THE HELMET OF NAVARRE

BY BERTHA RUNKLE. GROSSET & DUNLAP Publishers, New York.

Our eyes travelled from his pistols over the rest of him. He was small, lean, and wiry, with dark, snaky face and deep-set twinkling eyes. One moment's glance gave us to know that Peyrot was no fool. My lord closed the door after him and went straight to the point.

Jean Peyrot, who does not move in court circles, is as a lion to translate them. In other words, I have no notion what you are talking about. "Oh, come," M. Etienne cried, "as I am a man of the world, we know as well as you where you were before dawn."

"M. Peyrot has made his fortune in Paris? (Monsieur rolls in wealth, of course.) Peyrot shrugged his shoulders, his eyes leaving the ceiling and making a mocking pilgrimage of the room, resting finally on his own rusty clothing. "Do I look like an answered?" "Oh," said M. Etienne, slowly, as one who digests an entirely new idea. "I supposed monsieur must be as rich as a Jew, but he is so odd on the subject of turning an honest penny."

"You are the Comte de Mar?" "Even so, M. Peyrot. I did not care to have the whole state know it, but to you I have no hesitation in confiding that I am M. de Mar."

"My poor apartment is honored," M. Peyrot exclaimed, bowing till his head almost touched the floor. "As he looked low, I made a spring forward; I thought to pin him before he could rise. But he was up with the lightning of a bird from the house and sending three yards away from me, where I crouched on the spring like a felled cat. He grinned at me in open enjoyment."

"Monsieur desired?" he asked sympathetically. "No, it is I who desire," said M. Etienne, clearing himself a place to sit on the corner of the table. "I desire that packet, monsieur. You know this little expedition of yours tonight was something of a failure. When you report to the general-duke he will not be in the best of humors. He does not like failures, the general, he will not incline to reward you

"Our Eyes Travelled from His Pistols Over the Rest of Him." dear. While I am in the very best humor in the world."

M. Etienne sat down on the chest and smiled more amiably than ever. "Why have I never known you before, Peyrot?"

MARCONI WIRELESS COMMUNICATION

Wireless Message to the Business Man and Man of Family

The opportunity to invest a few dollars so as to bring in a large income very seldom comes to the poor man. The chance of a lifetime is now offered. A few dollars taken from your business will not hurt you, and will be the means of laying the foundation of a large and steady income in the future.

Do not miss this opportunity like your fathers when they let slip through their fingers the shares of Edison Electric Light, Westinghouse Air Breaks, Western Union, Field's Cable and Bell Telephone shares and others.

Think what immense incomes you would have today if your fathers had invested a few dollars in the shares of any one of the above companies. Take advantage of the opportunity and secure the future for yourself and family.

TORONTO VACATION SCHOOL.

The following extract from the report of Mrs. J. L. Hughes, chairman of the playground committee of the Women's Council of Toronto, will be of special interest just now to friends of the playground movement in St. John:—

"The Vacation School held its first session during the months of July and August, 1905, in the Elizabeth Street Public School building, the use of which was kindly granted by the trustees. Elizabeth Street school, it may be stated, is situated in the centre of one of the most populous and poorer districts of Toronto.

A great deal of the eminent success of the new venture is attributable to the fact that the committee in charge made such a happy choice of the teachers, and the school also had the benefit of the services of many capable and interested volunteer assistants. These advantages, coupled with the fact that the locality was so well chosen, led to results of a most edifying nature.

"A regular kindergarten class was held every morning from nine to noon, for the little folks, while the older children assembled in different rooms for special courses of manual training, basket making, weaving, paper-folding and cutting, doll-dressing, and the making, furnishing and peopling of a huge dolls' house, were some of the occupations provided during the afternoons.

"One of the special features of the school was an immense 'sandheap' for the wet toes. Never was it seen quite deserted, not even in a shower of rain.

