THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

A considerable portion of the afternoon was devoted to immigration, the chief part of the time being given up to the ladies. Miss Rye, Mrs. Burt, Mrs. Joyce and others read papers on the work of bringing to this country children of both sexes and servant girls. An interesting discussion followed in which both Englishmen and Canadians took part.

The Leader of the Opposition Takes the Stand-An Adjournment for Another

When the bribery commission opened yesterday forenoon the benches in the court-room were filled by prominent politicians and their friends, who had come, as they said, to see "justice administered." Alex. M. Burgess, deputy minister of the interior, and J. Lorne McDougall were examined as to the payment of monies to Manning & Co. Nothing of any importance was elicited from these witnesses. Then S. H. Blake jumped up and asked for a stay of proceedings, as he could not secure the attendance of necessary witnesses, but Mr. Meredith and Mr. Morris

Justice Proudfoot said the charge would be investigated.

Dr. Carnagie, M.P.P., took the stand to answer some questions that had been asked him by the Port H. pe Guide.

David Creighton, M.P.P., North Grey, said that he had never heard of the bribery until Mr. Mowat announced it in the house.

Charles McIntosh produced telegrams he had received from one Lynch, and said that he never had any communication with Bunting, Wilkinson, Kukland or Meek.

W. R. Meredith, leader of the opposition, said that meetings were held in the library of the Mail for the simple reason that they had no other place to meet since the downfall of the U.E. club. Then rose John Shields and asked that his subpoena be discharged, as he was at considerable inconvenience attending these sittings. Mr. Blake granted his request, The commission then adjourned until Oct. 2nd, when the charges against the ministry will be ready for hearing.

The Rev. Dr. Potts, an eminent Metho dist divine, well known in this city, has been interviewed by a Montreal reporter anent his observations and experiences dur-ing a tour through Great Britain and Ireland. The reverend gentleman evidently traveled with his eyes and ears open, and has much that is interesting to say of men and things in the countries which he visited, and most of what he says is uttered in a tone of liberality that does credit to his head and heart. He speaks of such men as the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon and Cardinal Manning, of different religious opinions from himself, in a broad and appreciative pirit. It is all the more to be regretted, herefore, that when he comes to discuss politics and politicians he is less generous, and in fact positively unjust. As a rule clergymen do not make happy colitical critics. Their standpoint, or their habit of thought seems unfavorable. Dr. Potts is not one of the exceptions to this rule. He proceeds upon the principle of "I do not like you Dr. Fell." With strange inconsistency he reoices in the improved condition of the Irish farmers under the operation of the reformed land law, but denounces Parnell and his lieutenante, to whom is due the very improvement in which he rejoices. The Parnellites have their faults and weaknesses, like all politicians, but there is no equal number of politicians upon earth who can boast of having accomplished as much with such slender resources, in the face of such tremendous hostility, or at greater cost of personal discomfort and sacrifice It is surely time that this fact was recognized by liberal men throughout the Eng Dr. Potts of course believes that "by right to issue liquor licenses no unpre-

While asserting their right to run their own business, nearly all of the city pub-lishers have made no distinction between unionists and non-unionists, but have given such employment as is at their disposal without humiliating the men. The Mail company is a striking exception. They have prepared a cast-iron agreement, binding their men to never join a typographical or other union, knights of labor, trade or labor council, or other organization of such description. These facts speak for then selves, and do not require to be emphasized. The tyranny of such exactions must revolt every man who prizes the liberty of the citizen, and detests white slavery. Now it cannot be shown that there was any abuse of the wine and beer license at the Industrial last year, that calls for the exon of these beverages grounds, and which or thirsty parel the grounds, and which forces dry or thirsty people who do not care about the slush sold as temperance drinks, to go at least 300 yards beyond the grounds and buy another ticket. There is altogether to much gush about the suppressionist tectotallers, and it is time that temperance men who believe in tempering philanthrephy with justice of common sense act like men, and do something to check the wave of intemperate tectotallism which threatens to do almost much harm by undermining the public liberties as the curse of whisky has almost much harm by undermining the public liberties as the curse of whisky has done in producing intemperance in drink, and its outcome in crime and poverty. In securing any great good there should be a minimum of interference with private liberty. The violation of this principle tends to weaken that regard for justice and freedom which lies at the base of a people's freedom. Tyranny of kings is over; the growth of the tranny of mobs and of gush has begun and the good citizen is called to a new duty.

The industrial fair grounds have been very orderly in the past, and ordinary care could preserve them so in the future, without unwarrantable interference with the rights of thousands of good citizens, such as that which has been instigated by as that which has been instigated by tyrannical, or thoughtless and mistaken worshippers of the cheap so-called virtue Phenomenal success is becoming the rule among newspapers that are successful at all. It is not the long bank account, neither is it the political patronage that makes a paper. It is pluck, energy, and native ability that do the business. The New York Morning Journal has struck the key the balance of trade in our favor (that is, of sending more wealth out of the countryof sending more wealth out of the country than comes in), which Protectionist—if he than comes in), which Protectionst—it he is not one of those people who are blind, because they do not wish to see—must remember it was promised would most assuredly follow the adoption of a protective tariff.

