Market Butcher Claims It Would Mean That Ontario Would Soon Have Enough Cattle To Supply Demand.

That a solution of the meat question in Western Ontario is within the power of the Provincial Government, was the statement of James A. Anderson, a market butcher, of this city, to an Advertiser reporter this morning.

"The meat situation in Western Ontario is becoming more complex every day," he said. "The removal of the duty on the American side of the line had brought many buyers from the States to this part of the country. They have the big markets of the American cities behind them, and can pay the prices. The result is that the choice Canadian meats are bought up and shipped across the line.

'A short time ago I visited Cleveland for the express purpose of investigating market conditions there and to find out for myself the inside facts. In one of the best hotels that I visited they were serving Canadian meats. In the cold-storage plant ir connection with this hotel the meat supply was almost exclusively 'Cana dian.' I could tell it at once, because our meats have no equal. "While in that city, I made several purchases of beef and found that the price was only 15 cents wholesale. We are paying 13 cents wholesale in Lon-

Questioned regarding conditions throughout the country, Mr. Anderson stated that there was every possibility of prices soaring higher unless some restraining measure were brought into

"The only solution that appeals to me," he concluded, "is for the Government to intervene. By passing a law preventing farmers and breeders from killing young cattle before the age of three years, the number of cattle would be quickly augmented, and in a few years there would be enough cattle available for even the brisk consump-

As Protest Against Imprisonment and that it was not right for anyone to of Miners Recently at New Westminster.

IS REQUESTED BY LEAGUE

Dates Mentioned Are January 30 and 31-Locals to Consider It at Meetings.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Jan. 9.-An appeal to the members of every local union of organized labor in Canada has been ssued by the British Columbia Miners' Liberation League asking that on Jan. 30, a 48-hour "holiday" be inaugurated as a gigantic protest against imprisonment of the 39 miners now in jail at New Westminster, in connection with the recent big strike on Vancouver

Copies of the circular have been received by the Ottawa locals as well as the allied trades and labor association and the appeal will be considered at their next meetings.

the craft will not work on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 30 and 31. It is understood every city in Canada is beng flooded with the circular of appeal, which reads in part:

"Tens of thousands of signed protests, petitions and demands for the release of these men have been sent to the Minister of Justice. Thousands are still going in; yet in the face of the expressed wishes of these many thousands of citizens, the Government utterly refuses to even consider question, and even refuses to investigate the matter

"The league realizes that more action is necessary if our persecuted brothers are to be freed, and we now call upon the whole of organized labor to act. "If the workers of other countries can protect and free their brothers, we can do the same. The masters have called the bluff. You have got to show them you are real unions. It is up to you. You have the power to stop this outrage, and we ask your local unions to send in an early reply stating if your body is in favor of tak ing a 48-hour holiday as a protest

Will Deal with Question. President J. Harry Bastla, of the London Trades and Labor Council, stated this afternoon that the appeal of the British Columbi ainers' Liberation League to organized labor to declare a 48-hour holiday January 30, would be dealt with at the next meeting of the local council, Wednesday, January 21. He declared that personally he would be in favor of the holiday, but that the Miners' League had not give the unions sufficient notice. He could not say just how the local council would deal with the appeal, but some protest was necessary and he expressed the opinion that the same situation was likely to arise in

TANGO QUESTION NOW LONDON'S BIG ISSUE

'To Dance It Or Not to Dance It" Is Momentous Problem That May Be Solved.

To tango or not to tango has become big question in London. The federal square, electrification of the London and Port Stanley, and other projects, have been relegated to the background while the people tear their hair and rack their brains over the tango problem.

The tango was danced at the Acadian Club ball on New Year's night, and officers of the clu the club will continue to allow the dance at its future assemblies. If any of them accept the members Acadians see nothing objectionable in the proper dancing of the tango.

"Those who do not wish to dance it are not compelled to do so," said an officer of the club to The Advertiser

The Acadians are not in the least exercised over the decision of the Hermitage Club to bar the tango at the Hermits' ball to be given this month. "If the Hermits wish to take this course," said one of the Acadian Club members, "why let them do so. But it has no effect on us, and the tango will be danced in the future as in the past." The Advertiser was told today the tango would also be under the ban at the coming dance of the Arab Patrol Mocha Temple of the Shriners, and is whispered that the directors of the Masonic Hall will in future insert in the rental contracts, of the auditorium a clause prohibiting the tango

OUR NEW STORY

A noted publisher recently declared that the scarcest thing on the market of the reading world was a good story, supplementing this with the statement that there were only half a dozen real story writers today. Foremost amongst these he placed George Barr McCutcheon, whose new romance, "In the Hollow of Her Hand," will commence in The Advertiser in a few days. Those of our readers who are familiar with McCutcheon's books will vote this serial the equal of any of his earlier ones, and those to whom he is introduced for the first time will agree that he is a prince of story-tellers. From the opening sentence, "The Hollow of Her Hand" grips and holds you. This fine, clean tale should not be missed.

in turmoil and riot. Mr. Cargan turned upon Magee a face as placid and dispassionate as that of one who enters an apple orchard in May.

When how with a smile of smile turnous signature of the professor as they stood together on the platform of the car, "there goes a man."

