

NO WATER BECAUSE NO LAND ENTIRE PROPOSITION HELD UP

Hon. Adam Beck Serves Official Notice on the City That He Cannot Go Ahead With the Work—Special Meeting of the Power Committee Has Been Called for Tonight.

Hon. Adam Beck has served notice upon the city that unless he obtains possession of the land recently purchased from the London Street Railway for a power site immediately, he will be unable to sign an agreement with the city for building the plant. A communication was received by City Clerk Baker this morning from Mr. Beck pointing out that the difficulty between him and the city is not the land, but the money. He will pay the amount asked by the city, $200,000, provided the city reimburse him, or will pay the money themselves to the alderman.

It was agreed that the power committee should deal with the communication tonight. A Bad Position. "The London Street Railway promised to give me the land free of encumbrances," said Mr. Beck. "They have not done so, and it leaves me in a bad position. If the council will authorize me to pay the money, I will do so, and get to work. If the council will not pay the money, I will not do so, and get to work, that's all." The London Street Railway will remit the rent, and pay part of the cost of removing the lumber, but they will not do anything more. Ald. Ferguson insists that he is acting well within his rights, and maintains that because the company are holding Mr. Beck up, he has no right to be placed in a false light before the public. He is a member of the power committee, and it is possible that this side of the question will come out in the meeting this evening. Some minor matters will also engage the attention of the committee.

NICKEL SHOWS AND THE CHURCH

Rev. Mr. Goforth Says More Members Will Go to the Former Than the Latter.

SOMETHING WRONG HERE

Says the Minister to St. Andrew's Congregation on Sunday—A Strong Sermon.

"There is something wrong in London when you can get more church members to go to a nickel show than to a prayer meeting," said Rev. Jonathan Goforth at St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning. "God is on the outside. When I first opened the revival services here and on the open night found only six elders in attendance out of more than fifty in the city. I thought there was not much chance of a revival here. Pitiful little Christians who have to be borne along by amusements."

The Devil Is Strong. "The devil is just as strong today as he ever was. How many pitiful failures there are in life because men trust in their own strength and not in God's. Disobeying God's command is as great a sin as God is mighty. There must be some place for fixing responsibility, and if we neglect God's plain call to duty He will hold us responsible. He denied Christ, because he trusted in his own strength, and how often in our business and home life do we betray Christ, and cause the world to wag its tongue and say, 'I told you so.' When we really accept God as we should, our hearts will be sad for the church of today. We will not need to say, 'Is it right to dance?' or 'Is it right to play cards?' for we will be filled with higher thoughts and aspirations. We will love God as he demands, and man as he demands."

KILLED HIS FATHER

Son Claimed That He Did It in Protecting Mother.

Cheshocton, Ohio, Sept. 27.—William Davis, 20 years old, killed his father, Eli Davis, six miles south of here yesterday during a quarrel between the boy's parents. The son says his father threatened to strike his mother, and in order to protect her he struck his father down with a hatchet. The police say the boy also stabbed his father near the heart with a knife. The son is under arrest. Eli Davis is said to have quarreled with his wife because she did not cook his breakfast to suit him.

HARRY WHITNEY SENDS A MESSAGE

Meeting With Cook at Annatok—Instructed What to Say to Peary.

But Peary Would Not Allow Anything Belonging to the Explorer on the Roosevelt.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 27.—The Journal-Courier today publishes the following message from Harry Whitney, of New Haven, who, while hunting in the north, met Dr. Cook and received from him records and instruments relating to Dr. Cook's discovery of the North Pole: "Steamship Surtacana, via Marconi Wireless, Indian Harbor and Cape Ray, Nfld., Sept. 26. 'Norris G. Osborn, Editor Journal-Courier, New Haven, Conn. Arrived Thursday, Sept. 24, 1909. I was asked to tell Peary if he arrived before I left, but to tell him that Cook had beaten his record of 1906. Nothing having arrived for me we started south on Roosevelt. Cook left box full of contents unknown to me to bring back, but Peary would allow nothing belonging to Cook aboard the Roosevelt, and I was forced to leave everything in Cache Etab."

"Good shooting. Regards to all. (Signed) HARRY WHITNEY."

Peary Off for New York

Portland, Sept. 26.—The steamship Roosevelt reached Eagle Island at noon today in the midst of a north-east storm and dropped anchor off the island. That she would stop at Eagle Island on her way to New York not known to any one but Commander Peary and her commander.

Peary said that she had come to Eagle Island for instruction before proceeding to New York, and to land his personal effects. The ship sailed at dark for Sandy Hook, which Capt. Bartlett said he expected to reach Tuesday night, although she may not reach there until Wednesday morning. The moment she reaches New York she will be under the instruction of the Peary Arctic Club, and when she takes part in the Fulton parade, as it was stated she would, Commander Peary will be upon her bridge.

Today Peary said that he did not intend to go to New York until the Cook controversy was cleared up, and he would wait until the Fulton parade tomorrow noon to hold a conference with Gen. Thos. H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club, who has had Peary's statement in his possession since Thursday and who will advise with him on Monday about making it public.

The men on the Roosevelt feel certain that when this statement of Peary's is given to the world there will be but one opinion relative to the claim of Dr. Cook. That is, the statement will go clear the atmosphere that when Peary stands upon the Roosevelt's bridge in the Fulton parade, he will be acclaimed as the only man who has ever stood up on the top of the earth.

Commander Peary has not given out any information about his Roosevelt touching at Eagle Island.

The boys, who were watching the game from behind the pressstand, ignited a number of fireworks, and the fire department was called out. The boys were as dry as tinder, and in a short time the foundation for a big fire was laid.

Luckily it was noticed in time, and was quickly extinguished by the caretaker and others without the aid of the fire department. The boys were well filled at the time, and the fire was started on the ceiling of the only exit, the gates at either end being locked.

MESSAGE FROM COOK AN UNFRIENDLY DEAL

Says Peary's Boatwain, Murphy. Treated Capt. Bernier in Unfriendly Way.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Sept. 27.—A message from Dr. Frederick A. Cook to the Ottawa Free Press, in response to an inquiry to the delivery of supplies for Dr. Cook by Captain Bernier, in charge of the Canadian Government steamer Arctic, now cruising the north, indicates that Captain Bernier met with unfriendly treatment at the hands of Boatwain Murphy, of Peary's crew.

"Bernier brought supplies sent by Mrs. Cook. Left them at Etah in care of Harry Whitney on Aug. 20, 1908. Bernier asked for Esquimaux and dogs, and was refused by Murphy."

In Bernier's letter, Beechy Island, Lancaster Sound, was given as his next winter station. See Whitney on Jeanne, now at Battle Harbor, Labrador.

GIBSON WILL BEAT DETROIT OUT SAYS ONLY DE WOLFE HOPPER

London Boy Is Greatly Admired by the Prince of Comedians—Man of "Casey at the Bat" Fame Talks of World's Championship.

"Gibson will prevent Detroit winning the world's championship," said De Wolfe Hopper, the great comedian to The Advertiser, this afternoon. Mr. Hopper will appear at "The Madison Hotel," his latest vehicle, at the Grand this evening.

"The Pirates have a great team, a hard-hitting, hard-working team," said Mr. Hopper. "They are sluggers, and hit the ball hard. Their pitchers are as good, if not better, than Detroit's, but upon Gibson will fall the bulk of the defensive work. He will have to keep the fast runners Hughie Jennings has close to the bases, and steady the whole team. He can do it, and I look for his great work to keep the Tigers on the flag."

He is a thirty-third degree baseball fan, and as such is a roofer for talk on the baseball situation. He is an ardent admirer and personal friend of John J. McGraw, the Giants' manager, and he is a roofer for that team. However, his loyalty to the Giants does not prevent him taking a keen interest in baseball, and the players of other teams.

"I am for the Giants, of course. I am a personal friend of McGraw, and Mathewson and Mr. Brush, and so I am loyal to that team. We did not win the flag, but we kept the Cubs from doing that, so we are happy."

Mr. Hopper is greatly pleased with his latest vehicle, and is confident that it will make a great success.

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION SEEN BY 5,000,000 PERSONS

Naval Parade Was Ten Miles in Length and Included 1,000 Vessels—Estimate of Visitors in New York Range to 2,500,000—Booming Welcome From Men of War.

New York, Sept. 26.—Five million people, massed in cheering battalions along the western edge of Manhattan Island, the Jersey shore and the water front of Brooklyn, watched the brilliant naval parade that marked the formal opening of the Hudson-Fulton centennial celebration on Saturday.

The demonstration that followed the progress of the Half Moon and the Clermont, replicas of the craft made famous by Henry Hudson and Robert Fulton, as they ascended the historic Hudson with their masts, funnels and 1,000 ships, has never been equalled in America. The marine parade was more than ten miles in length and represented every type of ship from the graceful yacht to the massive British battleship, Indefatigable. There aristocrats of the ocean were gay with flags; from their masts fluttered rainbows of silken pennant and from their decks floated the inspiring martial music of more than 100 bands. The guns of 57 warships boomed a thunderous response to the cheers of the throngs that lined the shores as the ships majestically up the stream.

