CITY APPEALS DECISION OF COURT OF REVISION

Objects to Reduced Assessment of Street Railway Company, Downtown Merchants. MEETING IS CALLED

Members of Court Asked To Explain To Civic Finance Committee.

Official protest has been registered against yesterday's ruling by the court of revision concerning the London Street Railway Company and two downtown merchants (Smallman & Ingram and the Kingshill Company).

It is possible that the city council will appeal to the county judge against these decisions. At a noon conference with City Clerk Samuel Baker and Assessment Commissioner H. J. Bennett, the mayor stated that a joint meeting will be held with the members of the court of revision and the finance committee in attendance. In any event, the assessment will be reduced to the level of the previous year.

Mayor Wenige charges that the members of the court of revision are not functioning, and that favors are to be granted to no citizens. Commissioner Bennett doubled the street railway assessment, but the court seemed to fittingly reduce it to half, setting forth the plea that it would be too drastic to impose such a vast increase as one stroke. They suggest spreading the increase over a period of years.

Mayor Wenige objects, suggesting that it would be better to spread the increase back over twenty-year period during which the company's assessment has remained unaltered.

At first the company's representative claimed that the city was empowered to assess its property only at scrap value. This contention was not supported with proof, however, the commissioner states, and the mayor wanted to know today if the company will sell upon the same understanding.

Another peculiar thing about the matter, Commissioner Bennett reminds, is that the company has claimed exemption from taxation for poles, wires, etc., but subsequently evoked willingness to accept assessment upon one-half of the value of these items that London should be in no different position than other Ontario municipalities, where the street railway corporations are assessed within the provisions of the statutes.

What is a Department Store? What constitutes a department store? This is a question which evidently puzzles the members of the court of revision who have upset the increased business assessment placed this year by Commissioner Bennett in two instances, Smallman & Ingram and Kingshill. The sum which the city would lose in these instances would reach, roughly, a total of $5,000 or $6,000, the commissioner explains.

The court of revision has not given any opinion as to whether Commissioner Bennett's additional levy upon Smallman & Ingram and Kingshill is a department store. This is a question which evidently puzzles the members of the court of revision who have upset the increased business assessment placed this year by Commissioner Bennett in two instances, Smallman & Ingram and Kingshill. The sum which the city would lose in these instances would reach, roughly, a total of $5,000 or $6,000, the commissioner explains.

BUILDERS EXPECT TO BE BUSY UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS

Report 1923 To Be One of the Best Building Years London Has Ever Known. COST NOT DROPPING

"This year has been a very busy and successful one in London from the point of view of the contractor doing residential work and building private houses," said Sid Jones, president of the London Builders' Exchange. "There has been more work of this kind in London this year than in any previous year. As at last night's meeting of the members of the Builders' Exchange, it is impossible to say, I think the housing situation in London is relieved now and that 1924 will see much less house building material cost than in 1923."

As to costs, Mr. Jones said: "I expect prices for 1924 will not alter materially from those prevailing. This year's prices have been much the same as in 1922, and I see nothing to make them less in 1924."

At last night's meeting of the members of the Builders' Exchange, it was noticeable that the general outlook was optimistic. Two members who had just returned from the States spoke of the exceptionally high wages being paid there to skilled labor. "The average price paid in the States," they said, "to plasterers is from $18 to $18 per day, and the average apprentice plasterer there gets about $14 a day."

Commercial contractors in the city report that 1923 has been a busy year with a large amount of building. Most of them are booked up with enough work to last until Christmas or New Year.

See Note Reduction in Sight. As to next year, they say that most of the factories in London which provided work this year are nearly complete, or finished, and that the unemployment rate is very high, and much now. They all hold that there cannot be any great reduction of building costs next year, as neither labor nor material costs seem inclined to come down.

THINKS NEW LOAN BEST BOND ISSUE IN WORLD, BUYS MILLION BLOCK

E. E. Reid, Manager of London Life, Explains Reasons For Big Purchase. VALUE TO INCREASE

London Brokers and Bankers Consider Present Issue Most Attractive.

By ordering a million-dollar block of the new refunding loan, the London Life Insurance Company leads the way amongst buyers of the loan in Western Ontario. No greater or more accurate estimate of the value of the bonds issued could be devised than the fact that this great company, with a recognized character for soundness and investment of its funds, has seen fit to apply for the loan to this extent.

That Mr. Reid's summary of the reasons why his company appreciate the value of the bonds is also the opinion of the investing public in London generally is evident from the statements of the various bond houses, brokers and bankers in the city. They all declare that the retail demand in London had been extraordinarily keen and that the five-year issue had all been taken up. They are going fast. Most of the day's large blocks have already been sold.

Lectures on Salesmanship Will Be Delivered by Prof. Morrow. IDEA APPROVED

The establishment of a course of instruction for commercial travelers, along the same lines as the night school at the University of Western Ontario, is rapidly becoming an accomplished fact.

Mr. Hair stated that he was in touch with Professor Morrow, head of the department of commercial economics at the university, and hoped that before long a definite announcement might be made.

The plan, as it stands at present, is to give lectures, one night a week, at most suitable to the men, in the rooms of the association in the Dominion Savings Building. A questionnaire will be sent to all the travelers in the city asking their opinion on the idea, and what day or night would be most suitable for them. After this has been done the lectures will start under the direction of Professor Morrow.

Big Muddy Creek Near Caspar, Wyoming, Is Scene of Disaster.

Special To The Advertiser. Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Thirty-five persons were killed, according to estimates of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad officials, when passenger train number 30 plunged through a bridge into the swollen Big Muddy river shortly before midnight. Bodies of two trainmen had been recovered at daybreak. Rescue squads, which toiled throughout the early hours of the morning, were unable to make much progress, because of the high water. Five passengers who escaped from the two submerged day coaches with minor injuries were being cared for on the east bank of the river by rescue workers sent from here on a special train.

A crew of workers were also engaged on the other bank. They had taken seven persons still alive from the water. The Burlington superintendent in charge of the rescue train ordered the despatchers that he believed 35 and 40 had perished.

LONDON MANNERS TAKE ACTION TO BREAK MOTHER'S WILL

Murray Levy Takes Action When Will of His Mother Prevents Securing Title

Seeks To Have Father's Last Testament, Made Previously, Declared Binding. ESTATE OF $36,806 Proceedings Follow Dispute Over Property at 215 King Street.

To break a will made by his mother and ask for a declaration that his father's will, which prevents the mother bequeathing the property, be declared binding, Murray Levy, of 13 Mackinnon Place, is contemplating court action.

The trouble started when he attempted to get a clear title to some property on Clarence street. He found his mother's will prevented it. Hence the proceedings.

According to the will of the father, Isaac Levy, the mother, Rachel, could do whatever she wished with the property during her lifetime, but at her death, Inspector of Detectives Nickle was to act as executor, and divide the estate equally between the four children—Hannah R. Levy, Manuel and Murray. In the event of any of them dying, their children were to receive their portions.

The father's will was probated. The lawyers were Thomas H. Purdon and L. Purdon.

During her lifetime Mrs. Levy made a will. She died December 23, 1922. In February her will was entered for probate on the application of Louis and Hannah P. Levy, executors. No caveat against the will was entered.

The estate she left totaled $36,806.07, and included clothing and jewelry valued at $225; household goods and furniture, $290; stock-in-trade, $500; money secured by mortgages, $3,254.85; securities, $1,826.22; and real estate, $28,500.

The real estate included 215 King street, valued at $3,700; 217 King street, $1,800; 359 Clarence street, $3,500; 351 Clarence street, $1,900; 349 Clarence street, $1,900; 347 1/2 Clarence street, $700; 345 Clarence street, $2,200; 345 1/2 Clarence street, $1,600; 343 Clarence street, $1,900; 341 Clarence street, $1,900; 238 Clarence street, $1,500; 243 Clarence street, $1,300; 247 Clarence street, $1,000; and 209 Horton street, $900.

To Abraham Haskin, her brother, Mrs. Levy left $1,000; to Reuben Haskin, brother, $500; to Charles Haskin, brother, $500; to her daughter-in-law, Esther Levy, a Victory bond valued at $202.66; and to her daughter-in-law, Hannah R. Levy, a Victory bond valued at $202.66.

Under her will, Hannah R. Levy, her daughter, received furniture and jewelry valued at $425, one-third of the stock-in-trade, valued at $166.66; one-half of the mortgages, valued at $2,627.42; and one-quarter of the residue, valued at $5,352.31.

Louis, a son, receives a life interest in 234 and 247 Clarence street, one-third of the stock-in-trade, and one-quarter of the residue.

What Petitioner Gets. Manuel, a son, receives one-third of the stock-in-trade, 341 Clarence street, 238 Clarence street, one-half of the mortgages, and one-quarter of the residue.

Murray, a son, receives a Huron & Erie detenture, valued at $31,550; a War Bond valued at $101.82; one-quarter of the residue; and in addition the mortgage on 13 Mackinnon Place, valued at $9,000, when it is discharged.

Mrs. Levy provided that Murray was to stay in business at 215 King street as long as it was profitable to him and the executors. If it was not agreeable, he was to get another place. It is understood he was put out of the place shortly after the will was probated.

Mrs. Levy in her will stated Murray was to wear her one and one-third carat diamond ring as long as he lived.

BUT TWO PER CENT OF PEOPLE CROOKS, SAY BIKE DEALERS

Bicycle Convention Finds 98 Out of Every 100 Men Not Intentionally Dishonest.

BUSINESS GOOD

"Trust the people," advises Mayor Wenize today as he returned from the Ontario Bicycle Dealers' convention in Hamilton.

