NON-STOP TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT BECOMES ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Toronto Street Railway Workers Vote to Postpone Strike Action One Week

GERMANY'S REPLY TO ALLIED DEMANDS A GENERAL PROTEST

Declares That Peace of Justice Solemnly Pledged Has Been Violated.

TRIAL OF GUILTY

Proposes That an International Court of Neutrals Judge Facts, Mete Punishment.

Ottawa, June 15.—The following summary of the German reply to the peace treaty was received here this afternoon by the government and issued to the Canadian Press, Limited.

Paris, June 15.—The German reply and counter-proposal to the conditions of peace laid down to them at Versailles on May 7 were made public here today. The reply covers 135 pages and includes a covering letter by Brockdorff-Rantzau of May 29, which has already been published, and a second section of comments following the main outline of the original draft treaty.

To separate documents on legal and financial questions are included as part of the general reply. Both English and French translations have been furnished in pamphlet form, the former totalling about sixty thousand words.

The Germans maintain that the allied and associated powers have forsaken the peace of justice to which they solemnly pledged themselves in the armistice negotiations and concluded a peace of might, in which all the principles quoted at length from speeches of the statesmen of allied and associated powers have been violated.

They protest against the proposed terms individually and collectively, demand a return to the original armistice conditions, and request negotiations and state that Germany expects justice on a basis of equality and reciprocity.

Alleges Flagrant Contradictions

The reply begins with a detailed analysis of the legal basis of peace, alleges a flagrant series of contradictions to this basis and points out that the results would be the complete enslavement of the German people and the betrayal of all the world's cherished hopes of peace. In the counter-proposal Germany demands immediate admission to the league of nations as part of the spirit of the armistice agreement and as necessary conditions for the peace.

REPLY TO GERMANY READY TO PRESENT; ARE GIVEN FIVE DAYS

Provision Made for Big Reduction in Military Occupation—Civil Commission Will Sit in the Occupied Territory.

Paris, June 15.—Germany is to be allowed an army of 200,000 men for three years. This is one of the changes in the peace terms which has been sedulously kept secret.

Paris, June 15.—The Council of Four finished its labors yesterday on the reply to the Germans, which will go to Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau Monday. The last day permitted them for acceptance or rejection of the treaty is June 21.

If the German reply is in the negative, the allied armies will start to march into Germany the following day and a new blockade will be immediately effective.

If the Germans express their willingness to sign the document, the preliminary work will probably take place Monday in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles.

The changes in the text of the treaty will not be communicated in a preliminary way to the allied powers of the inter-allied conference. The Council of Four, however, received on legal and financial questions are included as part of the general reply. Both English and French translations have been furnished in pamphlet form, the former totalling about sixty thousand words.

JAIL BREAKING PROVES INFECTIOUS

While granting the evident truth of the trite saying "stone walls" and "iron bars," a too constant repetition of the proof is apt to pall. On Saturday morning two wards of Victoria Industrial School escaped, entered a dwelling occupied by W. Livingstone, about a mile from the building, stole $100 in money, clothes, boots, many other minor articles of clothing and a .22 rifle with cartridges. The strong search party organized as soon as the escape was made known did not find the fugitives until about eleven o'clock Saturday night. One boy, finding himself trapped, leveled the rifle at the nearest pursuer, who was shot at pointblank range. The bullet penetrated the man's body in the region of the right lung, and after examination by Dr. Serson, he was removed to Grace Hospital in a serious condition. Both boys were caught after a struggle, and taken to Toronto Jail, and providing that they are then in custody, will appear in the police court today. W. E. Pettenger, the victim of the shooting, is sports director for the school, and is adjudged a valuable member of the staff. In the struggle, immediately preceding capture, one of the youthful desperadoes broke the butt of the rifle by a blow aimed at another member of the search party.

Feeble Minded.

Interviewed by The World last night, Mr. Farrier, superintendent of the institution, said that the lad responsible for the shooting was Cyrus Gallagher, a feeble-minded boy, probably not strictly responsible for his actions. The other youth, Ivan Jones, reported sick during a morning parade, and was given permission to rest under the trees on the grounds. He took advantage of this to join Gallagher in the shooting. Jones, who recently sent for a farm home on parole, but was returned to the school, because of numerous petty thefts.

The Mimico school was not intended for feeble-minded boys, but because of the lack of any other place to send such "unfortunates," a large number have been sent to Victoria.

FIRST NON-STOP FLIGHT ACROSS ATLANTIC ACHIEVED

THE TRANSATLANTIC FLYERS.
Capt. John Alcock (on the right) and Lieut. A. W. Brown, who arrived safely in Ireland Sunday morning, after piloting their Vickers-Vimy plane 1,850 miles from Newfoundland to Ireland. They won the Daily Mail $50,000 prize, and made the trip in a little better than two miles a minute.

Captain Alcock and Lieutenant Brown, in Vimy-Vickers Biplane, Arrive From Newfoundland in Ireland -- Trip Was Made in 16 Hours 12 Minutes -- Had Terrible Journey.

London, June 15.—The final goal of all the ambitions which flying men have ventured to dream since the Wright Bros. first rose from the earth in a heavier-than-air machine, was realized this morning when two young British officers, Captain John Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, landed on the Irish coast after the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic ocean.

Their voyage was without accident and without unforeseen incident, so far as can be learned. It was a straight away clean-cut flight achieved in sixteen hours and twelve minutes, from Newfoundland to Clifden, Ireland, a distance of more than 1900 miles.