Auspicious Day. An ideal day of brilliant sunshine, with a fresh breeze from the ocean, crowned the two years of preparation for the fête. The harbor fairly sparkled in reflecting the dazzling garb of the craft gathered like great white flocks of sea birds waiting for the flight up the river. In the clear atmosphere not a detail of the parade, which continued until late this afternoon, was lost by the enthusiastic onlookers.

The land ceremonies were confined to a reception at Waldorf-Astoria during the morning of the flag and ranking officers of the visiting fleets and the diplomatic delegates to the celebration. Vice-President Sherman, Governor Hughes, Mayor McClellan and Joseph H. Choate, former American ambassador to Great Britain, were the receiving committee.

In the parade were 57 warships, representing the navies of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Mexico and Argentina—450,000 tons of steel, bearing 28,000 officers and men and armed with 1,897 guns.

One hundred and twenty steamboats and ferries.

BOYS STARTED FIRE IN BASEBALL STANDS

Tecumseh Park Had a Close Call From Being Burned on Saturday.

C. W. BENNETT ILL WITH TYPHOID FEVER

Well-Known Vaudeville Magnate in Serious Condition at His Home in New York.

Very many Londoners will be sorry to hear that Mr. C. W. Bennett, formerly of Bennett's Theatrical Enterprises, and who returned from a business trip to the south some weeks ago, is seriously ill with typhoid fever in New York, at his home on the Hudson. Mr. Bennett had been ailing for some time, but on Sept. 16 he became so ill that he was ordered to keep to his bed.

He was all prepared to go west, to Lansing, Iowa, where he was to meet his mother and take part in a family reunion, later to take in the Seattle Exposition, when he was taken ill.

The physicians say his case is serious, but it is hoped that he will pull through.

DIVIDEND IN SIGHT FROM YORK LOAN

May Be Paid About Christmas—First Dividend Will Be 25 Per Cent Cash.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Sept. 27.—After waiting patiently through four years of liquidation proceedings, 124,900 shareholders and claimants against the defunct York County Loan and Savings Company are about to receive their first dividend of 25 per cent.

MAYOR CONGRATULATES "MOONEY" GIBSON

Move for a Civic Reception to the London Player Well Received.

The question of a civic reception for "Mooney" Gibson will be dealt with by the council on Monday night, and will be referred to the reception committee to work out the details.

Many of the aldermen have been approached by private citizens, who desire to act in conjunction with the committee in making the affair a pronounced success.

Ald. Moorhead, who has the resolution ready, stated at noon today that he had been approached by several citizens, who asked to have the matter referred to the reception committee, so that they could confer with that body in working out a joint celebration.

A Popular Move. "It is a very popular move, and I do not think we could do too much for Mooney Gibson," said Ald. Moorhead.

Mr. Smith could not say exactly what amount of the first payment would be, but at the time of liquidation, the shareholders' claims were figured out to be a total of $1,500,000, which would mean $375,000 in round numbers.

"The first payment will not be all cash," Mr. Smith explained. "There are thousands of accounts on which money was borrowed, and all indebtedness will be deducted on this dividend, so that the second will be all money."

The checks are not yet dated, and may not go out much before Christmas. There are still 10,000 books which have not been turned in. They will be paid when the second dividend is declared, if the books are turned in.

ENGINEER CHIPMAN IN LONDON TO REPORT ON SEWER SYSTEM

Is To Make a Minute Examination of the Situation and Will Have His Report Ready in a Short Time—Is Now Busy With the Plans.

Mr. Willis Chipman, of Toronto, the consulting engineer, arrived in the city last night to make an investigation into the local sewer situation, which has become so serious that a hole-in-the-corner meeting was held by the council last Monday evening to discuss the matter, as announced exclusively in The Advertiser the day after the meeting.

This morning, Mr. Chipman was engaged with City Engineer Graydon, and Assistant Engineer Wright, in looking over plans of sewers preparatory to entering upon his investigations proper.

When interviewed by The Advertiser, Mr. Chipman had little to say. He was engaged upon the plans when "spoken to."

He had an interview with City Engineer Graydon also, and they talked over the situation for some time. It is also understood that he had a long conversation with Mayor Stevely.

Mr. Chipman will visit the syphon station this afternoon, and will examine the ground about Evergreen avenue.

A number of the aldermen are also investigating the local system, and are all in favor of a larger outlet at the syphon station.

"I am busy with the plans," said Mr. Chipman. "Much has been added to the system of late years, since the main sewerage system was constructed, and I desire to familiarize myself with all the plans before looking over the

A twenty-inch pipe is all that carries away the sewage from the city, and that is not adequate, it is considered."

POLICE MAGISTRATE HAD A VERY LIGHT DOCKET

Sam Woolson Appeared on Assault Charge, But It Had Been Settled.

Magistrate Love had a very brief session at the police court this morning. Sam Woolson, who last week was bailed in connection with an assault on Michael Sheppard, appeared on a local rest, and that a settlement had been arrived at on condition that Woolson pay the costs, amounting to $2. This was done. A case in which Charles Myers, a local restaurateur, was charged by Helen Mulligan with non-payment of wages, was settled between the parties out of court.

MISTAKEN FOR SEAL AND SHOT DEAD

Perilous Trip of Party in the North—Explorer Caldwell Given Up.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The Northwest Mounted Police mail from the far north has reached Ottawa. Five men left Fullerton in an open whaleboat on July 6 and reached Churchill, four hundred miles south on the shore of Hudson Bay July 23.

Sergeant Joyce reports an unexpected winner at Fullerton. The only fatality was to a native who, while seal hunting, was mistaken for a seal by Constable McMillan and killed by a bullet through the back of the head fired from three hundred yards. There was no resentment by the natives who appreciated the fact that a mistake had been made.

The report states that natives at Baker Lake have been entirely given up. Explorer Caldwell and his two native companions, who started across the interior three years ago, Commander Moody reports that he left Churchill harbor May 6.

AURORA BOREALIS CUT UP PRANKS IN LONDON

Telegraph operators all through the country experienced endless trouble and inconvenience on Saturday by the action of strange electrical currents in the air, and in the ground. They attribute the trouble in some way to the action of the Aurora Borealis. It is stated that when certain spots on the sun are turned towards the earth the trouble is very noticeable.

HE JUST SMILES

Labor Men Know That Hon. J. M. Gibson Is Not Antagonistic to Labor.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—Hon. J. M. Gibson, lieutenant-governor, when seen about the resolution of the Trades and Labor Congress, calling upon him to resign, did not say much, but he smiled broadly. "Are you going to resign?" queried the reporter. There was no audible answer to this question.

"Yes," said the Lieutenant-Governor. "I may have made some complimentary reference to Mr. Hobson, president of the Manufacturers' Association. I may have made a statement derogatory to employment of agitators from United States, to come over here and foment strikes. These things I may have said, but did not show antagonism to the labor movement."

"Then you are not opposed to the organizations of labor?"

"No," said his honor, with emphasis, "and some of them show that very well." Further than that, he said, he did not discuss the matter. He would give out no written reply to allegations of the labor congress. "These I am asked by somebody other than the press." He added, with a laugh, "And being King's representative" as labor men admitted, it will take very high authority indeed to draw a written reply from his honor.

BURNED OUT.

Up at the C. P. R. depot one of the instruments was burned out by the action of the strange currents. It was the first time in the operators' experience that he had had such trouble, and he was at a loss to account for it.

The C. P. R. downtown office also had a great deal of trouble, and at times business was at a standstill in many districts.

RIGGS AND MURRAY FREE MEN ROBBERY CHARGE NOT PROVEN

Judge Macbeth Says the Evidence Was Not Sufficient to Warrant a Commitment—Murray, After Acquittal, Swears He Never Saw Nicholls Until He Met Him in the Court Room.

Frank Riggs and George Murray, the two men accused of assaulting and robbing him up and robbing him while in that condition, were this morning discharged by Judge Macbeth with a warning on the ground that the evidence submitted was not of the nature to warrant a commitment.

In his evidence as taken before the judge on Wednesday morning the plaintiff acknowledges to having taken a number of drinks, and some parts of his testimony were inclined to be erratic, and his honor did not think that any of the men were in a condition to say what actually occurred, and so decided that he could not commit the two men. Before dismissing the case, however, Judge Macbeth called Murray to him and gave him a warning, telling him that if he did not mend his way the life he was leading would certainly land him behind bars.

When Murray was released this morning he solemnly swore that he had never seen Nicholls in his life till he appeared against him. The contention he has made throughout the case.

Three hundred tugs and steam lighters.
Four hundred sailing craft and small launches.

Sailors of Every Clime.

Today the sailors of eight nations—England, Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Mexico, Argentina and the United States—were gathered along the streets of New York mingling with others from north, south and east and west in the first day of Hudson-Fulton celebration yesterday. Beginning at noon, Riverside Drive, a vantage point affording a view of the anchorage, began to fill rapidly, and at 3 o'clock was again unobtainably crowded, although there was no organized naval parade today.