"Why?" he was asked. "Because there is but a small fraction of one person who is actually dishonest," he replied. "We find that easily 98 per cent of the people are not delinquent in their payments. I have always maintained that if you trust the people to do the right thing you won't go far wrong."

His worship explains that this was the result of the questions incidentally brought up at the convention, and his views are also the views of many in that line of business endeavor.

"There are but few people deliberately dishonest," he stated. "We have sold thousands of bicycles, as the dealers say, that there is no deliberate theft of a wheel until a few weeks ago. Of course, there are those who fail to make payments, all installment houses will say, but the number is comparatively small. These people do not mean to be dishonest, only for different reasons they fail to live up to their obligations on schedule."

"Business is flourishing throughout the country and across the line," this is the optimistic message that the mayor brings back from the Hamilton gathering. The past twelve months have proved record-breakers, reports, and there is no indication, the dealers say, that there is to be any immediate slackening up.

The bicycle business can be safely assumed to be in a boom, state the whole of Western Ontario will be available for assistance and advice.

"It is a splendid co-operation which has been received from Mr. Gordon Philip, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce."

It is a method that has been heavily on the instructors and calls for a proportionately large staff.

The collection of our own cases is a task that we must face at an early date. Two typically Canadian cases have already been secured. In a start. NEW UNIVERSITY COURSE WILL FILL LONG FELLOW WANT

Professor Morrow Outlines the Work, Principles and Expectations of New Studies.

MEANS EXPANSION

The announcement that a new course in library and secretarial science will be conducted at the University of Western Ontario this year covers everything in the way of expansion of the department of commercial economics that will be undertaken this year, and probably for two or three years, according to Professor E. H. Morrow, head of the department.

Professor Morrow, who has been employed with the General Motors Corporation, Oshawa, during the past summer, made this statement this morning, together with an outline of the work, principles and expectations of the university in connection with the course.

The department is to expand into the new course was composed by two considerations. The training of competent officials for the libraries of Canada is the first, and while the number of available positions is limited, the field is large enough to warrant the establishment of a new course. The second consideration is designed to train competent secretaries for business who, besides knowing the technique of their calling, are well versed in stenography, filing, etc., will also have a sufficient knowledge of general business topics as to make them intelligent in their work and helpful to their employers. The requirements of the final year in the regular commercial course tend to make it a difficult one for women; the secretarial course provides a training of a business character that is peculiarly adapted to women.

"When we look back over the past year we see that much was planned and still remains to be done. At the same time, a great deal has already been accomplished. We congratulate ourselves on the fact that all of our graduates are well placed and, as present reports, are giving good satisfaction to their employers. The requirements of the final year in the regular commercial course tend to make it a difficult one for women; the secretarial course provides a training of a business character that is peculiarly adapted to women."

"A good beginning was made in securing the business contacts that are vital to the success of a commercial course. While we cannot expect our business friends to do anything but skeptical of the new department, we feel that we have at least convinced them that we are in earnest and are worth helping. Once we can convince the business men that we have no pretensions as miracle workers and are not attempting to teach business, but only training young men and women to become more adaptable to the needs of business, our initial success is done. The businessmen of London have been more than generous and have during the past session assisted us in every way possible. We are coming year they will be drawn upon still more freely. Our contacts with the business men of the whole of Western Ontario will be available for assistance and advice."

"It is a splendid co-operation which has been received from Mr. Gordon Philip, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce."

CITY TO TAKE APPEAL FROM REVISION COURT

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE. Their businessmen is far or otherwise. The members have ruled, however, that last year's assessment shall continue until next year without prejudice to the parties involved, and one member of the court has voiced the opinion that "too many of these increases should not be effective in any one year."

Both Mayor Wenize and Ald. P. J. Watt take decided exception to the opinion of the court. The assessment is not functioning if the proper assessments are not made.

"There is only one answer," Mayor Wenize asserted. "The assessment is either right or wrong. If Commissioner Bennett's recommendation is unfair it should be thrown out at once by the court of revision. Similarly, if it is right, it should be applied at once. Why leave it until next year? There has been too much of that sort of business in the past."

What Commissioner Says. Commissioner Bennett explains that he is basing his increased rates upon the fact that two firms upon the statistics which provide the same when the store has more than five distinct lines of goods.

LONDON LIFE MANAGER COMMENDS NEW LOAN

Desirable Investment. One London bond house, urging the early conversion of 1923 Victory bonds into the new loan, said: "Many holders of the Victory bonds do not seem to realize the need for immediate action in converting their old bonds. They say: 'Oh, yes, we will change them in a few days.' Now, the fact is this," he said: "So many cash subscriptions have not been received for the loan that there will not be enough new bonds to permit all holders of 1923 Victories to exchange their bonds for the new ones. The present issue is the most desirable investment to be had today in Canada."

The price is exceedingly favorable, namely to yield 5.14 for twenty years, and the fact that the converter has drawn the 98.02 interest and is able to buy at 98.02 is an added attraction to an already inviting investment."

Another broker said: "These bonds are really a liquid asset, at any time they can be exchanged for cash. Then the interest is payable half-yearly, and the bonds are free from taxation for the best part of a lifetime. What more can the investor want?"

Most of the financial men in the city who are coming in contact with the buying public in connection with the issue of the new loan remarked on the very large amount of cash subscriptions. "There is plenty of money right here in Canada," they declared, "for any long-term bonds with all the good qualities of cash subscriptions. The fact that by internal absorption the issue is exceeding gratifying to every financial and business man in the country, and cannot but have a healthy influence on our credit abroad."

Will Increase in Value. Everyone who is buying the bonds recognizes the fact that they will become the standard Canadian taxable security. The fact that they will certainly have a greater value than the price of 98.25, at which they are now offered. Another point of the disposal of the issue is the fact that for the first time in Canadian financial history has been sold solely by the bond houses and the banks with their own selling staffs and organizations.

The 1923 Victories were sold by the government direct, who had to pay the salaries of the men in the employment of the various financial houses who actually did the selling. All this has been saved this year, and the minister of finance will not have the large overhead charges he had to meet last time he floated a loan. It is also a matter of congratulation to themselves, who feel that they are obtaining a surer and firmer place in the economic circle of Canada when they handle successfully a $172,000,000 like this.

As to the amount of the loan that is already applied for a leading broker in the city said today: "I am of the opinion that if we really knew what how many bonds had been sold by the banks, we would find that the whole issue had been disposed of. If the books were to be closed tomorrow, I think all the bonds would be found to be sold."

EVERYTHING READY FOR COMING YEAR AT THE UNIVERSITY

Governors Look For Most Successful Year in School's History.

FIVE NEW TEACHERS

On Monday the University of Western Ontario starts a new and, from present indications, a banner year in the history of the institution.

With the addition of the course in library and secretarial science, and five new members on the faculty, the expectations of the governors of the university is that this year will be more successful in many ways than any of the past seasons.

Registration, which has been going on all this week, has been confined to the freshman class, and according to Dr. Neville, registrar, the enrollments so far are well up to marks in the past. The new classes will have their first classes in the next few days, and therefore, figures as to complete enrollment will not be announced until the first week in November.

According to Dean Fox, approximately the same number of students will enter the university this year as in 1922, when some 700 attended. By far the greater proportion of these will register for the arts course, with the second greatest number in medicine. Last year there were 408 students in arts at University College, 99 students at Brescia Hall and Assumption College, 150 at Methodist School and the remainder at Huron College. In addition to this number is the number of 150 received lectures from members of the faculty.

This year, with the increased difficulty of matriculation examinations, it is not expected that there will be any increase in attendance.

Greater Efficiency. Minor changes have been made in several of the courses, but these are internal arrangements made in order to secure greater efficiency and co-operation. No changes have been made in the faculty, with the exception of the new appointments, who will lecture in chemistry, wood and economics, romance languages, German and Latin, respectively.

At the opening of the term the students will be housed in the same buildings as last year, the new structures, not being ready for occupancy. These, however, will be closed in accordance with the plan of the executive secretary, and only the interior finishing will then remain to be completed.

The rooms at the present buildings have all been put in readiness for the opening day, and have been renovated and redecored where necessary. The campus is in first-class shape, while on the notice boards the notices for the various lectures are already posted up, so that the students when they reach the college, will have no difficulty in determining where they should go.

Fees the Same. No increase in the tuition fees has been made, and these are payable either in a lump sum or two payments.

So far no additional scholarships or prizes have been offered for the students, the list remaining as in the past year, while the various agreements that can be conferred is also the same. There are three honorary and six degrees by examination, that the university has power to confer, and Dean Fox and Registrar Neville are hard at work getting things in shape for Monday, while the professors are all on the scene ready to start lectures.

While the opening day will be largely registration and enrollment, together with the placing of new students, no time will be lost in setting down to work, and before many hours of the university year have passed in the front entrance of the student body will be working together as though near the end of the term instead of the beginning.

STILL ANOTHER RAPS RICHMOND PAVEMENT

Ald. W. A. Wilson Declares Self Ready To Discuss the Matter With Anyone.

Ald. W. A. Wilson debated the supposed demerits of the Richmond street pavement with Ald. P. J. Watt. They took up a position of advantage this morning in the front entrance of the hydro building, and with a fair-sized crowd of spectators—driven indoors by the rain—argued the ability of Sir Adam Beck's ability to place the city's interests in the hands of the city's interests. The city hall question; the bucketer bylaw, and market rentals; the difference between white oak and red oak ties; the operation of stulls and sundry other vital matters.

Ald. Wilson then submitted the following pronouncement for public attention and invites any citizen—including Mayor Wenize or Ald. Watt—to argue the issue to a conclusion, right or wrong.