But the brief and modest description which comes from the aviators at Clifden tells of an adventurous and amazingly hazardous enterprise. Fog and mist hung over the North Atlantic and the Vickers-Vimy biplane climbed and dove, struggling to extricate itself from the folds of the airwaves, to reach the earth. At times the two navigators found themselves flying upside down only ten feet above the water. Before landing Alcock circled the wireless station, seeking the best spot to reach the earth. But no suitable ground was found, so he chanced it in a bog.

The wireless staff rushed to the aid of the aviators. They found Brown dazed and Alcock temporarily deafened by the force of the impact. As soon as they were able to be escorted to the wireless station they telegraphed the news to their friends; then they had breakfast.

"That is the best way to cross the Atlantic," said Lieut. Brown after he had eaten.

Had Terrible Journey

Describing the experiences of himself and Lieutenant Brown, Captain Alcock, in a message from Galway to The Daily Mail says:

"We had a terrible journey. The wonder is we are here at all. We scarcely saw the sun, moon or stars. For hours we saw none of them. The fog was very dense and as time went on we had to descend to within 800 feet of the sea.

"For four hours our machine was covered with a sheet of ice caused by frozen sleet. At another time the fog was so dense that my speed indicator would not work and for a few minutes it was alarming.

Did Comic Stunts.

"We looped the loop, I do believe, and did a very steep spiral. We did some very comic stunts, for I had no sense of horizon.

"The winds were favorable all the way, northwest and, at times, south-west. We said in Newfoundland that we would do the trip in 15 hours, but we never thought we should. An hour and a half before we saw land we had no certain idea where we were, but we believed we were at Galway, or thereabouts.

"Our delight in seeing Eastal Island and Tarbolton Island, five miles west of Clifden, was great. The people who knew who we were, and thought we were scouts looking for Alcock.

"We encountered no unforeseen conditions. We did not suffer from cold or exhaustion, except looking over the side; then the sleet covered bits out of our faces. We drank coffee and ale and ate sandwiches and chocolate.

"Our flight has shown that the Atlantic flight is practicable, but I think it should be done, not with an airplane or seaplane, but with flying boats.

"We had plenty of reserve fuel left, using only two-thirds of our supply.

"The only thing that upset me was to see the machine at the end get damaged. From above, the bog looked like a level field, but the machine sank into it to the axle and fell over onto her side."

Didn't Do So Badly.

The Daily Mail's correspondent found Alcock and Brown at Clifden packing their gear into a huge sack. Alcock's face lit up with a smile when he was congratulated by the correspondent. Brown, who was bending over, packing, said quite:

"We didn't do so badly, did we?"

Alcock said, with a laugh: "I am not at all at fault. In Brown, however, confessed, 'I am a bit fagged out.'"

The correspondent says Brown's eyes were slightly bloodshot, but that otherwise the men looked as if they had not traveled across the ocean.

When the officers, operators and soldiers from the wireless plant rushed toward the machine after it landed, Alcock said:

"This is the Vickers-Vimy machine. We have just come from Newfoundland. The little crowd gasped, and then cheered and cheered again. Alcock, in

The Men Who Made the Flight From Newfoundland to Ireland

Special to The Toronto World.

St. John's, Nfld., June 15.—Capt. John Alcock, D.S.C., and his navigator-companion, Lieut. A. W. Brown, R. N., are Englishmen, typical of the representative progressives of the allied services—thorough, resourceful, daring and modest to the extreme. They have yet to learn the magic of press agenting, and as a result the reading public knows infinitely less about them than they do of Harry Hawker, Ruth Law, or a score or more of flyers.

In aviation circles it is considerably different, and there stories are told with Alcock as the hero that, if he would but assume the role for which he was qualified, would quickly put him in the Douglas Fairbanks class.

Besides being a great air fighter and a pilot of parts, "Jack" Alcock has an enviable rating as an inventor and master mechanic. He enjoys, indeed, the unique position of being the pilot in the air service of the entente powers who has designed, and with his own hands built, a flying machine of his own—a biplane disclosing distinctly original features—while on active service. This achievement was written up to his credit in the official reports of 1916 from the Asia Minor front, the Alcock scout machine being conceived and constructed in off-hours intervals between bombing expeditions from the Mudros base, directed chiefly against the Turkish fortresses protecting Adrianople and Constantinople.

"The Alcock I was speaking about was just about the speediest little fighting scout of her day," the satisfied creator admits with pardonable pride. "Her outstanding feature was unobstructed visibility in all directions, and she was one big success if I do say it. All the scouts they have been building since then have been very much on her basic principles."

A Busy Flier in the Days of Heavy Fighting.

At that time Alcock was with the British Royal Naval Air Force, before the creation of the amalgamated Royal Air Force. It was his pleasant portion to go up daily either with a big Handley-Page bomber to drop explosive calling cards on Turco-Teutonic military depots, or else with a scout machine to engage one or more (and preferably more) of the German air fighters who lent their machine to the Imperial and Immortal soldier to the Turkish partner. He was one of the first aviators to bomb Adrianople, in addition to which he is officially credited with having accounted for seven Hun planes, according to the rules of the game, thereby winning his D.S.C.

His last duel in the clouds has not likely soon to be forgotten, for just as he had crashed his not inconsequential antagonist and was on the point of calling it a day and speeding superwarwards, his propeller burst and his machine fell.

THREE BOYS DROWN IN HUMBER RIVER

Work of Rescuers Fails to Bring to Life Young Italians.