The Half Moon and the Clermont lay at their anchorages, where they will remain until the naval parade of Friday, October 1, when, escorted by the light draft warships and followed by the merchant fleet, the German commander, who inquired before Dewey went into action, and while the attitude of the German fleet, then at anchor in the same waters, was still a matter of anxiety, what action the English proposed to take, won him in popularity in this country and passed into history as crystallized in the aphorism of Mr. Dooley:

"That," said Sir Edward, with significant ambiguity, "is a matter known only to Admiral Dewey and myself."

Admiral Seymour's fleet. Admiral Seymour became still better known to Americans during the international occupation of Peking at the time of the Boxer uprising. His fleet here consists of the armored cruisers Inflexible (17,500 tons, 23 knots), Drake (14,100 tons, 24 knots), Ansgar (10,850 tons, 23 knots), and the Duke of Edinburgh (13,550 tons, 22 knots).

Grand Admiral Von Koester is also well known to Americans. An intimate friend of the Kaiser, 50 years an officer, and one of the committee which drew up the plans regarding the Hudson-Fulton celebration, he is a native of the German Navy League, and his appointment to the Hudson-Fulton command is both a compliment to his own honor and career and to this country. His fleet consists of the cruisers Dresden (3,544 tons), Hertha (5,595 tons), and the Duke of Edinburgh (13,550 tons).

France sends three battleships under Admiral le Port—the Verite (14,635 tons), Justice (14,435 tons) and the Liberté (14,435 tons). Italy sends two battleships—the Etruria and Etna; the Argentine Republic, the Netherlands, Mexico and Cuba, one each.

The programme for tomorrow includes probable flights by Wilbur Wright and Glenn Curtiss from Governor's Island and the opening of various commemorative and art exhibits throughout the city.

The international aspect of the celebration is attested by the attendance of the foreign war ships. Besides the fifty vessels of the United States Atlantic fleet under Admiral Clegg, Admiral Schroeder, the foreign navies are represented by sixteen fighting craft in all. Great Britain has four, Germany has four also, France has two, Italy has two, Mexico has one, Argentina has one and Cuba has one.

The United States fleet is represented by the battleships Connecticut (15,000 tons), Flagship Vermont (16,000 tons), Kansas (16,000), Louisiana (16,000), Minnesota (16,000), New Hampshire (16,000), Mississippi (13,000), Idaho (13,000), Georgia (14,948), Jersey (14,948), Nebraska (14,948), Rhode Island (14,948), Virginia (14,948), Missouri (12,300), and Ohio (12,440). The armored cruisers North Carolina (14,500 tons, speed 22.28 knots), New York (8,200), Montana (14,500 tons, 22 knots), the scout cruisers Chester, Birmingham and Salem (3,750 tons, 25 knots), and a fleet of five submarines.

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctors said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would cause instant death. They found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women." Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 284 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—cancer. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

TEMPERANCE PARADE IN WICKED CHICAGO

Biggest in City's History—Their Banners Bid Defiance to the Foe.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Chicago saw the biggest temperance parade in the history of the city yesterday afternoon. The spirit of Frances Willard, materialized in 25,000 prohibition enthusiasts, marched down Michigan avenue, swathed in banners, decorated with 1,000 transparencies and inspired by the music of a score of bands.

It was the greatest temperance parade Chicago ever had seen—and the most enthusiastic. From the time that General Frederick Dent Grant, as grand marshal, at the head of his aids and an escort of Grand Army veterans, swung off from Twenty-first street and Michigan avenue to lead the way down the boulevard until the journey was ended at Jackson Boulevard, and the river, the parade was a continual round of hymn singing, band blaring and cheers.

Fifty thousand people stood packed along the sidewalks of the loop and saw it go by. Hundreds of others watched it from balconies and the windows of skyscrapers. For thirty minutes after the loop crossings strived to contain the mesh of vehicles that choked the streets on every side and bring order to the chaos that threatened the lives and limbs of pedestrians.

Nearly every vehicle known to man had been mustered into service to take part in the demonstration. There were policemen and parade marshals on horseback and preachers and parishioners on foot. There were automobiles by the hundred, from the huge touring car and delivery wagon to the smallest of runabouts and the slickest of motor cycles. There were victorias and phaetons, trolleybuses, and shays, and every delivery wagon. Every one of them was decorated with bunting and each carried some sort of a legend representing its compliments to the liquor traffic and inviting the voter to put it out of business.

The parade was to the average man a revelation of the power of the total abstinence sentiment in Chicago. Every section of the city was represented. Nearly every church, every temperance club and every reform organization sent its members. Such a huge outpouring of power could not but have its effect on the politician, who judges popular forces by numbers, and such a display of interest and enthusiasm must have commanded respect for the power of the movement which inspired it, even among those who were opposed to it.

The parade struck one great and sensitive popular chord. That was in the number of women and children who took part. A crowd of little boys marching under the banner "Can You Spare Yours?" was cheered. In contrast came the "original crusaders" in the temperance movement, men and women who had lived their best years in the fight. Among these was a woman of 84 years and another only a year from her grave. Mrs. W. C. T. U. ranks were Mrs. Emily Hill, president of the Cook County W. C. T. U., and a delegation from the national capital, led by Mrs. W. L. Cathron.

KILLS A BURGLAR AT END OF ROPE

Crack Shot Puts Two Bullets In Swinging Human Target.

New York, Sept. 27.—When a burglar swung by a rope from the roof of a flat house at No. 138 Bathgate avenue shortly before dawn today and forced the bathroom window of the flat of William Rosse, a civil engineer, on the fourth floor, he did not know he was invading the home of a man who is one of the best revolver shots in the city. Mr. Rosse, awakened by the burglar, shot him twice.

The body of the outlaw is yet unidentified at the Bathgate avenue police station. "I hit him where I aimed," said Mr. Rosse, quietly. "He slid down the rope and got a half block away from the house. I fired the first shot, but I felt sure I had him the moment I fired." The dead man was undoubtedly a professional house burglar, familiar with all the tricks of his trade. In one of his pockets was found a slip of paper marked "Diagram of roofs of houses in 106 and 107 street."

When the body had been taken to the station house Cullen went to the roof of the Bathgate avenue flat where the shooting had occurred and found there a pair of shoes, slightly worn, and a black derby hat. They were close to a chimney to which was tied the rope that swung down from the bathroom window of Mr. Rosse's flat.

Inasmuch as Mr. Rosse admitted firing two shots that had evidently killed a man, a policeman Cullen took him around to the station house. All the policemen on duty shook hands with Mr. Rosse and he was installed in the captain's room with a box of cigars at hand to await action on the part of the coroner.

These Cottons Were Bought When the Market Was Low

And anticipating the rise which has since taken place, heavy orders were placed with the manufacturers. More Cottons were bought than we would sell in one season, under ordinary circumstances. Our customers will profit now through these purchases, as the same qualities could not be bought today to sell at anywhere near the prices we quote below; and what would be too much Cotton for us at present mill prices may prove to be far short of the demand at the prices they are marked for this sale. Take advantage of it and get your supply now.

SERIES OF FRAUDS

A Number of Big Wholesale Dealers Victimized.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 25.—A remarkable series of frauds has been discovered here, in which Vancouver firms are interested, but where eastern Canadian and American wholesale houses have been victimized. Robert Kelly, head of Kelly, Douglas & Co., wholesale grocers, received a letter a week ago from an eastern supply house, thanking them for a large order, and stating that this firm was favorably impressed with Kelly's buyer, Mr. Blank. Kelly had no employee of that name, and an investigation showed that some confidence operator had victimized the wholesalers in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Batulion, Chicago, and other cities, had given orders in the name of Kelly, Douglas & Co., and cashed thousands of dollars of expense checks.

THEY HELP YOUR STOMACH OUT

And Save You a World of Wretchedness.

A stomach that cannot digest a good meal is certainly a sore trial. It has been responsible for almost everything in the way of human misery, up to suicide. The trouble in most cases is that the stomach and other digestive organs lack vigor. Not enough of the juices necessary to digestion are secreted, nor does the stomach work up the food properly.

The worst of it is that there is not sufficient nourishment taken out of the food to restore the system's vigor, and the trouble goes from bad to worse. The stomach needs help.

"Little Digesters" meet the need exactly. One "Little Digester" after each meal will insure perfect digestion, provided, of course, that the food is good and wholesome. "Little Digesters" are guaranteed to cure indigestion and dyspepsia, or your money will be refunded. 25¢ at your druggist's or by mail from the Coleman Medicine Company, Toronto.

BURGLARS INVADE ESSEX

Thirteen Houses Broken Into in Three Nights.

Windsor, Sept. 26.—Thirteen burglaries in three nights is the record of housebreakers who began their operations in Leamington on Monday, and have since been working east through Ontario, with stops at Tilbury and Ridgeway.

The thirteenth on the list was at the home of Phil Bowyer, member of the Ontario Legislature for one of the Kent ridings. The burglars probably expected a rich haul, but all they got was a handful of cigars.

Four Leamington homes were entered Monday night. Next night there were four burglaries in Tilbury, and the series up to date ended with five burglaries in Ridgeway Wednesday night, including the Bowyer home. In each case the work was done so quietly that the inmates knew nothing about it until next morning. Detective Charles Mahoney, of Windsor, is convinced that all the burglaries were the work of one gang. The burglars overhauled silverware and other articles of value, and ransacked the houses for money. The total of their hauls did not exceed $40.