"Ald. Wilson is not satisfied with the track on Richmond street immediately south of Hyman street. The new track being laid on the east side of Richmond street; it is not placed where it should be opposite Dr. Shoebottom's garage when both tracks are laid, and I feel that the city should be allowed to place the track on the west side of the rail, which would not be the same space should be allowed on both sides from the rail when both curbs run straight. This occurs about half way in the block to the lane. I am not saying whether the city engineer or the street railway is to place the track in the front entrance of the street when it is possible to put it there, leaving the same space on both sides for traffic.

CITY HALL STAFF WAGE INCREASES AGAIN HELD OVER

Must Now Await Dr. Britain's Report On City Hall Department Survey.

MANY DISAPPOINTED

As requested by the members of the city council, the Britain report upon the survey of several municipal departments will deal, to a certain degree and in a certain manner, with the question of city hall salaries.

Even if such a report is not forthcoming, the question of the city assessment department must be continued this year over this problem, brought to a definite head by the threat, reported by one member of the council, that Assessment Commissioner Harry Bennett and members of his staff would tender their resignations, what they considered a fair remuneration was not forthcoming.

The sum of $2,000 was set aside in the 1923 estimates for the purpose of wages and salaries, but Mayor Wenize has insisted time and again that it will not be cooperative to use this entire amount for wage boosts at the city hall. He would use but half of it and "keep the rest for a rainy day."

Certain members of the finance committee have grown somewhat impatient over what they consider unnecessary delay in this matter and they passed another resolution asking Dr. Britain to speed up his report.

The city councillors, at a special session of department heads, moved to adjust the entire city hall salary list. They started with the assessment office, and it was moved that the city hall salary be elevated to $2,000. But a squabble developed later in the meeting when the aldermen looked horns as to what should be paid one of Mr. Bennett's assistants.

Then upon motion from Ald. Drake, it was abruptly decided to halt all further survey of the situation until the Britain report had been received. During the proceedings Mayor Wenize disputed the $3,000 salary set for the assessment commissioner and recommended $2,000.

GOVERNMENT TO BANQUET LLOYD GEORGE OCTOBER 9

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Sept. 28.—The official dinner which the government of Canada is giving for Rt. Hon. It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George will leave for Toronto at the conclusion of the dinner here.

URGENT EFFICIENT POLICE SYSTEM FOR MIDDLESEX

Advocates of Salaried Force Will Place Demands Before Council.

DRINKING PREVALEN

Middlesex yet may have a first-class police force with a first-class high constable of long experience. Those in the county who are attending for a real up-to-the-minute force believe they can convince members of the county council who are opposed to the paying of a high constable more than $1,800 per annum that a well-equipped force would pay for itself.

It is common knowledge, at least in London, that the Ontario temperance force is well policed, not only in the county, but so much by county agents, as by transients, including a goodly number of Londoners.

Apprehension Unlikely. London is not well policed, but liquor parties are seldom held within its limits, except in private residences. Instead, the parties are held in the country, where the chances of apprehension are smaller.

The police situation in Middlesex at present is that a force of sixteen men, one of whom is an auxiliary, are required to police an area many times the size of London, which boasts 56 officers.

Run runners only laugh at the type of car (which are private property) used by the county police force. Judging from the cases brought into county courts, the limit of police work done in Middlesex is the arrest of a few spears.

Empty Flasks. On many of the sidewalks one finds, without troubling to make an exhaustive search, empty flasks and drinking parties in the middle of the under cover of darkness.

Middlesex spends only a few thousand dollars each year on police protection. London, on the other hand, spends approximately $120,000 annually on its police force. The revenue of the department generally reaches this figure.

Advocates of a full-time salaried force are working quietly at present, but expect to fire a few broadsides when the Middlesex County Council holds its December session at the county buildings.

An official statement shows that there is a yield this year of 5,503,000 bushels of cucumbers for pickles more than twice the crop of 1922.

Like a Relief Map. "Look at that old lady right now," he went on, as an elderly woman splashed from another street car to the hilly shore on which the Public Utilities Building stands.

YOUNG INGERSOLL MAN TRIES TO SHOOT HIMSELF

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, Sept. 27.—Wounded in the right side with a .22-caliber bullet, fired by his own hand from a rifle, Clifford Vannatter of Lakeside, who has been employed here for some time, was rushed to Alexander Hospital today. The attempt at suicide was made at an early hour this morning, and is said to have been due to disappointment in a love affair. Vannatter had been paying attention to a young girl of fifteen years. The father objected because of the age of his daughter, and asked Vannatter to desist in his attentions to the girl. The rifle which the young man used was fired when he was at the side of the house in which the girl of his affections resides. At Alexandra Hospital is was found that a rib had deflected the bullet, which was removed from the injured man's back. Vannatter is 21 years old.

MARY BAKER EDDY GREAT REFORMER, STATES SPEAKER

John W. Doorly Eulogizes the Founder of Christian Science Religion.

SPIRITUAL REALITY

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science religion, was the greatest reformer in the history of the Christian era, declared John W. Doorly of London, England, member of the board of lecturership of the mother church in Boston, at a lecture here last night in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of London. "Mrs. Eddy," he said, "sought after spiritual attainment and perfection, with the result that she founded that great healing and redeeming mission known as Christian Science. No one who studied her writings could doubt that God had spoken to her, and through that acquaintance which she had with God has been built up a church which insists upon the reality of spiritual things and the temporal nature of material things. "Her teachings reiterate the fact that 'God is love' and that he is, therefore, the mother as well as the father of the universe, and consequently for ever sustaining, protecting and supporting his creation. Mrs. Eddy made her discovery of God's aliveness practical in human experience, and one of the results is that humanity is no longer questioning Mrs. Eddy's right as a messenger of God. "Christian Science teaches that every right activity is God, divine love, operating through his creation to express his nature and also to support creation in eternal perfection. "For more than 50 years Christian Science has proved to mankind that the spiritual understanding of God and of the true man delivers from sin and disease, and today thinking men and women everywhere are accepting this fact. The time is also coming when Christian Science is going to prove that this understanding will raise the dead, for since spiritual understanding originates in God, and is actually God expressing his own nature through the thinking of men and women, it can know no bounds. "We do not have to implore God to be God," stated the speaker, "for to make his presence and power available to men, for they are infinitely available. We have only to understand and utilize the fact that God is, that he is love, and that love alone governs all being. "Ignorance of God as love, who is for ever mindful of his creation, has caused mankind to regard existence as something unlike God or as a state of being apart from God, in which love's law seems to play very little part, but in which fear, hate, evil of every kind, and false mortal laws seem to predominate. "Christian Science teaches that all the woes of mankind come from ignorance of God and love, and that the proper understanding of this will lead mankind out of bondage. It teaches that God is love and the spirit, and that love, spirit and mind are synonymous names for God. It also teaches that God's creation is never separate from him, and that man, by realizing that God is indeed love, can be freed from sin, disease and poverty. "Therefore," he concluded, "it will be a pretty poor man who will not strive to put on the mind of Christ, so that God may work mightily through his consecrated thinking."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1923.

The Public Should Know the Facts.

Canon Scott, of Quebec, made a trip to Cape Breton to find out if conditions were fair there for the employees of the British Empire Steel Corporation. He was convinced that there must have been some good reason for the continued strikes in the coal and steel area of the east.

He finds the day shift on for 11 hours and the night for 13 hours, while at the change of shift every two weeks a straight 24 hours is worked.

Forty per cent of the workers make 35 cents an hour or less. The rest of the men do somewhat better. In the coal mines the best that can be done is about $80 per month, but there is so much interruption that it is hard to earn a living wage.

Canon Scott also says living conditions are not good; houses are poor and the water in several cases is bad.

The Ottawa Journal, looking over the case, asks who is to blame. The companies are run by men put in there by the directors. The shareholders want dividends, and if those operating the plants do not show dividends they do not stand much chance of holding their positions.

Investigations as a general thing do not accomplish much, but the time seems ripe for a board of inquiry with a good deal of positive authority behind it to open a session to see just what is the matter in the Nova Scotia steel and coal industry.

Respect For Those in Office.

The Rotary Club of Kalamazoo is starting to think along fairly high national lines. The members passed a resolution, the gist of which is a recognition of the tremendous responsibilities attached to the office of president of the United States, and a determination to refrain from small and harmful criticism.

The resolution proceeds to say: "We hereby pledge ourselves that, despite differences in political views and on policies of national and international import, we shall pay to the office and to the man the respect and reverence which are their rightful due; that we shall refrain from invective toward the executive and shall give voice to criticism only that is kindly, tolerant, respectful and helpful; that we shall make this a rule of our conduct, both as individuals and as a club organization, and that we lead the way in a movement to revive a proper respect for the presidency in particular, and for our national, state and civil leaders in general."

In other words, once a government is elected, it should be the duty of the people to give that body an opportunity to carry on its work. The people have spoken on the matter, and it is their wish to have certain people in charge of the nation's affairs—therefore those who did not come out winners as voters should not resort to a policy of continuous and harmful criticism. They should merge their adverse prejudices in the accomplishment of one common objective, viz., good government.

It is well that a body of men should start thinking along these lines. The professional politician would, no doubt, vote against it and work against it, but to the great mass of the people who prefer to do their own thinking there is good sense in the idea, and its scope of application could take in civic, provincial or federal circles.

Where Professors Shine Shoes.

The eyes of the world have been on Germany for months, but what of her partner in the war, Austria?