He did not wait to hear the professor's

Afterward he marveled at that constant guttural roar, how it went on and on, humming like a tune, never stopping, disconnected quite from the occasional shrill or heavy voices that rang out in distinguishable words. The mayor looked coolly down into those upturned faces, he listened a moment to the rumble of a thousand throats, then he took off his derby with satiric politeness.

"Glad to see one and all!" he cried.
And now above the mutterings angry words could be heard. "That's him," "That's two-hundred-thousand-dollar Cargan," "How's the weather on Baldpate?" and other sarcastic flings. Then a fashion of derisive cat-calls came and went. After which, here and there, voices spoke of ropes, of tar and feathers. And still the mayor smiled as one for whom the orchard gate swung open in May.

A squad of policemen, who had entered the car from the rear, forced their way out on to the platform.

"Want us to see you through the crowd, Mr. Cargan?" the lieutenant asked.

"Want us to see you through the crowd,
Mr. Cargan?" the lieutenant asked.

New hoots and cries ascended to the station rafters. "Who pays the police?"
"We do." Who owns 'em?" "Cargan."
Thus question and answer were bandied to the lieutenant asked.

"Hello. dearie!" she oried. "Thank heaven you're safe. Have you been up to the house? How's Sadie getting along?

feathers.

Jim Cargan had not risen from the slums to be master of his town without a keen sense of the theatric. He ordered the police back into the car. "And stay there," he demanded. The lieutenant demurra. One look from the mayor sent him scurrying. Mr. Cargan took from his pocket a big cigar, and calmiy lighted it. "Some of them guys out there," he remarked to Magee, "belong to the Sunday school crowd. Pretty actions for thempillars of the church howling like beasts."

And still, like that of beasts, the mutter of the mob went on, now in an undertone, now louder, and still that voice that first had pleaded for tar and feathers pleaded still—for feathers and tar. And here a group preferred the rope.

And toward them, with the bland smile of a child on his great face, his cigar. "Seems like vou're always putting me in had pleaded for tar and feathers pleaded had pleaded for tar and tar. And here a group preferred the rope.

"Let it be," smiled Myra Thornhill, "as it is surely mine. Goodbye."

"And good luck," whispered Magee, as he took Kendrick's hand.

Over his shoulder, as he passed to the platform, he saw them look into each other's eyes, and he felt that the memory of the admiral's game would in time cease to haunt David Kendrick.

A shadow had fallen upon the trainthe shadow of the huge Reuton station. In the half-light on the platform Mr. Magee encountered the mayor of Reuton. Above the lessening roar of the train there sounded ahead of them the voices of men in turnoil and riot. Mr. Cargan turned the professor as they stood to-

"The boys," he smiled grimly, "welcom- answer. For he saw the girl of the Upper Ine boys, ne smiled grimiy, "welcoming me home."

Then the train came to a stop, and Mr. Magee looked down into a great array of faces, and heard for the first time the low unceasing rumble of an angry mob. Afterward he marveled at that constant guttural roar, how it went on and on owned the city.

And toward them, with the bland smile of a child on his great face, his cigar tilted at one angle, his derby at another, the mayor of Reuton walked unflinching-ly.

The roar became mad, defiant. But Cargan stepped forward boldly. Now he reached the leaders of the mob. He pushed his way in among them, smiling, but determined. They closed in on him. A little man got firmly in his path. He took the little man by the shoulders and

THE SPOILSMAN AGAIN.

The spirit of the glad New Year does not bother the Borden Government. Just one week after the day of good resolutions had passed they sent the executioner to Kingsville, Ont., and cut off the official head of J. H. Smart postmaster of that village for thirtyseven years, and a man of the highest standing in the community.

Two plucky young women who had assisted Mr. Smart in his work for some time saw the headsman at his gory work, and rather than be the servants of the man for whom the axewielder was making place, gathered up their skirts and refused to retain their positions. All honor to them! Such heroic stands were not taken without a considerable sacrifice, but the spirit more than two years.

COL. HUGHES PLEASE WRITE.

The city of London has marked time for more than one year expecting that Colonel the Honorable Sam Hughes would make good his promise to purchase a large portion of London's federal square. While there is as yet no occasion for worry, we cannot forget its Asiatic empire together. that just before the municipal election of 1913 a telegram or letter came to the city from the colonel's private secretary or aide-de-camp, saying that provision for the purchase of the Government's share of the square would be carried in the supplementary estimates. How binding a promise this might be considered by the Govis that no provision, even to the extent of one red penny, was contained in the supplementary estimates, the Government's present financial predicament, and the apparent slighting of the colonel's desires in regard to many armories, it might be well for London to get something definite as to the military side tan cities. Nor would it be just to of the federal square. It is a poor do so. ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

Bills To Be Submitted Soon After U. S. Congress Re-assembles.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 .- The administration anti-trust legislation program was completed today so far as the preliminary work by the House committee on judiciary is concerned. Bills have been prepared covering every phase of the trust question, and are ready for submission to the full committee soon after Congress reassembles Monday. The judiciary committee members will confer next week with President Wilson and the antitrust legislation details will be made The views of the President and of the Democratic party as expressed in the national platform have been followed in the preparation of the bills, according to Representative Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the committee. He declined to give the details of the proposed legislation, but said the Sherman anti-trust law had been left intact. He also stated that one of the bills would cover interlocking di-

Tinker refused to name any of the players he intends to visit or to say where his first stop would be. It was reported that he would go first to Kansas City, where he would try to get the signature of Clarence Hendricks to a contract. Tinker said he believes Hendricks to be a pitcher with a future, and it is known he has considered him as a possible member of the Chicago club.