Three boys, aged 9, 11 and 13, were drowned yesterday afternoon in the Humber near Weston Sanatorium. A fourth lad, who was rescued and recovered consciousness, told his rescuers that three other boys had overcome and efforts were immediately made to recover the bodies. When the bodies were brought ashore continued work failed to bring back life. The bodies were removed to W. J. Ward's undertaking establishment at Weston and an inquest will be held there tomorrow.

It is stated that two of the boys are called Simone and resided at 2062 East Queen street and the other, Amodeo, lived at 1422 West Queen street.

CAR IN COLLISION TURNS SOMERSAULT

Two People Injured—Driver Held for Heavy Bail.

Two people were injured and two motor cars badly damaged at 145 Sunday afternoon in a collision at the corner of Dunvegan road and West Heath street. Mrs. Catherine Brynes, 54 Harrison street, Detroit, sustained a fractured collar bone, while Richard Manser, of the same address, who was riding in the same car as Mrs. Brynes, suffered a broken ankle. The injured were removed by the police ambulance to St. Michael's Hospital. Simon Ziegler, 356 Yonge street, driver of the car which injured the two people, was held responsible for the accident by the police and was taken to No. 5 police station and charged with criminal negligence. Bail of $1,000 was accepted for Ziegler's release. The police story of the accident was that Richard Brynes, who was driving his car west on Heath street, hearing the corner of Dunvegan road, so he told the police, he saw a motor car coming south on Dunvegan road, at a fast rate of speed. The car was driven by the same driver, who was unable to give a statement. The accident to proceed west, Mr. Brynes turned south on Dunvegan road. He was unable to give a statement, whether the car was on Dunvegan road clear of the south-bound automobile, which struck Brynes' car with such force that it turned it completely over, hurling the occupants on to the pavement.

STREET RAILWAY MEN GIVE COMPANY ONE MORE WEEK

Refuse Board of Conciliation and Give Further Time for Decision Pending Permission to Strike From the International.

Toronto will not be faced with a duplicate of the 1917 street railway strike for a week at least. This was the decision arrived at by a special meeting of the street railway employees in the Star Theatre on Sunday morning. It was stated by Business Agent J. J. Gibbons, immediately after the meeting, that the company would be given one week to make a settlement which would be satisfactory to the men. They have completely rejected the company's offer of a board of conciliation.

The meeting was one of the best attended of Division 113, which has been held in some time. It was not without its exciting features, too, for at 2:10 Sunday morning a number of the men rushed out of the theatre shouting that a strike had been declared. The vote had been taken on whether or not to accept the company's offer of the board of conciliation, and it had been felt that the offer would be accepted, but apparently inspired by some other motives, the vote went dead against the acceptance.

Not Duly Sanctioned.

This action on the part of the men meant strike, as far as they were concerned, but they were informed that the organization had not the proper sanction from the international association, and that if they ceased work their strike would not be recognized by the parent organization. Then the fireworks started, and motions, amendments and sub-amendments were hurried in a steady stream at the de-

BROTHERHOOD TO ACT AGAINST RY. STRIKERS

Officials of International Railway Workers Say Winnipeg Strikers Will Be Dismissed From Unions—Strike a Failure.

Winnipeg, Man., June 15.—Definite information as to the number of running trades union employees who "withdrew their services" was unobtainable tonight, but officers of the International Brotherhoods and of railway companies expressed belief that the movement was a failure and that no serious disturbance of traffic would be expected. Vice-president James Murdoch of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen admitted, however, that "a considerable number from all three railways" seemingly had gone out. He thought the Canadian government railways would be most affected. Other union officers declared that 1,600 union men could and would be used to replace "illegal strikers" if necessary.

Following up his announcement that the international unions would maintain proper contract obligations with railway companies under any circumstances, Mr. Murdoch declared that every man who struck would be disqualified. Where the majority of strikers are on strike or a lodge refuses to expel striking members, Brotherhood charters will be promptly withdrawn, he stated.

LAD DROWNED WHILE SAVING YOUNG GIRL

Son of Mt. Dennis Resident Lost His Life in Humber Dam.

A young man, seventeen years of age, son of Mr. McNeil's of Golden avenue, was drowned at the dam on the Humber on Saturday while attempting to save a girl who had got out of her depth. A small crowd gathered above the dam and when the girl called for help everyone swam to her assistance. The boy's absence was noted after the excitement consequent to the rescue had died down, and his companions thought that he had gone home. Later his body was found and removed to Toronto Free Hospital, where the authorities worked for about an hour and a half trying to save his life. It is not known whether cramps caused his death. The girl was saved by those present.

ENDLESS STREAM OF AUTOS.
The wheeled traffic over the Bloor street viaduct yesterday in both directions was the heaviest on record according to the statement of many residents of the Danforth district. From an early hour until late in the evening an almost endless stream of autos and crowded street cars passed across the new cross-town thoroughfare proceeding east and west.

MILITARY CHAPLAIN PREACHES.
Rev. T. W. S. T. Andrews, chaplain of the 12th Battalion, delivered a special sermon on Sunday morning at Danforth Methodist Church. The sermon was on "The Mosaic Law," in which he showed that very little difference existed in the days of the great law giver, as regards labor questions, from the present time. He said that the Mosaic law was not intended to be a permanent one, but a remedy to be eliminated as the spirit of selfishness, the curse of the world, was removed.

TORBAY L.O.L. MEETS.

Both men were among those who were badly burned by steam and hurt by flying debris.

Although the churches were well attended at the morning services there were but small congregations in the majority of churches in the evening, and open air services were held in a number of parishes in the east end.