Little has been said of Austria because that country was so sliced and carved that there was little voice left to talk to the world. Austria was, before the war, a country of wealth, pride and culture. The area was 261,000 square miles and her population 51,000,000. Today Austria has 33,000 square miles and 6,500,000 people.

Vienna, the seat of the great university that dates back to 1365, a city of two millions of people, had been built up as an educational, trading and commercial center to serve 51,000,000 people. Today that city is the center of only 6,500,000 people, and it requires no great thought to think what that means.

A city is great or powerful by reason of the number of people, or the extent of the area it serves. A small district can never keep up a great city. So it is that Vienna, once great, rich, cultured and the possessor of world-famous galleries, finds herself isolated, poor and the victim of an impoverishing retrenchment that has cut to the quick.

The League of Nations took up the case of Austria

a year ago. It established a new bank on a gold basis in an effort to fight a clear way through the pile of paper kronens that had cluttered up the whole financial system. The government has made wholesale dismissals of employees, and expects to balance its budget by 1924.

But that is only a start. As Austria looks around and endeavours to create trade it finds formidable tariff walls on every side. She has so many people in such a small area that they cannot produce enough to eat and live on. Therefore she must buy, but tariffs keep her from selling.

Austria came out of the war possibly the most punished and mutilated of any nation as far as boundaries and people are concerned. Today she makes a brave attempt to face the world. Her professors, acknowledged world leaders in biology, medicine, science and art, black shoes or sell papers for a living. If there is sympathy for any of the participants in the late war, that sympathy should go to Austria.

The Handshake As An Asset.

The handshaking nuisance, says the Argonaut, should be abolished. Public men, especially those high up in the affairs of state, should be exempt from such a form of physical torture.

Part right, but a bigger part wrong. Most men in high positions stay in those high positions by means of ballots. Not only must they perform in the high office, but they must keep one eye on the next election date.

They know very well that the old handshake is good business. They know that it means votes to study the proper handshake and the few words of greeting that go with it.

Did you ever stop to analyze the manner of the successful man? He knows how to shake hands; he knows, even if he is going to speak to you for only two minutes, that in that time he must give you the impression that he is pleased to meet you and interested in what you have to say. He is not shaking hands with you and talking to some other person at the same time, nor does he give you the impression that you must hustle along and get out of the road.

A successful public man has taken stock of all these things, and therefore few of them who want to stay in public life have any intention whatever of discarding the handshake.

Adding Six Months to Father's Pants.

The National Association of Retail Clothiers is in session at Chicago. The president says business is getting better; people are buying clothes again, and he claims they have passed the stage where mother gets out the gasoline can and makes father's pants last for another six months.

In this homely way the president paid a tribute to one of the saving qualities of the people. It is one of the dugouts into which the prudent family can creep when the financial storm threatens to blow the bottom out of the family purse.

The gasoline can and the wife's skill that can put another six months life into father's trousers may tickle the fancy of a convention. It also enables these partners in life's trip to sit down at the end of the year and tell the world that although there's not much to the good, there are no bad debts.

Note and Comment.

Lloyd George is not likely to visit London, meaning, of course, that his trip will be only a partial success.

United States now boasts that it has the largest bombing plane in the world. Washington is no doubt a bit scared of our Canadian navy.

The Kingston Standard, vigorous and kicking, comes out and announces that it is 114 years old. It has stood the gaff remarkably well; it is not afraid to speak its mind, and has served its district well.

Five lives were lost in the Gordon Bennett classic cup race for balloons. Apart from the daring bravery of the contestants, there is not a feature to commend the event. It is a deliberate waste of human life.

Premier Ferguson's office is being redecorated. He and his friends made a campaign issue out of a $100 coal scuttle that was in the room. Must the whole room be brought up to the standard of that coal hod?

There is a big plant in United States where a locomotive is turned out in an hour. The St. Catharines Standard reckons this must be a heartbreak to motorists who imagine they can punt them all into the scrap heap at level crossings.

London had a visitor this week who preached the doctrine of working one day a week. Why could he not have gathered up the people at the city hall who send out tax notices and talk to them. Likewise those who send out bills due and overdue.

The civil service commission replies to criticism of hours for their employees at Ottawa, which start at 9 a.m. and end at 4. With an hour off at noon, that means a six-hour workday. Fairly long and rather strenuous—a 10 to 3 day is much nicer.

DENY THEY INTENDED TO SMUGGLE LIQUOR

Special to The Advertiser. Buffalo, Sept. 26.—Gordon Kennedy, 31, and Dorvan Weaver, 27, of Port Colborne, Ont., were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Keating today, following the seizure of a motorboat and 520 cases of Canadian ale in the Niagara River last night. The prisoners claim they were on their way from Port Colborne to Port Erie, Ont., when their boat went aground in a fog on Waverly shoals, 300 feet inside the American boundary. They deny that they intended to smuggle the ale into the United States.

The increased cost of fine teas has tempted some to try cheap, inferior teas, to their sorrow. It is real economy to use "SALADA" since it yields to the pound more cups of a satisfying infusion, and besides has such a fresh, delicious flavor.—Adv.

Poppin' Corn

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

Kids nowadays are hard to please. Traipsin' out to movie shows; Wantin' things they whine an' tease. Gotta go where daddy goes. Gotta ride out in the car. Gotta drive an' toot the horn. Simple things? Too dull, by far! Wouldn't better poppin' corn!

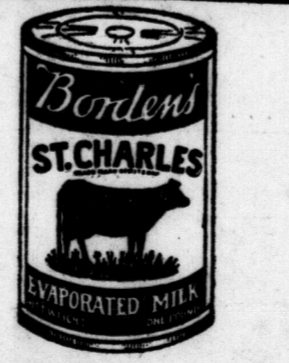

When the nights were gittin' chill. An' October tinged the woods. We stayed in with merry will In the oldtime kitchen range. Hung around the kitchen range In the house where I was born. Jokin' with a gay exchange. While we watched the poppin' corn.

Piled the wood into the stove So 'twould make a jolly blaze. Laughin', with the chunks we strove In the lamp-light's mellow haze. Soon within the popper came "Sounds o' goodies bein' born. S'pose my kids would think it tame Like clothing or playthings. Autumn evenin's, poppin' corn!"

Out into a yellow crock Then we poured the fluffy mess. Modern children wouldn't mock, Asked to eat it up. I guess! Melted butter, pure, you bet— Flavor sweet as posies shorn! Oh, I never will forget. Nights o' childhood, poppin' corn. (Copyright, North American Newspaper Alliance, 1923.)

The Guide Post— By Henry van Dyke

HOW BROAD IS YOUR RELIGION? Think not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.—Matthew iii, 9. Christ was a liberal; and that is why the scribes and Pharisees hated him and had him crucified. The false conception of the Hebrew religion was always trying to confine its joys and blessings to a strict line; as if the favor of God were entailed, and none could boast of it save those who had Abraham to their father. This was the keynote of that bigoted Pharisaic theology against which Jesus Christ clashed when he came to proclaim the broader fatherhood of God. It was this perverted idea which made the scribes and lawyers rave when he said that there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, but unto none of them was he sent, but only to the widow of pagan Sarepta; and there were many lepers in Israel, but none of them was healed save Naaman the Syrian. This seemed to them the rankest heresy. But indeed it was the same truth which had been declared to Adam, and again to Abraham, in whose seed all nations should be blessed, and again to Moses when God said, "All the earth is mine," and again by David and his people when they sung of the world-wide dominion of Jehovah—the same truth which was stated by Peter when he declared: "In every nation he that feareth God and worketh righteousness is accepted with Him." Your Health: How To Guard Yourself From Contracting Disease.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

It used to be believed that some sort of mysterious influence or miasm, a force, a gas, or a spirit, came from a sick person or from the soil and caused the illness. Don't you remember how you used to go across the street to keep from passing too close to a house where contagion was? Emanations of contagion were supposed to come in clouds, or to spread in circles. It was believed they reached out to envelop innocent by-standers. No wonder people grow panicky during epidemics. A good many times, when acting as health officer, I had to hold public meetings to allay the fears of the people. When everybody understands how disease is transmitted there will be more efficient control of disease, because efforts to confine it will be more intelligently supported by the public.

Let us see if we can formulate our knowledge of communicable or contagious diseases: They are caused by living organisms, commonly known as germs. These organisms are real, tangible things, things which live and move. They can be seen under the microscope and recognized one from another. Most of these organisms live in human beings. A few originate in the bodies of lower animals. But all of them live and multiply in living animals. The only way these organisms, which are capable of producing disease, can escape from the body where they live, is through the secretions or discharges. Some leave through the urine or perspiration, some through the saliva or other secretions, and others through the bowel discharges. All discharges from persons ill with infectious or contagious diseases are dangerous. They continue to be dangerous as long as they retain warmth and moisture, necessary to the life of the contained germs. Direct physical contact is essential to contagion. Mere presence in the neighborhood of a sick person will not result in infection. There is no "atmosphere" of danger—there must be actual contact with the discharges to get the contaminating agent. Once I had to deal with an excited community because board of health nurses, without change of costume, entered and left homes where secret fever raged. While this would not be good practice for everybody, a trained nurse who will religiously avoid handling any contaminated object and particularly any particle of secretion, can do this safely. You see, the present idea of contagion is carried by disease germs, and not by inanimate objects, like clothing or playthings. Of course contact with the skin is not enough to contract a disease. The infective material must get to the nose, mouth or throat of the well person. Unless it enters one of the cavities of the body, unless it is rubbed into a broken skin surface, or unless it is pricked into the skin with a needle or pin or by some other accident, there is no danger of contagion. Diseased tonsils or adenoids offer surfaces which will accept germs. Lowered vitality is another factor which promotes the possibility of infection. Cleanliness of the hands and cleanliness of the nose, mouth and teeth are the chief means of protection against disease.