"Every morning a small army of little ones in charge of 'mess ones' (and often these again in charge of least), might be seen wending its way toward the Vacation School, bearing weapons of warfare in the shape of shovels, iron spoons, pails and tin dishes of all descriptions. If some of our worthy citizens had seen the sight, and witnessed the joy that plain-looking, fat, childish eyes than grains of gold-gave daily, throughout the hottest of our summer months, to dozens of youngsters, we do not think it would be long before we should have the desire of our hearts, namely, a children's park or playground laid out to suit all the requirements of the little women (i. e. the elder sisters) and their charges."

"The financial details in its progress in the Presbyterian General Assembly on the subject of church union, and the friends of union have the best of the argument. Rev. Dr. Duval's picture, of Presbyterian and Methodist brethren meeting and saying 'The Lord bless you, brother,' as each goes to his little box church to address 13 or 15 people, is more effective than much doctrine."

A cable from London says: "The commercial intelligence department of the Board of Trade is sending Mr. Richard Grigg to Canada. He will visit all the important old and new centres of commerce, reporting on his return as to the expediency and cost of appointing correspondents of the Board of Trade in all cities and towns of the Dominion."

According to two observers, one English and the other Canadian, the Canadian of today is the heaviest and strongest man of the white race. One writer says he was struck when in Toronto by the number of tall, fine looking men. The average Ontario height was five feet eight, the equal of the best in Great Britain.

In Appleton, Wisconsin, last week a clergyman was found guilty of violating the Sunday labor law, by purchasing beer on the Sabbath to secure evidence that a saloonkeeper had violated the Sunday-closing law. The violation of one law to prove violation of another is not likely to become popular in Appleton.

The rash of immigrants to Canada continues. Over 3,000 landed in Quebec last Saturday and 9,000 more were en route. All steerspace for the St. Lawrence is booked weeks ahead, while thousands of persons are coming by way of New York and Boston.

By unanimous vote, the select and common councils of Philadelphia have passed a resolution endorsing the project for municipal ice manufacturing. Following this a resolution providing for the appropriation of $15,000 for ice for the poor during the present summer was adopted.

The financial editor of the Montreal Star says: "The estimate that $100,000,000 is being spent in railway construction in the Canadian West this season alone is an indication of the country's prosperity and progress."

A coroner's jury in Winnipeg found that the death of an intoxicated man in the police station cells was due to the filthy and insanitary condition of the cells, and the jurors laid the onus on the city council.

It must be said for the press of the United States that it does not permit the heads of the great corporations to go wrong for lack of knowledge of the right course. And what the press is saying the people are thinking.

THE FINANCIAL SIDE.

An increase of thirty cents a day in a milliner's wages would amount to $1.80 per week. If he got work every day from now until the end of November, about 24 weeks, the addition to his wages would amount altogether to less than $46.

If a man earning $12 per week were idle for a month, on strike, his loss would be $48. If at the end of the month he got an increase of thirty cents per day for the remaining 29 weeks till the end of November, working every day, the increase would amount to $36, or $12 less than he would have earned had he not been idle for a month, nor received any increase in wages.

Looking at the question now from the mill-owner's standpoint, if he had a hundred men earning an average, let us say, of $10 per week, his weekly pay roll would be $1,000. If fifteen per cent were added, it would amount to $150 per week or $3,000 for twenty weeks. There would thus be an additional tax of $3,000 on his business without getting any more work done.

Therefore, looked at from the standpoint of dollars and cents, if the mills were idle for a month, and then started on an increase of fifteen per cent in wages, the men would not be any better off in the end, and the mill owners would be much worse off. For of course it goes without saying that if the deal peters get more pay the other employes of the mills will also demand an advance.

As the mill-owners state positively that they will not pay the advance, there is a prospect of a season of idleness and loss all round.

The National Electric Light Association, in session at Atlantic City, N. J. last week, gave evidence that the movement in the direction of municipal ownership must be met by something more than a smile or a sneer. We quote: "In a report read before an executive session Arthur Williams, of New York, vice-president and chairman of the public policy committee, recommended that lighting corporations better their service, lower rates and exercise every means of arbitration in all disputes with either municipalities or individuals. The report also urged for more publicity as to the workings of corporate bodies, with advertisement for yearly statements of disbursements."