SCORE'S PALM BEACH SUITINGS AND SUMMER TOGGERY.
The royal road to comfort on a hot day is to be dressed for it—and the day breaks satisfactorily for the man who has in his wardrobe a Score's Palm Beach suit—and all the more so should he have foresight to select the cloth from the Score's excellent assortment of these favorite weaves and have it made to measure by these same prices—and with the same good judgment for quality—correct style and values select the summer haberdashery at the house that quality built. ONLY COOL SPOT WAS LAKE CENTRE

Yesterday Beat Nearly All Records for Heat, All for Ice Cream.

If the old saying, "You cannot eat in the heat," be true then yesterday there must have been a big saving effected in the Sunday butcher's bill of Toronto households.

Probably the coolest place in and around Toronto was in the middle of the lake, but to get there it was necessary to take a steamer, and it was a very difficult task to get a few inches of space on any of the boats.

Why is it women, to all outward appearances, do not feel the heat so badly as men?

Also the heat was felt more yesterday than on Saturday, it is steady and registered 94, and yesterday 93, but owing to the humidity Sunday was by far the most oppressive day.

During the last warm spell Saturday's heat was equaled on June 3, but on June 5 to 9, so yesterday, which fell on June 13, is the second warmest day of this year.

ASKED FOR AUTO TO CARRY WHISKEY

Would Not Sell "Ivanhoe" to Detectives Unless Motored.

Men whom the police allege are interested in the "bootlegging" traffic in Toronto are getting so independent in transacting liquor orders that they want a motor car provided to drive them to their hiding places and a second motor car to be held in readiness to haul the whiskey back into the city from the county. This was one of the experiences Inspector Bond and Plainclothesman Ward and Scott were up against Saturday night before they could make a purchase of "moonshine" and arrest the man who was selling it.

Saturday night one of the police "decoys" made the above arrangements with Joseph McConnell of Jarvis street. One of the policemen from West Dundas street division was disguised as a chauffeur and with one of the old police Fords drove to the corner of King and Yonge streets with the police witness, and met McConnell, the police say, agreed to sell twelve bottles of whiskey for $45.

The disguised police officer drove the car to the corner of Woodbine and Danforth avenues, where the whiskey was to be hauled to the city. Unknown to McConnell, this car contained Inspectors Bond, Ward and Scott.

Twelve Bottles

Driving north to the county, McConnell instructed his chauffeur to stay on the road side with the car. McConnell disappeared in the bush and the police attempted to follow him, but he refused to go further unless the driver of the car went back to the motor. Some minutes later McConnell returned to the car with a sack containing twelve bottles of whiskey. He placed them in the car then asked for the money. The driver said McConnell would get the money when they drove back to the second motor car at Danforth avenue.

When the car drove back to the one in which Bond, Ward and Scott were waiting, McConnell became suspicious and attempted to jump out of the car but the driver caught McConnell running along and arrested him.

McConnell was locked up in No. 2 division charged with a breach of the Ontario temperance act. The police say that the whiskey they purchased was alcohol mixed with different colorings. It was labeled "Ivanhoe" Scotch whiskey, a brand which the police in the down-town sections claim, the bootleggers christened themselves.

United Cigar Store Official Held on Charge of Theft

Percy R. Tilston was arrested at Clarkson Sunday afternoon charged with theft of $400 in money from the United Cigar stores of Toronto. Tilston was arrested by County Constable Routledge and held until a detective brought him back to Toronto. Tilston, according to the detectives, was employed as secretary and treasurer at the head office of the firm.

LABOR NEWS PACKERS AND EMPLOYEES SETTLE DIFFERENCES

At a special conference held in E. N. Compton's office on Saturday morning the technical difficulties which had arisen between the packers and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers' Union were amicably settled.

The packers claimed that the award was likely to be too broad in its interpretation and application. For instance, the wage increase would likely to have involved superintendents, foremen and others who had not been included in the award. They wanted the award to be limited to the three classes fully enumerated, and the danger of any further trouble between the packers and their employes is now over.

Lou Braithwaite, business agent of the union, when spoken to by a reporter for The World on Saturday, said: "Under the circumstances and regarding the short life of the organization we consider we have done well."

CLERKS AMBITIOUS

The new Toronto local of retail clerks held a well attended meeting at the Labor Temple yesterday afternoon, and the meeting unanimously passed a resolution to fight for a minimum salary of $25 a week. ### THREE MEN ARRESTED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Joseph Goodman, 184 Glen road; Joseph Himelstein, 138 Markham street, and Thomas Kazel, George street, were arrested Saturday afternoon by Detectives Mitchell and Wicklett, charged with "conspiring to defraud their creditors." The police say that during the years 1917-1918 the accused defrauded their creditors to the extent of nearly $40,000.

Goodman and Himelstein were directors of the Toronto Sanitary Bedding Company and the Antiseptic Bedding Company of East Queen street. In the year 1918 Goodman, who was the president, and Himelstein, vice-president, assigned to their creditors, Oscar Wade, assignee, of 22 West Front street, was appointed to audit the books of the insolvent company.

Following the examination of the books, complaint was made to detective headquarters, and warrants were taken out for the arrest of the former members of the firm.

Goodman is held in custody, the crown demanding bail of $10,000 for his release.

Himelstein's bail was placed at $2000. Kazel was the bookkeeper for the company, and bail of $2000 was demanded for his freedom until the preliminary hearing in police court on Monday morning.

