingham and afterwards, was for many years connected with large financial undertakings in London. At the age of 20 he married Elsie Norton. He acted as the pioneer of Western Australian Mining, founded the Financial Times, subsequently became proprietor of The Sun newspaper and afterwards established "John Bull" of which he was editor for many years. He was a warm friend of Chas. Bradlaugh, the great atheist. Throughout his career Bottomley figured in frequent law suits. He was the principal defendant in the case of Regina vs Bottomley and Others in 1893 and in the Rex vs Bottomley and Others in 1909. In both these cases he successfully conducted his own defence and is generally regarded as the best "lay lawyer" in England. He was the author and chief advocate of the Business Government Idea. In 1887, he unsuccessfully contested the Hornsey Division of Middlesex, and South Hackney failed to return him in 1906. He was elected for South Hackney in 1906 and sat in Parliament until 1912. He again contested this London district in 1915 as an Independent, and is still its member of Parliament. Bottomley was keenly interested in sport and was the owner of several race horses. During the war he exposed several scandals in his paper "John Bull," which enjoyed an enormous circulation. He was a bitter opponent of all things German and had no love for the Americans. He supported Lloyd George un-

The astute Welshman quarrelled with Lord Northcliffe, when Bottomley supported the latter. His downfall was brought about by the Victory Bond Club which he started in connection with "John Bull." He sold the bonds to the public at £1 per share and investors, who could not get their money returned, brought actions against him. In the libel action brought early this year by Bottomley against Reuben Bigland, several matters affecting the Victory Bond Club were brought to light. Bottomley was put on trial and on Monday last the case on which the interest of millions was centred, came to an end. A brilliant, fiery writer, Bottomley figured in the various Sunday papers, and were eagerly looked for and his speeches in Parliament were eloquent and frequently occasioned the sarcasm and bitter criticism of many. It is doubtful if Bottomley's imprisonment will chasten his spirit or stop his ready pen.

Forty-Three Years in the Public Service—The Evening Telegram.

Well Known Couple Celebrates Golden Jubilee.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yabeley, one of the most widely known and generally esteemed couples in the city, celebrated yesterday the Golden Jubilee of their wedding, which took place in the Congregational Parsonage, St. John's, on June 1st, 1872.

A reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Yabeley in honor of the event and a large number of their intimate friends were present. Following a delicious supper a brief toast list was honored, the principal toast being that to the host and hostess, proposed by Mr. Alex. Morris, son-in-law of the host and hostess, and responded to by Mr. Yabeley, whose reminiscences were extremely interesting.

A presentation then followed, when Capt. A. Morris of the G.L.B.C. Band, on behalf of their wives and daughter, tendered to Mrs. Yabeley a gold ring and to Mr. Yabeley a five-dollar gold piece, the gifts being accompanied by an appropriate speech to which the host replied. During the evening numerous messages of congratulation were received from friends both in Canada (where invitations had been sent) and in Newfoundland, including one from Rev. E. T. Holden, Pastor of Queens Rd. Congregational Church. The balance of the evening was given up to selections by an orchestra of the G.L.B.C. Band who also supplied music for dancing. The Telegram joins with the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Yabeley, the former of whom has for a great many years been Master Cooper at Job's and is still going strong, in wishing them many years still of unbroken partnership.—W.L.

Friends of the Orphans

FORM AN ORGANIZATION.
 Inspired by the announcement made this week that the Church of England Orphanage is in need of funds, a number of local gentlemen have set themselves to raise the funds necessary to enable the institution to continue to carry on its great philanthropic work effectively. The promoters of the movement have organized themselves as the Orphan Aid Club and will shortly make known their initial plans for helping those fatherless and motherless little ones with whom the Master specifically identified himself when commending Christian endeavor to his followers. At the head of the Orphan Aid Club are Hon. Dr. Mosdell, as chairman; Hon. S. D. Blandford, as vice-chairman; Councillor R. Dowden, as secretary, and Mr. B. B. Stafford, as treasurer. The associates of these officers bring the total membership of the Club up to twenty, at which number it is proposed to set a limit for the immediate purpose of the organization. Later on, as plans are adopted and developed, the Club will add to its numbers those necessary to the attainment of its objective which is the sum of ten thousand dollars for the Orphans by the end of 1923. The organization, which is composed of representative and energetic Church of England workers, meets weekly in the office of Sheriff Blandford. Within a few days an announcement will be made through the daily papers of the full membership of the Club which takes "Inasmuch" as its motto.

About Table China.
 An authority upon the subject of table china says that the simplicity of design and pure colors are leading the market now. Some of the breakfast and dinner sets might also be called simple in appearance. The reason for this delicacy in modern taste is that the sets are intended for use in rooms furnished in the old Georgian and still older Queen Anne period style. A highly polished table, decked with silver of the period affected and with brightly polished cut glass, and given lace tassels or embroidered linen mats instead of the conventional cloth, wants nothing clearly bright or ostentatious in the way of china. We are in every way departing now from mere show.

Many modern hostesses prefer every set to match, and find the custom profitable. Others like a change. They prefer to come down to breakfast to pure white china edged with a band of plastic twigs upon which pretty blue birds disport themselves; to set out at luncheon the well-appreciated set of old Chelsea reproduction, to drink tea from cups delicately bordered with full gold stripes powdered with rosebuds, and to dine in the company of Spode, real or copied.

Skirts.
 What should be the length of a woman's skirt? Here is a problem which, judging from letters which have been appearing in various newspapers lately, seems to be agitating the minds of hundreds of thousands of people. From our learned professors downwards or should it be upwards? We have been told why women should wear long skirts, why they

Who's Who?

Ladies and Gentlemen:—
MISS MARGUERITE TORREY—SOU-BRETTE.
 Miss Torrey comes from the State of California, the State that produced many famous dancers, including Gertrude Hoffman, Florence O. Denitashon, Eva St. Denis and others. One of the oldest families in the West gave Miss Torrey to the Stage, her grandfather and the grandmother of President Taft being brother and sister. Like all the world's best dancers, Miss Torrey visited Paris to finish her dancing art. She has specialized in interpretative dancing with Symphony Orchestra and has also had her own act in Vaudeville.

She was featured in "The Better Ole" and "Buddies."
 Next week Miss Torrey has promised to stage one of her classical dances, and St. John's audiences will see for the first time her real interpretative dancing.

Early Fire Engines.

The first real engines were used in 1693 at a big fire on London bridge. The first fire hose was invented by the two Vander Heydes in 1672. One of the earliest engines used consisted of a tank drawn by two horses, which threw a stream of inch in diameter to a height of eight feet. An improved engine was invented in 1721 by Newham of London and the first engine used in the United States was made by Newham. The first steam fire engine was invented by John Braithwaite of London in 1829. Fire alarms came into use in medieval times. It was the custom in many of the towns to have a watchman stationed on a high building, whose duty it was to look for fire and to warn the people by blowing a horn, giving a gun or ringing a bell.

should wear short skirts, why they should strike a happy medium, and what that medium should be, but in face of such cajoling and threatening women seem to be doing as they have always done hitherto—pleasing themselves. Even medical men cannot agree on the subject. Dr. N. tells us that long skirts are unhealthy, because they are apt to drag in the dust and pick up germs; Dr. Y. thinks that short skirts are unhealthy because they expose too much of the wearer to the elements. And all these doctors, like every other person who seems agitated on the subject are men!

 After studying a few hundred different opinions on this terrific problem we have come to the conclusion that
 (1) Very short skirts are excellent
 (2) Very long skirts are the very thing—for all maiden aunts.