MISLEADING BRITISH ELECTORS.

Mr. Chaplin, a prominent Chamberlainite, who is always sure of a place in a Unionist ministry, expresses the opinion that Great Britain, under proper tariff arrangements, could supply Canada with $250,000,000 worth of goods which she imports at present. A slight examination of Canadian trade statistics would have shown Mr. Chaplin his error.

In the last fiscal year Canada imported from the neighboring republic goods to the value of $192,661,360, while our imports from the United Kingdom totalled $79,556,738. There are reasons for this material difference which no tariff arrangement can overcome. In the first place, the United States has a geographical advantage. That is why that country was able to sell us last year $28,370,953 worth of coal and coke, as compared with $331,223 worth imported from Great Britain.

Among our imports from across the border there are also numerous articles which the mother country does not produce: for instance, fruits, such as oranges, bananas, pineapples, lemons and limes, of which we took last year over three and a half million dollars' worth. Corn, cornmeal, broom corn, rubber, petroleum and its products, certain metals and manufactures thereof are other things for which we are compelled to go to the country of production, the United States.

Settlers' effects constitute another important item of imports. The tide of immigration has been very heavy of late years. People have been pouring in not only from across the Atlantic, but from over the southern border, and while the former, as a rule, are not blessed with an abundance of this world's goods, the latter are for the most part well-to-do farmers, who bring their household goods. Last year settlers' effects of the value of $1,665,084 were brought in from the United States against only $172,463 worth from Great Britain.

Canada imports about $75,000,000 worth of duty-free goods annually from the United States, consisting largely of raw materials which it is her interest to buy in the cheapest market. No tariff juggling could divert that trade from the United States, except to the great detriment of this country.

IRRIGATION IN THE WEST.

Last year showed a marked decrease in the number of applications to the Dominion Government for water for irrigation purposes in Western Canada, and an equally notable shrinkage in the number of applicants to purchase land under the irrigation system. This, according to the report of the superintendent of forestry, is probably due to two main causes—first, the adoption at the beginning of last year of new regulations which require the actual irrigation of fifty per cent of lands purchased under the irrigation system, instead of twenty-five per cent, as formerly; and secondly, to the provisions of the amended Dominion lands act permitting the acquirement by settlers of land by pre-emption or purchase, in addition to that acquired by homestead entry. A third, and perhaps equally important cause, is the fact that the valleys of the principal streams are now pretty well settled and the available water supply largely appropriated, thus making it necessary to construct larger and more expensive ditches if the remaining available water supply is to be utilized by means of reservoirs and applied to the higher lands adjoining the settled valleys. The cost of such work is usually beyond the means of the average settler.

In the so-called semi-arid district, which comprises Southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan, the tendency of irrigation development has naturally been to acquire the easily irrigable lands in the valleys, either by homestead entry or by purchase under the irrigation system, or by both means, and to secure a water right from the nearest stream. These lands are low and fairly level irrigation ditches can be built at moderate cost, and a fair proportion of the land brought under the ditch. The result has been the settlement of the more desirable valley lands, leaving the equally productive bench lands undeveloped, owing to the higher cost of bringing water to them. Usually each irrigator owns his own system of ditches independently, but there seems to be a gradual realization by the settlers that better results can be obtained by co-operation in building large ditches following a higher level, from which laterals or subsidiary ditches can be run to the lands of each co-owner. By this means a much larger acreage can be irrigated than by the independent system, and the proportionate cost of construction and maintenance should also be less.

As co-operative ditch construction is not likely to be extensively practiced in the near future, and as there are several large tracts of land unsuitable for settlement without irrigation, the policy has been adopted of disposing of large blocks of land to persons or companies at a low price, subject to agreements to construct works for the irrigation of not less than 25 per cent of the area sold, and to dispose of the land and water rights to actual settlers on terms satisfactory to the Minister of the Interior, or specified in the agreements. One such project, the canal system of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company, is in successful operation, and another, the Saskatchewan-Alberta Land Company, has been authorized and the contract let for the main diversion canal. In addition the C. P. R. has been given permission to consolidate operations of their land grant and to acquire all the available lands, instead of alternate sections only, within a tract lying along the line of their railway eastward from Calgary and north of Bow River. This tract comprises some 3,000,000 acres. The company has been given permission to divert water from Bow River by means of storage reservoirs within the tract the company will probably be able to conserve, and use sufficient water for the irrigation of some 2,000,000 acres.

THE COMING COMET.

The return of the Halley comet is exciting the astronomical world. Next year it will be an object of public curiosity as it becomes visible to the naked eye. The date of its closest approach to the sun is the middle of April. It was last seen in 1835, when it departed on its distant journey to the confines of the solar system. It is called Halley's comet after the British astronomer, Halley, who proved definitely by means of it, when it appeared in 1759, that these bodies can go on long journeys and return to the sun. He made a pathetic appeal to his countrymen to remember that it was an Englishman who discovered this new and startling fact in astronomical science.

The comet possesses great historical interest. It was present at the destruction of Jerusalem. In 1456 it was supposed that it fought on the side of the Turks. In 1665 when William the Conqueror landed in England, it shone in the sky and was figured on the Bayeux tapestry. In those ages it was attributed to a special act of Providence, like many natural phenomena, and it inspired universal awe and terror. Scientists tell us that the fear of a collision between the earth and a comet is unfounded. There would be no danger even if the earth were swished by a comet's tail.

Halley's comet was photographed two weeks ago by Dr. Max Wolf, of Heidelberg University, Germany, at a distance of 200,000,000 miles. No telescope could watch its courses during the 74 years of its absence, but astronomers could fix its position year by year and point to the place it would occupy in the sky till, obeying the summons of the sun, it should return once more to the centre of the system. It is now singularly close to the place predicted by Mr. Cowell of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich.

The hammers with which Peary and Cook nailed the flags to the North Pole they are now using on each other's heads.

The aurora borealis is blamed for disarranging the electrical services of the world yesterday. The A. B. may be agitated over the polar controversy.

The Dingley tariff was revised by its friends. No one can say they used it roughly. They gave it a new name, but that's the only change visible to the naked eye.

The Toronto News, Toronto Mail, Hamilton Spectator, London Free Press and the other Yellowplushes of the Canadian press, are mingling their tears with those of the British dukes.

The New York Journal doesn't like the spirit shown by Peary in compelling him to turn back when they neared the pole, so that he should have the sole honor of its discovery. Peary is not as great as his work.

The American Publishers' Association is in arms against the new American pulp and paper duties, which it says are designed to protect worn-out mills, and are taxes upon knowledge. Many of the United States newspapers that are squealing because their own pockets are being picked have for years supported other features of the tariff quite as outrageous. They are getting a dose of their own medicine.

NOT SO FAR OUT EITHER.

The teacher was giving a geography lesson, and the class, having travelled from London to Labrador, and from Thessaly to Timbuctoo, was thoroughly tired. "And now," said the teacher, "we come to Germany, that important country governed by the Kaiser. Tommy Jones, what is a Kaiser?"

"Please 'm," yawned Tommy Jones.

"a stream o' hot water springin' up an' disturbin' the earth."

THE PLAIN TRUTH.
(Chicago News.)
Oh, the monopoles and biplanes and aeroplanes we see,
But with them all the plain old earth is good enough for me.

THE PENALTY OF FAME.
(Detroit News.)
'Tis not my role to hunt the pole,
Like Wellman, Peary, Cook et al.
I would not rob them of their job
To occupy France's glided hall.
To freeze my toes where Esquimaux
Chew gumdrops through the Arctic night.
Would not enthrall me with its call
To make a reckless polar fight.

But if for once I'd done such stunts,
And on my banner perched success,
If I'd looked forth from "90 north"
Beyond which point none can progress;
Then I'd come home, no more to roam;
Contentedly my days I'd pass.
Tho' scribbles might write and claimants
As others tried to join my class.

I would not tear my rivals' hair,
Though in the limelight they might be.
I'd not aspire thus to acquire
Of honors a monopoly.
The only need for daring deed
(And years of eating frozen grub)
I fain would ask would be to back
Outside the Annulus club.

EDIFYING.
(Harper's Bazar.)
Gentleman looking for rooms—Did you say a music teacher occupies the next apartment? That cannot be very pleasant.
Landlady (eagerly)—Oh, that's nothing. He has eleven children, and they make so much noise you can't hear the piano.

BACK TO HIGH LIFE.
(S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.)
Back once more to the little flat;
The court is narrow, the hall is dark
We are pinched for room, but who cares for that?
We can sit sometimes in the open park.

Back from the lonely woods once more,
A constant jangle is in the street,
And a heavy tread on the upper floor
That is made by the pressure of weighty feet.

But once a month we'll have dinner where
The crowds are gay and the prices high,
And we'll rub society's elbows there,
And pretend we are used to it—yes and I.

Miss Helen Mathers thinks that the decline of the novel is due to a large extent to motor cars. There is no doubt that a large class of readers has been almost entirely eliminated by these vehicles. We refer to those persons who used to read as they walked along the roadway.

A PATRIOTIC DUTY.
(Toronto News.)
How different would the world now be if all that has been spent in destruction by war during the last two centuries had been spent in works of peace! We would not suffer our country to endure wrong or insult; but surely it is the duty of every reasonable citizen and true patriot at this juncture to uplift his voice against causeless disturbance of the peace.