Mr. F. L. Wanklyn, vice-president of the Dominion Coal Company, who has just returned from the company's mines, in Cape Breton, tells the Montreal Star that unskilled labor is so scarce with them that they do not know which way to turn. They have, he says, skilled labor in plenty and what they want are men to shovel coal. Mr. Wanklyn states that aside from this one feature the company's mines are getting along splendidly, but the scarcity of labor is bringing their output to a point which they neither desire nor anticipated.

A brilliant debate is in progress in the Presbyterian General Assembly on the subject of church union, and the friends of union have the best of the argument. Rev. Dr. Duval's picture, of Presbyterian and Methodist brethren meeting and saying 'The Lord bless you, brother,' as each goes to his little box church to address 13 or 15 people, is more effective than much doctrine."

A cable from London says: "The commercial intelligence department of the Board of Trade is sending Mr. Richard Grigg to Canada. MY DAY

What is the matter with the day? An hour ago the skies were blue, A red rose blossomed by the way. Late was so sweet—I walked with you! Again I walk the selfsame way. But the day so chill has grown, The skies are misty, cold, and grey, I see no reason to walk about!

PASTORAL QUERY. "What ye thinkin' about, Ez?" "I jist ben wonderin' what effect Christian Science have on potato bugs."—Brooklyn Life.

AWFUL! "That was a fierce fight you had with Cholly," said Knox. "He claims he licked you."

"Oh, the Boastah!" exclaimed Gummie. "I admit he wumped my cwat dreadfully, but you should have seen his colah!"—Philadelphia Press.

NONE. "Papa, ma says if I'm good I'll go to heaven."

"Well?" "And you say if I'm good I'll go to the circus."

"Well?" "What's the difference?"—Houston Post.

ORUEL. "The world owes me a livin'," said the one with the stubbles on his face.

"Well," replied the other, "if I were in the world's place I'd hand it to you as once and get rid of you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

ATTRACTED ATTENTION. Bacon—They say the new congressman attracted a good deal of attention when he entered the house of representatives.

Egbert—Why, he never opened his mouth! Bacon—No, but his shoes squeaked!—Yonkers Statesman.

EQUALLY PAINFUL. "Huh! What do you know about war? Did you ever hurt yourself into the 'imminent, deadly breach' or 'seek the bubble reputation, even in the cannon's mouth'?"

"Well, no; not exactly. Not to any noticeable extent. But, I have taken home unexpected company."—Puck.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS. Rising Young Statesman—But there is another matter, just as important, that has been overlooked. I am going to introduce a bill for the right inspection of bakeries.

Constitution—Promoters, for your own peace of mind, I advise you not to do it. Chicago Tribune.

NO PLEASURE IN IT. Mrs. Chase—Oh! I don't like to go to that store. It's so unsatisfactory to do our shopping there.

Mrs. Shoppen—Why, they have everything there. Mrs. Chase—That's just it. No matter what you ask for, they can suit you right off!—Philadelphia Ledger.

PRESIDENT'S MEAT REPORT

(New York Globe). Only one word, horrible, adequately characterizes the report of President Roosevelt's special agents for investigating the Chicago stock yards. The conditions described by Messrs. Reynolds and Neil show barbarous, not to say bestial, disregard of the commonest decency and cleanliness. Yet the packers have permitted food products to be prepared amid such surroundings. To be sure, the report indicates that the dressed meat is reasonably wholesome and free from disease, but doubt is thrown on every can and package.

There has been a feeling that the disagreeable stories filling the newspapers last week were gross exaggerations. In the light of the Neil-Reynolds report, which it should be noted, is only preliminary to a later, fuller statement, no Packingtown story is to be rejected as necessarily incredible. Incidentally, support is given to General Miles's statement that many soldiers lost their lives through eating the "embalmed" army beef of seven years ago.

This confirmation in the report from an unprejudiced official source of many of the accusations against the stock yards should assure the passage of the Beveridge bill, unmodified by any decrease in the stringency of its requirements. Speaker Cannon and his colleagues in the house can no longer offer any valid excuse for standing up against a justly outraged public opinion.

LUMBERMEN NOT IN FAVOR

A. P. Barnhill speaking of the proposal contained in a Washington despatch to the Times last evening, relative to a joint commission to investigate the St. John river conditions, said he did not think the lumbermen of this province would regard it favorably.