THIEVES STEAL CAR AND HEAVY SAFE

Consumers' Gasoline Service Station Entered Presumably by Young Boys.

Forcing the front door window of the Consumers' gasoline service station, corner of Oakwood and St. Clair avenues, early Sunday morning, thieves entered the building and stole a money safe weighing over 300 pounds. The thieves drove up to the building in a stolen motor car and it is the belief of the police that they were young boys. On entering the premises they dragged the safe to the automobile. They were unable to get it into the motor, so they fastened it on to the side running board.

ABANDONED BOOTY

Disturbed by milkmen in the vicinity of St. Clair avenue, the culprits drove the stolen car rapidly north on the Vaughan road to the city limits. Here they abandoned both the stolen car and safe. The police were notified at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and they brought the car and safe back to the police station. The motor car was claimed, but the safe is still in Osgoode street.

Just how much money was in the safe, police officers were unable to state. It had not been opened by the thieves, and the police did not consider it necessary for them to make inquiries.

REVOLUTION CHARGED BY CITIZENS' PAPER

Winnipeg Anti-Strike Organ Gives Histories of Big Strike Leaders.

The Winnipeg Citizen, the anti-strike newspaper published in Winnipeg, has issued a special number devoted to a review of the history of the industrial conflict which began a month ago. Its leading article is a "write-up" of the men said to be leading figures in the strike movement. It reads as follows:

"For nearly a month all eyes in Canada have been turned upon Winnipeg. For nearly a month the citizens of Winnipeg have been with a very genuine measure of success, against a determined attempt to establish Bolshevism and the rule of the soviet here, and then to expand it all over this Dominion.

"In the fight, the citizens of Winnipeg have contended against great odds. When thru the machinations of a number of confessed Bolshevists in the Winnipeg Labor Temple, between twenty and thirty thugs were tricked and betrayed into striking, the cause went right to the heart of the great body of middle-class citizens whom the strike leaders sought to deprive of the very necessities of life, of food and water, and of light, police protection and fire protection.

"It aroused them to organization and to action, and it sounded a note of warning thruout Canada as to what might be expected all over the Dominion if this effort to fasten Bolshevism upon Winnipeg were not decisively defeated. From the moment that the general tie-up took place a dispute between some metal workers and their employers, the general strike was recognized as an attempt at revolution—and the citizens proceeded to combat it as such.

"The revolution in Winnipeg was the outcome of a Bolshevist movement directed by Calgary last March, and directed by the I.W.W. organization in the United States. That convention elected a "red five" executive for Canada. One of these is Victor Midgley of Vancouver, a notorious agitator, whose expulsion from Vancouver was demanded by returned soldiers last August, when he and others led a one-day general strike in that city in a memorandum to a military slacker and defaulter who was shot while resisting arrest.

"The second is W. A. Pritchard of Vancouver, who participated in the same unpatriotic escapade. The third is Joseph Knight of Edmonton, one of the most notorious of western agitators of the mining districts, and a man who demands the release from internment of men who were actively working in Canada for the German government during the war.

"The fourth is Joseph Mayler, a Bolshevist by his own frank admission, who is out to overturn the present system of government. And the fifth agitator in Canada, a Winnipeg man who in 1917 at a public meeting urged a general strike against conscription and national registration, returned soldiers.

"Johns is one of the prime organizers of the Winnipeg strike, and he also went to Toronto and was largely instrumental in bringing about the abortive general strike there. Another local leader is Mrs. Helen Armstrong, who, according to her own word, has spent some years of her life in an insane asylum. Her husband, George Armstrong, another notorious "red," is one of the local leaders, who drew down upon himself the wrath of returned men both over the conscription issue and latterly when returned soldiers went on a rampage against a Bolshevist meeting which sent greetings to the soviet government of Russia, and the Spartacists in Germany.

"F. J. Dixon, a soap-box orator who is a member of the legislature, had to flee for his life, and was battered by returned soldiers, when he addressed a meeting in the market square in 1917, counselling everybody to burn their registration cards and to resist conscription. He is another of the leaders of the local revolt. Still another is John Queen, a Socialist who participated in the same meetings and was one of the objects of the patriotic soldiers' ire.

"Andrew Scobie and R. B. Russell, two more of the prime agitators, were active participants in the "red" convention at Calgary, which passed resolutions for the release of German agents, others for the establishment of a dictatorship, and still further resolutions favoring minority dictatorship of labor by manipulated votes such as that which brought about the general strike here.

"A further leader is R. E. Bray, who poses as a returned fighter, but who never saw the firing lines, and who told Premier Norris in cold blood on June 2 that he was a Bolshevist and out for the establishment of soviet government in Winnipeg."

The Bedroom as Murray-Kay's See It

Bearing in mind that the chief end and aim of the bedroom is a place for rest and sleep, the color scheme which, after all, has a stronger mental effect than either design or arrangement, is the very reposeful combination of rose and grey.

Only sweet dreams will visit the weary head that rests between these four walls, scattered over with grey and rose floral design. The furniture suite, with its twin beds, is in cool grey enamel and cane. The thick soft carpet is of deep rose. The taffeta hangings at door and window strike the deeper note of color, being bold stripes on a deep rose ground. The lovely lighted fixtures are of silver, surmounted with adorable silk shades of rose. Truly a room to soothe the weary one after an exciting day.

The Odessa Mutiny.

There are some remarkable features about the reported mutiny of French sailors at Odessa. The high standard of intelligence exhibited by the men is not the main point, for that must be expected more and more in an educated democracy, and particularly in the ranks of a service filled by conscription from all classes of the community. The main objection to carrying war into a country with which and their own nation no state of war existed.