A Great Play Wednesday.
Much has been written about the famous play, "The Thief," which is promised by Charles Frohman with a special cast at the Grand on Wednesday evening of this week. Leading editorialists have been inspired by it, and powerful sermons preached about it. And the play would seem to have deserved all that degree of comment. If any other beside Henry Bernstein, the playwright, had conceived "The Thief," its strength and originality would have commanded similar attention just as fully, say the leading critics. The play tells the story of a wife who plitfully steals money to purchase dresses and adornments with which to continue charming her husband. Harassed by agony she consents to say that she stole the money. The play does not seem to justify her in that course, yet it shields her in a way, it is said. Seats are now on sale.

"Faust at the Grand.
"Faust" was elaborately presented at the Grand Opera House, and attracted a large audience. Both at the matinee and the evening performance the presentation of this splendid old poem pleased the auditors, and by demonstration that it had lost none of its popularity in the lapse of years. Lewis Morrison is always associated with the role of Mephisto, and George S. Trimble is a worthy successor to him, is praise sufficient to suit any man. His acting was clever, and he made a delightful impression upon the audience. He gave a curtain talk on the experiences of the late Lewis Morrison that was very pleasing. Miss pretty and winsome, and won her way into the hearts of her hearers. Myra Brooks as Dame Martha, was very convincing. She showed marked ability. The role is new to him, his successor having succumbed to typhoid fever at Orillia a few days ago, the actor has grasped the possibilities of it already, and will soon give a finished performance. The other members of the cast were good.

NEW POLITICAL "BOSS"

William R. Hearst Supplanted by Charles F. Murphy.

New York, Sept. 26.—Charles F. Murphy is the new boss of the Independence League. He blossomed forth as the successor of William R. Hearst when it became known that his friends had carried the Independence League primaries in every assembly district in Manhattan. But Mr. Murphy will not assume his new duties, according to the biased and indignant leaguers, until the governor, the attorney-general, the district attorney and a few other officials have investigated the methods by which the league was added to Mr. Murphy's collection of political parties.

The Independence Leaguers were the most astonished men in the greater city when they woke up to find that in Manhattan and the Bronx delegates to all the league conventions had been nominated by Tammany men. Then they flew around in terrific excitement. Governor Hughes and the attorney-general were appealed to by telegraph, scores of attorneys spent the day taking affidavits to show how their party had been stolen and conferences were held to devise some way of recovering the party.

The kidnapping was done just when the fusion forces were engaged in parcelling out fusion nominations on a basis of political strength. Chairman Charles E. Gehring, who represented the league in the committee on candidates, was left in the embarrassing position of having to explain how he could deliver his large complement of votes without any party. The abduction of the league was plotted a year ago, according to Mr. Gehring and other league leaders. At that time the forthright Mr. Murphy, according to Mr. Gehring, ordered that 15 Tammany men should enroll as Independence Leaguers in every election district of the city. These accessions at the time gave the leaguers much joy. Now they have discovered that the growth of their party had not been as rapid as had appeared.

GRISLY RELICS IN NEW MUSEUM

Property of Famous Captives in the French Revolution.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The new museum which is now in process of formation in the locality of the Conciergerie, the prison in which so many illustrious prisoners have been confined, is attracting wide attention in Paris, and bids fair to rival the Campanaet Museum in point of interest. The director of the Conciergerie—M. Pourret—is responsible for the enterprise, and he is adding to the collection of relics of celebrated captives during the great Revolution, which are already in his possession. These will all be placed in a hall which is appropriately called La Salle des Girondins.

One of the objects M. Pourret most cherishes is a low chair of the Louis Quinze fashion covered with velvet which has faded to a yellowish tint but was once dark red. It was used by Marie Antoinette and for a long time was exhibited in the cell of that ill-fated queen. The discovery was made that many of the visitors who were admitted to see the cell carried off with them a scrap of the velvet or of the wood, so M. Pourret placed the chair in his own office, where it would be safe from souvenir vandals.

Three pictures of Marie Antoinette will enhance the interest of the new museum. One represents the queen communicating in her cell, another her leaving the temple, while the third is a fine portrait of her before her incarceration. Articles belonging to Robespierre, Danton, Mme. Roland, Mme. Recamier, Mme. Elisabeth and other celebrities are also to be displayed in the Salle des Girondins, which will moreover contain a collection of documents and registers relating to the Revolutionary period.

Such interest is exhibited in the task which M. Pourret has undertaken as a labor of love that he is daily receiving offers of articles which have belonged to people who figured in the great social upheaval, either as free gifts or at low prices, so the museum promises to be complete as well as very interesting.

TYRUS COBB CONTINUES TO HIT THE BALL HARD

Georgian Now Has Lead of Nine Points Over Eddie Collins

Tyrus Cobb continued his terrific batting at Washington Thursday, getting two doubles and a single out of four trips to the plate. Eddie Collins was not so successful in the game between the Athletics and Browns, two smashes out of four chances being his work for the day. Cobb gained two full points, while Collins increased his average by one. The day's results increase the Georgian's lead over his Philadelphia rival to nine points.

Lajoie added four points to his mark by hitting safely thrice out of four times up to bat. Crawford got but one hit out of five attempts, and his average dropped one point. The figures:

THE MYSTERY OF PROFESSOR GREER

BY WILLIAM LE QUEX.

In the direction he had taken towards Oxford street, I started off, but before me the lights blurred in the misty obscurity. Foot passengers on the pavement loomed up in the uncertain light and melted again, and as I hurried on I discerned the figures before me with difficulty. Where the shop-fronts were lit were patches of red mist, but where they were closed, it was almost complete darkness, for in that neighborhood the fog was thicker than further westward, and Dick had had considerable trouble in finding his way there at a snail's pace.

In my haste I collided with several persons coming my way, apologising and going forward again until I came to a corner where a shop was well-lit. Of a sudden I distinguished the man I was following; he had halted in conversation with the shop-keeper, who was pointing up the side street.

In the fog, Kershaw Kirk was evidently out of his bearings. I drew back, so as to escape observation, but I watched him plunge into the darkness of the side street, and I was soon at his heels. It was a squalid neighborhood into which we had entered. I had been through it before, but was not certain on which street it might be down which we were going.

Guided by his footsteps I went on behind him. Fortunately my tread was soft, owing to the rubber heels I wore. At the crossing I listened, at first uncertain whether he had turned to the right or left, or gone straight on.

Again the footsteps sounded out of the obscurity, which now caused my eyes to smart, and I knew that he had gone straight forward, so on I went.

At the next corner I was nearer him, near enough to distinguish that he crossed the road and suddenly turned along the pavement to the right. We were evidently going in the direction of Fitzroy Square, though in which street I had no idea. In fear lest his quick ears should detect that I was following, I fell back a little, allowing him to get further in front. The houses we were then passing were good-sized private ones interspersed with shops, substantial houses of the usual style found in the decayed districts of London, dark, gloomy, and mysterious-looking. I recognized that we were in Cleveland street. Then we turned again—the first turning on the left round the corner, by a laundry.

Of a sudden I heard Kirk halt, as though in doubt. It seemed as though he was retracing his steps, having passed the house of which he was in search. Quick as thought, in order to avoid meeting him face to face, I stepped off the kerb into the roadway.

He passed by within a few yards of me, yet entirely unconscious of my proximity. Then he reappeared, as though having satisfied himself that he had not yet reached his goal. In London fog, one house is very much like another, especially in a side street. In the distance I saw a red glimmer—the light of a surgery.

Two dark, evil-looking men lurched past me, and then a woman half-drunken and reeling. For a few seconds I lost his footsteps, but again they reached my ears. The sound was a different one. He had ascended one of the flights of steps!

I hurried forward, but as I did so, I heard a door close sharply. He had entered one of those dark houses, but which of four or five I was, unfortunately, utterly at a loss to decide.

The exterior of each I examined carefully, taking note of their number. In two of them yellow gas jets were burning over the grimy fanlights, throwing out a faint light into the pall of the fog, while in one a light was burning in the front room of the ground floor.

All were let in squalid apartments, for there seemed a general frowziness about the undesirable neighborhood, where the greater part of the inhabitants were foreigners of the working class. Each house, with its railings and deep area, had but little to distinguish it from its neighbors, all were dirty, neglected, and forbidding in that darkness and gloom. I stood in chagrin at having thus lost sight of my mysterious friend, and could only wait for his exit. Two of the houses were within the zone of the weak light thrown by the street light; the other three were in obscurity.

In one of them—which one I knew not—Kershaw Kirk had kept an appointment, arranged, perhaps, by that signal which he had made by the raising and lowering of the blind.

My position was most tantalising, yet I felt that if I remained there on watch I should most certainly see him come out, and then at least know the number of the one he had visited.

Midnight rang out from a church clock somewhere, but there had been no sign of him.

Dick must, I knew, have grown tired of waiting, and, thinking me lost in the fog, would slowly creep homeward. The ever-watchful vigil I was keeping in that terrible atmosphere fagged me. I became numb with cold, and very hungry.