Tinker left the city a few hours after the return here of President Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals. Murphy has been in Cincinnati attending the National Commission meeting. The Cub president asserted he learned there that Tinker's disregard of rules governing drinking was one of the reasons why he was released by the Cincinnati club.

"Last season was my most successful in baseball, and if I thought my score of 9 to 1. The game was not a ful in baseball, and if I thought my good exhibition of hockey, owing to the success was due to drinking. I would spend more time at the bar," was Tinker's reply. "I led the league in shortstops in hitting. I was not such a hard drinker that the Brooklyn club hesitated to pay $25,000 for my services without consulting me.

"Mr. Murphy himself had a conversation with me after the Brooklyn and said Packey McFarland was an exnegotiations had started and in violation to the National agreement. He a said he had paid $10,000 for the services of Roger Bresnahan and hinted that he thought as highly of my ability to play ball."

Referee Eyton Testifies That Boxers of Today Did Not Always Knock Man Out.

Los Angeles, Cal, Jan. 8 .- "Virtually all of the so-called knockouts are on paper; prize fighting or boxing is not a brutal sport," Charles Eyton, referee of the Jess Willard-"Bull" Young match, in which the latter met his death, testifiled today in the trial of Willard and nine others on a charge of prize fighting in violation of the laws of California. Eyton testified that boxers did not al-ways try to knock out their opponent,

When the prosecution read a list of men whom McFariand was reputed to have knocked out, defending counsel conferred with Harry Gilmore, once manager for McFarland, and then annunced that Gilmore had just told him that he had invented most of McFarland's record of knockouts to make it look formidable and to make the boxer a drawing card. Eyton described the fight by rounds, saying that he, as well as the spectators, considered it a farce until the eighth round, when Young became the aggressor. The blow which knocked out Young, he said, did not travel more than six inches, and came as a surprise to the spectators. The Marquis of Queensberry rules were introduced as evidence, as the rules governing these contests.

McCarey testified that before any fight was started in the Vernon Arena, the text of a decision by Superior Texas League pitcher acquired last fall Judge Frank R. Federal League Here to Stay, With Money to Fight Organized Baseball to a Finish; Will Appeal to the Public Through Quality, Not Sympathy

BY GEORGE R. PULFORD.

This is an open year for ball play

The aggressiveness of the Federal League, called an "outlaw" by organ-Ized baseball, spells W-A-R! And, as was shown in 1901, basebal var is an expensive luxury.

The Federal is coming President James A. Gilmore and Secretary Lloyd Rickart say the league is prepared to spend a fortune to establish itself.

Save in the opinion of organized baseball and its hirelings, the Federal League is no more of an "outlaw" than any other independent business which The only law the Federal has violated is that one which organized baseball has created in its complacency And the public today does not recognize the right of the National, American and their minor league associates to make laws for it.

The Federal League will be comed by press and public and will be patronized if it puts up a good fight. The attack upon the baseball Goli-ath by the baseball David is centred in the vulnerable point of the big fellow's armor-the reserve clause-and before the 1914 season opens this will be threshed out in court to determine whether a baseball contract is worth

Secretary Rickart says the Federal League is not plant sympathy, but will seek patronage with good baseball and high-class players. The way the Federal is raiding the stronghold of the enemy is an evidence of good faith in this respect. Leaders like Tinker, Brown, Stovall and Ned Hanlon will attract the fans, and it they gather the sort of players they are after, and play good baseball, the fans will be with them.

The Federal, if successful, can force upon baseball a sense of its debt to the public, something few magnates have realized. It can give recognition to young players who have heretofore been forced to seek allegiance with or ganized baseball and accept whatever terms were offered and, having signed a contract, be sent from team to team, without having a word in the matter.

The only concessions baseball has ever granted the players have been granted as a result of public opinion or some other influence, and not through a sense of equity upon the part of the

New York, Jan. 8 .- The New York hamber of Commerce went on record today as favoring the proposed advance in railroad freight rates. The chamber adopted a resolution to that effect, holding that the advance would not only be an "act of justice" to the railroads, but also beneficial to the entire business of the United States.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 8.-Just after Samuel J. Morrison, a wealthy businessman of Columbus, Ohio, shot a quail near Homewood, Ala., late yesterday he became so weak he had to rest on a log. His companion, Harrison Marriot, went after the bird, and when he returned he found Morrison dead beside the log. A physician who was summoned pronounced death dus

One of the most famous "bones" in baseball was John Anderson's attempt to steal third with that base occupied.

The Baseball Magazine tells of a "bone" play made by "Bad". Shores and fact. play made by "Bud" Sharpe, once first baseman of the Boston Braves. Boston baseman of the Boston Braves. Boston and Cincinnati were playing and Gaspar held Boston helpless. Late in the game Gaspar doubled and Bob Bescher hit the ball along the first-base line.

Sharpe, seeing he could not get the fleet Bescher, fielded the ball across to Herzog, then playing third for Boston. Herzog was not expecting the play; no one expected it, but Herzog handled the ball cleanly and retired Gaspar.