An incipient Napoleon precipitated the chief trouble. He had first come from the Naval Academy, a young ensign, and perhaps brought some memory of the "whiff of grape-shot" with him. At any rate when some of the sailors ashore were fraternizing with Russian men and women he had a machine gun turned on them and some were killed and others wounded. A naval lieutenant stopped this folly, but the men insisted on being returned to France, and to this the admiral finally acceded with the further proviso that there were to be no penalties. The national flag was not lowered, but treated with all respect, and the men evidently appreciated that while they and others constituted the nation, the nation was more than they.

This is the first and finest attain which a real democracy can attain. It is the triumph of state consciousness over class consciousness, and at the same time the wise subordination of all jingoistic or chauvinistic sentiment. As sensible men of breadth and experience can do business together, and debate points of dispute without cutting each other's throats, because they have learned to overcome greed and envy and vanity, so nations may respond to similar control when their individuals in sufficient number have reached a level of development that will ensure their influence exerting control over national affairs to the same end.

Government Action on Venereal Drugs.

There could be no greater proof of the importance of the national council for the control of venereal disease in Canada than the response of the government to the council's request that licenses be issued to the provinces for the manufacture of salvarsan. For all ordinary practice the price under the monopoly established in Montreal was $2 a dose, and as ten to fifteen treatments are necessary in syphilis cases it is clear how necessary it was to get the treatment on a cheaper basis. The provincial government undertakes to manufacture the drug at not more than fifty cents a treatment, and it is believed that this cost can be brought to 35 cents or even less. The state of Massachusetts makes it at 25 cents. It is the intention of the provincial government to supply the drug free, and in view of the prevalence of venereal disease this is obviously a step of great social benefit.

The federal government might well take note at the same time of the verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of Norman Mosher, recommending that the importation of drugs exhibited in venereal disease and manufactured in allied countries be permitted. Neodarsonal was mentioned in the Mosher case, but there are others in the same series which can only be had at present from Europe.

The extreme gravity of the situation in Canada owing to the prevalence of venereal disease has not been appreciated owing to the policy of silence, but the national council by education, legislation, enforcement of law, and treatment hopes to be able to assist the government to remedy a condition which the existence of 600,000 or 700,000 cases indicates as formidable.

How to Manage Joint Control?

"If you are going to strike," he says, "then strike, but consider this, that when you go out you paralyze the very life of the nation. You cripple industry, and what results? In a few days comes food shortage, and always it is the worker who goes hungry. Before you act," he continues, "remember this, that the government has to protect the people, the owners of food, and to that end the military must carry out the nation's laws. That means, perhaps, civil war. What we want is joint control of industry."

"We were not in agreement with Mr. Watters on many of his views, expressed while president of the Trades Congress, but there can only be agreement with the greater part of the present statement. Strikes, as we have said, in time of plenty and of surplus, are not felt so badly by the working class, but a strike in time of famine, as at present, is a social desolation. The whole community, already plunged in debt, becomes poorer every day, and suffering is inevitable.

A good deal depends on the interpretation placed upon Mr. Watters' remark about "joint control of industry." There is joint control at present, and the objections raised to the present method come from both sides. The employer is charged with taking too much of the profit. The worker is charged with not putting his best into the partnership. The problem to be solved is how to get each party to do his best, and then to divide the result equitably.

If Mr. Watters can say something as convincing on this question as he has on the subject of strikes, he will have a world-wide audience.

No Need for Weapons.

With all the power vested in the lieutenant-governor-in-council, since we are still living under a state of war, could an order not be passed dealing with the carrying of arms by aliens? Legislation can be had at next session, but if the police require further powers, and to have the laws in existing legislation stopped, there is no reason why armed and ignorant fanatics should be allowed to menace the King's peace when immediate relief could be given.

Prohibition of the use or possession of arms or weapons unless by provincial authority is no hardship on the alien. If he feel aggrieved or timid he should join a gymnasium and learn to use his fists. He will imbibe democracy and self-respect in the process.

Echoes of the Sausage Campaign.

The Toronto Star evidently thought an answer of some kind was necessary to The World's analysis of its view of the tariff in the new budget and the reciprocity and sausage (not savage) campaign of 1911. We pointed out that the present situation has come about of our own free will and not under pressure from the United States, that we were less than ever an adjunct of the republic, and we are not seeking trade with our neighbors because we have more business than we can handle with Europe.

What does The Star say to that? It declares in the first place that we feared reciprocity because it would make relations with the United States too close. This is scarcely an ingenious way of putting it. The Star held that reciprocity was necessary to increase trade. Those who opposed reciprocity did so for the most part because it was being imposed upon us by United States pressure, with the object as The Star admits, of making Canada an adjunct of the United States, the Mr. Taft "was wrong." The Star now says, to have made that statement. We contended that trade would take care of itself without reciprocity, which The Star held was necessary to save our commercial existence.

Now The Star has the effrontery to turn round and quote the figures of the increase in trade with the United States since 1911, which absolutely prove our contention that reciprocity was unnecessary, and pretends that we ought to be alarmed at what we took for granted eight years ago. Can The Star not see that there is all the difference in the world between the free development of trade and the problematical and even doubtful advance that The Star hoped for under the restrictions of the reciprocity proposals?