Yet I dare not leave the spot lest Kirk should come forth, so I stood leaning against the railings in patience full of wonder and apprehension.

More than once I feared that the "dealer in secrets" might notice me from within, if he chanced to look out. Hence from time to time I changed my position.

My impression was that he had entered with a latch-key, for scarce had he reached the top of the steps when he was inside, with the door closed behind him; either that, or else someone was waiting there to admit him.

Another hour had nearly passed, when suddenly I was startled by a loud scream—a woman's piercing scream—which appeared to come from the first of the houses which lay in the darkness.

Twice was that cry repeated, and I sped to the house whence it emanated. The place was in complete darkness. No light shone from any window of the gloomy, dismal house.

A third time was the shriek repeated, coming from the room behind the railing on a level with the door. As I stood upon the pavement I was only a few feet from the window.

"Help! Help! For God's sake, help! You brute!" I thought I had escaped you. No. Ah! Don't! I beg—I implore you! Ah!" shrieked a refined and the voice of a young woman.

And then, in despairing tones that grew fainter with every syllable, I heard the words long drawn out. "Ah! You—you've—killed—me! Killed me!—just as you killed my—dear—father!"

I stood listening to that dying appeal, utterly staggered. What could I think? Place yourself in my position, and ask yourself what you, in those circumstances, would have thought!

CHAPTER VII.
In Which Another Person Becomes Inquisitive.

I was uncertain what to do. Was it best to ascend the steps, knock boldly at the door, and inquire the reason of that frantic appeal? Or should I remain silent and watch?

If Kirk had caused the Professor's death, then why had he enlisted my aid? But was I not a complete novice in the detection of crime, and might not all his protestations of friendship be a mere blind, a clever ruse to cover the truth?

I stood on the pavement, my ears strained to catch any sound within. But all was silent again. Those final words of the woman's desperate appeal for help rang in my ears. "You've killed me, just as you killed my dear father."

The woman who shrieked could surely have no connection with the tragedy in Sussex Place, for alas! Ethelwynn Greer was dead. I had, with my own eyes, seen her stiff and stark. Then what did it all mean? Was this an additional phase of the already inscrutable problem?

I gazed at the window, where no light escaped through the lowered venetian blinds. The very darkness struck me as strange; for either there were closed shutters upon the blinds, or some heavy curtain had been drawn carefully across to exclude any ray of light from being seen without. In the neighborhood wherein I was, I recollected there were many mysterious houses—secret clubs where waiters and foreigners of the lower class danced, drank and played faro, and were often raided by the police. Those streets bore a very bad reputation.

After all, I was not exactly certain that the house whence emanated the shrieks was the actual house which Kirk had entered. Hence I was both undecided and bewildered. For that reason I waited, my eyes glued upon the dark door and house-front.

Suddenly, above the fanlight, I saw a flickering light of a candle carried down the hall, and a moment later the door opened. In fear of recognition, I sprang back into the roadway where at that distance, the fog obscured me.

Someone descended the steps, and turning to the left, went in the direction whence I had come. I followed stealthily for some distance until I at last made out the figure in the weak light of a street lamp.

It was not Kirk, only a forbidding-looking old woman in faded bonnet and shawl—a typical gin-drinking hag of a type one may see in hundreds in that neighborhood. I had followed her down into Cleveland street, where she turned to the left, when it suddenly occurred to me that, in my absence, Kirk might make his exit. Therefore I rather foolishly abandoned pursuit, and retraced my steps.

Judge my chagrin, my utter disgust, with myself when, on returning, I failed to recognize from which house the woman had come. In that puzzling pall of fog, which grew thicker and more impenetrable every moment, I hesitated to decide which of three of four houses was the place whence the woman's cries had emanated.

That hesitation was fatal to my success. In my excitement I had taken no notice of the number upon the door, and now I paced backwards and forwards before the railings of four houses, all almost exactly similar, all in darkness, all equally dingy and mysterious. Which of those houses held Kershaw Kirk I knew not, neither could I decide from which of the four had come those despairing cries.

I had been a fool, a very great fool, for not going boldly to the door and demanding an explanation, even though I might have received rough handling alone and unnamed as I was. So I returned to the street lamp and tried to recognize the house from the point where I had stood when the first cry had fallen upon my ears. But alas! again I could not decide.

NUMEROUS PITFALLS FOR LITTLE FEET

A Strong Plea for the Sunday School—Story of "A Great Man's Sister."

The Sunday school and its importance as a factor of religious reform was the topic dealt with in several local Baptist churches yesterday. At Adelaide Street Church, Rev. T. T. Shields took up the narrative of the finding of Moses by Pharaoh's daughter, Exodus ii, 2-10. The preacher used this story to illustrate the dangers which beset child-life; the means which may be employed for its protection, and the certain reward awaiting those who engage in this holy ministry.

The first thing that strikes one in this story," said the preacher, "is the picture of a little child in danger. There must be something sadly lacking with the world when this is possible. But there are moral diseases infinitely more to be dreaded than all the physical ills that afflict child-life. Could we see with angel-eyes, we would be aware that the world is full of little children, suffering from the disease of sin. How many traps are set for little feet; how early the springs of life are poisoned and the whole character marred? The Prince of the Power of the Air has, like Pharaoh, given commandment to have the little ones destroyed, and God's best work is a mark for hell's enmity. Our adversary, the devil, has no pity even for little children."

Home Influences. In speaking of means for the protection of the infant Moses, the preacher said, the mother herself, "had him three months." The home—if it is what a home should be, may for a while safeguard the little ones, but there comes a time when they outgrow the limitations of home life, and the mother can "no longer hide" her child from the evil without other help.

Mission of the Sunday School. The mother in this story appealed in an ingenious way to other mother-hearts to co-operate with her heart. "It may seem far-fetched," said Mr. Shields, "to institute a comparison between the ark of bulrushes, placed where Pharaoh's daughter could see it, and the Sunday school, but the underlying principle is the same—a mother's heart crying out for other mother-hearts to help her save her child. And that is the mission of the Sunday school—to supplement the ministry of the home, and 'hide' the child, which the home, unaided, can no longer 'hide.' Pharaoh's daughter had no thought of adopting one of the Hebrews' children; but when 'the babe went' the victory was won. Many of the King's daughters wander aimlessly about, who, if their eyes were opened to see the sorrows of little children, would have compassion on them."

Home Co-Operation.

But the home did not withdraw itself from the supplementary agency. The babe's sister "stood afar off to wit what would be done to him." "You might, at least," said the preacher, pointedly, "look on while others try to save your children. In this case the mother became the child's nurse, and teacher—surely Christian parents ought to be interested in Sunday school work."

In conclusion the preacher spoke of the rich reward which always comes from a service of love. "The salvation of that child," he said, "meant the salvation of the family; the salvation of the Hebrews; the salvation of all nations."

TO PROTECT PAPER MILLS

United States Government May Be Involved in Tariff War.

New York, Sept. 26.—A statement in the matter of an impending trade war with Canada has been issued by the committee on paper of the American Publishers' Association.

"To protect a combination of worn-out paper mills, some of which have since been abandoned for news print paper making purposes," the statement says, "the United States Government has been forced into a tariff war with Canada, which promises to be far reaching in its scope. The Canadian authorities say they sell $90,000,000 worth to the United States and buy from it $160,000,000. If it comes to a tariff war, they claim they have the whip-hand, and while they regret the situation, they do not propose to be forced to terms.

"Canadian retaliation will strike American exports as varied as coal and cotton, iron and meat, fruit and automobiles, oil and live stock. But the most serious feature of the prospective war is that which affects world products valued at $30,000,000, brought into the United States by the Dominion. Directly or indirectly, all the masses who read for amusement or instruction, must pay a tax upon knowledge for the benefit of derelict paper mills, and trade between the two countries is to be paralyzed."

ENLARGE THE BOARD OF WESTERN FAIR

A Suggestion That New Blood Would Greatly Strengthen Present Board.

There is a very strong feeling among the directors of many of the larger fairs of this district that the directors of the Western Fair should be enlarged so as to take in some of the really capable men who are scattered throughout the country, and who it is thought would unquestionably be of great value to the board.

During the past two weeks the matter has been frequently mentioned by men on various boards. The directors while not wishing to be directed themselves have mentioned many others, all experts in different lines, and men whose experience and ability would be invaluable in the building up of a great fair.

First-Class Men.

"There are a dozen first-class men in Western Ontario," said one man recently, "who should be on the Western Fair board. These men are leaders in stock raising, poultry raising, farming and other lines. They are progressive and their presence on the board of the Western would be of the greatest value. These men are certainly loyal enough to this part of the province to do their share in building up a big fair and the whole district would benefit."

The same opinion has been expressed repeatedly to The Advertiser, and by men widely separated. One man who is a representative on both the London and Toronto fair boards, stated that he would most strongly favor the idea.

"New blood of this sort," he said, "would be one of the best things that could happen to any fair. The old directors are one and all good men. They would, however, be materially strengthened by the help of these men and it would add a great deal to the prestige of London fair."

President W. J. Reid was asked by The Advertiser what he thought of the idea.

"I would be strongly inclined to favor such a move," he said. "It seems to me a very good suggestion."