Suppose Herzog had failed to get that ball? Suppose Sharpe had not made a perfect throw? He'd have been a "bone head" as long as he lived. As it was perfect throw? He'd have been a "bone head" as long as he lived. As it was he received credit for a brainv play.

"Hap" Meyers, the lathy Boston first-baseman, pulled a "bone" when he raced from first to third on Wagner's sacrifice, with two out. Boston was playing New York, and Hal Chase, never dreaming Meyers would attempt such a thing, was caught napping, hurried his throw to napping, hurried his throw Austin, and as a consequence the ball escaped and Meyers scored.

Harry Niles was famous for his "bone plays," and they sent him from team to the many and finally to the minors.

At the conclusion of the feast, Toastmaster E. W. J. Owens, M.P.P., rose and proposed the health of King George V. and President Woodrow Wilson, which was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem and "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Mr. Owens, amid cheers, declared that the celebrations were a tribute which any man might be proud of "Mr. Stevenson has had many trials but fortunately he has been able to guide the order through trials and tribulations, and place it on a basis of complete solvency," said he. "May we continue to have this distinguished leader as our guide, philosopher and friend. The I. O. He then called upon Mr. R. J. Niddrie, M.D., to read and present an address exi essing the order's appreciation of My. Stevenson's fidelity towards its interests and progress. It reads as follows:

Address to Mr. Stevenson. "To the Honorable Elliott G. Steven-

When this work was completed it was, as indicated, found that there existed a deficiency in our assets as compared with our liabilities of $25,-000,000-a deficiency that had to be provided for unless the society was to be permitted to drift into slow liquidation and in the end disappoint thousands of our members and their beneficiaries.

After the actuarial results referred to had been ascertained we spent long and anxious days and weeks and months in endeavoring to work out a plan that would make the burden that had to be imposed upon those many and continued evidences of whose inadequate payments had created this condition as light as possible, with the result that all who ociety the important work you have had part in deciding in the plan that was best to be adopted agreed that the plan we have adopted was best in the interests of all concerned, having in mind the necessity of once and serve our society and its membership for all time placing our society upon -services rendered at considerable a sound basis.

December 31, 1907, was a date when such a valuation had to be filed, and when this valuation was filed it showed that there existed as of that date a deficiency in our assets as compared with our habilities of $55,000,000.

Assessment Rates Inadequate Complaint has been made that in the plan adopted we discriminated against the old members and that in fact the deficiency referred to that t was necessary to provide for should have been covered by assessments spread over the entire membership instead of being levied against that portion of the society whose inadequate payments had created the de-

In this connection the fact must b orne in mind that the society in 1898 when it adopted its new and increased table of rates and assessments consisted entirely of what are now commonly spoken of as the old members.

It was recognized that the rates of assessments in force up to that time were inadequate, else there would have been no need of putting into force a table of assessments increasing such rates of assessments. The representatives of the memberhip thus recognizing the inadequacy of the rates then in force made provision that only those who should thereafter join should pay the inadequate rates then adopted, and to speak to members of one of the that those who up to that time, num-bering more than 100,000, who then constituted the society, should continue to pay the inadequate rates before then in force.

"He as we are earning a fraction over 5 per cent. on the investment of our accumulated funds, 1 per cent. upon the $14,000,000 belonging to the post-1898 members, amounting to $148,000 per annum, goes to the fraternal fund referred to for the relief of the so-addressed on the merits of the order. Powerful Agency for Doing Good.

Our society is considered, and is, great society and a powerful agency for doing good to mankind, but in membership and the extent of its obligations it is insignificant as compared with the aggregate membership and obligations of fraternal insurance societies generally. Statistics show that at December 31.

1912, there were twenty fraternal insurance societies conducting business within the Dominion of Canada, and on the interest to be earned on this latter a membership of 9,963,000, a accumulation and upon the premiums combined membership of 10,772,000 that would be paid by our members. that the former, the Canadian societies, items constituted everything ties, had insurance in force of $596, that the former, the Canadian societhat would be available to meet our $04,000, and the American societies $240,000,000 of obligations, and when we took stock in an intelligent and force of $10,068,868,000, and that the combined assets of the Canadian societies amounted to $35,011,000, and we should have had $45,000,000, and the combined assets of the societies that with this sum and the interest to within the United States to $163,633,

It will thus be seen that as against obligations that will have to be provided for during the lives of the premembership aggregating $10,of the deficiency existing in our as- assets amounting to $198,000,000, or less than two per cent, of the aggre gate of the obligations outstanding, and while the membership of the Independent Order of Foresters represented only two and a half per cent of the entire membership its accumu lated funds amounted to ten per cent. of of the entire accumulated funds and then was $25,000,000 short of what was necessary to provide for its obligations.

When it is considered that this membership of 10,000,000 has undertaken to provide protection through this $10,068,868,000 of insurance in force for practically fifty million women and children, and that this fifty million women and children will sooner or later be largely dependent upon this protection for their future necessities or comforts, and that inadequate provision exists for maturng this protection, the situation really becomes appailing.
Put Them on Sound Basis.

