

A MILITARY MEASURE.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE EXISTING MILITIA LAWS.

Amendments and New Regulations—No Restrictions to be Placed on the Influx of Chinese—The League Traffic Committee.

Special Dispatch to the World.

Ottawa, April 10.—The vacancies on the military committee caused by the refusal of six oppositionists to act were filled to-day by the appointment of government members. The committee is now complete and may be expected to meet soon.

On motion of the minister of marine, the house adopted a resolution to amend the fisheries act by making better provision for the issue of fishery licenses and licenses, and with respect to the use of nets and other apparatus for the capture of salmon.

By making more stringent provisions with respect to the seizure and confiscation of materials, implements and appliances used in contravention of the act, by giving a preference (not being a fishery officer) a share of the fines or forfeitures, and by extending to fishery officers the privileges and rights given for like purposes to the officers of the customs.

The minister of inland revenue introduced a resolution to give Winnipeg power to appoint an inspector of grain, and to provide that flinty five wheat, when grown in Manitoba or the Northwest, may be inspected as higher than No. 2.

In moving the second reading of the bill consolidating and amending the several acts relating to the militia and defence of Canada, Mr. Caron referred with pride to the military history of the dominion, and gave a brief outline of our militia system, which he regarded as a credit to the country.

In addition to consolidating the existing laws the bill provides for some changes. There will now be two kinds of militiamen, active and reserve, which will apply to both the land and marine forces. It is proposed to divide a troop of cavalry between Kingston and Québec, half being attached to B battery and half to A battery.

The most important feature of the bill is a provision for three schools of infantry training officers, which will be invaluable for training officers. If the bill becomes law, it is the intention of the department to issue commissions only to persons holding certificates from the schools. The bill further provides for the appointment of a quartermaster general and contains new regulations regarding court-martials and other matters.

The debate which followed brought all the military men in the house to their feet and others besides.

Mr. Vail, minister of militia in the Mackenzie administration, considered it his duty to say something, but he got off nothing of any account further than protesting that the department in giving large orders for clothing in Britain was not observing the protection policy of the government.

Mr. O'Brien, of Manitoba, contended that the appropriation for militia purposes was too small. It should be one million dollars at least.

Mr. Ross of Middlesex argued that the contemplated changes were in the wrong direction. The department should devote its attention to improving the men in drill and general proficiency rather than providing further training for the officers, who were well trained already. He protested against the appointment of a quartermaster general as being altogether unnecessary, and said the time had come when the major general of militia should be a Canadian officer.

Mr. Ives of Richmond, and Mr. Lester of Lambton, made strong speeches on behalf of the rank and file. All the men should be drilled every year and additional appropriations should be used to increase their pay rather than to expend on schools and officers.

When the house went into committee on the bill some amusing passages occurred between the leader of the opposition and the minister of militia. Mr. Caron was evidently misapprehended by the contents of the measure and Mr. Blake contended and tortured him so many times that the premier finally came to his colleague's rescue. But Sir John Macdonald himself was not much better, and was frequently puzzled by the pointed questions of Mr. Blake, who, along with other oppositionists, enjoyed the discomfiture of the government immensely. Finally Mr. Caron sought relief by moving that the committee rise and report progress, which was done.

The house adjourned at 11.40.

Parliamentary Points.

Ottawa, April 10.—The government have found the orangeman harder to pacify than they imagined. The deputations here are bound to press their bill to a second reading on Monday next despite the compromise offered by the government in the shape of Colby's measure. There is no uncertainty as to the fate of the bill. It will be defeated by a majority of at least twenty.

From a departmental return it is ascertained that up to March 1, 1882, the Canada Pacific railway had disposed of farming lands and town sites to the value of $182,837, the area sold being over 300,000 acres.

The election committee declared by 14 to 7 that Dr. Robertson was disqualified from taking his seat as member for Kings county, P. E. I., on the ground that he was a member of the Island legislature at the time of the election in last June. Robertson is a reformer, and the vote was a straight party one.

The private detectives summoned here by the government to investigate the recent explosion in the parliament buildings, and cutting off of the wires and the city, and will probably be out in a few days. Their presence has produced all sorts of rumors. One was that the package of dynamite had been found in one of the air ducts connected with the centre block. Another that the police were showing the principals in a previous plot who intended to blow up the whole town, but these statements are entirely without foundation.

The warrant for the extradition of Philip, presents incarcerated in the Hamilton jail, was signed by the governor-general yesterday, and to-day dispatched to the authorities in that city.