"The idea of a commission," he said, "carries with it more or less of an arbitration and would mean vexatious delay, and it was felt that with such large vested interests the idea of an arbitration should not be entertained."

"If, however, we must have a commission of any kind we feel strongly it ought to be a special commission with local representation. The International Waterways Commission is composed entirely on the Canadian side, of 'upper provinces' representatives who would not be in touch with the St. John river dispute."

NO MARKS OF LATE WAR TO BE SEEN IN JAPAN

Japanese Have Gone Quietly to Work to Develop their Industries--Banker Schiff Returns from His Eastern Trip with Firm Belief in Greatness of Mikado's Empire.

(New York Globe.)

Banker H. Schiff, who returned from Japan via Montreal last night, will not be at his office until Monday. At his house this morning, however, he gave the following account of his impression of his three months' trip.

Our stay in Japan covered about eight weeks, of which we spent a short while in Korea. We visited most of the important towns and other points of interest, and became much impressed with the ways of the people and their activity.

Everybody in Japan appears to do work of some kind; it is a country without beggars, without drunkards, and all are polite and gentlemanly.

Nothing is heard or seen of the effect of the recent war. The people neither talk about it, nor do they become excited by its great victories, but have quietly gone to work to develop their industry.

The banking system of the country is widely developed, and its currency seems to rest on a firm basis. The Bank of Japan, with branches in all important commercial centres, is alone empowered to issue the circulating medium.

The people of Japan appear to be thoroughly convinced of their manifest destiny, and without saying much, if anything, about it, are evidently determined to maintain the leadership in the Far East.

It is not many, if not most, of the men who determine or wield an influence in the conduct of the nation's affairs, who are not men of high character.

Under the law a sufficient sum must first be set apart from the government revenue to provide for a sinking fund, which later the minister of finance estimated will amount to a minimum of $3,000,000 a year.

Having been sent to him personally, for the book, before he had even finished writing it. In the English reviews Mr. Robinson's theories have been the topic of warm and sometimes heated discussion.

That acute pain means inflammation and calls for immediate treatment. That every household should have a remedy like Avertine, which has power to subdue inflammation and destroy pain at once.

That a few drops required for ear-ache, Neuralgia and rheumatism, is sufficient. That Lambo and Scapula, like other muscular pains are cured by a few rubs.

No liniment so clean, so strong and comforting as Polson's Nervine, try a 25c bottle.

Mrs. J. E. B. McLaughlin, of Charlotte town (P. E. I.), is visiting in Ottawa.

Irish Champion Protests in Vain Against Deportation.

Tommy O'Toole, who was deported from the United States last year, has protested in vain against his deportation. He has been refused admission to the United States.

Under the law a sufficient sum must first be set apart from the government revenue to provide for a sinking fund, which later the minister of finance estimated will amount to a minimum of $3,000,000 a year.

That acute pain means inflammation and calls for immediate treatment. That every household should have a remedy like Avertine, which has power to subdue inflammation and destroy pain at once.

That a few drops required for ear-ache, Neuralgia and rheumatism, is sufficient. That Lambo and Scapula, like other muscular pains are cured by a few rubs.

No liniment so clean, so strong and comforting as Polson's Nervine, try a 25c bottle.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE WAS OPENED THIS MORNING

Church of England Sunday School Teachers Gathered in Trinity Church -- Interesting Address by Rev. Canon Harrower of New York -- A Round Table Conference.

A conference of much interest to all Sunday school workers of the Church of England was opened in Trinity church at 10 o'clock this morning when many of the teachers of the Diocese of Fredericton assembled to discuss various matters pertaining to Sunday school work.

Rev. Canon Harrower then took charge of the conference and delivered an interesting address dealing largely with the subject which it was intended for him to take up yesterday afternoon, viz. "Old and New Methods in Sunday School Work."

The conference was then thrown open for questions or discussion by those present. Rev. J. DeW. Cowie said that in most cases the teacher would object to having the child taken from her, while the child would not want to leave the teacher.