I must not be understood as attempting to minimize the importance of fraternal insurance societies, for I recognize that they are among the greatest agencies available for improving conditions and protecting the families of wage-earners throughout this and other countries. I do, however, desire to impress upon everyone possible the importance of having these societies that are doing so much good placed upon a sound basis so that they may continue the splendid work they have been doing, for notwtihstanding the that have existed in their plans from the outset they have up to date distributed to the widows and orphansbeneficiaries of members of these societies - a total exceeding $2,156,-000,000, a sum largely in excess of the combined public debt of the Dominion of Canada and the States, and the Independent Order of Foresters has done its share in this beneficent work-it has to Dec. 31, 1913, disbursed in benefits $41,900,-320.49.

It will have served my purpose if what I have said shall enlist the interest of some of those who may be influential in bringing about needed reforms in connection with he financial status of Now on Sound Basis.

So far as the fixing of the financial status of our society is concerned, our work is finished. We have a society one hundred per cent. sound, able to meet all legitimate calls upon it with respect to its obligations, present and future.

We must for the future look forward not backward, and with united effort endeavor to make it even more useful than it has been in the past. I assure you that our society will have my earnest endeavor to advance and protect the interests of its members wherever resident, and I pledge myself in the administration of its affairs to recognize no lines of division as between men who revere the Union Jack and men who revere the Stars and Stripes, but one common brotherhood united in one great international society.

High Praise for Order and Mr. Stevenson's Work.

Sir John Willison, who proposed the toast to the Parliament of Canada, at first referred to the work of the honored guests. "I have never yet met a man whom I have greater regard for than Mr. E. G. Stevenson," said he. "His achievements are 'beyond compare.' To have placed this beyond such a satisfactory financial basis is an accomplishment worth while." (Cheers.) He lauded the work of Parliament, "which, after all, labors in the interests of the people. Mr. F. F. Pardee, M. P., was also received with vociferous cheers. "I am proud to be here and be permitted best fraternal societies in the world," said he. "I have the greatest respect for Mr. E. G. Stevenson, whom I have known for many years. He is a man you should honor, because he has done so much for you. The I. O. AS CHAIRMAN OF EDUCATION BOARD

Trustees Make Election Unanimous, No Opposition Being Offered.

COLLEGIATE COMMITTEE

Dr. Mugan Will Move For Creation of Body to Deal With High School.

Trustee Anson M. Hunt was unanimously elected chairman of the 1914 board of education at its inaugural meeting on Thursday evening. His election was moved by Trustees W. W. Gammage and John M. Gunn. There was no opposition. Trustee Hunt, in taking the chair, briefly thanked his colleagues, and read a lengthy address outlining the work to be done within the next twelve

The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. W. H. Harvey, pastor of Askin St. Methodist church, who was tendered a vote of thanks on motion of Trustees J. M. Gunn and W. T. Strong. Chairman Hunt then extended the official welcome to the new members of the board, Trustees A. E. Silverwood, Thomas Rowe and C. J. Fitzgerald, the latter being the second separate school board representative. The fourth new member Trustee W. G. Young, was not present. The following prointments were then made: Solicitor-T. G. Meredith, (re-elect-Sergeant-At-Arms-Harry Merritt, (re-elected).

Trustees E. R. Dennis (chairman), Dr. W. J. Teasdall, A. E. Silverwood, W. W. Gammage, W. T. Strong, and C. and F. E. Leonard, the latter two for three-year terms. Advisory Commercial Committee— Trustees Dr. J. P. Mugan (chairman), F. H. Greenlees, W. G. Young and Dr. W. J. Teasdall, and J. K. H. Pope and A. G. Calder, with Messrs. Pope and Calder for two-year terms. Dr. Flanders, New Representative.

W. H. Winnett was reappointed to the public library board for a term of three years, and Rev. Dr. Flanders was named to fill out the unexpired term of he late Dr. James Ross. Trustees E. R. Dennis and C. J Fitzgerald were appointed as representatives to the Western Fair Asso-

Wants Collegiate Committee. Trustee Dr. Mugan gave notice that would move for the appointment of a third committee to consider only Collegiate Institute matters. This move was suggested in Chairman Hunt's address and found general favor. Inspector C. B. Edwards' monthly report showed an average daily at-tendance during December of 5,935, an ncrease of 372 over the same month n 1912. In manual training and houseold science, there were enrolled 512 boys and 547 girls, and the average at-endance was 480 and 467 respectively Inspector Edwards recommended that the board consider the advisability of fixing the monthly fee for nonresidents at the minimum cost based on either the monthly average enrol-ment or the total enrolment for the year, and also suggested that the principals of the large public schools be given assistants in order that they might be able to devote the necessary amount of time to executive work.

The annual report of the inspector showed the progress made in London schools during the year 1913, and set forth in detail the needs and requirements of the future. Contained in the document was much valuable information on local education conditions.

SHERIFF FAVORS

With Judge Elliott He Commends Idea of Prison Farm Here.

SUGGESTS CO-OPERATION

Believes Western Counties Could Unite in Establishing Union One.

Judge Edward Elliott, Sheriff D. M. Cameron and other representative Londoners are strongly in favor of the establishment of an indutsrial farm for London, where short-term prisoners could be confined, and, as well, perform some useful labor that would not only contribute towards the cost of their support while imprisoned, but would also be beneficial to them physically and morally.

"Yes, I am in favor of it," said Judge Elliott this morning.