Messrs. Haddock and Moore, representing the Toronto trades council, had an interview with the premier this afternoon in re the factory act. Sir John Macdonald said the bill would be introduced in a few days, but referred them to Sir Leonard Tilley, who has charge of the bill. The deputations questioned him regarding Chinese immigration, and his reply was that no restrictions would be placed on the influx of Chinese until after the completion of the Canada Pacific railway.

Messrs. Robertson and Kilvert, the members for Hamilton, have obtained an order from the minister of marine and fisheries for the deposit of a large quantity of trout and white-fish fry in the waters of Burlington bay and adjacent thereto.

It is said the orange deputations have been in among the manufacturers over yesterday in moving the second reading of the orange bill. When Mr. John White took the house after the postponement of the bill was met in the corridors by Mr. E. Clark of the Orange Standard, who it seems was pushing him to go on regardless of the fact that soon the 'rang' was with imprecations and charges of duplicity "still order of the faithful interceded and took Clarke away.

FRIBBER A MURDER.

A Man's Head Smashed in With a Pole.

THURSDAY, April 10.—On Saturday evening James O'Brady, known as "Irish Brady," hostler at McCarty's hotel here, came to the bar-room drunk and asked Geo. Allan, who was tending bar, for a drink. Allan refused, and O'Brady resorted to a brick, where he struck the bar for a drink, and about 2 o'clock Sunday morning again came down stairs. Going behind a heavy poker he hit him a tremendous blow on the back of the head, which struck him on the forehead and broke in his skull. The bystanders, enraged at the attack, made a rush on O'Brady, who was taken down and badly beaten. Both men were taken to bed and Dr. McWilliams, the only medical man in the village, was called. He was found to be away from home and no medical aid was obtained before noon on Sunday, when he returned. As soon as he found the state Allan was in, he sent immediately for two other medical men to inspect him. It is said that Allan cannot live, as his injuries are too severe. Mr. McCarty, proprietor of the hotel, was away from home at the time, and it seems Allan was not the regular bartender, who was also absent and Allan was taking his place at the time he was assaulted.

Doctors McWilliams, of Thamesford, and Williams and McKay, of Ingersoll, extracted upwards of twenty pieces of bone and some brains. Allan's recovery is doubtful. O'Brady had been arrested and had preliminary hearing before A. H. Cogwell, J.P., resulting in his remand to jail for eight days. Three witnesses, J. J. Johnson, J. Story and G. Puddicombe, were showing O'Brady was drunk at the time, and that the two had a scuffle an hour or two before the poker was used.

A PRISONER'S SUICIDE.

A Convict at Kingston Jumps From a Balustrade and Kills Himself.

KINGSTON, April 10.—The Whig of this city gives the following particulars of the suicide of Matthew Allen, a convict in the insane ward of the penitentiary: On Saturday the lunatics in the day room, a large hall capable of seating 200 persons, were ordered out for dinner which is served on the ground floor. The convicts walked out in single file. When Allen passed out he made a dash for the door and ran up the stairs. Around the stairs which run up the stairs are built in three ways, each relieved by a short landing. The convicts who were behind Allen made an attempt to grasp him and prevent him from committing the suicidal act, but they were not quick enough, and he went down the opening like a shot. His flight was headlong. The convicts were awestruck and horrified at the sight. There was a shriek, and the officers on rushing down the stairs found the inmate committing suicide below quite dead. His head had struck a large inkstand upon a desk at the landing. The inkstand was shattered and the ink splattered over the dead man's body and head. A piece was also broken from the desk. Allen was a stout powerful man, weighing about 190 lbs. His skull was fractured and his back broken.

He was aged about 35 years, and one of the quietest men in the insane ward. He was morose, and seldom spoke, however. He had, previous to confinement in the insane ward, been in the clothing department of the penitentiary.

GUILTY OF LIBEL.

The St. Thomas Journal Mailed in Fifty Dollars Damages.

ST. THOMAS, April 10.—The assize court opened here yesterday before Mr. Justice Cameron. There are six jury cases and two non-jury cases. There are three criminal cases, none of which are of importance. The first one tried was Alex. Connell vs. the Journal company of St. Thomas. It was an action for libel. The plaintiff was some time ago charged with arson, and in the article referring to the charge the Journal made the statement that the plaintiff ill-treated his mother and that his sister was forced to jump through a window to escape outrage by the plaintiff. His lordship, in charging the jury, said it was very improper for a journal, in referring to a charge against a person, to say anything likely to prejudice the party accused. Verdict for the plaintiff and $50 damages. T. W. Crofton and W. Meredith for plaintiff, and Colin MacDougall for defendant.