ALFRED F. JURY.

To the Editor of the World. SIR: It seems to me that all this fuss about short sermons is very childish. But what do we want sermons at all for unless they are of some service to us? And if 'sugar' is like a cup of coffee in the same they are of service why heed they be so very short? We don't growl at sitting an nour and a half to hear a lecture if we like the subject and it is handled well; and we should make a great outcry if we had less than two hours at a concert, or the theatre, but an hour and a half devoted to the worship of God and a consideration of His message to us is unbearable. I do not say there are no tiresome preachers, but for these against George Herbert give the hearer a receipt. "He that water mattered these against George Herbert give the hearer a receipt. "He that gets patience and the blessing which preachers conclude with hath not lost his pains." As a rule, however, we have good preachers, men who speak from knowledge, experience and study of the things that belong to our peace. Depend upon it if the sermon be to very distasteful it is oftener because the earer is out of tune with the subject, than because the preacher does not sound the spiritual trumpet fairly well.

When Thermometers Burst, Meat Cooked in the Sun and Rivers Dried up.

From the London Standard. People who are already complaining the heat while the summer is scarcely month old, says XIXeme Siecle, should remember the extraordinary weather of former years. In 627 the heat was so great in France and Germany that all springs dried up; water became so scarce that many people died of thirst. In 879 work in the fields had to be given up; agricultural laborers persisting in the work were struck down in a few minutes, so powerful was the sun. In 993 the sun's rays were so fierce that vegetation burned up as under the action of fire. In 1000 rivers ran dry under the protracted heat; the fish were left dry in heaps and putrified in a few hours. The stench that ensued produced the plague. Men and animals venturing in the sun in the summer of 1022 fell down dying, the throat parched to a tinder and the blood rushing to the

In 1132 not only did the rivers dry up, but the ground cracked on every side and became baked to the hardness of stone. The Rhine in Alsace nearly drie In Speaking world, at least. The Rev. Dr. Potts of course believes that "by their fruits shall ye know them." On his own showing the Parnellites have brought forth good fruits, and are consequently entitled to the popular confidence which they enjoy.

Way Not Die in Bed?

Why should Canadians seek death in the Soudan? Death will find them soon enough in the Rapids of the Ottawa, amid the dangers of the bush, or, haply, even in their beds. They have no quarrel with the poor Soudaries, who are merely doing, according to their lights, what every people would do under the circumstances. If Gen. Gordon is in danger he is there of his own free will, and in the service of a people amply able to secure him. No glory are asked to go there merely as hewers of the poople and between the circumstances are seed to go there merely as hewers of light wine and beer licenses he granted at the circumstances. No glory are asked to go there merely as hewers of wood and drawers of water, and will be regarded as foreign menials by the regular troops. A quaint philosopher once said that men are constantly guilty of three amazing follies. They climb trees to shake down fruit that would fall if left alone; they run after women who would run after them if left unsorght; and they go to war to get killed when a little patience would enable them to die at home without exertion. We commend this philosophy to messieurs the voyageurs.

In twenty years the French railways have reduced their capital charge by $18,175 per mile, while increasing their net profit from 4.67 to 6.4 per cent. on their outlay, and the linglish railways in the same time have in creased their capital charge by $46,085 per mile, while only raising their net earning from 3.99 to 4.29 per cent. This difference attributed by Mr. F. R. Conder, C.E., to the fact that French companies make use of canal for the carrying of heavy unremunerative freight.

for the carrying of heavy unremunerative for the carrying of heavy unremunerative freight.

It is interesting to compare the railway statistics of the United States and Great Britain. In the former country at the end of 1838 there were 187,185 miles of railway in operation, the actual cost of construction and equipment being $5,930,409,624, or $55,342 per mile, and the total capital invested $6,895,664,359. In Great Britain the milage is given at 18,681 miles, and the total capital at about $4,524,000,000, or an average of nearly $250,000 of capital to the mile. The total carnings of United States roads were $770,255,762, or $720 per mile, while those of the British roads were $355,311,350, or $19,000 per mile. The net receipts of the American railways were $280,218,696, or about $2200 per mile, and those of the British roads $168,468,540, or over $9000 per mile. It will thus be seen that while the British railways at first cost a great deal more per mile than the American, their net income is proportionately greater. The process of stock watering has been very much more employed in the states than it has in Great Britain, where the rights of the public in relation to the railways are indeed better protected generally.

MacHINERY FOR SUGAR-MAKING.—A conprotected generally.