Joint Farm Here. Sheriff D. M. Cameron pointed to London's admirable position as a centre for a joint industrial farm for all the western countles. The industrial farm idea provides for municipalities grouping together with a view to extending the Guelph Prison Farm principle for short-term prisoners. It has in view the moral uplift of the prisoners, the majority of whom are prisoners because of their inordinate fondness for liquor.

"Ninety-nine per cent. of the shortterm prisoners, according to Sheriff Cameron, have an express desire and anxiety to work. In the recent courthouse repairs a good deal of work was done by the prisoners, effecting a considerable saving to the city and county and greatly benefiting the prisoners who left the jail at the expiration of their sentences improved in health, and possibly, morally.

Jail Overcrowded. Sheriff Cameron believes that London needs an industrial farm quite as much and probably more than other cities or municipalities where the question is being actively discussed. The jail is now overcrowded, and many of the prisoners incarcerated are of a class most likely to be benefited by the

Dr. Bruce Smith, discussing the question Wednesday with Sheriff Cameron, was confident that an industrial F. Fitzgerald, and Messrs. M. F. Irwin farm here could be made self-supporting. The number of officials need not be so large as for the jail.

"The moral result to follow the establishment of such a farm," Sheriff Cameron, "is the one point that should commend it to the sympathy of all who are interested in the welfare of that section of the community to be

Nurse Changes Story. G. S. Fisher, a nurse in the nome where Moore was employed. gave a story more favorable to Benson than her first version, given immediately following the killing. Then she said Benson had threatened

Moore's life, that she saw a gun in her room. She now contradicts this Her first story was to the effect that she had overheard Benson say to his mother that he would go out and settle Moore. Her new story conveys the impres sion that the conversation was merely about the settlement of some papers. She told the court that she last saw Benson when he went out of the room with his hat in his hand and no gun. She was then called by Mrs. Ferguson, Benson's sister, who took her to the stable, where Moore lay dead on his back, with his clothes slightly ruffled and no indications of struggle. When she first went to the Benson home, the nurse said, she was told by Benson that Moore was his sister's been in use for nearly forty years, and husband. he afterwards denying it, and saying that they were merely living together, and he and his brothers had ordered him off the place, as he was making trouble. Says Moore Attacked Him. Benson still sticks to his story that he was attacked by Moore, and took the gun from him, after two shots were fired and shot him when he started towards the house, admitting that he could have been half a mile away before Moore could return, but he was excited when he pulled the trigger. The nurse had testified that Benson knew there was no other gun in the house. A skilled lawyer has been retained by Benson. The date of trial has not been set.

THURSDAY MARKET

Hay and Oats Trading Good-Prices Remain Firm, With Eggs More Plentiful.

Hay was slow on the local market to-day, after the heavy offering and brisk sales of yesterday. More than 25 loads were brought to the square Thursday and trade in this line will be quiet in consequence for the remainder of the week. The prices this morning were $13 to $15. The oat market also showed increased energy late yesterday afternoon. Trading was brisk at $1.02 to $1.05. Today's prices are firm at these figures. Wheat, as usual, is firm at 85 to 86 cents. is firm at 85 to 86 cents.

Some time back, 1752 in England, residing at Minden, Michigan, it was discovered that on account of a mistake in observing the leap years, Falkner, of 507 Ontario street, who the calendar was falling behind the rotation of the earth. The mistake was made by counting the last year of each century as a leap year. It a number of friends while here. The was computed that the years since the funeral will be held Sunday at 1:30 adoption of the Caesarian calendar had contained in all eleven days too many. It was therefore decided to cut out eleven days from the year in which the mistake was discovered and to prevent future errors by only making the last year of a century a leap year when it is evenly divisible by 400. Thus 1800 and 1900 were not leap years. Popular clamor, of course, was against the change and amid riots the people cried out, "Give us back our eleven days." In Roman Catholic countries the correction was made by Pope Gregory XIII. in 1582, there being then ten days too many.

The Greek church did not adopt the change and has now come to be thirteen days behind the Roman Catholic and Protestant reckoning of time

By Standing Vote They Pass Resolution of Regret at Former Members Demise.

By a standing vote, the members of the board of education at its inaugural 1914 meeting Thursday evening, passed the following resolution in connection with the death of Dr. James D. Balfour, a former valued member of the board. The motion was moved by Trustee John M. Gunn, and seconded by Trustee W. T.

"That the members of the board of education have learned with the deepest regret of the sudden and untimely death of their old friend and colleague, Dr. James D. Balfour. Dr. Balfour was a valued member of the board for two years and during that time, he won the esteem and goodwill of all its members by his unfailing courtesy and his kindly spirit to-As a former member of the teaching profession who had branched out into other activities, he brought to the board the benefit of his wide experience, and his counsel was always wise and helpful.

We desire, therefore, to place upon record, our sense of the great loss sustained by the City of London through the lamented death of Dr. Balfour and to assure his family of our sincere sympathy with them in their sad bereavement."

In presenting the motion, Trustee Strong made a feeling reference to te worth of the late Dr. Balfour and said that he had received the news of the latter's death as a distinct per-

Verdict of Accidental Death Was Brought In at Inquest Into Special services in connection with the week of prayer were held in Lon-

Killing of Alex. McDonald.