Shot by His Own Revolver.

HAMILTON, April 10.—James Clinto came here from Chicago Monday evening at 11 o'clock this morning, when in the neighborhood of Market square, he accidentally shot himself in the lower part of the abdomen, while in the act of removing a revolver from his right hand pants pocket to the hip pocket. The revolver was half cocked, and when he put his hand to remove it, it went off inflicting a severe wound. The wounded man was taken to W. Crofton's drug store and Dr. S. G. Smith was called in to attend him. The doctor is of opinion that the wound, though dangerous, will not prove fatal.

THE RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION.

A Lot of Persons Affected—The Pass Book is Severely Criticized.

The consolidation of the Grand Trunk and the Canada Pacific has rudely disturbed a lot of pleasant prospects.

In the expectation of a great war the two companies were making ready for a campaign in which they would spend money, and accordingly a number of clever gentlemen were on the look out for their due share.

When a war is on, railway passes and other favors are plenty, job printing is distributed lavishly among newspapers with job rooms attached, and other railway patronage is given out with a free hand.

But as no lobbying or peddling will now be required, the companies will suddenly become "stiff" and the "passes" will be few and far between.

A Missions Link.

Alderman Turner again called the attention of the board of works yesterday to the "missing link" in the street railway system of the east and west in the northern portion of the city.

This link extends along College street from the head of McCall street to Beverley street, which would join the street already built to these points.

Before this can be put down, the consent of the Toronto university authorities would have to be obtained. Considerable correspondence has passed between the city and the university on the subject, and a basis of the general improvement of the avenue was drawn up some time ago.

It is thought that the work cannot be done as a local improvement, as no property owners along the avenue have no objection to that.

Some time ago Mr. Piper carried an insurance on the stock of $10,000, divided among the Royal Commercial Union and Hartford companies. The loss was about $5000, and when Sandwich was reached, at which their return their boisterous conduct and attempt to molest the officers.

THE GLOBE OF THE RAILWAY COMBINATIONS

As we have before had occasion to remark, the "check" of the Globe in relation to the progress of railway combination in Canada is positively amazing to behold.

The great amalgamation event of 1882 is quickly to be followed by the still greater combination event of 1883. With the accomplishment of the latter, competition will be extinguished and combination made supreme from Quebec to the Pacific ocean.

It is a melancholy fact that opposition to the national policy, and to government ownership or control of railways, which is logically part and parcel of such policy thoroughly carried out, comes nearly all together from the reform side.

An American paper proposes that congress create titles and will them at a regulated price list. A tycoon would be fixed at a sum which only such millionaires as Vanderbilt, Gould and Astor could command.

Mapking a Coastline.

We commend the following excellent description of the manner in which the boundary line between Canada and the United States was made. One of these men, who has been at the head of Main street, while at West Lorne several of the wood and iron are in sight.

The boundary line between the United States and British America is marked by stone cairns, iron pillars, earth mounds, and timber posts. A stone cairn is 7 1/2 feet by 8 feet, an earth mound 7 feet by 14 feet, an iron pillar 8 feet high, 4 inches square at the bottom and 4 inches at the top, timber posts 5 feet high and 8 inches square. There are 352 of these between the Lake of the Woods and the base of the Rocky Mountains. That portion of the boundary which lies east and west of the Red River valley is marked by stone pillars at even mile intervals. The British place one every two miles, and the United States one every two British miles. They are from four to six feet high, and are made of iron, steel, or brass, and are 1 1/2 inches in thickness, in the form of a truncated pyramid, eight feet high, eight inches square at the bottom and four inches square at the top. They are placed on a level surface, and are so placed that the line of sight from the top of one pillar to the top of the next pillar is in a straight line. Upon the opposite face are cast in letters two inches high the words "CONVENTION OF LONDON" and "OCTOBER 20, 1818." The inscriptions are about four feet six inches from the base, and are raised upon a base of stone or iron. At the meeting of the city of Chicago at the other evening, there was hot competition for new No. 78, and the bids ran up to a large sum. It was finally knocked down to Broderick. All the prosby were so anxious to get that particular street, he was asked by Bro. C. "Why because it's just next to Bro. M.?" he replied.