FOREST'S FALL FAIR

Will Be Held on the New Grounds and Likely To Be a Record-Breaker.

Forest, Sept. 25.—The annual fall fair will be held here next Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29 and 30, on the new exhibition grounds which the fair board purchased, containing about 23 acres, with one of the best half-mile speeding tracks in Western Ontario. A large grandstand has also been built, with a seating capacity of over 800. For weeks past the management have been diligently at work, and have put forth even greater efforts than ever before in the hope of eclipsing the success of former years. The different committees promise a good day of sports and special attractions for Thursday. Good horse races will be one of the main features. The entries for the different exhibits are coming in and everything points to a successful show. It is expected that Hon. W. J. Hannay, P. J. Pardee, M. P., J. E. Armstrong, M. P., and R. J. McCormack, M. P., will be present and deliver short addresses.

The school children's parade will be especially fine this year. The winning school will have to make special preparation in order to get a place among the splendid prizes offered. Fifteen automobiles will be in the parade, headed by the Forest Band. On the arrival at the grounds all children taking part in the parade will be given a free auto ride on the new track. The committee are also arranging for a good game of ball during the afternoon.

There will be on the ground a number of Scottish pipers and dancers, a great display of cattle, sheep and swine; a profusion of everything from farm, garden and dairy; a large and beautiful display of fruit, flowers and vegetables; an athletic exhibit, a display of art, needlework, etc., and the best strains of poultry and pet stock. A grand procession of all prize winners will take place in front of the grandstand during the afternoon. There will also be a concert in the opera house the second night of the fair. The Forest Band will supply the music during the day.

THE OYSTER SEASON

Picturesque Ceremony Attends the Opening in Colchester, England.

London, Sept. 26.—Colchester was a few days ago the scene of the official opening of the oyster season. The declaration read by the town clerk is of very ancient origin and includes the quaintly worded phrase stating that "from time beyond which memory runneth not to the contrary" the fishery "hath belonged and appertained to the corporation of the borough of Colchester."

There are perhaps few ceremonies which can compare for picturesque with the old established custom of the opening of the Colne oyster fishery for the season, by the mayor of Colchester. Wearing his official robe embroidered with gold, he cocked next a chain of office, the mayor was accompanied by the town sergeant, in black and gold and wearing white silk stockings, carrying the mace, while close by was the town clerk in wig and gown. The mayor with the other officials and guests proceeded to the motor of the Colne on board an oyster dredger. He then stepping on to an oyster smack the ceremony was performed. On returning to Pyefleet the mayor and the chairman of the fishery board made the opening hauls of the season. The ceremony was concluded by a lunch in the packing shed.

MANUEL MAY MARRY.

London, Sept. 26.—It is announced in Lisbon that King Manuel will marry in April. The name of the bride-elect is not given, but in view of past rumors connecting the king's name with that of an English princess, it is assumed that it will be an English alliance.

Inquiries, however, failed to bring forth any confirmation of the report.

MISSIONARY DIED AFTER SHIPWRECK

Sufferings of Heroic Worker in the Pacific Islands.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 25.—The American missionary, Rev. Hiram Bingham, died of exposure, recently. Rev. T. Walker died from exposure. The others passed in passing in an open boat without food. Details were brought by the steamer Aorangi, from Australia. The survivors were rescued by the steamer Manama, and landed at Sydney, Aug. 26.

The Hiram Bingham, a motor schooner, was bound from Butcharti with Rev. Dr. Walker, eight Canadian Islanders, and a native child on board. The schooner was lost seventy miles north of the Gilbert Islands. A tropical squall came suddenly and heeled the vessel over on her beam. The ship's company clung to the rigging, while several natives succeeded in releasing a rowboat from the wreckage. A couple of ours were recovered, and all clambered into the boat, abandoning the schooner. For twenty-one days the castaways drifted at the mercy of the wind and waves.

Before leaving the wreck fifteen coconuts were picked up, this being all the food for nine adults and one child for three weeks. Rain squalls prevailed and the missionary caught rain in his oleikins, and served rain in the coconut shells.

The castaways fell ill, and some went mad. Ships in large numbers followed the boat. On May 26 land was sighted and the Islanders assisted the castaways to land on Edon Island.

Mr. Walker died soon after landing, and was buried on the beach. His wife and family returned to America just before the fatal voyage began.

STRICKEN AT THE PHONE

Sudden Death of Rev. "Father" Wood at Montreal.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 26.—The death occurred this morning of Rev. Edmund Wood, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, a well-known high church leader, who for 50 years was actively engaged in church work. Rev. Mr. Wood passed away suddenly at 1 o'clock, being stricken with heart disease while telephoning.

On account of his high church tendencies he was called "Father" Wood by his parishioners.

He came to Canada in 1859, and since then has labored in the parish of St. John the Evangelist, and has been rector, building up a fashionable congregation.

Rev. "Father" Wood was 80 years of age, and with Canon Ellsworth, was the oldest clergyman of the Anglican Church in the Diocese of Montreal.

LONDON'S SWEET TOOTH

Great Increase in the Consumption of Candies.

London, Sept. 25.—Apropos of the fondness of Eskimos for gumdrops and the sustaining properties of sugar, of which a substantial ration is now supplied regularly to soldiers in the German army, there seems to be a distinct increase in the consumption of candies of all sorts in England of late. The enhanced value of the shares of the big sweetening and confectionery companies is one indication. Another is that everywhere in the City of London one sees an increase in the number of kindergartens, and the fact that the children are all doing good business.

Automatic candy supplying machines have been so widely distributed that a pennyworth of sweetstuff and eating it as they go. This probably affects the tobacco trade adversely, at all events in the poorer quarters of London tobaccoists are complaining while confectioners rejoice.

The tobacco trade also welcome the signs of increased consumption of sweets among the working classes, as it tends to counteract the desire for intoxicants.

STRATFORD LICENSE TRANSFERRED.

Stratford, Sept. 25.—The license commissioners for North Perth met this afternoon at 1:30 at the city hall. The full commission was present, viz., Chairman Selbert and Commissioners Pigeon and Stewart; also License Inspector R. T. Kemm of Listowel.

The special business of the meeting was to consider the transferring of the license of the Ontario House, Erie street, from Mr. Joseph Richardson to Mr. A. Elckmeiser. The transfer was granted.

Mr. Richardson will locate in Melita, Man., in the near future.

STEEPLEJACK KILLED.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Andrew Jackson Childster, for many years a steeplejack, known in all parts of the country, died at his home in this city, aged 78 years, as a result of a fall of four or five feet, about two weeks ago, when he was struck by his head, causing concussion of the brain.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER SAVED BY GIN PILLS

THE FAMOUS KIDNEY REMEDY.

44 Woolfey Avenue, Toronto.

March 24, 1909.

"While engaged as assistant at Sterling Mines, Gray's Sliding, Ont., I became familiar with the merits of Gin Pills."

On leaving Toronto, I left my wife (aged 51) and my daughter (aged 21) in poor health. The former had tried all sorts of remedies for her ailment—Middle Age or Change of Life. The points in her hands were badly swollen and she suffered much pain.

It occurred to me that Gin Pills would help her and so I advised her. This was a happy thought, for my wife's back to say she was trying Gin Pills.

Her next letter said that the pills were doing her good and the second, that she was feeling much better, and fast disappearing. Also, her general health and color was vastly improved. Now, she cannot say too much in favor of Gin Pills. My daughter has also derived much benefit from their use."

W. M. B. CRAIG.

Simply write to the National Drug and Chemical Company (Department G), Toronto, and a free sample will be sent to you. When Gin Pills have proved their great value, get them at your druggist—50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW OF BRADSTREET'S

The Commercial Situation in the Chief Centres of the Dominion.

Montreal reports to Bradstreet's say the movement of general trade continues of a satisfactory nature. Full lines at retail are moving well and local wholesalers and manufacturers are doing a good business now moving. Business in drygoods continues active and good orders are coming forward. Values in most lines hold firm. Cottons, linens, silks and ribbons are particularly so. Judging by the trade already done through the season's business in furs promises to reach large proportions. The millinery trade reports considerable activity. Grocers report a normal trade. It is reported the pack of canned peas is light and prices firm. Hardware trade shows a good tone and demand for seasonal lines and for builders' supplies continues brisk. Metals continue firm in tendency and general lines show firmness. Country trade holds about steady and remittances are fair to good, having shown improvement during the past week or so. Judging by the trade already done through the week, Deliveries of produce, etc., continue fairly large and prices are steady to firm. Hogs and products are firm to higher.

Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say business holds a steady tone and prospects for the future continue cheerful. A feature of the present situation is the improvement which is noted in collections and remittances from nearly all parts of the country. While this improvement is not yet remarkable in extent it is sufficiently noteworthy to show that the general marketing of crops should be followed by prompt payments of outstanding debts on the part of the retailers. The demand for fall lines at retail is now generally good and sorting orders are beginning to increase. The trade in goods are generally firm. Good orders for winter lines are coming in and the season's trade promises to be large. It is generally believed that stocks are light. Grocers report an active trade. Canned goods show a firm tendency. Metals and general hardware are moving well and prices are generally steady to firm. Country trade is good and receipts of produce are fairly large but prices hold steady to firm. Hogs and product prices are advancing on an active demand. Hides are active and steady.