Mr. Fielding, The Star says, is vindicated. He declared that reciprocity was not for political effect but for trade alone. How then is he vindicated? We got the trade without reciprocity. The Star assures us, in an increase from $404,331,450 in 1911 to $1,201,863,324 now, and without any risk of political entanglements with Washington. All the things that The Star alleged could not happen without reciprocity have come to pass, and under conditions which have secured us a more robust and independent national spirit than we could have nourished on Buffalo sausages.

A SENSE OF HUMOR.

Editor World: From your Sunday World report of the enthusiastic meeting held at Albert Hall, London, in favor of the League of Nations, and which was addressed by Lord Robert Cecil, I clip the following: "When Lord Robert was naming the framers of the league covenant, a man shouted: 'What about Ireland?'" Lord Robert quickly retorted, "Ireland was generally represented. If I may say so, by General Smuts and myself."

Bab Discharges the Servants and Tells Robert.

CHAPTER CXII.
Before they left I spoke of giving up all we had to help, every single thing.

"Unless we do we cannot let you do so much for us," I said when Frederick objected to my plans. "Put an advertisement in the paper for the house, rent or sell, please. I have an inventory made for everything in it, and could give possession immediately."

"That's the spirit," he looked his admiration. Then, "By Jove! I wonder if Terrie wouldn't take it. I heard he was going to buy a house in New York, in fact that he was looking for one."

"That would be wonderful, but perhaps he would want it to go as part payment of what we owe," Neil suggested. "We can't do that if the small fry are to be paid off."

"We'll make a price for cash. If he doesn't take it someone else will. It's a lovely home. I am sorry, Mrs. Forbes, you feel it must be given up. But I guess there is no other way. You wouldn't live here any way. It wouldn't do now."

"I could see plainly it wouldn't do for us to attract any attention or to indulge in the slightest extravagance. And in truth I had no wish to. I felt crushed, as if all that I had thought worth living for had escaped me forever. This feeling would pass away, of course. It was wrong to give me entrance. I had Robert and I still had Neil. It was all very hard, but I comforted myself as best I could by thinking that it wasn't so bad that it might not have been worse. Suppose that added to this terrible business trouble I also had lost him to Blanche Orton or some other woman. That I felt I could not have borne."

"I can't imagine what we should have done without you," I said trying to smile through my tears as Mr. Frederick begged me not to worry, that he would keep me in touch with what they did."

Then he said: "But we can do nothing if all these people think we can get at Forbes here. I do not intend one of them shall be cheated or go without a fair interest. But you must remember what they will receive will be very little compared to what they have been led to expect. But if they realize that it is that of nothing they will be only too glad to set their money back and more interest than the banks pay."

I tried to be brave and kissed Neil good-bye quite calmly. But when they had gone and I was sure I would not cause him worry by my tears, I was left to the nervous tension I was under and cried for an hour. Really I felt better afterward, and at once began to make plans for leaving. I told all the servants they were discharged. I would keep one to help me pack, the others I let go at once, giving them a cheaper than to keep and feed them another week.

The cook and I worked all day packing up what I should need for Neil, Robert and myself. The house was spic and span, ready to show to anyone. I was a good housekeeper, my one accomplishment aside from my music. By night I was ready to leave. But now I must wait until the house was disposed of in some way. It would rent or sell better with someone

CZECHS HAVE HALTED HUNGARIAN TROOPS

Losses Were Severe Last Week, But Reinforcements Are Arriving

Prague, June 15.—Czecho-Slovak efforts against the Hungarian Soviet troops are beginning to take effect. The Hungarians appear to be halted, little sanguinary fighting is going on, no quarter being given by either side. The Czech losses were severe last week, often only twenty men remaining from single companies. Large numbers of soldiers who are returning from Russia and also from the Italian front have joined the Czecho-Slovak army and are improving the situation.

The fact that the rioting in Prague a fortnight ago coincided with the offensive of the Soviet army leaves little doubt that the disorders here were due to the Bolsheviks.

Marital law has been proclaimed to prevent further troubles threatened by the elections for dominions' officers. His royal highness strongly advocated the project at the dinner to the New Zealanders as a memorial of the splendid services of the dominions during the war.

Desires Peace With All.
Paris, June 15.—The reply of Bea Kinn, the foreign minister of the Hungarian Soviet government, to the message of Premier Clemenceau, as President of the peace conference, demanding that Hungarian forces cease their advance against the Czecho-Slovak despatch by the way of Basle, transmitted through the Hungarian minister at Vienna. The message is quoted as follows:

"The government of the Hungarian Republic learns with joy of the intentions of the allied and associated powers to invite Hungary to the peace conference. The Hungarian government has not the slightest hostile intention against any people on earth. It desires to live in friendship and peace with all. Inasmuch as it does not take its stand on territorial integrity, it had no intention to attack the Czecho-Slovak republic and has not attacked it. The Hungarian government has always strictly adhered to the line of demarcation fixed by the allies and has observed the clauses of the military convention framed on November 13, 1918."

IDA ANSWERS QUERIES

By IDA L. WEBSTER.

As several letters have arrived in the writer's mail box this week which call for answers, we are taking this opportunity for replying. We only hope that those who have not written will not be bored to death by this lingo. However, if you are you might take a slant at the report which deals with the showing the mayor made at the street railwaymen's meeting on Saturday night.

Citizen—Your letter, suggesting that capital punishment should be abolished, seems to be the popular idea at the present time. As you say, life in a prison must have it all over being put to death, and at the same time the persons incarcerated could be taught to be useful in this world, even tho' they were not permitted to leave their forced abodes.

