NOT A QUESTION OF RAILWAY DEVELOPMENT.

In order, at the coming elections, to save the skins of the Liberal representatives of this Province from being evidently considered necessary to misrepresent argument in the discussion of the Grand Trunk Pacific question. We are told that the local administration, on the contrary, the Colonist has been an advocate of increased transportation facilities across the continent. What the Colonist has directed attention to are the immense disadvantages under which the Province is placed by the conditions imposed in the contract for the construction of the road, as compared with the rest of Canada. While assuming an undue proportion of the liabilities which accrue to Canada in that connection, it receives none of the vast incidental benefits to be derived from construction and at the same time must also assume the development of the new country opened up en route. We are told that the revenue of the country will increase so rapidly as a consequence of the development will be able to further reduce the burden of taxation. That is likely to be quite correct, but the reduction in taxes so far as the Dominion Government is concerned, but unfortunately the benefits accruing from the development go largely to the Dominion coffers. It is true, Provincial revenue receives large additions in the way of mining licenses, revenue tax, land tax, etc., but the whole experience of British Columbia has gone to show that the expenses of administration created by the new conditions are always still larger in proportion. Since Confederation there has only been one year in thirty-three in which revenue has been equal to expenditure. Even if it be granted for argument's sake that some of the governments have been extravagant, all governments have not invariably been so. Some of our governments have been extremely economical. One would naturally suppose that the building of the C. P. R. would have created such conditions in the Province that the former era of deficits would have passed away. There was a very material increase of Provincial revenue, but the wants of the people increased in still greater proportion, as shown by the Public Accounts. In 1888 the receipts were $426,000 and the expenditure $505,000. In 1889-90 the receipts were $946,000 and the expenditure $912,000. By the year 1893-94 the receipts were $1,200,000 and the expenditure $1,400,000. It is an argument not against railway building and a general policy of development; but in favor of the absolute necessity of a large increased subsidy from the Dominion to meet the requirements of internal administration of the affairs of a Province with many physical obstacles to overcome. As a result of the existing financial relations between the Province and the Dominion, too large an excess of the revenue goes to the Federal Treasury in proportion to what is returned in the way of subsidy. In other words, there is an inequitable division of the taxes which the people of the Province pay to the Dominion. There is not an adequate residue left for Provincial purposes. What is true of British Columbia is true of all the Provinces, with this qualification, that, owing to the physical character of the country, British Columbia's case is an exceptionally strong one, demanding exceptional consideration. Representations have been made to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in favor of a general readjustment, in which the governments of all the Provinces, five out of seven of which are Liberal, have jointly.

THE SUNDAY SUPPLEMENT.

Nearly all the daily papers of the country to govern, a similar exception will result from the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. That is a change of our political situation that the people as a whole have not yet fully realized. Political opinion, to some extent, has been dominated by men who expect to make, and have the opportunity of making, money through promotion and speculation on account of railway construction, and they have, we have no doubt, been largely in the belief that the whole people would make money, and that the Provincial exchequer would be largely reimbursed, as well. The one great fact that has been overlooked in all calculations based on technical development, is the expenditure which development involves being greater in proportion than the new sources of revenue also created. This is an argument not against railway building and a general policy of development; but in favor of the absolute necessity of a large increased subsidy from the Dominion to meet the requirements of internal administration of the affairs of a Province with many physical obstacles to overcome. As a result of the existing financial relations between the Province and the Dominion, too large an excess of the revenue goes to the Federal Treasury in proportion to what is returned in the way of subsidy. In other words, there is an inequitable division of the taxes which the people of the Province pay to the Dominion. There is not an adequate residue left for Provincial purposes. What is true of British Columbia is true of all the Provinces, with this qualification, that, owing to the physical character of the country, British Columbia's case is an exceptionally strong one, demanding exceptional consideration. Representations have been made to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in favor of a general readjustment, in which the governments of all the Provinces, five out of seven of which are Liberal, have jointly.

WHAT IS A LIABILITY?

We are asked to state what taxes will be necessary to raise in order to meet obligations incurred on account of the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific. This is a difficult question. It is not possible to tell. This much we do know, that the Dominion of Canada is assuming a liability variously estimated at from $105,000,000 to $111,000,000 on account of the new railway. Canada is actually building one portion of the railway, for which it will be necessary to issue debentures, extending over forty or fifty years at three per cent. For the other portion—that west of Winnipeg to the Pacific—it is loaning its credit to the railway company in order to enable it to build. There are the interest and sinking fund to pay annually until the debentures are finally retired.

There is an arrangement whereby the Grand Trunk Railway Company is expected to assume and pay the interest charges, and on the face of it looks as though the people are getting a new transcontinental railway as a "free gift." This is a very pleasant reading for an individual who is inclined to thank Providence that he is free of a troublesome debt after having given a promissory note for its payment.