Work-Outs Show London C.I. Track Team Has Real Chance

Wilson's Absence Felt, But Team Is Full of Confidence.

Central Collegiate Athletes, eight in number, leave for Toronto early tomorrow morning to take part in the big S. P. A. meet in the afternoon. Ken Hunter, Bill Wainman, Jimmy Burns, George Wright, Louis Westwood, H. Chapman, Sinclair and Hatfield will be the representative men who will make the trip.

Central's hopes are high in spite of Wilson's absence. Wilson, on whom able underpinning Central had counted to make a real showing in the 220 and the broad jump, has been hurt, and Central's chances are just that much thinner. However, with formidable entries in the shot-put, the quarter mile, half mile, the mile, and a crack relay team that has a very greater improvement in the recent trials, the faith of the student body in the team is still strong.

Westman has been doing as nicely as 40 feet 11 inches in the shot-put workouts. The "Woozie" record is only 39 feet 6 inches while last year's winner at the S. P. A. meet took away the honors with a put of 38 feet 8 inches.

Hunter has been doing the quarter in splendid form, as has Chapman in the half. Sinclair looks good at the mile distance, and recent trials indicate that these three will take some beating before the tape is reached. Hatfield will run second in the relay, after Hunter, who leads off with the baton. Burns and Wainman take care of the last half of the distance.

Down the Line In All Sports

To many it may seem that St. Marys is trying to legislate its way into the Ontario lacrosse finals, and in Hamilton, where much fun was poked at the out-of-date St. Marys lacrosse team and the town pump, there is an aggrieved feeling that the Stone Town should not accept the goal verdict of three games and let it go at that.

St. Marys takes its lacrosse very seriously, however. They've been playing lacrosse there for a long time. In fact it's often been suspected that the original founders of the town took on lacrosse just where the Redskins who once roamed the ravines and the flats along the Thames here, left off, and that their descendants have been improving the game ever since. Moreover, St. Marys lacrosse teams are invariably home-bred, and things affecting the lacrosse teams are personal with the whole municipality. And the whole municipality is opposed to letting Hamilton put anything over on St. Marys.

WHITE DEFENDS WAR-TIME PARTY

Former Minister of Finance Believe Premier Was "Wholly Misinformed."

CONDITIONS BRIGHT

States Heavy Taxation Would Have Been Detrimental To Country's Development.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Sept. 27.—Sir Thomas White, minister of finance during the war period, today gave the press the following statement:

"In a recent speech at Quebec... The tremendous increase in the uncontrollable expenditure has been due in the main to the vicious policy of the late government in financing the war by loans rather than by taxation during the war of those who did not go on active service—it is true that the debt of the country is enormous; that the interest payable on the debt is larger than the entire cost of government only a few years ago; that the taxes are high. But why is this? It is because we are now trying to meet obligations arising out of the colossal expenditures of the four years of war, not a dollar of which was met by the government of the day out of the taxes of the people. This is an appalling statement and one which the people of Canada cannot take too much to heart, in viewing the burdens which they are being called upon to bear, but it is none the less the fact.

Commenting on this Sir Thomas White continues as follows: "It is clear either that the prime minister was misreported or that in making the statement he was wholly misinformed as to the facts concerning our war time finance as minister of finance during the entire period of the war, and as the statement in question is a serious reflection upon my administration and upon the government of which I was a member, I feel that I must place the facts as to taxation and expenditures from 1914 to 1919 before the Canadian people."

Budget Speech. "In my budget speech of June, 1919, I made the following statement: "Leaving capital expenditures aside and applying the surplus available from our revenues (from April 1, 1914, to March 31, 1919), over and above the amount required to meet current outlays, it will appear that we have met the principal cost of the war from taxation to the total aggregate amount of $275,943,977. If we take into account the interest contributed during the five-year period for interest upon war loans, the pension charges the total paid from revenue on account of the war to March 31, 1919, is $438,293,248. "Our war expenditures to March 31, 1919, was $1,323,793,200.

"From the official year book of the government it appears that the total revenues of Canada rose from $173,700,000 in 1914 to $312,000,000 in 1919, to $349,000,000 in 1920 and to $434,000,000 in 1921. In addition to raising the customs tariff in 1915, the business profits and income tax were imposed in 1916-17. The latter were entirely new modes of taxation in Canada. During its currency the business profits tax yielded over $200,000,000 and the income tax to date about $225,000,000.

Reduce Expenditure. "The year book also shows what was done during the war to reduce the ordinary expenditure of the Dominion. Public works expenditure in 1914 was $19,000,000, in 1915 $19,000,000, in 1916 $12,000,000, in 1917 $7,000,000, in 1918 $7,000,000, in 1919 $6,000,000. Capital expenditure was reduced from $41,000,000 in 1915 to $25,000,000 in 1919. Large works such as the Welland Canal were suspended, but we felt we must proceed with the new parliament buildings.

"I fully realize that my successors have had heavy responsibilities—Sir Henry Drayton with the enormous expenditures arising out of demobilization, and Hon. Mr. Fielding with greatly increased interest charges upon the public debt and the large yearly expenditures for pensions. Both have also had to meet heavy railway deficits, and engage in financing on a scale unknown before the war. My purpose in making this statement is not to minimize in any way the burdens which they have had to assume.

"Of all the nations engaged in the war (not excepting United States), Canada has, I believe, enjoyed the most favorable conditions since the armistice, and has the least cause for anxiety as to the future. For this fortunate position I believe our war-time finance to have been in no small degree responsible. We applied to the Canadian people to produce and save their money for our war loan issues, the proceeds of which were largely used to finance our agricultural, commercial and industrial production, which otherwise would have failed of a market owing to the almost complete breakdown of international exchange due to the war. If we had stifled enterprise by crushing taxation we should have been unable to participate to the extent we did in the war, and our after condition would have been very different from what it has been.

Where's the Zam-Buk?

Is there a doctor's famous verbal healer of the shelf ready for emergencies? It always pays to have Zam-Buk handy as it heads off skin trouble. Smear it on over any cut, bruise, burn or sore, it soothes and heals like nothing else can. It's Canada's swiftest, cleanest and most perfect anti-venereal skin healer.

HERE'S A SCALD.—Mrs. J. B. Lloyd, of Kaby Creek, B.C., writes:—"I have found Zam-Buk fine in injuries, particularly for a bad scald I got recently. The prompt use of Zam-Buk took all pain and 'fire' out of the wound and left me fit to use my hand. Mor-Zam-Buk healed the scald completely."

A CUT THUMB.—Mrs. W. Campbell, Benny River Station, N.B., writes:—"My husband, who is a railroad man, badly cut his thumb on the tin fastener of a box-car door. Though the wound was severe, dressings of Zam-Buk healed it in about a week's time."

OR A SPRAIN.—Mr. Clarence D. Black, Legal Dept., Transcontinental Railway, Ottawa, writes:—"I have often used Zam-Buk and always with satisfactory results. The last occasion was when I fell from a street car and badly sprained my ankle. Zam-Buk speedily took out pain and inflammation and put me right in time."

If you have not already tried this wonderful healer, send a 1c. stamp (for return postage of sample) to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 50c. box all dealers.

ATTLING DEATH FOR WEALTH IN DENSE JUNGLE

London Man With Ill-Fated Diamond Party In Guiana Writes of Perilous Trip

Lester MacGillivray Sends Letter Home Telling of Experiences in South American Wilds.

FOUND DIAMONDS

Two Deaths Reported in Party, Which Has Abandoned Quest Owing to Misfortunes.

George A. MacGillivray, of Bellevue Heights, city, father of Lester MacGillivray, the London boy in the party of diamond hunters, could hardly believe the news that disaster had befallen the expedition, especially in view of the fact that he had received a letter from his boy only a few days ago and all seemed well.

"They had enough money to last them two years when they left here," Mr. MacGillivray stated. "Each one was required to furnish $4,000."

The letter follows: "British Guiana Diamond Venture, Georgetown, Aug. 12, "Dear Papa Purini Dear."

"I don't know when this letter will reach you, but as I am going exploring I will write it and there may be a boat going to the coast."

"Well, we have reached our destination for the present, after a tough trip on the river. The difficulties of this country are not so much the danger from savages, wild animals and snakes, but the terrible rivers, which are practically impassable."

"When we arrived in Georgetown we found out we needed more boats, so we had two built at once, forty feet long, with a broad beam, and capable of carrying five tons, exclusive of crew. They are built of green timber, and shaped somewhat like a Venetian gondola, high in the front and stern, the idea being that when they hit a rock or tree they run up on it without damage. They are manned by twenty native paddlers, and have a captain and a boatman whose duty it is to steer the boat off the rocks."

"Poisoned by Fish. "We started the first boat away from Barikoa on July 27, and it waited at Kartahu. We had considerable difficulty getting natives for the second boat. None seemed anxious to go to the district where we were going. We got all the boats started on July 27th, and crossed the falls—the first one—before evening. The boatman had a boat full of water to cut a piece of timber and was bitten by a poisonous fish, and we lost him."

"The route was much the same each day. When the boats came to fast water a man swam ahead with a rope. Two other ropes were sent to shore, and the boats, loaded in other places, we pulled the boats along the shore by vines and limbs of trees. We came to Kaburi Falls, the end of the river, where the boats had to be unloaded, the cargo portaged through the jungle, and the boats hauled up over the falls, which is very high."

"We passed the bodies of men who had been drowned floating below the falls. The natives are very much afraid of the dead, and won't camp anywhere near a grave."