Winnipeg reports to Bradstreet's say the trade outlook continues of the brightest. The retail trade is reported to have increased in volume during the past week or so, and merchants generally are becoming impressed with the fact that they will need to stock up much more than in previous years. They are to be ready to meet the requirements of the season between now and Christmas. The grain movement is now pretty well in full swing, and owing to the earliness of the season and increased railway facilities it is expected that much more grain than usual will be got to lake ports before the end of the navigation season. Travelers out for spring orders report excellent business and prospects for a large volume of trade. Collections continue to improve.

Vancouver and Victoria reports say wholesale trade has seen some increase in volume during the past week. Retailers are meeting a good demand for fall lines. Trade in drygoods and millinery is particularly active. Large shipments of winter goods are coming into the country and there are already signs of a heavy trade in spring new line settlements have been opened up in different parts of the country and the demand from these for groceries and other staple lines is quite a factor in present trade. The trans-Pacific shipping trade is good business, moving with indications for further increase.

Quebec—Reports to Bradstreet's continue favorable. Wholesalers and retailers still show signs of increased activity. Outside of a few districts, harvesting is about finished and the feeling of satisfaction is noticeable among the farming classes. Amongst the provision trade in the city, pork is reported to be still advancing and likely to go higher as supplies are very short. Local industries continue fairly busy.

Hamilton reports say general trade continues to show a marked improvement here. Retail business in fall goods is more active and merchants are giving good orders for goods which they will need between now and the end of the year. Fruit crops are turning out well, and with general prices here and at surrounding centers is keeping brisk. Local factories are working full time. Collections are generally satisfactory.

London reports say both wholesale and retail merchants here appear well satisfied with the volume of trade moving at the present time and the outlook for future business continues most favorable. Travelers are again out and are taking good orders for winter and spring lines. Local factories are busy. Boot and shoe men are preparing their winter goods and they report good orders on hand. Collections continue to improve.

Ottawa reports say while there has been little change in the general situation here during the week, there has still been some increase in the volume of business moving. Fall lines are in good demand and orders are being rushing out for later use. Country trade has also improved somewhat and collections are better. Produce comes forward freely but prices are steady to firm. Collections are fair.

AN EMPTY BOAT.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—On Saturday afternoon Charles Smith, an Ottawa boy, went out alone in a boat at Buckingham, Que., and was never seen again.

Sunday the boat drifted ashore with one oar missing. A lookout is being kept for the body, as the youth is thought to be drowned. He was living at the time in Buckingham, engaged in mining.

Why We Should Fill Your Prescriptions

We do a very large prescription business, which is a good reason why we should do more. A drug store does not have an unusual share of the prescription business of a community is certain to be the one where the service is best. It is a store that carries an adequate stock of prescription drugs, and one where the compounding is done by experienced, registered pharmacists. We give high-grade service, but our prices are always reasonable.

THE MOORS WORSTED AT EVERY POINT

Coast Line Illuminated With Fires of Their Burning Villages.

Madrid, Sept. 27.—The war office today announces the complete success of the manoeuvres in Morocco against the Moors. Both Mador and Zeluan have been occupied. At the latter town there was bloody fighting with large bodies of Moors, the details of which have not yet been published. The ring around Mount Guruga is now considered almost closed, and the position of the Moors is desperate. Caid Amas appeared before General Marina, the commander of the Spanish forces, yesterday and asked terms of surrender. The immediate successful termination of Spain's war against the Moors, which has been going on since July, would be inevitable but for the government of Premier Maura, against which the campaign in Spain is daily becoming more intense among the lower classes. A large section of the upper classes, however, are manifesting warm support of the Government. The minister of the interior is being deluged with letters begging him to continue the work of maintaining public order.

Alhucemas, Morocco, Sept. 27.—The entire area here is illuminated with the fires of burning Moorish villages. After the Spanish batteries, in the fighting of yesterday, had silenced the Moors' batteries, the latter advanced and drove the Moors from their positions.

LOCAL OPTION PETITION IN WESTMINSTER TP.

Has Now Over 200 Names More Than Number Required to Have Vote Taken.

A meeting of the Temperance Society of Westminster Township was held in the office of Secretary McDermid of the London Temperance League on Saturday, and reports received showed that the petition which has been in circulation asking that a vote on local option be taken in January has more than 200 names above the number required.

This announcement was received with enthusiasm and President Chas. E. Wilson and Secretary Thomas Baty stated that many more names could be obtained were they required. All the members spoke most enthusiastically of the attitude of the township and many said that they had met large numbers of voters who last year were opposed to the measure which are now most strongly in favor of it. The petition will be presented to the Westminster Council at its next meeting, and as it is over 200 names signed there will be no need to ask the Government for permission to vote.

Mr. Joseph Gibson, of Ingersoll, previously of the Dominion Alliance, who happened to be in the city, attended the meeting and congratulated the Westminster members on their efforts and spoke in a most encouraging manner of the way the temperance cause is progressing all over the country.

Wedding

Rings

All wedding rings may look much alike to the average person.

We know from experience there are many such rings sold that are not uniform in shape, and poorly finished.

There is actually more care taken in the making of our wedding rings than in a claw-set ring—because it's necessary the oval should be true and even to produce a uniform shape.

Only first-class workmen make them.

Called to the Bar.

Mr. Basil William Essery, son of Ex-Mayor E. T. Essery, was called to the bar at Osgoode Hall on Friday last. He will practice law in Toronto. Mr. Essery is very popular and his friends will be pleased to hear of his success.

Special Services.

Special harvest thanksgiving services were held yesterday at St. John the Evangelist Church. The edifice was handsomely decorated with fruits, vegetables and flowers, and presented a very fine appearance. The morning services were conducted by the rector, Rev. W. T. Hill, and the evening services by Rev. Precentor Dann, of St. Paul's Cathedral.

A Handsome Present.

A full supply of the new Book of Common Prayer has been presented to St. Luke's Church, Broughdale, by a citizen of London whose name is withheld. The announcement was made last evening during the service by Archdeacon Richardson. The gift was greatly appreciated by the congregation. The new hymn book will be used for the first time on Oct. 17, the festival of St. Luke the Evangelist.

CITIZENS SHOULD KEEP

THEIR MONEY AT HOME

A drummer paid his hotel bill in Havellville, handing the clerk a $5 gold piece.

A few minutes later the hotel cashier handed that five to the local butcher in payment of a meat bill.

The butcher dropped into a shoe store and left the V in exchange for a pair of shoes for his wife.

That evening the shoe man passing by the hardware store handed out the gold piece for a lawn mower.

It remained in the hardware man's till all that night.

hardware man handed it out to the haberdasher and wore away a new hat.

The latter kept the five until nearly noon, when he passed it on to the grocery man in payment of his monthly account.

The grocery man's wife next took possession of the coin and exchanged it at the drygoods store for sundry purchases.

The next man to get it was the dryman, who had a bill for hauling.

He in turn passed it on to the doctor, who had treated his sick child.

The doctor handed it over to the druggist for value received, and the druggist deposited it in the bank.

Next day the bank cashier returned the gold piece to the hotel man in payment of his board bill.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Complaint From

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The farmers are all turning out with their teams, as they are digging

a canal from Crumlin to the River Thames. The county council are putting the farmers to unnecessary expense. The county rate has doubled, also the school tax, and the farmers are determined next January to give all those gentlemen responsible for it their walking tickets. This work is being carried on under the Ontario

Government's good roads system. It will not be a good thing for the Government. FARMER.

Crumlin, Sept. 25.

Mrs. Eddy Living.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The oft-repeated falsehood that Mrs.

Eddy, leader of the Christian Science movement, is dead, has again been made to do duty, according to a dispatch in your issue of the 22nd. This malicious falsehood has been refuted

so often that it seems hardly necessary to again deny it, but in the event of any of your readers being misled, I would say that I myself had the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Eddy a few weeks ago in her own home, and also while she was taking her daily drive. She was then and is now in her usual good health, and is still daily attending to a large amount of business connected with her position as head of a large organization, in which she takes an active and personal interest, as well as doing a great deal of literary work.

That the general public does not sympathize with the repeated attacks made upon Mrs. Eddy, is shown by the fact that she is still living.

St. Andrew's.

Rev. Jonathan Goforth addressed a very large gathering of Sunday school pupils and their parents yesterday afternoon in St. Andrew's Hall. Mr.

Goforth spoke on "The Word of God."

First Presbyterian Church.

A special thanksgiving service and holy held in the First Presbyterian Church yesterday was very largely attended. Rev. J. Gibson Inkster preached at both the morning and evening services, and in the morning spoke particularly to young people.

The church and Sunday school were both beautifully decorated with flowers, fruits and vegetables and a great deal of this will, during the week, be distributed among charitable organizations of the city.

At the Memorial Church last even-

"Christianity," he said, "makes men the words of the text addressed to a body of men like the Corinthians was of three-fold character. First it was a call to rise above animalism; secondly, to emerge from childlike-ness, and thirdly, to develop the higher qualities of men. The Bible sets forth the ideal man of humanity in Christ. The suppression of the animal in man,