The inquest last night into the death of Alexander McDonald, who was killed by an Ottaway car at the corner of Central avenue and William street on Friday night, Jan. 2, exonerated Hiram W. Purdy, the motorman of the car, from all blame. The jury's verdict

"That the said Alexander McDonald came to his death in the city of London on the evening of Jan 2, 1914, by being struck by a westbound car at the intersection of Central avenue and William street. From the evidence adduced we believe the fatality was purely accidental, and exonerate the motorman of the said car from all blame in the case."

The coroner, Dr. A. Maclaren, began the inquest at 8 o'clock at police head-quarters. The evidence was that Mr. McDonald was walking with his head the inquest at 8 o'clock at police head-quarters. The evidence was that Mr. McDonald was walking with his head down as if preoccupied, and stepped sud-denly in front of the car, which was going at a moderate rate of speed. naval bill. Ever since Hon. Geo. Perley returnd from England the question has been he subject of daily debate in council. It has been dealt with entirely from the political viewpoint. The Government has not been trying to decide what naval plan would be best for Canada and the Empire, but what would get it the most votes and the least opposition in Canada. Statecraft has not been applied to the problem, but politics have in a generous

It is only the ballots of Canadians that are being looked for now. So far, the Government has not been able to decide what program will appear most attractive to voters.

No Trouble in Britain. Hon. George Perley is understood to have brought back word that the British Government will be satisfied with whatever happens. A thirty-five million dollar contribution, a plan of Canada coast defence and shipbuilding or the decision to delay for another session will meet with no official hostile comment in London.

In the Government today there is clique which wants the naval bill of last session introduced as soon as the session opens. They maintain that this will convince the people that the Government is strong, consistent and worthy of support. White Wants a Holiday.

Finance Minister White, however, is unable to see where he can get the money, and is said to strongly favor a naval holiday for a year at least. He has ministerial support for this view. Another group of ministers want to adopt Hon. F. D. Monk's plan and bring down a measure for naval coast defence. The drydocks at Que-bec, Halifax and Esquimalt will be the basis of this policy if it is adopted. It is quite likely that the speech from the throne will not announce a naval bill as an item of the Government's legislative program, but that the matter will be left for decision to a party caucus which will be held immediately after the opening sitting. In this way the Government feels it would get the united judgment of members from all parts of Canada and at the same time escape the responsibility of putting forward a program which would not have the approval of all its Extremists Want Bill. Extremists outside the cabinet are making a strong effort to force the Government hand and compel the inroduction of last year's naval bill. Canadian clubs are being used by contribution champions. Sir Richard Mc Bride did not hesitate a short time ago to offend the Ottawa Canadian Club by taking advantage of an invitation to deliver a partisan naval address. Z A. Lash did the same thing in Toronto recently and in St. John, New Brunswick, on Monday, H. B. Ames, M. P. produced his magic lantern, and closed an address on how battleships are built by flashing on a screen extracts from Winston Churchill's message at last session to show that England wants thirty-five million dollars worth of battleships from Canada without de lay. Sir Hugh Graham and Sir John Willison are insisting, that the ships shall be provided this session.

An Empty Treasury. If the Government had been able to keep up the revenue of borrow money at reasonable rates the bill of last session would be introduced. With the treasury empty, however, Premier Borden has not yet steeled himself to stand for the gift.

FEAR INSULT TO FRENCH

Objection Raised To Site Proposed For Wolfe Memorial.

Quebec, Jan. 8.—The proposal of Canon F. G. Scott, the Canadian poet, to erect a memorial church in honor of General Wolfe on the Avenue des Braves, is op-posed by the Quebec St. Jean Baptiste posed by the Quebec St. Jean Baptiste Society. The society does not pronounce itself against the idea of honoring Wolfe, but objects to the site which has been suggested for the church, for the reason that this is hardly within the area covered by Wolfe's troops at the time of the engagement which decided the fate of Canada, while it commands the avenue leadada, while it commands the avenue leading to the Monument des Braves, which commemorates the repulse of Murray's men by General Levis, and forms part of this second battleground.

The same argument has already been employed by Lieut.-Colonel W. Wood, author of "The Fight for Canada" and other works, who also takes the position that to build a church in honor of Wolfe at this positionary and the control of the con

While Sir William is a man of more advanced years than Sir James, he still retains the strength of his prime, and is said to be willing to come to the aid of the Government, even though it involved a sacrifice of the higher honor that is now his. Sir William likes to be close to the Ontario Government, it is generally conceded, and is a man of sufficient strength to rule the Beck and Hanna elements, probably the only man who could maintain a surface show of peace among the ministers.

This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dan-druff, stop scalp itching and falling

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. CLEVER CAPTURE BY WINNIPEG POLICE

Stolen Arms and Ammunition Scured From Four Suspects Arrested.

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, Jan. 8.—In a sensational series of raids carefully planned and cleverly executed by the police, practically all the large quantities of arms and ammuni-tion stolen from the Hingston-Smith Arms Company by burglars early Saturday morning were recovered last night, and four men, thought to have been connected with the robberles, are under ar-rest. In addition, a lot of loot, identified as having been taken from other places entered lately, was recovered.

It is thought by the police that the arrests may assist in clearing up the mystery of the murder of Axel Hilbo by robbers.