"We started each morning at dawn and continued until dark. The sun was very hot, and the humidity it raised every afternoon and all night. The river in some places is very wide, with thousands of islands."

"Impenetrable Jungle. "We reached the Puruni River the second week, and left the Marzari, a lot of our paddlers had fever the whole trip up. The Puruni is smaller than the Marzari, and has some bad falls. We were very lucky in loading and unloading. The natives were the water most of the time. We hit three rocks in fast water and a tree, but did not lose anyone. We reached our destination, which is just below Arrogai Falls, and set the men to work building a storehouse and clearing away some of the jungle."

"There are great trees, greenheart, which won't float and can be submerged for a century without harm; valaha wood, which makes stingles that last forever; crack wood, wana wood, silver sea, teak, cotton, all giant trees, some growing to a height of 200 feet. The great vines and lianas grow down from the trees as large as a man's wrist. "The jungle is impenetrable, with a network of vines and lianas. To travel it is necessary to have a party of natives go in front and cut a path with knives and hatchets. We never see the sun, and our clothes are always wet and mildew. Leather lasts no time, and nothing can be kept dry. "We built some "Toms," which are boxes five feet long with an iron sieve at one end. The gravel and clay is thrown in, and there is a box to catch the finer material, which is then sifted by hand, and the diamonds found in the sieve. "Found Some Diamonds. "We have already found diamonds, and expect four "Toms" in operation by next week, which will bring up production. We are doing a line of prospecting over the whole area. "We have had the misfortune to lose one of our citizens, F. Stokes, B.A.S.C., who died this afternoon. We buried him this afternoon. We did everything we could, but could not save his life. We intend to make a map of the northwest territories and Venezuelan boundary if we don't meet too much hostility. "We are likely to discover almost anything. No white man has ever set foot in these areas, so the possibilities are very great. This is a wonderfully rich country. The possibilities in gold are very fine. Gold is everywhere, and very fine mine it. The black men all want diamonds, and could make fortunes in gold if they wished. There are some very

MANITOBA URGES EARLY SOLUTION OF GRAIN TIE-UP

May Demand Conference of Shipping Heads and Government Officials.

TERMINALS FILLED

Special to The Advertiser. Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—A conference of the Dominion and western provincial governments, lake vessel owners of the United States and Canada, and representatives of farmer and grain-handling organizations to solve, if possible, the transportation problem of the west, and prevent the impending deadlock at Port William terminals, may be demanded by the Manitoba government. Members of the provincial cabinet said such a conference is being discussed. It would be the duty of the Dominion government to arrange for it, and if an immediate solution of the lakes shipping tie-up is not found, Manitoba may insist that it be called.

Premier Bracken stated he had been watching developments at the head of the lakes, hoping the Dominion government would act quickly and wisely. "We have naturally taken the stand that it is their problem," he said. "But if they don't do anything to relieve the situation Manitoba will have to take steps to protect her own interests."

The premier indicated further that the cabinet would give consideration to the question immediately, and decide its course of action. At present Fort William is receiving 1,000,000 bushels a day more than there is tonnage capacity for, according to railway authorities.

YOUTH AND AGE MEET IN PRISONERS' DOCK

Police Law Respects No Age and Both Are Fined Ten and Costs.

Old John Barleycorn treats youth and age alike. He shows no partiality, and neither do the London police. A grizzled veteran of many imbibing parties sat beside a bearded youth in police court today, both charged with being drunk. Age stood up quietly and in respectful but rather sad tones admitted to the court that the charge was true.

Youth showed more bravado. He turned a watery smile in the magistrate's direction and told Mr. Graydon with a foolish grin that he hadn't been drinking liquor but a substitute, calculating principally upon what being about a year (1) settlement. Disagreement over the method of immediately repairs disappeared. Automatically cleared the clouds of hovering over France and England.

"I don't know what you'd call it—a mixture, I guess," was the reply. "Were you ever here before?" questioned the magistrate. "Not on that charge," replied the young man.

"I'm sorry to see you here again," said Mr. Graydon. "It is very lamentable. Ten dollars and costs."

The young chap, a cigarmaker by trade, sank to his seat with the same forlorn smile, and then shuffled off to the cells below with his aged companion.

What You Eat

—is a pretty important proposition, because it influences what you think, what you do, and how you do it. The Advertiser's page about foods every Friday gives authoritative ideas from experts. Read it today.

LONDON MAN WITH ILL-FATED DIAMOND HUNTING PARTY. Malaya overtook them. One of their number, L. P. Stokes, of Sarnia, a graduate of Toronto University, died, and another member of the party since has been reported dead. Native guides deserted them. The doctor in the party and his wife, a trained nurse, turned back at Georgetown. Sick and almost exhausted the party finally negotiated its way back to the coast without the treasured stones. Several of the members are reported dangerously ill in Georgetown hospital. The party sailed from Canada aboard the R.M.S.P. Chaleur. Word of the disaster which had befallen the adventurers reached Canada yesterday. Lester MacGillivray, son of George A. MacGillivray, of Bellevue Heights, London, is in the party. It was he and a chum who brought the party by boat down the tortuous rivers to the coast.

BALDWIN LABORS TO RECONSTRUCT THE ENTENTE

British Premier's Success in Conferences With Poincare Are Encouraging.

SUSPECTS GERMANY

By HAL O'FLAHERTY. Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright. London, Sept. 28.—Germany's flight from national unity has aroused in the allied capitals a similar desire, not only for unity, but for a last supreme effort to effect a reparations settlement.

Premier Baldwin has informed his country plainly that he is using his whole strength in an effort to reconstruct the entente. His interview with Premier Poincare, so frequently distorted in the press, has emerged in a new light, disclosing the two premiers as again standing together and facing their former enemies.

A deep distrust of every recent move made by Germany lies back of the new cordiality of the relations between France and England. Premier Poincare sees in Chancellor Stresemann's manoeuvres strong evidences of collusion between the German government and its opponents designed to give Germany new arguments with which to extract concessions from the allies. Not one evidence of sympathy for Germany exists in England, despite the exaggerated tales of suffering and the rumors of an impending civil war. Like Premier Poincare, the British government turns a cold eye upon Berlin, calculating principally upon what being about a year (1) settlement.

Disagreement over the method of immediately repairs disappeared. Automatically cleared the clouds of hovering over France and England.

Middlesex County Gaining High Record For Sobriety

License Inspector and Provincial Officer Find No One With "Drink in Him" at Fall Fairs.

Residents of Middlesex County are gaining for themselves a reputation for sobriety that will undoubtedly be the envy of sister counties. License Inspector Bolton and Provincial Officer Stratton have received every fall fair in the county this year and have yet to glimpse a single individual who had even the semblance of a "drink" in him. "I have attended the fairs at Strathroy, Thorndale, Belmont, Parkhill and Glenora," stated the license inspector today, "and I didn't see one drunken man. This certainly speaks well for the observance of the law. In this section of the country, the crowds at the fairs are all law-abiding and orderly and they seemed to be enjoying themselves just as much as they did in the days before prohibition."

HUMANE INSPECTOR HAS ACTIVE MONTH

Inspector George Tustin of the London Humane Society reports a very active month in upholding the laws of the society in the London district. Although the inspector received 219 complaints from the city and county, he found it necessary to prosecute in only two instances, both of which were followed by convictions. One other case is pending. A synopsis of Inspector Tustin's report for September is as follows: Complaints received from the city and county: 42; dogs barked in, 40; dogs destroyed, 37; cats destroyed, 37; crates of poultry examined, 14; warnings for cruelty, 7; prosecutions, 2; convictions, 2; cases pending, 1.

Disagreement over the method of immediately repairs disappeared. Automatically cleared the clouds of hovering over France and England.

Believe Slade Planned Hold-up

Special to The Advertiser. Kingston, Sept. 28.—When the provincial penitentiary officials heard of the Toronto bank robbery yesterday afternoon they declared that it must have been engineered by the escaped convict, and gave the credit to Slade, who was the man who enabled his comrades to get over the prison wall, while he guarded the foot of the ladder. The officials say that Slade is a tactician. It was this convict who struck Chief Keeper Ryan with a fork when the latter tried to pull him away from the ladder.

YOUTH ATTACKED BY GANG OF FOUR, SEVERELY HURT

Young Man Is Bounced Upon While in Company With Milton Girl. FEAR FOR LIFE

Special to The Advertiser. Milton, Sept. 28.—A young man named Smith of Brantford, employed as a painter by the C. P. R., was last night the victim of a most brutal assault by four Milton young men, the result of which may result in the young man's death.

The victim of the assault is only 17 years of age, and at the time of the assault he was accompanying a young woman through Victoria Park in front of the court house, when he was suddenly pounced upon by one of the four young men, who dealt him a stunning blow, which smashed his nose.

When Smith attempted to defend himself, the other three of the gang jumped on him, and beat him up in a most horrible manner, so bad, in fact, that it is reported today by the chief constable Chapman who is on the track of the young men who are alleged to be the guilty parties for the attack on Smith.

LABOR MEN PREPARING FOR COMING ELECTION

London Labor Party To Be Completely Organized For Campaign.

Complete reorganization of the London Labor Party is scheduled for a special session in the Labor Temple tonight. Anticipating an earlier campaign than in former years, record attendance is expected by the members.

As time passes it becomes more apparent that the Labor men of the city are not contemplating the selection of a candidate to oppose Mayor Venige. Scarcely a day passes without a member of the party giving public utterance to his opinion that "Venige has done fairly well by the Labor people," and upon one occasion he was suddenly pounced upon by the party saw fit to send him a communication lauding his stand in the city council upon a certain issue.