Justice—You are mistaken, we were not asked to go to Ottawa as the leader of a deputation to plead for McCullough. As to whether Mr. Ellis the hangman, did his job right or not, we cannot say, not having had any personal experience in the business of hanging people. However, to be perfectly frank, we think that now that the poor fellow paid the penalty it might be an excellent idea for the general public to turn their attention and strength toward getting the soldiers' insurance paid.

Fan—Why ask us about Tommy Church and his baseball enthusiasm? His worship is not the only man who attends the game regularly.

Street Car Man—You know the things you are fighting for better than we do, but if you really wish to know what we think we might tell you that in our humble opinion, if you are going to jump you should do so, and not waste so much time taking about it. The company knows right now what stand it is going to take in the matter, and the union must also know. As for who will get the sympathy of the public, it is hard to say, that being the most fickle thing on record, next to the city council.

Inquirer—As you say Controller Robbins must be between the devil and the deep sea; that is, trying to keep peace with Thomas L. and at the same time take the men's point of view in this strike question. But, by the way, just what is the mayor's stand? To us it is about like the signing of the peace treaty. Every day something different.

Taxpayer—Certainly ex-Mayor Geary is in charge of the legal department of the city. Perhaps it may not be necessary to pay so many outside counsel fees, now that he is back; so, you see what was probably the mayor's loss is going to be the citizens' gain. Should he run for mayor next year, or rather, this year, he would undoubtedly have a number of loyal supporters.

Amateur—We cannot tell you what universities the school trustees graduated from, or if they ever went to one. The women on the board do not

Other action taken by the conference was: It voted down the government project to create a fund of one billion marks to be obtained by adding an extra hour to the working day, the pay for which will go to the government.

It condemned the recent execution by the Bavarian government of the Communist leader, Leine Nielsen. It voted in favor of the withdrawal of the German troops from Estonia and Lithuania. It passed a resolution demanding the abolition of the death penalty. The conference session will be continued tomorrow when it is expected that additional members of the party will make their contributions to the flow of words which has marked the sessions so far held.

"Well, it is no rest for me, for I have too much time to think and to worry. I could not get any sleep last night, and I know I shall never get better here."
"Most people like it here."
"Perhaps they do if there is nothing the matter with them. But if their nerves were in such a condition as mine they would be about as miserable as I am. I wish I had stayed home and used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, that is what some of my friends advised."
"Why not use it here. I know lots of people who have been cured by using it, and the rest will surely help some."

"That sounds to me like a good idea. Now you just get me half a dozen boxes at the drug store and we will try it out. If it will only steady my nerves so I can rest and sleep I am sure that I shall soon be better."

"I know that it will help you, for I have watched so many cases in which it was used and never saw a failure yet."

"And I was told about it often enough before I left home, but thought I had to have more expensive treatment. They will have the joke on me if the Nerve Food cures me, but we will give it a chance, anyway."

LEAFS WON UPHILL BATTLE ON SUNDAY

Home Runs by Whiteman and Hummel Feature Closing Game at Reading.

Reading, Pa., June 15.—Dean Barnhart, who turned back the Leafs in the first game of Friday's double-header, attempted to duplicate the feat this afternoon, but three straight bases on balls in the sixth inning started the champions on their way to victory. Toronto taking the final game of the series from Reading, 5 to 3. The win today gave the Leafs four of the six games played here. Barnhart's misfortune proved to be meat for Justin and Sandberg, the Toronto battery, as it was the hits of this pair that brought home the three runners whom the Reading Hurier had walked, and put the Leafs in the lead after Reading had scored two runs in the fourth. Sandberg accounted for two runs in the sixth with a single and Justin for another.

George Whiteman who clouted the sphere at a terrific clip all thru the series, getting 14 hits in the six games, again carried over the batting honors today with a home run and two singles. Whiteman had brought in the two runs which gave the champions the victory. His circuit drive was the second within two days, he having also had a home run yesterday.

Reading outlasted Toronto, but poor work on the paths resulted in many blows being wasted. Justin pitched a steady game and was given gill-edge support all day, especially by Gonzales, whose fielding at short was easily the most spectacular seen at Lauer's Park this season. Both teams played errorless ball and the game proved a thriller from outset to close for the big Sunday crowd.

Broke Even Saturday When Orioles Won Two

Toronto broke even on Saturday at Reading, losing the first 4 to 7, and winning the second 6 to 3. Herche started the first and the Orioles until taken out after the fifth, allowing twelve hits and five runs. Brown had an easy game with the long lead the Leafs got to him in fifth for two bases and doubles by Whiteman and Onslow for three runs.

Toronto won the second as easily as we lost the first, scoring three runs on singles by Holden, Sandberg and Gonzales and an error. Thereafter it was easy for the Leafs. Duce caught the first game, Sandberg being put out in the first inning for disputing one of Reading's runs at the plate. The Orioles started leading the Leafs 4 to 0 in the second. Toronto scored 3 runs in the third, 1 in the fourth and 2 in the fifth. Home runs by Onslow and Hummel. Konnlok. Stolen bases—Sheridan to Konnlok; unassisted. Bases on balls—Hummel 2, Herche 2, off Herche 2, off Hubbell 2. Hits—Off Herche, 12 in 5 1-3 innings; off Hubbell, 2 in 2 2-3 innings. Struck out—By Brown 3, by Herche 1, by Hubbell 2. Left on base—Toronto 7, Reading 6. Hit by pitcher—By Reading, Herche; by Hubbell—Sheridan. Wild pitches—Herche.