We do not for a moment say that the Grand Trunk Pacific will not be able to discharge the liability as it matures. We sincerely hope that it will. It is at any time in the future it should get hard up, because "hard times" come as sure as the sun in the sky, and there is a Government in power at Ottawa as "easy" as the present one, we are afraid the temptation to unload on the public will be too great to be resisted by a "sound" real question at issue. But that is not the real question at issue. When a business man of substance endorses the note of another man for a large sum, or for any sum, he regards with endorsement as part of his liabilities, no matter what the solvency of the other man paying may be. There always exists the possibility of his having to make good the amount so guaranteed by or in regard to the his own debt, and in so regarded by his banker, who naturally insists upon knowing all about such matters when considering the amount of credit to be extended.

The Dominion, in its arrangements with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, is exactly in the position of having endorsed a promissory note. The bonds issued for the payment of construction, or the bonds guaranteed upon the same purpose, become part of the national debt and restrict the additional borrowing powers to that extent. If all goes well the people will have to pay it. The people of British Columbia, collectively and individually, are liable for their proportion of the debt, and for the remainder of that, for the whole of it. Our position is simply this, that in case the people are called upon eventually to pay, either a portion of the whole of the liability, British Columbia, taking its contributions to the Federal Treasury what the rest of the people of Canada will do.

In the face of that monstrous disparity, in case of what we are already contributing, and have contributed, in excess of the people of other Provinces per man, and in face of the fact that the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific itself through the Grand Trunk Pacific, which the Dominion will eventually increase the responsibilities created by the requirements of population throughout the whole northern part of British Columbia, our rights to share in the incidental benefits of construction have been denied to us, and the men who have been entrusted with delegated authority to protect our interests have sat calmly by and permitted the outrage to be perpetrated. They either did not understand the situation and the obligations which the Province was being committed, or, with full knowledge of what was involved, allowed our rights to be bartered away for not so much as the proverbial mess of pottage. They had no more to offer than to rise in their place and demand, even so feebly, what was our due, nor had they the moral courage to resign as a protest.

There is a feeling, more or less general, in the city that the City Council is not doing its duty in making reference to voting a sum to assist the Fifth Regiment to go to the St. Louis Exposition. It is proposed by the band to carry out a tour of the city, and it is suggested that the City Council should give the assistance asked. We think, however, in justice to the band, that the proposal should be given the best possible consideration. Band matters generally merit our attention. Not a few of our citizens think there should be more encouragement given.

LETTER FROM REV. FATHER MORICE. Sir—Some time last week you published a very laudatory review of my latest issue of the History of the Northern Interior of British Columbia. Though the general tone of the article was very favorable to the work, it certainly had one defect as far as the author is concerned, and that was that it was not so laudatory as I had to speak to a certain extent. I am glad to hear that you have read my book with interest, and that you have been able to find many points of interest in it. I am glad to hear that you have been able to find many points of interest in it.

THE PROPOSED STUDY OF MAN. The proper study of mankind is man. This has been said by many philosophers, and it is a truth that is becoming more and more apparent in our day. The study of man, of his nature, of his history, of his progress, is the study that should be the foundation of all education. It is the study that should be the foundation of all education.

DECEASED INCREASE OF 25 PER CENT. In 1850, the population of British Columbia was 2,500. In 1904, it is estimated to be 112,500. This is an increase of 25 per cent. This is a remarkable increase, and it is a proof of the progress of the Province. It is a proof of the progress of the Province.

Pilot Gosse Is Exonerated

Popular Nanaimo Mariner Freed From All Blame For Quito Accident.

General Shipping Intelligence of Coast Harbor and Ocean.

Great satisfaction was expressed by mariners along the Victoria waterfront yesterday at the news that Pilot Gosse had been fully exonerated from all blame in connection with the grounding of the British steamer Quito, Capt. Slottin, in Nanaimo harbor, at midnight, Monday. The evidence went to show the captain of the vessel was entirely responsible for the mishap to the ship.

Captain Slottin, one of the youngest commanders in the British mercantile marine, proved his quality on that occasion by showing a promptitude in presence of such a crisis which has led to the belief that if such a crisis should occur again he would not be less prompt in his action.

HILLS BIG FREIGHTERS.

Minnesota Will Try to Beat U. S. S. Oregon Record Round Horn.

A New York dispatch says: Members of the Minnesota Exchange learned with much interest that the mammoth steamer John Trenchard, in command of Capt. John Trenchard, is to be sent to Key West.

The Oregon's record has been considered the greatest ever made around the world, requiring from March 19 to May 24, 1903, 121 days, 12 hours, 15 minutes, and 30 seconds.

One of his lieutenants, who is here, is starting a new record. He is a big carrier can be made, it will do more than any other ship in the world.

With this object in view, no expense is spared to make the new record. Selected steaming coal is being used in the boiler, and the engine is being run at a high speed.

It is expected that the new record will be made in the next few days. The ship is now in the harbor, and is being prepared for the start.