New York, Sept. 28.—Refusal of George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, to modify the terms under which striking newspaper pressmen might regain their jobs was believed in competent quarters today to presage a negative vote by members of the outlawed union tonight on the proposal to return to work under the Berry agreement with the publishers.

PERFECTS RECORDER FOR PULSE TENSION

Dr. R. A. Waud of Highgate Produces Electric Polygraph To Aid Diagnosis.

An electrical device which records the tension of the human pulse in magnified dimensions is the product of opportunity to prove his worth as an electrical engineer, has been the inventor of this new medical instrument being Dr. R. A. Waud of Highgate, who graduated at the Medical School here in 1921. The electrical polygraph, as it is scientifically known, will add greatly to diagnostic methods now in use by the medical profession.

For many years diagnosticians have utilized a mechanical polygraph of delicate workmanship which, when carefully adjusted to a patient's wrist, would trace by means of an ink-filled indicator a fine record of pulse tension. Dr. Waud's electrical device is a clever elaboration of the old-fashioned instrument, whereby the current records in greatly magnified dimensions, a permanent tracing of the pulse tension, which is of inestimable value in the diagnosis of certain heart conditions.

While engaged in medical practice at opportunity to prove his worth as an electrical engineer, has been the inventor of this new medical instrument being Dr. R. A. Waud of Highgate, who graduated at the Medical School here in 1921. The electrical polygraph, as it is scientifically known, will add greatly to diagnostic methods now in use by the medical profession.

REVISION COURT ALLOWS APPEAL OF RETAIL MEN

Last Year's Assessment On Several City Stores Will Remain.

ADMINISTER OATH

"Last year's assessment" on the stores of Smallman & Ingram, Kingmill's, and all other similar establishments assessed this year as departmental stores will remain for the coming year, without prejudice, was the decision of the revision court yesterday in the case of the appeals from the various large stores in London, which were assessed at more than $20,000, and has more than five departments, it becomes a department store. For the first time in the memory of the oldest court in London, the oath was administered to witnesses.

R. G. Ivey, who appeared for Mr. Ingram, called on his client as a witness to certain facts in his oath, and the statements were made on the basis of facts as the law was quite clear on the matter.

Matter of Economy. It all depended on whether men's furnishings and the same department for ladies, together with the carpet, rug, and upholstery sections of the store could be assessed as drygoods. Mr. Ingram, on his own behalf said that, while with fine subdivisions, the store was far more than five departments in his store. Many of them were made by him simply as a matter of interior economy, and at the point of view of easy bookkeeping.

"If the court, he said, "decides that we have more than five departments, I shall be very glad to do much more than five departments, with two of them, we would buy the paper to put it up and get someone else to put it up."

He added that the assessment had risen from $24,000 in 1918 to more than $48,000 this year, without the proposed addition, which would bring it up to $471,000.

Two Departments. Mr. Kingsmill outlined the activities of his store as containing only two departments, household furnishings and drygoods. In this category he placed everything he sells in his store.

Mr. Ivey, who appeared for Smallman and Ingram, stated that E. B. Ferguson, who was assessed at $50,000 over 100 per cent of the city value, had over 100 departments, and the Simpson's was very large on London.

The appeal of S. Hyman against his income assessment was followed by the court, the chairman, E. B. Ferguson, dissenting from this judgment, as the chairman of the law was involved as to whether the income could be taxed. Mr. Hyman claimed that he should not be taxed on income which he had lost by investment in some which resolution affirming the assessment roll for 1923.

The Slaves of Love Are Still in Bondage Dorothy Dix Shows How the Tyranny of Love Brings Unhappiness

Beware the Tyranny of Love! Your Children Are Not Your Personal Property—Neither Do You Own Your Husband or Wife—Love Is a Voluntary Gift.

Do we own those whom we love? Does the mere fact that we entertain an affection for a certain individual make him or her our bond slave?

Somehow the idea seems to prevail that those whom we love belong to us, body and soul—that they are our chattels just as much as any slave that was ever sold on the auction block.

The great majority of parents regard their children as their personal property, and feel that they have just as much right to do as they please with them as they would with a horse or any other animal that they own.

In the lower ranks of life this feeling takes the form of exploiting their children for money, and the reason that it is necessary to enact child labor laws is because so many fathers and mothers sell their little children into slavery so that they may live in idleness on the labor of the toiling little hands.

Of course, people of the better sort do not consider that they own their children bodily, and do not regard their children as slaves who must work to support them, but there are very few fathers and mothers who do not feel that they own their children's souls.

They honestly believe that they have the right to decide their children's lives for them. Nine times out of ten, when you hear parents speak of their children having been a disappointment to them, or of their children having given them a great deal of trouble, or of their children being ungrateful, it merely means that the children have insisted on doing the things they wanted to do in the world, instead of the things that their fathers and mothers wanted them to do.

A mother who is fond of society, for instance, considers that she has a right to make her daughter go to parties instead of to college, as the girl wants to do. An ambitious mother considers herself extremely ill-used if she cannot induce her daughter to marry a rich suitor instead of the poor man she happens to love.

How many men we know of are failures because their fathers forced them into being business men when nature made them lawyers or doctors, or who are unsuccessful lawyers or doctors, when they were designed for trade or mechanics.

Yet these fathers love their sons, they desire them to prosper and be happy, but they feel that their affection makes their boys their property, and gives them the right to do with them as they please and dispose of them as they see fit.

It is because parents feel that their children belong to them, and that they have no right to live their own lives in their own way, that young people become anxious to get away from home, because that is the only way they can break their shackles. For no son and daughter, as long as they live at home, ever have one single moment of freedom, or one vestige of personal liberty, even if they are sixty years old.

It is to get away from mother's petty tyranny that girls marry the first man who asks them. It is to get away from having to furnish an alibi for every single minute they are out of the house that makes sons hunt work away from home. It is because old people feel that they have a right to run their children's houses, and their husbands, and their wives, and their grandchildren, and because they continually object, and supervise everything about them, that make father and mother a burden to their children, and a nightmare to their in-laws when the old people have to be taken into their children's homes.

The idea that matrimony is a slave market wherein you acquire the person and soul of another individual is responsible for ninety per cent of the divorces that clutter up society. Too many men believe that their wives belong to them, and that they have a right to their services without pay, and to dictate to them exactly what they shall think and do, and how they shall spend their time.

There are plenty of women who never have a dollar of their own after they are married; who never even have the right to a thought of their own, or an hour's freedom, and who have to ask their husbands' permission even to join a club, or to go to see their mothers.

And there are women who believe that they got a quit claim deed to their husbands when they married, and that they have a right to take all that their poor slave can earn, and to supervise every act of his life. They would simply be horrified at the idea of the man to whom they are married thinking he had any right to the money he makes, or to take any pleasure in his own way, or exercise any of the privileges of a free man.

It is because we think those we love belong to us, instead of realizing that every human being belongs to himself or herself, and that what he or she gives us is a free gift, and not our right, that makes most of the unhappiness in life. Because it enslaves us by the terrible tyranny of love, against which we are helpless.

It is this tyranny of love, against which we are so helpless, that kills love; that drives husbands and wives to the divorce court; that alienates friends; that makes children leave home, and that is the curse of domesticity.

None of us can escape it. We can only pray those who love us to be merciful to us. DOROTHY DIX. Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Company.

Weddings of the Month

McNEIL-FISHER.

Delaware, Sept. 27.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fisher, Buca, well road, Caradoc Township, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday. When their second young daughter, Grace Arletta, was united in marriage to Donald McNeil of Detroit, and formerly of Strathroy. At two o'clock the bride, gowned in dove-colored canton crepe, and carrying a large bouquet of Opheelia roses, entered the drawing room, on her father's arm, to the strains of the wedding march, played by her sister, Mrs. A. Beck of Ridgeway. They then took their places beneath a magnificent arch of pink and white flowers. Rev. Mr. Graham of Mt. Brydges performed the ceremony. During the signing of the register, Miss Georgina Fisher, sister of the bride, gave the bride a gift of a ring and white, and covers were laid for fifty guests.

CAPTAIN APPLEJACK PLEASING AT LOEW'S

Delightful Picture Is Well Carried Out With Fine Acting.

While they may soar spasmodically into the realms of the sensational and extravagant, the movies are being consistently pinned down to the firm ground of real art by pictures such as "Strangers of the Night." The picture, adapted from "Captain Applejack," was shown at Loew's yesterday. Not one of the feverish epithets such as "epoch-making," "gripping," "striking" could be reasonably applied to it. It doesn't flaunt any great theme. It has set out simply to be entertainment, and consequently, having stuck to its objective, it is an utterly delightful picture.

At times, with mysterious hands knocking at doors, and the orchestra playing weird music, it remotely reminds one of "The Bat." And knit in with the character of Ambrose Applejohn there is a vein of humor that charmingly suggests a play such as "The Dover Road." But while it has those suggestions of popular legitimate plays, at the same time it has every element of a good movie.

Matt Moore has been absent from the screen (from the film shown locally at least) for such a long time that it was necessary for the reviewer, having missed the best scene or two, to wait the program round again in order to find out just who was to receive credit for the role of Ambrose. Once Ambrose becomes blessed with the intelligence that he has buccanering blood in his veins he adopts the most entrancing manner of occasionally giving vent to this inherited virtue. Yet he remains always the timid Ambrose who yearned for moonlight and Tangiers.

Enid Bennett is very delightful as Poppy Fair's and Barbara La Mar is quite surprising as the Russian dancer. There are fleeting moments of her old extravagance of gesture and expression, but on the whole she has captured a new poise which is most attractive. Robert McKim, Emma Fitzroy, and others all add to the excellence of the cast.