PARENTS TOO APT TO CRIFICIZE WORK OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

In Annual Report Inspector C. B. Edwards Refers to Unfair Fault Finding-Year's Per Capita Education Cost Reduced.

year that has just commenced. The London public schools," says

Inspector Edwards, in his opening paragraph, "are trying to educate the children from five to fourteen years of age in such a way that the capacity of each child will be so developed that he will become an effic. ient individual and a good citizen." After referring to the benefits of the kindergarten. Inspector Edwards says: "It should be the aim of the grade teachers to continue to appeal to the interest of the child and to utilize his natural activity as he passes upward through the grades.' Following a lengthy reference to the advantages of various devices used for the purpose of developing the young idea, the report gives statement of the progress made in 1913 towards providing additional accommodation in various parts of the city. When the work is completed, there will be eleven additional class rooms, two household science and two manual training Inspector Edwards recomthe installation of further fresh-air equipment and other sanitary appliances. The necessity of providing increased accommodation in the northwestern portion of the city is also noted

Too Apt To Criticize. In his reference to the excelleent work of principals and teachers, considering the obstacle. provided overcrowded classes, Inspector Edwards makes the following significant observation: "I am afraid that the old-time custom of discussing teachers and their alleged shortcomings in conduct of their classes has not If parents would just reflect on their own occasional difficulties in controlling a family of say or eight healthy, robust normal children, they would be impressed with the trials of a teacher having 40 or 50 to manage. What would be the influence of a mother in governing her children if the father were so unwise as to criticize or oppose methods?"

The report tells of the money spent by the teachers in keeping in touch with modern teaching methods and intimates that the salaries are by far too low. Utilizing the interrogative instinct in children, and the need of smaller classes, are also thoroughly gone into.

What Education Costs. The average cost per pupil, based on the average monthly enrollment for the past five years, is as follows:

Public school classes-$28 60 $30 65 $31 12 $19 34 $28 48 $22 74 $22 01 $21 21 $16 31 The cost for the years 1909 to 1911 inclusive, embraces all the expenditures for and interest on debentures.

In estimating the cost for 1913 in the kindergarten and the grade classes, 25 per cent. was deducted from the total kindergarten salaries and charged to the grade classes on account of the kindergarten teachers devoting part of their time in the afternoon, to assisting in the primary and other school work.

The Delicacy of Baby's Skin

Cold Air, Rough Winds, Strong Soaps Often Bring on Chronic Eczema.

More beautiful than the rose is baby's skin when in health, and so delicate that it is susceptible to anything which irritates. For this reason baby's skin troubles are many, and frequently chronic itching eczema is developed.

Nothing can be better for baby's skin, when irritated, than Dr. Chase's Ointment, and when eczema is developed you can apply this preparation with the knowledge that its wonderful record as a healer of the skin is due to the success it has proven in cure of eczema.

the little one to bear, and is a source of worry and anxiety to the mother. The itching parts are scratched, and nasty and colored scars are formed. Eczema naturally becomes chronic, and spreads over the body. You can positively control eczema and cure it by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. What is better still is to use this ointment for all chafing and irritation of the skin and prevent eczema from getting started.

George Rice Now Admits That He Issued Bad Check.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Jan. 8 .- If he can make restitution, George Rice, of Orwell, will be dealt with leniently on the charge of forgery and uttering a check to which he pleaded guilty today before Magistrate Patterson. The court scored Rice for his conduct, and said that in view of the seriousness of the offence he could not expect to get away free.

Rice was brought from Aylmer yesterday, and at first denied all knowledge of the matter. Later he pleaded guilty. On Dec. 5 he cashed a check at Dunn's hardware store. He made it payable to Geore Smith, and signed the name of Fred Heeney, a farmer, of West Oxford. Only a short time before he had been in and presented a good check signed in this way. Deafeat of Hydro Has Brought the Question To the Front

[Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, Jan. 8 .- The defeat of the hydro-electric proposition by Sandwich has given life to the old issue of the consolidation of Windsor and Sandwich. Sandwich will have to spend $100,000 to modernize itself, according to Secretary McCormick, of the Sandwich Board of Trade, and this fact, it is declared, has given a favorable turn to the proposition, to the minds of many Sandwich people. Mayor Henry Clay, of Windsor, said hat despite the obligations Windsor would have to assume, he believed the proposition would be received favorably by Windsor. No action, however, has been taken in either city.

IN A FRENCH PRISON

Jail For Life For Slaying Emma Levin.

[Canadian Press.] Montpellier, France, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Violet Goold, who with her husband, Vere St. Ledger Goold, was serving a term of life imprisonment for the mur der of Emma Levin in the summer of 1907, the crime being known as "The Monte Carlo Trunk Mystery," died in prison today.

1907, attracted great attention because of the enormity of the crime, the manner in which the murder was committed, and the dramatic arrest of the principals, who were taken by the police while seeking to escape with a trunk containing portions of the body of their victim. The murdered woman had been lured by the Goolds to their ville and robbed of valuable jewelry Her dismembered body was packed in a trunk, which was shipped to Mar-seilles, the trunk later being found among the baggage of the Goolds. The Goolds were for years residents of Montreal.

Mrs. Goold was originally sentenced to be guillotined, and her husband was sentenced to life imprisonment. The woman's sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life, owing to the

The trial of the Goolds in December, place in the principality of Monaco.