MacHINERY FOR SUGAR-MARING.—A conference of workmen engaged in the engineering trade, especially with reference to the sugar manufacture, was held in Liverpool recently, at which a resolution was passed to the effect, that having regard to the fact that the machinery used in producing cane sugar is made by British workmen, whilst the machinery for the production of beet root sugar is made by foreign workmen, they strongly condemn the foreign export bounty system as highly dangerous to home labor, and as instrumental in transferring the employment from British to foreign workmen. They call upon the government to provide a remedy for this evil, which has been strongly condemned by mass meetings throughout the country.

A pout upon the red lips of Gerald Sin clair's young wife—unmistakably a pout— for though a wife almost two years, her fond, indulgent husband had for the first time said nay to an openly expressed wish. The fancy ball of the season, a grand and fashionable assembly, was to take place during his absence - and he had

Certainly, Niobe had no reason to feel ashamed of this one of her children. But Gerald Sinclair had only stooped and kissed away the glistening drops, in a half hurried manuer, perhaps to hide his awakening re-

"Never mind, little wife. I'll make it up to you another time."

Then he was gone; but she sat still, turning and re turning her wedding ring, with eyes bent upon it. It was a curious ring—a solid band, set with five large diamonds. It had been her charm, her talisman, not to be taken from her finger until soul and body had parted; but this morning it had lost its charm. If it failed to scatter the clouds, it failed to bring back the sun-Even when the hour came round fo

"And why need that make any difference?" pursued Mrs. Martin, a bewitching little widow some few years her friend's senior. "I will share my escort with you—Count Belzoni!"

"Well, why don't you abswer?" continued Mrs. Martin. "Will you go?"

"No, no," she replied, trying to speak with firm decision. "Besides, I do not think that Gerald admires the count."

A pout upon the red lips of Gerald Sinclair's young wife—unmistakably a poutfor though a wife almost two years, her fond, indulgent husband had for the first time said nay to an openly expressed wish.

The fancy ball of the season, a grand and fashionable assembly, was to take place during his absence—and he had said that he should prefer she would not attend.

She was only 20. Let this much be said in extenuation of the two great tears that rose to the brown eyes and slowly grickled down the pretty face, splash-

Certainly, Niobe had no reason to feel ashamed of this one of her children. But Gerald Sinclair had only stooped and kissed away the glistening drops, in a half hurried manner, perhaps to hide his awakening remorse.

"Never mind, little wife. I'll make it up to you another time."

Then he was gone; but she sat still, turning and re turning her wedding ring, with eyes bent upon it. It was a curious ring—a solid band, set with five large diamonds. It had been her charm, her talisman, not to be taken from her finger until soul and body had parted; but this morning it had lost its obarm. If it failed to scatter the clouds, it failed to bring back the sunshine.

Her husband, entering, approached her, but she motioned him back.

"Gerald," she said, "I have a bitter confession to make. It is fitting that you should hear it now."

He listened, with arms folded across his breast, while she told him all the story of that fated night.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern science has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. malady. This is none the less starting when it is remembered that not five per cent of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on catarrh.—Montreal Star.

THE GENUINE PIANO, MANUFACTURED BY RAINER & CO.,

Guelph, Ontario. The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 9th ay of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, in connection with his son, will continue to manufacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F Rainer is the sole inventor.

These Pianos have now been before the public for 22 years, and have always ranked among the very best, and are celebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of act on, prompt elastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. The most complete and unbroken list on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplomas received at the principal exhibitions in Canada—Montreal, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and London. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, in 1876, we secured a redal and diploma for our piano. The great favor with which the cross-scale pianos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to imitate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale piano to see that the name of "Rainer & Son" is on each instrument. We make the Upright and Square Grand Pianos.

RIVAL EXPRESS COMPANIES.

American express company has been night was a heated discussion on Manager proken by the appearance of a second in Hill's application for a liquor license for the field in the shape of the Dominion Ex-press company, whose head quarters are to the public that the application is now press company, whose head quarters are in this city and which began active operations in this part of Ontario over two weeks ago. The effect of the rival company upon the old concern, for the Canadian and American companies worked together as one institution, is already felt by the business community. The American company is actually putting in some new doors at its Yonge street offices, rearranging its desks and has placed a supply of seented scaling wax, for the convenience of its patrons at the counter. The public is also surprised at the gracious manner in which they are received when they enter. But the new departure is still more noticeable in the rates, which have been reduced to all points in regard to which competition exists: For instance, the rate to Oshawa, Brockville and Montreal was $1.50 per 100 pounds under the morpoly, now it is $1.30; to Peterboro where it was formerly a dollar, the rate is now 80 cents; and Lindsay, which was formerly 87 cents is now 60 cents; and corresponding changes have been made to many other points. The Dominion express company as yet only compete for traffic east of Toronto, but as soon as the present agreement between the American. express company and the Credit Valley expires they will take over the business of that road and Toronto citizens will then have the beneft of competition two ways and a reduction in rates. There is lots of room for two express companies in this country as well as there is no reason why both cannot make money and at the same time give the public a good service at a reasonable rate, which heretofore they have not had.