The usual three acts of vaudeville are featured by "The Four Yillers." The unpronounceable name of the performers is rather suggestive of their whole act, as one can't exactly express anything concerning it except admiration of the sheer nerve of the stunts. It is a short act, but breath-taking.

VISIT SACRED HEART CONVENT.

A large number of interested parents visited the Sacred Heart Convent yesterday afternoon and evening to view the exhibits of the children of the London separate schools. WAR MEMORIAL HOSPITAL DATES FIXED FOR DEC. 3-4

For several years to come the hospital committee will be kept busy raising funds to supply extra equipment for the hospital, which is at present running most satisfactorily. Further plans for this fair were made at a meeting of the plans committee yesterday afternoon in charge of the joint conveners, Mrs. A. E. Miller, Mrs. H. J. Sutherland and Mrs. F. J. Greenaway.

WATFORD PRESBYTERIANS MEET TO ELECT OFFICERS

Watford, Sept. 27.—Representatives of the churches in the Watford district group of the Presbyterian Union of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies met in the Presbyterian Church, Watford, recently, for the purpose of organization. Officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. H. V. Workman of Watford; vice-president, Mrs. Devine of Strathroy; secretary, Miss Catherine McDougall of Watford; treasurer, G. Minnelly of Watford. Plans were made for a district conference to be held in Knox Presbyterian Church, London, road, Watford Township, on the third Tuesday in October.

GRIEVE-DALE.

A pretty autumn wedding took place Tuesday afternoon when Jean Isabelle Dale, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dale, was married to Martin Ninian Grieve, son of Mr. Gilbert Grieve and the late Charlotte Grieve of Denfield. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, 10th concession of Lobo. The ceremony, which took place at 4 o'clock, was performed by Rev. Neil Campbell of Vanneck, and as the evening bride entered the drawing-room with her father, Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus" was played by her sister, Mrs. Hugh E. Jay of Strathroy. The room was decorated with quantities of asters in pastel shades, and ferns and autumn flowers, banded in the drawing-room made a pretty setting for the bride. She wore a gown of apoc crepe with American Beauty trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses.

During the signing of the register, Miss Leota Dale of London, a cousin of the bride, wearing a black velvet gown and black hat, sang, "Until" which was followed by a supper followed the ceremony, the assistants including the Misses Betty Dale, Kathleen McCullough, and Mary Edwards. The bride and groom left later on a honeymoon, which will be spent in Hamilton, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo. For traveling the bride donned a navy blue canton crepe gown, with a gray marvella cloak and a black picture hat. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm, 12th concession of Lobo.

METHODIST LADIES HOLD ANNUAL CANADIAN DINNER

Union, Sept. 27.—The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church put on their annual Canadian dinner last night, which was patronized by a large and delighted throng from the surrounding district, and St. Thomas. The menu was all that the most exacting could desire. The program was also very much enjoyed. Rev. Robert Hicks, B.D. of St. Thomas, pastor of Central Methodist Church, and chairman of the St. Thomas district, occupied the chair. With the exception of Mrs. Nicholas, reader of Port Stanley, and Rev. Dr. Husser of Sparta, who spoke on the three institutions that have the making of great Canadian citizens—the home, school and the church—the program was furnished by artists from St. Thomas. Solos were sung by Alvin McFarlane, Verda Ferguson, Dr. Mitten, Leda Ferguson, Mrs. M. C. Moore; piano solo, by Mrs. Dr. Mitten, who is a gold medalist of Alma College; violin selections by Salem Ferguson, and readings by Miss Jones, a gold medalist of Alma College, and who is now a teacher in that institution. Rev. A. N. Gould, the pastor, gave a few concluding remarks. The Ladies' Aid were very much gratified with the proceeds which amounted to about $140. Everything the Farmer Trades In

Local Market

There were no receipts of grain on the local market this morning, the only produce offered being seven or eight bushels of hay. There is a distinct shortage in grain supplies, probably owing to the fact that the farmers are busy with necessary fall work, and also attending the district fairs, which are now in full swing. All the hay was cleared up rapidly at $12.00 to $14.00 per ton.

CHANGE ROUTING OF CARS TO FACILITATE SERVICE

Another change has been made in the routing of the Oxford and Normal cars in an effort to relieve the situation caused by the work of paving on Richmond street.

Normal cars, leaving Richmond street at Central avenue, will proceed to Adelaide street, but instead of turning round and returning the same way, will run south on Adelaide street to Dundas and down Dundas to the city.

Oxford cars also will leave Richmond street at Central avenue, proceeding to Adelaide, and thence north to Oxford, returning to town in the usual way, by Oxford street.

High Food Value of Cheese Should Commend It To All

A Concentrated Food That Has Its Place in Every Well Ordered Dietary.

Cheese is one of the most valuable foods on the market in many respects and yet in some households it is used very rarely. It is a whole lot of food in a small amount of space. In other words, it is a very concentrated food. One pound of cheese contains the solid part of one gallon of milk. It contains a large amount of a very good quality of protein; that is, a protein which has more value in the body than the proteins found in vegetables or meats. The fat, which is present in considerable amount, is of a higher quality which is rich in the valuable vitamin A.

Among the minerals found in cheese are calcium, phosphorus, and iron—the three minerals mentioned by nutrition experts as the essentials most often found to be lacking in the average Canadian diet. For this one reason, if for no other, we should regard cheese with great respect. Calcium is most essential to growing children, and is needed by adults as well, in order to keep the teeth and bones in good condition. Iron is used in making good red blood, and phosphorus is needed by every cell in the body.

Not Indigestible.

In spite of a rather widespread impression, cheese is not an indigestible food nor one to avoid for any reason if one follows good common sense in using it. Dr. Langworthy, of the United States Department of Agriculture, states in his report of some experiments on the digestibility of with cheese, because it adds the needed flavor and also a great deal of additional food value in the form of protein, fat, mineral and vitamins. It combines well with potatoes, cabbage, celery or tomatoes, and gives a different way of serving these vegetables, as well as adding the necessary food value to make a more complete dish. Such combinations are especially good for luncheon or supper dishes, as they should not be served with meat. It is always to be remembered that cheese is a protein dish and therefore not to be used in the same meal with meat, fish or eggs.

The protein foods are always the most expensive foods in our diet; cheese, however, happens to be comparatively cheap. This is another important reason why it should receive the serious consideration of every housewife.

The fact that cheese is so concentrated is not always considered in planning its use in the diet. It should not be used in large amounts at one time, nor in combination with other concentrated foods. The use of such dishes as macaroni and cheese or rice and cheese are most satisfactory ways of using this food for several reasons. The cheese lacks starch, and when this is supplied by the macaroni or rice the resulting dish is a more complete food. By grating the cheese and mixing it throughout the starchy food, less cheese is used and yet the whole dish is flavored. Another advantage in having the cheese grated or finely cut is that it more easily melts and blends with the other ingredients without the use of a large amount of heat. Cheese cooked at a high temperature becomes tough and indigestible. For this reason a layer of crumbs or of other food should always be put on top of the dish so that the cheese will not be directly exposed to the heat of the oven.

Its Flavor an Asset.

The flavor of cheese is another valuable asset, since it makes possible many combinations, which are otherwise tasteless foods. Bland foods, such as rice, and spaghetti, and macaroni, make particularly good combinations

Answers to Food Questions.

Answers to readers' questions regarding diet will be given by Winifred Stuart Gibbs, food specialist, writer and lecturer on nutrition. Questions should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope as only those of general interest will be answered in this column; others will be answered through the mail—Address: Winifred Stuart Gibbs, 37 West 39th Street, New York City.

Is it ever possible to make peanut butter at home? My husband is very fond of it, but we are not always able to obtain the commercial product as we live some distance out in the country?—Mrs. G. V. C.

It is quite possible and not very much trouble to make delicious peanut butter at home. Shell the nuts carefully; dry in a fairly hot oven, so as to loosen the skins; remove the skins and discard any imperfect nuts. Wash the nuts in cold water and place in a food grinder having a very fine knife on the grinder. Be careful not to scorch the nuts, as this will cause the development of poisons.

My physician ordered a milk diet for me to increase my flesh, but was called away before I asked him how to serve the milk. Can you advise me?—G. S.

The first bit of advice is to plan the milk feedings on a systematic basis and not just to drink milk when you happen to think of it. Plan a definite amount to be taken each day and gradually increase the amount until you are taking as much as was ordered. Cocoa for breakfast, milk soup for lunch, and a milk pudding for dinner should give you about three cups of milk. Adding a glass would add even more. If the milk is served in various dishes having different flavors it will not become monotonous. Plain bread and milk and milk puddings are very good for breakfast or luncheon. One good suggestion is to drink milk instead of water with your meals.

My little girl has taken a dislike to eggs cooked in ordinary ways, but the doctor says she should have them. How can I serve them?—Mrs. A. C. J.

Probably the most successful way to overcome your difficulty will be to combine the eggs with other foods to which the child particularly likes, and to use them in custards, simple puddings, and other made dishes as far as possible. Drop an egg into a mound of mashed potatoes and cover with crumbs and bake slowly. The egg will not show, and the dish is delicious. Or bake an egg in a mold of mashed potatoes or rice. Sometimes an omelet with a pretty red jelly will appeal when the plain omelet would not. Slightly beaten eggs may be added to a sauce to be used with vegetables or on toast. In such dishes, however, the child does not eat the whole egg as when it is served alone. A good cook book should give you many ideas for cooking eggs.
